

EY Singapore Purchase Order Terms & Conditions

The following terms apply as between the EY entity as set out in the Purchase Order (“EY”) and Supplier. Save for as set out in the paragraphs below, in the event of any conflict, ambiguity or inconsistency between the terms and conditions of this Purchase Order and any other document relating to this transaction, including any terms and conditions in any invoice, proposal, or other Supplier document, the terms and conditions of this Purchase Order shall govern, unless a written agreement has been signed by the parties to this purchase order prior to the issuance of this purchase order, regarding the purchase of the item/s described in this purchase order.

In case a Force Majeure Event lasts for more than thirty (30) days from the date of the notification and such Force Majeure Event prevents that Party from performing its material obligations under this Agreement during that period, the other Party is entitled (but not obliged) to terminate this Agreement immediately on written notice at no cost.

If the Supplier is excused from the performance of the Services pursuant to a Force Majeure Event then, at EY’s option and without limiting any other rights it may have, EY may take control of the part of the Services affected by the Force Majeure Event and in so doing may perform any act that EY deems reasonably necessary in order to restore the Services.
