

Worldwide VAT, GST and Sales Tax Guide

2015

Building a better
working world

Worldwide VAT, GST and Sales Tax Guide

2015

EY

Building a better
working world

Preface

While greatly accelerating the pace of all their tax legislation, the world's governments have relied most heavily on indirect taxes for extra revenue. As a result, there is increased risk that taxpayers will be caught unprepared, making a current, detailed guide like the Worldwide VAT, GST and Sales Tax Guide all the more valuable.

The book's organization is straightforward. Chapter by chapter, from Albania to Zimbabwe, we summarize indirect tax systems in 114 jurisdictions. The Bahamas, Madagascar, Mongolia and Saint Lucia are new to the guide this year. All the content is current on 1 January 2015, with more recent additions noted.

Each chapter begins with contact information for the key people in that jurisdiction's EY offices. We then answer the basic questions practitioners ask about indirect tax systems:

- At a glance, what are the basic features of the major indirect tax in this jurisdiction?
- What is the scope, and who is taxable?
- What are the rates, and how has the country defined the time of supply?
- When can taxpayers recover VAT they've paid on inputs?
- What are the rules on filing, payment and penalties?

For many years, the Worldwide VAT, GST and Sales Tax Guide was joined by two companion guides on broad-based taxes: the Worldwide Corporate Tax Guide and the Worldwide Personal Tax Guide. In recent years, those three have been joined by six more specialized tax guides: the Worldwide Estate and Inheritance Tax Guide, the Worldwide Family Business Tax Guide, the Worldwide Transfer Pricing Reference Guide, the Global Oil and Gas Tax Guide, the Worldwide R&D Incentives Reference Guide, and the Worldwide Cloud Computing Tax Guide.

Each represents thousands of hours of tax research, making the suite of all nine the most reliably comprehensive product of its kind. And the entire suite is available free online along with timely Global Tax Alerts and other great publications on ey.com or in our Tax Guides App for tablets.

EY publishes other indirect tax publications, including current Tax Alerts, the Indirect Tax Briefing newsletter and our annual review of trends in VAT, GST, excise duties, customs duties and environmental taxes, Indirect Tax in 2015. Find them at ey.com/indirecttax.

Please contact us if you need more copies of the book, keep up with the latest updates at ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides and find out more about the app at ey.com/TaxGuidesApp.

EY
April 2015

This material has been prepared for general informational purposes only and is not intended to be relied upon as accounting, tax, or other professional advice. Please refer to your advisors for specific advice.

About EY's Tax Services

Your business will only succeed if you build it on a strong foundation and grow it in a sustainable way. At EY, we believe that managing your tax obligations responsibly and proactively can make a critical difference. Our 38,000 talented tax professionals, in more than 140 countries, give you technical knowledge, business experience, consistency and an unwavering commitment to quality service — wherever you are and whatever tax services you need.

Contents

EY Global Tax contacts	1
Albania.....	3
Argentina.....	11
Armenia	19
Aruba	27
Australia.....	31
Austria.....	40
Azerbaijan.....	56
Bahamas.....	62
Barbados	69
Belarus	74
Belgium.....	83
Bolivia.....	97
Bonaire, Sint Eustatius and Saba (BES Islands)	103
Botswana.....	108
Brazil.....	114
Bulgaria.....	125
Canada.....	138
Chile.....	154
China.....	160
Colombia.....	180
Costa Rica.....	190
Croatia.....	196
Curaçao	209
Cyprus.....	215
Czech Republic	229
Denmark.....	245
Dominican Republic	255
Ecuador	261
Egypt.....	266
El Salvador.....	272
Estonia.....	279
European Union	292
Finland	303
France.....	317
Georgia.....	333
Germany.....	344

Ghana	359
Greece	366
Guatemala	378
Honduras	385
Hungary	392
Iceland.....	406
India	414
Indonesia.....	425
Ireland, Republic of.....	434
Isle of Man.....	446
Israel.....	460
Italy	467
Japan	486
Jersey, Channel Islands	492
Jordan.....	500
Kazakhstan.....	510
Kenya	517
Korea	525
Kosovo.....	536
Latvia	545
Lebanon.....	567
Lithuania	573
Luxembourg	586
Macedonia, Former Yugoslav Republic of.....	597
Madagascar	604
Malaysia.....	612
Malta	619
Mauritius.....	630
Mexico	636
Moldova	643
Mongolia.....	649
Morocco	656
Myanmar	662
Namibia.....	667
Netherlands	675
New Zealand.....	687
Nicaragua	697
Nigeria.....	702
Norway.....	707
Pakistan	715

Panama	726
Papua New Guinea.....	732
Paraguay	739
Peru	744
Philippines.....	750
Poland.....	763
Portugal	775
Puerto Rico	791
Romania	795
Russian Federation.....	810
Rwanda.....	822
Saint Lucia	828
Serbia	833
Seychelles	840
Singapore	847
Sint Maarten.....	855
Slovak Republic	860
Slovenia.....	881
South Africa	892
Spain	904
Suriname	916
Sweden	920
Switzerland	931
Taiwan.....	941
Tanzania	947
Thailand	954
Trinidad and Tobago	960
Tunisia.....	965
Turkey	972
Uganda	979
Ukraine.....	988
United Kingdom	1000
United States	1017
Uruguay.....	1025
Venezuela	1030
Vietnam.....	1037
Zambia	1045
Zimbabwe.....	1051
Table of VAT, GST and sales tax rates.....	1059
Table of currencies.....	1062

EY Global Tax contacts

London

GMT

EY Global +44 (20) 7980-0000 Becket House
 1 Lambeth Palace Road
 London SE1 7EU
 England

EY Global Tax

Jay Nibbe +44 (20) 7951-7503
Global Vice Chair - Tax jnibbe@uk.ey.com
 Srinivasa Rao +44 (20) 7980-0936
Global Deputy Vice Chair - Tax srinivasa.rao@uk.ey.com

Area Tax leaders

Americas

Kate J. Barton +1 (212) 773-8762
 +1 (617) 585-6820
 kate.barton@ey.com

Asia-Pacific

James D. Hunter +852 2849-9338
 jim.hunter@hk.ey.com

Europe, Middle East, India and Africa

York Zoellkau +49 (221) 2779-25647 york.zoellkau@de.ey.com

Japan

Kenji Amino +81 (3) 3506-2164
 kenji.amino@jp.ey.com

Global Tax functional leaders

Mike Brorman +44 (20) 7951-2700
Global Tax - Business Development Leader mbrorman@uk.ey.com
 Jennifer Cohen +1 (212) 773-5801
Global Tax - Talent Leader jennifer.cohen@ey.com
 Kathy Powell +1 (404) 817-4667
Global Tax - Chief Financial Officer kathy.powell@ey.com
 Meg Salzetta +1 (312) 879-3683
Global Tax - Brand, Marketing & Communications Leader meg.salzetta@ey.com
 Michael Wachtel +61 (3) 8650-7619
Global Tax - Quality Leader michael.wachtel@au.ey.com

Global Tax sub-service line leaders

Business Tax Services

David H. Helmer +44 (20) 7980-0373
Global Director david.helmer@uk.ey.com

Global Compliance & Reporting

Aidan O'Carroll +44 (20) 7980-0789
Global Director aidan.ocarroll@uk.ey.com

Human Capital

Dina A. Pyron +44 (20) 7980-0679
Global Director dina.pyron@uk.ey.com

Indirect Tax

Gijsbert Bulk +31 (88) 40-71175
Global Director gijsbert.bulk@nl.ey.com

International Tax Services

Alex Postma +81 (3) 3506-1275
Global Director alex.postma@jp.ey.com

Transaction Tax

David Sreter +1 (212) 773-5848
Global Director david.sreter@ey.com

Editors - Worldwide VAT, GST and Sales Tax Guide

Bill Ahern +1 (202) 327-6079
bill.ahern@ey.com

Caitlin Hartley +44 (0) 7833-401-994
caitlin.hartley@uk.ey.com

Albania

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Tirana

GMT +1

EY

Ibrahim Rugova Str. Sky Tower
6th Floor
1001 Tirana
Albania

Indirect tax contacts

Dr. Alexandros Karakitis (resident in Athens, Greece)	+30 (211) 300-6317 alexandros.karakitis@gr.ey.com
Anisa Jasini	+355 (4) 241-9575, Ext.131 anisa.jasini@al.ey.com

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Value-added tax (VAT)
Local name	Tatimi mbi Vleren e Shtuar (TVSH)
Date introduced	27 April 1995
Trading bloc membership	Central European Free Trade Agreement
Administered by	General Directorate of Taxes of Albania
VAT rates
Standard	20%
Other	Zero-rated and exempt
VAT number format	A23456789B
VAT return periods	Monthly
Registration thresholds
Supply of domestic goods	Annual turnover of ALL5 million
Exporters and importers	Subject to registration regardless of turnover
Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses	No

B. Scope of the tax

VAT applies to the following transactions:

- The supply of goods and services performed by a taxable person in Albania
- Importation of goods into Albania, regardless of the status of the importer
- Services supplied to taxable persons in Albania by service providers whose place of business is outside Albania
- Certain supplies of services rendered to non-taxable persons in Albania by providers whose place of business is outside Albania, such as digital services and services related to an immovable property located in Albania

C. Who is liable

Any person (entity or individual) who makes supplies in the course of the person's independent economic activity is liable to VAT.

Taxable activities also include “the exploitation of tangible or intangible property for the purposes of obtaining income therefrom on a continuing basis.”

Registration. A taxable person established in Albania is obliged to register for VAT purposes and charge VAT when annual turnover in the previous twelve months exceeds ALL5 million. Once this threshold of ALL5 million is exceeded, any supply shall be subject to VAT, and the taxable person is required to apply for VAT registration within 15 days. Taxable persons with annual turnover less than ALL5 million may voluntarily register for VAT, and that taxable person remains registered for two years.

Persons involved in import or export activities and taxpayers who supply professional services must register for VAT regardless of the amount of turnover.

Group registration. The Albanian VAT law does not allow group registration.

Non-established businesses. A “non-established business” is a business that does not have a fixed establishment in Albania.

No VAT registration threshold applies to taxable supplies made in Albania by a non-established business. A non-established business must register for VAT in Albania if it engages in any of the following supplies:

- Supply of goods located in Albania at the time of supply
- Certain supplies of services to non-taxable persons in Albania, such as digital services and services related to an immovable property located in Albania
- Import and export activities in Albania

VAT representatives. A non-established business must appoint a resident VAT representative to register for VAT purposes in Albania. The VAT representative may act on behalf of the taxable person for all purposes related to VAT and is jointly liable for compliance with all VAT obligations of the non-established business.

Reverse charge. The reverse-charge mechanism applies to supplies of services made by a non-established business to taxable persons in Albania. A non-established business is not required to register for VAT if all its taxable supplies in Albania fall under the reverse-charge mechanism.

Digital economy. Albania follows the destination principle with regard to cross-border digital services supplied to non-taxable persons in Albania. The place of supply of cross-border digital services to non-taxable persons is the place where the non-taxable person is established or where he has his permanent address or usually resides. Thus, a foreign service supplier providing digital services to a non-taxable person in Albania should register for VAT purposes in Albania by appointing a VAT representative in the country to account for and pay the VAT liability.

Registration procedures. The application for registration cannot be performed online. VAT registration is performed at the National Center of Registration (NCR). A taxable person may personally or through an authorized person submit the registration form with the NRC. The registration procedure lasts 3-4 working days.

Late-registration penalties. Noncompliance with the requirement to register or to update registration data triggers a penalty of ALL25,000.

Deregistration. Every taxable person registered for VAT may request to be deregistered if turnover fell below the VAT registration threshold during the previous 12 months. Such deregistration becomes effective 6 months after the request. Taxable persons ceasing their economic activity must request deregistration within 15 days from the termination of their activity.

D. VAT rates

The standard VAT rate for taxable supplies is 20% and applies to all taxable supplies of goods and services unless a ministerial decree introduces a reduced or zero rate for specific supplies. A supplier of zero-rated supplies may deduct the VAT paid on inputs.

The use of goods or services purchased or produced in the course of business activity for private purposes constitutes a taxable supply to the extent the VAT on those supplies was deducted.

Examples of zero-rated supplies of goods and services

- Exports of goods
- International transport
- Services relating to maritime activities
- Supplies under diplomatic arrangements
- Supply of gold to the Central Bank of Albania
- Intermediary services of agents, brokers or other intermediaries related to zero-rated supplies or services rendered abroad

The term “exempt supplies” refers to supplies of goods and services that are not subject to VAT and that do not give rise to an input VAT deduction.

Examples of exempt supplies of goods and services

- Hospital services and medical care
- Insurance and reinsurance services
- Supply and rent of land and buildings
- Financial services
- Postal services
- Education services
- Hydrocarbon exploration operations
- Printing and sale of publications
- Media advertising
- Betting, lotteries and gambling
- Importation of machinery and equipment used for inward processing of goods and in the agricultural sector or in the implementation of contracts of ALL50 million or more
- Importation of production machinery for small business

Some supplies are treated as “exempt with credit,” which means that no VAT is chargeable, but the supplier may recover the input

VAT. Exempt with credit supplies include: exports of goods, supplies related to international transport and other supplies of goods or services under diplomatic and consular arrangements or international bodies.

Option to tax for exempt supplies. The Minister of Finance may grant through decree the right to opt for taxation for the following VAT exempt supplies:

- Financial transactions
- The supply of building and of the land on which the building stands
- The supply of land
- Leasing of immovable property

E. Time of supply

VAT becomes due at the “time of supply” unless otherwise provided in law. The time of supply is considered to occur when a receipt is required to be issued or when goods or services are delivered. If the payment is made before delivery of goods or services, the moment of supply is the moment when the payment is made.

The time of supply for a continuous supply of goods and services, including construction services, is considered to be the month when the invoice is issued.

Imported goods. The time of supply for imported goods is the date of importation or the date on which the goods exit a duty suspension regime.

F. Recovery of VAT by taxable persons

A taxable person may recover input tax, which is the VAT that the taxable person paid on the purchase of goods and services that were used to provide taxable goods and services in Albania. A taxable person generally recovers input tax by deducting it from output tax, which is the VAT charged on supplies made.

Input tax includes VAT charged on goods and services supplied in Albania, VAT paid on imports of goods and VAT applied to reverse-charge services.

Examples of items for which input tax is deductible (if related to a taxable business use)

- Expenditure relating to publicity and promotional articles
- Expenditure relating to representative expenses up to the amount of expenses which are recognized as deductible for corporate income tax purposes
- Expenditure on fuel used solely for carrying on taxable economic activity up to the limit defined by a decree issued by the Minister of Finance

However, not all input tax is deductible.

Examples of items for which input tax is not deductible

- Expenditure on fuel unless the payer is a company that purchases the fuel for trading purposes or unless it is provided differently in accordance with a ministerial decree
- Expenditure on trips and per diems and hotel accommodation

- Expenditure on cars, unless the business activity consists of the trading or renting of cars such as car rentals, taxi services and ambulances

Partial exemption. If a supply of a good or service is used partly for purposes of taxable supplies and partly for exempt supplies, the taxable person may not deduct input tax in full. This situation is known as “partial exemption.” The calculation of the amount of input tax that may be recovered is made on a pro-rata basis by using the following formula:

$$\text{Amount of relevant input VAT} \times \frac{\text{VAT creditable turnover}}{\text{total annual turnover}}$$

During the tax year, the pro-rata VAT due may be calculated based on the preceding year’s results. The calculation must be adjusted by 31 January of the following year to reflect the actual results of the tax year. The calculation does not include supplies of capital goods used by the taxable person for business purposes, nor does it include incidental real estate and financial transactions.

Capital goods. Capital goods are items of capital expenditure that are used in a business over several years. Input tax is generally deducted in the VAT year in which the goods are acquired. If the business comprises both taxable and exempt supplies and the capital goods do not only serve taxable supplies, the amount of input tax recovered depends on the taxable person’s partial exemption recovery position in the VAT year of acquisition. The amount of input tax recovered is adjusted over time if during the adjustment period the taxable person’s pro-rata calculation changes or the capital good is transferred to an exempt activity with no right to deduction.

The capital goods adjustment period is as follows:

- Immovable capital assets: 10 years
- Movable capital assets: 5 years

In case of pro-rata changes during the adjustment period, the adjustment is made to 1/5 for movable capital goods and 1/10 for immovable capital goods, while for transfer of capital goods to an exempt activity the adjustment is made for the remaining years of the adjustment period.

Write-off of bad debts. Taxable persons who have not received partial or total payment for a taxable supply may claim the VAT charged as input tax if all of the following conditions are satisfied:

- The debt has remained outstanding for more than six months.
- The amount has been written off.
- A court has recognized the debt as uncollectible.

Refunds. A taxpayer may claim a VAT refund if both of the following conditions are satisfied:

- The taxpayer carried forward the relevant amount as a VAT credit balance in the following three consecutive months.
- The amount claimed exceeds ALL400,000.

The taxpayer must file a “Request for Refund” form, prescribed in the VAT law, with the relevant tax office. The tax office must verify the fulfillment of the refund conditions and approve the refund within 60 days.

Preregistration costs. A taxable person cannot recover any input VAT incurred on goods or services supplied to it before VAT registration.

Noneconomic activities. To the extent they do not distort competition, payments received by not-for-profit organizations such as grants, donations and membership dues are considered to be noneconomic activities on which no VAT is due. The same applies to the performance of public services by the public authorities.

G. Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses

Non-established businesses not registered for VAT in Albania may not recover input VAT.

H. Invoicing

VAT invoices and credit notes. A taxable person must provide a VAT invoice for all taxable supplies made, including exports. The invoice must comply with the requirements set out in the VAT law. A VAT credit note may be used to reduce the VAT charged on a supply of goods or services; a debit note may be used to increase the amount of VAT. Tax credit and debit notes must be cross-referenced to the original VAT invoice.

Electronic issuance of invoicing. Electronic invoices are permitted, subject to acceptance by the recipient. The authenticity of the origin and the integrity of their content must be guaranteed by means of advanced electronic signature or by means of electronic data interchange (EDI) as defined by European Union guidelines.

Foreign-currency invoices. An Albanian VAT invoice must be issued in Albanian lek (ALL). If an invoice is received in a foreign currency, the amounts must be converted into lek. The exchange rate used for imports is determined by Customs, while the exchange rate for domestic VAT supplies is the rate published by the Central Bank of Albania for the date of the invoice.

Proof of exports. No VAT is chargeable on exported goods if exporters have documented their supplies with an official customs declaration.

I. VAT returns and payments

The tax period is a calendar month. Purchase and sales ledgers must be submitted monthly by the fifth day of the following month. VAT returns must be submitted monthly by the 14th day of the month following the tax period. The deadline for VAT payment is the same as the deadline for the filing of VAT returns. For imports, VAT is payable upon importation.

For a taxpayer that is newly registered, the first tax period begins on the date of the registration, as stated in the certificate of registration, and ends on the last day of that month.

VAT payable by a taxpayer for a tax period equals the VAT on the total taxable value of supplies made during the tax period minus any input VAT allowed as a deduction.

Special schemes for travel agencies. This scheme applies to transactions where the travel agency deals with customers in its own name and uses the supplies of other taxable persons in the provision of travel services. In this case, the taxable amount for services supplied to customers is the travel agency's margin, i.e., the difference between the total amount charged to the customer and the actual purchase price the travel agency paid for the services. The input VAT incurred by travel agents may not be deducted.

The special scheme does not apply to travel agencies that act only as intermediary, in which case the supplies and services of other taxable persons can be treated as disbursements.

Special arrangements applicable to second-hand goods, works of art, collectors' items and antiques. Profit margin schemes and tax simplification measures apply to sales by public auction by taxable dealers of second-hand goods, works of art, collectibles and antiques.

Compensation scheme for farmers. This scheme provides for compensation at the rate of 20% for farmers supplying services and goods to taxable persons. The compensation rate is applied to the price exclusive of VAT and covers the input VAT incurred by farmers during their activity.

Special scheme for investment gold. A special VAT scheme applies to investment gold.

Electronic filing and archiving. Taxpayers must electronically submit the purchase and sales ledgers and VAT returns.

Annual returns. Not applicable.

J. Penalties

The Albanian Tax Procedures Law (No. 9920, dated 19 May 2008), as amended, provides for the penalties described below.

Noncompliance with the requirement to register or to update the status of registration data triggers a penalty of ALL25,000.

Each late tax filing is subject to a penalty of ALL10,000.

Late payment of a tax obligation triggers a penalty amounting to 5% of the tax due for each month of delay, capped at 25% of the unpaid tax liability. In addition, default interest applies.

Erroneous completion of a tax filing or a tax refund claim is subject to a penalty of 5% of the undeclared tax liability or the excess tax refund claimed for each month of delay, capped at 25% of the relevant tax amount. In addition, default interest applies.

Concealment of tax obligations constitutes a fiscal evasion and is subject to a penalty of 100% of the tax amount evaded.

Improper administration of sales and purchases books and documentation is subject to a penalty of ALL50,000.

The failure to issue a VAT fiscal invoice for the whole amount of the transaction is subject to a penalty of 100% of the undeclared and unpaid tax liability.

Criminal offenses carried out by taxpayers are penalized under the Criminal Code. These offenses relate to certain situations, including, but not limited to, the following:

- Taxpayers willfully engaging in fiscal evasion
- Taxpayer not paying taxes to the state budget
- Taxpayers destroying and concealing important tax documents and information

Argentina

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Buenos Aires

GMT -3

EY

25 de Mayo 487
C1002ABI Buenos Aires
Argentina

Indirect tax contacts

Gustavo Scravaglieri	+54 (11) 4510 2224 gustavo.scravaglieri@ar.ey.com
Daniel Oliveri	+54 (11) 4318 1730 daniel.oliveri@ar.ey.com

A. At a glance

Names of the taxes	Value-added tax (VAT) Turnover tax
Local names	Impuesto al valor agregado (IVA) Impuesto sobre los ingresos brutos (IIBB)
Date introduced	January 1975 (VAT), 1977 (IIBB)
Trading bloc membership	Mercosur member
Administered by VAT	Federal Administration for Public Revenues (http://www.afip.gov.ar)
IIBB	The revenue service of each province (Dirección General de Rentas)
VAT rates
Standard	21%
Reduced	10.5%
Other	27%, 0% and exempt
IIBB rates (average)
Industrial	1% to 4%
Commerce and services	3.5% to 5%
Commission and intermediation	4.9% to 8%
VAT number format	30-99999999-1 (CUIT number)
IIBB number format	900-0000000-1
VAT and IIBB return periods	Monthly
Thresholds for registration VAT	For corporations and other legal entities, commencement of activity For individuals, registration required if sales are the higher of the following: ARS600,000 for goods ARS400,000 for services
IIBB	Commencement of sales activity

Recovery of VAT or IIBB by non-established businesses No

B. Scope of the tax

VAT applies to the following transactions:

- Supply of goods or services made in Argentina by a taxable person
- Reverse-charge services received by a taxable person in Argentina
- The importation of goods from outside Argentina

IIBB applies to the supply of goods or services made in Argentina by a taxable person.

C. Who is liable

VAT. A registered VAT payer is a business entity or individual who makes taxable supplies of goods or services in the course of doing business in Argentina and who is required to register for VAT.

VAT registration is mandatory in the following circumstances:

- Corporations or other legal entities: on commencement of activities
- Individuals: if annual taxable turnover from supplies of goods exceeds ARS600,000 and annual taxable turnover from supplies of services exceeds ARS400,000

IIBB. A registered IIBB payer is a business entity or individual who makes taxable supplies of goods or services in the course of doing business in Argentina. Registration is required on commencement of activities. No turnover threshold applies.

Group registration. In general, grouping is not allowed under Argentine law for VAT or IIBB. Legal entities that are closely connected must register for VAT or IIBB individually. Exceptions apply for joint ventures.

Non-established businesses. A “non-established business” is a business that has no fixed establishment in Argentina. A non-established business must register as a taxpayer for VAT or IIBB if it makes supplies of goods or services in Argentina and if it is required to account for VAT on its supplies.

AFIP Registration. A corporation’s legal representative is the chairman of the board. The request for registration before the national tax authorities (AFIP) must be filed by the legal representative of the legal entity, with the CUIT number and fiscal password (security level 3). The registration is filed through the application “MÓDULO INSCRIPCIÓN DE PERSONAS JURÍDICAS - F. 420/J - Versión 2.0” available on AFIP’s website. To complete the registration, the legal representative must bring the signed 420/J form to the correct AFIP office with all other mandatory documentation.

Tax representatives. In the case of corporations or other legal entities, the tax representative is the natural person who uses a “fiscal password” provided by the tax authority (AFIP) to carry out various tasks before AFIP. The name for this role is “relationship manager.” In order to file the affidavits corresponding to those taxes for which the taxable person has been registered, the relationship manager must access AFIP's webpage (www.afip.gob.ar) and have a fiscal password with no less than security level 3, but he can delegate such activities to other individuals.

VAT Registration. To register for VAT, the taxpayer or its legal representative must access AFIP's website and using the fiscal password, select the option F420/T Alta de Impuestos/Regimenes/Alta de Impuestos.

IIBB Registration. The IIBB is applicable for each of Argentina's 24 local jurisdictions, and the procedure for registering a taxable person varies by jurisdiction. Taxpayers that develop their activities in only one jurisdiction need only register there. For taxpayers that carry out activities in more than one jurisdiction, registration will be governed by the multilateral agreement regime. These taxpayers will register on AFIP's website, using the fiscal password to register in each jurisdiction in which activities will be carried out using the CM01 form. Additional documentation could be requested, depending on the local jurisdictions.

Late-registration penalties. A person that has not yet been registered for VAT and IIBB with tax authorities cannot perform commercial activities of any kind. Penalties and interest are assessed for late registration or payment, such as when a person developed a commercial activity before registering and paying. Penalties also apply to VAT or IIBB fraud.

Preregistration costs. Not applicable.

Reverse charge. Under the "reverse charge," the buyer must calculate and pay the VAT. This method applies to supplies made outside Argentina if the use or effective exploitation of the supply occurs within Argentina and if the supply is within the scope of VAT. If the reverse charge applies, a non-established supplier is not required to register for VAT. The reverse charge does not apply for IIBB purposes.

Credits for VAT and IIBB paid. The VAT payer pays monthly on the total amount invoiced, offset by the amount of input VAT invoiced to the taxpayer during the same period. If the VAT credit is higher than the amount of VAT debit during any tax period, such excess is only credited against future tax liabilities, not refunded, except in the case of exporters who may request a refund.

A taxable person that has paid too much VAT in a period in error may request a refund of the overpaid amount. Interest is paid by the VAT authorities on overpaid tax at the rate of 0.5% per month.

If the IIBB tax assessment shows an excess in favor of the taxpayer, it will be allocated and deducted in future filings.

Digital economy. As of this writing, there are no special regulations for digital services rendered from abroad, neither for VAT nor IIBB. Each activity should be analyzed to determine which taxes are due. However, efforts are underway in some jurisdictions such as the Province of Buenos Aires and Buenos Aires City to implement withholding regimes for taxes on digital services.

Deregistration. Taxpayers deregister from VAT through the AFIP web page, with the taxable person or the tax representative using the fiscal password.

To deregister from IIBB, the taxable person should comply with the mechanisms established by the local jurisdiction. Taxpayers who wish to deregister from IIBB under the multilateral agreement regime need to file the request online on the AFIP website.

D. Indirect tax rates

VAT. The term “taxable supplies” refers to supplies of goods and services that are liable to VAT, including supplies at the zero rate.

In Argentina, the following four rates of VAT apply:

- Standard rate: 21%
- Reduced rate: 10.5%
- Increased rate: 27%
- Zero rate (0%)

The standard rate of 21% applies to all supplies of goods or services, unless a specific measure imposes the higher rate or provides for a reduced rate, the zero rate or an exemption.

Examples of goods taxable under the VAT at 0%

- Exported goods
- Exported services

Examples of goods and services taxable under the VAT at 10.5%

- Interest and commissions on loans made by banks
- Sale, preparation, manufacturing or construction and final import of certain capital assets
- Long distance passenger transportation (over 100 km)

Examples of goods and services taxable under the VAT at 27%

- Telecommunications not used exclusively in a dwelling
- Supply of gas, electric power and water not used exclusively in a dwelling
- Sewage disposal and drainage services

The term “exempt supplies” is used for supplies of goods and services that are not liable to tax. Exempt supplies do not generate a right of input tax deduction (see Section F).

Examples of VAT-exempt supplies of goods and services

- Education
- Rental of real estate under certain conditions
- Books
- Some staples, such as water and milk for specified buyers
- Local passenger transportation rendered by cabs (less than 100 km)
- International transportation
- Interest on preferred shares and equity securities, bonds and other securities issued by the federal government, provinces and municipalities

Option to tax for exempt supplies. Not applicable for VAT or IIBB.

IIBB. The term “taxable supplies” refers to supplies of goods and services that are liable for IIBB, including supplies at the zero rate.

In Argentina, numerous rates of IIBB currently apply. The standard rates between 1% and 4% apply to industrial activities, the medium rates between 3.5% and 5% apply to commercial activities, and the increased rates between 4.9% and 8% apply to commissions and intermediation services. A zero rate applies in some cases.

The following lists provide some examples of supplies that are taxed at various rates of IIBB or that are exempt in the Province of Buenos Aires.

Examples of goods and services taxable under the IIBB at 0%

- Exported goods
- Exports of services in some jurisdictions

Examples of goods and services taxable under the IIBB at a rate between 1% and 4%

- Other manufacturers (not included in exemptions)
- Ship constructions
- Agricultural products

Examples of goods and services taxable under the IIBB at a rate between 3.5% and 5%

- Repairs of engines, machines, locomotives, ships, aircraft, pumps and certain other items
- Electricity distribution
- Hotel services
- Restaurants
- Communications
- Equipment loans
- Sales of goods (in general)
- Sales of machines and equipment

Examples of goods and services taxable under the IIBB at a rate between 4.9% and 8%

- Banks and intermediation

Examples of goods and services taxable under the IIBB at 8%

- Sales of tobacco
- Commissions

The term “exempt supplies” is used for supplies of goods and services that are not liable for tax.

Examples of IIBB-exempt supplies of goods and services

- Education
- Rental of real estate under certain conditions
- Interest on bank accounts and fixed-term deposits, depending on the local jurisdiction
- Manufacturer activities under certain conditions
- Sales of fixed assets

Option to tax for exempt supplies. Not applicable for VAT or IIBB.

Partial exemption. When purchases of goods, final imports, leases and performance of services are used for both taxable and exempt activities, the taxable person will have to estimate the amount of tax credit.

E. Time of supply

The time when VAT or IIBB becomes due is called the “time of supply” or “tax point.” The basic time of supply for goods is the earlier of when the goods are delivered or when the invoice is issued. The basic time of supply for services is the earlier of when the service is performed or completed, or when full or partial payment of the consideration is received.

Imported goods. The time of supply for imported goods is when the goods clear all customs procedures. At that time, VAT is due along with custom duties.

The VAT rate applies to the normal price defined according to import duties plus the taxes due to the import itself or deriving from it.

Reverse-charge services. The measures regarding reverse-charge services apply to VAT, not to IIBB. The time of supply for a reverse-charge service is the earlier of when the service is provided or when the consideration is paid in full or in part.

The recipient of the service must pay the tax within 10 days after the time of supply arises. The amount paid may be treated as input VAT (see Section F) in the tax period immediately following the tax period when the tax point arose.

F. Recovery of VAT by taxable persons

A taxable person may recover input tax (also known as credit VAT), which is VAT charged on goods and services supplied to it for business purposes. Input tax is generally recovered by being deducted from output tax (also known as debit VAT), which is VAT charged on supplies made.

Input tax includes VAT charged on goods and services supplied within Argentina, VAT paid on imports of goods and self-assessed VAT on reverse-charge services.

A valid tax invoice or customs document must generally accompany a claim for input tax.

Nondeductible input VAT. Input tax may not be recovered on purchases of goods and services that are not used for business purposes (for example, goods acquired for private use by entrepreneurs). In addition, input tax may not be recovered for some items of business expenditure.

The following lists provide some examples of items of expenditure for which input tax is not deductible and examples of expenditure related to a taxable business use for which input tax is deductible.

Examples of items for which input tax is nondeductible

- Accommodation
- Private use of business assets
- Parking

Examples of items for which input tax is deductible (if related to business use)

- Advertising
- Business gifts
- Purchase, lease or hire of a car, up to a threshold of ARS4,200 (except for cabs)
- Business entertainment

- Purchase, lease or hire of vans and trucks
- Mobile phones
- Travel expenses
- Taxis

G. Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses

Argentina does not refund VAT incurred by businesses that are neither established in Argentina nor registered for VAT there. However, a VAT refund system does apply to purchases made by foreign tourists.

H. Invoicing

Sales invoices and credit notes. A taxable person must generally provide a VAT sales invoice for all taxable supplies made, including exports. A VAT invoice is necessary to support a claim for input tax deduction.

A credit note may be used to reduce the VAT and IIBB charged and reclaimed on a supply of goods and services. A credit note must contain the same information as a sales invoice.

Electronic invoicing. Effective 18 December 2013, the scope of activities subject to mandatory electronic invoicing now includes:

- Research and development activities
- Professional, consultancy and technical services
- Construction, maintenance and improvement of buildings
- Real estate agency and brokerage (including the letting and exploitation of buildings used for conferences, parties and similar events)
- Supply of natural gas, electricity, water and sewerage services by utility companies
- Rental of transport equipment (including automobiles) and all types of machinery (such as heavy equipment and computers)
- Rental of clothes, furniture and all types of household items

In addition, large taxpayers are subject to mandatory electronic invoicing.

Exports. Argentine VAT and IIBB are not chargeable on supplies of exported goods. However, to qualify as VAT-free, exports must be supported by evidence that the goods have left Argentina. The related input VAT may be reimbursed by the federal government. Invoices for export transactions must be identified with the letter “E” to distinguish them from invoices for domestic supplies.

If services rendered in Argentina are invoiced to a foreign person and if the effective exploitation occurs abroad (export of services), the services are subject to IIBB in most jurisdictions, except the City of Buenos Aires, Córdoba, Entre Rios, Neuquén, Mendoza and the Province of Buenos Aires, under certain circumstances.

Foreign-currency invoices. If an invoice is issued in foreign currency, the values for VAT and IIBB purposes must be converted to Argentine pesos (ARS). If no authorized exchange rate applies, the conversion must be done using the selling exchange rate of the Argentine National Bank that applies at the end of the day immediately preceding the date of the tax point.

Proof of exports. The shipping permit issued for exports is the customs document that formally authorizes the exit of those goods.

I. VAT and IIBB returns and payment

Returns. VAT and IIBB returns are submitted for monthly periods. Returns and payment in full are due between the 12th to the 22nd day of the month following the end of the return period. The actual due date depends on the last figure of the taxpayer's identification number and the due date may vary from month to month.

Return liabilities must be paid in Argentine pesos. VAT payments may be offset by a credit balance arising from another tax collected by the Federal Administration for Public Revenues. This measure does not apply to IIBB.

In addition, VAT and IIBB payments may be offset with withholdings of these taxes. If the withholdings generate a credit in favor of the company, the company may ask for reimbursement from the local tax authorities. In the case of VAT, this credit may be used to offset other national taxes or sold to another company.

Special schemes. Not applicable. The 21% standard VAT rate applies to all supplies of goods or services, unless a specific provision in law imposes the higher rate or allows a reduced rate, the zero rate or an exemption.

Electronic filing and archiving. VAT and IIBB are submitted on the tax authority's web page. In general, a copy of those electronically filed tax returns can be viewed and retrieved from the website, but it is highly recommended that taxpayers keep their own copies in secure storage.

Annual returns. Not applicable for VAT. For IIBB, taxpayers registered under the multilateral agreement regime must file an annual affidavit – form CM05 – due in June of the following year. For local taxpayers, some jurisdictions, such as the City of Buenos Aires, require an annual filing.

J. Penalties

Penalties are imposed for errors and omissions with respect to VAT or IIBB accounting.

VAT. Penalties may include:

- A penalty ranging from ARS200 to ARS400 for failure to file a tax return
- A penalty ranging from 50% to 100% of the tax due for unpaid VAT
- Fines of up to 10 times the amount of tax evaded

In addition, interest is assessed at a rate ranging from 2.5% to 3% monthly on unpaid amounts.

Criminal tax evasion may be punished by a term of imprisonment, depending on the severity of the case.

IIBB. Penalties similar to the VAT penalties outlined above are established in each local jurisdiction as part of IIBB enforcement.

Armenia

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Yerevan

GMT +4

EY

1 Northern Avenue
Yerevan 0001
Armenia

Indirect tax contacts

Zurab Nikvashvili	+374 (10) 500-790
Tbilisi, Georgia:	+995 (32) 243-9375
	zurab.nikvashvili@ge.ey.com
Kamo Karapetyan	+374 (10) 500-790
	kamo.karapetyan@am.ey.com

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Value-added tax (VAT)
Local name	Avelacvats arzheqi hark
Date introduced	1 July 1993
Trading bloc membership	None
Administered by	Ministry of Finance (http://www.minfin.am) State Revenue Committee (http://www.taxservice.am)
VAT rates
Standard	20%
Other	0%
VAT number format
Legal entities and sole entrepreneurs	Tax identification number/1
Physical persons	Tax identification number/0
VAT return periods
Monthly	For persons that had VAT taxable turnover during the preceding calendar year in excess of AMD100 million
Quarterly	For persons that had VAT taxable turnover during the preceding calendar year of AMD100 million or less
Thresholds
Registration	AMD58,350,000 for the calendar year
Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses	No

B. Scope of the tax

VAT applies to the following transactions that are considered to be carried out in Armenia:

- Supply of goods (including produced and purchased goods, fixed assets, real estate and other goods) to persons for full or partial compensation (including barter transactions) or as a gratuitous supply
- Rendering of services (including sales of intangible assets and lease of goods and real estate) to other persons for full or partial compensation (including barter transactions) or as a gratuitous supply
- Importing goods into Armenia for free circulation with certain exceptions specified by law

C. Who is liable

All individual entrepreneurs, legal entities and branches of foreign legal entities that are registered as conducting entrepreneurial activities or having the right to carry out entrepreneurial activities are considered VAT payers from the moment they reach the VAT threshold (AMD58,350,000) calculated for the calendar year. All such entities whose turnover subject to VAT has not exceeded AMD58,350,000 during the preceding or current calendar year are not considered VAT payers, with certain exceptions specified by law. These entities may voluntarily become VAT payers by submitting an appropriate written statement to the tax authorities.

All individuals and legal entities that do not have the right to carry out entrepreneurial activities, such as unincorporated organizations, local governmental bodies and institutions created by them, the Central Bank of Armenia and notaries, shall be considered as bearing VAT payment obligation when carrying out VAT taxable transactions. The VAT threshold (AMD58,350,000) may be applied to individuals in certain cases defined by the law.

Group registration. The Armenian VAT law does not provide for group reporting of VAT. Each group member company must report VAT individually.

Non-established businesses and tax representatives. A “non-established” business is a foreign business that does not have a fixed establishment in Armenia. Such a business cannot register for VAT even if it makes taxable supplies of goods and services in Armenia. Reverse-charge VAT generally applies to supplies of goods and services and imports made by non-established businesses in Armenia (see Reverse charge).

The Armenian VAT law does not provide rules for tax representatives.

Reverse charge. Special reverse-charge rules apply to non-established businesses conducting VAT taxable entrepreneurial activities in Armenia. Persons considered VAT payers or bearing VAT payment obligations that have contractual relations with foreign businesses are responsible for bearing any VAT liability instead of such non-established businesses according to the terms and procedures established by the law.

An Armenian person engaged in business activities with a non-established business may issue a tax invoice indicating its own tax identification number and VAT number on behalf of a foreign entity that is not registered in Armenia as a person supplying goods or services. This tax invoice shall be considered to be issued by the foreign supplier and accordingly shall allow that person to deduct the amount of VAT from output tax.

Late-registration penalties. No late-registration penalties are imposed in Armenia.

Deregistration. No special rules are defined by law for deregistration. The VAT payer is deregistered automatically when the conditions for considering a person to be a VAT payer are not met.

Digital economy. Not applicable.

Registration procedures. VAT registration is performed automatically when conditions for considering a person to be a VAT payer are met or when the person or entity submits an application to the tax authorities in a form established by the government of Armenia. The application can be submitted either electronically or in hard copy. The electronic application is submitted through the taxpayer's account at <https://file-online.taxservice.am>. The hard copy is submitted to the regional tax inspectorate in two copies. After submission, registration is completed immediately, and the second copy is returned to the taxpayer.

D. VAT rates

The term “taxable supplies” refers to supplies of goods and services that are subject to VAT.

The VAT rates are 20% (standard rate) and 0%. The 20% rate applies to supplies of goods and services unless a specific measure provides the zero rate or an exemption.

Examples of zero-rated transactions (taxed at a 0% rate)

- Export outside the customs border of Armenia
- Supply of fuel for airplanes on international flights and supply of goods for consumption during the flights for the staff and passengers of the airplanes
- Supply of goods for passengers of international routes in airports, in places specially allocated for that purpose beyond customs and passport control territories, provided that the goods have passed customs registration before being supplied in accordance with the procedure established by the customs legislation for the export of goods from Armenia
- Supply of maintenance (including navigation, take-off and landing services), repair and re-equipment of the means of transport for international transportation, as well as supply of services for passengers, baggage, cargo and mail on international flights and supply of services to passengers during the flights
- Supply of services (including those provided by agencies and intermediaries) directly related to the provision of services described in the preceding item
- Supply of services outside Armenia
- Supply and import of goods for the official use of diplomatic representations and consular institutions, as well as international intergovernmental organizations deemed equal thereto, and supply of services to them
- Supply of transportation services of foreign loads in transit through Armenia

The term “exempt supplies” refers to supplies of goods and services that are within the scope of VAT taxation but are specifically exempted from VAT taxation. Such exempt transactions do not give rise to a right of input tax deductions (see Section F).

Examples of exempt supplies

- Supply of education at secondary schools, vocational schools for qualification and requalification and specialized secondary and higher educational institutions
- Supply of copy books and music books, albums for drawing, children's and school literature and school educational publications
- Sale of scientific and educational editions published by higher educational institutions, specialized scientific organizations and the National Academy of Sciences of Armenia
- Implementation of scientific and research programs, basic educational programs as well as organization of educational competitions, tournaments and Olympics organized in accordance with the standards established by the government of Armenia
- Supply of services related to the care of children in preschool institutions, care for persons in boarding schools, children's homes, institutions caring for disabled children and invalids and nursing homes, as well as supply of goods produced and services rendered by the persons living under the care of these institutions
- Supply of newspapers and magazines
- Supply of insurance and reinsurance, including related services rendered by insurance mediators (third parties who establish insurance relationships between insurers or reinsurers and policyholders and support the implementation of organizational, legal and other activities) and agents
- Supply of pension insurance, including related services rendered by mediators and agents
- Supply of financial services by banks, persons participating in securities' markets, payment and settlement organizations and lending organizations (certain cases)
- Supply of prosthetic and orthopedic items, medical assistance services (including prophylactic diagnostic measures) and goods related to treatment that are prepared within the context of medical assistance by patients in prophylactic enterprises and organizations, and services rendered by them
- Supply of goods and services (according to the procedure established by the government of Armenia) financed by funds intended for the preparation of credit and grant programs of international financial organizations
- Gratuitous supply of goods and services by public (including benevolent) and religious organizations
- Supply of precious and semiprecious stones indicated in the list specified by the government of Armenia
- Supply of goods and services within humanitarian assistance and charitable projects by foreign states, international intergovernmental organizations, international, foreign, and Armenian public organizations (including charities), religious and similar organizations and individual donors, as well as supply of goods and services directly related and essential to the implementation of such projects by Armenian VAT payers
- Transfer of property (except for immovable property) into the share capital of legal entities by individuals except for sole entrepreneurs

- Transfer of property (except for immovable property) into the share capital of legal entities by individuals except for sole entrepreneurs, if individual's share corresponding to this investment was not alienated during the three years after the investment was made
- Supply of services to the organizer and operator of a free-economic zone and the supply of goods in the territory of a free-economic zone

Option to tax for exempt supplies. Not applicable.

Yet another category is the supply of goods and services that are outside the scope of VAT. These also do not give rise to a right of input tax deduction.

E. Time of supply

The time when VAT becomes due is called the "tax point." The tax point is the moment when goods are delivered to or accepted by the customer or services are performed. For continuous supplies (for example, operating leases), the tax point is the last day of a reporting period.

Imported goods. The time of supply for imported goods is the moment of importation of goods into Armenia in accordance with the procedures established by the government of Armenia.

Reverse-charge services. The time of supply for services subject to the reverse-charge rules is determined in accordance with rules that are similar to the standard rules described above.

F. Recovery of VAT by taxable persons

A taxable person that performs economic activities in Armenia may generally recover input tax by deducting it from output tax, which is VAT charged on supplies made. Input tax includes the following:

- Amounts of VAT indicated in tax invoices issued by the suppliers of goods and services purchased or received during the reporting period in Armenia
- Amounts of VAT withheld (or subject to withholding) by customs bodies of Armenia for goods imported into Armenia

To deduct input VAT, the following conditions must be satisfied:

- The goods and services must be purchased or received in Armenia for production or other commercial purposes.
- The payments for the goods and services must be made to suppliers' bank accounts through a bank or post office (for cash purchases, deductions are available for purchases of up to AMD300,000 per transaction and up to AMD3 million per month).
- The VAT payer must submit information to the tax authorities about purchase and sale tax invoices issued during the quarter that have a VAT taxable amount exceeding AMD100,000, except for tax invoices issued and/or accepted electronically through the Internet.

The excess of input VAT over output VAT in the reporting period may be carried forward and offset against output VAT in subsequent reporting periods.

Nondeductible input tax. Input VAT may not be deducted in the following circumstances:

- The person carrying out entrepreneurial activities is not considered to be a VAT payer.
- VAT was paid for transactions that are exempt from VAT (see Section D), not subject to tax or not regulated by the Armenian law on VAT.
- VAT was paid for the goods and services purchased and/or used for non-production or non-commercial purposes.
- Input VAT on purchased goods or services exceeds the output VAT on the sale of the same goods or services, except for cases in which the resale price is fixed by the government of Armenia.
- VAT was paid on the purchase or import of passenger cars, except for the cars acquired for the purpose of resale.
- The taxpayer failed to submit the required information to the tax authorities on tax invoices issued by suppliers within the quarter.

Examples of items for which input tax is nondeductible

- Example 1. Taxpayer conducts one of the activities mentioned in Section D that is exempt from VAT. At the end of the month, the taxpayer receives a tax invoice for electricity. The taxpayer cannot deduct the amount of VAT indicated in the tax invoice as the activity that he/she conducts is exempt from VAT.
- Example 2. Taxpayer purchases a passenger car for office use. The taxpayer cannot deduct the VAT amount paid for the purchased car. The VAT amount is capitalized in the value of the car and is depreciated during the useful life of it.

Examples of items for which input tax is deductible (if related to a taxable business use)

- Example 1. Taxpayer conducts an activity that is subject to VAT. At the end of the month, the taxpayer receives a tax invoice for electricity, rent of office premises and purchased fixed assets. The taxpayer deducts the amount of VAT indicated in the invoices after all the requirements of the law are met (described in second paragraph of Section F).
- Example 2. A construction company buys construction materials for its business needs. The taxpayer can deduct VAT amount indicated in the tax invoice as the activity it conducts is subject to VAT and the materials that it had bought are for its business use.

Partial deduction. If a taxable person makes both taxable and nontaxable (exempt or outside-the-scope-of VAT) transactions, it may not deduct input VAT in full from output VAT. It may deduct only the amount of input VAT related to the goods and services used in taxable transactions. For this purpose, VAT payers shall maintain separate accounts for taxable and non-taxable transactions, as well as for the services and goods purchased for conducting such transactions.

If it is impossible to maintain separate accounts, the amount of input VAT subject to deduction in each reporting period must be prorated based on the ratio of taxable turnover to total turnover (VAT exclusive) of the business in the reporting period.

Capital goods. Effective from 1 January 2012, a capital goods adjustment applies for input VAT related to the purchase, construction or importation of fixed assets.

An input tax adjustment is required if input VAT is deducted for the purchase, construction or importation of fixed assets in a reporting period and if the asset is used in a subsequent reporting period for making supplies of goods or services that are not subject to VAT. The adjustment applies to 20% of the amount of amortization calculated for the fixed asset under the Profit Tax Law.

An adjustment may also be made if no input tax is deductible in the reporting period in which the acquisition is made because, at the time of acquisition, the fixed asset is directly attributable to making non-VATable supplies and if the asset is subsequently used for making supplies that are subject to VAT. If the taxpayer makes both taxable and exempt supplies, the input tax recovery is based on 20% of the amount of amortization calculated for the fixed asset under the Profit Tax Law and on the ratio of taxable to non-taxable supplies made.

Refunds. Under the Armenian law on VAT, refunds are available only for zero-rated transactions (except for the export of ferrous and nonferrous scrap). In all other cases, excess input VAT can be deducted only from the taxpayer's future VAT liabilities.

Preregistration costs. Not applicable.

G. Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses

Non-established businesses cannot recover VAT in Armenia, because only VAT payers in Armenia may recover input tax.

H. Invoicing

VAT invoices and credit notes. VAT payers supplying goods and services to legal entities and individual entrepreneurs must issue tax invoices if these supplies are subject to the standard rate of VAT. VAT invoices are not issued for supplies that are subject to the zero rate of VAT. A tax invoice must be issued on delivery of goods to, or acceptance of services by the customer. A VAT invoice is necessary to support a claim for input tax deduction. Tax invoices can be issued electronically or in hard copies. Depending on the business carried out by the taxpayer, tax invoices may be issued in advance, provided that the goods are supplied or the services are rendered on the supply date mentioned in the tax invoice.

The VAT law in Armenia does not contain any rules with respect to the issuance of credit notes.

Invoices issued in a foreign currency. In general, tax invoices are issued by VAT payers in Armenian currency (AMD) only. However, commercial invoices can be issued in foreign currencies for transactions carried out with non-established businesses. In such cases, the daily foreign currency exchange rates published by the Central Bank of Armenia are taken into consideration.

Proof of exports. For export purposes, appropriate declarations are filed with the customs authority by specialized brokers based on the invoice information issued by the exporter. The customs authority grants approval for export after confirming that the invoice data and declarations are consistent and that all necessary documents are presented.

I. VAT returns and payment

VAT returns and payment. VAT payers that had VAT taxable turnover during the preceding calendar year in excess of AMD100 million must file monthly VAT returns with the local tax authorities. All other VAT payers must file their VAT returns quarterly. VAT due is payable to the state budget by the 20th day of the month following the reporting period.

For goods imported into Armenia, VAT must be paid within 10 days after importation in accordance with the procedure established by the government of Armenia. VAT payment may be deferred on the importation of certain goods.

If the previously declared customs regime (under which VAT is not levied on the goods passing the customs border) is replaced by the import for free circulation regime, the taxpayers must pay the amount of applicable VAT within 10 days after the redeclaration of goods or after the day when it became known.

Special schemes. Not applicable.

Electronic filing and archiving. Starting in 2012, all VAT payers file all returns electronically through their accounts at <https://file-online.taxservice.am>. There are no special rules defined by the law for archiving. All tax returns are kept electronically in the taxpayers' accounts at <https://file-online.taxservice.am>.

Annual returns. Not applicable.

J. Penalties

The penalty for understatement of VAT payable equals 50% of the amount not declared. A penalty of 100% of the above-mentioned amount is applied if a violation is repeated within one year or if the VAT invoice is annulled for the purpose of decreasing VAT payable.

The penalty for the violation of instructions established by the government of Armenia for the issuance of tax invoices equals double the amount of the remuneration with respect to the respective tax invoice (including the amount of VAT) but not less than AMD5 million.

The penalty for filing a VAT return late is 5% of the calculated tax for each 15-day period, up to a maximum penalty of the total tax amount.

In addition, interest is charged on late tax payments at a rate of 0.15% of the tax due for each day of delay (up to 365 days).

Aruba

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Oranjestad

GMT -4

EY

Mail address:

P.O. Box 197

Oranjestad

Aruba

Street address:

Vondellaan 4

Oranjestad

Aruba

Indirect tax contacts

Bryan D. Irausquin
(resident in Curaçao)

+599 (9) 430-5075
bryan.irausquin@an.ey.com

Luenne E. Gomez-Pieters

+297 521-4444
luenne.gomez-pieters@an.ey.com

Cristina L. de Freitas Brás
(resident in Curaçao)

+599 (9) 430-5070
cristina.de.freitas@an.ey.com

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Revenue tax (RT)
Local name	Belasting op bedrijfsomzetten
Date introduced	1 January 2007
Trading bloc membership	None
Administered by	Departamento di Impuesto
RT rates
Standard	1.5%
Other	Exempt
RT number format	XXXXXXXX (7 digits)
RT return periods	Monthly
Thresholds	None
Recovery of RT by non-established businesses	No

B. Scope of the tax

Persons subject to RT are entrepreneurs that in the course of their business supply goods or render services in Aruba. The tax base equals the gross revenue (in cash or in kind) realized from the supply of goods or the rendering of services in Aruba by entrepreneurs in the course of their business.

C. Who is liable

In principle, for RT purposes, an entrepreneur is an individual or business entity that delivers goods or performs services (engages in taxable activities) in Aruba. The entrepreneur that realizes the revenue is subject to RT.

A legal entity is not regarded as an entrepreneur for RT purposes if it does not participate in economic activities in Aruba and is in possession of a foreign-exchange license or is exempt from the requirement to hold one.

Non-established business. A “non-established business” is a business that does not have a fixed place of business in Aruba. The Aruba RT law does not provide an explicit exception for non-established businesses. Consequently, foreign entrepreneurs are considered to be entrepreneurs for RT purposes and are subject to RT when performing taxable activities in Aruba.

Free zones. Free-zone companies are exempt from RT with respect to the rendering of services or the supply of goods to nonresidents.

Group registration. If a parent company owns 100% of the shares in a subsidiary established in Aruba, on request a fiscal unity for RT purposes is recognized and RT is levied on the parent company as if one entrepreneur exists. Revenue generated by inter-company transactions is exempt from RT.

Registration procedures. To register for the RT, an entrepreneur or an authorized representative has to submit a hard copy registration form to the tax authorities (Departamento di Impuesto). This registration form can be downloaded from the website of the Aruban tax authorities: <http://www.siad.aw>.

It takes an average of 10 working days for the tax authorities to complete the registration process.

Tax representatives. An entrepreneur can give someone else a written power of attorney to conduct the taxpayer’s business before the tax authorities with regard to the RT. If the taxpayer is unable to look after his or her own interests, the Tax Inspector may appoint someone to act on behalf of the taxpayer.

Late-registration penalties. In general, an Aruba entrepreneur who begins taxable activities must register with the tax authorities. Since there is no specific deadline for registration, a penalty is not imposed for late registration. However, if the late registration results in the late payment of RT or the late submission of RT returns, penalties may be imposed.

Reverse charge. Not applicable.

Digital economy. Rules for digital supplies are the same as for other supplies.

Deregistration. To deregister for the RT, a written application for deregistration has to be submitted to the tax authorities.

D. RT rates

The term “taxable supply” refers to a supply of goods or rendering of services that is subject to RT. The term “revenue” refers to all remunerations (in cash or in kind) received by an entrepreneur for the supply of goods or the rendering of services in the course of its business.

The standard rate of 1.5% applies to revenue realized from performing taxable activities in Aruba, unless a specific measure provides for an exemption.

Examples of exempt supplies of goods and services

- Sale of real estate (to the extent that transfer tax is due)

- Prescription medicines, including certain medical aids
- Renting out of apartments or hotel rooms (to the extent that room tax is due)
- Providing opportunities to gamble (to the extent that gaming tax is due)
- International transportation of goods and persons by ships or airplanes
- Renting out of real estate that is used as the renter's own dwelling
- Investment income, such as interest, dividends and capital gains realized from the sale of shares and other stocks
- Insurance and the services performed by intermediaries of insurance companies
- Services rendered by companies established in the free zone to customers outside Aruba

Exports. Revenue realized from the supply of exported goods is exempt from RT. However, to qualify for this exemption, the exports must be supported by evidence that confirms that the goods have left Aruba. The Minister of Finance may issue additional regulations for the implementation of the export exemption mentioned above. However, currently no additional regulations have been adopted.

Option to tax for exempt supplies. Not applicable.

E. Time of supply

RT is levied on a cash basis. However, on request, an entrepreneur may opt for an invoice (accrual) basis for RT. The tax authorities need to approve this request.

F. Recovery of tax by taxable persons

Neither established nor non-established businesses may recover RT in Aruba.

G. Recovery of tax by non-established businesses

Neither established nor non-established businesses may recover RT in Aruba.

H. Invoicing

Invoices and credit notes. An entrepreneur must provide an invoice for all taxable supplies made, including exports.

Entrepreneurs subject to RT must retain copies of invoices for 10 years.

An RT credit note must be issued when the quantity or consideration shown on an invoice is altered. In general, credit notes must contain the same information as the original RT invoice.

Foreign-currency invoices. Not applicable.

Electronic invoices. Not applicable.

Proof of export. Goods destined for export are exempt from RT. The entrepreneur must provide documents to prove the goods are destined for export.

I. RT return and payment

RT returns. RT returns are generally submitted on a monthly basis. The RT return must be filed within 15 days after the end of the month, and the RT due must be paid within the same time period. The filing of the return and payment of the RT amount can be done separately.

Special schemes. Not applicable.

Electronic filing and archiving. Not applicable.

Annual returns. Not applicable.

J. Penalties

Aruba's strict penalty system punishes the following two categories of infraction:

- Omissions
- Gross negligence or intent

The tax authorities can impose penalties for not filing the RT return on time, for not paying the amount due on time, or for not paying or partially paying the amount due. These penalties can accumulate. The following are the maximum penalties, which vary depending on the number of omissions:

- Not filing return on time: AWG250
- Not paying on time: AWG10,000
- Not paying or partially paying: AWG10,000

If the late payment is caused by gross negligence or intent, fines ranging from 25% to 100% of the RT payable may be imposed.

Criminal penalties may also apply in certain circumstances, such as in cases of fraudulent conduct.

Australia

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Brisbane, Queensland

GMT +10

EY

Mail address:
GPO Box 7878
Brisbane, Queensland 4001
Australia

Street address:
Level 51, 111 Eagle Street
Brisbane, Queensland 4000
Australia

Indirect tax contacts

Patrick Lavery

+61 (7) 3243-3694
patrick.lavery@au.ey.com

David Wilson

+61 (7) 3011-3346
david.wilson@au.ey.com

Melbourne, Victoria

GMT +10

EY

Mail address:
GPO Box 67
Melbourne, Victoria 3001
Australia

Street address:
8 Exhibition Street
Melbourne, Victoria 3000
Australia

Indirect tax contact

Brad Miller

+61 (3) 9655-2718
brad.miller@au.ey.com

Rhys Penning

+61 (3) 9288-8432
rhys.penning@au.ey.com

Perth, Western Australia

GMT +8

EY

Mail address:
GPO Box M939
Perth, Western Australia 6843
Australia

Street address:
11 Mounts Bay Road
Perth, Western Australia 6000
Australia

Indirect tax contacts

Karen Dill-Macky

+61 (8) 9429-2128
karen.dill-macky@au.ey.com

Gavin Shanhun

+61 (8) 9429-2209
gavin.shanhun@au.ey.com

Sydney, New South Wales

GMT +10

EY

Mail address:
GPO Box 2646
Sydney, New South Wales 2001
Australia

Street address:
680 George Street
Sydney, New South Wales 2000
Australia

Indirect tax contacts

Greg Hill

+61 (2) 8295-6432
greg.hill@au.ey.com

Mark Tafft

+61 (2) 8295-6987
mark.tafft@au.ey.com

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Goods and services tax (GST)
Date introduced	1 July 2000
Trading bloc membership	None
Administered by	Australian Taxation Office (http://www.ato.gov.au)
GST rates
Standard	10%
Other	GST-free (zero-rated) and input taxed (exempt without credit)
GST number format	ABN 12345678901
GST return periods	Monthly (turnover in excess of AUD20 million; optional for all other registered persons) Quarterly (turnover below AUD20 million) Annual with quarterly payments (turnover below AUD2 million) Annual (turnover below AUD75,000)
Thresholds
Registration	AUD75,000 (AUD150,000 for nonprofit bodies)
Recovery of GST by non-established businesses	No

B. Scope of the tax

GST applies to the following transactions:

- Taxable supplies of goods and services, which are supplies connected with Australia and made for consideration in the course of a business enterprise by an entity that is registered or that is required to be registered for GST
- Reverse-charge supplies made to a registered entity in Australia if the supply is not connected with Australia and if the recipient of the supply does not make the acquisition solely for a creditable purpose
- Taxable importations of goods into Australia, regardless of the status of the importer

C. Who is liable

The GST registration threshold is AUD75,000 (AUD150,000 for nonprofit bodies). The threshold applies, retrospectively and prospectively, based on either of the following:

- Current GST turnover, which is the value of all supplies made or likely to be made in the current month plus the preceding 11 months
- Projected GST turnover, which is the value of all supplies made or likely to be made in the current month plus the next 11 months

To calculate turnover for the above purposes, turnover from input-taxed (exempt) supplies, supplies that are not connected with Australia and certain other types of supplies are excluded.

Voluntary registration. An entity that has turnover below the registration threshold may apply to register for GST voluntarily if the entity is carrying on an enterprise.

Group registration. Subject to certain requirements, two or more entities that are closely related may form a GST group. The effect of GST grouping is to treat the group members as a single entity for certain purposes. In general, all GST liabilities and input tax credit entitlements for group members are attributed to a representative member of the group, and the group submits a single GST return (incorporated as part of the Business Activity Statement; see Section I). The representative member of the group must be an Australian resident. However, nonresidents may be included in a GST group as members. Transactions between group members are not considered taxable for GST purposes and consequently are effectively ignored.

Grouping is permitted for companies, partnerships and trusts. For companies to be included in a GST group, they must be connected by a 90% (or greater) share ownership relationship in terms of voting power, right to receive dividends and right to receive capital distributions. However, all eligible companies are not required to be included in a GST group. The rules for the grouping of trusts and partnerships with companies are complex.

Branch registration. An independent branch of a company may be registered separately as a GST branch, with its own GST number. Certain requirements must be met relating to the nature of the activities and accounting systems of proposed GST branches. In addition, a branch of a registered entity may not be registered as a GST branch if the entity is a member of a GST group.

Nonresident entities. GST applies to taxable supplies and to taxable importations made by nonresidents. In general, a nonresident entity is not required to appoint a tax or fiscal representative in Australia for GST purposes. However, GST payable on any taxable supply or taxable importation made by a nonresident through a resident agent is payable by the agent. The nonresident is still required to be registered for GST, but need not submit GST returns if all supplies or acquisitions are made through the agent.

As an alternative to registration, some nonresidents may agree with the recipient of the supply for the recipient to account for the GST liability under the voluntary reverse-charge procedure.

Voluntary reverse charge. GST on a taxable supply is payable by the recipient and not by the supplier if all the following conditions are met:

- The supplier is a nonresident.
- The supplier does not make the supply through an enterprise that it carries on in Australia.
- The recipient is registered (or is required to be registered) for GST.
- The supplier and recipient agree that the GST is payable by the recipient.

The voluntary reverse charge does not apply if either of the following circumstances exists:

- The compulsory reverse charge applies.
- The supply is made by the nonresident through a resident agent.

Compulsory reverse charge. A compulsory reverse charge applies in the following circumstances:

There is a supply of anything other than goods or real property that is either (a) not connected with Australia or (b) connected with Australia because it is a supply made through an enterprise carried on outside of Australia and it is a supply of a right or option to acquire something that would be connected with Australia.

- The recipient of the supply is registered (or required to be registered).
- The supply is for consideration.
- The recipient acquires the supply solely or partly for the purpose of a business enterprise carried on by it in Australia.
- The acquisition is not solely for a creditable purpose (that is, it is not eligible for full input tax credits), and the supply is not input taxed or GST-free (see Section D).

The compulsory reverse charge applies primarily to businesses that make input-taxed (exempt) supplies (for example, financial institutions) and to acquisitions made for a partly private or domestic purpose. The reverse charge does not apply to private consumers who are not registered or required to be registered for GST.

Late registration penalties. Penalties and interest may be imposed for late registration or for failure to register and for late submission of a GST return, as part of the Business Activity Statement (see Section I), or late payment of GST.

Tax representatives. Not applicable.

Digital economy. Not applicable.

Deregistration. An entity that ceases to carry on an enterprise must cancel its GST registration. The entity must notify the Australian GST authorities that it is no longer entitled to be registered within 21 days after ceasing operations. An entity that is no longer required to be registered may apply to cancel its registration. However, the Commissioner of Taxation is not required to cancel the registration if a business has been registered for less than 12 months.

D. GST rates

The terms “taxable supplies” and “taxable importations” refer to supplies of goods and services and importations that are liable to GST and which give rise to a right to claim input tax credits for GST included in acquisitions related to the supply. Taxable supplies are supplies subject to the standard rate of GST, which is 10%.

“GST-free supplies” are supplies not liable for GST but that nevertheless do give rise to a right to claim input tax credits for GST included in acquisitions related to the supply.

Examples of GST-free supplies of goods and services

- Basic foodstuffs
- Water, sewerage and drainage services
- Exports of goods and services performed for nonresidents of Australia who are not in Australia when the supply is made
- Health, education, religious and related supplies

- Child care
- Supplies of going concerns
- International transport and mail

“Input-taxed supplies” are supplies not liable for GST, but which do not give rise to a right to claim input tax credits for GST included in acquisitions related to the supply (see Section F).

Examples of input-taxed supplies of goods and services

- Financial supplies
- Rental of residential premises
- Sales (or long-term leases) of residential premises (except for new residential premises)
- Supplies of some precious metals
- Supplies in the course of fund-raising events conducted by charitable institutions
- Supplies made through school “tuck shops” and cafeterias

Option to tax for exempt supplies (input-taxed supplies). Not applicable.

E. Time of supply

Australia does not have time of supply rules. Instead, it has attribution rules with respect to the timing of when GST is payable or an input tax credit is claimable. The time when GST is payable on a supply depends on whether the taxable person accounts for GST on a cash basis or on an accrual basis.

Cash accounting. Entities may choose to account on a cash basis only under limited circumstances, which involve, among other conditions, consideration as to whether an entity satisfies certain income tax definitions.

For entities that use cash accounting, GST is payable with respect to a taxable supply in the tax period in which the consideration is received. If only part of the consideration is received in a particular tax period, GST is payable only on that part.

Accrual basis. For businesses that account for GST on an accrual basis, GST is payable with respect to a taxable supply for the tax period in which the invoice is issued or when any of the consideration is received for the supply, whichever is earlier.

Prepayments. If a prepayment or a deposit is treated as part payment of the consideration for a supply, GST is payable in the period when the deposit is paid. For entities that use the accrual basis of accounting, the deposit triggers a liability to account for GST on the full value of the supply. For entities that use cash accounting, GST is payable on the amount of the deposit.

Security deposits are not considered to constitute payment of the consideration for a supply until the deposit is applied as partial payment toward the consideration for the supply. GST is payable on a security deposit that is forfeited.

Continuous supplies. If a supply is made continuously over a period of time for consideration that is either paid progressively or periodically, the supply is treated as if each component of the progressive or periodic supply is a separate supply.

Imported goods. GST is payable for imported goods at the time of importation. For an importer registered under the GST-deferral scheme, GST is payable on the due date for the importer's next Business Activity Statement (see Section I).

F. Recovery of GST by registered entities

A registered entity may claim input tax credits for the GST included in the consideration for goods and services acquired within Australia, GST paid on importations of goods and GST paid under reverse-charge arrangements to the extent that the acquisition is a creditable acquisition. Input tax credits are generally recovered by being offset against GST payable on taxable supplies.

A valid tax invoice or customs document must generally be retained to support claims for input tax credits.

Non-creditable acquisitions. "Non-creditable acquisitions" are purchases of goods and services used to make input-taxed supplies or acquisitions that are not used for business purposes (for example, goods acquired for private use by an entity). In addition, input tax credits are blocked or reduced for some items of business expenditure.

However, acquisitions related to making financial supplies remain creditable if the entity does not exceed the financial acquisitions threshold. An entity exceeds the financial acquisitions threshold if, in the current month and the preceding 11 months, or in the current month and the next 11 months, the GST on acquisitions related to financial supplies exceeds, or will exceed, either the lesser of AUD150,000 or 10% of the total input tax an entity incurs. In calculating the amount of GST on financial acquisitions, financial acquisitions related to borrowings are excluded. Acquisitions related to borrowings that are not used to make input-taxed supplies remain creditable. An entity that exceeds the financial acquisitions threshold may be entitled to reduced input tax credits (at a rate of 75% or 55%) in specific circumstances.

The following lists provide some examples of items of expenditure for which input tax credits are not available (non-creditable acquisitions) and examples of items for which input tax credits are available if the expenditure is related to the enterprise of an entity (creditable acquisitions).

Examples of non-creditable acquisitions

- Acquisitions used for nonbusiness purposes
- Entertainment acquisitions that are ineligible for income tax deductions
- Acquisitions related to input-taxed supplies (however, acquisitions related to making financial supplies that either do not exceed the financial acquisitions threshold, or relate to borrowings not used to make input-taxed supplies, remain creditable)

Examples of creditable acquisitions

- Advertising
- Purchase, lease and hire of a car, van or truck
- Maintenance and fuel for a car, van or truck
- Parking
- Mobile phones (GST may be payable on a recharge of costs to employees)

Partly creditable acquisitions (partial exemption). A creditable acquisition is an acquisition of goods or services used by a registered entity in its business enterprise. However, input tax credits are generally not available for GST included in acquisitions that are used for making input-taxed (exempt) supplies, subject to whether an entity exceeds the financial acquisitions threshold (see Non-creditable acquisitions).

In general, the amount of the input tax credit available for a creditable acquisition is the amount of GST payable on the supply. However, the amount of the input tax credit is reduced if the acquisition is only partly creditable. An acquisition is partly creditable if either of the following conditions applies:

- The acquisition is made only partly for a creditable purpose (for example, it partly relates to input-taxed supplies).
- The taxable person provides, or is liable to provide, part of the consideration for the acquisition.

The amount of the input tax credit for a partly creditable acquisition is based both on the extent to which the acquisition is made for a creditable purpose and on the amount of the total consideration that is provided, or liable to be provided, by the taxable person.

The Australian tax authorities require that the extent to which an acquisition is made for a creditable purpose is determined based on the planned use of the acquisition “on a reasonable basis.” Direct allocation methods are preferred if possible. However, indirect allocation methods are acceptable if it is not feasible to use a direct method. Examples of common indirect methods include the following:

- A pro-rata calculation, based on the cost of acquisitions used to make taxable supplies compared with the total cost of all acquisitions.
- A pro-rata calculation, based on the total value of taxable supplies made compared with the total value of all supplies made.

Subsequent input tax credit adjustments may be required in later tax periods, depending on the actual use of the acquisition compared with its expected use.

Refunds. If the amount of input tax credits in a period exceeds the GST payable in the same period, the excess amount is applied against any other outstanding tax debts and any surplus is refunded. Any refunds of GST must be paid into an Australian bank account.

Preregistration costs. Not applicable.

G. Recovery of GST by non-established businesses

Only entities that are registered for GST may claim refunds of GST incurred on Australian acquisitions. In general, entities (including nonresidents) that make acquisitions in Australia for the purposes of their enterprises may register for GST if necessary.

H. Invoicing

Tax invoices and adjustment notes. A registered person must generally provide a tax invoice for all taxable supplies made if requested to do so by the recipient of a supply. A tax invoice is not required for supplies with a GST-inclusive amount of AUD82.50 or less.

A tax invoice is generally necessary to support claims for input tax credits.

An adjustment note (or credit or debit note) may be issued to reduce or increase the amount of GST payable on a supply if the amount of GST originally charged is incorrect (for example, as a result of an error or because of an agreed adjustment to the price). The adjustment note should be clearly marked either as an adjustment note or as a tax invoice (provided the amount of any credit is shown as a negative amount), and it must provide detailed particulars of the adjustment made.

Proof of exports. Exports of goods are GST-free. To qualify as GST-free, goods must generally be exported within 60 days. Exports must also be supported by evidence that indicates the goods have left Australia within the allowable time limit. A supplier must have documents that would enable a person who is independent of the transaction to reasonably conclude that a supply of goods was made and that the supplier exported them within the specified time limits.

Foreign-currency invoices. If a tax invoice or adjustment note is issued in a foreign currency, the GST must be shown in Australian dollars (AUD) or the applicable exchange rate used must be shown. Registered persons may use the exchange rate issued by the Reserve Bank of Australia applicable at 4 p.m. on the day of the invoice or on the previous day, or any other rate that is acceptable to the Australian tax authorities.

I. GST returns and payment

Business Activity Statement. GST liabilities are reported using a Business Activity Statement (BAS). Registered persons whose annual turnover equals or exceeds AUD20 million must complete a BAS each month, which must be filed electronically, and must pay any net GST liability. Monthly returns and payments are due by the 21st day of the month following the end of the return period.

Registered persons whose annual turnover for GST purposes does not exceed AUD20 million must submit a BAS each quarter or they may opt to submit monthly. These registered persons may also choose to report some information annually. Quarterly returns and payments are generally due by the 28th day of the month following the end of the relevant return period, but may be made by 28 February for the December quarter.

Registered persons whose turnover for GST purposes does not exceed AUD2 million may opt to file an annual BAS and pay GST in quarterly installments.

Persons whose turnover for GST purposes does not exceed AUD75,000 and who voluntarily opt to register for GST, may apply to file annual BASs and pay GST annually.

GST liabilities must be paid in Australian dollars.

Special schemes. Not applicable.

Electronic filing. Registered persons whose annual turnover equals or exceeds AUD20 million must file their BAS electronically.

Annual returns. See Business Activity Statement above.

J. Penalties

A late lodgment penalty may be imposed for the late filing of a BAS. The penalty applies for each 28-day period, or part thereof, that the BAS remains overdue, up to a maximum of five periods. The amount of the penalty is one penalty unit for each period (a penalty unit is currently AUD170) but may be increased depending on the size of the entity's business. General interest charges may be imposed on late payments of GST. The rate changes quarterly. It is around the range of 10% to 14% per year, compounded daily.

Austria

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Vienna

GMT +1

EY

Wagramer Strasse 19
1220 Vienna
Austria

Indirect tax contact

Ingrid Rattinger

+43 (1) 21170-1251
ingrid.rattinger@at.ey.com

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Value-added tax (VAT)
Local name	Umsatzsteuer
Date introduced	1 January 1973
Trading bloc membership	European Union (EU) Member State
Administered by	The Federal Ministry of Finance (http://www.bmf.gv.at)
VAT rates
Standard	19%, 20%
Reduced	10%, 12%
Other	Exempt and exempt with credit
VAT identification number format	ATU 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8
Tax number format	1 2 3 / 4 5 6 7
VAT return periods	Monthly (turnover in preceding year in excess of EUR100,000) Quarterly (turnover in preceding year below EUR100,000) Annually (all businesses)
Thresholds
Registration	EUR30,000 (entities established in Austria) Nil (entities established outside Austria)
Distance selling	EUR35,000
Intra-Community acquisitions	EUR11,000 (acquirers that do not deduct input tax)
Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses	Yes

B. Scope of the tax

VAT applies to the following transactions:

- The supply of goods or services made in Austria by a taxable person

- The intra-Community acquisition of goods from another European Union (EU) Member State by a taxable person (see the chapter on the EU)
- Reverse-charge services received by a taxable person in Austria (that is, services for which the VAT liability shifts to the recipient of the service)
- Self supplies of goods and services used for nonbusiness purposes and supplies of goods without consideration
- The importation of goods from outside the EU, regardless of the status of the importer

C. Who is liable

A taxable person is any entity or individual that makes taxable supplies of goods or services, intra-Community acquisitions or distance sales, in the course of a business, in Austria.

Special rules apply to VAT registration for foreign (or non-established) taxable persons.

Exemption from registration. If a business that is established in Austria has annual turnover of EUR30,000 or less and does not have to pay VAT for the calendar year, it does not need to register for a tax number or file a VAT return.

Exempt supplies by small businesses. If an Austrian taxable person's annual turnover is not more than EUR30,000, its supplies are exempt from VAT (with no input tax credit; see Section F). However, a taxable person with an annual turnover of less than EUR30,000 may opt to charge VAT on its supplies and recover input tax on its purchases.

Group registration. In Austria, group registration may be granted to entities that are closely bound by financial, economic and organizational ties. A group consists of a controlling entity and one or more entities that it controls. The controlling entity may be any taxable person, but the controlled entities must all be corporate bodies. The effects of VAT grouping are restricted to the parts of the business that are located in Austria.

To form or join a VAT group, the group members must satisfy the following conditions:

- Financial integration: the controlling group member must own at least 75% of the shares of the controlled companies. If the share ownership is between 50% and 75%, the companies may be considered to satisfy the financial integration test if the other conditions are strongly met.
- Economic integration: the controlled company's activities support or complement the activities of the controlling entity, and they have a continuous business relationship.
- Organizational integration: the management of the controlled company is fully dependent on the will of the controlling company.

All controlled entities that fulfill the above criteria must be included in the VAT group.

The effect of group registration is to treat the members as a single taxable person. Only the controlling entity is registered at the VAT office. The group submits a single VAT return including all the members' taxable transactions. Transactions between the controlling entity and a controlled company are treated as transactions within a single legal entity and, consequently, they are not taxable.

Non-established businesses. A “non-established business” is a business that does not have a fixed establishment in Austria. No VAT registration threshold applies to taxable supplies made in Austria by a foreign or non-established business.

A non-established business must register for VAT in Austria if it makes any of the following supplies:

- Supplies of goods located in Austria at the time of supply
- Intra-Community acquisitions (see the chapter on the EU)
- Distance sales in excess of the threshold (EUR35,000)
- Supplies of services that are not covered by the reverse charge (for example, services supplied to private persons)

If the customer is a taxable person (regardless of where it is established) or a public body, it is required to withhold the Austrian VAT due on the supply. The customer must pay the withheld VAT on behalf of the supplier to the supplier’s tax account at the tax office at Graz-Stadt. If the customer does not comply with this requirement, the customer may be held liable for the VAT due on the supply.

A non-established business is not required to register for VAT if all its supplies in Austria fall under the reverse-charge system (under which the customer accounts for the VAT due). If the reverse charge applies to supplies made by a non-established business, the business may recover VAT incurred in Austria under the EU 13th Directive or Directive 2008/9 refund provisions (see Section G), provided the business does not receive services in Austria that are subject to the reverse-charge system.

Supplies and import VAT refunds for non-established businesses in chain transactions. Under Prescript 2003/584 for chain transactions, the supply of goods to the last customer in Austria made by a non-established business is exempt from VAT.

If goods come from a non-EU Member State to Austria in the course of a chain transaction and if the last party in the chain owes the VAT payable on their importation, it is the last party who is entitled to deduct the import VAT and not the person that disposed of the goods at the time of import. This mechanism applies if the following conditions are met:

- The supply to the last party in the chain is made by a non-established business that is not registered for VAT purposes in Austria
- The final customer has the right to deduct the full amount of input VAT
- No VAT is shown on the invoice

Any input VAT in connection with this type of supply is not deductible. In addition, no more than three parties may be involved in the chain transaction.

Reverse charge. The reverse-charge system applies to all supplies of services, except for road tolls and entrance fees for trade fairs, conventions and seminars in Austria that are organized by non-Austrian companies. It also applies to “work performance contracts” undertaken by a supplier without a seat or fixed establishment in Austria that intervenes in the supply. Under the reverse-charge mechanism, the recipient of a supply is liable for the VAT due.

Supplies of services are all taxable transactions that are not supplies of goods. For purposes of the reverse-charge system, “work performance contracts” are supplies involving the installation of goods that are fixed to the customer’s premises. The reverse-charge system also applies in the circumstances mentioned above if the customer is a non-established business (that is, the Austrian VAT liability may also shift from a non-established supplier to a non-established customer).

If a foreign business exclusively makes supplies in Austria subject to the reverse charge and does not receive services subject to the reverse charge, it may not register for VAT. In these circumstances, Austrian input VAT may only be claimed through the EU 13th Directive or Directive 2008/9 VAT refund schemes (see Section G). The input VAT must be reclaimed within six (nine) months (that is, by 30 June [30 September]) after the end of the calendar year in which the input VAT is incurred.

If the reverse-charge mechanism applies, invoices must be issued without VAT. The invoice must include a reference to the applicable reverse charge and the VAT identification numbers of the supplier and the customer.

Domestic reverse charge. A domestic reverse-charge mechanism applies in the following cases:

- If construction or building work is performed by a subcontractor to a general contractor, the liability to pay the VAT shifts from the supplier (subcontractor) to the customer (general contractor). To determine whether to apply the reverse-charge mechanism, the customer must provide the supplier with a written notification that the VAT liability in such case will shift to the recipient of the construction service. If the construction work is performed for a building contractor or another business that typically performs construction or building works the VAT liability shifts automatically to the customer, without any notification.
- The domestic reverse charge for construction or building works also applies to charges for building cleaning services if the services are performed for a building contractor or other business that typically performs construction or building works or if the building cleaning services are performed by a subcontractor for a general contractor.
- The reverse charge applies to the supply of goods provided as security by one taxable person to another in execution of that security, the supply of goods following the cession of the reservation of ownership to an assignee and the exercise of this right by the assignee and the supply of immovable property in the course of the judicial sale.
- The reverse charge applies to supplies of used material, used material that cannot be reused in the same state, scrap, industrial and non-industrial waste, recyclable waste, part processed waste and certain goods and services, as listed in Annex VI of Directive 2006/112/EC.
- The reverse charge applies to supplies of greenhouse-gas-emission certificates.

- The reverse charge applies to the supply of mobile radio units (for example, mobile phones) and integrated circuits, provided that the net consideration is at least EUR5,000. For purposes of this rule, the amount per invoice is decisive. The liability to pay VAT also shifts to the recipient if the supplier is an Austrian business. To avoid problems in defining relevant products, the definition of “mobile radio units” and “integrated circuits” is in accordance with the combined nomenclature of the customs tariff.

Effective 31 December 2013, a reverse charge applies (as an anti-avoidance measure) for:

- Supplies of video game consoles, laptops and tablet computers, where the amount of consideration shown on the invoice is at least EUR5,000
- Supplies of gas and electrical power to entrepreneurs whose primary business regarding the procurement of these items relates to the resale thereof and whose own use of these items is of secondary importance
- Transfer of gas and electricity certificates
- Certain supplies of metal
- Taxable supplies of investment gold

Tax representatives. A business established in a country outside the EU must appoint a tax representative to register for VAT in Austria, unless the customer is required to withhold Austrian VAT on the supplier’s behalf. The tax representative must be resident in Austria.

A business established in another EU Member State is not required to appoint a tax representative in order to register for VAT.

For non-EU businesses, the Austrian tax authorities require a postal address in Austria to which correspondence may be sent. For EU businesses, it is not mandatory but it is recommended that an Austrian postal address be provided.

Registration procedures. Resident companies must complete the following documents and have them signed by the managing director/s of the respective entity:

- Questionnaire
- Specimen signature document
- Power of attorney

The forms must be filled out in German. In addition, the following documents are required:

- Excerpt from the register of companies
- Copy of the articles of association
- Opening balance sheet
- Proof that the business will make supplies or is doing so already, such as copies outgoing invoices
- Copy of each managing director’s passport

All documents have to be filed with the competent tax office where the company is resident via regular mail. It generally takes from four to six weeks until the registration is completed by the Austrian tax authorities.

In order to register a foreign company without a seat or permanent establishment in Austria, the following documents have to be completed and signed by the managing director/s of the respective entity:

- Questionnaire
- Specimen signature document
- Power of attorney

The forms must be filled out in German and filed with the Finanzamt Graz-Stadt via regular mail together with the following:

- Excerpt from the register of companies
- Copy of the articles of association
- Confirmation by the local tax authorities that the company is registered for tax purposes in their country, in original and not older than one year

This process also takes approximately four to six weeks for the tax authorities to complete.

Late-registration penalties. Usually there is no special penalty for late VAT registration, but the penalties listed in Section J can be imposed. Furthermore, if the tax authorities notice that VAT was not declared and paid due to a non-registration, it could lead to fiscal criminal proceedings.

Digital economy. Apart from the Mini One-Stop Shop scheme, the general rules for supplies apply to digital supplies as well.

Mini One-Stop Shop. The regulations relating to the Mini One-Stop Shop (MOSS) cover telecommunication services, radio and television broadcasting services as well as electronically supplied services provided by taxable businesses to non-taxable persons.

Starting 1 January 2015, all these services will be taxed at the place where the non-taxable person is established. The purpose is to reduce administrative burdens for taxable businesses that are operating in a number of different Member States resulting in various VAT obligations. Taxable businesses will submit a single VAT return with regard to the mentioned services even though these are provided in different Member States. Nil returns have to be submitted.

The registration for MOSS has to be submitted via the respective online portal of the Austrian Federal Ministry of Finance.

Quarterly VAT returns and payment have to be submitted electronically in the country in which MOSS is applied by the 20th day following the end of the quarter. These VAT returns have to include the following:

- VAT ID number, provided for the mentioned services by the tax authorities
- Sum of the net amounts and the VAT amounts for the mentioned services for each Member State itemized by the applicable tax rate
- Total VAT amount payable

The revenues have to be recorded separately for each Member State. These records have to be kept for 10 years.

Businesses can decide to stop applying MOSS any time effective with the beginning of a new quarter. This decision has to be submitted to the tax authorities at least 15 days before the end of the previous quarter.

Deregistration. With regards to deregistration, no specific form has to be submitted to the Austrian tax authorities. A general application for deregistration can be sent to the Austrian tax authorities anytime during the year. However, all transactions have to be settled and all VAT returns have to be filed in order to proceed with the deregistration process. Basically, the annual VAT return should comprise the entire year, but as soon as all transactions are settled, the annual VAT return can be submitted earlier. Usually a tax clearance certification (issued by the tax authorities) is required. It is possible that a tax audit will be performed before issuing this certificate.

D. VAT rates

The term “taxable supplies” refers to supplies of goods and services that are liable to a rate of VAT.

In Austria, the VAT rate depends on where the supply is made. In the regions of Jungholz and Mittelberg, the standard rate is 19%. In the rest of Austria, the standard rate is 20%. Reduced rates of 10% and 12% also apply. The standard VAT rate applies to all supplies of goods or services, unless a specific provision allows a reduced rate or exemption. The 12% reduced rate applies only to certain wine sales made by the producer.

Examples of goods and services taxable at 10%

- Most foodstuffs
- Books
- Hotel accommodation and restaurant meals
- Passenger transport
- Residential apartment rental
- Supplies made by private hospitals and charitable organizations
- Supplies made by artists
- Pharmaceuticals

The term “exempt supplies” is used for supplies of goods and services that are within the scope of VAT, but which are not liable to tax (see Section F). Exempt supplies do not give rise to a right of input tax deduction on related expenditure. Some supplies are classified as “exempt with credit.” This means that no VAT is chargeable, but the supplier may recover related input tax. Exempt with credit supplies include exports of goods and related services to non-EU countries as well as intra-Community supplies of goods and related services to taxable persons established in the EU (see the chapter on the EU).

Examples of exempt supplies of goods and services

- Supplies by businesses with annual turnover of less than EUR30,000
- Certain postal services provided by universal postal services suppliers
- Most finance services
- Insurance
- Sales and rental of immovable property for commercial uses (The landlord may opt for taxation of the rent, with the restriction that the tenant must provide services that are eligible for the input VAT deduction. This restriction is only applicable on tenancies beginning on or after 1 September 2012. If the landlord constructed the building prior to 1 September 2012 or if construction by a providing entrepreneur started prior to 1 September 2012, the restriction is not applicable.)

- Medical services

Option to tax for exempt supplies. It is permitted to opt for regular taxation for some exempt supplies, such as the sale of immovable property, certain rentals of immovable property for commercial use (see also Section D), certain services in relation to the credit card business, and interest relating to installment purchases by small businesses.

E. Time of supply

The time when VAT becomes due is called the “time of supply” or “tax point.” In general, the “time of supply” is the end of the calendar month in which goods are supplied or a service is performed. The time of supply may be postponed by one month by issuing the invoice for the supply after the end of the month in which the supply took place. Under Article 44 of EU Directive 2006/112 (general business-to-business rule), this postponement does not apply to services subject to reverse charge. Reverse-charge invoices under Article 196 of the EU Directive must be issued within 15 days of the month following the supply.

Prepayments. The time of supply for a deposit or prepayment is the end of the calendar month in which the prepayment is received.

Goods sent on approval or for sale or return. The time of supply for goods sent on approval or for sale or return is the date on which the customer adopts the goods. If the goods are sent on sale or return terms, the time of supply is the date on which the goods are sent. If the goods are returned, the supply is cancelled.

Intra-Community acquisitions. For intra-Community acquisitions of goods, the time of supply is the date on which the invoice is issued, or at the latest, the 15th day of the month following the arrival of the goods. Invoices for the intra-Community supply of goods must be issued within 15 days of the month following the supply.

Imported goods. The time of supply for imported goods is either the date of importation, or when the goods leave a duty suspension regime.

Cash accounting. Austria operates a cash accounting scheme with a maximum threshold of EUR2,000,000. The threshold is not applicable for certain public utility companies. If the threshold is not exceeded, input VAT can only be deducted if the payment was made (in addition to a correct invoice). Activities of free professions and activities of professionally recognized corporations and legally recognized associations that supply services typical of the free professions, and other businesses without bookkeeping obligations or transactions below a certain threshold, must account for VAT on the basis of the consideration received. Upon application, the local tax office may grant permission that the taxation is affected on the basis of the Sollbesteuerung. If the free professions account for VAT on the basis of the consideration received, they must do so in respect of all supplies affected by them, even if the particular supply is not related to the activity typical of the free profession (Hilfsgeschäfte).

Reverse-charge services. See Reverse charge in Section C.

Continuous supplies of services. In specific cases it is possible to determine the tax point according to the payments or invoices issued.

Intra-Community supplies. The time of supply for intra-Community supplies is the end of the calendar month in which goods are supplied or services performed. The time of supply may be postponed by one month by issuing the invoice for the supply after the end of the month in which the supply took place. However, invoices must be issued by the 15th day of the month following the supply.

Leased assets. General rules apply.

F. Recovery of VAT by taxable persons

A taxable person may recover input tax, which is VAT charged on goods and services supplied to it for business purposes. Input tax is generally recovered by being deducted from output tax, which is VAT charged on supplies made.

Input tax includes VAT charged on goods and services supplied within Austria, VAT paid on imports of goods and VAT self-assessed on intra-Community acquisitions of goods and reverse-charge services (see the chapter on the EU).

A valid VAT invoice or customs document is required for an input VAT deduction.

Nondeductible input tax. Input tax may not be recovered on purchases of goods and services that are not used for business purposes (for example, goods acquired for private use by entrepreneurs). In Austria, input VAT may be claimed in full for business assets that are used primarily for private purposes (minimum 10% business use), but the taxable person must account for output tax with respect to the private use of the assets. In addition, input tax may not be recovered for some items of business expenditure.

The following lists provide some examples of items of expenditure for which input tax is not deductible and examples of items for which input tax is deductible.

Examples of items for which input tax is nondeductible

- Expenditure on the purchase, lease, hire or maintenance of cars
- Fuel expenses for a car
- Private expenditure
- Business gifts disallowed for direct tax purposes
- Parking expenses for a car

Examples of items for which input tax is deductible

- Accommodation
- Mobile phone costs
- Books
- Small business gifts, if allowed for direct tax purposes (but gifts are subject to output VAT if they exceed a value of EUR40)
- Purchase, lease, hire, maintenance and fuel for vans and trucks

- Entertainment of business partners (restaurant expenses), if predominantly for marketing purposes
- Taxis
- Business travel

Partial exemption. Input tax directly related to the making of exempt supplies without credit is not recoverable. If an Austrian taxable person makes both exempt supplies without credit and taxable supplies it may not recover input tax in full. This situation is referred to as “partial exemption.”

The general partial exemption calculation is performed in the following two stages:

- The first stage identifies the input VAT that may be directly allocated to exempt and to taxable supplies. Supplies that are exempt with credit are treated as taxable supplies for these purposes. Input tax directly allocated to exempt supplies without credit is not deductible, while input tax directly allocated to taxable supplies is deductible.
- The second stage prorates the remaining input tax that relates to both taxable and exempt supplies without credit and cannot be directly allocated, in order to allocate a portion to taxable supplies. For example, this treatment applies to the input tax related to general business overhead. In Austria, the pro-rata calculation is based on the value of taxable supplies compared to the total value of supplies made. The pro-rata recovery percentage is normally taken to two decimal places.

An alternative method is a simple pro-rata calculation. A partially exempt taxable person may choose to use the pro-rata method alone, provided it does not result in the recovery of an amount of input tax more than 5% higher than would be recoverable under the direct allocation method.

Capital goods. Capital goods are items of capital expenditure that are used in a business over several years. Input tax is deducted in the VAT year in which the goods are acquired. The amount of input tax recovered depends on the taxable person’s partial exemption recovery position in the VAT year of acquisition. However, the amount of input tax recovered for capital goods must be adjusted over time if the taxable person’s partial exemption recovery percentage changes during the adjustment period.

In Austria, the capital goods adjustment applies to the following assets for the number of years indicated, if the input VAT exceeds EUR220:

- Land, buildings and additions to buildings, basic alterations and major repairs to buildings (adjustment period of 10 years)
- Immovable property used in capital assets for first time after 31 March 2012 (adjustment period of 20 years)
- Other fixed assets (adjustment period of five years)

The adjustment is applied each year following the acquisition, to a fraction of the total input tax (1/10 or 1/20, respectively, for land and buildings and 1/5 for other movable capital assets). The adjustment may result in either an increase or a decrease of deductible input VAT, depending on whether the ratio of taxable supplies made by the business has increased or decreased compared with the year in which the capital goods were acquired.

In Austria, the capital goods scheme also applies to current assets and services if the criteria for deducting input VAT changes. For example, the type of business carried on changes from fully taxable to exempt.

Refunds. If the amount of input tax recoverable in a monthly period exceeds the amount of output tax payable in that period, the taxable person has an input tax credit. The credit may be claimed as a refund by submitting the periodic VAT return and by sending a repayment claim letter to the relevant tax office.

Preregistration costs. VAT invoiced for preregistration supplies can be deducted when the costs directly relate to subsequent taxable business activities.

Write-off of bad debts. If a customer is unable to pay a supplier for supplies on which the supplier has paid VAT, the supplier can claim bad debt relief, but the supplier must have exhausted all customary procedures for collecting the debt.

Noneconomic activities. Input VAT deduction is only allowed for purchases relating to business activities. In cases where both business and non-business activities are performed, the input VAT has to be allocated, directly or via a pro-rata rate, resulting in a calculation of what is deductible and what is non-deductible. Also, see introduction to Section F above and examples of deductible and non-deductible supplies.

G. Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses

Austria refunds VAT incurred by businesses that are neither established in Austria nor registered for VAT there. Non-established businesses may claim Austrian VAT refunds to the same extent as VAT-registered businesses.

For businesses established in the EU, refunds are made under the terms of EU Directive 2008/9. For businesses established outside the EU, refunds are made under the terms of the EU 13th Directive. Austria does not exclude any non-EU country from the refund scheme.

The VAT refund procedure under the EU 13th VAT Directive and under EU Directive 2008/9 may be used only if the business did not perform any taxable supplies in Austria during the refund period (excluding supplies covered by the reverse charge; see Section C).

Refund application. The deadline for non-EU claimants is 30 June of the year following the year in which the input VAT was incurred. The deadline for EU claimants is 30 September of the year following the year in which the input VAT was incurred. These deadlines may not be waived or extended.

Non-EU claimants. Claims must be submitted in German and must be accompanied by the appropriate documentation.

A non-EU company claimant must submit the following documents:

- The official form issued by the Austrian authorities (U5). The relevant invoices must be listed on the reverse of the form. Photocopied forms are accepted, provided the signature is original.

- The original invoices, which must be attached to the claim form.
- If the claimant appoints a fiscal representative, an original Power of Attorney appointing the representative.
- A certificate of the taxable status of the business, which must be obtained from the competent tax authority in the country in which the business is established.

The appointment of a fiscal representative in Austria for a VAT refund claim is not required. However, claimants from non-EU countries must provide an address in Austria to which the Austrian tax authorities may send correspondence.

The minimum claim period is three months. The maximum period is one year. The minimum claim for a period of less than a year is EUR400. For an annual claim, the minimum amount is EUR50.

Applications for refunds of Austrian VAT may be sent to the following address:

Finanzamt Graz-Stadt
 Referat fuer auslaendische Unternehmer
 Conrad-von-Hoetzendorfstr. 14-18
 A-8010 Graz
 Austria

EU claimants. EU claimants must file the refund application electronically in the EU Member State in which they are seated. The deadline for annual applications is 30 September of the following year.

EU claimants are not required to enclose any invoices or a certificate of the taxable status with the application. However, the Austrian tax authority may demand additional information, such as original ingoing invoices, in the course of the refund procedure.

The minimum claim period is three months and the maximum claim period is one year. The minimum claim amount for a claim for a period of less than one year is EUR400, while the minimum claim amount for an annual claim is EUR50.

For the general VAT refund rules applicable to non-established businesses, see the chapter on the EU.

H. Invoicing

VAT invoices and credit notes. An Austrian taxable person must generally provide a VAT invoice for all taxable supplies, including exports and intra-Community supplies. Invoices are not automatically required for retail transactions with private customers, unless requested by the customer.

Effective 1 March 2014, the threshold that applies for issuing a less detailed tax invoice is EUR400.

A VAT invoice is necessary for input VAT deduction or a refund under the EU 13th Directive or Directive 2008/9 refund schemes (see the chapter on the EU).

A VAT credit note may be used to cancel or amend a previous VAT invoice. A credit note must be cross-referenced to the original VAT invoice and must indicate why the original invoice needs correction.

Credit notes issued by self-billing recipients of a supply have to explicitly refer to the status of a self-billing invoice (e.g., "Gutschrift") on the invoicing document.

Proof of exports and intra-Community supplies. Austrian VAT is not chargeable on supplies of exported goods or on the intra-Community supply of goods (see the chapter on the EU). However, to qualify as VAT-free, exports and intra-Community supplies must be supported by evidence proving that the goods have left Austria. Acceptable proof includes the following documentation:

- For an export, the export document, officially validated by customs, showing the supplier as the exporter, freight documents, or the export advice according to Article 796e of the Commission Regulation 1875/2006 is required.
- For an intra-Community supply, a range of commercial documentation is needed, including an invoice indicating the supplier's and customer's EU VAT identification numbers and a statement that the transaction is an intra-Community supply that is exempt from VAT and freight documents (for example, proof of receipt of the goods by the customer). If the customer picks up the goods at the place of the supplier with the customer's own means of transport, additional documentation is required (for example, proof of identity of the person collecting the goods, power of attorney signed by the customer that this person is entitled to collect the goods and the original signed confirmation of the customer that the goods will be transported to another EU Member State).

In Austria, the supplier must maintain records of all transactions, including full details as to why a VAT exemption applies (for example, because the supply is an export or an intra-Community supply).

Electronic invoicing. In line with EU Directive 2010/45/EU, electronic invoices that are received in electronic format are valid for the deduction of input VAT, even without an electronic signature. The authenticity of the original electronic invoice, the intactness of its content and its readability must be ensured from the time of issue until the end of the seven-year archiving period. Businesses can decide individually how to ensure the authenticity of the original invoice, the intactness of its content and the readability of the content, provided that a reliable audit trail between the invoice and the service is established.

Cross-border invoices. The obligation to issue an invoice is governed by the law of the country of the respective place of supply. The obligations of the home country have to be applied in cases in which a domestic service provider renders services with a place of supply in another EU state and the VAT liability for these services shifts to the recipient, unless the service provider invoices via credit notes. The same will apply for invoices of the intermediate supplier in intra-Community triangular transactions. Conversely, traders from another EU Member State who render reverse-charge services in Austria or perform triangular transactions must observe the financial reporting provisions from their home country. Domestic VAT invoicing rules will also apply for services provided by domestic traders with place of supply in a non-EU country.

Foreign-currency invoices. If a VAT invoice is issued in a foreign currency, the foreign currency used must be clearly indicated. All VAT and customs duty amounts must be converted to euros (EUR), either by using the current exchange rate (proof from the bank required) or the exchange rates issued monthly by the Austrian Ministry of Finance. If an invoice is issued in a foreign currency, the tax amount must be additionally stated in euros. In addition to the average rate published on the Austrian Ministry of Finance homepage, the most recent exchange rate published by the ECB can alternatively be used or the exchange rate proven using bank notifications or a stock exchange list. The same exchange rates apply to the deduction of input VAT by the recipient.

B2C invoices. Effective 1 January 2015, new rules apply to the place of supply for supplies of telecommunications, broadcasting and electronic services to non-VAT taxable customers. For further details of the VAT rules on electronic services in the EU, please refer to the European Union chapter.

I. VAT returns and payment

VAT returns. Austrian VAT returns are submitted monthly if taxable turnover exceeded EUR100,000 in the preceding year. If a business begins operations, it must submit monthly returns if its turnover will exceed EUR100,000 in the first year. If turnover is less than EUR100,000, VAT returns may be submitted quarterly. In addition, all taxable persons must submit an annual VAT return.

Monthly VAT returns must be submitted and full payment of the VAT due must be made by the 15th day of the second month following the return period. If this day is a Saturday, Sunday or public holiday, the due date shifts automatically to the next working day. If the taxable turnover in the preceding calendar year was less than EUR30,000 and if the payment is made on time, the VAT return form itself does not need to be submitted, unless the VAT authorities demand it. However, the monthly VAT return form must be submitted if a company that is in a repayment position wants to claim the repayment.

Quarterly VAT returns and full payment of the VAT due must be submitted by the 15th day (the next working day if this day is a Saturday, Sunday or public holiday) of the second month following the end of the VAT return period.

VAT returns and EU Sales Lists (see Section K) must be filed electronically, if the taxable person has the necessary technical means available to do so.

Special schemes. Not applicable.

Electronic filing and archiving. VAT returns have to be filed electronically via FinanzOnline (the online portal of the Austrian tax authorities). Companies can either apply for access codes to FinanzOnline to submit the VAT returns themselves or assign a tax representative in Austria to submit returns on their behalf.

Records can be stored on electronic devices if the complete, chronological, identical and true reproduction is guaranteed at any time. The Austrian tax authorities may request that supporting devices in order to make such electronically stored records readable are provided and that a permanent reproduction which is readable without a supporting device is provided. Such permanent reproductions shall be provided on electronic devices. The records have to be stored seven years or longer if they are relevant for pending proceedings regarding tax. Longer periods apply for real estate.

Annual returns. In Austria, it is required to submit an annual VAT return in addition to the monthly VAT returns. The due date for submission of the annual VAT return is generally 30 June of the following year if the annual return is filed electronically. This due date may be postponed if the business is represented by a tax representative. However, the tax authorities can request submission at any time after 30 June of the following year.

J. Penalties

A penalty equal to 2% of the VAT due applies to the late payment of VAT. If the VAT payment has not been made three months after the due date, an additional second penalty is assessed, equal to 1% of the VAT due. If the amount remains unpaid three months after the date that the second penalty was imposed, a third penalty is assessed, equal to 1% of the VAT due.

At the discretion of the VAT authorities, they may impose a penalty of up to 10% of the VAT due for the late submission of a VAT return.

If a taxable person continually fails to pay VAT, the VAT authorities may consider the late payment to be tax fraud, which is subject to much greater penalties.

K. EU filings

An Austrian taxable person that trades with other EU countries must complete statistical reports, known as Intrastat, if the value of its intra-Community sales or purchases exceeds certain thresholds. Separate reports are required for intra-Community acquisitions (Intrastat Arrivals) and intra-Community supplies (Intrastat Dispatches).

The threshold for submitting Intrastat statistical reports is EUR750,000 in annual value of intra-Community supplies or acquisitions. (The threshold was EUR550,000 prior to 1 January 2015.)

Intrastat returns may be filed on paper or electronically. The returns must be completed in euros. The Intrastat return period is monthly after the threshold has been exceeded (that is, it is also necessary to file nil returns). The submission deadline is the 10th business day of the month following the return period.

Penalties may be incurred if Intrastat declarations are persistently late, missing or inaccurate.

EU Sales Lists. Under Article 44 of EU Directive 2006/112 (general business-to-business rule), if an Austrian taxable person makes intra-Community supplies of goods or performs intra-Community services for which the place of supply is located in another EU Member State, it must submit an EU Sales List (ESL) to the Austrian VAT authorities. An ESL is not required for any period in which intra-Community supplies are not made.

For businesses submitting VAT returns quarterly, ESLs are submitted monthly or quarterly. The due date is the last day of the month following the end of the ESL period.

Late submissions of ESLs may lead to a penalty of up to 1% of the amount of intra-Community supplies, determined at the discretion of the tax authorities. However, the penalty may not exceed EUR2,200 per ESL.

The failure to submit ESLs may be considered an offense against the law and may lead to a penalty of up to EUR5,000.

Azerbaijan

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Baku

GMT +4

EY

Port Baku Towers Business Centre
South Tower, 9th floor
153 Neftchilar Avenue
Baku AZ1010
Azerbaijan

Indirect tax contact

Arzu Hajiyeva

+994 (12) 490-7020

arzu.hajiyeva@az.ey.com

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Value-added tax (VAT)
Local name	Əlavə Dəyər Vergisi (ƏDV)
Date introduced	1 January 1992
Trading bloc membership	None
Administered by	Ministry of Taxes (http://www.taxes.gov.az)
Rates
Standard	18%
Others	0% and exempt
Number format	Tax identification number (TIN) with 10 digits
Return period	Monthly
Thresholds
Registration	Taxable turnover exceeding AZN120,000 for a period of 12 consecutive months
Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses	No

B. Scope of the tax

VAT applies to the following transactions:

- The supply of goods, works and services performed in Azerbaijan
- The importation of goods

Goods. The transfer of goods is deemed to occur at the place where they are made available. If the conditions for the supply involve lifting and transporting the goods, the transfer is deemed to occur where the lifting or transportation of the goods begins. However, if the supplier is to install the goods, the transfer is considered to occur at the place where the goods are installed.

Works and services. The following are the rules for determining the place where works are performed or services are rendered:

- The place where immovable property is located if the works (services) are directly connected with that property, such as construction, construction and assembly, repair, reconstruction works, agency and expert services with respect to real property, and similar works (services)
- The place where works (services) are actually rendered if they are connected with movable property
- The place where services are actually rendered if they are rendered in the areas of culture, arts, physical fitness or sports, or in similar areas
- The place where the transportation occurs if the works (services) are connected with such transportation
- The place where the purchaser of works or services is located or registered, established, or, if the services are directly associated with the permanent establishment of the purchaser, where the permanent establishment is located

The above rules apply to the following services:

- Transfer or assignment of patents, licenses, trademarks, copyrights and other similar rights
- Rendering of consulting, legal, accounting, engineering, advertisement, data processing and other similar services
- Services involving the providing of personnel
- Rental of movable property (except for vehicles belonging to transportation enterprises)
- Services rendered by an agent engaging a person to provide taxable services on behalf of a principal
- Provision of telecommunication services (receipt, distribution, transmission of signals, documents, pictures, sounds or any type of information through telegraph, radio, optical or other electromagnetic systems, including granting or acquisition of such transmission, receipt or distribution rights)
- Radio and television broadcasting, and provision of postal services
- Provision of services through computers, the Internet and other electronic networks, email and other similar applications, or granting rights for the use of such networks or services

The place of works or services that cannot be determined based on the above tests is deemed to be the place where the person performing a work or rendering a service conducts activity.

C. Who is liable

Taxable persons that are engaged in an entrepreneurial activity and that have taxable turnover during a period of 12 consecutive months exceeding AZN120,000 must register with the tax authorities as VAT payers within 10 days following the end of the 12-month period.

Any persons registered or to be registered as VAT payers are considered VAT payers. Consequently, a taxpayer is any individual entrepreneur or legal entity that makes taxable supplies of goods (works or services) or that conveys goods across the customs border of Azerbaijan in an amount exceeding AZN120,000.

Moreover, if a taxpayer performs one single transaction in an amount exceeding AZN120,000, then the taxpayer is liable for VAT registration with the tax authorities before the transaction is performed.

Group registration. Any joint economic activity conducted without the formation of a separate legal entity is deemed an independent person for VAT purposes. As a result, the Azerbaijan tax law does not provide for group registration.

Non-established businesses. The provision of services in Azerbaijan by a foreign legal entity that does not have a permanent establishment in Azerbaijan (a non-established business) and that is not registered for VAT in Azerbaijan to a person registered or to be registered for VAT purposes in Azerbaijan (tax agent) is subject to VAT based on a reverse-charge mechanism (RC VAT). In such a case, the tax agent must calculate and pay VAT from the amount to be paid to the non-established business.

Tax representatives. Not applicable.

Reverse charge. See “Non-established businesses” above.

Digital economy. No special rules apply to digital goods and services.

Registration procedures. The application for VAT registration should be filed in the form stipulated by the tax authorities, and the registration process should be completed within 5 days upon the submission of the application. Electronic submission is permitted.

Late-registration penalties. If a taxpayer subject to VAT registration does not register for VAT purposes and carries out taxable activities, the taxpayer is subject to a financial sanction equaling 50% of the VAT amount payable to the state budget for the entire period during which the taxpayer carried out activities without VAT registration.

Deregistration. If a taxpayer ceases its activity in connection with VAT, then the taxpayer shall be obliged to place an application to terminate its VAT registration. The termination shall enter into force from the date VAT-related activities ceased.

D. VAT rates

The standard rate of VAT is 18%. Certain supplies are zero-rated or exempt from VAT.

Examples of zero-rated supplies

- Goods and services intended for the official use of the diplomatic and consular representative offices of international agencies and foreign states accredited in the Republic of Azerbaijan, as well as for the personal use of the diplomatic, administrative and technical personnel of these representative offices (including family members living with them), who are not citizens of the Republic of Azerbaijan
- Exportation of consulting, legal, accounting, engineering, advertisement and other services
- Importation of goods, supply of goods, performance of works and provision of services to recipients under grants, with the proceeds of uncompensated financial aid (grants) received from abroad

- International or transit transportation of cargo or passengers; provision of works or services which are directly connected with international or transit flights, except for international postal services

Examples of exempt supplies

- Provision of financial services
- Contribution of property to an enterprise's charter fund (capital) in the form of participation share, except for imported property (if the contribution of property in the form of participation share is not directly connected to the acquisition of other property in exchange)
- Sale or purchase of all types of mass media products and the publishing of mass media products (except for advertising activities)
- Transportation of passengers by subway
- Production of textbooks for schools, literature for children and state publications funded by the state budget
- Provision of paid preschool educational services (except for the provision of services in connection with other activities)

If it is stipulated that specific production needs cannot be met by local resources for a specific period, the relevant executive authority shall be entitled to grant a VAT exemption for imported goods and equipment to meet those needs.

Option to tax for exempt supplies. Not applicable.

E. Time of supply

The proper period to recognize VAT accrual is considered one of the following dates, whichever occurs first:

- The date of payment for sale of goods or performance of services if such payment is received within 30 days of completion of the transaction, i.e., delivery of goods or performance of services
- The issuance date of valid electronic VAT invoice (eVAT invoice) if such invoice is issued within 5 days of completion of the transaction, i.e., delivery of goods or performance of services
- The date of completion of the transaction, i.e., delivery of goods or performance of services
- In case of cancellation of registration, the date preceding the date of cancellation

For advance payments, the taxable transaction is considered to occur at the time of payment. If two or more payments are made with respect to a taxable activity, each payment is deemed to be a separate transaction, up to the limits of the payment amounts.

For bartered goods and services, or for the provision of goods, works or services by a taxpayer to its employees or other individuals free of charge, the time of supply is the date of supply of such goods, works or services.

Continuous supply of services. If services are rendered on a regular or continuous basis, the time of rendering services is when an electronic VAT invoice is issued for any part of the operation. If payment has been made first, the time of rendering services is when payment is made for any part of the operation.

Imported goods and services. For taxable importations, the time of a taxable operation is when the use or consumption of the imported goods or services begins.

F. Recovery of VAT by taxable persons

If VAT is paid through an electronic transfer (no payments in cash) to a VAT deposit account directly from a deposit account or bank account of a payer in accordance with the eVAT invoices, the eVAT invoices serve as the basis for a VAT credit. In addition, import documents issued by customs authorities that substantiate the amount of import VAT paid, regardless of the form of payment, serve as grounds for a VAT credit.

Non-recoverable input VAT. In general, no credit of input VAT paid with respect to entertainment and food expenses (except for expenses for healthful and dietary meals, milk and other similar products and for food expenses for ship personnel in sea transport within norms set by the relevant executive authority) or for expenses connected with the accommodation of employees and other expenses of a social nature is allowed.

Possible deduction for nonrecoverable VAT. VAT paid that is not recoverable may be deductible for profit tax purposes in cases where the nature of the transaction is deductible. Moreover, if the taxpayer qualifies for only a partial exemption (see below), the unrecoverable input VAT can be deductible for profit tax purposes in case the nature of the transaction is also deductible.

Partial exemption. If a taxpayer conducts both taxable operations and exempt operations in the same reporting period, the VAT credit is determined on the basis of the proportion between the taxable and total turnover.

Refunds. An excess of VAT credit amount over the output VAT amount charged during the accounting period may be carried forward for the following three months and applied against VAT due during that period. Any remaining balance after three months is refunded within 45 days after the expiration of that period on the basis of the taxpayer's application for a refund.

Preregistration costs. Not applicable.

G. Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses

Azerbaijan does not allow the recovery of input VAT incurred by businesses that are neither established in Azerbaijan nor registered for VAT there.

H. Invoicing

In general, persons registered as VAT payers and conducting taxable transactions must issue electronic VAT invoices to the persons to whom they provide goods or services. Persons not registered for VAT purposes may not issue VAT invoices. A taxpayer must prepare and issue to a purchaser of goods or services an electronic VAT invoice within five days after the delivery of goods or provision of services.

Foreign-currency invoices. For tax purposes, the payment to the supplier shall be re-calculated in manats (AZN) at the exchange rate established by the Central Bank of the Azerbaijan Republic for the date when the operation was carried out.

Electronic invoices. The eVAT invoice as described by the tax authority is the only electronic invoice.

Proof of export. The invoice, delivery note and agreement serve as proof of export.

I. VAT returns and payments

VAT returns. Each taxpayer must file a VAT return on a monthly basis. The return must be filed by the 20th day of the month following the accounting month. The payment of VAT must be made by the same day.

VAT on imports must be calculated and collected by customs authorities at the time of importation.

Special schemes. Not applicable.

Electronic filing. Electronic filing is available.

Annual returns. Not applicable.

J. Penalties

Late submission of a VAT return is subject to a financial sanction in an amount of AZN40.

If the VAT amount indicated on a VAT return is understated or VAT payable to the state budget is evaded by failure to submit the VAT return, the taxpayer is subject to a fine equal to 50% of that understated or evaded tax. An additional amount may be calculated by the tax authorities as part of an audit.

Bahamas

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Windhoek

GMT +1

EY
Mail address:
P.O. Box N-3231
Nassau
Bahamas

Street address:
One Montague Place
East Bay Street
Nassau
Bahamas

Indirect tax contacts

Shamark Davis	+1 242 502 6013 shamark.davis@bs.ey.com
Bill Bailey	+1 441 294 5319 bill.bailey@bm.ey.com

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Value-added tax (VAT)
Date introduced	1 January 2015
Trading bloc membership	Member of CARICOM
Administered by	Central Revenue Agency (CRA)
VAT rates
Standard	7.5%
Other	Zero-rated (0%) and exempt
VAT number format	123 4567-01-5
VAT return periods	Monthly, quarterly and semi-annually
Thresholds	BSD100,000 in annual turnover
Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses	No

B. Scope of the tax

VAT applies to the taxable supply of goods and services, including imported goods and services.

C. Who is liable?

VAT applies to goods or services supplied by a taxable person undertaking, by way of business, a “taxable activity.” The supplies must also exceed the annual threshold of BSD100,000 in value.

Registration procedures. A person or business liable for VAT must apply to the VAT authorities for registration within 14 days. Failure to apply for registration can result in forcible registration by the comptroller.

Voluntary registration. For businesses that do not meet the VAT registration threshold but wish to legally charge and collect VAT, there is a voluntary registration mechanism. Taxpayers that register voluntarily have the same obligations as taxpayers that were required by law to register.

Exemption from registration. Exemption from registration is possible for certain zero-rated suppliers, mainly in the financial services industry, but this will be assessed on a case-by-case basis.

Group registration. Businesses that operate as a group or are managed as a group can apply for VAT group registration. Where the group registration is approved, the group will use the taxpayer identification number (TIN) of the taxpayer selected as the controller of the group. Members of the group are all jointly and severally liable for the VAT liabilities of the group.

Non-established businesses. If a company undertakes a business activity such as employing persons that work in the Bahamas or deriving income from activities undertaken in the Bahamas, that company is a resident in the Bahamas.

Even companies that do not undertake an activity in the Bahamas are resident if the majority of the shareholding is beneficially owned, directly or indirectly by residents in the Bahamas. Furthermore, it is likely that the supplies of goods and services will be subject to VAT unless specifically exempted in law. Typically, where goods and services are supplied to companies considered non-resident or non-established, they will be treated as international goods and services and subject to VAT at the zero rate.

Reverse charge. Under the reverse charge, Bahamian persons that receive a supply from a non-established supplier must account for and pay the VAT due. In the case of services, the VAT Act provides that both parties, supplier and recipient, are jointly and severally liable for VAT arising on the transaction.

Tax representatives. An appointed representative, such as an external accountant or business advisor, is permitted to submit a VAT registration form on behalf of the taxpayer. It is also possible to delegate responsibility to manage certain aspects of the taxpayer's account.

Deregistration. One can apply to cancel the VAT registration where a number of conditions are met. Typically, a company will need to wait two years before applying to cancel the VAT registration. The conditions do not apply in circumstances where the business effectively ceases to exist.

Late-registration penalties. A taxable person that fails to apply for registration commits an offense and is liable on conviction in court. Penalties may include a fine not exceeding BSD100,000 and imprisonment for a term not exceeding 12 months.

Furthermore, the taxable person that did not register is liable for any VAT that should have been charged to customers but which, lacking registration, the taxable person did not charge.

Digital economy. No special provisions apply to digital products.

D. VAT rates

The term "taxable supply" refers to a supply of goods and services that is liable to VAT, including a supply taxed at the zero rate. The term "exempt supply" refers to a supply of goods and services that is not liable to VAT and is listed in the Second Schedule of the VAT Act. Persons that make exempt supplies are not required to register for VAT, and they are not permitted to recover any input tax incurred in making those exempt supplies (see Section F).

In the Bahamas, the following three rates of VAT apply:

- Standard – 7.5%
- Special Scheme – Flat Rate of 4.5% as discussed below
- Zero – 0%

There are also certain goods and services that are:

- Exempt from VAT
- Outside the Bahamas VAT system

Examples of goods and services taxable at 0%

- Services that relate to land and property situated outside of the Bahamas
- Goods physically removed from the Bahamas or outside the Bahamas at the time of supply
- Certain professional, financial and insurance services where the benefit is obtained outside the Bahamas
- The transfer of a business by one registrant to another

Examples of exempt supplies of goods and services

- Financial services, other than those provided for an explicit fee
- Certain insurance services
- Medical services where provided by a public healthcare facility to a public patient
- Sale of a residential building

Option to tax for exempt supplies. Not applicable.

E. Time of supply

The time of supply is the date when a sale is considered to take place for VAT purposes. The time of supply is the earliest of:

- The date an invoice is issued
- Receipt of payment
- The date goods are delivered or made available to the recipient
- The date the performance of service is completed

Deposits and prepayments. Where a deposit or prepayment is received, regulations provide that a tax point is created and VAT (in the form of output tax) will become due on the amount of the deposit or prepayment. The amount of VAT due is typically calculated using the VAT fraction. The VAT fraction is calculated in accordance with the formula $(R / (1+R))$ where R is the rate of VAT expressed as a percentage applicable to the price of the taxable supply.

If the deposit is held in an escrow account, i.e., one the taxpayer does not have access to, this is not considered a payment. The output tax does not need to be declared until the amount is released.

Where the deposit is non-refundable and the customer does not buy the goods or services on which the deposit was paid, this is considered a payment subject to VAT at the applicable rate.

Finally, if the deposit is intended to be refunded, the legislation does not require the taxpayer to treat the payment as consideration and therefore, there is no need to declare VAT on the payment. However, if at some later time, it is determined that the taxpayer is entitled to keep the deposit, then this is a supply and VAT must be declared.

Imported goods. Import VAT may apply to goods or services entering the Bahamas.

Goods sent on approval or for sale or return. The tax point occurs when the title to the goods is transferred. Therefore, if a supplier transfers inventory to a customer with the agreement that the title is retained by the supplier until the customer sells or uses the inventory, a tax point is not created, and any unused inventory can be returned to the supplier and will not be subject to VAT.

Continuous supplies of services. Where there is a continuous contract for services and payment is required at certain stages, a VAT invoice should be issued when each payment is due. The invoice should detail the charge for that particular stage and the amount of VAT charged.

Reverse-charge services. A reverse charge may be available for services.

Cash accounting. Businesses are permitted to account for VAT on a cash basis. Suppliers declare output tax on the VAT return in the same period during which customers pay, and customers declare and reclaim input tax on the VAT return during the same period when they pay suppliers.

Leased assets. A lease of land principally used or intended for use as a dwelling is exempt from VAT. Generally, other leased assets will be subject to VAT.

F. Recovery of VAT by taxable persons

Generally, input tax can be reclaimed when the VAT was paid on purchases that relate to supplies liable to VAT at the standard rate or the zero rate, i.e., taxable supplies.

Nondeductible input tax. Input credit is unrecoverable if the VAT was paid on goods or services that are not used, or intended to be used, in the course or furtherance of a taxable activity. Where goods have a business and personal use, the taxpayer must apportion the VAT to the business and non-business uses, claiming input credit only for the business portion.

Examples of items for which input tax is nondeductible

- Fees or subscriptions for membership of any club, association or society of sporting, social or recreational nature
- Petroleum and similar products that are used for non-business purposes
- A passenger vehicle where the claimant does not carry on the taxable activity of providing transportation services. Even where the claimant does carry on this taxable activity, no input tax credit is allowed if the vehicle was not acquired for the purposes of this taxable activity.

Examples of items for which input tax is deductible
(if related to a taxable business use)

- Entertainment expenses incurred wholly for an employee(s) as part of a reward for services provided
- Travel expenses

Partial exemption. A partial recovery calculation is required where costs incurred relate to both taxable and exempt supplies. Regulations provide a standard method of apportionment to calculate the amount of input tax the taxpayer is entitled to claim.

Capital goods. The sale, transfer, lease, rental or hire or any other supply of land or property located in the Bahamas is, in general, subject to VAT at the standard rate.

Refunds. When the VAT paid on a taxpayer's purchases (input tax) is greater than the VAT charged on a taxpayer's sales (output tax), a refund may be due. Refund applications vary depending on the filing intervals of the taxpayer's VAT returns. All claims for a refund must exceed BSD500 and be accompanied by supporting documentation.

Preregistration costs. If goods or services were purchased during the 24 months before registration, and those are used to make supplies subject to VAT after registration, it is possible to reclaim input tax paid on those preregistration purchases.

Write-off of bad debts. A VAT registrant is entitled to claim an input tax deduction for sales made with respect to a taxable supply written off as a bad debt, i.e., when the amount owed is written off in accounting records, the taxpayer can make an adjustment by claiming as input tax the amount previously declared as output tax.

Noneconomic activities. VAT paid on purchases of goods or services that are used or intended to be used for non-business purposes is not recoverable.

G. Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses

There is no provision for VAT to be recovered by non-established businesses.

H. Invoicing

VAT invoices and credit notes. For all taxable supplies, the supplier must provide the buyer a VAT invoice within 60 calendar days of the supply. In order for a VAT invoice to be valid, it must show certain information as outlined in the VAT rules.

A tax credit note is required to be issued by a registered supplier to a purchaser when a VAT invoice previously issued charged VAT in excess of the tax properly chargeable. The credit note must be in the form and contain the information as specified in the VAT rules.

Electronic invoicing. A VAT invoice must show the required information as outlined in regulations and can be either in paper or electronic form.

Proof of exports. For zero rating to apply to exports out of the Bahamas, a VAT registrant must be able to meet the following conditions:

- The registered supplier, i.e., the entity registered for VAT, has entered the goods for export in accordance with the Customs Management Act, and the goods are, in fact, exported by the registered supplier.
- The comptroller is satisfied that the goods have been exported from the Bahamas and were not used after they were entered for export except such use as was necessary for, or incidental to, the export of the goods.
- The taxpayer must have the relevant documentation to prove that it is the exporter of record.

I. VAT returns and payment

VAT returns. The timelines for filing VAT returns are as follows:

- Businesses whose annual turnover exceeds BSD5 million are required to submit a monthly VAT return.
- Businesses with an annual turnover of less than BSD5 million but more than BSD400,000 are required to file a quarterly VAT return
- Businesses with an annual turnover or less than BSD400,000 can apply to submit a semi-annual VAT return.

The VAT return should show:

- The VAT charged on sales in the period (output tax)
- The VAT paid on purchases (input tax)

Where the amount of output tax is greater than the input tax, the difference must be paid to the comptroller. VAT returns are required to be filed within 28 days of the end of the VAT period.

Electronic filing. The Bahamas Online Tax Administration System (OTAS) was developed to assist taxpayers manage their VAT accounts. This system has been available from 15 October 2014 and allows registered VAT payers to file electronically. Other services available online may include taxpayer inquiries, payments and refunds.

Payments on account. Where a customer makes regular payments to an account prior to ordering goods, this is not a supply for VAT purposes. It is considered to be merely funds held on the customer's behalf. Once the customer orders the taxable supply and funds are allocated from the account, a supply has been made for VAT purposes and appropriate VAT should be declared.

Annual accounting. Reliable accounting records in the English language must be maintained within the Bahamas. A record of all supplies and purchases must be kept, i.e., a copy of all sales invoices, debit and credit notes, receipts, and all purchase invoices either in paper or electronic form. If a taxpayer does not possess a copy of an invoice on which VAT was paid or import documents showing the VAT amount, the VAT is not recoverable.

Records are required to be kept for five years.

Special schemes. There are two schemes that may be beneficial to some businesses. The first is the cash accounting scheme outlined above and the second is the flat rate scheme.

The flat rate scheme applies to businesses that make supplies of goods or services at the standard rate of VAT. It was developed to assist with the administrative burden for businesses and requires businesses to apply for permission from the comptroller to use the scheme. The flat rate scheme provides that VAT is charged and collected on supplies at the standard rate. However, rather than calculating the input tax each VAT period, the taxpayer applies the flat rate of 4.5% to net sales and pays this amount to the comptroller.

Annual returns. Not applicable.

J. Penalties

Penalties for late payment of VAT. Regulations impose heavy penalties for noncompliance. An offense is committed when VAT is not paid when due for two or more consecutive or non-consecutive tax periods. One can potentially be liable on conviction in court to a fine not exceeding BSD10,000 and imprisonment for a term not exceeding 6 months or both.

Penalties for errors made on VAT returns. Errors in the declared VAT amounts, whether input or output tax, can be adjusted on the next VAT return provided the error does not exceed BSD500. Where the error does exceed this amount, the taxpayer should notify the comptroller. If the error is not discovered promptly but is not considered deliberate, the taxpayer may only be charged interest on amounts owed.

Barbados

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Bridgetown

GMT -4

EY
Mail address:
P.O. Box 261
Bridgetown
Barbados

Street address:
Worthing
Christ Church
Barbados

Indirect tax contacts

Terry-Ann Moe

+1 (246) 430-3903
terry-ann.moe@bb.ey.com

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Value-added tax (VAT)
Date introduced	1 January 1997
Trading bloc membership	CARICOM
Administered by	Barbados Revenue Authority Value-Added Tax Division
VAT rates
Standard	17.5%
Reduced	7.5%
Other	Zero-rated (0%) and exempt
VAT number format	2XXXXXXX-X (9 digits)
VAT return periods	Bimonthly and monthly
Thresholds
Registration	BBD80,000
Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses	No

B. Scope of the tax

VAT applies to the supply of goods and services by a taxable person (registrant) in Barbados and to the importation of goods.

C. Who is liable

Barbados VAT law imposes a registration requirement on any person who makes taxable supplies in Barbados, other than a person whose annual turnover is less than BBD80,000 a year.

In general, any person that begins making taxable supplies in Barbados must apply to the VAT authorities for registration within 21 days after the date on which taxable supplies are first made.

Group registration. VAT grouping is not allowed under the Barbados VAT law. Legal entities that are closely connected must register for VAT individually.

Reverse charge. No reverse-charge mechanism applies in Barbados.

Non-established businesses. Non-established businesses, which in Barbados are referred to as non-resident, non-registrant businesses, are not liable to VAT.

Tax representatives. Where a corporation fails to pay an amount of tax required, the persons who were directors at the time of the failure are jointly and severally liable, together with the corporation, to pay the amount and any interest or penalties attaching to such amount.

Registration procedures. Taxpayers may register online at <https://evetas.customs.gov.bb> or in person at the Barbados Revenue Authority at the following address:

Barbados Revenue Authority
Value-Added Tax Division
3rd Floor
Weymouth Corporate Centre
Roebuck Street
St. Michael
Barbados

Taxpayers are required to provide two forms of identification in addition to the incorporation documents of the entity being registered. Registrations can typically be completed within one week.

Late-registration penalties. A person who fails to register is compulsorily registered and may be subject to a penalty not exceeding BBD1,000.

Digital economy. There are no specific rules relating to the taxation of the digital economy.

Deregistration. An application to cancel registration can be made in writing when the VAT registrant is no longer required to be registered, such as when a company ceases to carry on a taxable activity or make taxable supplies.

D. VAT rates

The term “taxable supply” refers to a supply of goods and services that is liable to VAT, including a supply taxed at the zero rate.

In Barbados, the following three rates of VAT apply:

- Standard rate of 17.5%
- Reduced rate of 7.5%
- Zero rate (0%)

The 17.5% standard rate applies to most supplies of goods or services. The 7.5% rate applies to the supply of accommodation in guest houses, hotels and inns or similar places, including a dwelling house normally let or rented for use as a vacation or holiday home and to direct tourism services. The First Schedule of the VAT Act lists the goods and services that are zero-rated, and the Third Schedule of the Act lists the goods that are zero-rated on importation. On 17 July 2007, the Customs and Excise Department published the conditions and procedures necessary for manufacturers, who export 40% or more of their total production, to qualify for the zero-rating of inputs (for example, machinery and equipment and raw materials) imported for use exclusively in manufacturing.

Examples of zero-rated supplies (taxable at 0%)

- Exported goods and services
- Certain staple foodstuffs
- Prescribed drugs

- Veterinary services
- International cruises
- Imported inputs for manufacturing

The term “exempt supply” refers to a supply of goods and services that is not liable to VAT and is listed in the Second Schedule of the VAT Act. Persons that make exempt supplies are not required to register for VAT, and they are not permitted to recover any input tax incurred in making those exempt supplies (see Section F).

Examples of exempt supplies

- Financial services
- Medical services
- Residential property sales
- Water and sewerage services
- Public postal services
- Transportation services
- Betting and gaming

Option to tax for exempt supplies. Barbados offers no option to tax for exempt supplies.

E. Time of supply

The time when VAT becomes due is called the “time of supply.” In general, the time of supply for goods and services supplied by a taxable person is the earliest of the following events:

- The date of issuance of the invoice by the supplier
- The date on which payment is received for the supply
- The date on which the goods are made available to the recipient or the services are performed

A taxable person must account for VAT in the VAT period in which the time of supply occurs, regardless of whether payment is received.

Imported goods. VAT is payable on the importation of taxable supplies. It is levied on the sum of the value of the goods imported and the amount of duties, fees or other charges that are payable upon the entry of the goods into Barbados.

F. Recovery of VAT by taxable persons

VAT paid by a registrant is recoverable as input tax if it relates to goods and services acquired solely for the purposes of making taxable supplies. Input tax is recovered by offsetting it against output tax (that is, tax charged on supplies made) in the VAT return for each VAT period. If input tax exceeds output tax in a period, the excess is due to the registrant as a refund.

Goods or services are deemed to be for the purpose of making taxable supplies if the supplier acquired, imported or produced the goods or services for either of the following purposes:

- Their supply or re-supply as a taxable supply
- Their consumption or use (whether directly or indirectly or wholly or partly) in producing goods or services for supply as a taxable supply

Non deductible input tax. Input tax may not be recovered on purchases of goods and services that are not used for business purposes.

Examples of items for which input tax is deductible if related to a taxable business use

- Business entertainment
- Travel expenses
- Utilities
- Inventory purchases
- Occupancy costs

Examples of items for which input tax is nondeductible

- A personal vehicle
- A portion of the input tax for company vehicles

Partial recovery. The Barbados VAT law states that if all the supplies made by a taxable person during a tax period are taxable supplies, the input tax incurred in the period is deductible in full. However, if some, but not all, of the supplies made by the person during the tax period are taxable supplies, a partial recovery calculation is required. This measure applies to persons making both taxable and exempt supplies. Input tax is recoverable on the following basis:

- If all of the input tax for the period is directly related to the making of taxable supplies, the VAT is recoverable in full.
- If none of the input tax for the period is directly related to the making of taxable supplies, no VAT is recoverable.

If part or all of the input tax for the period is related to the making of both taxable and exempt supplies, an apportionment calculation must be performed. The amount of recoverable input tax is calculated based on the ratio of the value of taxable supplies made during the period compared to the total value of supplies (taxable plus exempt) made during the period.

If a taxable person makes no taxable supplies during the tax period, the VAT authorities may limit the amount recoverable to the amount that they consider to be “fair and reasonable.” However, this provision is generally not invoked.

Refunds. A refund arises when the amount of input VAT recoverable in a month exceeds the amount of output VAT payable. The VAT Act now provides that registrants may offset unpaid VAT refunds owed for a previous period against output tax due for the current period. Under prior law, refunds were generally paid by check after the submission of the VAT return. If the refund claim was submitted within the specified time (21 days after the end of the tax period) and the refund amount remained unpaid after 6 months, the tax authorities were required to pay interest on the outstanding balance at a prescribed rate of 1%.

Preregistration costs. There is no provision for persons to claim VAT incurred on costs prior to registration.

G. Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses

Non-established businesses, which in Barbados are referred to as non-resident, non-registrant businesses, are not liable to VAT and do not recover input VAT.

H. Invoicing

Sales invoices and credit and debit notes. A taxable person must provide a tax invoice for all taxable supplies made to registrants. A tax invoice is necessary to support a claim for input tax recovery.

A credit note or debit note must be issued when the quantity or consideration shown on a tax invoice is altered. Credit and debit notes must contain broadly the same information as a tax invoice.

Exports. VAT is charged at a rate of 0% on supplies of exported goods. However, to qualify as zero-rated, exports must be supported by evidence that confirms the goods have left Barbados.

Foreign-currency invoices. Invoices may be issued in a foreign currency.

Electronic invoices. Electronic invoices are accepted by the VAT authority. There are no separate requirements for the format of electronic invoices.

I. VAT returns and payment

VAT returns. VAT reporting periods are generally two months. However, the tax authorities may require longer or shorter tax periods if they consider it appropriate. Returns must be filed by the 21st day of the month following the end of the tax period. Any tax due for the period must be remitted with the return. Returns may be filed using the VAT authority's electronic filing system. Additionally, requests may be made to offset refunds from prior years against current VAT liability.

Special schemes. Entities such as international business companies (IBC) are not required to register for VAT or to file VAT returns. However, an IBC may reclaim any input VAT it has incurred on a monthly basis.

Electronic filing and archiving. VAT returns may be filed online at <https://evetas.customs.gov.bb>.

Annual returns. Not applicable.

J. Penalties

VAT penalties generally relate to VAT accounting. The following are some of the penalties associated with breaches of the VAT law:

- A penalty of BBD100 for the late submission of a VAT return
- A late payment penalty of 10% of any output tax due
- Interest at the rate of 1% of any outstanding tax and penalty

In addition, several other penalties may apply, including the following:

- Failure to display a certificate of registration: BBD1,000
- Failure to notify the tax authorities of changes relating to the registration: BBD1,000

Criminal penalties may also apply in certain circumstances, such as in cases of fraudulent conduct.

Belarus

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Minsk

GMT +3

EY

Korol Street, 51
2nd Floor, Office 30
Minsk 220004
Belarus

Indirect tax contacts

Ekaterina Semenets	+375 (17) 209-4535 ekaterina.semenets@by.ey.com
Jorge Intriago (resident in Kyiv)	+380 (44) 490-3003 jorge.intriago@ua.ey.com

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Value-added tax (VAT)
Local name	Nalog na dobavlennyuyu stoimost (NDS)
Date introduced	19 December 1991
Trading bloc membership	Eurasian Economic Community member
Administered by	Ministry of Taxes and Duties of the Republic of Belarus (http://www.nalog.gov.by)
VAT rates
Standard	20%
Reduced	10%
Other	Zero-rated and exempt
VAT number format	Tax identification number (TIN) with 9 digits
VAT return periods	Quarterly or monthly (at the choice of the taxpayer)
Thresholds
Registration	None (no separate registration exists for VAT purposes; taxpayers register for all corporate taxes at the same time)
Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses	No

B. Scope of the tax

VAT applies to the following transactions:

- Sales of goods (works and services) and property rights in Belarus (including exchanges of goods, gratuitous assignments, leases, transfer of goods under loan agreements)
- Importation of goods into Belarus

Goods are deemed to be sold in Belarus if either of the following circumstances exists:

- The goods are situated in Belarus and are not shipped or transported abroad.
- The goods are situated in Belarus at the time of the commencement of shipment or transportation.

Services (works) are deemed to be provided in Belarus if the activities of a private entrepreneur or organization that performs the works (renders services) are carried out in Belarus.

Under specific rules, services (works) are deemed to be provided in Belarus in the following circumstances:

- The services (works) are directly connected with immovable property situated in Belarus.
- The services (works) are connected with movable property situated in Belarus (except the rent and lease of movable property).
- The services (works) are rendered in Belarus in the areas of culture, art, education (except distance education), physical education, tourism, leisure or sport.
- The purchaser of the services (works) carries out activities in Belarus such as the following:
 - The transfer of property rights on intellectual property
 - The provision of audit, consulting, legal, accounting, advertising, marketing, engineering, and information processing services
 - The provision of secondment services (if the staff works in Belarus)
 - The rent of movable property (except for transportation vehicles)
 - The provision of services related to the development of computer programs and databases (computer software and information products) as well as the adaptation and modification of these products

The place of supply of supplementary services is the same as for the main services.

C. Who is liable

In general, a taxpayer is any individual entrepreneur or legal entity (including a foreign legal entity) that performs taxable supplies of goods (works and services) and property rights in Belarus in the course of its business activities or that imports goods across the customs border of Belarus.

Exemption from VAT payment obligations. Private entrepreneurs and legal entities that are applying the simplified taxation system without payment of VAT (if thresholds of revenue and number of employees are not exceeded) or carrying out activities subject to unified tax on imputed income are exempt from VAT payment obligations, except for payment of VAT at customs.

Group registration. Tax group registration is not allowed under Belarusian law. Legal entities that are closely connected must register for tax purposes separately.

Non-established businesses (foreign legal entities). A “non-established business” is a foreign company that does not have a permanent establishment in Belarus. Foreign legal entities that do not have a permanent establishment in Belarus are not subject to

VAT when they sell goods (perform works, render services) in Belarus. In such cases, the Belarusian legal entities and individual entrepreneurs who purchase these goods (works, services) must calculate and pay VAT. A foreign legal entity or non-established business may be required to register for tax purposes in Belarus if it meets any of the following conditions:

- It plans to conduct business that leads to income generation.
- It owns immovable property in Belarus.
- It operates entertainment facilities such as merry-go-rounds and ferris wheels that are usually located in amusement parks.
- It puts on wild animal attractions.

The tax registration procedure for non-established businesses is generally the same as the procedure for Belarusian legal entities. A foreign legal entity should submit a standard application form for tax registration to the Belarusian tax authorities together with supporting information and documentation about the entity.

Registration procedures. There is no separate VAT registration in Belarus. Tax registration is carried out automatically five working days after the company's incorporation and covers all taxes paid by a company. Foreign companies shall apply for tax registration before carrying out activities in the territory of Belarus. The administrative procedure for tax registration of foreign companies takes two working days. Documents required for tax registration may be submitted by a duly authorized company official or the company's tax representative.

Late-registration penalties. Belarusian administrative law provides for several types of fines in the following amounts for tax registration violations:

- Delay in tax registration: penalty of not more than five basic units (one basic unit = BYR150,000).
- Non-registration: penalty of not more than 20 basic units. The amount of the penalty depends on the duration of the delay in tax registration. For legal entities, the penalty equals 20% of the amount of income generated during the period of unregistered business activity.

Tax representatives. Taxpayers may authorize any individual or legal entity to act as a legal representative of the taxpayer in transactions regulated by tax law. The tax representative acts on the basis of power of attorney.

Reverse charge. Belarus has a tax mechanism similar to the commonly understood reverse-charge mechanism. Foreign legal entities that do not have a permanent establishment in Belarus are not subject to VAT when they provide a supply, i.e., sell goods, perform works or render services, in Belarus. In such cases, the Belarusian legal entities and individual entrepreneurs who purchase these supplies must calculate and pay VAT. Subsequently, VAT paid by Belarusian taxpayers may be credited in full against the output VAT or refunded from the budget.

Digital economy. Generally, indirect tax issues related to digital products are regulated by the common provisions of the Belarusian Tax Code. High-tech companies registered with certain organizations, e.g., the High-Tech Park, the Infopark Science and Technology Association or free economic zones, may apply to receive additional indirect tax benefits and exemptions.

Deregistration. There is no separate VAT deregistration in Belarus. Generally, tax authorities deregister taxpayers in cases of liquidation, reorganization or closure of a permanent establishment in Belarus. Tax deregistration applies for all taxes paid by an entity simultaneously, and deregistration of foreign organizations has complications specified in the Belarusian Tax Code.

D. VAT rates

The term “taxable supplies” refers to supplies of goods (works and services) and property rights that are liable to a rate of VAT, including the zero rate.

In Belarus, the following VAT rates are applied:

- Standard rate: 20%
- Reduced rate: 10%
- Zero rate: 0%

VAT is levied at a general rate of 20% on taxable supplies, which include the majority of domestic sales of goods and services.

Examples of supplies taxable at 10%

- Sales of crops (except flowers and ornamental plants)
- Sales of store cattle, i.e., sales of any products of animal origin such as pork, beef, animal fat, etc. The reduced rate applies to the sale of live animals in that industry as well but does not apply to the sale of animals to be farmed for fur, such as sheep, racoon, sable, etc.
- Sales of fish and hive products produced in Belarus
- Sales and/or imports into Belarus of goods for children and food products as per the list established by the Belarusian President

Examples of goods and services taxable at 0%

- Exports of goods, some works and services related to exports
- Exports of transport services, including transit carriage
- Exports of works on production of goods from raw materials supplied by customers under tolling agreements
- Repairs of aircraft and their engines, units of railway technics for foreign companies and individuals

The term “exempt supplies” refers to supplies of goods (works and services) and property rights not liable to tax.

Examples of exempt supplies of goods and services

- Provision of financial, insurance, educational, cultural, housing or medical services
- Provision of certain medical equipment, prosthetics and devices for disabled persons

Option to tax for exempt supplies. Taxpayer is entitled to apply or refuse to apply tax exemptions and other benefits provided by the Belarusian Tax Code. If the taxpayer refuses to apply any VAT exemption, it must submit an application on refusal to apply respective tax exemption to the tax authorities.

E. Time of supply

“Time of supply” is the moment when VAT becomes due.

Under Belarusian law, the time of supply is called the “date of actual realization.”

The date of actual realization of goods, works and services, and property rights is determined as the date of dispatch of goods (performance of works or rendering services) or transfer of property rights disregarding the day of payment.

The date of dispatch of goods or services is the date of the following:

- For goods, the first day of shipment by the seller to the customer or to the company that carries out the transportation (if the seller does not provide the transportation of the goods or does not bear the costs of the transportation)
- For goods, the date given by the taxpayer but no later than the day when transportation of the goods began
- For services, the day when the services are considered to be provided in accordance with executed documents such as contracts and invoices
- For transfer of property rights, the date when the customer's right to receive payment under the contract arises

Exemptions from this rule have been introduced, including but not limited to the following:

- The date of actual realization of goods, works and services, and property rights performed by foreign legal entities not registered with the Belarusian tax authorities is the day of payment, including advance payments (or other way of obligation fulfillment).
- The date of actual realization of goods, works and services, and property rights performed by foreign legal entities not registered with the Belarusian tax authorities under commission, trust and other similar agreements concluded with legal entities and individual entrepreneurs registered with Belarusian tax authorities is the date of dispatch of goods (performance of works or rendering services) or transfer of property rights disregarding the day of payment.
- The date of actual realization for loan transactions (excluding commercial loans) is the date of income receipt.

Imported goods. Imported goods are subject to import VAT in Belarus.

For goods imported from countries that are not members of the Customs Union, VAT is collected by the customs authorities. For goods imported from countries that are members of the Customs Union, VAT is collected by the tax authorities. VAT on imports is payable on the customs value of goods, including import duty and excise duty (if applicable).

F. Recovery of VAT by taxable persons

A taxpayer may recover input VAT, which is VAT charged on goods (works and services) and property rights supplied for carrying out activities within the scope of VAT. A taxpayer generally recovers input VAT by deducting it from output VAT, which is VAT charged on supplies made.

Examples of items for which input tax is deductible (if related to a taxable business use)

- VAT paid on purchases of goods, works and services, and property rights from resident legal entities
- VAT paid on imported goods

- VAT paid on goods, works and services, and property rights purchased from foreign legal entities that do not have a permanent establishment in Belarus
- Input VAT paid on the purchase of trademarks not recognized for accounting purposes as intangible assets, unless these are used in the making of exempt supplies, e.g., medical services included in the list approved by the Belarusian president.
- Input VAT paid on purchases of construction materials which are recognized for accounting purposes as inventory, unless these are used in the making of exempt supplies, e.g., realization of residential premises included in the list approved by the Belarusian president.

Input VAT paid on goods imported from 25 July 2014 to 31 December 2014 may not be deducted during the first 90 days following the date of import if the goods are imported from countries that are not members of the Customs Union, or during the first 90 days following the date of recognition for accounting purposes if the goods are imported from the Customs Union. This rule applies only in the case of goods that will be sold in Belarus in unchanged condition. Packaging (bottling) in cans, bottles, flacons, sacks, boxes as well as grinding (cutting) for packaging and other simple operations aimed at packaging and repackaging which do not change the properties of goods are not regarded as a change of condition of the goods.

Nondeductible input tax. Input VAT cannot be recovered on expenses in the following circumstances:

- They were deducted as expenses for corporate profits tax purposes, such as the VAT paid on the purchase of machinery that has been recognized for accounting purposes as a fixed asset or the purchase of software recognized for accounting purposes as an intangible asset.
- They were allocated to the value of goods, works and services and property rights (including fixed and intangible assets).

Partial exemption. If a taxpayer engages in both exempt and taxable activities, it may account for input VAT related to each activity separately. In this case, input VAT directly related to taxable activities is recoverable in accordance with the sequence of VAT deductions, and input VAT directly related to exempt activities is not recoverable and must be expensed for corporate profits tax purposes. If the taxpayer does not keep separate accounts of input VAT attributable to taxable and exempt activities, it must be apportioned. The statutory method of apportionment is a pro-rata calculation, based on the revenue from taxable activities compared with the total turnover of the business. Percentages are calculated separately for activities subject to each VAT rate and for exempt activities. The amount of input VAT related to each kind of activity is determined by multiplying the total amount of input VAT and the relevant percentage.

The amount of input VAT is deducted in the following sequence:

- The amount of input VAT related to sales of goods, works and services, and property rights, except fixed assets and intangible assets (subject to VAT at 20% rate). The amount of input VAT is deductible up to the amount of output VAT calculated on the sales of goods, works and services, and property rights.

- The amount of input VAT on fixed and intangible assets. The amount of input VAT that may be deducted may not exceed the amount of output VAT calculated on sales of goods, works and services, and property rights and the amount of VAT deducted in accordance with the rules stated in the first item above.
- The amount of input VAT related to activities that are subject to VAT at 10%. In this case, the amount of deduction is not limited by the amount of output VAT calculated on sales of goods, works and services, and property rights.
- The amount of input VAT related to activities that are subject to VAT at 0%. In this case, the amount of deduction is not limited by the amount of output VAT calculated on sales of goods, works and services, and property rights.
- The amount of input VAT related to sales of goods that are produced by a Belarusian tax resident and sold to another Belarusian tax resident for the transfer of the goods in international leasing with redemption right outside Belarus. In this case, the amount of deduction is not limited by the amount of output VAT calculated on sales of goods, works and services, and property rights and expensed for corporate profit tax purposes. Sales of goods described in the preceding sentence are exempt from VAT.
- Amounts of VAT paid from purchased fixed assets and intangible assets that were not deducted in the last fiscal period and that the taxpayer decided to deduct in equal shares in each reporting period of the current fiscal year. In this case, the amount of deduction is not limited by the amount of output VAT calculated on sales of goods, works and services, and property rights (see Capital goods).
- Amounts of VAT related to sales of goods to foreign companies and/or individuals from the territory of foreign states (certain criteria should be met). In this case, the amount of deduction is not limited by the amount of output VAT calculated on sales of goods, works and services, and property rights.

Capital goods. A taxpayer may deduct input VAT paid on purchased fixed assets and intangible assets in accordance with the usual VAT deduction rules, or capitalize input VAT by increasing the value of a fixed or intangible asset by the amount of VAT.

For VAT deductions of the preceding fiscal period for fixed assets and intangible assets, a taxpayer may deduct them in equal shares in each reporting period of the current fiscal period (1/12 of the amount for a reporting period of a month or 1/4 of the amount for a reporting period of a quarter).

Refunds. If the amount of VAT deductions (input VAT) in a VAT return exceeds the amount of output VAT payable, the taxpayer need not pay VAT, and the difference between the amount of VAT deductions and total VAT calculated on sales of goods (works and services) and property rights may be deducted on a priority basis from the total amount of VAT in the following fiscal period or, in certain cases, refunded to the taxpayer.

The decision about reimbursement of VAT must be issued by the tax authorities not later than two working days from the date on which the taxpayer submitted the VAT return and application for refund. If the difference between the amount of VAT deductions and total VAT calculated on sales of goods (works and services) and property rights exceeds 3,000 basic units, the tax authorities may examine the reasonableness of the refund.

Refund of VAT from the budget is carried out by the tax authorities in the following order:

- Reimbursable VAT must be offset during one month against the following:
 - Current payments for taxes, duties and other mandatory payments to the budget.
 - Debt repayments and fines with respect to taxes, duties and other mandatory payments to the budget.
 - Debt repayments of penalties imposed by the tax authorities.
- The remaining amount of reimbursable VAT is refunded to a taxpayer not later than five working days from the closing date for offset.

Preregistration costs. Not applicable.

G. Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses

Only registered legal entities that engage in taxable activities in Belarus may obtain recovery of VAT.

If a foreign legal entity is registered with the Belarusian tax authorities as a permanent establishment, VAT incurred on purchases of goods (works and services), including imported goods, and property rights is generally recoverable in accordance with the usual rules (see Section F).

Refund application. The VAT refund application must be sent to the appropriate tax office. The application must be completed in Russian. The refund is made in Belarusian rubles (BYR) to a bank account held in Belarus. The Ministry of Taxes and Duties of the Republic of Belarus has approved a model form of refund application.

Interest on refunds. Refunds of differences between the amount of VAT deductions and total VAT with respect to sales of goods (works and services) and property rights are made without the payment of interest.

Tax-free system. When foreign individuals purchase a product in Belarus that costs more than BYR800,000 from a vendor that is a party to the tax refund services agreement, and then the individuals export the product to a destination outside the territory of the Customs Union, they can receive a refund of the VAT they paid if they apply for the refund within three months of the date of purchase.

H. Invoicing

VAT invoices and credit notes. Since 1 January 2010, VAT invoices are not mandatory.

The grounds for VAT deductions are the entries of amounts of VAT in primary accounting documents that confirm the payment for works and services including VAT and contain specified requisites (for example, acts of acceptance).

Proof of exports. Goods exported from Belarus, as well as some types of works and services related to exports, are subject to VAT at a rate of 0% in Belarus. To confirm the applicability of the 0% rate, the supplier must collect and provide to the tax authorities the supporting documents.

Foreign-currency invoices. If money liabilities in a contract are fixed in BYR as an equivalent to an amount in foreign currency, the VAT base is determined in BYR, using the foreign-currency rate published by the National Bank of the Republic of Belarus on the date of actual realization.

I. VAT returns and payment

VAT returns. Taxpayers must file VAT returns quarterly or monthly (at the choice of the taxpayer) with cumulative effect in the calendar year by the 20th day of the month following the reporting period. Payments must be made by the 22nd day of the month following the reporting period. VAT returns shall be filed in the form of electronic document.

Special schemes. Import VAT related to the goods imported from the Customs Union must be declared in the tax return by the 22nd day of the month following the date of acceptance of these goods in accounting.

VAT returns in respect of turnovers related to a property trust must be submitted to the tax authorities separately from VAT returns related to other activities of the trust manager.

Electronic filing and archiving. VAT returns must be filed in the form of an electronic document signed by taxpayer's digital signature.

Annual returns. Instead of submitting annual tax returns, VAT taxpayers submit monthly VAT returns (for VAT on import from the Customs Union and in cases when taxpayer chooses calendar month as a reporting period for VAT) or quarterly VAT returns (in cases when taxpayer chooses calendar quarter as a reporting period for VAT), both with cumulative effect in the calendar year.

J. Penalties

The Belarussian administrative law provides for the following fines with respect to the filing of VAT returns and non-payment or partial payment of the amount of tax:

- Delay in tax return submission (delay of not more than three working days): penalty on legal entity of 1 to 10 basic units
- Delay in tax return submission (delay of more than three working days): penalty on responsible official of two basic units plus 0.5 basic unit for each full month of delay but not more than 10 basic units; penalty on legal entity of 10% of the payable tax but not less than 10 basic units
- Non-payment or partial payment of tax: penalty on legal entity of 20% of the underpaid tax but not less than 10 basic units
- Non-payment or partial payment of tax resulting from the negligence of company's officials: penalty on responsible official of 2 to 20 basic units
- Willful non-payment or partial payment of tax: penalty on responsible official of 20 to 60 basic units

Belgium

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Brussels

GMT +1

EY

De Kleetlaan 2
B-1831 Diegem (Brussels)
Belgium

Indirect tax contacts

Jan Van Moorsel	+32 (2) 774-93-77 jan.van.moorsel@be.ey.com
Marc Joostens	+32 (2) 774-61-58 marc.joostens@be.ey.com
Pascal Vanzieleghem	+32 (9) 242-51-11 pascal.vanzieleghem@be.ey.com
Franky De Pril (Customs)	+32 (2) 774-94-84 franky.de.pril@be.ey.com

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Value-added tax (VAT)
Local names	Belasting over de toegevoegde waarde (BTW) Taxe sur la valeur ajoutée (TVA)
Date introduced	1 January 1971
Trading bloc membership	European Union Member State
Administered by	Belgian Ministry of Finance (http://www.minfin.fgov.be)
VAT rates
Standard	21%
Reduced	6%, 12%
Other	Zero-rated, exempt and exempt with credit
VAT number format	From 1 January 2008, the taxable person should use: Prefix: BE 10 digits: ZNNN.NNN.NNN Z = 0 or 1 N = figure from 0 to 9
VAT return periods	Monthly for all VAT-registered persons but quarterly for those whose total annual turnover (VAT exclusive) does not exceed EUR2,500,000 (EUR250,000 for specific business sector) and whose quarterly intra-EU supplies do not exceed EUR50,000
Thresholds
Registration	None
Distance selling	EUR35,000

Intra-Community acquisitions	None
Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses	Yes

B. Scope of the tax

VAT applies to the following transactions:

- The supply of goods or services made in Belgium by a taxable person
- The intra-Community acquisition of goods from another Member State by a taxable person (see the chapter on the EU)
- The importation of goods from outside the EU, regardless of the status of the importer

Special rules apply to intra-Community transactions involving new means of transport (see the chapter on the EU) and to the supply of new buildings and the surrounding building land.

C. Who is liable

A taxable person is any business entity or individual that makes taxable supplies of goods or services or intra-Community acquisitions or distance sales in Belgium.

No VAT registration threshold applies in Belgium. A taxable person that begins activity in Belgium must notify the Belgian VAT authorities by means of form 604A.

Special rules apply to foreign or “non-established businesses.”

Group registration. Effective from 1 April 2007, VAT grouping is permitted under the Belgian VAT law. VAT grouping is an option for Belgian businesses and Belgian branch offices of foreign businesses. The option to create a VAT group is subject to various conditions. Businesses must be financially, economically and organizationally linked with each other in order to form a VAT group. Subsidiaries in which the parent company owns more than 50% of their share capital must normally be included in the VAT group if the parent is a member. Specific rules exist regarding VAT adjustments when creating a VAT group. Transactions within a VAT group are disregarded for VAT purposes. However, in certain cases, these intragroup transactions may still be subject to VAT. Members must remain part of the VAT group for at least three years.

Non-established businesses. A “non-established business” is a business that does not have a seat of business or a fixed establishment in Belgium. A non-established business that makes supplies of goods or services in Belgium must register for VAT purposes in one or more of the following situations:

- Taxable transactions in Belgium for which it is liable to pay the Belgian VAT due
- Intra-Community acquisitions of goods in Belgium
- Intra-Community supplies of goods from Belgium
- Imports of goods, followed by the supply of the same goods
- Certain transactions in connection with a VAT warehouse
- Distance sales in excess of the threshold

Under the reverse-charge mechanism, the Belgian recipient of goods or services receiving the supplies must account for the Belgian VAT due instead of the non-established supplier. If this reverse charge applies to all the transactions of a non-established business in Belgium, it is in principle not possible for the latter to be VAT registered in Belgium, except in specific cases (for example, an import followed by a local sale subject to the reverse-charge measure). In certain other situations and provided that the conditions are fulfilled, a non-established business can still opt to register for Belgian VAT purposes.

The reverse charge generally applies to supplies made by non-established businesses to the following:

- Taxable persons established in Belgium that file periodic VAT returns in Belgium
- Non-established businesses that are registered for VAT and have appointed a fiscal representative in Belgium

Tax representatives. Businesses that are established in the EU may register for VAT without appointing a tax representative. However, EU businesses may opt to directly register for VAT purposes or appoint a tax representative under certain conditions.

Businesses that are established outside the EU must appoint a resident tax representative to register for Belgian VAT. The tax representative is jointly and severally liable for VAT debts with the business that it represents.

All non-established businesses must register with the Central VAT Office for Foreign Taxpayers (in Dutch, Centraal BTW-kantoor voor Buitenlandse Belastingplichtigen; in French, Bureau central de TVA pour Assujettis Etrangers) at this address:

Centraal BTW-kantoor voor Buitenlandse
Belastingplichtigen
Dienst btw registratie - Financietoren
Kruidtuinlaan 50 bus 3625 (Verdieping 18/R)
1000 Brussel
Belgium

If a complete file has been submitted and no additional questions are raised, it takes approximately one to four months for a Belgian VAT ID number to be granted to a foreign business.

Reverse charge. Under the reverse-charge mechanism, the Belgian recipient of goods or services must account for the Belgian VAT due instead of the non-established supplier. If this reverse charge applies to all the transactions of a non-established business in Belgium, it is in principle not possible for the latter to be VAT-registered in Belgium, except in specific cases (for example, an import followed by a local sale subject to the reverse-charge measure). In certain other situations and provided that the conditions are fulfilled, a non-established business can still opt to register for Belgian VAT purposes.

The reverse charge generally applies to supplies made by non-established businesses to the following:

- Taxable persons established in Belgium that file periodic VAT returns in Belgium
- Non-established businesses that are registered for VAT and have appointed a fiscal representative in Belgium

Registration procedures. A foreign EU business without any establishment in Belgium can choose to register directly with the Belgian VAT authorities, i.e., without having to appoint a fiscal representative. In order to do so they must file the following documents:

- Form 604A, Declaration of Commencement of Activity (in Dutch, Aangifte van aanvang van een werkzaamheid; in French, Declaration de commencement d'activité). This form, which gives more details about the taxable activities that require a Belgian VAT ID number, must be filed within one month after the start of taxable activities in Belgium.
- Form RBI, Direct VAT registration (in Dutch, Rechtstreeks BTW-identificatie; in French, Identification à la TVA Directe), which requires general information about the foreign EU business.

Late-registration penalties. A penalty ranging from EUR100 to EUR500 is assessed for late VAT registration. If the late registration results in the late payment of VAT, an administrative fine of 15% calculated on the VAT due and late payment interest at a rate of 0.8% per month may be imposed.

These documents must be dated and signed by someone who is entitled to legally bind the EU business, and the originals should be filed either in Dutch, in French or in German. Furthermore, the VAT application file needs to be completed with the following documents:

- A copy of the company's articles of association and any modifications (if available)
- A copy of the registration in the trade register of the company in the Member State of establishment
- A copy of an order form, contracts (or correspondence) or invoices proving the taxable activities in Belgium and the liability to register for Belgian VAT purposes

However, a non-EU business liable to register for Belgian VAT purposes, without any establishment in Belgium, is still required to appoint a fiscal representative in Belgium. To do so they must file the following documents:

- Form 604A, Declaration of Commencement of Activity (in Dutch, Aangifte van aanvang van een werkzaamheid; in French, Declaration de commencement d'activité) which is described above
- Form 800N, Request for recognition as fiscal representative (in Dutch, Voorstel tot erkenning van een aansprakelijke vertegenwoordiger; in French, Proposition d'agrément d'un représentant responsable pour un assujetti non établi en Belgique); form completed by the foreign company to request a Belgian company to act as its fiscal representative towards the Belgian VAT authorities
- Form AVI, Fiscal representation VAT identification (in Dutch, "Aansprakelijke vertegenwoordiging BTW-identificatie; in French, Représentation Fiscale Identification à la TVA), which provides more information about the business and the appointed fiscal representative

These documents must be dated and signed by someone who is entitled to legally bind the non-EU business, and the originals should be filed either in Dutch, in French or in German depending on where the fiscal representative is duly established (Dutch, French or German speaking Community). Furthermore, the VAT application file needs to be completed with the following documents:

- Form 801, Acceptance of the Belgian VAT representative (in Dutch, Verbintenis van een aansprakelijke vertegenwoordiger van een niet in België gevestigde belastingplichtige; in French, “Engagement d’un représentant responsable d’un assujetti non établi en Belgique) in which the fiscal representative agrees to act for the foreign company regarding VAT issues. The form must be completed and signed in the original by a person who is empowered to legally bind the Belgian company.
- A copy of the company’s articles of association and any modifications (if available)
- A copy of the registration in the trade register of the company in the country of establishment
- An original certificate issued by the local tax authorities evidencing that the company is registered for VAT purposes in the Member State of establishment (certificate cannot be older than one year at the time of filing of the application)
- A copy of an order form, contracts (or correspondence) or invoices proving the taxable activities in Belgium and the liability to register for Belgian VAT purposes
- A bank guarantee in an amount of one quarter of the (theoretical) VAT due in Belgium, in favor of the Belgian VAT authorities, drawn up in duplicate by a Belgian bank or the Belgian branch of a foreign bank. The text of the guarantee must be in accordance with the model agreement as provided by the VAT authorities, and differences in the text of this guarantee are in principle not allowed
- A “personal guarantee” issued by the fiscal representative.

All documents must be sent to the Central VAT Office for Foreign Taxpayers (in Dutch, Centraal BTW-kantoor voor Buitenlandse Belastingplichtigen; in French, Bureau central de TVA pour Assujettis Etrangers) at the address above.

If a complete file has been submitted and no additional questions are raised, it takes approximately one to four months for a Belgian VAT ID number to be granted to a foreign business.

Digital economy. In case of digital services, telecom services or broadcasting services supplied in a B2B context, the place of supply is the place where the recipient is established. No Belgian VAT should be charged, and reverse charge applies unless supplier and customer are established in Belgium.

In case of digital services, telecom services or broadcasting services supplied in a B2C context, until the end of 2014 only Belgian businesses and foreign businesses that are not established in the EU should charge Belgian VAT to the recipients that are established in Belgium. As from 2015, Belgian VAT will always be due in case of supply to customers established in Belgium, disregarding whether the supplier is established inside or outside the EU. We refer to the section on MOSS below for more information.

Mini One-Stop Shop. For digital services, telecom services or broadcasting services supplied in a B2C context, until the end of 2014, only Belgian businesses and foreign businesses that are not established in the EU should charge Belgian VAT to the recipients that are established in Belgium. As from 2015, Belgian

VAT will always be due, regardless where the supplier is established.

In order to avoid a VAT registration in each of the Member States where VAT is due, taxable persons can voluntarily opt for a Mini One-Stop Shop (MOSS) VAT registration. Belgian taxable persons should apply for a MOSS VAT registration in Belgium. Taxable persons established in other EU Member States should do the same in their own Member State. Taxable persons established outside the EU with an establishment in the EU should register for MOSS in a Member State where they have an establishment. Taxable persons with no establishment in the EU are free to choose where they apply for a MOSS registration.

A Belgian MOSS VAT registration should be filed electronically (via eservices.minfin.fgov.be). Once registered, taxable persons should submit a MOSS VAT return quarterly in an electronic format, reporting the turnover and the VAT due per Member State. Furthermore, taxable persons applying for MOSS registration should make a single payment including the total amount of the VAT due in the different Member States concerned.

Only e-services, telecom services and broadcasting services in other Member States may be reported in the MOSS return. All other transactions in Belgium should still be reported in the normal VAT return.

Deregistration. When a taxable person stops its economic activities in Belgium and consequently wants to deregister its VAT number, this should be communicated within one month to the VAT authorities by submitting form 604C.

D. VAT rates

The term “taxable supplies” refers to supplies of goods and services that are liable to a rate of VAT, including the zero rate.

In Belgium, the following VAT rates apply:

- Standard rate at 21%
- Reduced rates at 6% and 12%
- Zero rate (0%)

The standard rate of VAT applies to all supplies of goods or services, unless a specific measure provides for a reduced rate, the zero rate or exemption.

Examples of goods and services taxable at 0%

- Newspapers
- Tobacco

Examples of goods and services taxable at 6%

- Under certain conditions, goods of basic necessity and social services
- Books and magazines
- Certain foodstuffs (milk, fish, meat, fats and oils)
- Drugs and medicines
- Water
- Accommodation
- Improvements and renovations to buildings older than five years
- Original works of art

Examples of goods and services taxable at 12%

- Public housing
- Restaurant services (excluding drinks)

The term “exempt supplies” refers to supplies of goods and services that are not liable to tax. Exempt supplies do not give rise to a right of input tax deduction (see Section F). Certain supplies are classified as “exempt with credit,” which means that no VAT is chargeable, but the supplier may recover related input tax.

Examples of exempt supplies of goods and services without right of input VAT deduction

- Real estate transactions (except “new buildings” and accompanying land)
- Services of doctors and dentists
- Finance
- Insurance
- Human organs

Examples of goods and services exempt with credit

- Exports of goods outside the EU and related services
- Intra-Community supplies of goods and intangible services supplied to another taxable person established in the EU, or to any recipient outside the EU (see the chapter on the EU)

Option to tax for exempt supplies. In Belgium, there is an option to tax transactions, including negotiation, concerning deposit and current accounts, payments, transfers, debts, cheques and other negotiable instruments. Furthermore, persons other than professional contractors may opt for taxation in case of a transfer of a new building.

E. Time of supply

The time when VAT becomes due is called the “time of supply” or “tax point.” In Belgium, different time-of-supply rules apply to goods and services.

The time of supply for goods is one of the following:

- When the goods are put at the disposal of the buyer
- If the goods are shipped by the supplier, when the goods arrive at the buyer’s premises
- If the supplier needs to install the goods, when the installation is completed

The time of supply is set at an earlier date if a payment is received before the goods are put at the buyer’s disposal and the supply is clearly described.

The time of supply for services is when the service is completed. The time of supply is set at an earlier date if a payment is received before the service is finished. This service must be clearly described.

Continuous supplies of services. For a continuous supply of services for which either periodic invoices are issued or periodic payments are made, the time of supply is at the end of each period for which each statement of account or payment relates.

If the recipient is liable to account for the VAT due for a continuous supply of services under the business-to-business (B2B) main rule and if no invoices are issued or payments are made, the time of supply is at the end of each year.

VAT becomes due with respect to a supply of goods or services before the basic tax point if payment is received before the basic time of supply.

Goods sent on approval or for sale or return. The time of supply for goods sent on approval or for sale or return is when the customer accepts the goods.

Intra-Community supplies and acquisitions. VAT becomes chargeable on the date the invoice is issued or on expiry of the 15th of the month following the month of the supply if no invoice has been issued by that time.

Imported goods. The time of the supply for imported goods is either the date of importation, or when the goods leave a duty-suspension regime. However, the payment of import VAT may be deferred after the receipt of an individual deferment license.

Please note that the payment of import VAT can be deferred to the Belgian VAT return when the importer of record is in possession of an individual deferment license (a so-called E.T. 14.000 license). In order to obtain such a license, the taxable person must file a (specific) application but no longer needs to make an advance payment of 1/24th of the annual import VAT due.

Cash accounting. Belgian VAT law allows suppliers active in B2C transactions to postpone the payment of VAT on supplies of movable goods and services to private persons, where no obligation to issue an invoice exists, until and to the extent of receipt of the price.

Reverse-charge services. The time of supply for reverse-charge services is when the service is completed. The time of supply is set at an earlier date if a payment is received before the service is finished.

Prepayments. VAT is due on prepayments at the time each payment is made. There is also an obligation to issue an invoice no later than the 15th day of the month following the month of the (pre)payment. No VAT is due on prepayments that relate to intra-Community transactions.

Leased assets. For leased assets the VAT is due on the installments at the time the payment is made.

F. Recovery of VAT by taxable persons

In principle, every VAT-taxable person has the right to deduct the Belgian input VAT incurred. The right to recover input VAT depends mainly on the purpose for which the goods or services are purchased.

The goods or services bought must be used for taxable business purposes. VAT incurred on goods or services bought for private purposes cannot be recovered. In addition, input VAT cannot be recovered on purchases that are used to make exempt supplies (without credit for input tax). Where goods or services are bought for both business and private or exempt purposes, the input VAT can only be recovered to the extent that the goods or services are used for business purposes or taxable activities (calculated on a pro-rata basis).

In this respect it is key to hold a valid tax invoice or customs document. Exceptions apply to supplies for which the recipient is liable for the VAT due (reverse charge). Belgian input VAT can only be deducted at the end of the third calendar year following the year in which the VAT became due.

Nondeductible input tax. Input tax may not be recovered on purchases of goods and services that are not used for business purposes (for example, goods acquired for private use by an entrepreneur). In addition, input tax may not be recovered for some items of business expenditure.

The following lists provide some examples of items of expenditure for which input tax is not deductible and examples of items for which input tax is deductible if the expenditure is related to a taxable business use.

Examples of items for which input tax is nondeductible

- Purchase, lease, hire, maintenance or fuel for cars (except in certain specific cases, such as car dealers): VAT only deductible on expenses relating to the professional use (business use) of passenger cars with a maximum of 50%; the scope of this limitation is broadened to include the purchase or lease of a light truck, including all the costs, provided that there is a mixed use
- Private expenditure
- Business gifts (unless valued at less than EUR50, VAT excluded, per unit)
- Alcohol
- Tobacco
- Hotel accommodation, meals and beverages (exceptions may apply)
- Reception costs

Examples of items for which input tax is deductible
(if related to a taxable business use)

- Attending conferences, seminars and training courses
- Expenditure for the collective social benefit of employees
- Business use of home telephone
- Advertising
- Transport
- Books

Partial exemption. Input tax directly related to the making of exempt supplies (without input tax credit) is generally not recoverable. If a Belgian taxable person makes both exempt and taxable supplies it may not recover input tax in full. This situation is referred to as “partial exemption.”

In Belgium, the amount of input tax that a partially exempt business may recover may be calculated using either of the following methods:

- The first method is a general pro-rata calculation, based on the percentage of taxable and exempt turnover. The recovery percentage is rounded up to the nearest whole number (for example, a recovery percentage of 77.2% is rounded up to 78%).
- The second method is direct attribution, which is a two-stage calculation. The first stage identifies the input VAT that may be directly allocated to taxable and to exempt supplies. Input tax directly allocated to taxable supplies is deductible, while input tax directly related to exempt supplies is not deductible. Supplies that are exempt with credit are treated as taxable supplies for these purposes. The next stage identifies the amount of the remaining input tax (for example, input tax on general business overhead) that may be partially allocated to taxable supplies and consequently partially recovered. The calculation may be performed using the general pro-rata calculation based on revenues (turnover) of supplies made, or it may be a special calculation agreed to with the VAT authorities.

Capital goods. The deduction of VAT paid on the acquisition of investment goods must be limited in the case of private use of those goods. In this respect, Belgium has transposed into Belgian law the amendments made by the Council Directive 2009/162/EU on 22 December 2009 for all capital goods (movable and immovable).

According to article 45, §1 of the Belgian VAT Code, in the case of an acquisition of a capital good subject to mixed use, the deduction of VAT is disallowed for the part of private use, but there is no requirement to report a deemed supply for this part.

Capital goods are items of capital expenditure that are used in a business over several years. Input tax is deducted in the VAT year in which the goods are acquired. The amount of input tax recovered depends on the taxable person's partial exemption recovery position in the VAT year of acquisition. However, the amount of input tax recovered for capital goods must be adjusted over time if the taxable person's partial exemption recovery percentage changes during the adjustment period. It must also be adjusted if the use of the capital goods changes.

In Belgium, the capital goods adjustment applies to the following assets for the number of years indicated:

- Buildings (adjusted for a period of 15 years)
- Other movable capital assets (adjusted for a period of five years)
- Effective from 7 January 2007, certain services, such as intellectual property rights (including patents, licenses and trade marks or immovable work undertaken by the tenant of a building) considered to be capital goods if amortized for accounting purposes over a period of five years or more

The adjustment is applied each year following the year of acquisition, to a fraction of the total input tax (1/15 for land and buildings and 1/5 for other movable capital assets or qualifying services). The adjustment may result in either an increase or a decrease of deductible input VAT, depending on whether the ratio of taxable supplies made by the business has increased or decreased compared with the year in which the capital goods were acquired.

Refunds. If the amount of input tax recoverable in a monthly period exceeds the amount of output tax payable in that period, the taxable person has an input tax credit. A taxable person may request a refund of the credit by marking the relevant box on the VAT return form. A refund may generally be requested only at the end of a quarter. However, a taxable person that meets certain conditions may receive permission to request monthly VAT refunds.

Preregistration costs. There is a tolerance regarding the preregistration costs made in the course of VAT registration. If the VAT registration and exploitation of the economic activity follows in an acceptable time period, the deduction will be accepted.

Write-off of bad debts. A taxable person is under certain conditions entitled to recover any VAT already paid to the VAT authorities in respect of bad debts via the VAT return. This adjustment must be supported by sufficient evidence that the customer will never pay the debt, such as the company's being declared bankrupt. No official statement from the liquidator is required. If subsequently, (part of) the debt can be recovered, the VAT should be equally repaid to the Belgian VAT authorities.

Noneconomic activities. Noneconomic activities do not create a right to deduct VAT.

G. Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses

Belgium refunds VAT incurred by businesses that are neither established in Belgium nor required to be registered for VAT there. A non-established business is allowed to claim Belgian VAT to the same extent as a VAT-registered business.

For businesses established in the EU, refund is made under the terms of the EU 8th Directive. For businesses established outside the EU, refund is made under the terms of the EU 13th Directive. Belgium does not exclude any non-EU country from the refund scheme.

VAT refund claims of EU businesses not established in Belgium can be filed through a portal website in the home country of the non-established entity. Original invoices do not need to be submitted with the refund claim.

For the general VAT refund rules applicable to the refund schemes for EU businesses and non-EU businesses, see the chapter on the EU.

Refund application. Claims must be filed through a portal website in the home country. In some cases, electronic copies of invoices must be added, depending on the type of cost and the taxable amount of the invoice.

The minimum claim period is three months, while the maximum period is one year. The minimum claim for a period of less than a year is EUR400. For an annual claim, the minimum amount is EUR50.

The statute of limitations for all refund claims is one year, and claims must be submitted before 30 September of the following year.

Repayment interest. If an EU refund is not made within four months, the Belgian VAT authorities pay interest to the claimant at a rate of 0.8% per month. However, interest applies only if the application is filed within six months after the end of the year in which the VAT became due. Interest is not paid to claimants that apply for refunds under the EU 13th Directive scheme.

H. Invoicing

VAT invoices and credit notes. A Belgian taxable person must generally provide a VAT invoice for all taxable supplies made, including exports and intra-Community supplies. Invoices are not automatically required for retail transactions, unless requested by the customer. Invoices may not be issued for supplies that are exempt from VAT (without input tax credit).

A VAT invoice is necessary to support a claim for input tax deduction or a refund under the EU 2008/9/EU or 13th Directive refund schemes (see the chapter on the EU).

A VAT credit note may be used to reduce the VAT charged and reclaimed on a supply of goods or services. The amount of VAT credited must be separately itemized on the credit note. It must be cross-referenced to the original VAT invoice and contain the same information. The following statement must appear on the credit note: “VAT to be repaid to the Belgian State to the extent that it was initially deducted.”

Electronic invoicing. Effective 1 January 2013, the VAT law has been amended to permit electronic invoicing in line with EU Directive 2010/45/EU.

Proof of exports and intra-Community supplies. Belgian VAT is not chargeable on supplies of exported goods and on intra-Community supplies of goods (see the chapter on the EU). However, to qualify as VAT-free, exports and intra-Community supplies must be supported by evidence that the goods have left Belgium. Acceptable proof includes the following documentation:

- For an export, a copy of the export document, officially validated by Customs, must show the supplier as the exporter of record or should make a reference to the underlying invoice issued by the supplier.
- For an intra-Community supply, a range of commercial documentation (such as purchase orders, transport documentation, proof of payment and contracts) is required. Each document is permitted as evidence but each document in itself is not sufficient. The valid VAT number (issued by another Member State other than Belgium) of the customer should be mentioned on the invoice.

Foreign-currency invoices. Invoices may be issued in any currency, provided that the amount of VAT due is expressed in euros (EUR). If an invoice is issued in foreign currency, the amount of VAT due must be converted to euros using the latest exchange rate published by the European Central Bank or, if the European Central Bank has published no exchange rate, the latest exchange rate published by the National Bank of Belgium. However, a contractual exchange rate may be used instead if the exchange rate used is indicated in the contract and on the invoice and if it is actually used to determine payment between the parties.

There are no requirements with regard to the language of the invoice. However, for inspection purposes, the VAT authorities may ask for a translation if the invoice is issued in a language other than Dutch, French or German (the official languages in Belgium).

B2C invoices. Effective 1 January 2015, new rules apply to the place of supply for supplies of telecommunications, broadcasting and electronic services to non-VAT taxable customers. For further details of the VAT rules on electronic services in the EU, please refer to the EU chapter.

I. VAT returns and payment

VAT returns. Belgian VAT returns are usually submitted for monthly periods, and for taxable persons with more than EUR50,000 of intra-Community supplies of goods per quarter, a monthly filing is required.

Taxable persons with a turnover of less than EUR2,500,000 may opt to submit returns quarterly (for some supplies of goods, the threshold is EUR250,000). A taxable person who has chosen to file quarterly VAT returns can, during the calendar year, be obliged to start filing monthly VAT returns from the time the threshold of EUR2,500,000 of annual turnover or EUR50,000 of intra-Community supplies of goods per quarter has been exceeded.

Taxable persons that file quarterly returns must prepay the VAT monthly based on the amount of VAT payable in the previous quarter. Return liabilities must be paid in euros.

Monthly VAT returns and payment are due the 20th day of the month following the return period. However, if that date falls on a Saturday, Sunday or public holiday, the due date will be postponed to the next working day. The payment of the VAT due needs to be made by the same date.

Quarterly VAT returns must be filed by the 20th day following the relevant calendar quarter. However, if that date falls on a Saturday, Sunday or public holiday, the due date will be postponed to the next working day. The payment of the VAT due needs to be made by the same date.

Monthly payments for the quarter must be made on the 20th day of the second and third months of the VAT quarter. The amount due is a prepayment that must equal 1/3 of the balance of VAT due for the previous quarter. The balancing payment is due with the VAT return.

Special schemes. A special regime is provided for professional dealers of second-hand cars. In particular, where the professional dealer has purchased second-hand cars on which no VAT was charged, the taxable person can account for VAT on the margin (difference between purchase and sales price) on the sale of the second-hand goods. The same principles apply for a.o. art dealers.

Sale of assets previously used by a company. When the company has deducted the VAT paid on the purchase of the assets, then in principle VAT is due on the price of the goods at the moment the goods are sold. In this respect, please check the exceptions with regard to immovable property.

Electronic filing and archiving. All taxable persons are required to file their Belgian VAT returns electronically instead of in hard-copy format. The Belgian VAT returns should be electronically filed through the internet (via the INTERVAT-application). Only when the taxable person has demonstrated the impossibility of filing the VAT return by electronic means and obtained a written approval from the Belgian VAT authorities may it file the return in hard copy.

Annual returns. Annual VAT returns are not permitted in Belgium. However, every year an annual sales listing (form 725) has to be filed by 31 March of the next year. The annual sales listing is used to record all sales in excess of EUR250 made during the calendar year to customers that are VAT-registered in Belgium.

J. Penalties.

A penalty is assessed for late submission of a VAT return in the amount of EUR100 per month, up to a maximum of EUR1,000.

K. EU filings

Intrastat. A Belgian taxable person that trades with other EU countries must complete statistical reports, known as Intrastat if the value of either its sales or purchases of goods exceeds certain thresholds. Separate reports are required for intra-Community acquisitions (Intrastat Arrivals) and for intra-Community supplies (Intrastat Dispatches).

The threshold for Intrastat Arrivals for the 2015 calendar year is EUR700,000.

The threshold for Intrastat Dispatches for the 2015 calendar year is EUR1 million.

Belgian taxable persons must complete Intrastat declarations in euros, rounded up to the nearest whole number.

The Intrastat return period is monthly. The submission deadline is the same as for the VAT return, which is the 20th day of the month following the return period.

A penalty, varying from EUR100 to EUR10,000, can be imposed if a person does not comply with the imposed obligations. No distinction is made according to the nature of the offense (e.g., late submission, missing or inaccurate declarations).

EU Sales Lists. If a Belgian taxable person makes intra-Community supplies in a return period, it must submit an EU Sales List (ESL) to the Belgian VAT authorities. An ESL is not required for a period in which the taxable person has not made any intra-Community supplies.

Supplies of goods are marked by the letter “L” and supplies of services by the letter “S.” Intra-Community sales performed by party B in simplified triangulation schemes must continue to be marked by the letter “T.”

Effective from 1 January 2010, ESLs are filed monthly by monthly VAT filers and quarterly by quarterly VAT filers.

Penalties may be imposed for late, missing or inaccurate ESLs.

Bolivia

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

La Paz

GMT -4

EY

20 de Octubre Avenue and Campos #2665
Torre Azul Building
16th Floor
P.O. Box 2221
La Paz
Bolivia

Indirect tax contacts

Juan Pablo Vargas	+591 (2) 243-4313 juan.vargas@bo.ey.com
Ximena Enriquez	+591 (2) 243-4313 ximena.enriquez@bo.ey.com

Santa Cruz

GMT -4

EY

Rene Moreno Street #17
Royal Palm Plaza Building
5th and 8th Floors
Santa Cruz
Bolivia

Indirect tax contacts

Juan Pablo Vargas	+591 (3) 337-3031 juan.vargas@bo.ey.com
Kattia Galdo	+591 (3) 337-3031 kattia.galdo@bo.ey.com

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Value-added tax (VAT)
Local name	Impuesto al Valor Agregado (IVA)
Date introduced	July 1986
Trading bloc membership	None
Administered by	Internal Taxes Service (http://www.impuestos.gob.bo)
VAT rate	13% (nominal rate) 14.94% (effective rate)
VAT number format	9999999999 (taxpayer identification number [NIT])
VAT return period	Monthly
Thresholds
Registration	Commencement of sales activity
Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses	No

B. Scope of the tax

VAT applies to the following transactions:

- Sales of movable goods placed in Bolivia by taxable persons

- All services rendered in Bolivia
- Importation of goods
- Leasing inside Bolivia

Taxation of digital services. Effective 20 December 2013, the Bolivian tax authorities published rules for the application of VAT on e-commerce. They include the following requirements:

- The sales price of goods, stated on a website, must include the VAT amount.
- The seller must deliver an invoice or an equivalent document issued electronically to the buyer.
- The seller must indicate its tax identification number on its website.

C. Who is liable

A registered VAT payer is a business entity or individual that performs the following actions:

- Sells movable goods
- Sells movable goods on behalf of others
- Renders any kind of services
- Makes definitive imports (these are products that are purchased in foreign countries and brought into Bolivia)
- Engages in the operational or financial leasing of movable or fixed goods

Group registration. Grouping for VAT purposes is not allowed under Bolivian law. Legal entities that are closely connected or are related parties must register for VAT individually.

Non-established businesses. A “non-established business” is a business that does not have a fixed establishment in Bolivia. A non-established business must register as a taxpayer if it makes “habitual” supplies of goods or services in Bolivia. Under the applicable regulation, “habitually” must be determined by weighing the nature, amount or frequency of the sales of movable goods and services.

A non-established business is not required to appoint a tax representative to register for VAT.

Reverse-charge services. In Bolivia, the reverse charge for services does not apply.

Tax representatives. The tax representative of a company is the legal representative resident in Bolivia and registered with the tax authority to act for the company in matters relating to VAT.

Registration procedures. Registration request should be submitted through the Virtual Office of the tax authority (<http://ov.impuestos.gob.bo/RegistroPadron.aspx>) by filing Form MASI-001 (Request for registration). Once submitted, the Virtual Office will assign a file number to this request. A legal representative must go in person to the tax authority and present the following documents in hard copy:

- Notarized incorporation deed
- The legal representative’s valid identification document (ID)
- Notarized power of attorney for the legal representative to act with authority for the applicant
- Electric utility invoice for the branch domicile

- Electric utility invoice for the legal representative's domicile
- Map (drawing) of the domiciles of the branch and the legal representative

Registration can be processed in one week if all documents are presented in correct form to the tax authority.

Late-registration penalties. Penalties for late VAT registration include the closing of the business until the situation is rectified.

Deregistration. In Bolivia, companies do not deregister. It is possible, however, to deactivate the Tax Identification Number.

D. VAT rates

In Bolivia, VAT applies at a rate of 13% to supplies of goods or services, unless a specific measure provides an exemption. The effective rate of VAT is 14.94%, because VAT must be included in the sales price. Exports are taxed at a zero rate.

The following supplies are exempt from VAT:

- Goods imported by members of diplomatic corps recognized in Bolivia
- “Bonafide” introduced merchandise, up to a limit of USD1,000
- Life insurance quotas (monthly payments with respect to a life insurance contract)
- For securities registered on the Bolivian Stock Exchange, capital gains generated by sales, results derived from the valuation processes determined by the Financial Supervisory Authority of Bolivia (Autoridad de Supervisión del Sistema Financiero, or ASFI) and results generated in the application of generally accepted accounting principles
- Transfers of goods or assets subject to the securitization process (titularización) administered by the securitization association, at the beginning and end of the process (under this process, the goods must be transferred to an independent fund [patrimonio autonomo] and, when the process is completed, the goods are returned to the original owner)
- Operations regarding sales or transfers of portfolios (financial intermediation, insurance and pension)
- Inbound tourism and lodging services for foreign tourists without a residence or address in Bolivia
- Artistic events focused on production, presentation and promotion of theater, dancing, national folklore, painting, sculpture and movies of Bolivian artists, if they are sponsored or developed in locations in Bolivia that are managed or owned by a municipal government or the Bolivian government
- Since 2013, the sale of books printed in Bolivia or those imported by or published by Bolivian institutions

Option to tax for exempt supplies. Not applicable.

E. Time of supply

The time when VAT becomes due is called the “time of supply” or “tax event.” The tax event for goods is when the goods are delivered or when an act that implies the transfer of the ownership occurs. The tax event for services is the earlier of when the service is performed or completed, and when full or partial payment of the price is received.

Continuous supply of services. The continuous supply of services (electricity, water, and gas that is delivered to homes) must be invoiced on a monthly basis.

Imported goods. The tax event for imported goods is when the goods clear all customs procedures.

F. Recovery of VAT by taxable persons

A taxable person may recover input VAT (also known as credit VAT), which is VAT charged on goods and services supplied to it for business purposes. A taxable person generally recovers input VAT by deducting it from output VAT (also known as debit VAT), which is VAT charged on supplies made.

Input VAT includes VAT charged on goods and services supplied in Bolivia and VAT paid on imports of goods.

A valid tax invoice or import statement must generally accompany a claim for input VAT.

Recovery of VAT on purchases of special gasoline, premium gasoline or diesel from service stations is limited to the VAT paid on 70% of the purchase value.

Nondeductible input VAT. Input VAT cannot be recovered on purchases of goods and services that are not used for business purposes (for example, goods acquired for private use by an entrepreneur).

For deducting VAT credit with respect to transactions in an amount of BOB50,000 or more, payment supports (checks, vouchers or other documents) issued by a financial intermediation entity regulated by the ASFI are required. These documents must have the following information:

- Business name of the financial institution (issuer)
- Transaction or operation number
- Transaction date
- Transaction amount

It is also required that payment supports for transactions in an amount of BOB50,000 or more must be reported to the tax authorities on a monthly basis.

Examples of items for which input tax is nondeductible

- Goods acquired that are not directly linked to obtaining taxable income, such as amusement activities for employees
- Goods or services that do not have original documents like invoices

Examples of items for which input tax is deductible (if related to a taxable business use)

- Acquisition cost of inventories
- Maintenance services of machinery

Refunds. If the amount of input VAT (credit VAT) recoverable in a month exceeds the amount of output VAT (debit VAT) payable, the excess credit may be carried forward to offset output VAT in the following tax period. The amount of input VAT is adjusted based on the variation of the Unidades de Fomento a la Vivienda (UFV), an index published by the Bolivian Central Bank that takes into account inflation.

A taxable person that overpaid VAT for a tax period because of an error may request a refund of the overpaid amount.

Partial exemption. Not applicable.

Preregistration costs. Not applicable.

G. Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses

Bolivia does not refund VAT incurred by businesses that are not established in Bolivia nor registered for tax purposes.

H. Invoicing

Sales invoices and credit notes. A taxable person must provide a VAT sales invoice for all taxable supplies made, including exports (subject to VAT at a zero rate). A VAT invoice is required to support a claim for input VAT deduction.

A credit note can be used to reduce the VAT charged and reclaimed on a supply of goods and services. A credit note must contain the same information as a sales invoice, and it can only be used with respect to the devolution of goods (total or partial) and the rescission of services.

Exports. Bolivian VAT is not chargeable on supplies of exported goods. However, to qualify as VAT-free, exports must be supported by evidence that the goods have left Bolivia. The related input VAT can be reimbursed through the issuance of tax devolution certificates (CEDEIMs) that can be negotiated as securities. Invoices for export transactions must be identified with the text “Commercial invoice for exports” (“Factura comercial de exportación”) and must be specifically authorized by the tax authorities.

Foreign-currency invoices. If an invoice is issued in foreign currency, for VAT purposes, the values must be converted to local currency (bolivianos). The value must be converted using the official exchange rate on the tax-event date published by the Bolivian Central Bank.

Electronic invoicing. Effective 5 January 2015, only invoices using the new virtual system are valid for tax purposes such as documenting VAT credits.

I. VAT returns and payment

Returns. VAT returns are submitted for monthly periods. Returns and payment in full are due between the 13th and the 22nd day of the month following the end of the return period. The due date depends on the last digit of the taxpayer’s identification number (NIT).

VAT liabilities must be paid in bolivianos.

Special schemes. Not applicable.

Electronic filing and archiving. VAT returns must be submitted through the tax authority’s virtual platform.

Annual returns. Not applicable.

J. Penalties

Penalties are assessed for errors and omissions with respect to VAT reporting. The penalties include the following:

- A penalty of UFV 150 for individuals and UFV 400 for business entities for not filing a tax return
- A penalty of UFV 150 for individuals and UFV 400 for business entities for not filing a corrected tax return increasing the tax that should have been paid on the original tax return
- A penalty ranging from 20% to 100% of the tax due for unpaid VAT

In addition, interest and inflation adjustments based on changes to the UFV are assessed on unpaid VAT.

Criminal tax evasion may be punished by a term of imprisonment, depending on the severity of the case.

Bonaire, Sint Eustatius and Saba (BES Islands)

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Please direct all queries regarding the BES Islands to the following persons in the Curaçao office:

- ▶ Bryan D. Irausquin: +599 (9) 430-5075; bryan.irausquin@an.ey.com
- ▶ Cristina L. de Freitas Brás: +599 (9) 430-5070; cristina.de.freitas@an.ey.com
- ▶ Zahayra S. E. de Lain: +599 (9) 430-5080; zahayra.de-lain@an.ey.com
- ▶ Clarion C. Taylor: +599 (9) 430-5077; clarion.taylor@an.ey.com
- ▶ Ron L. van der Born: +599 (9) 430-5076; ron.van-der-born@an.ey.com
- ▶ Suhena Z. Neuman: +599 (9) 430-5059; suhena.neuman@an.ey.com
- ▶ Kimberly N. Schreuders: +599 (9) 430-5073; kimberly.schreuders@an.ey.com

Effective from 10 October 2010, the Netherlands Antilles (Bonaire, Curaçao, Saba, Sint Eustatius and Sint Maarten) was dissolved. Curaçao and Sint Maarten became autonomous countries within the Kingdom of the Netherlands (see individual chapters). Bonaire, Saba and Sint Eustatius (the BES Islands) are now extraordinary overseas municipalities of the Netherlands, but they have their own tax system including a simplified general expenditure tax regulation.

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	General expenditure tax (GET)
Local name	Algemene bestedingsbelasting
Date introduced	1 January 2011
Trading bloc membership	None
Administered by	Belastingdienst Caribisch Nederland
GET rates
Bonaire
Standard rate for services provided	6%
Standard rate for delivery of goods	8%
Standard rate for import of goods	8%
Other	25%, 7%, 0%
Sint Eustatius and Saba
Standard rate of services provided	4%
Standard rate for delivery of goods	6%
Standard rate for import of goods	6%
Other	5%, 10%, 18%, 22%, 30%
GET number format	3XX.XXX.XXX (9 digits)
GET return periods	Monthly
Thresholds	None
Recovery of GET by non-established businesses	No

B. Scope of the tax

GET applies to the following transactions:

- The delivery in the BES Islands of manufactured goods by a manufacturer in the course of its business
- Services provided in the BES Islands by an entrepreneur in the course of its business
- The import of goods

C. Who is liable

A BES entrepreneur, including a manufacturer, that delivers goods, provides services or manages assets to obtain revenue from the assets on a permanent basis is liable for GET, unless an exemption or a reverse-charge mechanism (that is, the customer receiving the services is liable for GET) applies. An entrepreneur is a business entity or individual who delivers goods, provides services or manages assets to obtain revenue from it on a permanent basis. A BES entrepreneur is an entrepreneur that resides in or is established in the BES Islands or that has a permanent establishment in the BES Islands from which it provides services.

A manufacturer is considered to be an entrepreneur in the BES Islands if it provides goods by using raw materials or intermediate goods.

Non-established business. A “non-established business” is a business that does not have a fixed establishment in the BES Islands. A non-established business may become liable for GET and accordingly become subject to registration if it is deemed to have a permanent establishment in the BES Islands. The GET law does not provide a definition of a permanent establishment.

Special rules apply to the lease of real estate to individual residents of the BES Islands and trading and services depots.

Lease of real estate. Lease of real estate that is equipped and designed to be used as a permanent residence and is permanently used by individual residents of the BES Islands is not subject to GET.

Trading and service depots. Specific services provided by entrepreneurs established in trading and service depots in the BES Islands are not subject to GET.

Services provided to entrepreneurs established in the trading and service depots in the BES Islands are not subject to GET solely to the extent that the services are provided for activities which are legally permitted in a depot. Moreover, services performed or goods delivered to entrepreneurs in the trading and service depots in the BES Islands are not subject to GET solely to the extent that the services are performed or goods are delivered in connection with goods or capital assets situated in such depot.

Small enterprises. A small enterprise is a resident individual entrepreneur who has a business or permanent establishment in the BES Islands and who realized revenue (excluding GET) in the preceding calendar year of USD20,000 or less. If a request filed with the Inspectorate of Taxes is granted, a small enterprise is not liable to GET. However, small enterprises must still declare the revenue for monthly periods. Social or cultural organizations may also be exempted from GET.

Group registration. The GET law does not allow grouping for GET purposes. Legal business entities that are closely connected must register for GET individually.

Tax representatives. A taxpayer may be represented by a third party based on a power of attorney.

Registration procedures. In general, a taxable entity that begins taxable activities must register with the Inspectorate of Taxes by filing a hard copy form and providing some additional required documentation. In principle, completion of the registration process may take from one week up to a few weeks.

Late-registration penalties. In general, a BES entrepreneur, including a manufacturer, that begins taxable activities must register with the tax authorities. Since there is no specific deadline for registration, a penalty is not imposed for late registration. However, if the late registration results in the late payment of GET or the late submission of GET returns, penalties may be imposed.

Reverse-charge mechanism. For certain goods delivered and services provided by non-established businesses to a resident entrepreneur on the BES Islands, the GET should be accounted for and paid by the BES Islands resident entrepreneur.

Digital economy. Specific rules apply with regard to certain electronic services, amended from 1 January 2015. If certain conditions are met, GET should not be due with regard to certain electronic services provided by a non-established business to a non-business consumer or to the government on the BES Islands.

Deregistration. Deregistration with the Inspectorate of Taxes should be completed once all tax filing and payment obligations have been met by the taxpayer. To deregister, a taxpayer should provide proof of deregistration as issued by the Chamber of Commerce to the Inspectorate of Taxes along with some additional documentation.

D. GET rates

The term “taxable supply” refers to a supply of goods and services that is liable to GET.

In Bonaire, the following rates of GET apply:

- Standard GET rate for services provided: 6%
- Standard GET rate for delivery of goods: 8%
- Standard GET rate for import of goods: 8%
- Other: 25%, 7%, 0%

In Sint Eustatius and Saba, the following rates of GET apply:

- Standard GET rate for services provided: 4%
- Standard GET rate for delivery of goods: 6%
- Standard GET rate for import of goods: 6%
- Other: 5%, 10%, 18%, 22%, 30%

The above-mentioned standard rates of GET are applied to the payment for the delivery of goods or services provided or to the customs value of the goods imported, unless a specific measure provides for an exemption. The other GET rates of 7% and 5% apply to the supply of insurance through a broker.

The term “exempt supply” refers to a supply of goods and services that is not liable to GET.

Examples of exempt supplies of goods and services

- Medical services
- Basic necessities such as bread, cereal, potato, rice, vegetables, dairy products
- Water and electricity services
- Transportation services
- Betting and gaming (casino)
- Services to a trading and services depot
- Postal services

Exports. Revenue realized from supplies of exported goods by an entrepreneur is exempt from GET.

Option to tax for exempt supplies. There are no specific rules providing for the option to tax for exempt supplies.

E. Time of supply

The time when GET becomes due is called the “time of supply.” The basic time of supply for taxable supplies is in principle the date on which the invoice is issued or when an invoice should have been issued.

Imported goods. For imported goods the time of supply is considered to be the moment of importation.

F. Recovery of GET by taxable persons

Manufacturers in the BES Islands may recover GET.

Nondeductible input tax. In principle, GET due on services provided to a manufacturer on the BES Islands is nondeductible.

Deductible input tax. GET due at the moment of importation of raw materials used by a manufacturer on the BES Islands for the production of taxable goods is deductible.

Partial exemption. There are no specific rules providing for partial exemption.

Refunds. Refund of GET can be requested in writing if the entrepreneur is able to prove that:

- Entire or partial payment for the supplied goods or services will not be received by the entrepreneur.
- Payment is reimbursed by the entrepreneur following reduction of the amount due or in the event that the good has been returned unused.

Preregistration costs. No preregistration costs are recoverable.

G. Recovery of GET by non-established businesses

Non-established businesses may not recover GET in the BES Islands.

H. Invoicing

GET invoices and credit notes. In the BES Islands, an invoice must be issued by an entrepreneur within 15 days following the end of the month in which the supply or service takes place.

A GET credit note could be issued, upon request, if the BES entrepreneur can prove that one of the following circumstances has occurred:

- A part or the entire amount of the compensation has not been received.
- The fee has been refunded as a result of a price deduction or if the goods have been returned in their original state.

Foreign currency invoices. An invoice can also be issued in a foreign currency. However, the invoice should also state the local currency.

Electronic invoices. The issuance of electronic invoices is allowed.

Proof of export. When trade goods are exported, an electronic customs declaration or, on request, a written declaration should be submitted.

I. GET returns and payment

GET returns. GET returns are generally submitted for monthly periods. However, on request of an entrepreneur, the Inspectorate of Taxes allow that GET due is remitted for quarterly periods (instead of monthly periods). Returns must be filed and GET due must be paid by the 15th day of the month following the end of the reporting period. The GET due for the period must be remitted together with the return.

Special schemes. Besides the special regimes already mentioned in this, there are no significant other special schemes.

Trading and service depots. Specific services provided by entrepreneurs established in trading and service depots in the BES Islands are not subject to GET.

Services provided to entrepreneurs established in the trading and service depots in the BES Islands are not subject to GET solely to the extent that the services are provided for activities which are legally permitted in a depot. Moreover, services performed or goods delivered to entrepreneurs in the trading and service depots in the BES Islands are not subject to GET solely to the extent that the services are performed or goods are delivered in connection with goods or capital assets situated in such depot.

Electronic filing and archiving. Tax returns can be filed electronically with the Inspectorate of Taxes.

Annual returns. Following request and if certain conditions are met, the Inspectorate of Taxes may allow the filing of an annual GET return instead of monthly GET returns.

J. Penalties

GET penalties are assessed for the late submission of a GET return or for the late payment of GET, in the following amounts:

- Late submission of a GET return: fine of up to USD1,400
- Late payment of GET: fine of up to USD5,600

If the late payment is caused by negligence or dishonest conduct, a fine equal to 100% of the GET payable may be imposed.

Criminal penalties may also apply in certain circumstances, such as in cases of fraudulent conduct.

Botswana

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Gaborone

GMT +2

EY	Street address:
Mail address:	22 Khama Crescent
PO Box 41015	Second Floor
Gaborone	Gaborone
Botswana	Botswana

Indirect tax contacts

Josephine Banda	+267 397-4078, +267 365-4042 josephine.banda@za.ey.com
Gladys Makachiwa	+267 397-4078, +267 365-4041 gladys.makachiwa@za.ey.com

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Value-added tax (VAT)
Date introduced	1 July 2002
Trading bloc membership	Southern African Customs Union, Southern African Development Community
Administered by	Botswana Unified Revenue Services (http://www.burs.org.bw)
VAT rates
Standard	12%
Other	Zero-rated and exempt
VAT number format	C01234567890 for companies I01234567890 for individuals P01234567890 for partnerships T01234567890 for trusts
VAT return periods	Monthly (annual taxable supplies in excess of BWP12 million) Bimonthly (annual taxable supplies below BWP12 million)
Registration threshold	BWP1 million
Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses	No

B. Scope of the tax

VAT applies to the following transactions:

- The supply of goods and services in Botswana by a taxable person
- Reverse-charge services received by a person making exempt supplies in Botswana
- The importation of goods from outside Botswana, regardless of the status of the importer

Goods that are imported from countries within the Southern African Customs Union (consisting of Botswana, Lesotho, Namibia, South Africa and Swaziland) are not subject to customs duty.

C. Who is liable

Any registered person that makes supplies of taxable goods and services in Botswana in the course of a business is liable for VAT. For this purpose, a person includes the state, a local authority, board, natural person, trust, company and partnership.

The VAT registration threshold is BWP1 million. A taxable person must notify the Botswana VAT authorities of its liability to register for VAT within 21 days after becoming liable.

Group registration. The Botswana VAT Act does not permit group registration.

Non-established businesses. A “non-established business” is a business that has no fixed establishment in Botswana. A non-established business that makes supplies of goods or services in Botswana must appoint a representative in order to register for VAT. The representative must be resident in Botswana.

Registration procedures. Application for registration is accomplished by manually completing form BURS1 and submitting it, stamped and signed by the local bankers, to the Revenue Authority with copies of the following documents:

- ID or passport for two directors
- ID or passport for public officer (tax representative, who should be a resident)
- Certificate of Incorporation
- Memorandum and Articles of Association (if available)
- Forms 2, 2A, B, C and D (list of directors)
- A list of assets (if any)
- Details of local bank accounts

Late-registration penalties. The following penalties apply if a person fails to register for VAT within 21 days after becoming liable:

- If the failure was due to recklessness or made knowingly, a fine not exceeding BWP10,000 or imprisonment for a period not exceeding two years, or both
- In all other cases, a fine not exceeding BWP5,000 or imprisonment for a period not exceeding one year, or both
- A penalty of twice the output tax payable from the time when the person became liable to the time when the person registered for VAT

Any offense committed by a corporate body is deemed to have been committed by a person acting as a representative officer, director, general manager, secretary or other similar officer of the company, or by any other person acting in such a capacity.

Tax representatives. In the case of a non-resident person, a tax representative is a public officer, director, trustee, partner, liquidator or other person who controls the non-resident person’s affairs in Botswana. The Commissioner General may, if he considers it necessary, declare any person to be a representative of a registered person.

Reverse charge. Under the reverse-charge mechanism, VAT is payable by the importer on the importation of a supply, if the supply is imported for use in making exempt or non-taxable supplies. The VAT is payable within 30 days of the importation. The importer of the service in Botswana is required to complete form VAT 017 when making the VAT payment.

Digital economy. No special provisions apply to digital products.

Deregistration. A person who intends to deregister is required to complete application form IRD/DE-REG1. The process takes 3 to 12 months and may involve an audit.

D. VAT rates

The term “taxable supplies” refers to supplies of goods and services that are liable to a rate of VAT, including the zero rate (0%).

In Botswana, the two rates of VAT are the standard rate of 12% and the zero rate (0%). The standard rate of VAT applies to all supplies of goods or services, unless a specific measure provides for the zero rate or an exemption.

Examples of goods and services taxable at 0%

- Exports of goods and services
- International transport
- Sale of a business as a going concern to a registered person
- Fuel for vehicles
- Illuminating paraffin
- Sorghum and maize meal for human consumption
- Flour and sugar
- Intellectual property rights for use outside Botswana
- Household consumption of water up to 5,000 liters or 25 drums of 200 liters

The term “exempt supplies” refers to supplies of goods and services that are not liable to tax. Persons that make exempt supplies are not entitled to input tax deduction (see Section F).

Examples of exempt supplies of goods and services

- Medical services provided in a public medical facility
- Supply of prescription drugs
- Education
- Some agricultural farming implements
- Financial services (unless provided for a fee, charge or commission)

Option to tax for exempt supplies. Not applicable.

E. Time of supply

The time when VAT becomes due is called the “time of supply” or “tax point.” In Botswana, the basic tax point is the earlier of the issuance of an invoice or the receipt of any payment.

Other tax points are used for a variety of situations.

The following is the tax point for supplies between related persons:

- For a supply of goods, either when the goods are removed or when they are made available to the purchaser or recipient of the goods
- For a supply of services, when the services are performed

The tax point for periodic supplies is the earlier of the date on which payment is due or the date on which payment is received.

The tax point for goods or services provided to a branch or principal business outside Botswana is when the goods are delivered or when the services are performed.

Imports. The tax point for imported goods depends on the customs regime that applies to the import. The following are the applicable rules:

- For imported goods that must be cleared through customs under the Customs and Excise Duty Act, when the goods are cleared
- For goods that are imported from the Southern African Customs Union, when the goods are brought into Botswana
- For goods imported and entered into a Customs and Excise bonded warehouse, when the goods are cleared from the warehouse

The tax point for imported services is 30 days from the date of importation.

VAT-registered persons may apply for a VAT-deferment account. The importer is authorized to pay VAT on imports 25 days after the end of the month in which the goods are imported. To qualify for a deferment account, the importer must place with the VAT office a bond equal to the greater of BWP20,000 or 20% of its estimated monthly imports. Input tax paid through the VAT-deferment account may be reclaimed only if it has actually been paid.

F. Recovery of VAT by taxable persons

A taxable person may recover input tax, which is VAT charged on goods and services supplied to it for business purposes. Input tax is claimed by deducting it from output tax, which is VAT charged on supplies made.

Input tax includes VAT charged on goods and services purchased within Botswana and VAT paid on imports of goods.

Nondeductible input tax. VAT may not be recovered on purchases of goods and services that are not used for business purposes (for example, goods acquired for private use by an entrepreneur). In addition, input tax may not be recovered on certain specified business expenses.

The following lists provide some examples of items of expenditure for which input tax is not deductible even if the expenditure is for purposes of making a taxable supply and examples of items for which input tax is deductible if related to a taxable business use.

Examples of items for which input tax is nondeductible

- Purchase and hire of passenger cars
- Entertainment including food, accommodation and hospitality of any form
- Sponsorship which constitutes entertainment subscriptions to sports and recreational clubs

Examples of items for which input tax is deductible (if related to a taxable business use)

- Purchase, hire and maintenance of non-passenger motor vehicles
- Maintenance of passenger motor vehicles

- Advertising
- Parking
- Mobile phones
- Business use of a home telephone (but an employer is liable to VAT if it pays for the private telephone bills of the employee)

Partial exemption (mixed supplies). VAT directly related to making exempt supplies is not recoverable. A registered person who makes both exempt and taxable supplies cannot recover VAT tax in full. This situation is referred to as having “mixed supplies.”

VAT that relates to making mixed supplies must be apportioned using a method acceptable to the tax authorities to allocate the VAT between taxable supplies and exempt supplies. Input tax related to taxable supplies may be deducted in full. VAT related to exempt supplies may not be deducted. If taxable supplies exceed 90% of the total supplies made by a registered person, all the VAT incurred by the registered person may be claimed as input tax.

Refunds. A VAT-registered person is entitled to a refund of excess input tax if input tax exceeds output tax in a tax period. The VAT authorities must pay VAT refunds by the following deadlines:

- One calendar month following the due date of the return for exporters, operators of VAT manufacturing warehouses and international financial service center companies
- Two calendar months following the due date of the return for all other registered persons

Before any refund is paid, the input tax credit is applied against any tax, levy, interest or penalty payable by the registered person (under the terms of the VAT Act, the Customs and Excise Duty Act or the Income Tax Act).

Preregistration costs. Input tax deduction is allowed to a registered person in the first tax period in which the person is registered for VAT in respect of the following:

- Taxable supplies of goods, other than capital goods, made to the person
- Any imports of goods, other than capital goods, made by the person prior to becoming registered, to the extent that the goods are for use or resupply in a taxable activity carried on by the person after registration, provided the goods are not supplied or imported more than four months prior to the date of registration.

G. Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses

Nonresidents may claim refunds of VAT paid on goods bought in Botswana that are exported as “accompanied baggage” with the claimant if the VAT paid exceeds BWP500. Otherwise, only entities registered for VAT in Botswana may claim refunds of input tax.

H. Invoicing

VAT invoices and credit notes. Registered persons must provide VAT tax invoices for all taxable supplies made, including exports. A VAT tax credit note may be used to reduce the VAT charged on a supply of goods or services. Tax credit and debit notes must show the same information as tax invoices.

Proof of exports. Goods exported from Botswana are zero-rated. However, to qualify for a zero rating, exports must be supported by evidence that proves the goods left Botswana.

Foreign-currency invoices. A Botswana VAT tax invoice must be issued in pula (BWP). If an amount is expressed in a currency other than pula, the following are the rules for converting the VAT and value amounts to local currency:

- For imports, the amount must be converted at the exchange rate determined by the Customs and Excise Duty Act.
- For other supplies, the amount must be converted at the exchange rate when the amount is taken into account for VAT purposes.

I. VAT returns and payment

VAT returns. The VAT tax period is one month for registered persons with annual taxable supplies in excess of BWP12 million and two months for registered persons with annual taxable supplies of BWP12 million and below.

Returns must be filed within 25 days after the end of the tax period. Payment is due in full by the same date. If the due date falls on a Saturday, Sunday or public holiday, the due date is the last business day before the holiday.

Special schemes. Not applicable.

Electronic filing and archiving. VAT returns can be filed electronically upon application for e-services, which enable taxpayers to view the VAT returns submitted and other tax information online.

Annual returns. Not applicable.

J. Penalties

The greater of the following penalties is imposed for the late payment of VAT:

- BWP50 per day or part thereof
- 10% of the outstanding tax for each month or part thereof

The penalty is limited to the amount of the tax due. In the case of nil VAT returns, the maximum penalty is BWP5,000.

Interest is charged on outstanding tax or penalties at a rate of 1.5% per month or part thereof, compounded monthly.

Penalties may also apply to a range of other offenses, including making false statements and obstructing a VAT officer. In some cases, penalties may include imprisonment for offenses committed knowingly or recklessly.

Offenses by corporate bodies. Any offense committed by a corporate body is deemed to have been committed by a person acting in a responsible capacity, such as a representative officer, a director, a general manager, a company secretary or any similar officer of the company or any other person acting in such a capacity.

Brazil

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

São Paulo

GMT -3

EY

Avenida Presidente
Juscelino Kubitschek, 1830
Torre I - Floors 5-8
Torre II - Floor 7
04543-900 São Paulo, SP
Brazil

Indirect tax contacts

Sergio Fontenelle

+55 (11) 2573-3169

sergio.fontenelle@br.ey.com

Frank de Meijer

+55 (11) 2573-3413

frank-de.meijer@br.ey.com

A. At a glance

Names of the taxes	State Value-Added Tax (ICMS) Federal Value-Added Tax (IPI) Municipal Service Tax (ISS) Federal Gross Receipt Contributions (PIS-PASEP/ COFINS)
Local names	Imposto sobre circulação de mercadorias e serviços (ICMS) Imposto sobre produtos industrializados (IPI) Imposto sobre serviços (ISS) Contribuição para os programas de integração social e de formação do patrimônio público (PIS-PASEP) Contribuição para o financiamento da seguridade social (COFINS)
Date introduced
ICMS	1989
IPI	1964
ISS	1968
PIS-PASEP	1970
COFINS	1991
Trading bloc membership	Mercosur Member
Administered by	Ministry of Finance (http://www.fazenda.gov.br) Internal Revenue Service (http://www.receita.fazenda.gov.br)
VAT rates
ICMS	0% to 35% (for supplies in the same state) 4%, 7% or 12% (for supplies made to a taxable person in a different state)

IPI	0% to 365% (depending on the IPI tariff table classification for the goods)
ISS	0% to 5% (depending on municipality and nature of service)
PIS-PASEP	0.65% (for taxpayers taxed under the deemed corporate income tax method of calculation, under the cumulative system) 1.65% (for taxpayers taxed under the annual actual income tax method, under the non-cumulative system)
COFINS	3% (for taxpayers taxed under the deemed corporate income tax method of calculation, under the cumulative system) 7.6% (for taxpayers taxed under the annual actual income tax method, under the non-cumulative system)
VAT number format	nn.nnn.nnn-nnnn-nn (this ID serves in all tax matters)
ICMS, ISS, PIS-PASEP, COFINS	See section headings
Thresholds
Registration
ICMS, IPI and ISS	Commencement of taxable activity
PIS-PASEP/COFINS	Commencement of sales activity (including receipt of non-operational revenue, such as rent)
VAT return periods
ICMS	Monthly
IPI	Monthly and every year
ISS	Monthly (depending on the municipality where the taxpayer is located)
PIS-PASEP/COFINS	Monthly
Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses	No

B. Scope of the tax

In Brazil the following types of value-added tax (VAT) are in effect:

- State VAT (ICMS)
- Federal VAT (IPI)
- Municipal Service Tax (ISS)
- Gross Receipt Contributions (PIS-PASEP and COFINS)

State VAT. The State VAT (ICMS) is levied by the individual states in Brazil. The states set the level of taxation, but the Brazilian federal government may set the minimum rate.

ICMS applies to the following transactions carried out in Brazil, even if the transaction begins abroad:

- The circulation of goods
- The importation of goods
- The supply of transportation between states and between municipalities
- The supply of communication services
- The supply of electricity

Exports of manufactured goods and raw materials are exempt from ICMS.

Federal VAT. The Federal VAT (IPI) is charged by Brazil's federal government on national and foreign "finished goods." "Finished goods" are goods produced as a result of an industrial process, even if the process is incomplete, partial or intermediary. IPI applies to the following taxable events:

- The shipment of finished goods from an industrial establishment (or similar establishment) in Brazil
- The customs clearance of finished goods of foreign origin

The IPI law provides for several tax incentives if the shipment of goods is related to an export, a sale to a trading company or to plant expansion plans. IPI tax incentives include the exemption of operations and the granting of tax credits.

Municipal Service Tax. The Municipal Service Tax (ISS) is a form of sales tax payable to municipalities in Brazil. It applies to the supply of any services that are not otherwise taxable by the state authorities (ICMS). The general list of taxable services is outlined in federal law (Complementary Law), with the specific services listed in each municipal law.

A foreign company providing services fully provided outside Brazil for the benefit of a Brazilian recipient may be subject to ISS (withheld by the Brazilian entity) even if a nonresident pays for the services.

ISS is a single-stage tax with no right of recovery for ISS previously paid. Consequently, regardless of status, the recipient of a service subject to ISS bears the tax paid as a cost.

In general, ISS is due to the municipality where the service provider is located. An exception applies to construction services. ISS is levied on construction services in the city where the construction takes place.

Gross Receipt Contributions. The Gross Receipt Contributions (PIS-PASEP and COFINS) are social contributions based on turnover, which are levied on companies' gross revenue, on a monthly basis. Exports are not subject to PIS-PASEP and COFINS.

Import operations are also subject to PIS-PASEP and COFINS.

PIS-PASEP and COFINS rates may vary depending on the company's activity and on the revenue received (see Section D).

C. Who is liable

ICMS taxpayer. An ICMS taxpayer is any person or legal entity that, on a regular basis, undertakes the shipment or importation of goods, or supplies communication and interstate and intermunicipal pal transport services. No turnover threshold applies. Any person or entity that intends to supply goods or services subject to ICMS must register in the roll of ICMS taxpayers before beginning activities.

IPI taxpayer. An IPI taxpayer is any person or legal entity that carries out industrial processing of importation of goods on a regular basis or imports goods from abroad. No turnover threshold applies. Any person or entity that carries on activities subject to IPI must register in the roll of IPI taxpayers before beginning activities.

ISS taxpayer. An ISS taxpayer is any person or legal entity that supplies any services listed in the ISS law on a regular basis. No turnover threshold applies. Any person or entity that carries on activities subject to ISS must register in the roll of ISS taxpayers before beginning activities.

PIS-PASEP and COFINS. A PIS and COFINS taxpayer is any company that has business activities. Contributions are levied on companies' gross revenue on a monthly basis.

Group registration. VAT grouping is not allowed under Brazilian VAT laws.

Non-established businesses. A “non-established business” is a business that has no fixed establishment in Brazil. A non-established business is not permitted to register for VAT in Brazil. Only entities that are established under Brazilian law may become taxpayers for the purposes of ICMS, IPI, ISS, PIS-PASEP or COFINS.

Registration procedures. Companies must register before Federal and State tax authorities if they intend to sell products on a commercial basis. Municipal registration is also required if the purpose is to provide services. Registration is mostly electronic and may take between 30 and 90 days.

Late-registration penalties. The penalty for late registration for ICMS is a fine, which may vary from 1% to 80% of the value of the transactions that occurred before registration. Penalties also relate to several IPI, PIS-PASEP, COFINS and ISS errors, including failure to register (see Section J).

Tax representatives. Tax representation is not allowed in Brazil.

Reverse charge. Reverse charge types of mechanism are present on imports of goods. The importer self-assesses IPI, PIS/COFINS and ICMS and takes the same amount as credit to be offset with future outputs of the products.

Digital economy. Electronic sales fall into the regular indirect tax rule set. Sales are deemed to happen in the city/state where the seller is located and VAT is to be assessed and collected in that state.

Deregistration. Upon termination of activities, companies can deregister before Federal, State and Municipal tax authorities.

D. VAT rates

ICMS. ICMS rates vary among Brazil's 27 states. For supplies made to a customer located in the same state as the supplier, rates typically range from 0% to 35%. The standard rate of ICMS is 17% (18% in São Paulo and 19% in Rio de Janeiro).

Reduced rates generally apply to items of basic necessity, such as food.

The rate of ICMS that applies to imported goods is the same rate that applies to supplies of goods made within the state, except that the tax base for imported goods includes any IPI and import duty (II) payable at import. ICMS does not apply to exported goods.

The ICMS rate on a supply of goods or services made to an ICMS taxpayer resident in a different state from the state where the supplier is resident depends on where the customer is resident. The following are the rates:

- A rate of 7% generally applies to supplies made to taxpayers resident in states located in the northern, northeastern and central eastern regions of Brazil and in the state of Espírito Santo.
- A rate of 12% generally applies to supplies made to taxpayers resident in the states in the southern and southeastern regions of Brazil (except in the state of Espírito Santo).

If the supply is made to a customer resident in another state who is not an ICMS taxpayer, the supply is taxed at the same rate as transactions made within the supplier's state (internal rate).

Some items, such as medicines, are exempt from ICMS.

IPI. IPI rates vary from a zero rate (0%) to 365%. The rate of IPI chargeable on a supply of finished goods depends on the classification of the goods under the IPI Tariff Table. The table contains 9,728 different classification codes. The IPI Tariff Table uses the same tariff classification system as the Brazilian External Tariff Code (TEC or BTEC).

The rate of IPI varies, depending on how essential the product is considered to be. For example, the zero rate of IPI applies to essential products such as rice and wheat flour, a low rate of IPI (8%) applies to certain products, such as pipes, and the highest rate of IPI (365%) applies to "superfluous" or luxury products. Some goods are exempt from IPI. In other cases, essential products may benefit from a reduced tax base (which reduces the effective rate of tax), or a deferral or suspension of the tax due.

ISS. The rate of ISS varies among Brazil's 5,564 municipalities. The ISS law sets the maximum rate at 5%. The rate of ISS is generally between 2% (the lowest rate) and 5% and depends on the type of service and the municipality where it is provided.

PIS-PASEP and COFINS. The PIS-PASEP rate is 0.65% for taxpayers taxed under the deemed corporate income tax method of calculation, under the cumulative system and 1.65% for taxpayers taxed under the annual actual income tax method, under the non-cumulative system (without credit entitlement and with credit entitlement, respectively).

The COFINS rate is 3% for taxpayers taxed under the deemed corporate income tax method of calculation, under the cumulative system and 7.6% for taxpayers taxed under the annual actual income tax method, under the non-cumulative system.

Some companies and products are subject to special tax treatment for PIS-PASEP and COFINS, which apply different rates for some products. For example, the automotive industry pays PIS-PASEP at a rate of 1.47% and COFINS at a rate of 6.79% on specific products. Other industries, such as the pharmaceutical, cosmetics and the beverage industries, also have special treatment for PIS-PASEP and COFINS.

Option to tax for exempt supplies. Not applicable.

E. Time of supply

Imported goods. Goods are deemed to be supplied when they leave the seller's facilities.

Reverse-charge services. Not applicable.

Continuous supplies of services. Not applicable.

Prepayments. Prepayments are not considered taxable events in a number of cases.

Leased assets. Leased assets are not considered a sale, however certain states still demand ICMS collection on those transactions.

F. Recovery of VAT by taxable persons

ICMS. An ICMS taxpayer may recover input tax (that is, obtain a credit) for VAT charged on goods and services supplied to it that are subject to another taxable transaction. An ICMS taxpayer generally recovers input tax by deducting it from output tax, which is VAT charged on supplies made. ICMS may not be recovered before a taxpayer begins making taxable supplies.

A valid VAT invoice or customs document must generally accompany a claim for input tax.

No ICMS may be claimed before a business registers for ICMS. However, a business may register for ICMS as soon as it intends to carry out taxable activities. Input tax deduction is not granted until taxable activities begin. Before making taxable supplies, the taxpayer must record purchase invoices as a "Deferred Asset" account. After taxable supplies begin, the deferred ICMS may be recovered. No time limit applies to the period between registration and the beginning of an activity.

IPI. IPI taxpayers deduct IPI paid as input tax from IPI charged as output tax. The rules are similar to those for ICMS.

ISS. ISS taxpayers do not recover any ISS paid as input tax. Consequently, ISS paid is borne as a cost by all recipients of services subject to the tax.

PIS-PASEP and COFINS. PIS-PASEP and COFINS taxpayers who use the non-cumulative system are entitled to calculate PIS-PASEP and COFINS credits to offset PIS-PASEP and COFINS payments. Credits are limited to certain costs.

Non deductible input tax. For ICMS and IPI purposes, input tax may not be recovered on purchases of goods and services that are not used for business purposes (for example, goods acquired for private use by an entrepreneur or general overhead costs), or on goods acquired before registration as a taxpayer.

Refunds. If the amount of input tax recoverable exceeds the amount of output tax payable, the excess is generally not refunded. However, the excess may be used to offset tax payments in the following months or may be transferred in certain cases to a third party.

G. Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses

Brazil does not refund any form of VAT incurred by businesses that are neither established nor registered for VAT in Brazil.

H. Invoicing

VAT invoices and credit notes. An ICMS, IPI or ISS taxpayer must generally provide a VAT invoice for all taxable supplies made, including exports. A VAT invoice is necessary to support a claim for input tax deduction for ICMS and IPI. Effective June 2013, companies must specify on invoices and receipts the taxes charged that are part of the total amount of the product sale price. Companies must list the amount of municipal, state and federal taxes levied for each product described on the invoice or receipt. Alternatively, such information may be displayed in plain view at the business establishment. Companies that fail to comply with this requirement will be subject to penalties, such as monetary fines, or the suspension or revocation of the license to operate.

A credit note (input invoice) must contain the same information as a VAT invoice, but it is not valid in all situations.

Proof of exports for ICMS. ICMS is not chargeable on supplies of exported goods. However, to qualify as VAT-free, exports must be supported by evidence confirming that the goods have left Brazil. Suitable evidence includes an invoice, a customs certificate of origin and an export declaration.

Foreign-currency invoices. All VAT invoices must be issued in Brazilian reals (BRL).

I. VAT returns and payment

ICMS. ICMS returns must be submitted for monthly periods. The VAT return consists of the following two parts:

- A payment receipt (GARE)
- An ICMS declaration detailing all ICMS credits and debits during the period

The specific date for submission depends on the taxpayer's business activities.

Return liabilities must be paid in Brazilian reals.

IPI. IPI is generally payable every month (depending on the type of products sold), using a payment receipt (DARF). Return liabilities must be paid in Brazilian reals.

For IPI, the following two different returns are required:

- The most frequent return, which must be submitted monthly, is called the Declaration for Federal Taxes and Contributions (DCTF).
- The second return is a corporate income tax return (DJPJ) that contains information about IPI and covers the preceding calendar year. This return must be submitted to the tax authorities each year by 30 June.

ISS. ISS is due monthly. A specific payment and return form must be completed each month and must be retained for a period of five years.

ISS payments and returns are generally due monthly, but the rules differ between municipalities (Brazil has more than 5,500 municipalities). All documents must be retained for a period of five years.

PIS-PASEP and COFINS. PIS-PASEP and COFINS taxpayers must submit the Declaration for Federal Taxes and Contributions (DCTF) to the federal tax authorities monthly. They must also submit the Declaration for PIS and COFINS Purposes (DACON) to the federal tax authorities on a monthly basis.

PIS-PASEP and COFINS payments are due monthly.

Electronic filing and archiving. Monthly electronic filing is required from companies where the detailed throughput of goods and services are to be reported to the authorities.

Annual returns. For specific tax books (e.g., inventory book) there are certain annual electronic filing requirements.

J. Penalties

ICMS. For ICMS purposes, penalties are assessed for errors and omissions connected to the taxpayer's primary obligation (payment of tax) or secondary obligations (such as proper bookkeeping). These errors include the following:

- Late or omitted payment of tax: a fine of between 50% and 150% of the tax due
- Entitlement to a tax credit: a fine of between 10% and 100% of the tax credit
- Incorrect documents related to the shipping, transporting, receiving or warehousing of goods or inventory and to supplies of services: a fine of between 20% and 60% of the value of the transaction
- Incorrect tax documents or invoices and records: a fine of between 1% and 100% of the value of the transaction

For other ICMS errors or misstatements, the VAT authorities calculate the appropriate fine, using the official monthly index published by the State Revenue Secretariat.

Interest is charged in addition to any fine, depending on each ICMS State Ruling. The applicable rate varies monthly.

IPI and PIS-PASEP and COFINS. The penalty for an error connected with IPI and PIS-PASEP and COFINS is a fine of at least 75% of the tax due.

ISS. ISS penalties may vary depending on the municipality and on the type of irregularity. In the São Paulo municipality, the fine varies from 10% to 100% of the ISS due.

K. Other matters

Benefits for the 2013 Federation Internationale de Football Association Confederation Cup and 2014 Federation Internationale de Football Association World Cup. The Federation Internationale de Football Association (FIFA), and other legal entities and individuals involved in transactions regarding the 2013 FIFA Confederation Cup and 2014 FIFA World Cup will be granted tax benefits with respect to certain events occurring in the period of 1 January 2011 through 31 December 2015.

FIFA will be discharged of IPI, PIS, COFINS and certain other tax payments regarding certain events derived from its activities related to the organization and performance of the FIFA Confederation and World Cups.

In general, companies related to or registered with the FIFA are granted the suspension of IPI, PIS-Importation, COFINS-Importation, Import Tax and certain other taxes and fees with respect to the purchase of goods for use or consumption exclusively in the events, such as food, medical supplies, fuel, trophies, medals, promotional material, printed and nondurable goods (that last up to one year).

For durable goods and equipment, a legal measure provides that the importation may be performed under the Special Customs Regime of Temporary Admission, which grants temporary suspension of taxes. After the end of the competition, if durable goods imported through this regime are exported or donated to public-interest entities, the suspensions will turn into tax exemptions.

FIFA or its Brazilian subsidiary must request qualification for the events, temporary business bases (units to develop activities related to the hosting and organization of events by beneficiaries domiciled abroad), legal entities and individuals eligible for the above-mentioned fiscal benefits. However, FIFA and its Brazilian subsidiary must first request their own qualification and the qualification for the Local Organizing Committee (LOC). If FIFA or its Brazilian subsidiary is not able to request this qualification, the LOC may request it, after prior authorization.

The qualification for temporary business bases established by FIFA, FIFA confederations, foreign associations that are members of FIFA, FIFA's official broadcaster, FIFA's service providers and by FIFA's commercial partners will be conditioned on the appointment of a representative domiciled in Brazil that will be the attorney with power to solve any issues and receive official communications. Such bases must be registered with the National Registry of Legal Entities (Cadastro Nacional de Pessoa Jurídica, or CNPJ), and are the responsibility of the attorney mentioned above.

On 16 December 2011, the National Council for Fiscal Policy (Conselho Nacional de Política Fazendária, or CONFAZ) and the states signed an ICMS Agreement, which grants ICMS exemption and suspension for operations related to the FIFA Confederation and World Cups if the following conditions are satisfied:

- The operations must be discharged of at least one of the following federal taxes:
 - Import Tax
 - IPI
 - PIS
 - COFINS
- The taxpayer must be qualified through a Permanent Technical Committee (Comissão Técnica Pemanete or COTEPE) Act.

Such dispositions must have been included in the internal legislation of each state. However, under the law, if states fail to ratify the ICMS Agreement within 15 days after the agreement is published, the ratification is tacit, and the dispositions in the agreement become valid.

Special tax regime for construction, expansion, renovation or modernization of football stadiums. In general, the Special Tax Regime for Construction, Expansion, Reform and Modernization of Football Stadiums (Regime Especial de Tributação para Construção, Ampliação, Reforma ou Modernização de Estádios de Futebol, or RECOPA) grants the suspension of IPI, PIS and COFINS with respect to domestic sales and importation of machinery, devices, instruments and new equipment for construction, expansion, renovation or modernization of stadiums to be used in the Confederation Cup and World Cup official games. Goods and materials imported by RECOPA beneficiary companies are not subject to Import Tax and acquisitions of local and foreign services by such companies are not subject to federal taxes.

The tax benefits apply to projects approved on or before 31 December 2012 except for companies under the National “Simples” taxation system. The benefits can be enjoyed with respect to acquisitions and importations from the date Law No. 12350 was published (21 December 2010) through 30 June 2014.

Only legal entities previously qualified or co-qualified by the Brazilian Revenue Service can make transactions with RECOPA support, and such qualification may be requested by the holder of a project previously approved by the Ministry of Sports for construction, expansion, renovation or modernization of soccer stadiums with intended use in official matches of the 2013 FIFA Confederation Cup and the 2014 FIFA World Cup. A company hired by a qualified company to execute activities or provide goods related to its project may request the co-qualification.

Benefits for the 2016 Olympic and Paralympic Games. The International Olympic Committee (IOC), the International Paralympic Committee (IPC) and other legal entities and individuals involved in transactions regarding the 2016 Olympic and Paralympic Games will be granted tax benefits with respect to certain events occurring until 31 December 2016.

The IOC will be discharged of IPI, PIS, COFINS and certain other tax payments regarding certain events derived from its activities related to the organization and performance of the Olympic Games and Paralympic Games.

In general, companies related to or registered with the IOC are granted the suspension of IPI, PIS-Importation, COFINS-Importation, Import Tax and certain other taxes and fees with respect to the purchase of goods for use or consumption exclusively at the events, such as food, medical supplies, fuel, trophies, medals, promotional material, printed and non-durable goods (that last up to one year).

For durable goods and equipment, the legal act in force provides that the importation may be performed under the Special Customs Regime of Temporary Admission, which grants temporary suspension of taxes. After the end of the competition, if durable goods imported through this regime are exported or donated to public-interest entities, the suspensions will turn into tax exemptions.

In order to enjoy the tax benefits, the IOC, IOC firms linked to the Court of Arbitration for Sport (CAS), the World Anti-Doping Agency (WADA), National Olympic Committees, international sports federations, businesses and transmitters, accredited media, the sponsors of the Olympic and Paralympic Games, providers of IOC services and service providers of RIO 2016 shall be established in Brazil, even if only for organizing the Olympic and Paralympic Games or one of the following activities:

- Marketing, held in Brazil, products and services
- Hiring individuals with or without employment

Regarding ICMS, on 5 December 2008, the National Council for Fiscal Policy (Conselho Nacional de Política Fazendária or CONFAZ) and the states signed an ICMS Agreement, which grants ICMS exemption and suspension for operations related to the International Olympic Committee if the following conditions are satisfied:

- The operations must be discharged of at least one of the following federal taxes:
 - Import Tax
 - IPI
 - PIS
 - COFINS
- The taxpayer must be qualified through a Permanent Technical Committee (Comissão Técnica Permanente or COTEPE) Act

All benefits granted to the IOC also apply to the IPC.

Bulgaria

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Sofia

GMT +2

EY

Polygraphia Office Center
47A, Tsarigradsko shose Blvd., floor 4
1124 Sofia
Bulgaria

Indirect tax contacts

Trevor Link	+359 (2) 817-7100 trevor.link@bg.ey.com
Milen Raikov	+359 (2) 817-7100 milen.raikov@bg.ey.com

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Value-added tax (VAT)
Local name	Danak varhu dobavenata stoinost (DDS)
Date introduced	1 April 1994
Trading bloc membership	European Union (EU) Member State
Administered by	Ministry of Finance (http://www.minfin.bg)
VAT rates
Standard	20%
Reduced	9% for hotel accommodation
Other	Zero-rated and exempt
VAT number format	BG123456789 (BG + 9 digits) BG1234567890 (BG + 10 digits)
VAT return periods	Monthly
Thresholds
Registration	BGN50,000
Distance selling	BGN70,000
Intra-Community acquisitions	BGN20,000
Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses	Yes

B. Scope of the tax

VAT applies to the following transactions:

- The taxable supply of goods or services in Bulgaria that is made for consideration
- Reverse-charge services received by a Bulgarian taxable person
- Intra-Community acquisitions
- The acquisition of new means of transport and excise goods by taxable or non-taxable persons
- The importation of goods into Bulgaria, regardless of the status of the importer

C. Who is liable

A taxable person is a business entity or individual that carries out an economic activity in Bulgaria, whatever the purpose or the result of that activity. This rule applies regardless of whether the supplier is a local or foreign entity or an individual.

The VAT registration threshold is taxable turnover of BGN50,000 in any 12 consecutive months, which includes turnover from taxable supplies chargeable at the standard rate of VAT (20%) or the reduced rate (9% for hotel accommodation), zero-rated supplies and financial and insurance services within the principal activity of the supplier.

A taxable person, established in Bulgaria, rendering services with a place of supply in another EU Member State should register in Bulgaria regardless of its taxable turnover.

A taxable person receiving cross-border services subject to the reverse charge in Bulgaria must register for VAT purposes in Bulgaria regardless of its taxable turnover.

Voluntary registration. A taxable person may register for VAT voluntarily irrespective of its taxable turnover.

If two or more entities enter into a contract to perform a joint activity, the contract is deemed to form an unincorporated partnership under the Bulgarian tax law. This unincorporated partnership is treated as a taxpayer, separate from the founding entities that constitute it. The unincorporated partnership is subject to all the general rules of the Bulgarian VAT law, including those relating to VAT registration, deregistration and reporting. The VAT registration of an unincorporated partnership does not result in the VAT registration of the entities that have entered into the contract for joint activity.

Non-established businesses. A “non-established business” is a business that has neither a place of management/seat in Bulgaria nor a fixed establishment in Bulgaria. A non-established business must register for VAT in Bulgaria if it makes taxable supplies of goods or services (unless the reverse charge applies) or intra-Community acquisitions exceeding the statutory thresholds.

Tax representatives. A foreign person established in a non-EU country that has not entered into an agreement for mutual assistance with Bulgaria must appoint a resident tax representative to register for VAT purposes in Bulgaria. The representative assumes joint and unlimited liability for the VAT obligations of the non-established business. The tax representative must be appointed using a notarized VAT agency agreement.

Group registration. Not applicable.

Registration procedures. The VAT registration form should be completed in Bulgarian following a standard template and should be submitted in hard copy together with all supporting documents. If originating in a foreign language, they should be accompanied by an official translation into Bulgarian.

Online registration is also possible via a qualified electronic signature registered with the Bulgarian tax authorities on their web interface: <https://inetdec.nra.bg/eservices.html>.

The application should be submitted and the registration procedure completed within the following deadlines:

- Mandatory general VAT registration: not later than the 14th day of the month following the month when the turnover has been reached
- VAT registration for rendering or receiving cross-border services subject to reverse charge: at least seven days prior to the date when the tax for the supply becomes due
- VAT registration for intra-Community acquisitions: at least seven days prior to the date of the taxable event for the acquisition by which the total value of taxable intra-Community acquisitions exceeds BGN20,000 in a calendar year
- VAT registration for distance sales: at least seven days prior to the date of the taxable event for the supply to non-taxable individuals by which the total value of distance sales exceeds BGN70,000 in a calendar year
- VAT registration as regards the delivery of goods to be assembled or installed in Bulgaria, performed by persons established in other EU Member States, where the recipients are not VAT registered in Bulgaria: not later than seven days before the delivery of the goods
- VAT registration for digital services provided to local non-taxable persons, where the supplier is neither registered under the Mini One-Stop Shop (MOSS) scheme nor has a Bulgarian VAT ID number: by the 10th day of the month following the month when the taxable event for the first supply has occurred

Within seven days after submission of the application form and supporting documents for mandatory and voluntary VAT registration, the tax authorities verify the grounds for registration. Within seven days after completing this verification, the tax authorities issue a certificate of VAT registration or a notice of rejection.

Aside from the mandatory general VAT registration (the first item above) and registration for providing digital services to local non-taxable persons (the last item above), the VAT registration procedure should be completed by the tax authorities within three days after the application is submitted.

Voluntary deregistration. A registered person may deregister when it ceases to make taxable supplies and the conditions for mandatory VAT registration are no longer met.

Statutory VAT deregistration. VAT deregistration is mandatory on the winding up of a company or on the death of a taxable individual.

Late-registration penalties. The penalty for non-registration ranges from BGN500 to BGN5,000. An additional penalty equal to the amount of VAT that should have been charged may be imposed. A penalty ranging from BGN500 to BGN5,000 may be assessed for failure to deregister on time.

Reverse charge. Bulgarian taxable persons are obliged to charge VAT on the acquisition of goods or receipt of services when the supplier is not established in Bulgaria:

- Intra-Community acquisitions
- Services with a place of supply in Bulgaria where the recipient is a taxable person

- Supplies of natural gas through pipelines or electricity when the recipient is a VAT-registered person
- Supplies of goods assembled or installed by or for the account of the supplier when the recipient is a VAT-registered person in Bulgaria and the supplier is established in another Member State

A local reverse charge applies for domestic supplies to customers identified for VAT in Bulgaria on the acquisition of:

- Investment gold
- Waste and related services, such as scrap metal and similar supplies
- Cereals and industrial crops (until the end of 2018)

Digital economy. As of 1 January 2015, all supplies of telecommunication, broadcasting and electronic services are taxable where the customer is established, has his permanent address or usually resides.

Mini One-Stop Shop. As of 1 January 2015, an optional VAT registration scheme called Mini One-Stop Shop (MOSS) entered into force. As regulated on the EU level, it allows taxable persons providing broadcasting, telecommunication and electronic services to non-taxable customers in other EU Member States in which they do not have an establishment to report VAT due on those supplies in the Member State in which they are identified for VAT purposes.

This regime is optional and is introduced to simplify VAT reporting after the changes in the place of supply of digital economy effective as of 2015.

There are two types of MOSS registrations:

- For EU established businesses (Union scheme)
- For non-EU established businesses (non-Union scheme)

Both registrations are processed electronically via the web-site of the National Revenue Agency (NRA). Registration for the non-Union scheme is available without the use of qualified electronic signature (QES) on the following link: <http://nraapp03.nra.bg/voes/registration.jsp>. A username and password is generated for the purposes of the registration and the online access.

Registration for the Union scheme is available only with QES. The online application for the Union scheme is available only after the QES is registered with the NRA. Both registration applications (for Union scheme and for non-Union scheme) are prepared, submitted and processed electronically. No special rules regarding representation before the tax authorities apply. The general rules on representation regarding VAT registrations apply.

The tax authorities perform a tax check within seven days for both types of MOSS registrations and should issue a decision on the VAT registration within seven days after completion of the tax check. The notification for registration is delivered electronically via electronic message.

The registration date is considered to be the first day of the quarter following the calendar quarter after submission of the registration application, unless the first supply is made before that and the supplier has applied for the registration by the 10th of the month following the date of the first supply.

D. VAT rates

The term “taxable supplies” refers to supplies of goods and services that are subject to VAT.

The following are the applicable VAT rates in Bulgaria:

- Standard rate: 20%
- Reduced rate: 9% for hotel accommodation
- Zero rate (0%)

No VAT is chargeable on zero-rated supplies but the taxable person may deduct the related input tax.

Examples of supplies of goods and services taxable at 0%

- Exportation of goods
- International transport and related services
- Intra-Community supplies
- Services related to the international traffic of goods
- Inward processing of goods (under certain conditions)
- Supplies related to duty-free trade
- Intermediary services of agents, brokers or other intermediaries related to zero-rated supplies

“Exempt supplies” are supplies of goods and services that are not subject to VAT and that do not give rise to a VAT deduction.

Examples of exempt supplies of goods and services

- Certain real estate transactions
- Leasing of residential buildings to individuals
- Financial services
- Insurance and reinsurance services
- Medical care services
- Education, cultural and sports services
- Betting and gambling

Option to tax for exempt supplies. For certain supplies, such as the sales of old buildings, the taxable person may opt for taxable or exempt treatment. Suppliers may opt to tax the following exempt supplies:

- Certain real estate transactions
- The interest element on finance lease (hire-purchase) installments

E. Time of supply

The date when VAT becomes due is called the “date of supply” or “tax point.” The tax point for goods is the transfer of ownership of the goods. The tax point for services is the date of completion of the service. VAT also becomes due on the date of the receipt of an advance payment for supplies of goods or services to the extent of the payment received.

If the transfer of ownership in goods is deferred until the fulfillment of certain conditions, the date of supply is the date the goods are handed over.

Leased assets. The time of supply for leased assets may vary in view of the type of lease and the specific contractual arrangements:

- Operational leases (rentals) are taxed for Bulgarian VAT purposes as supplies of services. VAT becomes chargeable proportionately on each installment and the time of supply follows the rules for periodic and continuous supplies (see below).

- Finance leases are taxed either as a supply of services (rentals) or as a supply of goods depending on the contractual arrangements. VAT becomes chargeable proportionately on each installment if the lease is considered a supply of rental service. A finance lease qualifies as a supply of goods and the time of supply is upon handing over of the leased asset if one of the following is true under the contract:
 - Legal title over the leased asset will transfer upon expiry of the lease term.
 - An option for transferring the title on the leased asset is envisaged, but the total amount of the lease installments, less the interest payments, equals the fair value of the leased asset.

VAT on the total price of the goods received under financial leasing with option to transfer their legal title, concluded after 1 January 2014, would be chargeable upon handing over of the goods if the total amount of the lease installments is identical to the fair value of the leased goods upon inception of the lease.

Continuous supplies. The time of supply for periodic or continuous supplies is the date of each payment or the date when the payment is due, whichever is the earlier. If a supply is rendered continuously for more than one year and if no payment is made or due during that period, the date of supply is considered the end of the calendar year.

The time of supply for continuous intra-Community supplies of goods that continue for more than one calendar month is the end of the calendar month in which the supplies have been performed.

Intra-Community acquisitions. The date of supply of intra-Community acquisitions follows the general rules. However, VAT on intra-Community acquisitions becomes chargeable on the 15th day of the month following the month in which the acquisition was made. If the supplier issues an invoice before this date, the date of supply is the date on which the invoice issued unless the invoice documents advance payments.

Reverse charge. If a non-established business makes certain supplies of services to a business established in Bulgaria, the reverse charge applies. Under the reverse-charge mechanism, the recipient must charge the Bulgarian VAT on the supply. The recipient of the service must account for and pay Bulgarian VAT on the supply, using a special form (protocol). The Bulgarian recipient of the service may fully or partially recover the self-assessed VAT if the recipient makes both taxable and exempt supplies (see Section F).

The date of supply for reverse-charge services is the date on which the service is completed, or the date when payment is made, whichever is earlier.

As of January 2011, the local reverse charge applies for supplies of certain cereal and industrial crops provided by agricultural producers. This is a temporary measure, applicable until the end of 2018.

Imported goods. VAT for imported goods is chargeable when the goods are cleared for customs purposes.

A taxable person may obtain permission to postpone payment of VAT on goods imported for investment projects approved by the Ministry of Finance.

Under the postponed accounting regime, the imported goods may be released from customs control without payment of VAT. Instead, the taxable person authorized to use the regime reverse-charges the import VAT. If the taxable person is able to recover the input tax in full, no actual payment is made.

Cash accounting. Under an optional cash accounting scheme for VAT effective as of 1 January 2014, VAT becomes chargeable when the payment is received by the supplier. The taxable person who opts to apply the cash accounting scheme has the right to deduct input VAT on the purchases only after transferring the payment to the supplier.

Prepayments. VAT becomes due on advance payments up to the amount of the payment made before the taxable event except for prepayments in relation to intra-Community acquisitions and intra-Community supplies. The prepayment is considered to be VAT inclusive. The VAT should be charged, and the invoice should be issued within five days after receipt of the advance payment, full or partial.

Intra-Community supplies of goods. The taxable event for intra-Community supplies of goods follows the general rules applicable to domestic supplies of goods. Intra-Community supplies of goods are subject to 0% VAT.

The VAT on intra-Community supplies and acquisitions becomes chargeable on the 15th day of the month following the month when the taxable event took place unless an invoice is issued before that. This does not apply if the invoice is for advance payment.

To substantiate the zero VAT rate on an intra-Community supply, the supplier should have an invoice indicating the EU VAT registration number of the customer. In addition, the supplier should have one of the following:

- Transport documents such as a bill of lading for road transportation under the Convention on the Contract for the International Carriage of Goods by Road (CMR), which verify the transportation of the goods outside Bulgaria to another EU Member State
- or
- If the customer is responsible for organizing the transportation, a written confirmation from the customer for delivery of the goods, which should contain specific wording indicating the date and place of delivery, type and quantity of the goods, type, model and registration number of the vehicle that transported the goods.

If the supplier does not collect the above documents by the end of the month following the month when the 0% VAT became chargeable, he should apply 20% Bulgarian VAT on the supply. If the documents are collected later, the 20% VAT charged could be adjusted with specific documents.

F. Recovery of VAT by taxable persons

A taxable person may recover input tax by offsetting it against output tax. Input tax includes VAT charged on goods and services received in Bulgaria, VAT paid on imports and VAT self-assessed on intra-Community acquisitions of goods and reverse-charge services received (see the chapter on the EU).

Input VAT is deductible from output VAT charged in the same VAT period or from VAT charged in the following 12 months.

The amount of VAT reclaimed must be detailed on one of the following:

- A valid VAT invoice
- A protocol for reverse-charge VAT
- A customs declaration

Special rules apply to the recovery of input tax incurred on assets and services acquired before VAT registration.

Nondeductible input VAT. Input VAT may not be recovered on purchases of goods and services that are not used for business purposes (for example, goods acquired for private use by an entrepreneur). In addition, input tax may not be recovered for some items of business expenditure.

The following lists provide some examples of items of expenditure for which input tax is not deductible and examples of items for which input tax is deductible if the expenditure is related to a taxable business use.

Examples of items for which input tax is nondeductible

- Nonbusiness expenditure
- Business entertainment
- Business gifts
- Purchase of a car, and parking and maintenance costs (unless the car is used for core business activities)
- Home telephone costs

Examples of items for which input tax is deductible (if related to a taxable business use)

- Purchase, lease and hire of vans and trucks
- Lease and hire of cars
- Fuel for vans, trucks, leased and hired cars
- Mobile phones
- Conferences and seminars
- Advertising
- Books

Partial exemption. Input tax directly related to making exempt supplies is not recoverable. If a Bulgarian taxable person makes both exempt supplies and taxable supplies, it may not deduct input tax in full. This situation is referred to as partial exemption, i.e., when the purchases are allocated to both the taxable and exempt activity of the taxable person. Zero-rated supplies are treated as taxable supplies for these purposes.

The amount of the monthly input tax that may be deducted is calculated based on the percentage of supplies that qualifies for a tax credit compared to the total amount of supplies for the preceding calendar year. The monthly calculation is adjusted annually by calculating the ratio between the supplies with right to VAT credit and the total supplies performed by a person during a year. The adjustment is made in the VAT return for the last month of the year. The recovery percentage is rounded up to two decimal places.

Refunds. If the input tax recoverable exceeds the output tax chargeable for a tax period, a taxable person has a VAT credit balance. A taxable person may claim a refund of the VAT credit through the submission of its VAT return to the tax authorities.

Input VAT can be carried forward in the following two consecutive months and offset against VAT payables. If at the end of the offsetting procedure, input VAT exceeds the output, it can be refunded within 30 days from submission of the last VAT return. A shorter 30-day term (without offsetting procedure) applies to persons whose zero-rated supplies exceed 30% of the total value of supplies made in a 12-month period and for investors approved by the Ministry of Finance.

Preregistration costs. Input VAT incurred prior to the VAT registration of a taxable person in Bulgaria may be claimed with regard to:

- Goods that qualify as assets and are available to the taxable person at the time of the VAT registration
- Services incurred with connection to the incorporation of the taxable person in the form of a legal entity under the Bulgarian Trade Act

Capital goods. The period of adjustment for capital goods is 5 years and for real estate is 20 years. The input VAT may be deducted in the year when the goods are acquired if the intention is to use them for taxable supplies. If they are subsequently used for exempt or non-taxable supplies within 5 or 20 years, a pro-rata adjustment should be made.

If the goods are acquired with the intention that they be used for non-taxable or exempt supplies but subsequently are used for taxable supplies, the VAT can be proportionally deducted (reverse application of the capital goods scheme).

Write-off of bad debts. No bad debt relief applies in Bulgaria.

Noneconomic activities. VAT credit is denied for non-business related expenses.

G. Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses

The Bulgarian VAT authorities refund VAT incurred by businesses that are not established in Bulgaria and that are not registered for VAT in the country.

For businesses established in the EU, refunds are made under the terms of EU Directive 2008/9/EC. For businesses established outside the EU, refunds are made under the terms of Directive 86/560/EEC applying the principle of reciprocity; that is, the country where the claimant is established must also provide VAT refunds to Bulgarian businesses.

For foreign businesses established outside the EU, the principle of reciprocity applies; that is, the country where the claimant is established must also provide VAT refunds to Bulgarian businesses.

H. Invoicing

VAT invoices and credit notes. A Bulgarian taxable person must issue invoices for all taxable supplies made, including exports and intra-Community supplies. Invoices are not required for retail transactions (B2C), unless requested by the customer. Invoices may not be issued for supplies made free of charge, for financial services and for certain other supplies. A document qualifies as a valid invoice if it complies with the requirements set out in the Bulgarian VAT Act.

As of 1 January 2013, taxable persons are allowed to issue summary invoices covering a number of separate supplies of goods and services provided that VAT on the supplies mentioned in the summary invoice becomes chargeable during the same calendar month. A summary invoice should be issued no later than the last day of the month to which it refers. A simplified VAT invoice has been introduced that contains less compulsory information. A simplified VAT invoice can be issued by taxable persons for supplies of goods and services if the amount of the invoice is less than €100 (including VAT). Simplified invoices may not be issued in the case of distance sales or intra-Community supplies of goods.

A VAT invoice is necessary to support a claim for input tax deduction or a refund under EU Directive 2008/9/EC or Directive 86/560/EEC refund schemes.

Credit or debit notes are issued for reducing or increasing the tax base of previous supplies. They should explicitly indicate the invoices to which they refer and the reasons for the corrections.

Invoices and credit or debit notes can also be issued by recipients on behalf of suppliers. If written agreements between the parties are concluded, the tax authorities should be notified in advance.

A special tax document (protocol) is issued for transactions subject to reverse-charge by the recipient.

Proof of exports and intra-Community supplies. VAT is not chargeable on supplies of exported goods or on intra-Community supplies of goods. However, to qualify as VAT-free, export and intra-Community supplies must be supported by evidence that the goods have left Bulgaria. Acceptable proof includes the following documentation:

- For exports, a copy of the export declaration verified by the customs office and indicating the supplier as exporter, invoice, and transportation document (or a written confirmation by the recipient evidencing that the goods are delivered if the transport is organized by him)

- For intra-Community supplies, an invoice for the supply containing the VAT number of the recipient as well as a document proving the dispatch of the goods to another EU Member State (transportation document or written confirmation by the recipient depending on whether the transportation is organized by the supplier or the recipient)

Foreign-currency invoices. Invoices may be issued in any currency, provided that the tax base and the amount of VAT due are expressed in Bulgarian lev (BGN). Foreign-currency invoices must be converted into Bulgarian lev at the exchange rate of the Bulgarian National Bank or the European Central Bank on the date on which tax becomes due.

B2C invoices. Effective 1 January 2015, new rules apply to the place of supply for supplies of telecommunications, broadcasting and electronic services to non-VAT taxable customers. For further details of the VAT rules on electronic services in the EU, please refer to the European Union chapter.

I. VAT returns and payment

VAT returns. Bulgarian taxable persons file VAT returns monthly. VAT returns must be filed by the 14th day of the month following the tax period. Payment in full is required by the same date. VAT liabilities must be paid in Bulgarian lev. VAT returns must be filed electronically if the taxable person has recorded more than five sales or purchase invoices.

Special schemes. The following special schemes are introduced in Bulgaria:

- Margin scheme for travel agents: VAT applies on the difference between the total amount paid by the traveler (exclusive of VAT) and the actual cost born by the travel agent for supply of goods and services provided by other taxable persons.
- Optional margin scheme for taxable dealers of second-hand goods, works of art, collectors' items and antiques
- Cash accounting scheme for VAT: available for taxable persons with annual turnover in the previous 12 consecutive months not higher than the equivalent in Bulgarian currency of EUR500,000.
- Mini One-Stop Shop for taxable persons providing broadcasting, telecommunication and electronic services to non-taxable customers in other EU Member States
- Special scheme for investment gold
- Postponed accounting for investment projects

Electronic filing and archiving. VIES returns (EC Sales List) and Intrastat returns should be filed only electronically. VAT returns with more than 5 entries per reporting period should also be reported electronically.

Electronic archiving of documents is allowed in Bulgaria, as Directive 2010/45 EU has already been implemented in the local VAT rules. Electronic archiving should be organized by the taxable persons in such a way as to guarantee the authenticity of origin, the integrity of content and eligibility of the electronic documents.

Minimum requirements for electronic archiving include:

- The taxable person has an obligation to guarantee during a tax audit an online access to the electronic archive.
- Reasonable business controls are required to create a reliable audit trail between the invoice and the supply. For electronic invoices examples of such technologies are EDI systems and qualified electronic signatures. Still, any other type of technology creating a reliable audit trail is accepted.

There are no restrictions on the location in which the electronic documents should be kept, i.e., the electronic archiving could be inland or abroad as long as an online access is guaranteed.

Annual returns. Not applicable.

J. Penalties

The penalty for failing to submit VAT returns or maintain VAT ledgers (sales and purchase ledgers) or for submitting inaccurate VAT information ranges from BGN500 to BGN10,000.

The penalty for failing to charge VAT is the amount of VAT not charged, but not less than BGN500.

The penalty for persons who fail to self-charge VAT is the higher of 5% of the corresponding VAT and BGN50.

The penalty for a failure to issue VAT documents that results in the payment of less VAT is the amount of the unpaid VAT but not less than BGN1,000.

K. EU filings

Intrastat. A Bulgarian taxable person trading goods with other EU countries must complete statistical reports, known as Intrastat if the value of the goods exceeds certain thresholds. Separate reports are required for Arrivals and Dispatches. The thresholds for declaration are determined by the National Statistics Institute on 31 October and apply for the following year.

The threshold for Intrastat Arrivals for 2015 is BGN370,000 (for 2014, it was 360,000).

The threshold for Intrastat Dispatches for 2015 is BGN270,000 (for 2014, it was 210,000).

A taxable person is not required to report the statistical value of the goods (the value of the goods plus additional transport and insurance expenses) if its turnover from intra-Community trade in goods for 2015 does not exceed the following:

- Dispatches: BGN10.6 million (BGN10.7 million for 2014)
- Arrivals: BGN5.3 million (BGN5 million for 2014)

Bulgarian taxable persons must complete Intrastat declarations in Bulgarian currency, rounded up to the nearest whole number.

Intrastat returns are submitted monthly in electronic format by the 14th day of the month following the respective month.

The penalty for late submissions or for missing or inaccurate declarations ranges from BGN500 to BGN5,000.

EU Sales Lists (VIES Declarations). Bulgarian taxable persons that make intra-Community supplies, supplies as intermediaries in triangular operations or supplies of reverse-charge services must file EU Sales Lists (ESLs; called VIES Declarations) with the Bulgarian National Revenue Agency. An ESL is not required for any period in which the taxable person has not made any supplies required to be reported in an ESL.

Intra-Community acquisitions of goods are not reported in ESLs.

ESLs must be submitted monthly by the 14th day after the end of the respective month.

Electronic filing of ESL returns is mandatory.

Penalties may be imposed for late, missing or inaccurate ESLs.

Canada

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Calgary

GMT -7

EY

1000, 440 2nd Avenue SW
Calgary AB, T2P 5E9
Canada

Indirect tax contact

David Robertson

+1 (403) 206-5474

david.d.robertson@ca.ey.com

Montreal

GMT -5

EY

800 boul René Lévesque
Bureau 1900
Montreal, Quebec H3B 1X9
Canada

Indirect tax contacts

Jean-Hugues Chabot

+1 (514) 874-4345

jean-hugues.chabot@ca.ey.com

Manon Jubinville

+1 (514) 874-4391

manon.jubinville@ca.ey.com

Daniel Legault

+1 (514) 879-8176

daniel.p.legault@ca.ey.com

Ottawa

GMT -5

EY

100 Queen Street, Suite 1600
P.O. Box 1505, Station B
Ottawa, ON K1P 5R5
Canada

Indirect tax contact

Mary Anne McMahon

+1 (613) 598-4266

maryanne.mcmahon@ca.ey.com

Saskatoon

GMT -6

EY

410-22nd Street East
Suite 1200
Saskatoon Saskatchewan, S7K 5T6
Canada

Indirect tax contact

Bernie Broughton

+1 (306) 649-8208

bernie.broughton@ca.ey.com

Toronto

GMT -5

EY

P.O. Box 251
Ernst & Young Tower

Toronto, Ontario M5K 1J7
Canada

Indirect tax contacts

Dalton Albrecht	+1 (416) 943-3070 dalton.albrecht@ca.ey.com
Sania Ilahi	+1 (416) 941-1832 sania.ilahi@ca.ey.com

Vancouver

GMT -8

EY
P.O. Box 10101
Pacific Centre
Vancouver, British Columbia V7Y 1C7
Canada

Indirect tax contact

Ken Ghag	+1 (604) 643-5459 ken.k.ghag@ca.ey.com
Katherine Xilinas	+1 (604) 899-3553 katherine.xilinas@ca.ey.com

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Goods and Services Tax (GST)
Date introduced	1 January 1991
Name of the tax	Harmonized Services Tax (HST)
Date introduced	1 April 1997
Trading bloc membership	North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA)
Administered by	Canada Revenue Agency (http://www.cra-arc.gc.ca)
Sales tax rates
GST standard	5%
HST standard
Quebec	9.975% (see Sections B and D)
Ontario	13%
New Brunswick, and Newfoundland and Labrador	13%
Nova Scotia	15%
Prince Edward Island	14%
Other	Zero-rated and exempt
Business number format	15 characters (9 numeric/2 alpha/4 numeric)
GST/HST return periods	Monthly (turnover in excess of CAD6 million, optional for other registrants) Quarterly (turnover between CAD1,500,000 to CAD6 million, optional for other registrants) Annual (turnover below CAD1,500,000)

Thresholds
Registration	CAD30,000
Recovery of GST or HST by non-established businesses	No

B. Scope of the tax

Canada's federal government imposes a 5% sales tax known as the Goods and Services Tax (GST). When a supply is made in a "participating province," the tax rate includes an additional provincial component of 8%, 9% or 10%, depending on the province. The combined 13%, 14% or 15% tax is known as the Harmonized Sales Tax (HST). When the HST was first implemented, effective from 1 April 1997, the original "participating provinces" were New Brunswick, Newfoundland and Labrador, and Nova Scotia. At that time, those provinces adopted a provincial component of 8%, and the combined rate was 13%.

The combined rate in New Brunswick and Newfoundland and Labrador remains at 13%. Nova Scotia increased its provincial component to 10%, effective from 1 July 2010, and its combined rate is now 15%. Nova Scotia had announced that it would lower the provincial component of its HST rate from 10% to 9% effective 1 July 2014, and to 8% effective 1 July 2015, resulting in a combined rate of 14% and 13%, respectively. However, in its 3 April 2014 budget, Nova Scotia announced that due to budgetary constraints, it would not be implementing the rate reduction announced by the previous administration. As a result, the HST rate in Nova Scotia remains at 15%. Effective from 1 July 2010, the provinces of British Columbia and Ontario adopted the HST. Ontario's provincial component is 8%, which results in a combined HST rate of 13%. However, effective from 1 April 2013, British Columbia abandoned the HST and re-implemented a provincial sales tax system. Thus, as of that date, the HST no longer applies and supplies made in British Columbia are once again subject to the 5% GST and any applicable PST. While harmonized with the federal GST, British Columbia had a provincial component of 7%, which resulted in a combined HST rate of 12%. Effective 1 April 2013, the province of Prince Edward Island adopted the HST, with a provincial component of 9% and a combined rate of 14%.

In implementing the HST, the participating provinces repealed their individual retail sales taxes and share in the revenues generated by the HST. HST applies to the same base of goods and services that are subject to GST.

Although the province of Quebec is not considered a "participating province," it replaced its own retail sales tax and harmonized with the GST (subject to some exceptions) when it implemented its own Quebec sales tax (QST) on 1 July 1992.

On 30 September 2011, the Quebec and federal finance ministers signed a memorandum of agreement regarding further sales tax harmonization that provided for the implementation of certain changes to the QST to come into effect on 1 January 2013. This memorandum of agreement was followed by the signing of the Canada-Québec Comprehensive Integrated Tax Coordination

Agreement (CITCA) on 28 March 2012, and legislation implementing some of the changes was passed into law on 7 December 2012. Effective 1 January 2013, QST is no longer calculated on price plus GST as it was prior to that date. As a result, the QST rate increased to 9.975% from 9.5% to maintain the existing combined effective rate of 14.975%. Also, effective from 1 January 2013, financial services, which were previously zero-rated for QST purposes, became exempt to parallel the treatment of those services under the GST and HST systems. As a result, financial institutions are no longer able to recover the QST paid on their purchases of goods and services used for exempt activities, resulting in unrecoverable tax and accordingly additional costs.

The provinces of Manitoba and Saskatchewan continue to impose their own retail sales tax, while the province of Alberta and Canada's three territories do not impose a retail sales tax.

GST/HST applies to taxable supplies of property and services made in Canada in the course of a business, and to imports of goods into Canada. Specific HST rules determine when a supply is made in a participating province and when property or services are brought into a participating province. Unlike traditional value-added taxes, GST/HST is designed as a tax on the purchaser, with an obligation imposed on the vendor to collect the GST/HST as an agent for the Crown.

The term "property" includes all property, whether real or personal, movable or immovable, tangible or intangible, corporeal or incorporeal, any right or interest of any kind, and shares and choses in action. However, it does not include money. The term "tangible personal property" generally means goods.

The term "services" means anything other than property or money. It does not include services provided by an employee in the course of, or in relation to, an office or employment.

For the purposes of GST/HST the territory of Canada includes the following areas:

- The seabed and subsoil of the submarine areas adjacent to the coast of Canada for which the government of Canada or of a province may grant rights to explore for, or exploit, any minerals (including petroleum, natural gas, related hydrocarbons, sand and gravel)
- The seas and airspace above those submarine areas with respect to any activities carried on in connection with the exploration for, or exploitation of, minerals

C. Who is liable

Every person who makes taxable supplies of goods or services in Canada in the course of a commercial activity is required to register for GST/HST purposes, except in the following circumstances:

- The person qualifies as a "small supplier."
- The person's only commercial activity is the supply of real property by way of sale other than in the course of a business.
- The person is a nonresident who does not carry on any business in Canada.

“Commercial activity” means any of the following activities:

- Any business, except to the extent the business involves making exempt supplies
- An adventure in the nature of trade, except to the extent the activity involves making exempt supplies
- The supply of real property, other than an exempt supply

For individuals and partnerships of individuals, the activity must also be carried on with a reasonable expectation of profit to constitute a commercial activity.

The definition of a “person” includes individuals, partnerships, corporations, trusts, estates of deceased individuals and bodies such as societies, unions, clubs, associations, commissions or other organizations of any kind.

A “registrant” is any person that is registered or is required to be registered for GST/HST.

Small supplier threshold. A “small supplier” is a person whose annual worldwide taxable and zero-rated supplies were less than CAD30,000 in the four preceding calendar quarters. The CAD30,000 threshold is determined by reference to the aggregate of taxable and zero-rated supplies made by the person and any associates of the person in the period.

A person whose activities exceed CAD30,000 must register for GST within one month after making the first supply that causes its turnover to exceed the threshold. However, if a person exceeds the CAD30,000 threshold in a single calendar quarter, it ceases to qualify as a small supplier beginning with the supply that causes it to exceed the threshold.

The small supplier threshold for a public service body (such as a charity, nonprofit organization, municipality, university, public college, school authority or hospital authority) is generally CAD50,000.

The small supplier rules do not apply to the following businesses:

- Persons who solicit orders for publications to be delivered in Canada by mail or courier
- Taxi operators
- Nonresidents who sell taxable supplies of admissions in Canada for places of amusement, seminars, activities or events held in Canada

A small supplier is not required to register for GST/HST but may do so voluntarily provided that it is engaged in commercial activity in Canada.

Group registration. GST/HST group registration is not permitted. Legal entities that are closely connected must register for GST/HST individually.

However, “closely related” corporations and partnerships may elect to deem supplies made between members of the group as being made for no consideration if the members are engaged exclusively in making taxable and zero-rated supplies. This provision effectively makes sales between group members subject to the zero rate.

For purposes of the election, two corporations are “closely related” if one of the corporations (or a closely related subsidiary) owns at least 90% of the voting shares of the other. In general terms, the election is available only to Canadian residents. However, Canadian resident corporations that are closely related as a result of being related to a nonresident or non-registrant corporation or to a chain of such corporations are eligible to use the election if all of the other conditions for making the elections are satisfied.

The election is also available to groups that include partnerships, referred to as “Canadian partnerships.” A “Canadian partnership” is defined as a partnership in which each member is a corporation or partnership and is resident in Canada.

Special rules apply if a closely related group includes a financial institution.

Effective 1 January 2015, changes to the election for closely related persons came into effect. Important changes to the definition of a “qualifying member” were introduced resulting in a general increase in the availability of the election for new members of a qualifying group. In addition, a new provision made the parties to the election jointly and severally (or solidarily) liable for tax that applies in relation to supplies made among them on or after 1 January 2015.

Also effective 1 January 2015, the prescribed election form is required to be filed with the Canada Revenue Agency. Since its introduction in 1992, the prescribed form, Form GST25, has only been required to be kept with the parties’ books and records and produced for tax authorities upon request. The Canada Revenue Agency has announced that a new election form (to be numbered RC4616) is currently being developed to replace Form GST25. All new elections made after 1 January 2015 are required to be made using the new form. All elections that were in place prior to 2015 must be refiled with the Canada Revenue Agency prior to 1 January 2016, using the new election form but carrying the effective date used in the original election. If the new filing requirements are not respected, elections will be considered invalid, which could lead to significant tax consequences in the event of an audit.

Nonresident businesses. A nonresident business that does not carry on business in Canada but solicits orders for the supply of goods in Canada, or enters into an agreement to supply certain goods, services or intangible property in Canada, may register on a voluntary basis to claim input tax credits (see Section F). A nonresident business is not required to appoint a tax representative in Canada to register for GST/HST. However, a nonresident business with no permanent establishment in Canada must provide a security deposit to the GST/HST authorities to obtain registration.

In general, the amount of security is 50% of the estimated net tax (either positive or negative) for the first year of operations in Canada. The minimum acceptable amount of security is CAD5,000, and the maximum is CAD1 million. Security may be in the form of cash, certified check, money order or bond. All security deposits are payable in Canadian dollars (CAD).

A nonresident business may apply in writing to have the security requirement waived if it satisfies both of the following conditions:

- Its taxable supplies in Canada do not exceed CAD100,000 annually.
- Its net GST remittance or refund does not exceed CAD3,000 annually.

Imported taxable supplies. In some cases, recipients of imported services and imported intangible property are required to self-assess GST/HST. The Canadian recipient must self-assess and remit the tax if these supplies are for use in Canada, unless they will be used exclusively (i.e., 90% or more) in a commercial activity. Special rules apply to financial institutions.

Tax representatives. Form RC59 is used to authorize the Canada Revenue Agency to deal with an individual representative (such as an accountant, lawyer or employee) or a firm as a representative for business account-related GST/HST information (as well as payroll, corporation income taxes, excise taxes, excise duties and other levy accounts). This consent can also be given online at <http://www.cra.gc.ca/mybusinessaccount>.

Reverse charge. Self-assessment of the GST or federal component of the HST is required on importations of intangible personal property and services that are acquired from unregistered, non-resident persons outside Canada and not used at least 90% in commercial activities (100% in the case of financial institutions). The tax is calculated on the amount charged for the service or intangible personal property in Canadian dollars, and the tax is payable in the reporting period in which the amount for the service or the intangible personal property was paid or became payable. Registered purchasers of real property are also required to self-assess and remit applicable tax on the consideration paid for the property.

Registration procedures. Persons required to register under the legislation must apply to the Canada Revenue Agency within 30 days following the first taxable supply made in Canada. Before registering for GST/HST, a business must obtain a Business Number (BN) from the Canada Revenue Agency by using its online service at <http://www.businessregistration.gc.ca>, by sending in a completed Form RC1, Request for a Business Number (BN), or by calling 1-800-959-5525.

The Agency will then assign a registration number to the registrant and provide notification in writing of the registration number and the effective date of registration. Organizations can generally expect to receive confirmation of their registration and their nine-digit registration number by mail within two weeks after submitting their completed registration forms. GST/HST registrants who are based in the province of Quebec are required to register with Revenu Quebec using the online service at http://www.revenuquebec.ca/en/sepf/services/sgp_inscription/default.aspx, by sending in completed form LM-1-V or by calling 1-800-567-4692.

Late-registration penalties. Every person who is engaged in a commercial activity in Canada (other than a small supplier, a person whose only commercial activity is the making of supplies of real property by way of sale other than in the course of a business, or a non-resident person who does not carry on any business in Canada) is required to apply to be registered for the GST/HST before the 30th day after the day the person first makes a taxable supply in Canada otherwise than as a small supplier.

A person who is required to apply to be registered is also required to collect and remit the GST/HST on taxable sales whether or not the person is actually registered. Interest is payable at the prescribed rate where a person fails to remit or pay an amount on account of tax when required under the GST/HST legislation.

Digital economy. The 11 February 2014 federal budget invited interested parties to submit comments within 120 days after the budget with respect to various questions relating to tax planning by multinational enterprises, including what actions should the government take to ensure the effective collection of sales tax on e-commerce sales to residents of Canada by foreign-based vendors – for example, should these vendors be required to register for GST/HST purposes and collect and remit tax on e-commerce sales to Canadian residents. To date, the government has not released any proposals in response to the consultation process.

Deregistration. Where a person ceases to carry on a commercial activity or becomes a small supplier and, as a result, ceases to be a registrant, the person's GST/HST registration may be cancelled by the Canada Revenue Agency on its own initiative or on request. In these circumstances, the person is deemed to have sold all its assets at fair market value upon deregistration. The non-registrant is subsequently required to account for the GST/HST on this deemed disposition in the last GST/HST return as a registrant. The person must also repay any input tax credits claimed on prepaid rent and services to the extent the prepayments relate to a period after deregistration.

Conversely, tax that becomes payable by a person to suppliers after deregistration continues to qualify as a valid input tax credit where it relates to services rendered to the person before deregistration or to rental payments attributable to a period before deregistration.

D. GST/HST rates

The term “taxable supplies” refers to supplies of goods and services that are liable to GST/HST. The 13% HST rate applies to supplies of property and services made in New Brunswick, Newfoundland and Labrador, and Ontario. The HST rate of 15% applies in Nova Scotia, and the HST rate of 14% applies in Prince Edward Island. QST (see Section B) at a rate of 9.975% applies in the province of Quebec. The effective combined GST/QST rate is 14.975%.

The 5% GST rate applies to supplies of property and services made elsewhere in Canada: in the provinces of British Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba and in the Yukon, Northwest and Nunavut Territories. A zero rate (0%) applies to a limited range of supplies of property and services. Although tax does not apply to zero-rated supplies, a registrant may claim input tax credits with respect to these supplies. As a result, zero-rated supplies bear no tax.

Examples of zero-rated supplies

- Exports of goods and services
- Basic foodstuffs
- International transportation
- Prescription drugs
- Medical devices
- Certain inputs used in agriculture and fishing

Certain supplies of goods and services, referred to as “exempt supplies,” are within the scope of GST, but are not liable to tax. However, these exempt supplies do not give rise to input tax credits.

Examples of exempt supplies

- Supplies of used residential property
- Financial transactions (as discussed in Section B, financial services were previously zero-rated in Quebec but became exempt effective 1 January 2013)
- Most supplies by charities and public sector bodies
- Healthcare
- Education

Option to tax for exempt supplies. In some cases, the GST/HST legislation permits parties to a transaction to elect to treat particular exempt supplies as taxable. Elections are available, for example, in respect of the supply of a residential complex by a person other than a builder, particular sales of real property by an individual where made in the course of an adventure or concern in the nature of trade, certain supplies of instruction or examinations by a professional or trade association, government, vocational school, university, public college or regulatory body, certain memberships in a public service body or professional organization and some supplies of real property by public service bodies. In most cases, conditions must be satisfied before the election can be made.

E. Time of supply

In general, tax becomes payable by the recipient of a taxable supply on the earlier of the date on which the consideration for the supply is paid or the date on which the consideration becomes due. The consideration is considered to be paid when the supplier receives the money (or other form of agreed consideration) for the supply. The consideration for a taxable supply is deemed to become due on the earliest of the following dates:

- The date on which the supplier issues an invoice with respect to the supply
- The date of the invoice
- The date on which the consideration falls due under a written agreement
- If an undue delay occurs in the issuance of an invoice for services, the date on which the supplier would have issued an invoice with respect to the supply, but for the delay

Tax may also become due when the supply is completed in specific circumstances. For example, tax on a sale of real property generally becomes due on closing. Similarly, if goods are sold, any tax on the supply that has not previously become due becomes due at the end of the month following the month when the goods are delivered to the purchaser.

Imported goods. Tax on imported goods becomes due when the goods are released by the Canada Border Services Agency for entry into Canada. Specific HST rules apply when property or services are brought into a participating province.

F. Recovery of GST/HST by taxable persons (registrants)

A registrant (taxable person) may recover the GST/HST payable on property and services that it acquires or imports for consumption or for use or supply in its commercial activities. This is accomplished by claiming input tax credits as a deduction on the registrant's GST/HST return.

A valid tax invoice or customs document must generally be obtained before an input tax credit may be claimed.

A registrant generally claims its input tax credits in the GST/HST return for the reporting period in which the tax becomes payable. However, a registrant may claim an input tax credit at a later date. Recovery is generally possible in any return filed within four years after the end of the reporting period in which the tax became payable. The recovery period is reduced to two years for certain large businesses (more than CAD6 million in annual taxable supplies) and listed financial institutions.

Restrictions on input tax credits. Input tax credits may not be recovered to the extent that an input is used in making exempt supplies.

The amount of input tax credits that may be recovered is based on the extent to which the input is used for consumption or for use or supply in commercial activities. Special rules apply to capital goods and capital real property. Input tax credits may not be claimed for purchases of property and services that are not used for business purposes (for example, goods acquired for private use by an entrepreneur or an officer or shareholder of a company). If an item is used less than 10% for business purposes, no recovery is permitted. In addition, input tax may not be recovered for some items of business expenditure.

The following lists provide some examples of items of expenditure for which input tax credits may not be claimed and examples of items for which input tax credits are available if the expenditure is related to use in commercial activities.

Examples of items ineligible for input tax credits

- Purchases used less than 10% in commercial activities
- Membership fees for social clubs
- 50% of business meals and entertainment costs
- Gifts to employees (subject to exceptions)

Examples of items eligible for input tax credits (if related to commercial activities)

- Hotel accommodation
- Attending conferences and seminars
- Purchase, lease or hire of cars, vans or trucks, subject to certain limits
- Maintenance and fuel for cars, vans or trucks
- Parking
- Mobile phones

Nondeductible (temporary recapture of) input tax credits. The provinces of British Columbia and Ontario, which implemented the HST effective from 1 July 2010, both adopted temporary restrictions on certain input tax credits for large businesses, similar to those in place under the QST regime. As British Columbia exited the HST system effective 1 April 2013, these temporary restrictions no longer apply in that province. When Prince Edward Island implemented the HST effective 1 April 2013, it also adopted temporary restrictions on certain input tax credits for large businesses.

A person is generally deemed to be a large business if either of the following conditions is met:

- The total amount of the value of the consideration for taxable supplies (including zero-rated supplies) made annually in Canada (other than supplies of financial services and supplies arising from the sale of real properties that are capital properties of the person) by the person and its associated persons exceeds CAD10 million.
- The person is, or is related to, a bank, a trust company, a credit union, an insurer, a segregated fund of insurers or an investment plan.

It was originally announced that, during the initial eight-year period of the HST in British Columbia and Ontario, large businesses would be required to recapture (repay) a portion of the 7% or 8% provincial component of their total input tax credits calculated for HST paid or payable on specified property or services acquired in, or brought into, British Columbia or Ontario for use by that business in those provinces. These recapture requirements were to be phased out over this eight-year period. For the first five years, beginning on 1 July 2010, large businesses were to be required to recapture 100% of the provincial component of their British Columbia and Ontario HST input tax credits; the recapture rate was then to be reduced by 25% over each of the following three years. As of 1 July 2018, large businesses were no longer to be subject to these recapture rules.

The above approach continues to apply in Ontario. However, as discussed in Section B, British Columbia exited the federally administered HST system and reinstated a PST system effective 1 April 2013. As a result, these temporary restrictions in British Columbia no longer apply.

During the initial eight-year period of the HST in Prince Edward Island, effective 1 April 2013, large businesses are also required to recapture (repay) a portion of the 9% provincial component of their total input tax credits calculated for HST paid or payable on specified property or services acquired in, or brought into Prince Edward Island for use by that business in the province. These recapture requirements are to be phased out over this eight-year period. For the first five years, large businesses are required to recapture 100% of the provincial component of their Prince Edward Island HST input tax credits; the recapture rate is to be reduced by 25% over each of the following three years. As of 1 April 2021, large businesses will no longer be subject to these recapture rules.

For purposes of the temporary recapture rules, specified property or services generally include the following, with minor differences among the provinces:

- Specified energy
- Specified telecommunication services
- Specified road vehicles
- Specified fuel (other than diesel)
- Specified food, beverages, and entertainment

Under the Canada-Quebec CITCA signed on 28 March 2012 (see Section B), the restrictions on input tax credits for large businesses in Quebec will be eliminated gradually, beginning in 2018. When they were introduced in 1992, the restrictions were intended to be temporary, but they have remained in place since then.

To date, no legislation has been introduced by Quebec regarding the elimination of the restrictions on input tax credits.

Partial exemption. Tax paid on inputs related to making exempt supplies is generally not recoverable as an input tax credit. A GST/HST registrant that makes both exempt and taxable supplies may be limited to claiming a partial input tax credit.

The amount of input tax credits that a business engaged partially in exempt activities may claim is calculated in the following two stages:

- The first stage identifies the tax on inputs that may be directly and exclusively allocated to taxable supplies and the tax on inputs that may be directly and exclusively allocated to exempt supplies. Tax on inputs exclusively attributable to taxable supplies is eligible for full input tax credits. Tax on inputs exclusively related to exempt supplies is generally not recoverable.
- The second stage apportions tax on other inputs between taxable and exempt supplies, based on any method that is fair and reasonable in the circumstances and consistently used. The proportion that relates to commercial activities may be claimed as an input tax credit.

Financial institutions are subject to special rules for calculating input tax credits. Charities, qualifying nonprofit organizations and public service bodies, including municipalities, universities, schools and hospitals, may claim a rebate to recover all or a portion of the tax paid on inputs used to make exempt supplies.

Refunds. If the input tax credits claimed in a period exceed the amount of GST/HST collected or collectible in the same period, the registrant may claim a refund.

Preregistration costs. When a person who was formerly a small supplier, i.e., with annual sales of taxable and zero-rated supplies below CAD30,000, becomes a registrant for GST/HST purposes, it can claim an input tax credit for the GST/HST it paid on property that was previously acquired but still on hand for use in commercial activities. This property can include capital property, real property, and inventory. The GST/HST that can be claimed as an input tax credit at that time is equal to the basic tax content of the property.

An input tax credit may also be claimed for GST/HST that became payable before a person became a GST/HST registrant, on services to be rendered after the person becomes a registrant or on any rent, royalty or other similar payment relating to property that is attributable to a period after the person becomes a registrant. The input tax credit is available only to the extent that the service or rental is for consumption, use or supply in the course of a commercial activity. No input tax credit is allowed to the extent that the payment is for services provided before registration.

G. Recovery of GST/HST by nonresident businesses

Canada does not refund GST/HST incurred by businesses that are not registered for GST/HST. Refunds are available to non-residents for tax paid on short-term accommodation included in a tour package. Refunds are also available for certain expenditures related to conventions held in Canada if at least 75% of the attendees are nonresidents.

H. Invoicing

GST/HST invoices and credit notes. Strict documentary requirements must be satisfied before a claim can be made to recover tax that has been paid or become payable. Suppliers are required to provide this information on request.

An invoice or other supporting document containing prescribed information is necessary to support a claim for an input tax credit, refund or rebate.

If a registrant has collected an excess amount of tax, it may refund or credit the excess amount to the customer. A registered supplier has up to two years from the end of the reporting period in which the excess amount was charged or collected to make the refund or adjustment. If the supplier chooses to take this action, the supplier must, within a reasonable time, issue a credit note to the recipient for the amount of the refund or credit.

If the supplier has already accounted for GST/HST on the supply, the supplier may use the credit note to reduce its tax liability in the period in which the credit note is issued. Conversely, if the recipient of the supply has already recovered the tax by claiming an input tax credit or rebate, the recipient must repay the credit or rebate to the Canada Revenue Agency.

Similar tax adjustment measures also apply if tax has been charged or collected correctly by the supplier but the consideration is subsequently reduced for any reason. Both volume discounts and returns are treated as price adjustments for GST purposes.

Exports. In general, GST/HST does not apply to exported goods. If the supplier delivers the goods outside Canada, the transaction is treated as a supply outside Canada and is generally not taxable. If the supplier delivers the goods in Canada, the export sale is zero-rated if all of the following conditions are satisfied:

- The property must be exported by the recipient as soon after delivery as is reasonable in the circumstances.
- The property must not be acquired for consumption, use or supply in Canada before exportation.

- The recipient must not further process, transform or alter the property, before exportation.
- The supplier of the property must maintain satisfactory evidence of the exportation by the recipient.

Most services supplied to nonresidents qualify for the zero rate. However, several exceptions apply. For example, the zero rate generally does not apply if the service relates to property located in Canada or if it is rendered to an individual in Canada.

Foreign-currency invoices. Suppliers may invoice in foreign currency and recipients may make payments to suppliers in foreign currency.

If an invoice is issued in a foreign currency, it must be converted to Canadian dollars (CAD) for reporting purposes. In general, the Canadian currency equivalent may be determined by using the exchange rate in effect on the date on which the consideration for the supply is paid, the date on which the foreign currency was acquired or the average rate of exchange for the month in which tax became payable. Acceptable foreign currency exchange rates include those established by a Canadian chartered bank, the Bank of Canada or the Canada Border Services Agency. The method of conversion chosen by a registrant must be applied on a consistent basis.

I. GST/HST returns and payment

GST/HST returns. Reporting periods are monthly, quarterly or annual, depending on the level of taxable and zero-rated supplies made by the registrant.

Registrants whose turnover exceeds CAD6 million a year must file returns monthly.

Registrants whose turnover is between CAD1,500,000 and CAD6 million a year must file returns quarterly (with an option of filing monthly). Registrants whose turnover does not exceed CAD1,500,000 must file annually (with an option of filing monthly or quarterly).

Any net tax due for the period must be remitted with the return. Payments must be made in Canadian dollars.

Annual returns and payment by installment. If a registrant is eligible to file annual returns, it may have to pay four GST/HST installments each year. If the total net tax remittable for the current or preceding year is less than CAD3,000, quarterly installments are not required.

Installments are based on an estimate of the net tax due for the current year or the amount of net tax remitted in the preceding year, whichever is the lower amount. Interest applies to underpaid installments. The GST/HST return filed at the end of the year reconciles the installments paid with the amount of net tax actually owed for the year. Any additional tax due must be remitted with the return.

Special schemes. The Streamlined Accounting (GST/HST) Regulations set out several methods that eligible small businesses as well as eligible public service bodies may elect to use for calculating their net tax liability. The methods, which are intended to simplify the calculation of net tax, are:

- The quick method
- The special quick method for public service bodies
- The streamlined input tax credit method

Charities that are registered or required to be registered for GST/HST purposes are required to use a special net tax calculation method.

Electronic filing and archiving. The legislation allows a person who is required to file a GST/HST return to file returns electronically if the person meets the criteria specified in GST/HST Memoranda Series, Chapter 7.5: Electronic Filing and Remitting by the Canada Revenue Agency.

Every person who carries on business or engages in a commercial activity in Canada is required to maintain records and books of account for GST/HST audit purposes. The records must generally be kept in French or English at the person's place of business in Canada. The Agency may permit a registrant to keep his or her records outside Canada in certain cases. Persons using electronic records must retain all business records in an electronically readable format, and the data must be capable of relating back to the supporting source documents.

Generally, electronic and other records must be retained for six years from the end of the calendar year to which they relate, or for such longer period as may be prescribed by the regulations. However, the minister may authorize a person to dispose of his or her records before the normal retention period has expired or demand that he or she keep them for a longer period. The authorization or demand must be made in writing.

New administrative monetary penalties and criminal offenses, which are effective as of 1 January 2014, apply where electronic suppression of sales (ESS) or "zapper" software is used by businesses to modify or delete transaction records with a view to hiding sales and evading GST/HST and income taxes.

Annual returns. As discussed above, persons filing on an annual basis are required to pay quarterly installments and file their annual return within three months following the end of their reporting period. Registrants whose annual revenues from taxable and zero-rated supplies in Canada, including those made by associated persons, do not exceed CAD1,500,000 have the option of filing annual returns (rather than quarterly) and making quarterly installment payments of tax during the year. Any registrant has the option of filing returns monthly, even if revenue from taxable and zero-rated supplies is less than CAD6 million.

Financial institutions are required to file an annual information schedule, Form GST111, Financial Institution GST/HST Annual Information Return.

J. Penalties

If a person fails to pay or remit an amount of tax when due, interest (at a rate prescribed by law) is payable on the amount unpaid or not remitted. Interest is compounded daily.

A person who fails to file a return when required is liable to pay a penalty equal to 1% of the outstanding balance plus 0.25% per month for each complete month the return is outstanding, up to a maximum of 12 months.

A person who fails to comply with a demand to file a return for a period or transaction is liable to a penalty equal to CAD250.

A person who knowingly, or under circumstances amounting to gross negligence, makes or participates in making a false statement or an omission in a return or other document is liable to a penalty equal to the greater of the following:

- CAD250
- 25% of the amount underdeclared or overclaimed

Criminal penalties may also apply in certain circumstances.

Chile

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Santiago

GMT -4

EY

Mail address:
Casilla 2823
Santiago
Chile

Street address:

Presidente Riesco 5435, 8th Floor
Santiago
Chile

Indirect tax contacts

Fernando Leigh

+56 (2) 676-1262

fernando.leigh@cl.ey.com

Alicia Domínguez

+56 (2) 676-1207

alicia.dominguez@cl.ey.com

Marta Muñoz

+56 (2) 676-1207

marta.munoz@cl.ey.com

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Value-added tax (VAT)
Local name	Impuesto al Valor Agregado (IVA)
Date introduced	31 December 1974
Trading bloc membership	None
Administered by	Internal Revenue Service (Servicio de Impuestos Internos, or SII: http://www.sii.cl)
VAT rates
Standard	19%
Other	Exempt and additional taxes (ranging from 15% to 50%)
VAT number format	Tax identification number (RUT), which is used for VAT and other tax purposes (for example, 12.345.678-0)
VAT return periods	Monthly
Thresholds
Registration	None
Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses	No

B. Scope of the tax

In general, VAT is imposed on the sale of tangible goods located in Chile, and on the provision of services rendered or utilized in Chile. The following are significant aspects of the VAT rules in Chile:

- For VAT purposes, the law provides that sales are all transactions that result in the transfer of movable tangible goods. A seller is any person that habitually carries out this kind of operation. The sale of real estate can also be taxed under certain circumstances. (See Section K.)

- Services are all actions that any person does for another for consideration (payment) if the service rendered arises from the exercise of one of the activities mentioned in Section 20 of the Income Tax Law, Subsections 3 and 4 (Subsection 3 provides rules regarding income that arises from commercial and industrial activities, and Subsection 4 governs income obtained by agents and commissioners in general).
- VAT also applies to the importation of goods into Chile.
- Other taxable transactions specified by law include, among others, withdrawals of inventory, contributions in kind and leasing of movable goods.

C. Who is liable

A VAT taxpayer is an individual, business or entity that performs VAT taxable transactions (that is, the habitual transfer of goods or the rendering of listed services) in the course of doing business in Chile. No VAT registration threshold applies. All business entities must file a business initiation application on commencement of operations and an application for a taxpayer identification number (RUT). These measures also apply to permanent establishments of foreign entities in Chile.

Group registration. VAT grouping is not allowed under the Chilean VAT law. Legal entities that are closely connected must register for VAT purposes individually.

Non-established businesses. A “non-established business” is a business that has no fixed establishment in Chile. If a non-established business intends to carry out transactions in Chile that are subject to VAT (such as the transfer of goods or the provision of listed services), it is required to be registered for VAT purposes. Consequently, the non-established business must submit an application for an RUT number and a business initiation application, and must appoint a representative in Chile to act on its behalf. However, taking these actions may result in the conclusion that the non-established business has become a permanent establishment (PE) in Chile.

Tax representatives. A tax representative must be provided with the power to represent the business in its dealings with the tax authorities and must also register an address in Chile for this purpose. If a foreign individual is appointed as the tax representative, in addition to the obligation to register an address in Chile, he or she must also be in possession of a valid visa that allows him or her to act in this capacity.

Registration procedures. Every legal entity or individual that performs activities subject to income tax must register and obtain a tax identification number (RUT). Form 4415 must be completed, signed and filed before the IRS, electronically (www.sii.cl) or by hard copy.

In general terms, a legal entity must fulfill the following requirements: prove it is legally incorporated by means of the public deed, and prove it has one or more legal representatives domiciled or resident in Chile. If the taxpayer is acting through an agent or representative, it must also show the power of attorney – authorized before a Notary Public – that grants him such powers.

For VAT purposes, the IRS will always have to check the domicile and activities described in Form 4415 before stamping of documents (invoices, etc.).

Late-registration penalties. Penalties and interest are assessed for late registration for VAT purposes. Penalties also apply for VAT fraud.

Reverse charge. Reverse-charge mechanism is not legally established for VAT purposes. However, in certain circumstances (i.e. when the supplier is a foreign taxpayer and does not have any PE or established business in Chile), and the transaction is subject to VAT, then the VAT law states that the obligation to withhold such tax turns to the purchaser, issuing a “purchase invoice” and collecting the VAT on behalf of the foreign supplier. However, in these cases, the foreign supplier will not be able to recover the VAT, since it is not a VAT taxpayer for Chilean purposes.

Digital economy. Not applicable.

Deregistration. Not applicable.

D. VAT rates

The terms “taxable transfer” and “taxable services” refer to the transfer of goods and the provision of services that are liable to VAT.

In Chile, the VAT rate is 19%. No reduced or higher rates apply. However, additional taxes ranging from 15% to 50% may be imposed under the VAT law on the provision of specific items, such as jewelry and alcoholic beverages. In addition, transactions made by certain entities are exempt from VAT.

Exempt supplies are those supplies of goods and services that are not liable to VAT. Exempt supplies do not give rise to a right of an input tax deduction.

Examples of exempt transfers of goods and supply of services

- Used motorized vehicles
- Importation of goods by the National Ministry of Defense
- Certain real estate transactions
- Admission to artistic, scientific or cultural events, sponsored by the Public Education Ministry
- Premiums for or payments from life insurance contracts
- Exports of goods
- Entrance to sporting events
- Importation of cultural or sporting awards and trophies
- Services provided by independent workers
- Freight from other countries to Chile and vice versa

Option to tax for exempt supplies. Not applicable.

E. Time of supply

The time when VAT becomes due is called the “time of supply” or “tax point.” The basic tax point for the transfer of goods is the earlier of the following:

- The time when the goods are delivered
- The time when the invoice is issued

The basic tax point for the provision of services is the earlier of the following:

- The time when the related invoice is issued
- The time when a full or partial payment of the consideration is received

Imported goods. For imports, VAT is due when the goods clear all customs procedures.

F. Recovery of VAT by taxable persons

A VAT taxpayer may recover input tax (also known as VAT credit), which has been charged on the goods acquired by it and the services provided to it, if these acquisitions are directly related to the performance of activities that are taxable for VAT purposes. VAT taxpayers generally recover input tax by deducting it from output tax (also known as VAT debit), which is VAT charged on sales made and services provided.

Input tax includes VAT charged on the goods acquired and the services provided in Chile, and VAT charged on imports of goods. In general, for input tax to be recoverable, it must arise from the acquisition of current or fixed assets or from general expenses, if these acquisitions are directly related to the performance of activities that are taxable for VAT purposes. If the taxpayer performs activities that are taxable for VAT purposes, together with VAT-exempt activities or non-taxed activities, the VAT credits can only be proportionally recovered.

Exporters also may recover the VAT paid with respect to their export activities. However, because exports are exempt from VAT, VAT credits are recovered through cash reimbursements to exporters rather than under an input-output mechanism.

A valid tax invoice or customs document must always support a claim for input tax recovery.

Nondeductible input tax. Input tax may not be recovered on purchases of goods and services that are not directly related to the performance of activities taxable for VAT purposes. In such cases, VAT paid constitutes an additional cost of goods or a deductible expense if it satisfies all of the requirements to be a deductible expense for income tax purposes. If VAT is paid for the acquisition of goods or services not related to the taxable income of the taxpayer, VAT paid may not be deductible.

The following list provides some examples of items of expenditure for which input tax is not deductible.

Examples of items for which input tax is nondeductible

- Business gifts
- Private use of business

Examples of items for which input tax is deductible (if related to a taxable business use)

- Input tax is deductible on every item that complies with the requirements (subject to VAT and related to a taxable business use).

Partial exemption. Input tax is not deductible if it relates to exempt or non-taxable activities. VAT taxpayers that carry on both taxable and non-taxable or exempt activities may not recover input VAT in full. This situation is referred to as “partial exemption.” The percentage of input VAT that may be recovered is calculated based on the value of taxable operations carried out during the period, compared to total turnover.

Refunds. If the amount of input VAT (VAT credit) recoverable in a certain period (a month) exceeds the amount of output VAT (VAT debit) payable, the excess credit may be carried forward to offset output tax in the following tax periods.

If a VAT taxpayer pays excess VAT as the result of an error, it may request a refund of the overpaid amount from the tax authorities. Taxpayers may request a refund of the overpaid tax within three years after the end of the period for which the claim is made.

Preregistration costs. Not applicable.

G. Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses

Chile does not refund VAT incurred by businesses that are neither established nor registered for VAT purposes in Chile, unless the VAT was paid as a result of an error.

H. Invoicing

Tax invoices and credit notes. A taxpayer must generally provide a tax invoice for transactions subject to VAT, including exports. A tax invoice is necessary to support a claim for input tax deduction.

A VAT taxpayer may also issue credit notes for rebates, discounts or transactions voided with respect to the acquirer of the goods or beneficiary of the services. A credit note must contain the same information as a VAT invoice.

A VAT taxpayer may also issue debit notes for increases in the tax basis of VAT. A debit note must contain the same information as a VAT invoice.

Invoices must be issued in Chilean pesos (CLP).

Electronic invoicing. On 31 January 2014, Law No. 20.727 was passed with rules and requirements regarding electronic invoicing. In general terms, the law makes the use of electronic invoices mandatory – along with other tax documents such as debit notes, credit notes, purchase invoices, etc.

Implementation of electronic invoicing began when companies that had annual income from sales and services during the previous calendar year in excess of approximately USD3,800,000 were required to adopt the system by November 2014.

VAT input tax credit arises in the period when the buyer or service recipient grants the “acknowledgment receipt” for the invoice.

Exports. Chilean VAT does not apply to the export of goods. However, to qualify as VAT-free, exports must be properly supported by evidence confirming that the goods have left Chile. Invoices for export transactions must be issued in accordance with the regulations established by the National Customs Service, and must be stamped by the Chilean Internal Revenue Service.

Foreign-currency invoices. Not applicable.

I. VAT returns and payment

VAT returns. VAT returns are submitted for monthly periods. VAT returns and payments in full are due by the 12th day of the month following the end of the return period. Return liabilities must be paid in Chilean pesos. For taxpayers authorized to issue electronic tax documents, VAT returns and payments in full are due by the 20th day of the month following the end of the return period.

Special schemes. Not applicable.

Electronic filing and archiving. Not applicable.

Annual returns. Not applicable.

J. Penalties

Penalties are assessed for a range of errors and omissions related to VAT accounting. In general, penalties for VAT errors are calculated as a percentage of the tax underpaid; penalty measures may also include closure of the business. The amount of the penalty depends on the severity and frequency of the error. The following are the classes of offenses:

- Serious: for example, failure to issue an invoice
- Less serious: for example, leaving out a required detail from an invoice
- Light: for example, failure to issue a credit note

In addition, interest is assessed at a rate of 1.5% monthly on unpaid VAT.

Criminal tax evasion may be punished by a term of imprisonment, a fine, or both, depending on the severity of the case.

K. Tax Reform

On 29 September 2014, tax reforms were published as part of Law No. 20.780.

The law establishes as a new taxable event the recurrent or habitual sale of real estate, which was formerly exempt when carried out by construction companies.

However, the sale of land is still exempt, so to calculating the taxable base, the value of the land must be subtracted.

The law establishes certain situations in which it presumes the transaction is habitual, such as when the time elapsed between purchase and sale of the real estate is less than one year, or when condos are sold by floors or units.

These amendments will become effective on 1 January 2016.

China

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Beijing

GMT +8

EY

16/F, Ernst & Young Tower
Tower E3, Oriental Plaza
No. 1 East Chang An Ave.
Dong Cheng District
Beijing
China 100738

Indirect tax contacts

Kenneth Leung	+86 (10) 5815-3808 kenneth.leung@cn.ey.com
Shu Tian	+86 (10) 5815-2159 shu.tian@cn.ey.com

Shenzhen

GMT +8

EY

21/F, China Resources Building
No.5001 Shennan Dong Road
Shenzhen 518001
Guangdong
China

Indirect tax contact

Michael CS Lin	+86 (755) 2238-5780 michael-cs.lin@cn.ey.com
----------------	---

Shanghai

GMT +8

EY

50/F, Shanghai World Financial Centre
No. 100, Century Avenue
Pudong New District
Shanghai
China 200120

Indirect tax contacts

Robert Smith	+86 (21) 2228-2328 robert.smith@cn.ey.com
Bryan Tang	+86 (21) 2228-2294 bryan.tang@cn.ey.com
Kevin Zhou	+ 86 (21) 2228-2178 kevin.zhou@cn.ey.com
Stephane Rinkin	+ 86 (21) 2228-5818 stephane.rinkin@cn.ey.com

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Value-added tax (VAT)
Introduced	1 January 1994
Trading bloc membership	None
Administered by	Ministry of Finance State Administration of Taxation (SAT) (http://www.chinatax.gov.cn)

VAT rates
Standard	17%
Reduced	3%, 13%
Other	Exempt and exempt with credit
VAT pilot (for details, see Section K)
General VAT taxpayers	6%, 11% or 17%
Small-scale VAT taxpayers	3%
VAT number format	XXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXX (6 Administrative division code + 9 Organization code)
VAT return periods	Tax periods range from one day to one quarter
Thresholds
Registration	Monthly turnover from CNY5,000 to CNY20,000 for supplies of goods Monthly turnover from CNY5,000 to CNY20,000 for supplies of services Daily turnover from CNY300 to CNY500 (the local tax offices set the actual thresholds within the above ranges; see Section C)
Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses	No

B. Scope of the tax

VAT applies to the following transactions:

- The supply of goods or taxable services for consideration in the People's Republic of China (China), by a taxable person in the course or furtherance of any business
- The importation of goods into China, regardless of the status of the importer

Goods and services not subject to VAT may be chargeable to Business Tax (BT), which is a type of cumulative sales tax payable on the provision of non-VAT-taxable services in China, the assignment of real property located in China and the transfer of intangible property in China. (See comments on VAT pilot below.)

A supply (sale) of goods is a transfer of ownership in the goods. The term "goods" includes electricity, heating, gas and other tangible assets. However, intangible property and real property are specifically excluded.

The following transactions are treated as supplies of goods:

- Sales made through an agent
- Sales of goods on consignment
- The application or appropriation of goods by a taxable person for any of the following purposes:
 - VAT-exempt activities
 - Capital investment

- Appropriation to shareholders or investors
- Collective welfare or personal consumption
- Making gifts

The place of supply for goods is where the goods are located at the time of the sale, or if the goods are transported, the place where the goods are dispatched.

A transfer of goods from one branch to another branch of the same taxable person for the purpose of sale is also treated as a supply of goods, regardless of whether any consideration is paid, unless the branches are located in the same county (municipality).

A self-supply of goods occurs if a taxable person diverts goods to private or exempt use and if the goods were manufactured or otherwise acquired by the taxable person and the person was entitled to an input VAT deduction (see Section F).

The following two specific types of services are the only services subject to VAT in China:

- Processing services (see below)
- Repair and replacement services (see below)

The term “processing services” means services supplied by a contractor for producing goods in accordance with a customer’s specifications by using raw materials and principal parts consigned by the customer. The term “repair and replacement services” means repairing damaged taxable goods and returning them to their original condition.

The place of supply for services is where the services are physically performed.

Special rules apply to mixed transactions consisting of sales of taxable goods and the rendering of non-taxable services. To ease tax administration, mixed transactions carried on by enterprises and sole proprietorship businesses engaged in or mainly engaged in the production, wholesale and retail supply of goods are deemed to be supplies of goods that are liable to VAT. Other units and individuals that supply mixed transactions are regarded as providing non-taxable services that are not liable to VAT.

Special deeming provisions apply to mixed transactions involving sales of self-produced goods by providers of construction services.

In general, food and beverages supplied by catering businesses such as hotels, restaurants, cafes, public houses and caterers, are treated as the provision of non-taxable services rather than supplies of goods. These supplies are not chargeable to VAT. Instead, they are liable to BT. However, if catering businesses supply takeaway food, the transaction is treated as a supply of goods and is liable to VAT. And if catering businesses only supply takeaway food occasionally, they may choose to pay VAT as small-scale taxpayers.

C. Who is liable

A taxable person is any “unit” or individual that sells goods or supplies processing or repair or replacement services in China unless the person’s sales are below the relevant taxable thresholds. VAT is also payable on the importation of goods. The term “unit” includes enterprises, administrative units, business units, military units and social organizations. This measure applies to persons that supply goods for export but does not include persons that exclusively produce VAT-exempt goods.

The State Council has stipulated a range of taxable thresholds for VAT registration. Local tax offices have the discretion to determine the actual thresholds within these ranges, depending on the economic conditions within the relevant municipality or county. The following are the statutory taxable thresholds:

- Sales of goods: monthly turnover of CNY5,000 to CNY20,000
- Services: monthly turnover of CNY5,000 to CNY20,000
- Daily transactions: daily turnover of CNY300 to CNY500

Registration procedures. Where a taxpayer applies for a tax registration, it shall faithfully complete the tax registration form which covers details including:

- Name of the entity, legal representative or owner, and the numbers of the identity card, passport or other legal certificates of the legal representative or the owner
- Domicile or business place
- Type of registration
- Method of accounting
- Form of production or business operations
- Scope of production or business operations
- Registered fund (capital) or total sum of the investments
- Time limit for production or business operations
- Contact details of the person in charge of finance
- Other relevant items specified by the SAT

In practice, usually only hard copy is required for tax registration application. However, some local state tax bureaus might require taxpayers to submit electronic materials via removable disk as well.

Taxpayers who are engaged in production or business operations and have obtained industrial and commercial business licenses (including temporary licenses) shall apply for tax registration within 30 days from the date it has been granted the relevant license. The tax authorities shall issue a tax registration certificate and a duplicate to the taxpayer upon examination. A temporary tax registration certificate and a duplicate shall be issued to taxpayers holding a temporary industrial and commercial business license. In general, the tax authorities shall complete the registration and issue a tax registration certificate on the day the application is received.

Late-registration penalties. The tax authorities may order a taxpayer to register within a time limit and in most cases may impose a fine of not more than CNY2,000. In the most serious cases, the tax authorities may impose a fine of not less than CNY2,000 and not more than CNY10,000.

Transactions between branches. Branches of the same enterprise are required to register separately for VAT, unless the head office and the branch(es) are located in the same county (municipality). However, subject to the approval of the tax authorities, the head office of an enterprise may be allowed to submit combined VAT returns for branches located in different counties (municipalities).

Transactions between branches may be subject to VAT, unless the relevant branches are located in the same county (municipality). A movement of goods between branches located in different counties (municipalities) is subject to VAT regardless of whether any consideration is paid. A distinction is made between a movement of goods to a branch for the purpose of sale to customers and movement of goods to a branch for storage. By default, a movement of goods from one branch to another is deemed to be for the purpose of sale to customers unless the enterprise can prove that it fulfills both of the following conditions to the satisfaction of the tax authorities:

- The branch that receives the goods will not sell the goods to customers on its own account, issue the relevant invoices or collect sales proceeds from the customers.
- The enterprise has obtained a special permit from its supervising tax authority that allows it to keep inventory outside the place where it is established.

If both of these conditions are fulfilled, the goods may be regarded as being moved to a branch for pure storage purposes and the transaction is not liable to VAT.

State and local authorities including administration units, business units, military units, social organizations and other government units are treated as taxable persons for the purpose of VAT.

Group registration. Group registration (or fiscal unity) for VAT purposes is not a recognized concept in the Chinese VAT regulations. Individual group members are regarded as independent VAT taxpayers.

Non-established businesses and foreign enterprises. Subsidiaries of foreign enterprises that supply goods or taxable services in China are treated in the same manner as other taxable persons.

Foreign enterprises that do not sell goods or taxable services in China may not register for VAT. Under the current business regulatory rules, foreign enterprises are generally not allowed to sell goods or provide processing or render repair and replacement services directly in China. Consequently, VAT registration and the payment of VAT are not issues for non-established businesses.

If a foreign unit or individual outside China provides taxable services in China and does not have a business office in China, the representative of such unit or individual must be the withholding agent. If such unit or individual does not have a representative, the purchaser must be the withholding agent.

Representative offices. Under the current business regulatory rules, a representative office of a foreign enterprise may engage only in certain activities, such as liaison and support. A representative office may not engage in direct profit-making activities, and it is prohibited from making sales of goods. Consequently, in general, VAT is not payable with respect to the activities of a representative office and VAT registration is not permitted.

Any person who imports goods into China is liable to pay VAT at the point of entry, at the same rates applicable to the sale of similar goods in China. A taxable person must pay the VAT due on imported goods within 15 days after the date following the date on which the customs authorities issued the import duties statement.

Reverse charge. Not applicable.

Digital economy. There is no specific rule relating to the taxation of the digital economy in China.

Deregistration. Where a taxpayer's obligation to pay tax is terminated in accordance with the law due to dissolution, bankruptcy, cancellation or other reasons, the taxpayer shall provide the relevant certificates or materials and go through the formalities for tax deregistration with the tax authorities that handled its original tax registration ("original tax authorities") before it proceeds to deregister with the industry and commerce administrative authorities and other relevant bodies.

As for taxpayers who do not need a deregistration with the industry and commerce administrative authorities and other relevant bodies, it shall, within 15 days after obtaining relevant approval or termination announcement, provide the relevant certificates or materials and go through the formalities for tax deregistration with its original tax authorities.

Where a taxpayer's business registration is revoked by the industry and commerce administrative authorities, or when the registration is cancelled by other relevant authorities, the taxpayer shall go through the formalities for tax deregistration with its original tax authorities within 15 days after the business registration has been revoked or cancelled.

Where a change of tax registration authorities is required for a taxpayer due to a change in its domicile or business place, the taxpayer shall provide the relevant certificates or materials and go through the formalities for tax deregistration with its original tax authorities before it proceeds to modify registration or deregister with the industry and commerce administrative authorities and other relevant bodies, or to change its domicile or business place. It is also required to apply for tax registration with the tax authorities at the new location within 30 days after the tax deregistration.

Where a foreign enterprise is engaged in construction, installation, assembling or exploration, or provides services in China, it shall provide the relevant certificates or materials and go through the formalities for tax deregistration with its original tax authorities after the project is completed and no less than 15 days before its departure from China.

D. VAT rates

In China, the positive VAT rates are 3%, 13% and 17%. The 17% rate applies unless another rate is specified by law. The reduced rate of 13% applies primarily to essential goods and services. The 3% rate applies to supplies under simplified VAT calculation methods or supplies by small-scale VAT taxpayers (small businesses).

The following lists provide some examples of goods and services taxable at each rate.

Examples of goods and services taxed at the 3% rate

- Taxable goods and services supplied by small businesses
- Certain taxable used goods
- Consignment goods sold by consignment agencies
- Certain goods sold by pawnbrokers
- Specific duty-free items sold by duty-free shops
- Certain electricity produced by qualified hydroelectric-generating businesses
- Certain construction materials
- Certain biological products
- Tap water (rate applies if taxpayer chooses simplified computation method with no input tax recovery)
- Certain concrete cement goods sold by general VAT taxpayers

Examples of goods and services taxed at the 13% rate

- Foodstuffs
- Edible plant oil
- Tap water (rate applies if taxpayer chooses regular VAT computation and recovers input tax)
- Air-conditioning
- Hot water
- Coal gas
- Liquefied petroleum gas
- Natural gas, biogas and coal products for civilian use
- Books, newspapers and magazines
- Animal feeds
- Fertilizers
- Agricultural chemicals
- Agricultural machinery
- Agricultural protection covers
- Agricultural products subject to minor processing
- Audio and video products
- Electronic publications
- Dimethyl ether

A taxable person that supplies goods or taxable services with different VAT rates must separately book the value of sales of goods and taxable services at each rate. The highest rate of VAT applies if the sales made at different rates are not accounted for separately.

Flat rate. “Small businesses” account for VAT at a rate of 3% on a simplified, flat-rate basis if input VAT paid on purchases is not deductible. A “small business” is defined as either of the following:

- A production business that manufactures taxable goods or provides processing or repair and replacement services (taxable services) and that has annual turnover (including sales for export) of CNY500,000 or less
- A commercial business that supplies taxable goods on a wholesale or a retail basis and that has annual turnover (including sales for export) of CNY800,000 or less

On approval by the local tax authorities, a small business may elect to pay VAT in accordance with the relevant provisions applicable to a general taxable person if it can demonstrate that it has a sound accounting system, maintains proper accounting records, and is capable of generating accurate information for VAT assessment purposes.

Exempt supplies. In general, exports of goods are “exempt with credit” (or taxable at 0%). This means that no VAT applies but the exporter may recover VAT paid as input tax. In addition, some supplies are exempt from VAT without credit; that is, the supplies are not liable to tax, but the supplier may not recover VAT as input tax (see Section F).

Examples of exempt supplies of goods and services

- Agricultural products produced and sold by primary agricultural producers
- Contraceptive medicines and appliances
- Antique books
- Imported equipment and apparatus used directly for scientific education, scientific research, development and experiments
- Imported products and equipment in the form of free economic assistance from foreign governments and international organizations
- Products imported by organizations for the handicapped for their exclusive use
- Sale of second-hand goods by non-taxable individuals

Currently, animal feeds, agricultural protection covers, the production of some specific types of chemical fertilizers, the trading of seeds, seedlings, chemical fertilizers, agricultural medicines, farming machinery, and the sale of self-manufacturing qualifying reclaimed water, certain rubber powder and refurbished tires, and qualifying sewage treatments are also exempted from VAT by virtue of administrative measures adopted by the Chinese tax authorities to protect farming businesses and encourage recycling in China.

To support the development of small businesses, those entities with a monthly turnover of CNY20,000 or less have, from 1 August 2013, been temporarily exempt from VAT.

Effective 1 August 2013, the Chinese State Administration of Taxation (SAT) released Circular 52, which details trial measures for the VAT exemption of the cross-border services.

Option to tax for exempt supplies. Taxpayers who could be eligible for VAT exemption may choose to give up the right of VAT exemption and pay VAT. Once the choice is made, the taxpayer cannot switch back to applying for VAT exemption within 36 months.

Examples of goods and services taxable at 0%

- Exports of goods (excluding prohibited or restricted exports)

Taxable persons that supply items eligible for tax exemption or tax reduction must book these sales separately. Otherwise, no tax exemption or reduction applies.

Special rules apply to sales of used fixed assets.

E. Time of supply

The “time of supply” is the time when VAT becomes due (that is, the tax-triggering point).

Goods. The following are the principal aspects of the time of supply rules for goods:

- If the sales proceeds are received directly from the buyer, the time of supply is when payment is received or when an invoice is issued, whichever is earlier, regardless of whether the goods have been delivered.
- If the sales proceeds are collected through a bank, the time of supply is when the goods are dispatched.
- If payments are made by installments in accordance with a sales and purchase agreement, the time of supply is when each installment is due. In the absence of a written contract or specification of the date of collection in the contract, the tax point is the date on which the goods are dispatched.
- If payment is made in advance, the time of supply is when the goods are dispatched. For large-scale machines and equipment, ships, aircraft and other goods whose production period exceeds 12 months, the time of supply is the date on which the advance payment is received or the date of collection specified in the written contract.
- For supplies of goods made through a consignment agent, the VAT payable by the consignor is due when the consignor receives the sales confirmation list or the payment from the consignment agent, whichever is earlier. However, if the consignor receives neither the sales confirmation list nor the payment from the consignee within 180 days from the date of dispatching goods, the goods are regarded as having been supplied to the consignee and VAT will be payable accordingly.

Taxable services. The time of supply for the provision of taxable services is when the payment for the service is received or when an invoice is issued, whichever is earlier.

Imports. VAT is payable for imported goods when the goods are declared to Customs.

F. Recovery of VAT by taxable persons

A taxable person may recover input tax, which is VAT charged on goods and services supplied to it for business purposes. A taxable person generally recovers input tax by crediting it against output tax, which is VAT charged on supplies made. However, input VAT credit is not allowed for small businesses that are subject to VAT at a flat rate (see Section D). Input tax includes VAT paid by a taxable person on the acquisition and importation of taxable goods and services that are acquired for the purposes of the taxable person's business activities. No credit is permitted with respect to purchases made for other purposes. To claim input VAT credits, a taxable person must comply with the following conditions:

- It must be registered with the tax authorities as a general VAT taxpayer (not as a small business).
- It must maintain a reliable accounting system and provide accurate information for assessing its VAT liabilities.
- It must hold a valid VAT invoice obtained from the vendor (see Section H), a tax certificate issued by the customs authorities or other valid supporting documents including transportation invoices and agricultural product procurement certificates.

A taxable person may recover input VAT as soon as it has a valid VAT invoice or a tax certificate issued by the customs authorities or other valid supporting documents. It is not necessary to wait until the purchaser has paid for the goods or the supplier has paid the output VAT to the tax authorities. The claim for input VAT credit must be made in the VAT return for the period in which the invoice or other documents are validated by the tax authorities. A taxable person must submit all input VAT invoices and other documents to the tax authorities for verification within 180 days after the date of issuance of the documents.

Imputed credits. A taxable person may also claim the following imputed credits in calculating its net VAT payable:

- 7% of the transportation expenses incurred in delivering taxable goods for domestic sales, if the expenses are supported by proper transportation invoices issued by a transportation company
- 13% of the purchase value of VAT-exempt agricultural products purchased from primary agricultural producers or agricultural cooperative societies

Non-deductible input tax. Input VAT is not creditable on the acquisition or importation of the following items:

- The purchase of taxable goods or services used in non-taxable activities, except for fixed assets put into use for both taxable and non-taxable activities (see Section B)
- The purchase of taxable goods or services used in VAT-exempt activities
- The purchase of taxable goods or services for collective welfare or personal consumption
- The “abnormal loss” of purchased taxable goods and associated taxable services
- The abnormal wastage of purchased taxable goods or services consumed in the production of merchandise or finished products
- Consumer goods for self-consumption of taxable persons that are specified by the competent authorities for financial and taxation affairs under the State Council
- Transportation expenses for goods specified in the above items and for the sales of VAT-exempt goods

“Abnormal losses” include losses resulting from a range of events including theft, decay or deterioration of goods as a result of poor management, but excluding normal wear and tear sustained in the ordinary course of the taxable person’s business.

Export refund. A taxable person that supplies goods for export must register with the relevant local authorities responsible for overseeing foreign trade to obtain an approved Foreign Trade Operator Registration Form. It can use this form to complete a registration with the relevant tax authorities and confirm its entitlement to export refund.

With the exception of certain types of goods, exports of goods are generally exempt with credit; that is, input VAT previously paid on the purchase of goods and services used for the production of goods for export is refunded on application. This procedure is commonly known as the “VAT export refund.” However, the VAT exemption with credit mechanism does not apply to certain types of goods. For those goods whose VAT export refund rates are less than the applicable VAT rates for normal supply, the taxable person must bear the difference as a cost, even though the goods are sold for export. Such VAT cost is commonly referred to as an “export VAT leakage” or “input VAT disallowance.”

Depending on the type of exporting enterprise, the VAT export refund and the input VAT disallowance are calculated based on the different methods described below.

Manufacturing enterprises (assuming no tax-exempt raw materials). For companies engaging in the production of taxable goods, the following are the calculations of the input VAT disallowance and the relevant creditable input VAT.

Calculation of input VAT disallowance (Calculation #1)

Input VAT disallowance = Free on Board (FOB) value of export sales x (Applicable VAT rate – VAT export refund rate)

Calculation of creditable input VAT (Calculation #2)

Creditable input VAT = Total input VAT – Input VAT disallowance (as determined in Calculation #1) + Excess input VAT brought forward from previous period

The taxable person must compute VAT payable for each reporting period by using the following calculation.

Calculation of VAT payable (Calculation #3)

VAT payable = Output VAT due on sales for the period – Creditable input VAT (as determined in Calculation #2)

If the amount of creditable input tax in a period is greater than the output VAT due on sales in that period (that is, Calculation #3 results in a negative balance), the taxable person is entitled to a VAT export refund.

The VAT export refund is equal to the lesser of the following amounts:

- FOB value of export sales x VAT export refund rate
- The absolute value of Calculation #3 if the calculation results in a negative balance

Commercial enterprises. For a taxable person carrying on a commercial business that involves the purchase of taxable goods in China for export, the following are the calculations of the VAT export refund and the input VAT disallowance:

VAT export refund = Price paid for the purchase of taxable goods x Applicable VAT export refund rate

As a result, the taxable person bears an input VAT disallowance that goes into its cost. This disallowance is determined in the following calculation:

Input VAT disallowance = Price paid for the purchase of taxable goods x (Applicable VAT rate – VAT export refund rate)

Application and declaration. Eligible enterprises or other entities may file a tax refund (exemption) application. After approval, enterprises or other entities shall make the declaration on VAT refund (exemption) and exemption with the competent authority within the declaration period of VAT payment.

For the goods exported through an agent, the entrusting party shall be responsible for declaring VAT refund (exemption). For the water, electricity and gas supplied to the special areas, the manufacturing enterprises within the special areas, as the purchasers, shall be responsible for declaring the tax refund.

Partial exemption. Taxable persons that make taxable supplies and other supplies (such as exempt supplies and outside the scope supplies) are only entitled to claim input VAT incurred in making their taxable supplies as credits. Input tax is not creditable for any purchases that are directly related to making exempt supplies.

If a taxable person has purchases or imports that are used to make both taxable and exempt or outside the scope supplies, an apportionment of input VAT is allowed. The allowable input VAT credit is generally calculated using the ratio of turnover from taxable supplies compared with the total turnover of that month from all supplies.

Refunds. Upon discovering that a taxpayer has paid an amount in excess of the tax payable, the tax authorities shall immediately refund the excess amount to the taxpayer.

When a taxpayer discovers that it has paid in excess of the tax payable within three years from the date the tax payment was made, it may claim from the tax authorities a refund of the excess amount and interest based on bank deposit for the same period.

Upon examination and verification, the tax authorities shall immediately make the refund. If the refund involves returns from the State Treasury, the refund shall be given according to the provisions of laws and administrative regulations relating to the administration of State Treasury.

Preregistration costs. Not applicable.

G. Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses

China does not refund VAT to businesses that are not established there.

H. Invoicing

VAT invoices and credit notes. A general VAT taxpayer must register and procure approved VAT invoices from the tax authorities. The taxable person must also designate and register an individual employee as a representative who is responsible for administering the custody and control of VAT invoices. A valid VAT invoice is needed to support any claim for input VAT recovery (see Section F).

A special VAT invoice may only be issued for supplies of taxable goods or services made to taxable recipients. A special VAT invoice must contain the following information:

- The supplier's VAT registration number
- The purchaser's VAT registration number
- The date of issuance of the invoice
- The name, address and telephone number of the taxable person supplying the taxable goods or services
- The name, address and telephone number of the taxable person purchasing the taxable goods and services
- The bank account numbers of the supplier and the purchaser
- A full description of the taxable goods or services supplied
- The quantity or volume of goods supplied
- The consideration (exclusive of VAT)
- The rate or rates of VAT and the amount of tax chargeable at each rate

The supplier may not issue a special VAT invoice for the following:

- The supply of goods (such as cigarettes, alcohol, foods, garments, shoes, hats and cosmetics) to ultimate consumers by VAT taxpayers that engage in retail sales.
- The sale of VAT-exempt goods unless otherwise stipulated by specific rules or regulations.
- The supply of taxable goods or services by small-scale taxpayers. However, small-scale taxpayers can apply to the relevant tax authority to issue VAT invoices on their behalf for supplies of taxable goods or services.

Red-letter invoice (credit note). If goods are returned after an invoice has been issued, a red-letter invoice must be issued. The original invoice must be returned and “invalid” written clearly on it, or a notification must be obtained from the other party.

If sales discount is given after an invoice has been issued, the original invoice must be returned and “invalid” written clearly on it before re-issuing a new invoice, or a red-letter invoice shall be issued after a notification is obtained from the other party.

Foreign currency invoices. VAT invoices are issued and printed through the Golden Tax System (GTS) – a tax control system connected to the database of the tax authorities. VAT invoices in China must be issued in CNY. Where a taxpayer settles the sales amount in any currency other than CNY, the average CNY exchange rate on the date the sales amount occurs or on the first day of the current month may be used at the discretion of the taxpayer. The taxpayer shall decide in advance on a conversion rate and may not change it within 12 months once such a conversion rate is determined.

Electronic invoices. Not applicable.

Proof of export. For manufacturing enterprises the requirements include:

- Declaration forms required by tax authority for exemption, deduction or refund of tax on exported goods
- Foreign exchange declaration for the export of goods (copy for export refund)
- Export invoice
- For goods exported on assignment, verification certificates issued by assignee’s in charge tax authorities for the export of goods on assignment and a photocopy of export agency agreement

For foreign trade enterprises the requirements include:

- Declaration forms required by tax authority for exemption, deduction or refund of tax on exported goods
- Foreign exchange declaration for the export of goods
- VAT invoice (credit copy), declaration by batch form for imported goods with export refund, tax payment certificate for imported goods
- For goods exported on assignment, verification certificates issued by assignee’s in charge tax authorities for the export of goods on assignment and a photocopy of export agency agreement
- For items subject to consumption tax, consumption tax payment certificate, consumption tax payment certificate for imported goods

I. VAT returns and payment

VAT returns. In China, VAT tax periods vary in length. A VAT tax period may be 1 day, 3 days, 5 days, 10 days, 15 days, 1 month or 1 quarter. The length of the tax period is determined by the local tax authorities, based on the amount of VAT payable by the taxpayer. If VAT payments cannot be made on a fixed-period basis, VAT may be paid on a transaction basis.

Taxable persons that have a VAT tax period of 1 month or 1 quarter must submit VAT returns and pay the VAT due on a monthly or quarterly basis within 15 days after the end of the period. Taxpayers that have a VAT tax period shorter than one month must make provisional VAT payments within five days after the end of the tax period. They must also submit a VAT return and settle the VAT payable for the previous month by the 15th day of the following month.

Special schemes. Not applicable.

Electronic filing and archiving. Electronic filing (e-filing) is recommended by tax authorities in China. Taxpayers can log in to the tax declaration website with a U-key and file the electronic VAT tax return with the relevant appendix. When e-filing is unsuccessful or encounters any difficulties, paper filing is acceptable.

The accounting books, accounting vouchers, statements, receipts of tax payments, invoices, vouchers for exportation and other tax-related materials shall be kept for 10 years unless otherwise specified in the laws and administrative regulations.

Annual returns. Not applicable.

J. Penalties

Authorized tax officers have extensive powers relating to the inspection and seizure of records. If a tax officer is of the opinion that a taxable person has underpaid the VAT due, the officer may issue an assessment based on the correct figures or on an estimate.

Where a taxpayer fails to pay taxes within the required time, or a withholding agent fails to remit taxes within the required time, the authorized tax officer would, in addition to ordering the taxpayer or withholding agent to pay or remit the taxes before a prescribed date, impose a late interest payment on a daily basis at the rate of 0.05% of the unpaid tax amount, commencing on the day the tax payment was defaulted. Also, a fine could be imposed in an amount not less than 50% of the unpaid tax and not more than five times the unpaid tax.

Special schemes. In general, sales of second-hand taxable goods by taxable persons are chargeable to VAT on a simplified basis at a rate of 4% with a further 50% reduction (that is, at an effective rate of 2%).

Sales of second-hand taxable goods by non-taxable individuals are exempt from VAT.

Special rules apply to sales of used fixed assets.

K. VAT pilot

On 16 November 2011, the Chinese Ministry of Finance (MOF) and the State Administration of Taxation (SAT) jointly issued Caishui [2011] No. 110 and Caishui [2011] No. 111, which set out the details of the Shanghai VAT pilot, which was to be a significant step towards the planned wider, structural VAT reform.

The VAT pilot started in Shanghai on 1 January 2012. On 25 July 2012, Chinese premier Wen Jiabao announced at the State Council Standing Committee meeting that the VAT pilot would be expanded to cover eight additional locations. The announcement also mentioned that in 2013 the VAT pilot would expand further and that certain industries would be selected to be included in the VAT pilot on a nationwide basis. Shortly afterward, the MOF and SAT jointly issued Caishui [2012] No. 71, which unveiled the anticipated expansion to Beijing as well as the plans for VAT pilot expansion for the rest of 2012.

On 24 May 2013, the MOF and SAT jointly released Caishui [2013] No. 37 to announce the launch of VAT pilot arrangements on a national basis from 1 August 2013.

With effect from 1 August 2013, transportation services (excluding railway transport) and selected modern services which have already been included in the current VAT pilot arrangements are subject to VAT on a nationwide basis. The scope of the selected modern services included in the 1 August 2013 nationwide VAT pilot expansion is similar to that of the initial VAT pilot (R&D and technology services, information technology services, cultural and creative services, logistics auxiliary services, moveable property leasing and authentication and consulting services). With effect from 1 August 2013, the scope of selected modern services has been expanded to include the production, broadcasting and distribution of radio, television and movie products.

VAT pilot expansion has been further set out in Caishui [2013] No. 106 (Circular 106) issued by the Chinese Ministry of Finance (MOF) and the State Administration of Taxation (SAT) on 12 December 2013.

Circular 106 covers two additional VAT pilot service sectors, railway transportation and postal services, and also integrates a number of significant changes to the VAT pilot rules aiming to introduce enhancements to some of the VAT pilot areas such as finance leasing and international freight forwarding where strong feedbacks have been received from taxpayers.

On 30 April 2014, the MOF and SAT jointly released Caishui [2014] No. 43 to include the telecommunications industry into VAT pilot scope with an effective date of 1 June 2014.

Scope of the VAT pilot. The following lists show the services that were subject to Business Tax (BT) but are now subject to VAT (VAT pilot services).

Transportation industries

- Land transportation including railway transportation
- Water transportation
- Air transportation
- Pipeline transportation

Certain modern services industries

Research and development (R&D) and technology services

- R&D services
- Technology transfer services
- Technology consulting services
- Contract energy management services
- Project survey and exploration services

Information technology services

- Software services
- Circuit design and testing services
- Information system services
- Operation process management services

Culture creative services

- Design services
- Trademark and copyright transfer services
- Intellectual property services
- Advertising services
- Conferencing and exhibition services

Logistics auxiliary services

- Aviation services
- Port services
- Transport terminal services
- Salvage assistance services
- Cargo transport agent services
- Customs brokerage services
- Storage services
- Loading-unloading transportation services

Movable property leasing

- Operating leases
- Finance leases

Authentication and consulting services

- Verification services
- Authentication services
- Consulting services

Radio, film and television services

- Production services for radio, film and television programs (works)
- Distribution services for radio, film and television programs (works)
- Broadcast (including screenings) services for radio, film and television programs (works)

Postal services

- Universal postal service
- Special postal service
- Other postal service

Telecommunications industry

- Basic telecommunications services
- Value-added telecommunications services

Caishui [2013] No. 106 and Caishui [2014] No. 43 provide definitions of each of the above VAT pilot services.

Real estate, construction, life-style services and financial services will also be included in the forthcoming VAT pilot expansion. However, the Chinese authorities have not yet set out any specific time table for the future VAT pilot expansion.

Classes of VAT taxpayers and applicable VAT rates. Under the VAT pilot rules, the following are the two classes of VAT taxpayers:

- General VAT taxpayers, which are VAT taxpayers providing VAT pilot services with annual turnover of CNY5 million or more
- Small-scale VAT taxpayers, which are VAT taxpayers providing VAT pilot services with annual turnover of less than CNY5 million

It is possible for small-scale VAT taxpayers to voluntarily apply to become general VAT taxpayers.

The following lists show the applicable VAT rates for the various classes of VAT taxpayers and the different types of VAT pilot services.

General VAT taxpayers

17% rate

- Movable property leasing

11% rate

- Transportation services
- Value-added telecommunications services

6% rate

- R&D and technology services
- Information technology services
- Culture creative services
- Logistics auxiliary services
- Authentication and consulting services
- Radio, film and television services
- Basic telecommunications services

Small-scale VAT taxpayers

3% rate

- All VAT pilot services

Place of supply of VAT pilot services. The place of supply of VAT pilot services is in China if either the service supplier or the service recipient is located in China.

The following services are considered to be outside China:

- VAT pilot services provided by an overseas supplier that are consumed entirely outside China
- Movable property leased by an overseas supplier that is used entirely outside China

Output VAT and new VAT computation method. The following is the calculation for output VAT:

$$\text{Output VAT} = \text{Sales amount} \times \text{Applicable VAT rate}$$

If consideration received by a VAT pilot service provider is VAT-inclusive, the following is the calculation of the sales amount:

$$\text{Sales amount} = \frac{\text{VAT-inclusive sales amount}}{\div (1 + \text{Applicable VAT rate})}$$

The VAT pilot rules contain a new computation method. The new method incorporates the “netting” mechanism that is only applicable to taxpayers engaged in financial leasing with approval from the People’s Bank of China, the Ministry of Commerce and the China Banking Regulatory Commission. The sales amount shall be the balance of the total price and expenses (including residual value) after deduction of the loan interest (including foreign currency loan and CNY loan interest), customs duties, import taxes, installation fees and insurance borne by the lessor.

If a pilot taxpayer concurrently sells goods, provides processing and maintenance services and provides VAT pilot services, it must separately account for the different supplies that are subject to different VAT rates. If the taxpayer cannot separately account for the VAT-able sales amount, it must compute its output VAT based on the higher VAT rate.

The VAT pilot rules include the concept of deemed supply of services. A special valuation method applies if a deemed supply of services exists or if the sales amount for VAT pilot services is found to be too high or low without a reasonable commercial purpose.

Input VAT and new creditable item. General VAT taxpayers that incur VAT on the purchase of goods, the receipt of processing, repair and maintenance services and the receipt of VAT pilot services, for the purpose of providing VAT pilot services, may treat the VAT incurred as input VAT. The following input VAT amounts may be credited against output VAT:

- VAT amounts indicated on special VAT invoices issued by the sellers or service providers
- VAT amounts indicated on import VAT payment certificates
- 13% of the purchase value of agricultural products purchased from primary agricultural producers or agricultural cooperative societies unless special VAT invoice or import VAT payment certificates are obtained
- VAT amounts indicated on the tax clearance certificate (withholding VAT) obtained from the tax bureau if a payment is made to an overseas VAT pilot service provider
- In addition, with respect to motorcycles, cars and yachts for which consumption tax shall be collected, the input tax associated with the purchases is allowed to be deducted from the output tax

The VAT pilot rules contain specific provisions that disallow input VAT recovery.

VAT administration matters. Suppliers of VAT pilot services with annual revenue of more than CNY5 million must be registered as general VAT taxpayers. After registration, the suppliers must purchase the anti-counterfeit tax control equipment and issue special VAT invoices in accordance with the VAT pilot rules.

The Chinese VAT tax periods vary in length. A VAT tax period may be 1 day, 3 days, 5 days, 10 days, 15 days, 1 month or 1 quarter. The length of the tax period is determined by the local tax authorities, based on the amount of VAT payable by the taxpayer. For taxpayers that have a VAT tax period of 1 month or 1 quarter, they must submit VAT returns and pay the VAT due on a monthly or quarterly basis within 15 days after the end of the period.

Transitional VAT exemption and VAT refund policies. The VAT pilot rules set out 14 specific VAT exemptions, such as technology transfers and outsourcing-type services, and 4 types of transactions that are subject to special VAT refund measures.

Taxpayers included in the VAT pilot that obtained BT incentives prior to the VAT pilot may enjoy VAT incentives in accordance with the VAT pilot rules until the expiration of the BT incentive.

VAT exemption and zero rating. A VAT zero rating is subject to the conditions specific in Caishui [2013] No. 106, and the scope is listed as follows:

- International transportation services, including transportations services for Hong Kong, Macao and Taiwan
- Research and development services provided to overseas entities
- Design services provided to overseas entities, excluding design services provided for real estate located in the territory

The provision of the following services as specified in SAT announcement [2014] No. 49 could be exempt from VAT:

- Engineering survey services with the engineering and mineral resources outside China
- Conference and exhibition services for conferences and exhibitions that take place outside China
- Warehousing services for storage locations outside China
- Tangible personal property leasing services with the subject used outside China
- Postal service and collection and dispatching service provided for export goods
- Distribution and broadcasting services of radio, film and television programs (works) that are rendered outside China
- International transportation services that are not eligible for a zero VAT rating
- Transportation services from and to Hong Kong, Macao and Taiwan as well as transportation services in Hong Kong, Macao and Taiwan that are not eligible for a zero VAT rating
- The following taxable services to which simplified computation method shall apply or for which a statement of waiving VAT zero rating is made and VAT exemption is chosen:
 - International transport services
 - Transport services to and from Hong Kong, Macao and Taiwan and transport services in Hong Kong, Macao and Taiwan
 - Space transportation services
 - Research and development services and design services provided to foreign entities, with the exception of design services provided for real estate located within the Territory
- Taxable services rendered to overseas entities or units:
 - Telecommunication services
 - Technology transfer services
 - Technical consulting services
 - Contractual energy management services
 - Software services

- Circuit design and testing services
- Information system services
- Business process management services
- Transfer services of trademarks and copyright
- Intellectual property services
- Logistics and supporting services (excluding warehousing services, collecting and dispatching services)
- Certification services
- Authentication services
- Consulting services
- Radio, film and television programs (works) production services,
- Advertising services for advertising that takes place outside China

Please note that although SAT announcement [2014] No. 49 has set out the detailed guidance on the application of VAT exemption, local state tax bureaus might issue their own practice requirements in response to the announcement.

Colombia

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Bogotá

GMT -5

EY
Mail address:
Apartado Aereo 092638
Bogotá
Colombia

Street address:
Calle 113 No.7-80
5th Floor
Bogotá
Colombia

Indirect tax contacts

Andres Parra	+57 (1) 484-7943 andres.parra@co.ey.com
Luz Maria Jaramillo	+57 (1) 484-7230 luz.jaramillo@co.ey.com
Diego Casas	+57 (1) 484-7050 diego.e.casas@co.ey.com
Gustavo Lorenzo	+57 (1) 484-7225 gustavo.lorenzo@co.ey.com
Johana Rincon	+57 (1) 484-7354 johana.rincon@co.ey.com

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Value-added tax (VAT)
Local name	Impuesto sobre las ventas (IVA)
Date introduced	29 December 1983
Trading bloc membership	None
Administered by	Dirección de Impuestos y Aduanas Nacionales (DIAN) (http://www.dian.gov.co)
VAT rates
Standard	16%
Reduced	5%
Other	Zero-rated (exempt)
VAT number format	Tax identification number (NIT)
VAT return periods	Bimonthly/Quarterly/Annually
Thresholds
Simplified regime	Gross income in the previous year less than USD57,863 (based on an exchange rate of COP1,900 = USD1); additional requirements apply
Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses	No

B. Scope of the tax

VAT applies to the following transactions:

- The sale of movable tangible goods
- Services rendered in Colombia
- Importation of movable goods into Colombia
- The operation of games of chance or the sale of tickets for games of chance (excluding lotteries)

In some cases specified in the tax law, imported services (that is, services executed abroad that are used in Colombia) are subject to VAT if the recipient of the services is located in Colombia. The services subject to this provision include the following:

- Licenses and authorizations for use and exploitation of intangible assets
- Text translation, correction and composition services
- Consulting, advisory and audit services
- Services carried out on tangible movable assets, except for those related to international transport services
- Rental of corporate movable assets, except for those to be used for international transport activities
- Insurance and reinsurance services
- Satellite connection or access services, regardless of where the satellite is located
- Satellite television services received in Colombia

In general, the tax base equals the total value of the sale, that is, the sale price of goods or services plus any reimbursed expenses. Effective discounts included in the correspondent invoice that are not subject to any condition and that are commonly used in the market are not part of the VAT tax base. However, for construction contracts for immovable assets (real property), cleaning services and some other services, the tax base equals the fee paid to the entity providing the services rather than the whole value of the service. In such cases, the creditable input VAT is the tax incurred by the constructor that is directly associated with its invoiced fee. The constructor is not entitled to credit for VAT paid on expenses that are associated with the construction.

C. Who is liable

Any individual or business entity that undertakes an activity subject to VAT (see Section B) must register for VAT. The requirement to register also applies to a permanent establishment (PE) of a foreign entity if the PE carries out taxable activities or business in Colombia. Taxpayers are basically classified according to turnover into two different VAT regimes, which are the common regime and the simplified regime.

All taxable persons that do not qualify for the simplified regime must register for VAT under the common regime.

Retailers, individuals engaged in agriculture and cattle farming activities, artisans and certain others rendering taxable services may be registered in the National Tax Registry (Registro Único Tributario, or RUT) as VAT simplified regime taxpayers if the following conditions are fulfilled:

- The taxpayer's gross income in the immediately preceding year was less than approximately USD57,863.
- The taxpayer has a maximum of one commercial establishment, office, premises or business where it performs its activity.
- The taxpayer does not use a franchise, concession agreement or royalty agreement with respect to the commercial establishment.
- The taxpayer is not a permanent exporter or importer.
- In the prior year, or in the current year, the taxpayer does not enter into sale agreements for goods or services exceeding approximately USD47,737.
- During the prior year, or in the current year, bank deposits and financial investments made by the individual do not exceed approximately USD65,096.

Group registration. VAT grouping is not allowed under the Colombian VAT law. Legal entities that are closely connected must register for VAT individually.

Reverse charge. The withholding mechanism designates certain entities as VAT withholding agents, including government departments, large taxpayers, entities paying nonresident entities, individuals and VAT taxpayers using the common regime, and entities or individuals that provide goods or services to international trading companies. The withholding rate is equal to 15% of the VAT rate applicable to the transaction, due on any payment or accounting accrual related to taxable goods or services. For transactions with nonresident entities and individuals, or the sale of tobacco and scrap metal, the withholding rate is 100% of the applicable tax rate.

Non-established businesses and the reverse-charge mechanism. A “non-established business” is a business that satisfies the following two requirements:

- It does not have a permanent activity.
- The business is not conducted through a branch of a foreign company in Colombia.

If a Colombian taxable person receives services from a non-established business, the reverse-charge mechanism applies. Under the reverse-charge mechanism, the Colombian resident must withhold VAT due on the sale. The taxability of these services does not affect the final amount to be received by the foreign provider of the services. VAT is applied by the resident who requests the service, using a self-withholding procedure. The resident claims this self-assessed VAT as a credit in the VAT tax return of the period in which the VAT was paid, in accordance with the general rules and limitations (full, partial or no tax credit), depending on the VAT treatment of its income.

For accounting purposes, the self-assessed VAT is recorded as a credit (VAT to be paid to tax authorities). It is also recorded as a debit (creditable VAT invoiced to local customers or if not creditable, as a higher cost or expense), in accordance with the general VAT rules.

Tax representatives. Not applicable.

Registration procedures. Registration in the Registro Único Tributario (RUT) must precede initiation of economic activity. An applicant registers in the RUT by filing Form 001 with the tax authorities DIAN accompanied by hard copies of the following documents:

- Certificate of incorporation (for non-domiciled entities or non-resident individuals)
- ID document of the applicant or its attorney, and if the attorney, documentation of power of attorney has to be included
- Certificate of bank account

This procedure takes an average of 15 days to complete, depending on the time incurred to obtain and attach the certificate of bank account. The registration in the RUT shall be valid indefinitely.

Late-registration penalties. A penalty corresponding to 1 tax unit (UVT), which in 2015 is COP28,279, is levied for each day of late registration.

Digital economy. Not applicable.

Deregistration. When a company ceases the economic activity for which it was registered, it should deregister in the RUT within the next month following such termination of taxable activities. A certificate signed by the tax auditor or public accountant demonstrating the absence of activities subject to VAT and the absence of inventory pending sale is required.

D. VAT rates

Effective 1 January 2013, the rates are 16%, 5% and 0%. The rate of VAT varies according to the type of goods or services, but the standard 16% rate applies to all supplies of goods or services unless a specific provision allows an exclusion from VAT or the application of a reduced or zero rate.

Examples of supplies taxed at 5% rate

- Toasted coffee
- Wheat
- Sugar cane
- Cotton seeds
- Soy
- Rice
- Prepaid health services
- Health insurance
- Storage of agricultural products

Taxable and excluded supplies. The term “taxable supplies” refers to supplies of goods and services that are subject to VAT. Purchasers of such supplies generally benefit from an input credit on their VAT returns.

Exempt supplies. In Colombia, the term “exempt supplies” refers to supplies of goods and services that are subject to VAT but are zero-rated, that is, taxed at a 0% rate. Purchasers of exempt supplies may receive an input credit for the VAT they paid on inputs.

Examples of exempt supplies

- Exports of movable, tangible goods if the exporter is registered with the National Tax Registry (Registro Único Tributario or RUT), has received a taxpayer identification number and can, at the request of tax authorities, provide proof of agreements to provide exports, such as contracts, offers or purchase orders
- Services rendered exclusively in Colombia and used exclusively abroad by companies or individuals who are not engaged in business in Colombia (Companies not engaged in business in Colombia include companies that are direct beneficiaries of the services, the VAT exemption does not extend to related parties such as a subsidiary, branch, affiliate, representative office or home office in Colombia.)
- Tourism, if rendered to nonresidents in Colombia and used in the country and benefiting a company that is registered in the National Tourism Registry and promotes tourism by engaging in certain qualified activities
- Purchase or sale of foreign currency and derivatives

The term “excluded supplies” refers to supplies of goods and services that are not subject to VAT. Purchasers generally may not claim an input discount or credit for the VAT they paid on inputs (see Section F).

Examples of excluded supplies

- Some goods and services that cover basic needs
- Utilities
- Restaurant services other than franchises and concessions
- Interest and exchange differences

Option to tax for excluded supplies. Not applicable.

E. Time of supply

The time when VAT becomes due is called the “time of sale” or “tax point.”

For a sale of goods, the tax point is the earlier of the following events:

- The issuance of the invoice or the delivery of the goods
- Withdrawal of movable goods by the taxable person for its own use or to form part of its fixed assets

For a supply of services, the tax point is the earliest of the following events:

- The issuance of the invoice or equivalent document
- Termination of the provision of the service
- Payment or accrual, whichever occurs first

For the importation of goods, the tax point is when the goods are nationalized; that is, when the goods have cleared all customs formalities for importation.

Imported goods. The general VAT rate on imported goods is 16% (exceptions in law).

Companies that the DIAN recognizes as high-volume exporters (ALTEX) enjoy tax and administrative benefits such as:

- No VAT imposed for regular imports of industrial machinery that is not produced in the country and is used to transform raw materials
- Possibility of obtaining authorization from the DIAN to operate an industrial processing warehouse that allows the import of supplies and raw materials with suspension of customs duties and of VAT, as long as such supplies and materials are used in the production of export products

Colombia has special importation-exportation programs, also known as Plan Vallejo, that allow temporary importation of such supplies as capital goods, raw materials, inputs, and parts with significant customs and tax benefits, subject to compliance with the requirement that the imports are used to manufacture and export finished goods or services.

Plan Vallejo is applicable to the imports and exports of companies whose main activity consists of one of the following:

- Raw materials
- Capital goods for the agriculture sector
- Services export, such as:
 - Services of transmission, distribution, and commercialization of electric energy
 - Special design services, value added telecommunications and software exports

International leasing. International leasing may be used to finance long-term temporary importation of capital goods, which may remain in the national customs territory for more than five years. In addition, the DIAN may allow long-term temporary imports of accessories and spare parts that do not arrive as part of the same shipment, if they are imported within the five-year term. Customs duties (tariffs and VAT) are paid biannually. The maximum term for deferment is five years, even though the goods may remain for a longer period in Colombia. When the agreement's duration exceeds five years, with the last payment corresponding to such period, all customs duties that have not been paid must be paid.

This alternative can be complemented with a provision that allows VAT-free treatment of temporary imports of equipment and machinery, considered as heavy machinery for basic industries in Colombia.

Free trade zones. A free trade zone (FTZ) is a territorial area where industrial and commercial activities are developed under a special customs, tax and foreign trade regime. Merchandise that enters a free trade zone is considered to be outside Colombia for customs purposes only. The objective of these zones is to promote new jobs, new investment in fixed real assets and the creation of scale economies.

The main benefits of operating under a free trade zone are:

- No customs duties or VAT on the capital goods, equipment and machinery that enters into the FTZ for as long as these goods stay in the FTZ.
- VAT exemption on purchases of movable tangible goods, as long as these are effectively exported or transformed.
- VAT exemption for local sales when the purchaser is an industrial user of a FTZ and the goods (raw material, spare parts, semi-finished goods) will be used in compliance with FTZ rules and regulations.
- The intermediary production services that these companies may provide are equally exempt from VAT, as long as the final product is effectively exported.
- Exemption from withholding tax in the payment or credit to account for the acquisition of goods, destined to be exported, provided a certificate of purchase is issued to the seller in which a declaration is made regarding the future export of the product.

International trade companies. International trade companies (ITC) are intended to trade and sell Colombian products abroad. These products are purchased in the domestic market or may be manufactured by partners of the ITC. These companies must be registered before the Colombian Tax and Customs Authority (DIAN).

The most important benefits of these companies are:

- Exemption from VAT on purchases of movable tangible goods, as long as these are effectively exported or transformed.
- The intermediary production services that these companies may provide are equally exempt from VAT, as long as the final product is effectively exported.
- Exemption from withholding tax in the payment or credit to account for the acquisition of goods, destined to be exported, provided a certificate of purchase is issued to the seller in which a declaration is made regarding the future export of the product.

F. Recovery of VAT by taxable persons

A taxable person may discount (credit) VAT paid on purchases (known as input tax) from VAT charged on sales (known as output tax), if the input tax relates to certain types of expenditure. Input tax paid on the acquisition of movable tangible goods and on services supplied to a taxable person, or VAT paid on imports of movable goods may be claimed as a discount (credit) up to a limit determined by applying the rate of VAT charged on the supply of the goods or services provided by the taxable person to the input tax incurred. Any excess input tax paid (that is, the amount of input tax exceeding the limit determined by applying the VAT rate charged on the supply of goods and services) may be requested as a refund but only after the income tax return for the given year has been filed. In addition, for transactions with foreign suppliers, the reverse-charge (self-assessment) mechanism must be used and the VAT withheld may be treated as input tax in accordance with the general rules and limitations if the taxable person can prove to the tax authorities that the tax has been withheld. Alternatively, the VAT withheld can be treated as a higher cost or expense if the rules to claim the input tax as a credit are not met.

Refunds. If the amount of input VAT recoverable in a taxable period exceeds the amount of output VAT payable, the taxable person earns an input VAT credit. The credit may be refunded on a bimonthly basis if either of the following applies:

- The taxable person is an exporter of goods or services.
- The taxable person supplies zero-rated (0% rate) goods or has been subject to VAT withholding and the total balance arises from the withholdings.

In addition, a refund of VAT paid on the acquisition of materials used to construct “housing of social interest” may be requested if the construction plans were approved by the Colombian government.

Effective 1 January 2013, if a VAT balance in favor of the taxpayer exists because of VAT rate differences, the balance may be carried forward, offset or refunded under certain conditions (see Section 481 of the Colombian Tax Code). The balance in favor must have been originated during the previous taxable period and will be determined according to a proportionality mechanism.

Also effective 1 January 2013, some procedural changes apply to tax filers depending on whether they file bimonthly, quarterly or annually.

VAT taxpayers subject to the ordinary income tax regime are allowed to claim as income tax credit the VAT paid on acquisition or import of capital goods. Yearly regulation is required to determine the VAT percentage that may be claimed, depending on VAT collection by the government in the previous year.

Acquisitions or importations of industrial machinery. VAT paid for the acquisition of capital goods may be creditable against the income tax based on an official accumulative proportion established yearly by the tax authority, depending on VAT collection in the previous year. VAT paid but not refunded via this mechanism should be treated as part of the cost paid for the assets and is included in the base for depreciation.

Heavy machinery for basic industries. VAT paid for the acquisition of heavy machinery by a company involved in one of the basic industries (for example, mining, oil and gas, and power generation) may be treated as a discount against tax due in the taxpayer's income tax returns. The discount may be applied in the tax year of acquisition or importation and in the following periods. If the imported machinery has a Cost, Insurance, Freight (CIF) value in excess of USD500,000, VAT may be paid in the following percentages:

- 40% when the importation form is completed
- The remaining 60% within the next two years

The taxpayer must enter into a payment agreement with the local tax authorities if it wishes to use the above method.

A special measure applies to long-term temporary imports of heavy machinery that are not produced in Colombia and that are imported by companies involved in basic industries. Under this measure, these imports are excluded from VAT, at the time of the entry of the goods into Colombia. To obtain the VAT exclusion, the importer must submit a certificate of the Ministry of Industry, Commerce and Tourism at the time of entry. This certificate must state that the machinery to be imported is not produced in Colombia and that it will be used in a basic industry.

Depending on the situation, VAT paid for the acquisition of "real productive fixed assets" may be treated as one of the following:

- A part of the cost of the goods acquired.
- A tax discount in the income tax return. This measure applies only to industrial machinery acquired or imported by producers of VAT-excluded products or the VAT paid in the acquisition or importation of heavy machinery in basic industries.

Partial exemption. Not applicable.

Preregistration costs. Not applicable.

G. Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses

Colombia does not refund VAT incurred by foreign or non-established businesses unless they are registered for VAT there. However, members of accredited diplomatic missions and members of the United Nations may claim a refund of VAT paid.

H. Invoicing

Tax credit documents, invoices and credit notes. A taxable person must provide a VAT invoice for all taxable supplies made, including exports. In some cases, other documents may be treated as equivalent to invoices such as tickets and contracts signed with nonresidents for technical services or technical assistance services. A tax invoice is generally necessary to support a claim for input tax credit.

Proof of exports. VAT is not chargeable on supplies of exported goods. Exports are exempt from VAT. However, to qualify as VAT-free, exports must be supported by customs documents that prove that the goods have left Colombia. The exporter must file a declaration to the tax authorities by filling out a DEX (Declaración de Exportación) and be registered as an exporter with the Registro Único Tributario (RUT). In Colombia, sales of goods required for the normal development of the businesses of operators or industrial users located in free-trade zones and sales to International Commercialization Companies are considered to be exports if the goods are effectively supplied to the purchaser. Consequently, these transactions are also exempt from VAT.

Foreign-currency invoices. Invoices may be issued in a foreign currency, but must be paid in Colombian pesos (COP). The VAT amount must be converted to pesos using the market exchange rate on the date of the transaction. The Colombian Central Bank manages the exchange system.

I. VAT returns and payment

VAT returns. VAT returns are filed bimonthly at the end of February, April, June, August, October and December by large taxpayers, which are those with gross revenues equal to or higher than 92,000 UVT (tax value unit or unidad de valor tributario), or approximately USD1 million. (In 2015, one UVT equals COP28,279.) Taxpayers with gross revenues between 15,000 UVT (USD162,000) and 92,000 UVT (USD1 million) file VAT returns every four months at the end of April, August and December; and taxpayers with gross revenues lower than 15,000 UVT file an annual tax return. Returns must be submitted to an authorized commercial bank by the due date specified in a governmental decree.

Liabilities shown in returns must be paid in Colombian pesos.

Special schemes. Not applicable.

Electronic filing and archiving. Provided the taxpayer has a digital signature, VAT returns must be filed electronically at www.dian.gov.co.

Annual returns. Taxpayers with gross revenues lower than 15,000 UVT file annual returns.

J. Penalties

The penalty for late filing and payment applies for each calendar month (or part thereof) of delay. It equals 5% of the total tax charged or withheld in the tax return period, up to a maximum of 100% of the tax.

If the taxable person is not required to pay any VAT, the penalty for each month of delay (or part of a calendar month) equals 0.5% of the gross income received by the taxpayer, up to a maximum of 5% of such income, or twice the credit balance in favor of the taxpayer in the return period. The maximum penalty is 5% of gross income or two times the credit balance (if any) or, if no credit balance exists, USD72,329 (for 2014). If the taxpayer does not have any income during the period, the penalty per month (or part of a month) equals 1% of net equity for the preceding year. The maximum penalty is the lower of 10% of the taxpayer's net equity for the preceding year and twice the credit balance (if any) or, if no credit balance exists, USD72,329. The minimum penalty is USD141.

The taxpayer must include the appropriate amount of penalty in a tax return that is filed late.

The interest rate charged on late payments of VAT is determined every three months, by a national decree. The current rate established by the government is 30.51% annually.

The Criminal Code includes penalties for the omission of tax liabilities. A taxpayer or tax withholder that does not pay collected VAT amounts within the two months after the due date may be punished with imprisonment for a term of between three and six years, and payment of a penalty equal to twice the amount of unpaid VAT, up to a maximum of USD14,755,105 for 2014.

K. Consumption tax

Effective January 2013, a consumption tax applies to certain goods and services, including but not limited to restaurant services (including catering services), mobile phone services, the sale or import of certain vehicles and the sale of jewelry.

Consumption tax rates.

- Certain vehicles based on their free on board (FOB) value: 8%
- Restaurant services other than franchises and concessions: 8%
- Mobile phone services: 4%
- Luxury vehicles, chassis, hot-air balloons and airships: 16%

Moment of taxation. The tax is levied at the date and time the invoice is issued to the final consumer or upon delivery of the goods or services to the final consumer.

Returns. Returns for the consumption tax are filed quarterly, starting on the date when taxable activities commenced and ending at the end of the calendar quarter.

The consumption tax return must contain the following:

- Basic taxpayer identification information
- All the taxable events subject to the consumption tax
- The calculation of the consumption tax
- The signature of the obliged taxpayer and/or its representative
- The signature of the accountant, CPA and/or statutory auditor if applicable

Invoicing. For restaurants, bars, grills and other food and catering services, the consumption tax must be shown in the bill, registration ticket or invoice, and it must be calculated over the total amount of the consumption, including all the foods, entrances or tickets and any additional amounts attached to the rendering of the service. There are exceptions for tips and food that has not been transformed or otherwise prepared upon serving.

Tax recovery. Tax paid does not generate input VAT (VAT credit) but may be treated as a deduction for income tax purposes.

Penalties. Penalties for failure to file consumption tax returns are calculated in the same manner as for the VAT (see Section J).

Costa Rica

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

San José

GMT -6

EY

Edificio Meridiano, Piso 2
25 metros Sur del Centro Comercial
Multiplaza
Escazú, San José
Costa Rica

Indirect tax contacts

Rafael Sayagués		+506 2208-9880
	New York:	+1 (212) 773-4761
		rafael.sayagues@cr.ey.com
Juan Carlos Chavarría		+506 2208-9844
		juan-carlos.chavarria@cr.ey.com
Antonio Ruiz		+506 2208-9822
		antonio.ruiz@cr.ey.com
Luis Eduardo Ocando B.		+507 208-0144
(resident in Panama)		luis.ocando@pa.ey.com

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Value-added tax (VAT)
Local name	Impuesto General sobre las Ventas
Date introduced	8 November 1982
Trading bloc membership	Central American Integration System (no differentiated VAT treatment)
Administered by	Ministry of Finance (http://dgt.hacienda.go.cr)
VAT rates
Standard	13%
Reduced	5%, 10%
Other	Exempt and zero-rated
VAT number format	Corporate or individual identification number
VAT return period	Monthly
Thresholds
Registration	None (a simplified VAT regime applies to small taxpayers; see Section C)
Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses	No

B. Scope of the tax

VAT applies to the following transactions:

- All types of transfers of goods and the rendering of certain services in Costa Rica by taxable persons

- Self-consumption
- The importation of goods into Costa Rica, regardless of the status of the importer

C. Who is liable

A VAT taxpayer is any business entity or individual that sells taxable goods (including imports and exports of goods) or that provides taxable services on a regular basis. A permanent establishment of a foreign business in Costa Rica may be a VAT taxpayer.

No turnover threshold applies to VAT registration. As soon as a taxable person begins a taxable activity, it must notify the VAT authorities of its obligation to register. A taxable person that does not notify the VAT authorities of its obligation to register may be automatically included in the registry of VAT taxpayers.

Small taxpayers. A simplified VAT regime applies to small taxpayers. The simplified regime applies to individuals who carry out a limited range of activities, such as small retail activities, including operating a grocery store or mini-market. To qualify as a small taxpayer, the entrepreneur's annual purchases may not exceed CRC59,910,000 (approximately USD110,331), and the entrepreneur may not have more than five employees. Under the simplified regime, presumed taxable turnover is calculated by applying an estimated profitability factor that is determined based on the taxpayer's business sector. The VAT rate is applied to the presumed taxable turnover and the small taxpayer pays VAT on that base.

Group registration. VAT grouping is not allowed under the Costa Rican VAT law. Legal entities that are closely connected must register for VAT individually.

Non-established businesses. A "non-established business" is a business that has no fixed establishment in Costa Rica. In principle, a non-established business must register for VAT if it supplies goods or services in Costa Rica.

Late-registration penalties. A taxpayer that fails to register for VAT on a timely basis cannot offset VAT credits generated from purchases that at the time of registration are included in inventory.

Penalties and interest are also assessed for late registration for VAT.

Tax representatives. At the moment of registering an entity as VAT taxpayer, a tax representative must be appointed. The tax representative must be the legal representative of the entity.

Reverse charge. Not applicable.

Digital economy. There are no specific rules or regulations regarding e-commerce. However, the tax administration has ruled that certain forms of e-commerce may be subject to VAT.

Registration procedures. Taxpayers must register at the time they start selling goods or providing services subject to VAT, either in person at the offices of the tax administration by filing form D-140 or online if the tax representative is a Costa Rican individual or has a tax identification number.

Deregistration. In order to deregister, the taxpayer has to file Form D-140 in person at the offices of the tax administration or online, and the last VAT return must be filed within 10 days after deregistering.

D. VAT rates

In Costa Rica, the standard rate of VAT is 13%. The standard rate applies to the supply of all goods and to taxable services, unless a specific measure provides for an exemption. Supplies of wood are subject to a 10% rate, and the residential supply of electricity is subject to a 5% rate.

In addition, some activities are exempt or zero-rated. In both cases, no VAT is charged. However, unlike zero-rated activities, exempt activities do not give rise to a right of input tax (see Section F).

Examples of exempt supplies of goods and services

- Goods that form part of the “average weekly shopping” (a list of items considered essential for the traditional household)
- Veterinarian and agricultural products including livestock
- Coffins
- Domestic monthly consumption of electricity not exceeding 250 kilowatts per hour
- Tires for farm machinery
- Medicines
- Books, musical compositions and paintings created in Costa Rica
- Exported goods
- Reimportation of national goods within three years of their export

Option to tax for exempt supplies. Not applicable.

E. Time of supply

The time when the taxable event is considered to have taken place and VAT becomes due is called the “tax point.”

For the sale of goods, the tax point is the earlier of the delivery of the goods or the issuance of an invoice. For services, the tax point is the earlier of when the services are performed or an invoice is issued.

Imported goods. The time of supply for imported goods is when the bill of lading or the customs form for the goods is accepted.

F. Recovery of VAT by taxable persons

A taxpayer may offset input tax, which is VAT paid on the purchase of goods and services used to generate other goods and services subject to tax. Input tax is generally credited against output tax, which is VAT charged or collected on the sale of goods or the rendering of services. An input tax credit may be taken in the month of the import or the acquisition of goods and services. Taxpayers receive a tax credit or deduction for tax paid with respect to the following:

- The purchase or importation of goods and services used in the production, trade and distribution of taxable merchandise or services

- The payment of insurance premiums for the protection of merchandise used or incorporated physically in the production of taxable merchandise or services
- The purchase of merchandise used during the production, trade and distribution of exempt merchandise
- The purchase of merchandise used during the production, trade and distribution of goods for exportation

A valid tax invoice or customs document must generally accompany a claim for an input tax credit.

Nondeductible input tax. Input tax may not be recovered on purchases of goods and services that are not used in the production, trade and distribution of the final goods and services supplied by the taxpayer.

Examples of items for which input tax is nondeductible

- Overhead expenses of a business, generally

Examples of items for which input tax is deductible
(if related to a taxable business use)

- Insurance premiums
- Wrapping, packaging, etc.

Partial exemption. Not applicable.

Preregistration costs. Taxpayers are not permitted to recover input VAT paid on purchases made prior to VAT registration.

Refunds. If the amount of input VAT recoverable in a month exceeds the amount of output VAT payable, the taxpayer obtains an input VAT credit. The input VAT credit may be carried forward to offset output tax in the following months. Under special circumstances, if the taxpayer foresees that VAT credits will not be used within the following three months, the taxpayer may request to use the credits to offset other tax liabilities.

G. Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses

Costa Rica does not refund VAT incurred by foreign or non-established businesses unless they are registered for VAT in Costa Rica.

H. Invoicing

VAT invoices and credit notes. A VAT taxpayer must generally provide a VAT invoice for all taxable supplies made. Invoices must be authorized by the tax authorities. The tax authorities may authorize the use of cash registers and other computerized systems to issue invoices. Invoices must include an official invoice number and the taxpayer's identification number, and it must also show the VAT amount separately, among other requirements.

A VAT invoice is generally necessary to support a claim for input tax credit.

A VAT credit note may be used to reduce the VAT charged and reclaimed on the supply of goods and services.

Exports. Costa Rican VAT is not imposed on the supply of exported goods. However, to qualify as VAT-free, exports must be supported by customs documents that prove the goods have left Costa Rica. Suitable evidence includes export invoices and bills of lading.

Foreign-currency invoices. In general, VAT invoices must be issued in colons (CRC). However, invoices may be issued in US dollars (USD) if the amount in colons is also stated. The applicable exchange rate is the exchange rate on the date of issuance of the invoice, as established by the Costa Rican Central Bank.

I. VAT returns and payment

VAT returns. VAT returns are submitted monthly. Returns must be submitted by the 15th day of the month following the end of the return period. Payment in full is due on the same date. A return must be filed even if no VAT is due for the period.

Tax due must be paid in Costa Rican colons.

Special schemes. VAT returns for small taxpayers must be submitted quarterly by the 15th day of the month following the end of the return period. The relevant months are October, January, April and July. Payment in full is due on the same date, and a return must be filed even if no VAT is due for the period.

Electronic filing and archiving. VAT returns can be filed electronically using free software that can be downloaded at <http://dgt.hacienda.go.cr>. Filing requires a Tax ID (Nite or Dimex) issued by the tax authorities. Archiving tax returns may also be done electronically.

Annual returns. It is not permitted to file VAT returns annually in Costa Rica.

J. Penalties

Penalties apply to a range of VAT offenses in the following amounts:

- Late filing of a VAT return: a penalty of 50% of the average monthly Costa Rican wage (“Base Salary” as established by law is CRC399,400, which is approximately USD735). The amount of the penalty may be reduced up to 80%, depending on the time of payment.
- Late payment of VAT: a penalty of 1% of the unpaid amount for every month or fraction of a month. The maximum penalty is 20% of the unpaid amount.
- Inaccuracies in the return: a penalty of 50% of the unpaid amount (as determined by the tax authorities). Such penalties may be increased to 100% or 150% if the inaccuracies qualify as severe or very severe. For this purpose, the unpaid amount must be higher than 500 times the value of the Base Salary and meet certain other requirements, such as deriving from the concealment of information or use of fraudulent means. These penalties may be reduced up to 80% depending on the time of payment.

In addition, interest applies to underpayments of VAT at the average interest rate charged by commercial banks to the commercial sector for the tax period.

Violation of formal duties. A failure to file and satisfy reporting obligations in Costa Rica is subject to penalties ranging from half a Base Salary to two Base Salaries as follows:

- Not registering with the relevant tax authorities – penalty of half a Base Salary
- Failure to maintain accounting books or records required by law – penalty of one Base Salary
- Failure to maintain shareholder registry book – penalty of one Base Salary
- Failure to issue invoices as required by law – two Base Salaries

Tax fraud. Tax fraud occurs when the taxpayer by any action or omission commits fraud against the tax authorities by incorrectly computing the amount of tax due. VAT fraud that results in an underpayment of VAT greater than 500 times the Base Salary is punishable by a term of imprisonment of 5 to 10 years.

Croatia

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Zagreb

GMT +1

Ernst & Young Savjetovanje d.o.o.

Radnicka cesta 50

Milana Sachsa 1

10000 Zagreb

Croatia

Indirect tax contacts

Dénes Szabó	+385 (1) 5800 900 denes.szabo@hr.ey.com
Maša Šarić	+385 (1) 5800 935 masa.saric@hr.ey.com
Marko Starčević	+385 (1) 5800 925 marko.starcevic@hr.ey.com

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Value-added tax (VAT)
Local name	Porez na dodanu vrijednost (PDV)
Date introduced	1 January 1998
Trading bloc membership	European Union (EU) Member State
Administered by	Ministry of Finance (http://www.porezna-uprava.hr)
VAT rates
Standard	25%
Reduced	13% and 5%
Other	Exempt
VAT number format	Prefix HR followed by the eleven-digit personal identification number (OIB) e.g., HR12345678910
VAT return periods
Businesses established in Croatia	Monthly or quarterly for tax year 2015 and later; annual return also required for 2014
Businesses not established in Croatia	Monthly and annually
Thresholds
Registration
Businesses established in Croatia	HRK230,000 (approximately EUR30,600) of taxable supplies in the preceding calendar year
Businesses not established in Croatia	No threshold: foreign businesses should register in Croatia before

Distance selling	performing their first taxable supplies in Croatia HRK270,000 (approximately EUR36,000)
Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses	Yes (reciprocity required for taxable persons not established within the EU)

B. Scope of the tax

VAT applies to the following transactions:

- Supply of goods and services in Croatia for consideration by a taxable person, performed in the course of the person's business activity, and supplies made in accordance with the provisions of the law or decisions of state bodies
- Intra-Community acquisition of goods from another EU Member State by a taxable person
- Import of goods into Croatia

C. Who is liable

Taxable person. A taxable person is any person who independently carries out any economic activity, regardless of the purpose or results of that activity.

VAT registration is required when beginning taxable activities in Croatia.

Taxable persons applying the scheme for small businesses. Taxable persons established in Croatia can apply a special scheme for small entrepreneurs if their taxable supplies in the preceding calendar year do not exceed HRK230,000 (approximately EUR30,200). Taxable persons applying this scheme do not charge Croatian VAT as their transactions are exempt from VAT, but they also cannot deduct input VAT.

Voluntary registration. A taxable person subject to the special scheme for small businesses may voluntarily register for VAT when beginning business activities or may register by the end of the year for the following year. In the case of voluntary registration, the entrepreneur must remain a VAT payer for a period of five years.

A taxable person may voluntarily register for VAT when beginning business activities or may register by the end of the year for the following year. In the case of voluntary registration, the entrepreneur must remain a VAT payer for a period of five years.

A taxable person whose taxable supplies exceeded the prescribed threshold is considered to be a VAT payer as of 1 January of the following year and must inform the tax authorities by submitting an application for VAT registration by 15 January of that year. Retrospective VAT registration is not possible.

Group registration. VAT group registration is not allowed under the Croatian VAT law.

Non-established businesses. A "non-established business" is a business that does not have an establishment in Croatia. A non-established business that makes supplies of goods or services in Croatia is liable to account for VAT on these supplies.

However, if supplies are made to a recipient who is either a taxable person or a legal person that is not a taxable person but registered for VAT in Croatia, Croatian VAT should be calculated by the recipient of the supply.

Consequently, non-established businesses must register for VAT if they make any of the following supplies:

- Intra-Community supplies
- Intra-Community acquisitions
- Distance sales in excess of the threshold
- Supplies of goods and services that are not subject to the reverse charge (for example, goods or services supplied to private persons)
- Export supplies

Tax representatives. A foreign entity (taxable person) which has to register for VAT in Croatia may appoint a tax representative. Taxable persons in Croatia can be appointed as tax representatives if they have an establishment or permanent address in Croatia and are not a branch of a company.

A foreign entity (taxable person) that has a seat outside the EU must appoint a tax representative.

Reverse charge. The reverse charge applies to the supply of most goods and services performed by non-established businesses to Croatian entrepreneurs. The recipient of the supply accounts for VAT using the appropriate Croatian VAT rate. When making supplies subject to reverse charge, the non-established supplier is not required to register for VAT in Croatia.

Croatia applies a domestic reverse-charge mechanism for certain supplies. The following activities fall within the scope of the domestic reverse charge:

- Construction work (repair, maintenance, alteration and demolition services in relation to immovable property) and supply of staff engaged in construction work
- Supplies of waste
- Supplies of real estate (only applicable from 1 January 2015)
- Supplies of immovable property in a compulsory sale procedure and similar (only applicable from 1 January 2015)
- Transfer of greenhouse gas emission units

Registration procedures. A company becomes liable to register as a VAT payer as of 1 January of the year following the year in which annual taxable supplies exceed the prescribed threshold.

Entrepreneurs whose taxable supplies do not exceed threshold may also apply for VAT registration. After registering, such entrepreneur is obliged to remain in the VAT system for the next five years.

In case a Croatian VAT payer intends to perform supplies within the EU, it should request a Croatian VAT ID number 15 days before the first supply is made.

Taxpayers in all cases mentioned above should file the request for VAT registration with the Croatian Tax Authority by submitting a hard copy of the application in person. The registration procedure may be initiated in person by a third party legally authorized by the company applying.

All accompanying documents (which should be filed in hard copy) with the request should be translated to Croatian by the official interpreter. A VAT ID number should be assigned within 8 days from the day when all documentation is submitted.

Registration for MOSS purposes should be done through the HR-MOSS internet portal of the Croatian Tax Authority. HR-MOSS application is available on the following link:

<https://eusustavi.porezna-uprava.hr/wps/myportal>.

Late-registration penalties. Penalties for non-registration range between HRK1,000 and HRK200,000 (approximately EUR135 and EUR26,700) for the company and between HRK500 and HRK40,000 (approximately EUR66 and EUR5,300) for the responsible person within the company.

Digital economy. As of January 2015, the place of supply of telecommunication, broadcasting and electronically provided services to non-taxable persons (B2C) is where the customer is established.

Mini One-Stop Shop. The Mini One-Stop Shop (MOSS) is a special scheme for suppliers established in EU (EU suppliers) and as well as those established outside EU (non-EU suppliers).

The Member State of identification is the Member State where the taxable person is registered for MOSS and where it declares and pays the VAT due in respect of the Member State of consumption. It obliges taxpayers to stay in the scheme two years following the year of registration.

Non-EU suppliers. Non-EU suppliers that choose Croatia as the Member State of identification apply by filing the application electronically with the Croatian Tax Authority. The application should include the following information:

- Name of the non-EU supplier
- Postal address
- Electronic address including web pages
- National tax number (if any) and the statement that it is not registered within EU for VAT purposes.

The non-EU supplier should inform the Croatian Tax Authority if the initially provided information is subsequently amended. The Croatian Tax Authority assigns the identification number and electronically informs the applicant. The non-EU supplier is not required to appoint a fiscal representative. The non-EU supplier will not be able to deduct input VAT through the respective VAT return but will have to apply refund procedures prescribed by 13th Directive 86/560/EEZ.

EU suppliers. The EU supplier who has established its business or has a fixed establishment in the EU can register for MOSS. If the EU supplier does not have a head office or permanent establishment within the EU, the Member State of identification is a Member State where the EU supplier has a fixed establishment. Where the EU supplier has more than one fixed establishment in the EU, that taxable person can choose any Member State in which it has a fixed establishment to be its Member State of identification. In that case it is bound to that decision for the current calendar year, plus the two following calendar years.

The EU supplier that does not have establishment in the Member State of consumption, and chooses Croatia as a Member State of identification will have to apply for MOSS, electronically filing the application with the Croatian Tax Authority using the Croatian VAT ID number.

Registration for MOSS purposes should be done through the HR-MOSS internet portal of the Croatian Tax Authority at this link: <https://eusustavi.porezna-uprava.hr/wps/myportal>.

Deregistration. Taxpayers registered for VAT (because the VAT threshold was reached in past periods) may submit written application for deregistration to the Croatian Tax Authority until 15 January if the threshold in the preceding year was not reached.

Foreign taxpayers who have obtained a Croatian VAT number and cease the economic activities in Croatia for which they were registered should notify the Croatian Tax Authority about the cessation of business activities within eight days.

Croatian VAT payers who also perform intra-Community transactions may apply for deregistration if they cease to perform such transactions. The cancellation of a VAT number does not automatically mean that taxpayer is erased from the VAT register in Croatia.

Taxpayers that have not been performing business activities during the two preceding calendar years will be automatically removed from the VAT register.

Deregistration occurs more rapidly if fraudulent activities have taken place.

The Croatian Tax Authority can also cancel the VAT number if it determines that there is no further reason for VAT registration in Croatia or in case the taxpayer has misused the VAT number.

D. VAT rates

The term “taxable supply” refers to supplies of goods and services that are liable to any of the VAT rates, including supplies that are exempt with the right to deduct input VAT.

The following are the VAT rates in Croatia:

- Standard rate: 25%
- Reduced rates: 13% and 5%

The standard rate of VAT applies to all supplies of goods or services, unless a specific measure provides for a reduced rate or exemption.

Examples of goods and services taxable at 5%

- All types of bread
- All types of milk
- Books containing professional, scientific, artistic, cultural and educational content
- Drugs on doctors’ prescriptions and authorized by relevant agency
- Medical products, implants and other orthopedic devices
- Cinema tickets
- Scientific magazines
- Newspapers and magazines published daily unless they are used for advertising purposes

Examples of goods and services taxable at 13%

- Room only, bed and breakfast, half board or full board accommodation services in all types of the listed commercial catering facilities and agency commission services for all the above mentioned services
- Services of preparing food and restaurant services, preparing and serving non-alcoholic drinks and beverages, wine and beer in such premises, in accordance with special legislation
- Daily and periodic newspapers and magazines printed on paper with the exception of those subject to 5% or that, in their entirety or mainly, contain advertisements or serve advertising purposes
- Oils and fats for human consumption, of either vegetable or animal origin, in accordance with special legislation
- Baby food and processed grain food for infants and small children, in accordance with special legislation
- Supply of water, with the exception of water sold in bottles or any other packaging
- White sugar produced from sugar cane or sugar beet
- Concert tickets
- Art and cultural magazines

The term “exempt supply” refers to all supplies of goods and services that are not liable to VAT. Exempt supplies do not give rise to the right of input VAT deduction. Supplies that are “exempt with the right to deduct input VAT” include exports of goods outside the EU and related services and intra-Community goods and services supplied to another taxable person established in the EU or to a recipient outside the EU.

Examples of exempt supplies of goods and services

- Public interest activities
- Postal service
- Hospital services and health care services
- Social care services
- Financial services
- Insurance transactions
- Real estate transactions (applicable from 1 January 2015)

Option to tax for exempt supplies. An option to tax is available for the occasional supply of finance that is connected with the taxpayer’s supplies of goods or services. The taxpayer may also opt for taxation of supplies of real estate and land (except construction land) to another taxpayer who is fully entitled to input VAT deduction. The option may be exercised at the moment of supply.

E. Time of supply

The time when VAT becomes due is called the “chargeable event” or “tax point.” Under the general rules the chargeable event occurs when goods are delivered or when services are performed.

If no invoice is issued for supplied goods or services, VAT is due on the last day of the tax period (month) in which the goods are delivered or the services performed.

Intra-Community acquisitions. Tax point is the moment when goods are acquired within the EU. VAT is due the moment the invoice is issued. The invoice should be issued no later than the 15th day of the month following the month in which the goods are delivered. If the invoice for the supply is not issued in time, VAT is due on the 15th day of the month following the month in which goods were acquired.

Prepayments. If a payment is made before the supply (prepayment), VAT is due the moment the prepayment is received. A regular VAT invoice must be issued when a prepayment is received. The above rules do not apply to prepayments in connection with intra-Community supplies and acquisitions and in case of import.

Imported goods. VAT on import is due when goods are imported, or when the goods leave the duty suspension regime and are released for free circulation.

Cash accounting. Domestic entrepreneurs registered as personal income taxpayers, e.g., craftsmen, charge and pay VAT on a cash basis, that is, on the basis of payments received for their supplies of goods and services except when making supplies of goods in the EU, acquiring goods in the EU, transferring goods to other EU countries, receiving services subject to reverse charge, or receiving goods or services subject to domestic reverse charge. This cash accounting scheme was applicable until 31 December 2014. As of 1 January 2015, all taxpayers whose supplies in the preceding calendar year did not exceed HRK3 million (EUR400,000) may apply the cash accounting scheme. Taxpayers who choose to apply the cash accounting scheme are not able to deduct input VAT on invoices received from their suppliers until they have paid them.

Reverse-charge services. The supply of services becomes generally taxable when the service is supplied, i.e., consumed by the recipient. The tax point for the supply taxed under the reverse-charge procedure is the end of the month following the month in which supply takes place. If the invoice is issued before this date, the tax point is the date on which the invoice is issued.

Continuous supplies of services. When the service is being provided continuously through several tax periods, VAT becomes due at the end of each tax period in which the service is provided, regardless of whether the invoice has been issued.

Intra-Community supplies of goods. Generally, for intra-Community supplies of goods, VAT is due when the invoice is issued. Otherwise, VAT is due on the 15th day of the month following the month in which goods are supplied. However, intra-Community supplies of goods are exempt from VAT in Croatia if certain requirements are met, such as cases where the goods left the territory of Croatia and a VAT ID is obtained from the customer.

Leased assets. VAT law prescribes specific VAT treatment of leasing agreements. It differentiates VAT treatment of lease transactions depending on whether the lease in question is an operating or finance lease. In general, a finance lease arrangement is treated for VAT purposes as a supply of goods while an operating lease would be treated as provision of services.

In the case of a finance lease where the lessee bears depreciation costs and may acquire ownership rights over the asset, the VAT liability for total value of the lease arises for the accounting period in which the asset has been supplied to the lessee. In the case of an operating lease where the lessor bears depreciation costs of the leased asset and does not have the purchase option, VAT liability arises with respect to respective rental fees incurred in the tax period. If rental fees are not determined for the tax period, i.e., a month, it should be calculated for each month.

F. Recovery of VAT by taxable persons

A taxable person may recover input VAT, which is the VAT charged on goods and services supplied to the taxable person for its business purposes. A taxable person generally recovers input VAT by deducting it from output VAT, which is VAT charged on supplies made. Input VAT includes VAT charged on goods and services supplied in Croatia, VAT paid on imports and self-assessed VAT on intra-Community acquisitions of goods, acquisition of goods within the triangulation and reverse-charge services.

Nondeductible input tax. Input VAT may not be recovered on purchases of goods and services that are not used for business purposes (for example, goods acquired for the private use of entrepreneurs). In addition, input tax may not be recovered for some items of business expenditure.

The following lists provide some examples of items of expenditure for which input VAT is not deductible and examples of items for which input VAT is deductible if the expenditure is related to a taxable business use.

Examples of items for which input VAT is nondeductible

- Purchase and hiring of boats for pleasure, aircrafts, passenger cars and other means of passenger transportation, including purchase of any goods or services related thereto
- The purchase of goods or services for the purpose of business entertainment, which is defined as payment for accommodations, gifts, holidays, sport or pleasure of business partners, as well as payment for rentals of cars, boats, aircraft, summer houses, etc.

Examples of items for which input VAT is deductible (if related to a taxable business use)

- Advertising
- Purchase, lease, fuel and maintenance of test vehicles, taxis and rental vehicles
- Telephones
- Books and newspapers
- Attendance at seminars and training courses (except food and drinks)
- Business gifts up to HRK160 (approximately EUR21)
- Hotel accommodations

Partial exemption. If an entrepreneur uses goods and services in its business activity for which an input VAT deduction is allowed and also uses them with respect to the supply of goods and services for which input VAT deduction is not allowed, the amount of VAT must be divided between deductible input VAT and non-deductible input VAT.

To determine the amount of input VAT that may be recovered, one of the following methods may be used:

- The deductible input VAT may be determined based on accounting and other documentation that relates to taxable and exempt supplies.

- If the taxable person cannot determine the amount of input VAT as described above, a pro-rata method can be used to determine the amount of deductible input VAT. Under the pro-rata method, the total annual supplies (exclusive of VAT) for which input VAT is deductible is divided by total annual supplies, including supplies for which VAT is not deductible.
- The amount of deductible input VAT may be determined separately for each business segment of the taxable person. The taxable person must maintain separate accounting records for each business segment and notify the tax authorities before this method is applied.

If a taxable person performing both taxable and exempt supplies of goods and services determines under the pro-rata method that it has the right to deduct 98% or more of input VAT, it is entitled to a 100% input VAT deduction.

Capital goods. Capital goods are goods classified according to accounting standards as long-term assets. Input VAT is deducted in the year in which the goods are acquired or produced. In general, input VAT on the purchase, import or lease of vehicles for personal transportation is not deductible.

If the conditions applicable to the deduction of input VAT change within a five-year period beginning with the year in which the goods begin to be used, the amount of input VAT is corrected in the period after the change. For real estate, the adjustment period of 10 years applies.

Refunds. If the amount of input VAT recoverable in a tax period exceeds the amount of output VAT payable in that same period, the taxable person has an input VAT credit. An input VAT credit may be carried forward to the following tax period and used as a payment for future VAT liabilities or may be claimed as a VAT refund. A taxable person is entitled to a VAT refund upon request within 30 days after submitting a VAT return, or, in the case of a tax audit, 90 days from when the audit started.

Repayment interest. The tax authorities must pay interest on delayed repayments of VAT. The annual interest rate is 12%.

Preregistration costs. The economic or other activity of the taxpayer begins with preparatory activities undertaken to starting the economy activity. Input VAT in relation to preparatory activities can be deducted if all other requirements for the deduction of input tax are met. In case a taxpayer has applied the special scheme for small enterprises, input VAT could be deducted as of the date of VAT registration (based on the invoice for supplies received from the date of VAT registration).

Write-off of bad debts. In case of subsequent correction of the tax base resulting from withdrawals, various types of discounts or inability to collect receivables, the taxpayer who supplied goods or rendered services can correct amount of VAT only after the taxpayer to whom supplies have been made has corrected respective input VAT and informed the supplier in writing.

Noneconomic activities. A taxpayer cannot deduct input VAT for his noneconomic activities.

G. Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses

Croatia refunds VAT incurred by businesses that are neither established nor registered for VAT in Croatia. Non-established businesses may claim Croatian VAT to the same extent as VAT-registered businesses.

Businesses established in the EU can submit a claim for refund with the tax authorities of their country of establishment. Businesses established outside the EU can claim a refund under the terms of the 13th EU VAT Directive. Croatia applies the condition of reciprocity with respect to refund claims made by applicants from non-EU countries.

Refund application. For non-EU businesses, the deadline for refund claims is 30 June following the calendar year in which the tax was incurred. The application must be completed in Croatian or English.

The minimum claim period is three months, and the minimum claim amount for a period of less than a year is HRK3,100 (approximately EUR400). For an annual claim, the minimum amount is HRK400 (approximately EUR50).

The tax authorities are obliged to make a decision whether the request is approved in full, partially or not approved within eight months of receiving the application for the VAT refund. If the request is approved, the tax authorities must pay the refund within 10 working days following the eight-month deadline.

All claims must be supported by valid original invoices.

The completed application and supporting documents identified above should be sent to the following address:

Porezna uprava
Područni ured Zagreb
Avenija Dubrovnik 32
10 000 Zagreb
Croatia

Businesses established in the EU are required to submit claims for VAT incurred in other Member States electronically on a standardized form to the tax authorities in their own state. The deadline for refund claims is 30 September following the calendar year in which the tax was incurred.

The tax authorities processing the VAT refund must notify the claimant of their decision to accept or refuse the claim within four months of the date they first received the application, which can be extended up to eight months from the date it first received the application in cases where additional information is requested.

H. Invoicing

VAT invoices. A taxable person must generally issue invoices for all taxable supplies, including exports and intra-Community supplies made to the other taxable persons and legal entities which are not taxable persons. Invoices may not be issued for certain exempt financial services and for certain other supplies. A document qualifies as a valid invoice if it complies with the requirements set out in the Croatian VAT Act. A less detailed VAT invoice may be issued for local supplies which do not exceed HRK700 (approximately EUR93).

Credit notes. Where the tax base is changed subsequently because of recall, discounts or impossibility of collection, the taxpayer who made a supply or performed a service can correct its VAT liability but only after the taxpayer to whom goods are supplied or services performed corrects its input VAT and informs the supplier respectively in writing. Credit notes should provide the same data as the original invoice.

Collective invoices. A taxable person can issue a collective invoice with respect to several supplies of goods and services under the condition that the VAT on those supplies arises in the same calendar month.

Self invoicing. When a customer issues the invoice on behalf of the supplier, the invoice must be marked “self invoicing” (“samoizdavanje računa”).

Cash accounting. The invoices from taxpayers that apply the cash accounting scheme have to be marked “cash accounting scheme” (“obračun prema naplaćenju naknadi”).

Proof of exports and intra-Community supplies. Croatian VAT is not chargeable on supplies of exported goods or on intra-Community supplies of goods. However, to qualify as VAT-free, exports and intra-Community supplies must be supported by evidence that the goods have left Croatia/EU. Acceptable proof includes the following documentation:

- For an export, a copy of the export document (customs declaration) officially certified by the customs authorities
- For an intra-Community supply, an invoice with the purchaser’s VAT identification number and corresponding transport document (or other suitable document that clearly refers to the freight of goods specified on the invoice)

Foreign-currency invoices. All amounts stated on an invoice should be in HRK. Amounts may also be stated in any other currency if VAT liability is stated in HRK, applying the Croatian National Bank’s exchange rate applicable on the date when VAT liability occurred.

B2C invoices. Mandatory issuance of invoices in B2C transactions is not prescribed by the VAT legislation.

I. VAT returns and payment

VAT returns. Croatian VAT returns are submitted for monthly or quarterly and annual tax periods. All VAT payers must submit VAT returns electronically. Quarterly tax periods coincide with the months of March, June, September and December. The tax period for a taxable person is determined on the basis of its turnover in the preceding calendar year.

Taxable persons with turnover up to HRK800,000 (approximately EUR105,500) can submit quarterly tax returns if they do not perform intra-Community supplies.

Taxable persons with turnover greater than HRK800,000 (approximately EUR105,500) submit monthly tax returns.

The tax period for foreign taxable persons (non-established businesses) is always a calendar month. VAT returns must be submitted by the 20th day of the month following the accounting period.

Taxable persons must also submit an annual VAT return. The annual VAT return is used for reconciliation purposes and must be submitted to the tax authorities at the Tax Office for the taxable persons' registered seat by the end of February of the current year for the previous calendar year.

Special schemes. Croatia applies special VAT treatment to the following schemes:

- Special scheme for small enterprises
- Tour operator's margin scheme
- Special arrangements for taxable dealers relating to work of art, second-hand goods, antique goods and public auctions
- Special scheme for investment gold
- Mini One-Stop Shop (MOSS)

Special schemes mentioned above (except MOSS) apply regular VAT return filing rules.

Electronic filing and archiving. VAT returns should be filed electronically.

According to the provisions of the VAT Act, all issued and received invoices either on paper or electronically, credit notes, export and import documents, documents used for the VAT exemption, VAT calculations and all other documents relevant for VAT purposes should be kept for a period regulated by the General Tax Act. According to the General Tax Act, bookkeeping documents should be archived for the period of 10 years from the date when the statute of limitation commences, i.e., from the year following the year in which the tax return should have been filed, unless longer deadlines are prescribed by special regulations.

Bookkeeping documentation, such as invoices, should be archived for at least 11 years starting from the last day of the year following the year to which the business records relate. The bookkeeping documents may be stored either as original or in electronic format.

Annual returns. Taxable persons must also submit an annual VAT return. The annual VAT return is used for reconciliation purposes and must be submitted to the tax authorities at the Tax Office for the taxable persons' registered seat by the end of February of the current year for the previous calendar year. The last annual VAT return to be filed is for the year 2014. Starting from 2015, annual VAT returns will be abolished.

J. Penalties

Penalties are imposed for a range of VAT offenses. A penalty ranging from HRK1,000 (approximately EUR130) to HRK500,000 (approximately EUR66,000) is prescribed for a range of offences, including late submission of VAT return, late payment of VAT and errors made on VAT returns.

A penalty ranging from HRK500 (EUR75) to HRK50,000 (EUR6,600) is prescribed for responsible persons in the taxable person as well.

Interest. For late payment of VAT, interest is charged at an annual rate of 12%.

Criminal offenses. The criminal offense of tax evasion in an amount higher than HRK10,000 (approximately EUR1,330), is punishable by a term of imprisonment ranging from six months to five years. However, if the criminal offense causes great damage, the term of imprisonment may range from 3 to 10 years.

K. EU filings

Intrastat. The Intrastat reporting threshold for 2015 is HRK1.8 million (approximately EUR240,000) for arrivals and dispatches.

The Intrastat reporting period is monthly, and the report covers the month in which receipts or deliveries occur, i.e., that month in which the goods physically enter or leave the territory of Croatia. When no reportable transactions occur in the respective month, a “nil return” should be filed.

The deadline for submission of the Intrastat form is the 15th day of the month following the reporting period. If the 15th day of the month is a non-working day, the deadline is the first working day after the 15th day of the month.

The Intrastat report can be submitted electronically to the customs authorities or by post to the following address:

Carinska Uprava
Zrinsko Frankopanska 9
40000 Čakovec

EC Sales List. All businesses registered for VAT are required to complete and submit the EC Sales List (ESL) if they do any of the following:

- Make supplies of goods to a VAT-registered customer in another EU Member State
- Act as an intermediate supplier in triangular transactions between VAT-registered businesses in other EU Member States
- Make supplies of services covered by the “general rule” (to which the reverse charge applies in the customer’s Member State) to a VAT-registered customer in another EU Member State.

The ESL should be filed electronically on the prescribed form by the 20th day of the month following the end of the month in which reportable events occurred. There is no requirement to submit the ESL if there were no reportable sales in the respective month.

EC Acquisitions List. All businesses registered for VAT are required to complete and submit the EC Acquisitions List if they receive supplies of goods or services from a VAT-registered supplier in another EU Member State.

The EC Acquisitions List should be filed electronically on the prescribed form by the 20th day of the month following the end of the month in which reportable events occurred. There is no requirement to file if there were no reportable supplies in the respective month.

Curaçao

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Willemstad

GMT -4

EY

Mail address:
 P.O. Box 3626
 Willemstad
 Curaçao

Street address:

Zeelandia Office Park
 Kaya W.F.G. (Jombi) Mensing 16
 Willemstad
 Curaçao

Indirect tax contacts

Bryan D. Irausquin	+599 (9) 430-5075 bryan.irausquin@an.ey.com
Cristina L. de Freitas Brás	+599 (9) 430-5070 cristina.de.freitas@an.ey.com
Zahayra S.E. de Lain	+599 (9) 430-5080 zahayra.de-lain@an.ey.com
Clarion C. Taylor	+599 (9) 430-5077 clarion.taylor@an.ey.com
Ron van der Born	+599 (9) 430-5076 ron.van-der-born@an.ey.com
Kimberly N. Schreuders	+599 (9) 430-5072 kimberly.schreuders@an.ey.com
Suhena Z. Neuman	+599 (9) 430-5059 suhena.neuman@an.ey.com

Effective from 10 October 2010, the Netherlands Antilles was dissolved. Curaçao became an autonomous country within the Kingdom of the Netherlands and now has its own laws and regulations.

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Turnover tax (TOT)
Local name	Omzetbelasting
Date introduced	1 March 1999
Trading bloc membership	None
Administered by	Inspectie der Belastingen
Rates
Standard	6%
Other	9%, 7% and exempt
TOT number format	1XX.XXX.XXX (9 digits)
TOT return periods	Monthly (or annually on request)
Thresholds	None
Recovery of TOT by non-established businesses	No

B. Scope of the tax

TOT applies to the following transactions:

- The delivery of goods or services in Curaçao by a taxable entrepreneur as part of its business
- The import of goods into Curaçao

C. Who is liable

A taxable entrepreneur is a business entity or individual who delivers goods or performs services (tax activities) in Curaçao. This includes a representative that supplies services on behalf of a nonresident business. In principle, the entrepreneur performing the services or delivering the goods is liable for TOT. In some cases, when the reverse-charge mechanism applies, the (business) customer will be liable for TOT on services enjoyed.

Effective from 1 January 2012, the definition of an entrepreneur was broadened to include an entity or individual who manages an asset to obtain revenue from the asset on a permanent basis. For example, any form of leasing real estate located in Curaçao is subject to TOT, unless an exemption applies. TOT is not due for certain services provided by an entrepreneur established in Curaçao to a nonresident person or business if these services are not enjoyed in Curaçao.

Non-established businesses. A “non-established business” is a business that does not have a fixed establishment in Curaçao.

The TOT law does not provide a definition of a permanent establishment. If goods are delivered by a non-established business and if these goods must be transported for delivery, the place where the transportation originates is considered to be the place of delivery. In other cases, the place of delivery of goods is considered to be the place where the goods are physically located at the moment of delivery.

Group registration. TOT grouping is not allowed under the TOT legislation. Legal business entities that are closely connected must register for TOT individually.

Registration procedures. In general, a taxable entity that begins taxable activities must register with the Inspectorate of Taxes by filing a hard copy letter requesting registration along with some additional required documentation. Completion of the registration process may take from one week up through a few weeks.

Late-registration penalties. No specific penalty is imposed for late registration. However, if the late registration results in the late payment of TOT or the late submission of TOT returns, penalties may be imposed (see Section J).

Tax representatives. A taxpayer may be represented by a third party based on a power of attorney.

Reverse-charge mechanism. Before 1 January 2012, when services were provided in Curaçao by non-established businesses, a reverse-charge mechanism applied and the business receiving the service was liable for TOT if the services were actually performed in Curaçao. However effective from 1 January 2012 for TOT purposes, the place of services provided by non-established businesses is no longer the place where the services are actually performed, but the place where the services are enjoyed.

The businesses enjoying the services in Curaçao provided by non-established businesses are liable for TOT. A non-established business may still, in some circumstances, become liable for TOT. For this purpose please note that a non-established business is deemed to have chosen domicile at the office of the Inspectorate of Taxes, unless the Inspectorate of Taxes has been notified in writing of a different domicile in Curaçao.

Digital economy. TOT legislation does not specifically mention any regulations in connection with the digital economy.

Deregistration. For the deregistration with the Inspectorate of Taxes, a taxpayer should provide proof of deregistration as issued by the Curaçao Chamber of Commerce and some additional documentation. The deregistration with the tax authorities should be completed once all tax filing and payment obligations have been met by the taxpayer.

D. TOT rates

The term “taxable supply” refers to a supply of goods and services that is liable for TOT.

The following rates apply:

- Standard TOT rate: 6%
- Standard TOT rate for insurance: 7%
- Standard TOT rate for specific goods and services listed as luxurious or unhealthy: 9%

The standard TOT rate of 6% applies to all supplies of goods or services, unless a specific measure provides for a different rate or exemption.

Examples of services taxable at 7%

- Insurance (exemption for life insurance, health insurance, reinsurance by insurance companies and services provided by brokers)
- Hotel accommodations, effective 1 January 2014

Examples of goods and services taxable at 9%

- Sale of motor vehicles
- Food prepared and suitable for immediate consumption
- Soft drinks with exception of fruit juices
- Alcoholic beverages
- Tobacco products
- Digital equipment for the storage of films, games and similar data
- Mobile phones and other means for communication
- Weapons and ammunition
- Fireworks
- Christmas trees (except synthetic Christmas trees)
- Motor vehicle rental
- Recreational outings for pleasure
- Scuba diving
- Admission to cinemas, expositions, adult entertainment and permanent recreational facilities
- Film and computer game rental
- Providing food, drinks and alcoholic beverages for consumption in hotels, bars, restaurants and related venues
- Participation in lottery games

The term “exempt supply” refers to a supply of goods and services that is not liable for TOT and for which there is no opportunity to recover input VAT.

Examples of exempt supplies of goods and services

- Medical services
- Water and electricity services
- Public transportation services
- Betting and gaming (casinos)
- Postal services
- Services and goods to an oil refinery
- Bread
- Eggs
- Rice
- Potatoes
- Grain
- Flour
- Baby food
- Fruits and vegetables
- Bottled water

Exports. Exports of goods are exempt from TOT. However, to qualify for a TOT exemption, evidence must confirm that the goods have left Curaçao.

Option to tax for exempt supplies. TOT legislation does not specifically mention any regulations in connection with the option to tax exempt supplies.

E. Time of supply

The time when TOT becomes due is called the “time of supply.” In principle, the time of supply for taxable supplies is the date on which the invoice is issued or should have been issued.

In Curaçao, an invoice must be issued by the 15th day of the month following the month in which the supply takes place. The actual time of supply becomes the date on which the invoice is issued. However, if no invoice is issued, tax becomes due, at the latest, on the day on which the invoice should have been issued.

Imported goods. For imported goods the time of supply is considered to be the moment of importation.

F. Recovery of TOT by taxable persons

In principle, the recovery of TOT by taxable entrepreneurs is not allowed in Curaçao. However, TOT recovery can be requested with respect to the TOT payable at the moment of sale of goods for the following:

- TOT paid by the selling entrepreneur on the import of a commodity
- TOT paid on the import of raw materials, semi-finished products and packing materials used for exported goods produced by the importing entrepreneur

For purposes of the above rule, commodities are stocks of goods purchased for resale.

The TOT paid on imports is recovered by deducting it against TOT due in the TOT return for each TOT period. If the input tax exceeds TOT due in a period, the excess may be carried forward to the following TOT period and subsequent periods.

Partial exemption. TOT legislation does not specifically mention any regulations in connection with partial exemption.

Refunds. Refund of TOT can be requested if certain conditions are met and the entrepreneur is sufficiently able to prove that:

- The TOT paid was not actually due
- Payment for the supplied goods or services will eventually not be received by the entrepreneur or
- Payment is reimbursed by the entrepreneur following reduction of the amount due or in the event that the goods have been returned unused.

G. Recovery of TOT by non-established businesses

TOT may not be recovered by non-established businesses.

H. Invoicing

Invoicing and credit notes. A taxable person must provide a receipt or invoice for all taxable supplies made, including exports. As of 1 January 2014, retailers, entrepreneurs that provide personal services, entrepreneurs in the catering industry (“horeca”) and lottery vendors are required to use a cash register system, and in principle, they will need to issue receipts to their customers. All other entrepreneurs will need to issue invoices. As of 1 May 2013, receipts or invoices provided to the customers should meet specific requirements. If these conditions are not met, a penalty or sanction can be imposed.

A TOT credit note must be issued if the quantity or consideration shown on an invoice is altered. In general, credit notes must contain the same information as the original invoices.

Taxable entrepreneurs must retain a copy of their invoices for 10 years.

Foreign-currency invoices. All amounts indicated on an invoice can be in a foreign currency provided that the amount of TOT due is indicated in Antillian guilders.

Electronic invoices. The issuance of electronic invoices is allowed.

Proof of export. To qualify for the TOT exemption applicable to the export of goods, the following documents are required for the entrepreneur’s administration:

- A copy of the issued invoice
- A proof of payment
- Transport documentation evidencing that the goods have left the levy territory

I. TOT returns and payment

TOT returns. TOT returns are generally submitted for monthly periods. Returns must be filed and TOT due must be paid by the 15th day of the month following the end of the reporting period. The TOT due for the period must be remitted together with the return.

Special schemes. Special rules apply to non-established businesses, small enterprises, cultural organizations, gambling companies, offshore companies and offshore banks and entities that have a foreign-exchange license.

Small enterprises. A small enterprise is a resident individual who has a business or permanent establishment in Curaçao and who had turnover (excluding TOT) in the preceding calendar year of ANG30,000 or less. If a request is filed with the Inspectorate of Taxes and it is granted, a small enterprise is not liable for TOT. However, the small enterprise must still submit TOT returns for monthly periods. Supplies by organizations of a social, cultural, charitable, sports and religious nature may also be exempt from TOT if there is no question of profit motive and distortion of competition.

If the annual turnover of ANG30,000 is exceeded in any year, TOT is due on the excess amount. Furthermore, the entrepreneur will also lose his status as a small enterprise.

The arrangement for small enterprises mentioned above does not apply to entrepreneurs who manage real estate to obtain revenue from the real estate on a permanent basis.

Gambling companies. The term “gambling” refers to the participation in lottery and bingo games. If the exploiter is a non-established business, the organizer or the contract arranger of the gambling games is liable for TOT.

E-Zones. In principle, E-zone companies are not liable for TOT as the economic zone is excluded from the levy area.

Offshore companies and onshore banks. Companies and banks that are taxed under the so-called offshore tax regime and hold a foreign-exchange license are generally not liable for TOT as these companies are excluded from the definition of entrepreneur to the extent that these companies conduct offshore activities. The offshore regime is grandfathered up to and including the year 2019.

Services provided by entities that have a foreign-exchange license are not subject to TOT if these entities perform business activities for customers outside Curaçao.

Electronic filing and archiving. TOT returns can be filed electronically upon request. Electronic archiving is allowed.

Annual returns. Following request and if certain conditions are met, the Inspectorate of Taxes may allow the filing of an annual TOT return instead of monthly TOT returns.

J. Penalties

TOT penalties are assessed for the late submission of a TOT return or for the late payment of TOT, in the following amounts:

- For the late submission of a TOT return, the maximum fine is ANG2,500.
- For the late payment of TOT, the maximum fine is ANG10,000.
- If the late payment is caused by negligence or dishonest conduct, a fine of 100% of the TOT payable may be imposed.

Criminal penalties may also apply in certain circumstances, such as in cases of fraudulent conduct.

Cyprus

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Limassol

GMT +2

EY

Mail address:
 P.O. Box 50123
 Limassol 3601
 Cyprus

Street address:

Ernst & Young House
 27 Spyrou Kyprianou Avenue
 Mesa Yitonia
 Limassol 4003
 Cyprus

Indirect tax contact

Petros Liassides

+357 (25) 209-999

petros.liassides@cy.ey.com

Soteroula Rossidou

+357 (25) 209-999

soteroula.rossidou@cy.ey.com

Nicosia

GMT +2

EY

Mail address:
 P.O. Box 21656
 Nicosia 1511
 Cyprus

Street address:

Jean Nouvel Tower
 6 Stasinou Avenue
 Nicosia
 Cyprus

Indirect tax contact

Petros Liassides

+357 (22) 209-999

petros.liassides@cy.ey.com

Maria Raspa

+357 (22) 209-999

maria.raspa@cy.ey.com

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Value-added tax (VAT)
Date introduced	1 July 1992
Trading bloc membership	European Union
Administered by	Tax Department, Indirect Taxation (http://www.mof.gov.cy/mof/vat/vat.nsf/)
VAT rates
Standard	19%
Reduced	5% or 9%
Other	Zero-rated and exempt
VAT number format	12345678X
VAT return periods	Quarterly
Thresholds
Registration	EUR15,600 (in a 12-month period)
Distance selling Intra-Community acquisitions (for Intrastat)	EUR35,000 (annually) EUR100,000

Intra-Community supplies (for Intrastat)	EUR55,000 (as of 1 January 2013)
Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses	Yes

B. Scope of the tax

VAT applies to the following transactions:

- The supply of goods or services made in Cyprus by a taxable person
- The intra-Community acquisition of goods from another EU Member State by a taxable person (see the chapter on the EU)
- Reverse-charge services received by a taxable person in Cyprus
- The importation of goods from outside the EU, regardless of the status of the importer

Special rules apply to intra-Community transactions involving new means of transport and distance sales (see the chapter on the EU).

C. Who is liable

A taxable person is any business entity or individual that makes taxable supplies of goods or services or intra-Community acquisitions or distance sales, in the course of a business in Cyprus.

A person making taxable supplies must register at the end of a month if the value of taxable supplies in the year ended on the last day of that month exceeds EUR15,600. A person exceeding this threshold must notify the VAT Commissioner by submitting Form VAT 101 to the local VAT office within 30 days after the end of the relevant month. Registration is effective from the end of the month following the relevant month or from such earlier date as may be agreed.

If a person makes a supply of services to a taxable person in another EU Member State and if such services are taxable where the recipient of the services is established, the person making the supply must register from the date of making the supply. A person making such supply must notify the VAT Commissioner by submitting Form VAT 101 to the local VAT office within 30 days after the creation of the obligation. Registration is effective as of the date of the creation of the obligation.

A person must also register if reasonable grounds exist for believing that taxable supplies in the next 30 days will exceed EUR15,600. The taxable person must submit Form VAT 101 to the local VAT office within the 30 days and registration is effective from the beginning of that 30-day period.

Special rules apply to foreign or “non-established businesses.”

Group registration. VAT grouping is possible for two or more companies registered in Cyprus. The following are the principal aspects of grouping:

- One member of the group is appointed as the representative member.
- The representative member is responsible for the preparation and submission of the VAT returns and for paying or reclaiming any VAT on behalf of all group members.

- Any business carried on by a member of the group is treated as being carried on by the representative member.
- Any supply of goods or services performed by a member of the group to another member of the group is disregarded.
- Any supply of goods or services by or to a third party is treated as a supply to or by the representative member.
- All members of the group are responsible for any VAT payable by the representative member.

Non-established businesses. A “non-established business” is a business that has no fixed establishment in Cyprus. A non-established business that makes supplies of goods or services in Cyprus must register for VAT if it is liable to account for Cypriot VAT on the supply or if it makes intra-Community supplies or acquisitions of goods.

Consequently, a non-established business must register for Cypriot VAT if it makes any of the following supplies:

- Intra-Community supplies
- Intra-Community acquisitions
- Distance sales in excess of the threshold
- Supplies of goods and services that are not subject to the reverse charge (for example, goods or services supplied to private persons)
- Supplies of services that are taxable in Cyprus if the reverse charge is not applicable to the recipient

Tax representatives. The VAT authorities may instruct any taxable person that does not have any business establishment, fixed establishment, or usual place of residence within the EU to appoint a VAT representative to act on its behalf with respect to VAT. This representative is personally liable for any VAT that is not paid.

If the taxable person fails to appoint a VAT representative, the VAT Commissioner may require the taxable person to provide adequate security for the payment of any VAT which is or may become due.

Late-registration penalties. A penalty is applied to late registration, assessed at EUR85 for each month that the failure to register continues. Interest is charged at the rate of 4.5% annually on the amount of outstanding VAT.

Reverse charge. The reverse-charge mechanism applies in situations where services subject to specific exceptions are supplied by a person outside Cyprus to a person who is carrying on a business in Cyprus. The recipient is treated as having made the supply himself and as if that supply was a taxable supply and thus must account for output tax. The person will then have the right to claim a corresponding amount as input tax, subject to their partial exemption status.

The reverse charge should be treated like output tax with a corresponding credit for input tax depending on the ability of a person to recover input tax.

Local reverse charge. If a VAT taxable person provides services or services together with goods in the context of construction, alteration, demolition, repair or maintenance of a building or any civil engineering project, including services provided by developers, contractors, architects, civil engineers and quantity counters, to another VAT taxable person who receives them in furtherance of his business, then the supplier will not charge VAT. The customer must account for the VAT in accordance with the reverse-charge rules.

Registration procedures. A person making taxable supplies must be registered at the end of any month if the value of the taxable supplies in a period of 12 months has exceeded EUR15.600. The person must notify the VAT authorities by submitting Form VAT 101 to the local VAT office within 30 days of the end of the relevant month. A person is also liable to register if there are reasonable grounds for believing that taxable supplies in the next 30 days will exceed EUR15.600, also by submitting Form VAT 101 to the local VAT office within 30 days. Online registration is not available, and the process can be completed within 1-4 weeks.

Deregistration. Registration is canceled in the following cases:

- Decreasing business turnover. Where any registered person notifies the Tax Commissioner that the value of taxable supplies in one year has fallen below EUR13.668,81 and applies for cancellation of his registration, then an authorized VAT officer, if satisfied of this fact, shall cancel the registration with effect from the date of the notification or from any other later date as may be agreed between the Tax Commissioner and that person.
- Termination of taxable supplies or termination of the intention to make taxable supplies. When a registered person ceases to make taxable supplies and is not entitled to remain registered or ceases to have the intention to make taxable supplies, he must notify the VAT Commissioner within 60 days of the date of the termination by submitting an Application for Cancellation of Registration (Form VAT 204). Failing to comply, the person is liable to a levy of EUR50. If an authorized VAT officer is satisfied of the fact of the termination, he shall cancel the registration with effect from the date that the person ceased to make taxable supplies or ceased to have the intention of making taxable supplies or from any other later date as may be agreed between the VAT officer and that person.
- Deregistration in the case of distance sales. A person registered for making or intending to make distance sales in Cyprus is liable to apply for deregistration when he no longer makes or intends to make distance sales in Cyprus and he is not liable to register in Cyprus for any other taxable transactions.
- Deregistration in the case of acquisitions. A person registered for making or intending to make acquisitions in Cyprus is liable to apply for deregistration when he no longer makes or intends to make acquisitions in Cyprus.
- Retrospective cancellation of registration. When the VAT officer is satisfied that on a specified date, a registered person was neither entitled nor liable to be registered, the VAT officer can cancel the registration with effect from that date.

Digital economy. Further to the general B2B rules for the place of supply of services, digital services are also subject to use and enjoyment rules. Under these rules, the place of supply could be shifted to a different EU Member State or outside the EU, depending on where the recipient business effectively uses the services.

In addition, in the case of B2C supplies where the supplier is a non-EU entity, the place of supply is where the EU non-taxable customer is located, i.e., Cyprus in the case of Cypriot customers, and hence the non-EU supplier would have an obligation to register and account for Cypriot VAT.

Effective 1 January 2015, new EU rules apply to the place of supply for supplies of telecommunications, broadcasting and electronic services to non-VAT taxable customers, and Cypriot VAT law is expected to fully harmonize with the EU VAT changes.

Mini One-Stop Shop. Effective 1 January 2015, new rules will apply with regard to VAT reporting for supplies of telecommunications, broadcasting and electronic services to non-VAT taxable customers. Cyprus has harmonized its local VAT law to allow VAT reporting under the provisions of the Mini One-Stop Shop scheme. This involves accounting for VAT due on B2C supplies across EU Member States via a single VAT return through a relevant portal from the Cypriot VAT authorities.

D. VAT rates

The term “taxable supplies” refers to supplies of goods and services that are liable to a rate of VAT, including the zero rate. The term “exempt supplies” refers to supplies of goods and services that are not liable to tax. Exempt supplies do not give rise to a right of input tax deduction (see Section F). Some supplies are classified as “exempt with credit,” which means that no VAT is chargeable, but the supplier may recover related input tax. Exempt with credit supplies include exports of goods outside the EU and related services and intra-Community supplies of goods and intangible services supplied to another taxable person established in the EU or to recipients outside the EU (see the chapter on the EU).

The following VAT rates have been effective in Cyprus since 12 January 2014:

- Standard rate: 19%
- Reduced rates: 5% and 9%
- Zero rate (0%)

The standard rate of VAT applies to all supplies of goods or services, unless a specific measure allows a reduced rate, the zero rate or exemption.

Examples of goods and services taxable at 5%

- Services provided by undertakers
- Services of writers and composers
- Refuse collection
- Waste treatment
- Road cleaning
- Fertilizers
- Animal feeding stuffs
- Liquefied petroleum gas
- Various goods for incapacitated persons
- Fares for rural and urban areas
- Newspapers, books, magazines and similar items
- Ice cream, chips and salted nuts
- Water

- Medicines
- Food (except supplied in the course of catering)
- Purchase or construction of a house or flat to be used as a private main residence

Examples of goods and services taxable at 8%

- Restaurant services (excluding the supply of alcoholic drinks)
- Transportation of passengers and their luggage by taxi
- Accommodation provided by hotels and other similar establishments, including the provision of holiday accommodation
- A combined provision of services that includes accommodation provided by hotels and other similar establishments and the provision of breakfast and/or half-board and/or full board, and/or a combined service that includes, in addition to accommodation, the provision of other catering facilities, such as alcoholic drinks, beer and wine

Examples of goods and services taxable at 0%

- Supply, lease and repair of seagoing vehicles and aircraft and related services
- International transport of persons

Examples of exempt supplies of goods and services

- Real estate transactions (except “new buildings”)
- Services of doctors and dentists
- Social welfare
- Finance (except “SWIFT” services)
- Insurance
- Human organs

Option to tax for exempt supplies. Not applicable.

E. Time of supply

The time when VAT becomes due is called the “time of supply” or “tax point.”

For a supply of goods, the tax point is the earliest of the following:

- The date of delivery of goods
- The date of issuance of the invoice
- The date of payment

For a supply of services, the tax point is the earliest of the following:

- The date of completion or performance of the services
- The date of issuance of the invoice
- The date of payment

If an invoice is issued within 14 days after the date of delivery of the goods or the performance of the services, the tax point is the invoice date, unless this date is overridden by the date of an earlier payment. The period of 14 days may be extended with the approval of the VAT authorities.

Intra-Community acquisitions. For an intra-Community acquisition of goods, the tax point is the earliest of the following:

- The 15th day of the month following the month in which the goods are sent
- The date of issuance of the invoice by the supplier

Intra-Community supplies. For an intra-Community supply of goods, the tax point is the earliest of the following:

- The 15th day of the month following the month in which the supplier sent the goods or the recipient receives them in order to transfer them outside Cyprus
- The date of the issuance of the invoice by the supplier

Imported goods. The time of the supply for imported goods is either the date of importation, or the date on which the goods leave a duty suspension regime.

Cash accounting. The scheme is applicable since 20 December 2013 for businesses whose turnover does not exceed EUR25,000 in the last 12 months.

Imported goods. Not applicable.

Reverse-charge services. Not applicable.

Continuous supplies of services. In the case that no invoices have been issued and/or no payments have been made for a period of a calendar year, an annual tax point is created.

Prepayments. Prepayments create a tax point for Cypriot VAT purposes for the value of the paid amount. However, in the case of intra-Community supplies, a prepayment does not create a tax point for Cypriot VAT purposes.

Leased assets. Not applicable.

F. Recovery of VAT by taxable persons

A taxable person may recover input tax, which is VAT charged on goods and services supplied to it for business purposes. Input tax is generally recovered by deduction from output tax, which is VAT charged on supplies made.

Input tax includes VAT charged on goods and services supplied within Cyprus, VAT paid on imports of goods and VAT self-assessed on the intra-Community acquisition of goods and reverse-charge services (see the chapter on the EU).

A valid tax invoice or customs document must generally accompany a claim for input tax.

Nondeductible input tax. Input tax may not be recovered on purchases of goods and services that are not used for business purposes (for example, goods acquired for private use by an entrepreneur). In addition, input tax may not be recovered for some items of business expenditure.

The following lists provide some examples of items of expenditure for which input tax is not deductible and examples of items for which input tax is deductible if the expenditure is related to a taxable business use.

Examples of items for which input tax is nondeductible

- Purchase, hire and lease of saloon cars
- Accommodation, food and entertainment (other than for employees)
- Private expenditure

Examples of items for which input tax is deductible
(if related to a taxable business use)

- Purchase, hire, lease and maintenance for vans and trucks
- Fuel
- Parking costs
- Attending conferences, seminars and training courses
- Business gifts (if valued at more than EUR17.09, output VAT is due)
- Business use of home telephone
- Mobile phones (the invoices must be issued in the name of the business)
- Advertising

Noneconomic activities. Effective from 1 January 2010, a taxable person who is engaged in noneconomic activities, such as holding activities, may not deduct input VAT on local and reverse-charge expenses that are directly related to noneconomic activities.

A taxable person that carries out both economic and noneconomic activities and that purchases local and reverse-charge services relating both to its economic and noneconomic activities must apply a reasonable basis for the apportionment of the input VAT on the general overhead expenses to economic and noneconomic activities. A taxable person may deduct the portion of input VAT based on this reasonable percentage of input VAT attributed to economic activities of the taxable person.

Partial exemption. Input tax directly related to the making of exempt supplies is generally not recoverable. If a Cypriot taxable person makes both exempt and taxable supplies it may not recover input tax in full. This situation is referred to as “partial exemption.”

Input tax directly relating to taxable supplies is fully recoverable and input tax directly relating to exempt supplies is not recoverable. Non-attributable input tax must be apportioned. The standard method for apportioning input tax is to multiply non-attributable input tax by the ratio of the value of taxable supplies to the value of total supplies.

The VAT authorities may approve or direct the use by a taxable person of another reasonable method if the result achieved by the standard method is considered to be distortive.

The services supplied by businesses in the insurance and financial sectors are generally exempt from VAT, with no right to input tax deduction. However, input VAT paid by businesses that provide insurance and financial services, such as insurance companies, banks and other financial institutions, may be reclaimed if these services are supplied to persons established in countries outside the EU. Services covered by this measure include the supply of life and general insurance, the granting of loans and other credit facilities, the operation of bank accounts, foreign-exchange dealings and transactions that relate to shares, bonds and other securities.

If a business provides services described above to customers both in the EU and outside the EU, the amount of refundable input VAT is apportioned accordingly.

Capital goods. Capital goods are items of capital expenditure that are used in a business over several years. Input tax is deducted in the VAT year in which the goods are acquired. The amount of input tax recovered depends on the taxable person's partial exemption recovery position in the VAT year of acquisition. However, the amount of input tax recovered for capital goods must be adjusted over time if the taxable person's partial exemption recovery percentage changes during the adjustment period.

The capital goods scheme in Cyprus applies to the following transactions:

- The acquisition of tangible fixed assets maintained and used by a business (the cost of repairs and maintenance are not included in the value of the tangible fixed assets) and intangible fixed assets such as the use of property rights, trademarks, patents and goodwill that have more than one use and a value of EUR17,086 or more
- The transfer of all or part of a building including the land if the transfer takes place before the first occupation
- The transfer of ownership of all or part of a building including the land under a sales or lease agreement that is transferred at the end of the agreement, if the transfer takes place before the first occupation
- The construction of buildings constructed by a taxable person on immovable property not owned by the taxable person

The input tax adjustment lasts for a period of five years for the capital goods except for immovable property for which the input tax adjustment lasts for a period of 10 years.

The adjustment is applied each year following the year of acquisition to a fraction of the total input tax. The adjustment may result in either an increase or a decrease of deductible input VAT, depending on whether the ratio of taxable supplies made by the business has increased or decreased compared with the year in which the capital goods were acquired.

Refunds. If the amount of input tax recoverable in a quarterly period exceeds the amount of output tax payable in that period, the taxable person has an input tax credit. The input tax credit is offset against future payments or it is refunded to the taxable person after submission of a claim (Form VAT 4B) if the input VAT relates to one of the following categories:

- The making of zero-rated supplies
- The supply of services provided outside Cyprus
- The acquisition of fixed assets

Preregistration costs. VAT costs paid on the purchase of services during the six months prior to the effective date of registration can be recovered, and for the purchase of goods, the recoverable period is three years prior to the effective date of registration.

Write-off of bad debts. Where a taxable supply has been made, the VAT has to be accounted and paid for with reference to the quarter in which the tax point falls, irrespective of whether payment has been received from the customer. The VAT can be recovered after making a claim to the Commissioner of VAT on the grounds that payment from the customer has not been received provided that:

- The VAT on the supply has been paid to the VAT authorities.

- The consideration for the supply has been written off in the vendor's records as a bad debt.
- All necessary steps to recover the consideration have been taken.
- A period of 12 months has elapsed.

A claim must be made within a period of four years following the later of:

- The date on which the consideration which has been written off as a bad debt becomes due and payable or
- The date of supply

Where the purchaser is a taxable person, the claimant must notify that purchaser that bad debt relief is being claimed.

G. Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses

Cyprus refunds VAT incurred by businesses that are not established in Cyprus nor registered for VAT there. Non-established businesses may claim Cypriot VAT to the same extent as VAT-registered businesses.

For businesses established in the EU, refund is made under the terms of the EU 2008/9/EC Directive. For businesses established outside the EU, refund is made in accordance with the terms of the EU 13th Directive.

For a person established in a country outside the EU, the refund system applies if that country provides reciprocal arrangements for similar repayments to be made to Cypriot businesses. In addition, to take advantage of this refund system, the person must not be established or registered in any of the other EU Member States.

For the general VAT refund rules applicable to the EU 2008/9/EC Directive and 13th Directive refund schemes, see the chapter on the EU.

Refund application. For a person registered for VAT in an EU country, a claim for repayment must be made by 30 September of the calendar year following the refund period. To obtain a refund of Cypriot VAT, a taxable person not established in Cyprus must submit an application in electronic format in the EU Member State of its establishment via the electronic portal of that Member State.

If the refund application relates to a refund period of less than one calendar year but not less than three months, the minimum amount of VAT for which an application for a refund can be submitted is EUR400. If the refund application relates to a refund period of a calendar year or the remainder of a calendar year, the minimum amount of VAT for which an application for a refund can be submitted is EUR50.

For all other persons, claims with respect to VAT incurred in the one-year period from 1 July to 30 June must be made within six months of the end of that one-year period (that is, by 31 December).

Claims may be submitted in Greek. The application for refund must be accompanied by the appropriate documentation (see the chapter on the EU).

The minimum claim period is three months; the maximum period is one year. The minimum claim for a period of less than a year is EUR25.63. For an annual claim, the minimum amount is EUR205.03.

Applications for refunds of Cypriot VAT may be sent to the following address:

Commissioner of VAT
VAT Headquarters
1471 Nicosia
Cyprus

H. Invoicing

VAT invoices and credit notes. A Cypriot taxable person must generally provide a VAT invoice for all taxable supplies made, including exports and intra-Community supplies. Invoices are not automatically required for retail transactions valued at less than EUR85 (if the supply is not to a person in another EU Member State), unless requested by the customer.

A VAT invoice is necessary to support a claim for input tax deduction or a refund under the EU 8th or 13th Directive refund schemes (see the chapter on the EU).

A VAT credit note may be used to reduce the VAT charged and reclaimed on a supply of goods or services. Credit notes adjusting the initial amount of VAT charged may be issued if a genuine mistake or overcharge has been made or if agreement on a discount has been reached. To be valid for VAT purposes, the credit note must be issued within one month after the date on which the mistake is discovered or the agreement on the discount is reached. It must be marked "Credit Note" and contain details of the original supply and the circumstances under which the credit is given (for example, return of faulty goods).

Electronic invoicing. Effective 1 January 2013, the VAT law has been amended to permit electronic invoicing in line with EU Directive 2010/45/EU.

Proof of exports and intra-Community supplies. Cypriot VAT is not chargeable on supplies of exported goods or on intra-Community supplies of goods (see the chapter on the EU). However, to qualify as VAT-free, exports and intra-Community supplies must be supported by evidence that the goods have left Cyprus. Acceptable proof includes the following documentation:

- For an export, a copy of the export document, officially validated by the Department of Customs and Excise, showing the supplier as the exporter
- For an intra-Community supply, a range of commercial documentation, such as purchase orders, transport documentation, proof of payment and contracts

Foreign-currency invoices. When Cypriot VAT is charged on an invoice, the invoice must be issued in euros (EUR), effective from 1 January 2008. If an invoice is issued in foreign currency, the amount before VAT and the VAT amount must be converted to euros using the exchange market rate or the rate issued by the Department of Customs and Excise.

B2C invoices. Effective 1 January 2015, new rules apply to the place of supply for supplies of telecommunications, broadcasting and electronic services to non-VAT taxable customers. Please refer to the European Union chapter.

I. VAT returns and payment

VAT returns. Cypriot VAT returns are submitted for quarterly periods. Quarterly VAT returns must be filed by the 10th day of the second month following the end of the VAT quarter. Any VAT due must be paid by this date.

Special schemes. The optional profit margin scheme for the sale of secondhand cars and some other used goods. The method of calculating the taxable value and output tax of supplies of secondhand goods differs from the standard rules, as do the records that a taxable person is required to keep. The tax due is taken to be included in the gross margin of the trader, provided that a margin has been realized. The sale of assets previously used by a company is a taxable supply if the company is already a taxable person.

The optional special regime for farmers. Sales by farmers of their produce are standard rated; alternatively, farmers can choose to claim 5% of the value of their sales to taxable persons as notional input tax and do not have to charge output tax.

Special regime for tour operators. The method of calculating the taxable value for tour operators is taken to be the travel agent's gross margin on the sale of package tours after deduction of the actual cost to the travel agent.

Optional retail schemes. Under these schemes, the method of calculating the taxable value and output tax on supplies deviates from the general rules, as do the books and records that retailers must keep.

Retail export scheme. This is an optional scheme for registered retailers where a supply of goods, on which a positive rate of VAT was originally imposed, is converted to a zero-rated supply, through correction of the VAT account after the retailer receives certification from Customs that the goods were exported.

Electronic filing and archiving. The same rules and deadlines apply to electronic filing and archiving as apply to hard copy returns.

Annual returns. Not applicable.

J. Penalties

A one-off penalty of EUR51 per VAT return is charged for the late submission of the VAT return. Late payment of outstanding VAT results in the imposition of a penalty of 10% of the outstanding amount. Interest is charged at the rate of 4.5% annually on the amount of VAT outstanding. The 4.5% interest rate applies to the late payment of VAT, late registration, and late submission of the VAT return. The interest rate does not fluctuate.

Penalties are also assessed for the following offenses:

- Late registration: a penalty of EUR85 for each month that the failure continues
- Failure to apply the reverse charge: a penalty of EUR85
- Failure to keep records for a prescribed period: a penalty of EUR341
- Issuing an unauthorized invoice: a penalty of EUR85
- Fraudulent evasion of VAT: up to three years' imprisonment or a fine up to three times the amount due, or both
- Receipt of goods on which VAT was evaded: up to 12 months' imprisonment or a fine of EUR8,543, or both
- VAT shown in assessment issued by the VAT Commissioner and not paid: up to 12 months' imprisonment or a fine of EUR8,543, or both

K. EU filings

Intrastat. A Cypriot taxable person that trades with other EU countries must complete statistical reports, known as Intrastat, if the value of either its sales or purchases of goods exceeds certain thresholds. Separate reports are required for intra-Community acquisitions (Intrastat Arrivals) and for intra-Community supplies (Intrastat Dispatches).

The Intrastat thresholds for 2014 are EUR100,000 for arrivals and EUR55,000 for departures. In addition, special thresholds have been set at EUR1,850,000 annually for arrivals and EUR5,800,000 for departures. Traders that make intra-Community supplies and acquisitions below these thresholds are not required to complete all the information required on the Intrastat return. Since 1 July 2012, the electronic submission of Intrastat forms through the TAXISnet system has been obligatory for all taxable persons who are registered for Intrastat purposes in Cyprus and submit monthly Intrastat forms to the VAT authorities. Intrastat returns must be submitted electronically by the 10th day of the month following the end of the month to which they relate. Cypriot taxable persons must complete Intrastat declarations in euros, rounded up to the nearest whole number. The Intrastat return period is monthly.

The VAT authorities impose a one-off penalty of EUR15 for each delayed form. If the return is not submitted within 30 days, the offense is treated as a "civil wrong," and in the case of conviction, a fine up to EUR2,562 applies.

EU Sales Lists (VIES form). Since 1 January 2010, every VAT-registered person who supplies goods and/or provides services to VAT-registered persons in other EU Member States has been required to submit a VIES form every month to the Cypriot VAT authorities.

The VIES form must be submitted electronically by the 15th day of the month following the end of the relevant month. The VIES form must be submitted even if no intra-Community supplies are made in the month.

If the VIES form is not submitted on time, a penalty of EUR50 is imposed per late form. If the form is not submitted for more than three months, it is treated as a civil wrong. In the case of a conviction, a penalty of an amount not exceeding EUR2,562 is imposed. If the VIES form contains misstatements or omissions, a penalty of EUR15 is imposed unless, within the two-month period after the submission of the VIES form, a revised form is submitted.

Czech Republic

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Prague

GMT +1

EY

FlorentinumNa Florenci
2116/15110 00
Prague 1 - Nove Mesto
Czech Republic

Indirect tax contacts

Jan Capek	+420 225-335-625 jan.capek@cz.ey.com
Stanislav Kryl	+420 225-335-311 stanislav.kryl@cz.ey.com

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Value-added tax (VAT)
Local name	Dan z pridane hodnoty
Date introduced	1 January 1993
Trading bloc membership	European Union (EU) Member State
Administered by	Ministry of Finance (www.mfcr.cz)
VAT rates
Standard	21%
Reduced	15%, 10% and 0%
Other	Exempt
VAT number format	CZ99999999, CZ999999999 or CZ9999999999
VAT return periods	Monthly Quarterly (optional if turnover in the preceding calendar year was less than CZK10 million; VAT groups and newly registered or unreliable VAT payers ineligible)
Thresholds
Registration
General	CZK1 million (for a total period of 12 consecutive calendar months)
Non-established businesses	No threshold
Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses	Yes

B. Scope of the tax

VAT applies to the following transactions:

- The supply of goods or services made for consideration in the Czech Republic by a taxable person, including the transfer of real estate

- The intra-Community acquisition of goods for consideration made in the Czech Republic by a taxable person (see the chapter on the EU)
- The intra-Community acquisition of goods by a legal entity that has not been founded or established for the purpose of carrying on business activity (see the chapter on the EU)
- The acquisition of a new means of transport from another Member State of the EU for consideration by a person who is not a taxable person (see the chapter on the EU)
- The importation of goods into the Czech Republic

C. Who is liable

A taxable person is an individual or business that independently carries out economic activities. In addition, a taxable person is a legal entity that was not established for the purpose of doing business if it undertakes economic activities.

There are two different kinds of VAT registrations in the Czech Republic – VAT payers and VAT identified persons.

Businesses that exclusively make exempt supplies, that is, supplies that are exempt without the right to deduct input VAT (see Section D), may not register for VAT.

A taxable person that is established in the Czech Republic must register as a VAT payer particularly in any of the following circumstances:

- The taxable person's turnover in the preceding 12 consecutive calendar months exceeded CZK1 million. A taxable person must file an application for VAT registration by the 15th day of the calendar month following the month in which the threshold was exceeded. The taxable person then becomes an effective VAT payer as of the first day of the second month following the month in which the turnover threshold was exceeded.
- The taxable person enters into an association agreement or similar agreement with a Czech VAT payer. The taxable person must file an application for VAT registration by the 15th day following the conclusion of the agreement.
- The taxable person has entered into an association (such as a joint venture, based on the Czech Civil Code) or similar agreement with another non-VAT payer, and one of the associates becomes a VAT payer or the aggregate turnover of the taxable person (both within the association and outside of it) exceeded CZK1 million in the preceding 12 consecutive calendar months. The taxable person must file an application for the VAT registration within 15 days following the date that occurs.
- The taxable person provides a service (with the exception of an exempt-without-credit service) with a place of supply in the Czech Republic, or it effects distance sales to the Czech Republic with a place of supply in the Czech Republic through its fixed establishment located outside the Czech Republic. The taxable person must file an application for VAT registration by the 15th day following the tax point of the supply.
- The taxable person engages in certain other specified transactions. For example, a taxable person acquires a property from a VAT payer based on the transfer of a going concern agreement, or a taxable person becomes a successor company in a business transformation in which the dissolving company is a VAT payer.

A taxable person that is established in the Czech Republic and is not a VAT payer must register as an identified person for VAT in the following circumstances:

- It acquires goods from another EU Member State subject to tax (with the exception of acquisition of goods made by a middle man under the simplified rules of triangulation). This applies also to non-taxable legal persons.
- It receives a service subject to the reverse-charge mechanism (in general, see Article 44 of EU Directive 2006/112/EC) from a non-established business. The taxable person must file an application for registration by the 15th day following the tax point of the service (see Section E).
- It receives a service according to Article 47, 48, 53, 55 or 56 of EU Directive 2006/112/EC, goods with installation, or electricity or gas from a non-established business, and the place of supply for such item is in the Czech Republic. The taxable person must file an application for registration by the 15th day following the tax point of the supply.
- It provides an Article 44 service with a place of supply in another EU Member State. The taxable person must file an application for registration by the 15th day following the tax point of the service.

Group registration. A group registration for VAT purposes is possible in the Czech Republic. Legal entities that are closely connected (through capital or management) may register as a VAT group. A VAT group is treated as a single taxable person. Only persons established in the Czech Republic may be part of a VAT group. As a result, any establishments (seat or fixed establishment) of such persons outside the Czech Republic may not be part of a VAT group. The group members share a single VAT number and submit a single VAT return.

An application for group registration must be filed before 31 October for the group registration to be effective from 1 January of the following year.

Non-established businesses. For the purposes of determining if a person is liable for payment of VAT to tax authorities, the Czech VAT Act defines a non-established business as a taxable person that:

- Does not have a seat or fixed establishment in the Czech Republic
- Has a fixed establishment that does not participate in the effected supply of goods or services in the Czech Republic

There are two different kinds of VAT registrations of persons without a seat in the Czech Republic – VAT payers and identified persons.

A taxable person not established in the Czech Republic must register as a VAT payer particularly in any of the following circumstances:

- It makes a taxable supply of goods (including distance selling) or provision of service with the place of supply in the Czech Republic except for the supplies subject to reverse-charge mechanism or the Mini One-Stop Shop regime. The taxable person must file an application for VAT registration by the 15th day following the tax point of the supply.

- It makes an intra-Community supply of goods from the Czech Republic to another EU Member State. The taxable person must file an application for VAT registration by the 15th day following the tax point of the supply.
- It jointly makes supplies with credit on the basis of an association agreement (this is an agreement, which is similar to a joint venture, based on the Czech Civil Code) or similar agreement with other non-VAT payers. It becomes a VAT payer as of the date on which any of the associates becomes a VAT payer. The taxable person must file an application for the VAT registration within 15 days following that date.
- It enters into an association agreement or similar agreement with a Czech VAT payer. The taxable person must file an application for VAT registration by the 15th day following the conclusion of the agreement.
- Certain other specified transactions occur. For example, a taxable person acquires a property from a VAT payer based on the transfer of a going concern agreement, or a taxable person becomes a successor company in a business transformation in which the dissolving company is a VAT payer.

Similarly, as in the case of taxable persons established in the Czech Republic, a taxable person without a seat in the Czech Republic must register as an identified person for VAT in any of the following circumstances:

- It acquires goods from another EU Member State subject to tax (with the exception of acquisition of goods made by a middle man under the simplified rules of triangulation). This applies also to non-taxable legal persons.
- A fixed establishment of a taxable person without a seat in the Czech Republic receives a service subject to the reverse-charge mechanism (in general, see Article 44 of EU Directive 2006/112/EC) from a non-established business or it receives a service according to Article 47, 48, 53, 55 or 56 of EU Directive 2006/112/EC, goods with installation, or electricity or gas from a non-established business, and the place of supply for such item is in the Czech Republic or it provides an Article 44 service with a place of supply in another EU Member State. The taxable person must file an application for registration by the 15th day following the tax point.

Voluntary registration. Both established and non-established taxable persons may register for VAT voluntarily if they will make supplies with credit in the Czech Republic. As of January 2015, an established VAT taxable person may register as a VAT identified person provided it is going to supply electronic, telecommunication or broadcasting services using the Mini One-Stop Shop regime where the Czech Republic will be the state of the VAT identification.

Fiscal representative. The concept of fiscal representative (as a person required to apply and pay VAT) was abolished, effective from 1 January 2005. Nevertheless, general rules concerning representation for tax proceedings (including the possibility of representing a person with respect to tax registration) may apply.

VAT registration applications for non-established businesses must be sent to the following address:

Tax Authority for capital city of Prague (Financni urad pro hlavni mesto Prahu)
Stepanska 28
112 33 Prague 1
Czech Republic

Reverse-charge supplies. In general, the reverse charge applies to services according to Article 44, 47, 48, 53, 55 or 56 of EU Directive 2006/112/EC, supplies of construction services, supply of goods with installation, supply of gas and electricity provided by a non-established supplier in the Czech Republic to a Czech-established taxable person (a VAT payer or an identified person).

Certain local transactions (supplies between persons registered for Czech VAT) are subject to the reverse charge (for example, supplies of construction services, supplies of gold, certain types of waste or emission allowances).

As of January 2015, the local reverse-charge regime will broaden, with new applicability to mobile phones, laptops, tablets, games consoles, integrated circuits, technical crops and raw or semi-processed metals. The local reverse charge will be also applicable when the supplier of immovable property opts for taxation of the supply.

Import VAT liability needs to be reported by the VAT payers in the VAT return (postponed accounting). It is administered by the tax authorities instead of the customs authorities. Both output and input VAT is reported by the VAT payers within the same VAT return.

The purchaser must self-assess output VAT at the appropriate rate (see Section D). The self-assessed tax is also treated as input tax and may be recovered (see Section F). This does not apply in the case of identified persons. The reverse charge does not apply to supplies made to private individuals who are not registered for VAT.

The VAT law stipulates several instances when purchasers may be held liable (as guarantor) for unpaid VAT by the seller, such as:

- The purchaser knew or should have known that VAT would not be paid by the seller.
- The seller is blacklisted as an unreliable VAT payer, which is any VAT payer that seriously breaches its obligations as stipulated by the tax law. The status of an unreliable VAT payer will be published on websites of the Ministry of Finance.
- The consideration is obviously different from a fair market price, and the reason is not properly explained.
- The consideration exceeds CZK700,000 and is paid by bank transfer to a bank account that is not properly published on the websites of the Ministry of Finance.
- The consideration is paid to a foreign bank account.

The VAT guarantee can be avoided if the purchaser agrees with the seller that the amount of VAT will be remitted directly to the bank account of the tax authorities.

Registration procedures. A taxable person which becomes a VAT payer by law or would like to register for VAT must file electronically by filling out an application form that is available online in Czech language on the web pages of the Czech Ministry of Finance at <http://www.mfcr.cz>. VAT identified persons and VAT payers with turnover lower than CZK6 million can file the application form in paper form. Although no time is specified in the Czech VAT Act, a correctly filed application for registration that includes all relevant documents could take from one to three months.

Late registration. If a taxable person fails to register for VAT, it will be registered retrospectively. Sanctions will be assessed if VAT returns are filed late or if payments of VAT liability are late.

Mini One-Stop Shop (MOSS). Effective 1 January 2015, new rules apply to the place of supply for supplies of telecommunications, broadcasting and electronic services to non-VAT taxable customers. The place of supply is the place of the service recipient, according to Council Implementing Regulation (EU) No. 282/2011. If a taxable person supplies these services to Czech customers, it could either register for VAT in the Czech Republic or apply MOSS simplification in its country of establishment.

Deregistration. If a company does not effect economic activities it is deregistered for VAT. The tax authorities also deregister a VAT payer if it effects only VAT-exempt supplies without credit or if it does not make any supplies within 12 consecutive calendar months without notification of reasons.

An established taxable person may apply for deregistration if its turnover falls below the registration threshold. However, deregistration is not compulsory in these circumstances. Deregistration may be requested after one year from the registration date, at the earliest, if the taxable person's turnover did not exceed CZK1 million in the immediately preceding 12 calendar months.

A non-established business will be deregistered by the tax authorities if it did not make any taxable supplies or VAT-exempt supplies with credit in the preceding calendar year.

The VAT registration will be also cancelled by the tax authorities in certain specific cases if the VAT payer breaches its tax administrative obligations.

An identified person may apply for deregistration if its liability to account for VAT (e.g., from incurred services, supplies of goods with installation or assembly) did not arise within the previous six consecutive calendar months.

The tax authorities may deregister an identified person if the person was not liable to declare any VAT in two previous calendar years. A group registration may be canceled only as of 31 December. The application must be filed before 31 October of the current year. Otherwise, the group registration will be canceled as of 31 December of the following year.

Deregistration shall be supported by sufficient evidence that the conditions for deregistration are fulfilled.

D. VAT rates

In the Czech Republic, the term "taxable supplies" refers to supplies of goods and services that are liable to a rate of VAT. Some supplies are classified as “exempt with credit” or “zero-rated,” which means that no VAT is chargeable, but the supplier may recover input tax related to the supply.

The following are the VAT rates:

- Standard rate: 21%
- Reduced rates: 15%, 10% and 0% (zero-rated or exempt with credit)

The standard rate of VAT applies to all supplies of goods or services, unless a specific measure provides for the reduced rate or exemption.

Examples of goods and services taxable at 15%

- Foodstuffs
- Repairs and work on medical instruments
- Non-alcoholic beverages
- Water distribution and treatment of sewage
- Public transportation
- Water and air passenger transport
- Services of fitness centers
- Certain medical equipment and pharmaceuticals
- Medical and social care (unless exempt)
- Children’s car safety seats
- Cultural and sporting activities
- Funeral services
- Transfers of “housing provided as part of a social policy” (“Social housing” includes apartments with a maximum floor area of 120 square meters and family houses with a maximum floor area of 350 square meters.)

Examples of goods and services taxable at 10%

- Books and magazines subject to certain conditions
- Medications
- Medications for veterinary use
- Necessary baby food

Examples of goods and services taxable at 0%

- Exports of goods
- Intra-Community supplies of goods
- International transportation of passengers and their luggage
- Transport and services directly related to the importation or exportation of goods
- Supplies of goods in a free zone or a free warehouse

The term “exempt supplies” refers to supplies of goods and services that are within the scope of VAT but are not taxed. Exempt supplies generally do not give rise to a right of deduction for related input VAT (see Section F). These supplies are sometimes referred to as “exempt without credit.”

Examples of exempt supplies of goods and services

- Basic postal services
- Television and radio broadcasting
- Insurance
- Financial services
- Transfer of real estate (after lapse of five years from issuance of first approval for use or from the first use; a tax payer may opt for taxation after this period)
- Education

- Betting and gambling
- Social welfare

Option to tax for exempt supplies. Under certain conditions, a VAT payer can opt to tax a supply of real estate that qualifies for exemption.

E. Time of supply

VAT is charged at the time of the earlier of the following events (known as the tax point):

- A taxable supply is carried out.
- Payment for the supply is received.

A taxable supply is generally considered to be carried out on the date of supply (delivery) if the goods are delivered based on a purchase contract. Otherwise, the tax point is the date on which the goods are accepted by the customer.

The taxable supply is generally considered to be carried out on the date on which the service is performed or the date on which the tax document is issued, whichever date is earlier.

Other tax point rules may apply to specific supplies of goods and services.

Imported goods. The time of supply for imported goods is either the date of release of goods for free circulation (or another customs procedure that leads to a liability to pay VAT) or the date on which the goods leave a duty suspension regime. Both output and input VAT is reported by the VAT payer within the same VAT return.

Intra-Community acquisitions of goods. VAT on intra-Community acquisitions of goods is charged at the earliest of the following dates:

- On the date of issuance of the tax document
- On the 15th day of the month following the month in which the supply took place

Reverse-charge services. For reverse-charge services (Article 44 services), the tax point is the earliest of the following dates:

- The date on which the service is rendered (specific rules may apply to particular types of services)
- The date on which consideration is paid
- The last day of each calendar year if the service is being provided for more than 12 calendar months and if no consideration is paid during this period

Cash accounting. The Czech Republic does not operate a cash accounting scheme.

Continuous supplies of services. If the service is provided for a longer period, the parties can agree on the partial supplies in the contract. In such a case, the days of supply are the days agreed in the contract. Alternatively, if there is no such agreement between the parties, the day of supply is the last day of the period in which the service is provided unless payment is received earlier.

Prepayments. If the payment is received by the supplier before the supply is effected, the supplier is generally obliged to issue the VAT document for the received payment and declare and pay output VAT.

Intra-Community supplies of goods. The time of supply for intra-Community supplies of goods that meet the conditions for the VAT exemption laid down by the Czech VAT Act is the 15th day of the month following the month of supply unless the VAT document for the supply was issued earlier.

Leased assets. The time of supply of leased assets depends on the type of leasing and contractual documentation agreed between the parties.

- In case of financial leasing where the customer is obliged to buy the asset after the leasing, the time of supply is the date on which the asset is handed over to the customer.
- In case of a standard leasing, the VAT is payable upon the agreed monthly or quarterly installments.

F. Recovery of VAT by taxable persons

A VAT payer may recover input tax, which is VAT charged on goods and services supplied to the VAT payer for business purposes. A VAT payer generally recovers input tax by deducting it from output tax, which is VAT charged on supplies made.

Input tax includes VAT charged on goods and services supplied in the Czech Republic, VAT self-assessed on intra-Community acquisitions of goods and on services subject to the reverse-charge mechanism and VAT paid on imports.

VAT payers prove their entitlement to VAT deduction with valid tax documents. Input VAT on local supplies made by another Czech VAT payer may not be deducted earlier than the tax period in which the recipient obtains a valid tax document.

No VAT can be recovered after three years starting from the first day following the end of the taxable period when the right to deduct arose.

Identified persons may not claim input VAT deduction.

Nondeductible input tax. Input tax may not be recovered on purchases of goods and services that are not used for business purposes such as goods acquired for private use by an entrepreneur. In addition, input tax may not be recovered for some items of business expenditure (e.g., input VAT incurred on gifts with an acquisition cost exceeding CZK500 excluding VAT.)

The following lists provide some examples of items of expenditure for which input tax is not deductible and examples of items for which input tax is deductible if the expenditure is related to a taxable business use.

Examples of items for which input tax is nondeductible

- Business entertainment
- Nonbusiness expenditure
- Goods and services used exclusively for the making of VAT-exempt supplies without credit

Examples of items for which input tax is deductible (if related to a taxable business use)

- Passenger car acquisition and maintenance costs
- Car hire
- Fuel for vehicles
- Books

- Conferences
- Advertising
- Accommodation
- Mobile phones

Partial exemption. A Czech VAT payer is entitled to a full VAT deduction with respect to purchases used for taxable supplies (that is, supplies on which VAT is charged), certain other supplies that fall outside the scope of Czech VAT (that have a place of supply abroad) and supplies that are VAT-exempt with credit.

A VAT payer may not deduct input VAT related exclusively to the following supplies:

- Supplies that are VAT-exempt without credit
- Supplies used exclusively for nonbusiness purposes (for example, private consumption)

The VAT payer must reduce the input VAT deduction (that is, claim only a partial deduction) of input VAT with respect to supplies used for both taxable (or VAT-exempt with credit) and VAT-exempt without credit supplies.

The amount of input tax that may be recovered by the VAT payer is calculated in the following two stages:

- The first stage identifies the input VAT that may be directly allocated to VAT-exempt without credit and to taxable (or VAT-exempt with credit) supplies. Input tax directly allocated to VAT-exempt supplies without credit is not deductible. Input tax directly related to taxable supplies or VAT-exempt supplies with credit is recoverable in full.
- The second stage prorates the remaining input tax that relates to both taxable (or VAT-exempt with credit) and VAT-exempt without credit supplies to allocate a portion to taxable (or VAT-exempt with credit) supplies. For example, this treatment applies to the input tax on general business overhead. In general, the ratio is based on the value of taxable and VAT-exempt with credit supplies, compared with total turnover. If the ratio is at least 95%, full input VAT deduction may be claimed.

The input VAT deduction must be reduced proportionally if the supplies are used for both economic activities and for nonbusiness purposes (for example, private use). If the actual proportion is not clear, an estimate may be used. This estimate may be adjusted at the year-end if the estimate materially differs from the final proportion. If the input VAT deduction is claimed in full, output VAT must be applied to the nonbusiness consumption (this is not possible for capital goods).

Capital goods. Capital goods are items of capital expenditure that are used in a business over several years. Input tax is deducted in the tax period in which the goods are acquired. The amount of input tax recovered depends on the taxable person's partial exemption recovery position in the VAT year of acquisition (see Partial exemption). However, the amount of input tax recovered for capital goods must be adjusted over time if the taxable person's partial exemption recovery percentage changes during the adjustment period or when the use of the capital goods changes. For example, a taxable person that acquired an asset and recovered VAT in full at the time of its acquisition must adjust the amount of recovery if the asset is later used for a VAT-exempt activity. In contrast, if the asset was originally acquired for a VAT-exempt activity and no input VAT was reclaimed, and the asset is later put to a fully taxable use, input tax may be recovered when the use changes.

In the Czech Republic, the capital goods adjustment applies to the following assets:

- Long-term tangible assets with a value higher than CZK40,000
- Long-term intangible assets with a value higher than CZK60,000
- Land (unless accounted for as merchandise)
- Technical appreciation (substantial improvement) of fixed assets

The adjustment period is generally 5 years (10 years for real estate), beginning with the calendar year of the acquisition of the asset and extending for the subsequent 4 or 9 calendar years. In the tax period of acquisition, the input VAT is deducted depending on whether and to what extent the goods are used for taxable activities (see Partial exemption). A portion of the total input VAT must be adjusted according to the use of the goods (VAT-exempt, nonbusiness or taxable) in that particular year.

No change needs to be made if the difference between the use in the current year and in the first year is not material (that is, the difference in use is not more than 10 percentage points).

A three-year VAT adjustment period applies to business property that does not qualify as capital goods. The input VAT claimed must be adjusted if the actual use of the respective business property differs from the purposes reflected in the original input VAT claim. Wear and tear is not taken into account.

As of 2013, an unlimited VAT adjustment applies to buildings, flats and business premises that do not qualify as capital goods prior to their first use.

Refunds. If the amount of VAT recoverable in a taxable period exceeds the amount of VAT payable, the taxable person has a VAT credit. A refund of the VAT credit is claimed by submitting the VAT return. The Czech tax authorities should generally make repayments within 30 days after the filing deadline for the return.

Preregistration costs. A VAT taxable person can deduct VAT from received taxable purchases made during the preceding 12 consecutive calendar months if these purchases were used for economic activities and are included in the business assets on the registration date.

Write-off of bad debts. The VAT payer can recover the output VAT declared and paid on supplies provided to VAT registered customers who became insolvent, but conditions for bad debt relief are strict.

Noneconomic activities. The input VAT deduction must be reduced proportionally if the input supplies are used for both economic and noneconomic activities.

G. Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses

The Czech VAT authorities refund VAT incurred by businesses that are neither established (by means of seat or fixed establishment) in the Czech Republic nor registered for VAT there. For businesses established in the EU, refund is made under the terms of EU Directive 2008/9/EC. For businesses established outside the EU, refund is made under the terms of the EU 13th Directive.

Refunds under the 13th Directive are made on the principle of reciprocity. A non-established business may claim a refund if it is established in a country that refunds VAT to Czech VAT payers. Currently, Iceland, Macedonia, Norway and Switzerland are the only countries that qualify under this rule.

For the general VAT refund rules under EU Directive 2008/9/EC and the 13th Directive, see the chapter on the EU.

Refund applications under EU Directive 2008/9/EC. A non-established VAT payer may request a refund of Czech VAT by filing an application through the electronic portal in its country of establishment. The application must be completed in the Czech language.

An application for a VAT refund must contain the following:

- Identification of the claimant (VAT number, business name, registered seat and electronic address)
- Electronic copies of the tax documents if the tax base exceeds the equivalent of EUR1,000 (EUR250 in the case of petrol)
- Confirmation that the claimant has not supplied goods or services in the Czech Republic in the period for which the claimant requests a VAT refund (except for supplies subject to the reverse-charge procedure)
- Description of the economic activities of the claimant
- Data regarding the claimant's bank account, including the International Bank Account Number (IBAN) and the Bank Identifier Code (BIC), the name of the account's owner and the currency in which the account is denominated
- The following information for each tax document:
 - VAT number of the supplier
 - Business name of the supplier
 - Evidence number of the tax document
 - Tax point
 - Tax base and amount of VAT in Czech crowns (CZK)
 - Total amount of claimable VAT (if pro rata deduction)
 - Pro rata coefficient
 - Categories of goods and services (respective codes)

The minimum claim period is three calendar months (unless the relevant period represents the remainder of the calendar year), while the maximum claim period is one calendar year. Applications for a refund must be submitted within nine months after the end of the calendar year to which they relate, that is, by 30 September of the following year. Claims that are not filed on time are rejected. The application is considered to be filed on time only if all of the above stated information is provided by the taxpayer by the deadline.

The minimum claim for a period of less than a year but not less than three months is EUR400 (an equivalent in CZK). For an annual claim or for a remaining period of the year the minimum amount is EUR50 (an equivalent in CZK). The tax authorities must decide on the VAT refund application within four months after the date on which the claim is submitted or within two months after the submission of the additional information that is requested by them.

VAT is also refunded in a few additional cases (for example, to individuals from third countries with respect to the exports of goods in personal luggage).

H. Invoicing

VAT invoices and credit and debit notes. A Czech VAT payer must generally provide a tax document for all taxable supplies (including distance selling) and VAT-exempt supplies with credit made to another taxable person. The taxable person must provide tax documents for supplies of services, goods with installation and supplies of gas and electricity with a place of supply outside the Czech Republic. The tax documents must be issued no later than:

- 15 days after the taxable supply (see Section E)
- Or
- 15 days after the end of the calendar month in which the VAT-exempt supply with credit or out of scope supply was effected (see Section E)

A tax document is necessary to support a claim for input tax deduction or a refund to a non-established business.

If a VAT payer is required to account for VAT on the private use of business assets, the VAT payer must issue “a document of use” similar to a VAT invoice.

A taxable person is not required to issue a tax document for a supply that is VAT-exempt without credit.

A VAT credit note is used to reduce the VAT originally charged on a supply. The value of the supply must be reduced in the following circumstances, among others:

- The supply that was made is cancelled (in full or in part).
- A supply is returned (in full or in part).
- A discount is provided after the tax point.
- The payment on which a VAT payer was required to charge VAT was subsequently used for purposes of another supply that had different VAT treatment.

A VAT debit note is used to increase the value of the original supply if the price increases after the tax point.

The amount of VAT credited or debited should be separately itemized on the credit or debit note. The credit or debit note must satisfy all of the following requirements:

- It must contain the reason for the correction.
- It must be cross-referenced to the original tax document. If the credited amount relates to several original supplies and if the VAT payer is not able to link the credit note to particular original invoices, a general reference to original invoices (or example, a period in which they were issued) should be sufficient. In such a case, VAT credited or debited may be stated on the document as a summary value.
- It must contain generally the same information as the original tax document.

Electronic invoicing. Effective 1 January 2013, the VAT law has been amended to permit electronic invoicing in line with EU Directive 2010/45/EU.

Proof of exports and intra-Community supplies. Czech VAT is not chargeable on supplies of exported goods. However, to qualify as VAT-exempt, an export supply must be accompanied by official customs declaration stating that the goods have left the EU. Customs declarations are now processed electronically. As a result, a data file received from the customs authorities represents evidence of goods leaving the EU and must be stored. To qualify for the exemption, the VAT payer (or its customer if it is not established in the Czech Republic) must be declared as an exporter, and this must be stated on the customs declaration. Furthermore, the transport has to be arranged either by the Czech VAT payer, the customer (not established in the Czech Republic) or by authorized third party by the Czech VAT payer or customer.

Czech VAT is not chargeable on goods supplied to taxable persons in other EU Member States (see the chapter on the EU). For a sale to another EU Member State to qualify as a VAT-exempt, intra-Community supply, the following conditions must be satisfied:

- The Czech VAT payer must prove that goods were delivered to another EU Member State by the VAT payer, the customer or a third party authorized by the Czech VAT payer or customer.
- The customer must be a VAT payer in the other EU Member State.
- The acquisition of the goods must be subject to VAT in the other EU Member State.

Transportation documents (for example, Convention on the Contract for the International Carriage of Goods by Road) confirmed by the customer and the transporter are suitable proof of the above. In certain cases, written statements of the customer or an authorized third party or other similar documentation may also be sufficient.

Foreign-currency invoices. A Czech tax document may not be issued in a foreign currency only. If a foreign currency is used, for VAT purposes at least, the VAT amount must be converted to Czech crowns.

For VAT purposes, the exchange rate used to convert foreign currency to Czech crowns is generally the exchange rate declared by the Czech National Bank or European Central Bank valid for the VAT payer on the date on which the VAT becomes chargeable.

A tax document may also be issued in electronic form, provided that the person for which the taxable supply or supply exempt from VAT with credit agrees with it.

B2C invoices. With some exceptions, it is not mandatory to issue an invoice to non-VAT taxable customers, apart from non-taxable legal persons.

I. VAT returns and payment

VAT returns. Czech VAT returns are generally submitted for monthly periods. If the turnover of the taxable person for the preceding calendar year has not reached CZK10 million, the taxable person may opt for quarterly VAT returns. Newly registered VAT payers, unreliable VAT payers and VAT groups do not qualify as quarterly VAT return filers.

VAT returns must be filed within 25 days after the end of the tax period. Payment of the VAT liability must be credited to the bank account of the tax authorities within the same time period. VAT liabilities must be paid in Czech crowns. So-called “nil returns” must be filed if no taxable transactions have taken place in the period. Effective 1 January 2014, it will be mandatory for VAT payers to submit VAT returns and other VAT-related reports electronically. However, electronic submission will not be mandatory for individuals with an annual turnover of less than CZK6 million.

Special schemes. If supplies are subject to the local reverse charge, the special statement must be filed together with the VAT return.

Electronic filing and archiving. Electronic filing of the VAT return is mandatory for all VAT payers except those that have turnover lower than CZK6 million and are not obliged by law to make any other filings electronically.

Annual returns. There is no annual VAT return in the Czech Republic.

J. Penalties

Default interest is charged for the late payment of VAT due on a VAT return, beginning with the fifth working day. The interest is calculated as a repo rate declared by the Czech National Bank to be valid on the first day of the respective calendar half-year increased by 14 percentage points (the repo rate represents an interest rate at which the Czech National Bank purchases discounted bills from the Czech commercial banks). The default interest may be applied up to a maximum of five years.

Late filing of VAT returns results in a penalty of 0.05% of VAT due for each day of the delay. The penalty is capped at 5% of the VAT due or at CZK300,000 for each VAT return. The first five working days following the deadline are penalty free.

A penalty is charged at a flat rate of 20% of the additionally assessed VAT if the VAT liability is increased or the deduction of VAT is decreased based on the findings of the tax authorities.

Fines up to CZK500,000 may be imposed for breach of non-monetary obligations such as VAT registration, reporting, recording or other notifications or obligations to provide proof or documentation. Furthermore, the fine for failure to file a Czech VAT return or EC Sales List electronically is now CZK2,000.

K. EU filings

Intrastat. A Czech VAT payer that trades with other EU Member States must complete statistical reports, known as Intrastat, if the value of either the VAT payer’s sales or purchases of goods exceeds certain thresholds. Separate reports are required for intra-Community acquisitions (Intrastat Arrivals) and for intra-Community supplies (Intrastat Dispatches).

The annual threshold for Intrastat Arrivals is CZK8 million.

The annual threshold for Intrastat Dispatches is CZK8 million.

The Intrastat report period is monthly. Intrastat reports must be submitted to the competent customs authorities by the 10th working day of the month following the calendar month to which they relate if submitted in paper form, or by the 12th working day of the month following the calendar month to which they relate if submitted electronically. Submission in paper form is allowed in specific cases only.

A penalty of up to CZK1 million may be imposed for late submission or for missing or inaccurate declarations.

EU Sales Lists. If a Czech VAT payer makes intra-Community supplies of goods or provides services (Article 44 services) to a taxable person established in another EU Member State in any tax period, it must submit an EU Sales List (ESL) to the Czech tax authorities together with the VAT payer's VAT return.

An identified person providing an Article 44 service with a place of supply in another EU Member State must also file an ESL.

Generally, an ESL must be filed monthly; quarterly filings are possible in limited cases. An ESL is not required for any period in which the taxable person has not made any intra-Community supplies or has not provided the services mentioned above.

The ESL must be filed electronically by uploading the data to an application accessible on the website of the Ministry of Finance. If the ESL is submitted through a data message that is neither signed using guaranteed electronic signature based on the qualified certificate issued by an authorized provider nor sent through a data box (mandatory legal instrument for electronic communications between legal entities and public bodies), it must be refiled in paper form.

Denmark

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Copenhagen

GMT +1

EY

Osvald Helmuths Vej 4
 DK-2000 Frederiksberg
 Copenhagen
 Denmark

Indirect tax contacts

Peter K. Svendsen	+45 25-29-35-45 peter.k.svendsen@dk.ey.com
Randi Christiansen	+45 25-29-39-41 randi.christiansen@dk.ey.com
Anne-Mette Højriis	+45 51-58-25-59 anne-mette.hoeiriis@dk.ey.com

Aarhus

GMT +1

EY

Værkmestergade 25
 DK-8000 Aarhus
 Denmark

Indirect tax contact

Peter Lunau Larsen	+45 25-29-46-91 peter.l.larsen@dk.ey.com
--------------------	---

Odense

GMT +1

EY

Englandsgade 25
 DK-5000 Odense
 Denmark

Indirect tax contact

Heidi Lundsgaard	+45 25-29-40-48 heidi.lundsgaard@dk.ey.com
------------------	---

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Value-added tax (VAT)
Local name	Merværdiafgiftsloven (Momsloven)
Date introduced	3 July 1967
Trading bloc membership	European Union (EU) Member State
Administered by	Central Customs and Tax Administration (www.skat.dk)
VAT rates
Standard	25%
Other	Zero-rated, exempt and exempt with credit
VAT number format	DK 12 34 56 78

VAT return periods	Monthly: Annual turnover more than DKK50 million Quarterly: Annual turnover between DKK5 million and DKK50 million Half-yearly: Annual turnover below DKK5 million
Thresholds
Registration
Businesses established in Denmark	DKK50,000 a year
Businesses established elsewhere	None
Distance selling	DKK280,000
Intra-Community acquisitions	DKK80,000 a year (for businesses exempted from VAT)
Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses	Yes

B. Scope of the tax

VAT applies to the following transactions:

- The supply of goods or services made in Denmark by a taxable person
- The intra-Community acquisition of goods from another EU Member State by a taxable person (see the chapter on the EU)
- Reverse-charge services received by a taxable person in Denmark
- The importation of goods from outside the EU, regardless of the status of the importer

C. Who is liable

The term “taxable person” means any entity or individual that makes taxable supplies of goods or services, intra-Community acquisitions or distance sales, in the course of a business.

The VAT-registration threshold is turnover of DKK50,000 a year for a business resident in Denmark. No registration threshold applies for a non-established business. Consequently, VAT registration is required as soon as a non-established business begins making supplies subject to VAT in Denmark.

Group registration. Groups of companies or related entities may request registration as a single taxable person (VAT group). If both VAT-registered and VAT-exempt companies are part of a VAT group registration, the parent company must be included in the VAT group. All group members must be 100% owned by the parent company and established in Denmark.

The effect of VAT grouping is that no VAT is charged on supplies between group members. However, if any member of the group has exempt activities, the group must deduct input VAT on a pro-rata basis. The group members are jointly and severally liable for any VAT on transactions with third parties.

Non-established businesses. A non-established business must register for Danish VAT if it makes any of the following supplies:

- Goods that are located in Denmark at the time of supply

- Intra-Community acquisitions in Denmark
- Distance sales in excess of the annual threshold
- B2C e-services, broadcasting and telecommunications to individuals with Danish residence
- Services that are not subject to the tax under the “reverse-charge” mechanism (for example, services related to real estate that are supplied to private persons). Most services supplied to taxable persons in Denmark are covered by the Danish reverse-charge regime.

Tax representatives. Businesses established in the following countries are not required to appoint a tax representative to register for Danish VAT:

Aland Islands	Faroe Islands	Iceland
EU Member States	Greenland	Norway

However, businesses established in the above countries may choose to appoint a tax representative to register for VAT. If a business established in a country, which is not an EU Member State, imports into Denmark, there will be an obligation to appoint a fiscal representative who is jointly and severally liable for any VAT or customs duty payments due.

VAT registration for non-established taxable persons from the Aland Islands, EU Member States, the Faroe Islands, Greenland, Iceland and Norway may be conducted through the following office:

Skattecenter Toender
 Pionér Allé 1
 DK-6270 Toender
 Denmark

Businesses established in other countries must appoint a Danish resident as tax representative to register for VAT. The representative and the nonresident business are jointly and severally liable for VAT liabilities.

The Danish tax authorities may require a non-established taxable person to provide security equal to its expected VAT liability for a three-month period. This may occur if the tax authorities believe a risk exists that the non-established business may not pay its indirect tax obligations.

Reverse charge. If a non-established business supplies services to a taxable person in Denmark but does not register for VAT, the taxable person may be required to account for the VAT due under reverse-charge accounting. This means that the taxable person charges itself VAT. The self-assessed VAT may be deducted as input tax.

Digital economy. Not applicable.

Registration procedures. Foreign businesses have to register for VAT by filling out the following form: www.businessindenmark.danishbusinessauthority.dk/register-as-a-foreign-company.

The application can be submitted either electronically or in hard copy, but it must be submitted at the latest 8 days before taxable activities are started in Denmark. If the application is not submitted or submitted late, or the information provided is not correct or insufficient, a fine might be issued.

Additional documentation can be required, for instance to show whether or not the company has a debt and documentation of the company's registration in home country.

The registration process takes about 2 weeks. A certificate with the Danish VAT number will be sent to the registered postal address.

Late-registration penalties. No specific penalty is levied for late VAT registration. However, a penalty may be charged of up to twice the VAT amount due in the period during which the business should have been registered.

Mini One-Stop Shop (MOSS). Suppliers of B2C e-services, broadcasting and telecommunications in the EU can register for the VAT MOSS scheme from October 2014 and will be able to use the MOSS service from January 2015.

Check the site of the Customs and Tax Administration at www.skat.dk for a registration form. After MOSS registration, the VAT must be settled and paid quarterly in DKK.

Deregistration. A taxable person that ceases to be eligible for VAT registration must deregister within 8 days. It is possible to receive the same VAT number if taxable activities are resumed.

D. VAT rates

The term "taxable supplies" refers to supplies of goods and services that are liable to a rate of VAT, including the zero rate.

In Denmark, the following are the two rates of VAT:

- Standard rate of 25%
- Zero rate (0%)

The standard rate of VAT applies to all supplies of goods or services, unless specific measures provides for the zero rate or an exemption.

Examples of goods and services taxable at 0%

- Newspapers
- Supplies to ships
- Supplies of gold to the Danish National Bank

The term "exempt supplies" refers to supplies of goods and services that are not liable to tax and that do not give rise to a right of input tax deduction (see Section F). Some supplies are classified as "exempt with credit," which means that no VAT is chargeable, but the supplier may recover related input tax. Exempt-with-credit supplies include exports of goods and related services, intra-Community supplies of goods and intangible services supplied to either another taxable person established in the EU or a recipient outside the EU (see the chapter on the EU).

Examples of exempt supplies of goods and services

- Medical services
- Education
- Finance
- Insurance
- Supplies made by writers, composers and performing artists

- Cultural services
- Transport of passengers
- Investment gold
- Leasing of real estate

Option to tax for exempt supplies. It is possible to make a voluntary registration for letting, tenancy and sale of real estate. The voluntary registration for letting of property must be at least two years. The two-year period starts when the first letting has commenced.

E. Time of supply

The time when VAT becomes due is called the “time of supply” or “tax point.” The basic time of supply for goods is when they are delivered. The basic time of supply for services is when they are performed.

In Denmark, VAT is due when the invoice is issued, which is normally at the time of supply. In practice, however, the Danish tax authorities accept invoices that are issued after the time of supply if that is the taxable person’s normal business practice.

Prepayments. The time of supply for an advance payment is when the supplier receives the payment even if the supply has not yet been made. A final time of supply occurs when the supply has been completed.

Intra-Community acquisitions. The time of supply for an intra-Community acquisition of goods is the 15th day of the month following the month in which the acquisition occurred. If the supplier issues an invoice before this date, the time of supply is when the invoice is issued.

Imported goods. The time of supply for imported goods is the date of the customs clearance or the date on which the goods leave a duty suspension regime.

Reverse charge. Certain services imported from outside Denmark by a taxable person are subject to the tax under the “reverse-charge” mechanism, which means that the recipient of the service must account for VAT. The time of supply for a reverse-charge service is the VAT period in which the service is supplied or the period in which the invoice is issued if the invoice is issued shortly after the supply.

Cash accounting. Denmark does not operate a cash accounting scheme.

Continuous supplies of services. The time of supply of services where no final delivery has taken place is at the end of each VAT return period.

Continuous supplies of goods. When, as part of a continuous supply of goods, the delivery is taking more than one month and has not concluded, delivery is considered to have taken place on the last day of the month. If delivery is taking more than one year and has not concluded, and no payment has been made, delivery is considered to have taken place on the last day of the calendar year.

Leased assets. Not applicable.

F. Recovery of VAT by taxable persons

A taxable person may recover input tax, which is VAT charged on goods and services supplied to it for business purposes. Taxable persons generally recover input tax by deducting it from output tax, which is VAT charged on supplies made.

Input tax includes VAT charged on goods and services supplied in Denmark, VAT paid on imports of goods and VAT self-assessed on intra-Community acquisitions of goods and reverse-charge services.

A valid tax invoice or customs document must generally accompany a claim for input tax.

Nondeductible input tax. Input tax may not be recovered on purchases of goods and services that are not used for business purposes (for example, goods acquired for private use by an entrepreneur). In addition, input tax may not be recovered for some items of business expenditure.

The following lists provide some examples of items of expenditure for which input tax is not deductible, and examples of items for which input tax is deductible if the expenditure is related to a taxable business use.

Examples of items for which input tax is nondeductible

- Business gifts with a value of more than DKK100
- Purchase, lease or hire of a private car
- Maintenance costs for a private car
- Employee meals and entertainment

Examples of items for which input tax is deductible (if related to a taxable business use)

- 100% of hotel accommodation, if strictly for business purposes
- 25% of restaurant services, if strictly for business purposes
- Books
- Long-term lease of cars used for a business (a proportion)
- Attendance at conferences, seminars and exhibitions
- 50% of home telephone bill

Partial exemption. Input tax directly related to making exempt supplies is not generally recoverable. If a Danish taxable person makes both exempt and taxable supplies, it may not recover input tax in full. This situation is referred to as “partial exemption.” Exempt with credit supplies are treated as taxable supplies for these purposes.

The amount of input tax that may be recovered is calculated in the following two stages:

- The first stage is the direct allocation of VAT to exempt and taxable supplies. Input tax directly allocable to exempt supplies is not deductible.
- The second stage is to prorate the remaining input tax that relates to both taxable and exempt supplies (for example, VAT incurred on business overhead) based on the percentage of total turnover that is taxable. The pro-rata calculation must be performed each year, and the recovery percentage is rounded up to the next whole number. For example, a recovery percentage of 77.2% is rounded up to 78%.

Capital goods. Capital goods are items of capital expenditure that are used in a business over several years. Input tax is deducted in the VAT year in which the goods are acquired. The amount of input tax recovered depends on the taxable person's partial exemption recovery position in the VAT year of acquisition. However, the amount of input tax recovered for capital goods must be adjusted over time if the taxable person's partial exemption recovery percentage changes during the adjustment period.

In Denmark, the capital goods adjustment applies to the following assets for the number of years indicated:

- Land and buildings including additions and alterations: adjusted for a period of 10 years
- Repair, maintenance and renovation of land and buildings if the annual cost exceeds DKK100,000: adjusted for a period of five years
- Items of machinery, equipment and furniture costing more than DKK100,000: adjusted for a period of five years

The adjustment is applied each year following the year of acquisition to a fraction of the total input tax (1/10 for land and buildings and 1/5 for other capital goods). The adjustment may result in either an increase or a decrease of deductible input VAT, depending on whether the ratio of taxable supplies made by the business increases or decreases compared with the year in which the capital goods were acquired.

Refunds. If the amount of input VAT recoverable in a period exceeds the amount of output VAT payable, a refund may be claimed by submitting the VAT return form.

Preregistration costs. Preregistration costs are refundable as long as they relate to the business's taxable activities.

Write-off of bad debts. To claim bad debt relief, the supplier must be able to demonstrate the loss by use of a court order. If a debtor is bankrupt, in liquidation, etc., or the debtor is dead, this is treated as the equivalent to a court order.

In regard to bad debt not related to bankruptcy and the like, it is sufficient that the supplier has made an effort to claim the amount through a debt collection agency or a lawyer or that the supplier himself has tried in vain to collect the amount. The debt must be considered lost and minimum internal chasing procedure must be performed in order to render it probable that the debt cannot be recovered. The chasing procedure must be reasonable compared to the size of the debt and the costs related to the collection.

Noneconomic activities. Costs related to noneconomic activities are not deductible. For overhead cost related to both economic and noneconomic activities, an evaluation must be made as to what extent the goods or services are related to the taxable activities.

G. Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses

The Danish tax authorities refund VAT incurred by businesses that are neither established nor registered for VAT in Denmark. A non-established business may claim Danish VAT to the same extent as a VAT-registered business and to the extent the VAT incurred is deductible in the country of establishment. The refund procedure depends on whether the business seeking the VAT refund is established in the EU or in a third country. Refunds to businesses established in the EU are made under the rules in Directive 2008/9/EC. Refunds to businesses established outside the EU are made under the rules in Directive 86/560/EEC (13th VAT Directive). In practice, Denmark does not exclude businesses from any non-EU countries from the recovery scheme.

For the general rules of the EU VAT refund schemes, see the chapter on the EU.

Refund application. The deadline for refund claims for both EU and non-EU businesses is 30 September of the year following the year in which the tax is incurred.

Claims must be submitted in Danish, English, German or Swedish. The application for a refund must be accompanied by the appropriate documentation (see the chapter on the EU).

The minimum claim period is three months, while the maximum period is one year. The minimum claim for a period of less than a year is DKK3,000. For an annual claim, the minimum amount is DKK400. These limits apply to both EU and non-EU businesses.

Applications for refunds of Danish VAT may, for businesses established outside the EU, be sent to the following office:

Skattecenter Toender
8/13 moms
Pionér Allé 1
DK-6270 Toender
Denmark

Businesses established in another EU Member State must apply for a VAT refund by following an electronic procedure (see the chapter on the EU).

Repayment interest. If the acceptance of the refund request and the payment of the refund (or the denial of the refund request) do not occur within six months, the Danish tax authorities pay interest to claimants for refunds under the general Danish rules.

H. Invoicing

VAT invoices and credit notes. A Danish taxable person must generally provide a VAT invoice for all taxable supplies made, including exports and intra-Community supplies.

A VAT invoice is necessary to support a claim for input tax deduction or a refund under the VAT refund schemes (see the chapter on the EU).

A VAT credit note may be used to reduce the VAT charged and reclaimed on a supply. It must be cross-referenced to the original VAT invoice and contain the same information.

Electronic invoicing. Effective 1 January 2013, the VAT law has been amended to permit electronic invoicing in line with EU Directive 2010/45/EU.

Proof of exports and intra-Community supplies. VAT is not chargeable on supplies of exported goods or on intra-Community supplies of goods (see the chapter on the EU). However, to qualify as VAT-free, exports and intra-Community supplies must be supported by evidence that proves the goods have left Denmark. Acceptable proof includes the following documentation:

- For an export, the seller must retain the signed customs documentation with a pro forma invoice and commercial evidence such as customer orders and contracts.
- For an intra-Community supply, the seller must indicate the customer's VAT identification number (from a different EU country) and must retain commercial documentation, such as purchase orders, transport documentation, and evidence of both payment and receipt of goods.

Foreign-currency invoices. A Danish VAT invoice may be issued in Danish krone (DKK) or euros. If another currency is used, the amount of VAT must be converted into Danish krone, either by using the current exchange rate or the official monthly customs exchange rate published by the Danish tax authorities.

B2C invoices. Effective 1 January 2015, new rules apply to the place of supply for supplies of telecommunications, broadcasting and electronic services to non-VAT taxable customers. Please refer to the European Union chapter.

Danish suppliers of these services are required to issue invoices to non-taxable customers.

I. VAT returns and payment

VAT returns. A Danish taxable person whose turnover exceeds DKK50 million must submit VAT returns on a monthly basis. A taxable person with a turnover of between DKK1 million and DKK50 million generally submits returns on a quarterly basis (monthly returns are optional). A taxable person with turnover of less than DKK1 million must submit returns on a half-yearly basis.

As of 1 January 2015, the threshold of DKK1 million will be raised to DKK5 million.

Monthly VAT returns and payments are due by the 25th day of the month following the return period. Quarterly VAT returns and payments are due by the first day of the third month following the end of the return period. Half-yearly VAT returns and payments are due by the first day of the third month following the end of the return period.

A summer VAT relief scheme allows filing and payment for the June period to be made by 17 August.

Returns must be completed and liabilities must be paid in Danish krone.

Mini One-Stop Shop (MOSS). Suppliers of B2C e-services, broadcasting and telecommunications in the EU can register for the VAT MOSS scheme from October and will be able to use it from 1 January 2015.

Electronic filing and archiving. It is generally compulsory for local businesses and foreign businesses to submit VAT returns online, using the Danish tax authorities' website, www.skat.dk through Tast Selv.

VAT records must be kept for five years, and if the records concern immovable property covered by the capital goods scheme, they must be kept for 10 years. VAT records may be kept electronically or on microfilm, and the company must provide the tax authorities a description of the method of storage in order to make it possible to locate the relevant records and print them out.

Access to stored records on a server outside Denmark depends on the location of the server and an approval from the Danish authorities.

Annual returns. Not applicable.

J. Penalties

The penalty for the late submission of a VAT return is DKK65 per reminder for payment. In addition, interest is levied for late payment of VAT. The current interest rate is 1.5% per month, calculated on a daily basis. This interest is not deductible for income tax purposes.

K. EU filings

Intrastat. Danish taxable persons that trade with other EU countries must complete statistical reports, known as Intrastat, if the value of their sales or purchases exceeds certain thresholds. Separate reports cover intra-Community acquisitions (Intrastat Arrivals) and intra-Community supplies (Intrastat Dispatches).

The 2014 threshold for arrivals is DKK6 million, and for dispatches it is DKK5 million.

Danish taxable persons must complete Intrastat declarations in Danish krone. Euros may not be used.

The Intrastat return period is monthly. The submission deadline is the 10th working day of the month following the end of the Intrastat return period.

If a report is late or missing, a fine of DKK550 is imposed.

EU Sales Lists. If a Danish taxable person makes intra-Community supplies or renders services that are subject to reverse charge in another EU country in any return period, it must submit an EU Sales List (ESL). An ESL does not need to be submitted for a period in which no intra-Community supplies are made.

ESLs must be submitted on a monthly basis. In some cases, businesses that have limited intra-Community supplies may obtain permission to submit ESLs on a quarterly basis.

ESLs must be completed in Danish krone.

If an ESL is late, a reminder penalty of DKK65 is imposed.

Dominican Republic

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Santo Domingo

GMT -4

EY

Torre Empresarial Reyna II
Suite 900
Pedro Henríquez Ureña No. 138
Santo Domingo
Dominican Republic

Indirect tax contacts

Ludovino Colon	+1 (809) 472-3973 ludovino.colon@do.ey.com
Rafael Sayagués (resident in San José, Costa Rica)	New York: +1 (212) 773-4761 rafael.sayagues@cr.ey.com
Juan Carlos Chavarría (resident in San José, Costa Rica)	+506 2208-9844 juan-carlos.chavarria@cr.ey.com
Antonio Ruiz (resident in San José, Costa Rica)	+506 2208-9822 antonio.ruiz@cr.ey.com
Luis Eduardo Ocando B. (resident in Panama)	+507 208-0144 luis.ocando@pa.ey.com

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Tax on the Transfer of Industrialized Goods and Services
Local name	Impuesto sobre la Transferencias de Bienes Industrializados y Servicios (ITBIS)
Date introduced	May 1992
Trading bloc membership	None related to VAT
Administered by	Dirección General de Impuestos Internos (DGII) (www.dgii.gov.do)
ITBIS rates	18%, 13%, 0% and exempt
ITBIS number format	Tax identification number (known as the “RNC” number)
ITBIS return periods	Monthly
Thresholds
Registration	None (smaller businesses may be treated differently; see Section C)
Recovery of ITBIS by non-established businesses	No

B. Scope of the tax

ITBIS applies to the following transactions:

- Transfer of industrialized goods
- Importation of industrialized goods
- Leasing and rendering of services

C. Who is liable

The following are ITBIS taxpayers:

- Individuals or business entities, whether domestic or foreign, that transfer industrialized goods as part of their industrial or commercial activities
- Individuals or business entities engaged in the importation of goods subject to ITBIS
- Individual or business entities that render services subject to ITBIS

No turnover threshold applies to ITBIS registration.

Within 30 days after beginning taxable activities, the taxpayer must notify the tax authorities of its activities.

Small and medium taxpayers. A taxpayer may use a simplified tax procedure (Procedimiento Simplificado de Tributación, or PST) if it meets certain purchase or income criteria that qualify it as a small or medium taxpayer.

The PST based on purchases applies to a taxpayer that makes annual purchases of DOP39,208,265 (approximately USD897,200) or less and satisfies at least one of the following conditions:

- It performs commercial activities related to retail sales to final consumers.
- It performs commercial activities related to wholesale or retail sales of merchandise if the industrial products (products that are subject to industrial transformation) are acquired directly and principally from the national industries or from wholesale sellers of industrial products.
- It manufactures goods using materials acquired from the local market, and its sales are made to taxpayers that do not benefit from the PST.

If the PST is adopted following the purchasing criteria, it allows the liquidation of the ITBIS based on the difference between the gross income and the purchases (gross value added).

The PST based on income criteria applies to a small taxpayer that satisfies all of the following conditions:

- The taxpayer has annual income of DOP8,437,887 or less (approximately USD193,000).
- The taxpayer does not use an organized bookkeeping method.
- The taxpayer's income satisfies one of these criteria:
 - The income is exempt from ITBIS.
 - More than 50% of the income is derived from ITBIS-exempt activities.
 - 100% of the ITBIS that arises from the rendering of services is subject to withholding.

The above provisions may include measures designed to reduce the frequency of the filing of ITBIS returns and to simplify other ITBIS requirements.

Group registration. Although the tax authorities do not apply group registration, under the Dominican ITBIS provisions the tax authorities may consider as unique taxpayers entities, individuals, enterprises or a combination of them, if they transfer or render ITBIS-taxable goods or services and if these activities are controlled by the same person or persons (individuals, entities or combinations). If an individual exercises control or administers several businesses or establishments, the ITBIS imposed is considered to be the ITBIS of such individual.

Non-established businesses. A “non-established business” is a business that has no fixed establishment in the Dominican Republic. The Dominican Tax Law does not provide a mechanism for the payment of the ITBIS from non-established businesses. Consequently, a non-established business must register to pay ITBIS to the tax authorities if it supplies goods or services in the Dominican Republic.

To register for ITBIS, a non-established business must register with the Chamber of Commerce and the tax authorities.

The Dominican tax regulations do not provide a reverse-charge or refund mechanism for these entities.

Tax representatives. At the moment of registering an entity as VAT taxpayer, a tax representative must be appointed.

Reverse charge. Not applicable.

Digital economy. The same rules apply to goods and services provided digitally.

Registration procedures. Individual persons should submit Form IR-01 to the tax authority with a copy of their ID or passport. Legal entities should first register before the local Chamber of Commerce and then request to the tax authority their incorporation into the National Taxpayers Registry (RNC) through Form RC-02, attaching copies of their corporate documentation.

Late-registration penalties. A taxpayer that fails to register for ITBIS on a timely basis may not deduct tax on goods purchased by the business that form part of its inventory at the time of registration. The tax authorities may assess unpaid ITBIS, and penalties and interest are also assessed for late registration.

Deregistration. In order to deregister from the National Taxpayers Registry (RNC for its Spanish acronym), taxpayers must request from the tax authority an authorization for business termination, and additionally submit within 60 days after its business termination, a final income tax return. Legal entities must also provide corporate documentation approving the dissolution of the corporation.

D. ITBIS rates

In the Dominican Republic, the standard rate of ITBIS is 18%, which applies to all supplies and importations of goods and to the list of taxable services, unless a specific provision allows a reduced rate of 13%, some other reduced rate, a zero rate or an exemption.

Examples of items taxed at 13%

- Yogurt and other dairy derivatives
- Coffee
- Butter, margarine and oils
- Powdered cacao (with or without sugar) and unfilled cacao bars
- Sugar

Examples of exempt goods and services

- Live animals
- Fresh, refrigerated or frozen meat
- Fish for popular consumption or reproduction
- Milk, eggs, and honey
- Non-processed fruit for massive consumption
- Cocoa and chocolate
- Certain types of medicines
- Certain types of books and magazines
- Education services, including theatre, ballet, opera, and dance
- Health services
- Electricity, water, and garbage collection services
- Financial services (including insurance)

Option to tax for exempt supplies. Not applicable.

E. Time of supply

The time when the taxable event is considered to take place and ITBIS becomes due is called the “tax point.”

Transfer of goods. The basic time of supply for the transfer of goods is when the invoice is issued or, if an invoice does not exist, the time of the delivery or the withdrawal of the goods.

The basic time of supply for services is the earlier of the following:

- When the service is performed
- When an invoice is issued
- When the service is completed
- When the price is paid in full or in part

Imports. The time of supply for imported goods is when the goods are placed at the disposition of the importer.

Leasing. The time of supply for leasing is when the lease contract is signed or when the delivery of the leased property is made to the lessee, whichever is earliest. For long-term leases and for leases covering both personal and real property, the time of supply is when the rental installment expires or when the rent is collected, whichever is earliest.

F. Recovery of ITBIS by taxable persons

An ITBIS taxpayer may deduct as input tax the advance taxes paid with respect to the following purchases:

- The purchase of domestic goods and services that are subject to ITBIS
- The importation of goods subject to ITBIS

The right to deduct advance taxes must be supported by proper documentation related to the local purchase or the importation of the goods.

Partial exemption (proportional ITBIS deduction). If it is not possible to determine whether the goods purchased or imported by a taxpayer have been used in performing taxable or exempt activities, the ITBIS deduction is proportional. The deductible proportion is based on the value of the taxpayer’s taxable operations in the tax year compared with the value of its total operations for the tax year.

$$\text{ITBIS Deduction} = 100 \times \frac{\text{Taxable operations}}{\text{Total operations}}$$

ITBIS not deductible according to this formula should be considered as a cost of production for the goods transferred or services provided.

Refunds. Exporters that have excess credits for advance taxes paid on the purchase of raw materials may request a refund for the advance tax over a six-month period.

If an invoice is voided within 30 days after its issuance, a refund of the ITBIS may be requested in that period.

Preregistration costs. Taxpayers are not permitted to recover input VAT paid on purchases made prior to VAT registration.

G. Recovery of ITBIS by non-established businesses

The Dominican Republic does not refund ITBIS incurred by foreign or non-established businesses unless they are registered as taxpayers with the tax authorities.

H. Invoicing

Invoices and credit notes. An ITBIS taxpayer must provide invoices indicating the amount of ITBIS collected for the taxable supplies made. In addition, invoices must include a Fiscal Supporting Number (Número de Comprobante Fiscal, or NCF from its Spanish acronym) and the Taxpayer's Registration Number (RNC), among other requirements.

An invoice showing the NCF, RNC and the ITBIS amount separate from the total amount is generally necessary to support a claim for an input tax credit.

An ITBIS credit note may be used to reduce the ITBIS charged and reclaimed on a supply of goods and services within the next 30 days of the issuance of the invoice or the transfer of the good.

The invoice for every transfer of goods or supply of services rendered must show an NCF. The NCF is made up of a numeric sequence granted by the tax authorities at the request of the taxpayer.

The NCF is required to support deductions for income tax purposes or ITBIS credits.

Invoices with NCFs may be printed directly by taxpayers through their computer systems or by establishments duly authorized by the tax authorities.

Exports. Exported goods are zero-rated for ITBIS purposes. Under the ITBIS Law, a compensation and reimbursement procedure is provided for exporters. This procedure allows the compensation or reimbursement of the ITBIS charged with respect to goods to be used for exportation activities.

Foreign-currency invoices. It is acceptable for invoices including NCF to be issued in a foreign currency.

Electronic invoices. Electronic invoices with their corresponding NCF are valid for fiscal purposes.

I. ITBIS returns and payment

ITBIS returns. ITBIS returns are submitted monthly. Returns must be submitted by the 20th day of the month following the end of the return period. Payment in full is due on the same date. A return must be filed, even if no ITBIS is due for the period.

Tax due must be paid in Dominican pesos (DOP).

Special schemes. None.

Electronic filing and archiving. ITBIS returns should be monthly submitted via the tax authority's virtual office, through Form IT-01.

Annual returns. There are no annual VAT returns.

J. Penalties

Penalties can be imposed for late payment, tax evasion, failure to comply with formal duties and tax fraud.

Late payments. The following are the penalties for late payments of ITBIS:

- Surcharges: charged at 10% of the unpaid tax for the first month or fraction of a month, and at 4% per month for each successive month or fraction of a month.
- Interest: charged at 1.73% per month or fraction of a month. This amount is added to the surcharge.

Tax evasion. Tax evasion that does not constitute fraud occurs if, by any action or omission, a taxpayer files an inaccurate tax return that results in a reduction in the tax payment to be made to the tax authorities. The penalty may consist of up to twice the unpaid amount plus interest and the closure of the business. If the amount of the unpaid tax cannot be determined, a fine ranging from 10 to 50 times the minimum salary (the minimum salary is approximately USD200) may be imposed. The tax evasion penalty may not be applied simultaneously with surcharges for late payment.

Failure to comply with formal duties. Failure to fulfill formal tax duties could result in a fine of 5 to 30 times the minimum salary. The following are the violations:

- Failure to maintain accounting books or records required by law
- Providing false information when registering for ITBIS
- Not registering in the relevant tax registries
- Refusing to provide information to the tax authorities
- Failure to file tax returns for the calculation of tax payments

Tax fraud. Tax fraud occurs when information has been altered in a manner that causes the tax authorities to incorrectly compute the amount of tax due. The consequences of tax fraud may include a penalty ranging from 2 to 10 times the amount of the evaded tax, closure of the business establishment or the cancellation of an operating license.

Ecuador

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Quito

GMT -5

EY

Addvalue Asesores Cía. Ltda.
Andalucía y Cordero esq.
Edificio Cyede - 3rd Floor
P.O. Box 1717835
Quito
Ecuador

Indirect tax contacts

Javier Salazar	+593 (2) 255-5553 javier.salazar@ec.ey.com
Ivan García	+593 (2) 255-5553 ivan.garcia@ec.ey.com

Guayaquil

GMT -5

EY

Addvalue Asesores Cía. Ltda.
Ave. Francisco de Orellana y A. Borges
Edificio CENTRUM - 14th Floor
Guayaquil
Ecuador

Indirect tax contact

Carlos Cazar	+593 (4) 263-4500 carlos.cazar@ec.ey.com
--------------	---

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Value-added tax (VAT)
Local name	Impuesto al valor agregado (IVA)
Date introduced	31 December 1981
Trading bloc membership	None
Administered by	Ecuadorian Internal Revenue Service (IRS) (http://www.sri.gob.ec)
VAT rates
Standard	12%
Other	0% and exempt
VAT number format	The nine-digit Tax ID is applicable to all taxes.
VAT return periods	Monthly
Thresholds
Registration	None
Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses	No

B. Scope of the tax

VAT is levied to the following transactions:

- The supply of goods or rendering of services performed in Ecuador
- The importation of goods and services from outside Ecuador
- The supply of copyrights, industrial property and related rights (effective from 2011, all transactions involving intellectual property rights are considered services)

C. Who is liable

A VAT taxable person is an individual or business entity that, in the course of doing business in Ecuador, engages in the following actions:

- Transfers and/or imports physical movable goods
- Performs and/or imports services

No registration threshold applies.

The definition of a VAT taxable person also applies to a permanent establishment (PE) of a foreign business located in Ecuador.

Group registration. VAT grouping is not allowed under the Ecuadorian VAT law. Legal entities that are closely connected must register for VAT individually.

Non-established businesses. If non-established businesses perform transactions on which VAT is levied, a sales and purchase receipt must be issued by the local company and the VAT paid is assumed by the local company.

Tax representatives. Foreign companies may select a resident person or legal entity to represent the taxpayer to the tax authorities. This is not limited to VAT issues but must include all tax matters between the taxpayer and tax authorities in Ecuador.

Reverse charge. A self-invoice is issued in case of self-consumption or donation, and for imported services. In case of self-consumption or donation, the price has to be the market price or higher, and VAT is levied. The legal requirements applicable are the same for a normal sales invoice.

For imported services, the local entities must issue a sales and purchase receipt in order to charge the VAT over the services billed from abroad. The VAT on import of goods is settled by the local customs authority.

Registration procedures. Private entities must file before the tax authority the following documents:

- Forms RUC-01-A and RUC-01-B signed by the legal representative
- Public deed of the constitution of the company duly registered in the Commercial Registry
- Legal representative's appointment duly registered in the Commercial Registry
- General data sheet provided by the Superintendance of Companies
- Legal representative's ID or passport

Tax ID registration must be performed directly in the tax authority's offices. All documents must be originals and notarized copies. The legal representative must perform the registration directly or file a letter of authorization to the person in charge of this process. The estimated time for this procedure is three hours.

Late-registration penalties. In order to proceed with commercial activities in Ecuadorian territory, legal entities must first obtain a Tax ID. There are no penalties for late registration.

Digital economy. There are no specific requirements for digital economy transactions other than general VAT regulations.

Deregistration. If a person or legal entity ceases its commercial activities in Ecuadorian territory, then a request to cancel the Tax ID must be submitted to the tax authority in order to prevent penalties and new tax obligations.

D. VAT rates

The general rate of VAT in Ecuador is 12%. A zero rate (0%) can apply, preserving the right to deduct input VAT.

Examples of goods and services taxed at 0%

- Unprocessed food
- Agricultural goods (such as certified seeds, plants and roots) and equipment
- Drugs and veterinary products
- Paper, newspapers, magazines, books and publishing services
- Exported goods
- Transport of persons and materials and air cargo transport
- Education
- Health services
- Public supply of electricity, drinking water and sewerage services
- Rent for housing purposes
- Financial securities exchanges

Some supplies are exempt from VAT, which generally means there is no right deduct input VAT.

Examples of goods and services exempt from VAT

- Sale of a business
- Mergers, spinoffs and conversions of companies
- Donations to charities
- Transfers of stock, shares and other negotiable instruments
- Real estate

Option to tax for exempt supplies. Not applicable.

E. Time of supply

The time when VAT becomes due is called the “time of supply” or “tax point.” The basic time of supply is when the goods are transferred or when the services are performed. The invoice for the transaction must be issued at the time of supply.

The total amount of VAT must be paid even in credit operations.

Imported goods. The time of supply for imported goods is either the date of importation or the date on which the goods leave a duty suspension regime.

F. Recovery of VAT by Ecuadorian taxable persons

VAT input tax may be recovered with respect to the following:

- Exportation of goods

- Importation and local acquisition of goods and raw materials used in the production of exported goods
- The provision of goods or services to governmental entities (some restrictions apply)

The recovery may be achieved through the offsetting of VAT receivable against VAT payable or through a claim to the tax authorities.

If a taxpayer registers a VAT credit as an expense, the expense is not deductible for income tax purposes.

Partial exemption (input tax credit system). Taxpayers that produce goods or supply services that are subject to 12% VAT may recover the full input tax paid, netting it with local acquisitions. The same treatment applies to VAT taxable persons that export goods and services. VAT input tax can be recovered with respect to imports of fixed assets and goods, raw materials and services necessary to produce and trade taxable goods and services.

Taxable persons that exclusively produce or sell goods, or supply services that are subject to VAT at the zero rate (other than exports of goods or services), are not entitled to any input tax recovery.

VAT taxable persons that supply goods or render services that are subject to VAT at both rates (12% and 0%) may recover a proportion of input tax.

The recovery percentage is calculated using a pro-rata method, using the ratio of the total value of supplies made at the standard rate (12%) plus exports to the total value of all supplies made. The following is the ratio:

$$\frac{\text{Supplies subject to a rate of 12\% + exports}}{\text{Total sales + exports}}$$

Refunds. If the amount of input VAT (credit VAT) recoverable in a month exceeds the amount of output VAT (debit VAT) payable, the excess credit may be carried forward to offset output tax in the following tax period.

G. Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses

Ecuador does not refund VAT incurred by foreign businesses unless they have a PE in Ecuador.

H. Invoicing

VAT invoices. In general, a VAT taxpayer must issue an invoice for all taxable transactions performed, including exports. Such invoices are necessary to support a tax credit.

Exports. Ecuadorian VAT is not chargeable on supplies of exported goods or services. However, to qualify as VAT-free goods, exports must be supported by customs documents evidencing that the goods have left Ecuador.

Foreign-currency invoices. Invoices related to supplies made in Ecuador must be issued in US dollars (USD).

I. VAT returns and payment

VAT returns. VAT returns are generally submitted monthly. VAT returns and payment in full are due between the 10th and the 28th day of the month following the end of the return period. To determine the filing deadline for a VAT taxable person, the tax administration uses the ninth number of its tax identification number (RUC).

In certain circumstances, VAT-taxable persons that supply goods and services exclusively at the 0% rate may submit VAT returns every six months.

VAT shown in tax returns must be paid in US dollars.

Special schemes. Taxpayers who perform only 0% VAT rated sales and purchases must file a VAT return every 6 months, due between the 10th and the 28th day of July (for transactions performed between January and June) and January (transactions performed between July and December).

Electronic filing and archiving. All VAT returns must be electronically filed according to the schedule specified above and using the software provided by the tax authority, which can be downloaded from the website www.sri.gob.ec.

Annual returns. Not applicable.

J. Penalties

A range of penalties is assessed for errors and omissions with respect to VAT accounting, including the late filing of a VAT return or late payment of the tax. The interest rate for late payment is set every quarter.

Penalties for non-compliance with VAT obligations include fines of up to five times the amount lost by the tax authorities, closure of the business and imprisonment.

Egypt

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Cairo

GMT +2

EY

Cairo Ring Road
Rama Tower, First Floor
El-Katameya
Block No. 10A, beside Bavarian Auto Group
P.O. Box 20 El-Katameya
11936 Cairo
Egypt

Indirect tax contacts

Ahmed El Sayed	+20 (2) 2726-0260 ahmed.el-sayed@eg.ey.com
Hossam Nasr	+20 (2) 2726-0260 hossam.nasr@eg.ey.com

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	General sales tax (replacement by VAT under consideration)
Local name	Al-Dareeba AlAmaa Ala ElMabeeat
Date introduced	3 May 1991
Trading bloc membership	None
Administered by	Ministry of Finance (www.mof.gov.eg)
Rates
Standard	10%
Other	1.2% to 45%
Number format	123/456/789
Return periods	Monthly
Thresholds
Manufacturers and service providers	EGP54,000
Wholesalers and retailers	EGP150,000
Importers of goods and services for trading purposes	Nil
Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses	No

B. Scope of the tax

GST is levied on locally manufactured goods and imported goods except for goods exempted by a special measure.

The law provides that 17 types of services are subject to GST, including the following:

- Hotels and restaurants
- Telecommunications

- Maintenance and installation services
- Car rental and tourist transport services
- Security and cleaning services
- Courier services

Egypt is considering the introduction of a single rate VAT that would replace the GST and be imposed on most goods and services. However, at the time of writing, this change has not been confirmed and no date has been given for its expected introduction.

C. Who is liable

A taxable person is a business entity that satisfies the following conditions:

- It engages in manufacturing, the provision of services or the sale of goods, on a wholesale or retail basis, and it has reached the thresholds determined by the law. These thresholds vary depending on the types of activities engaged in by the business entity.
- It imports goods or services for trading purposes. No threshold applies to importers.

A taxable person must register with the Egyptian tax authority, and entities that have reached the registration threshold may not add any sales tax to their invoices until they register.

Group registration. Not applicable.

Non-established businesses. Not applicable.

Tax representatives. Not applicable.

Reverse charge. Not applicable.

Digital economy. Normal VAT rules apply to digital goods and services.

Registration procedures. The taxpayer must fill in a hard copy registration form, attaching copies of the entity tax card, commercial register and import card. The originals should be provided for reviewing.

The registration form could be submitted by the entity representative or desigee with power of attorney.

Late-registration penalties. Penalties range from EGP1,000 to EGP5,000 in addition to 0.5% weekly additional tax on the tax due.

Deregistration. An entity wishing to deregister should submit request in writing to the tax authority along with documentation proving the submission of the tax card and the cancellation of the entity in the commercial register.

D. GST rates

The standard GST rate is 10%. However, rates ranging between 1.2% to 45% apply to some goods and services, and rates ranging from 1.2% to 10% apply to construction activities. The following table provides examples of items that are subject to different rates (this list is not exhaustive).

Item	GST rate (%)
Contracts, including contracts for supply of machinery, installation and construction activities	1.2
Construction civil work	2.9
Cleaning materials for household purposes and steel	5
Cars of 1,600 cc or less	15
Cars over 1,600 cc and less than 2,000 cc	30
Locally manufactured cars over 2,000 cc	30
Imported cars over 2,000 cc	45
Refrigerators over 12 feet, air-conditioning units and videos	25
All exports	0

Exemptions. Goods, equipment, machinery, services and their raw material components that are necessary for defense and national security are exempt from GST. This measure applies to the following entities if the concerned Minister, Head of Authority or their appropriate delegates issue a certificate confirming the applicability of the measure:

- Companies and authorities associated with the Ministry of Defense
- Ministry of Interior Affairs
- National Security Authority
- Arab Manufacturing Authority

The following transactions may be exempt from GST subject to specified limits, to reciprocal arrangements with the relevant countries and to guidance issued by the Ministry of Foreign Affairs:

- Purchases and imports for personal use by foreign members of diplomatic and consular corps (non-honorary) listed in tables issued by the Ministry of Foreign Affairs and purchases and imports for the personal use of such foreigners' spouses and minors.
- Purchases or imports for official use by non-honorary embassies, legations and consulates except for food, spirits and tobacco. Vehicles exempted under this measure and the measures described in the preceding bullet are one car for personal use, five cars for official use of each embassy or legation and two cars for official use of each consulate. In accordance with an agreement with the Minister of Foreign Affairs, the Minister of Finance may increase such limits.
- Imported baggage, furniture, home appliances and one used car for foreign official persons working in such diplomatic or consular missions referred to above who do not benefit from exemptions stipulated in the first bullet above, if the importation of such items occurs within six months after the arrival date of the person. By an agreement with the Minister of Foreign Affairs, the Minister of Finance may extend such six-month period.

The above exemptions are effective after the approval of the exemption application by the Head of the Diplomatic or Consular Mission, as the case may be, and the ratification of such approval by the Ministry of Foreign Affairs.

The Egyptian Sales Tax Law does not provide for partial exemptions.

Option to tax for exempt supplies. Not applicable.

E. Time of supply

Under Sales Tax Law No. 11 of 1991, GST is due at the point of sale of a commodity or the supply of a service by a taxable person.

The use of goods or services by a taxable person for private or personal purposes or any legal disposal is deemed to be a sale for GST purposes.

Imported goods. The tax on imported goods is due on customs clearance.

GST does not apply to imports of goods, other than automobiles, or services by businesses located in free-trade zones, free cities and free shops, for the purpose of carrying out the businesses' licensed activities.

F. Recovery of GST by taxable persons

Deductible input tax. Subject to the terms and conditions stipulated in the Executive Regulations, when calculating amounts of tax due, a registrant may deduct the following amounts from tax due on its sales of goods:

- Tax previously paid or charged on its inputs
- Tax on returned goods
- Tax paid or charged at every stage of distribution

If the deductible tax exceeds the tax due on export sales, the Egyptian tax authority refunds the difference within a period not exceeding three months from the date of application for the refund, in accordance with the terms, conditions and procedures specified in the Executive Regulations.

Nondeductible input tax. For service providers, input tax is generally nondeductible in the monthly sales tax declaration. However, it should be treated as part of the cost of providing the service in the accounts of the service provider.

Examples of items for which input tax is deductible (if related to a taxable business use)

- Packing materials
- All items whose raw material components are subjected to sales tax

Capital goods. When calculating the tax due, registrants may deduct from the tax due on their sales of goods and services the tax previously paid on machinery, equipment, parts and accessories used in manufacturing a taxable commodity or performing a taxable service except for motor vehicles for transportation of people and cars, unless such vehicles and cars are used for carrying out the licensed activity of the business.

To the extent that the amount cannot be deducted in full, any excess may be carried forward to the following tax periods until relief is obtained in full.

The Minister of Finance has set the following rules for the payment of tax charged on imported machinery and equipment:

- For companies that will not be able to obtain a refund of the tax due on machinery, equipment, parts and accessories, the tax due must be paid over a 10-year period on an installment basis.

- The first three years of the 10-year period are a grace period. The remaining tax due may be settled over the next seven years.
- An amount equal to 5% of the tax due must be paid immediately when clearing the machinery at customs. The remaining 95% must be paid over the next seven years.

Refunds. If certain conditions are satisfied, tax collected in certain specified situations must be refunded within three months after the date of application for the refund. The following are the specified situations:

- Tax collected on goods that are exported in their same state or as components in other exported goods.
- Tax collected in error. The refund is granted on receipt of an application from the person concerned.

Partial exemption. Not applicable.

G. Recovery of GST by non-established businesses

In general, foreign companies cannot register for GST purposes before legally establishing an entity in Egypt.

A non-established business that is providing a taxable service in Egypt must settle the GST liability with the tax authority. Egypt does not refund GST incurred by businesses that do not have a legal establishment in the country.

For sales of goods by non-established businesses to resident entities, GST is settled on the customs clearance by the importer.

For taxable services provided by non-established businesses to resident entities, the tax authority may request that the resident entity settle the GST due on the taxable service.

H. Invoicing

GST invoices and credit notes. Sales invoices must be serial numbered and include the sales tax registration number, address and contact details of the company. Based on the instructions of the Egyptian tax authority, a taxable person must maintain the original invoices for approval by the Egyptian tax authority on inspection at a later date.

A GST registrant is also required to maintain proper books and records to record its transactions. It must retain such records together with copies of the invoices for three years following the end of the fiscal year in which the entries are made.

Foreign-currency invoices. Sales invoices may be issued in a foreign currency. It is preferable that the exchange rate used be mentioned on the invoice.

Proof of export. The amount of export goods is proved on the customs clearance certificate (Customs form 13).

I. GST returns and payments

Returns and payment. GST returns must be submitted monthly. The GST return must be submitted and GST paid within one month following the end of the return period for goods and services listed in Table 1 attached to Egyptian VAT law and within two months for others not listed in that table.

Special schemes. Rates ranging from 1.2% to 2.9% apply to construction activities, without deducting any input tax.

Electronic filing and archiving. Not applicable.

Annual returns. Not applicable.

J. Penalties

Penalties for late filing and late payment of GST are calculated at a rate of 0.5% of the unpaid amount for every week or part of a week for which the filing or payment is late. The penalties must be paid together with an additional once-off penalty up to EGP2,000.

K. Tax reform

Egypt is currently considering the introduction of a VAT system to replace the current GST system.

El Salvador

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

San Salvador

GMT -6

EY

Torre Futura
87 Av. Norte y Calle El Mirador
Complejo World Trade Center, Local 11-05
San Salvador
El Salvador

Please direct all inquiries regarding El Salvador to the persons listed below in EY's San José, Costa Rica office.

Indirect tax contacts

Rafael Sayagués (resident in San José, Costa Rica)	New York: +1 (212) 773-4761	+506 2208-9880	rafael.sayagues@cr.ey.com
Juan Carlos Chavarría (resident in San José, Costa Rica)		+506 2208-9844	juan-carlos.chavarria@cr.ey.com
Antonio Ruiz (resident in San José, Costa Rica)		+506 2208-9822	antonio.ruiz@cr.ey.com
Luis Eduardo Ocando (resident in Panama)		+507 208-0144	luis.ocando@pa.ey.com

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Value-added tax (VAT)
Local name	Impuesto a la transferencia de bienes muebles y a la prestación de servicios (ITBMS)
Date introduced	July 1992
Trading bloc membership	None that relate to VAT
Administered by	Ministry of Treasury (http://www.mh.gob.sv)
VAT rates
Standard	13%
Other	Exempt and zero-rated
VAT number format	Taxpayer registry number (NRC)
Vat return periods	Monthly
Thresholds
Registration	Annual turnover of USD5,714.29 or fixed assets of USD2,285.71
Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses	No, unless the nonresident business has a registered legal or tax representative in El Salvador

B. Scope of the tax

VAT applies to the following transactions:

- The transfer of tangible goods or rendering of services in El Salvador
- The purchase of imported services by a taxable person in El Salvador
- The importation of tangible, movable goods from outside El Salvador, regardless of the status of the importer
- Self-consumption of inventories by VAT taxpayers or transfers of tangible goods for promotional purposes
- The exportation of tangible, movable goods from El Salvador to another jurisdiction.

C. Who is liable

Any individual or business that has annual turnover exceeding USD5,714.29 or that owns fixed assets valued at USD2,285.71 or more must register as a VAT taxpayer. The requirement to register also applies to permanent establishments in El Salvador of foreign entities. In addition, entities and individuals must pay VAT when any of the taxable events outlined in Section B occur.

Voluntary registration. Individuals whose turnover is below the registration threshold may register voluntarily as VAT taxpayers. Nonresident entities that wish to recover local VAT paid may also register voluntarily.

Small taxpayers. No special regime exists for small taxpayers in El Salvador.

Group registration. VAT grouping is not allowed under the Salvadoran VAT Law. Legal entities that are closely connected must register for VAT individually.

Non-established businesses. A “non-established business” is a business that has no fixed establishment in El Salvador. In principle, a non-established business must register for VAT if it transfers tangible goods or renders services in El Salvador on a regular basis. To register for VAT, a non-established business must provide the tax authorities with the following:

- A copy of its Articles of Incorporation, legalized by a Salvadoran consulate (or with an apostille), together with an official translation into Spanish
- Any other documentation required by the tax authorities, including registration of a legal or tax representative

Tax representatives. Businesses that are established outside El Salvador must appoint a resident tax representative to register for Salvadoran VAT purposes. The tax representative is jointly and severally liable for VAT debts with the business that it represents. The liability is limited to the value of the property or assets to be administered, unless the representatives had acted with malice or gross negligence, in which case the tax representatives are severally liable with their own assets up to the amount of the total tax due.

Reverse charge. The Salvadoran VAT Law establishes a reverse-charge mechanism. Under this mechanism, the consumer must self-assess, withhold and pay the VAT due. The reverse-charge mechanism applies if the taxable activities (services performed or used within the country) are rendered by a non-resident. The consumer or resident taxpayer may offset the VAT paid for the services with VAT debits under the general VAT rules.

Digital economy. There are no specific regulations regarding digital economy.

Registration procedures. The time limit for an individual or entity to register as a taxpayer for VAT purposes is within 15 days following the initiation of operations. To register, file Form F-210. Legal entities applying must attach the following documentation:

- Deed of incorporation, merger, or other deed, duly registered before the Commerce Registry
- Legal identification document (Documento Único de Identidad or passport) of the entity's authorized legal representative, election credential or power of attorney (special, general, judicial or administrative)
- Proof of payment to the VAT Registry

If the entity wishes to register as an importer, it must make that clear in the request for registration. After reviewing the documents, if there are no observations from the tax authorities, the document should be issued within minutes after the documentation is filed.

Non-compliance with registration obligations. A penalty of three minimum legal wages is imposed on a taxpayer that fails to register for VAT purposes. In the event of late registration, a penalty of two minimum legal wages applies. These penalties apply regardless of whether interest and penalties are assessed for unpaid VAT.

Deregistration. Whenever a company ceases operations as a consequence of dissolution, liquidation, or merger, it should deregister before the tax authorities, and request the cancellation of its Tax ID (in Spanish: Número de Identificación Tributaria) and Contributors' Registration Number (in Spanish: Número de Registro de Contribuyente); also, it must request the annulment of unused invoices, VAT invoices, with specification of its authorized serial number, explaining the motive for cancellation.

D. VAT rates

The VAT law in El Salvador provides for exempt activities and zero-rated activities. Unlike zero-rated activities, exempt activities do not permit a taxpayer to claim the input tax deduction (See Section F). In El Salvador, the standard rate of VAT is 13%. The standard rate applies to the transfer of tangible goods or rendering of services, unless a specific measure provides for an exemption.

The following list provides some examples of exempt supplies of goods and services.

Examples of exempt supplies of goods and services

- Health services offered by public institutions
- Rental of houses and apartments for non-commercial purposes
- Public land transport
- The importation by registered VAT taxpayers of machinery used as a fixed asset in the production of goods and services that are not exempt (if the assets are registered with the tax authorities 30 days in advance)
- Education provided by private or public institutions authorized by the Ministry of Education

- Certain financial services regarding interest payments made by domiciled and non-domiciled financial institutions (domiciled financial institutions must be authorized by the Superintendence of the Financial System, and the non-domiciled financial institutions must be authorized by the competent authority in their country of origin and qualified by the Central Bank of Reserve)
- Water services offered by public entities
- Personal insurance services and reinsurance

Option to tax for exempt supplies. Not applicable.

E. Time of supply

The taxable event when VAT becomes due is called the “tax point.”

For the supply of goods, the tax event is the earliest of the following events:

- The issuance of the invoice, receipt or other document related to the transaction
- Delivery of the goods
- Receipt of payment

For the supply of services, the tax event is the earliest of the following events:

- The issuance of the invoice, receipt or other document related to the transaction
- Provision of the service
- Receipt of payment

Continuous supplies of services. For a continuous supply of services rendered in return for periodic payments, the tax event is the earlier of the issuance of the invoice or the due date established for the periodic payment, notwithstanding the date of payment for the service.

Imported goods. The taxable event for imported goods is when the goods clear all customs formalities for importation (definite importation).

F. Recovery of VAT by taxable persons

A taxable person may recover input tax, which is VAT paid on the purchase of goods and services for business purposes. Input tax is generally credited against output tax, which is the VAT charged on supplies made. Input tax includes VAT charged on goods and services supplied in El Salvador, VAT paid on imported goods and VAT self-assessed on reverse-charge services. In general, the input tax credit is allowed for ordinary business expenditure that is indispensable to the taxpayer’s taxable activity (that is, the business activity that generates output tax).

A valid tax document referred to as “proof of tax credit” or an “import declaration” must support every claim for an input tax credit.

Nondeductible input tax. Input tax may not be recovered on purchases of goods and services that are not used for business purposes (for example, goods acquired for private use by an entrepreneur).

Examples of items for which input tax is nondeductible

- Acquisition, importation or entry of supplies or food when it is not the taxpayer's ordinary business
- Purchase, import, leasing, maintenance, improvement or repair of new and used vehicles that by their nature, are not strictly necessary for carrying out the ordinary business activities of the taxpayer
- Use of any type of services in hotels, and the lease or sublease of real estate or the use of any other services that are not used in core business activities
- Purchase of airline tickets, except those strictly related to business trips
- Acquisition, importation or sale of clothing, jewelry or shoes, if this is not the company's ordinary business, among others

Examples of items for which input tax is deductible
(if related to a taxable business use)

- Acquisitions of movable, tangible goods destined to form part of the current assets
- Disbursements for the use of services in the ordinary course of business provided that they are not intended for the construction or alteration of real estate property
- General expenses intended solely for the purpose of achieving the objects, business or activity of the taxpayer

Refunds. If the amount of input VAT recoverable in a particular month exceeds the amount of output VAT payable, the taxpayer obtains an input VAT credit. The credit may be carried forward to offset output tax in subsequent VAT periods.

A cash refund or Public Treasury notes may be claimed only if the credit relates to export activities. An input VAT credit related to export supplies may be carried forward to offset output VAT in the following VAT period. If the credit may not be fully offset against output VAT, the taxpayer may request an offset of other tax liabilities or a refund of the excess amount.

Partial exemption. Not applicable.

Preregistration costs. Taxpayers are not permitted to recover input VAT paid on purchases made prior to VAT registration.

G. Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses

El Salvador does not refund VAT incurred by foreign or non-established businesses unless they are registered for VAT in El Salvador.

H. Invoicing

Tax credit documents, invoices and credit notes. A taxpayer must generally provide VAT invoices for all taxable supplies made, including exports. However, for supplies made to other VAT taxpayers, a "proof of tax credit" document must be issued. A proof of tax credit document is required to support a claim for the input tax credit. Proof of tax credit documents must be issued in triplicate (with two copies provided to the purchaser of the goods or services). Invoices must include an official invoice number (NCF) and the taxpayer's registration number (NRC), and it must show the VAT amount separately, among other requirements.

If the nature of a business makes it impractical for a taxpayer to issue tax invoices, the tax authorities may authorize the use of cash registers and computerized systems to issue tickets (cash receipts) instead of invoices.

Price reductions, discounts or bonuses may be excluded from the VAT base if they are included in the proof of tax credit document or in credit and debit notes. A credit note must contain the same information as a tax credit document.

Exports. A zero rate of VAT applies to the exportation of goods and services. For the exportation of goods to qualify for the zero rate, a definitive transfer of the goods that are to be used or consumed abroad must occur. Exports must be supported by customs documents that prove the goods have left El Salvador. Suitable evidence includes export invoices and bills of lading.

Foreign-currency invoices. VAT invoices and tax credit documents may be issued in Salvadoran colones (SVC) or US dollars (USD).

In addition, an exportation of services occurs when a local taxpayer renders a taxable service within the country in favor of a nonresident entity or individual that makes use of the services strictly outside the country; however, the following legal requirements should be met for considering an operation as exportation of services:

- The rendering of services should be performed within El Salvador.
- The receiver of services should be a non-domiciled or nonresident company or individual.
- The services should be used exclusively outside of El Salvador.

I. VAT returns and payment

VAT returns. VAT returns are submitted monthly. Form F-07 must be submitted by the 10th working day of the month following the end of the return period. Payment in full is due on the same date. A return must be filed even if no VAT is due for the period.

In addition, Form F-930, the monthly VAT return of withholdings and collection of VAT, must be filed every month within the first 15 working days of the month following the end of the return period.

Tax due may be paid in Salvadoran colones or US dollars.

Special schemes. Not applicable.

Electronic filing and archiving. Electronic filings are allowed, provided that the taxpayer has created a user id on the tax authority's website and downloaded the corresponding program (Declaración Electrónica de Tributos).

Electronic archiving of VAT documents may be done after four years of the issuance or reception of the documents, as long as the integrity of information is guaranteed and the documents are available and accessible to the tax authorities when required. Also, the conversion process must be certified by an external auditor. This period may be shortened if the taxpayer submits a request and the tax authorities approve.

Annual returns. There are no annual returns for VAT.

J. Penalties

Penalties may vary from 5% up to 50% of the VAT amount due. For some offenses, the penalty may be computed based on the minimum legal wage.

Penalties for tax evasion under the Salvadoran Criminal Code include imprisonment for a period of four to eight years.

Tax evasion. The Salvadoran Tax Code regulates penalties for unintentional or intentional tax avoidance. If tax avoidance is considered unintentional, the penalty is 25% of the unpaid tax. For intentional tax avoidance that results in an underpayment of tax that is below the criminal amount, the penalty is 50% of the unpaid tax.

Tax fraud. Criminal tax avoidance penalties are based on the amount of the evasion or attempted evasion. If the amount of unpaid taxes ranges from USD11,428.57 to USD34,285.71, the penalty is imprisonment for four to six years. If the amount of unpaid taxes exceeds USD34,285.71, the penalty is six to eight years of imprisonment.

If the unpaid taxes plus the corresponding penalties are paid to the tax authorities, no criminal fraud penalties are imposed.

Estonia

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Tallinn

GMT +2

Ernst & Young Baltic AS

Rävala 4
10143 Tallinn
Estonia

Indirect tax contacts

Ranno Tingas	+372 (6) 114-578 ranno.tingas@ee.ey.com
Hedi Wahtramäe	+372 (6) 114-570 hedi.wahtramae@ee.ey.com

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Value-added tax (VAT)
Local name	Käibemaks
Date introduced	1 January 1991
Trading bloc membership	European Union (EU) Member State
Administered by	Ministry of Finance (http://www.fin.ee) Estonian Tax and Customs Board (http://www.emta.ee)
VAT rates
Standard	20%
Reduced	9%
Other	Zero-rated and exempt
VAT number format	EE123456789
VAT return periods	Monthly
Thresholds
Registration	EUR16,000
Distance selling	EUR35,000
Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses	Yes

B. Scope of the tax

VAT applies to the following transactions:

- The supply of goods or services made in Estonia by a taxable person
- The supply of services with a place of supply not in Estonia (that is, services are provided through a seat or fixed establishment located in Estonia to a person who is registered as a taxable person or taxable person with limited liability in the EU or who is a person from a non-EU country engaged in business)
- Reverse-charge services received by a taxable person in Estonia (that is, services for which the recipient is liable to pay the VAT)
- The intra-Community acquisition of goods (see the chapter on the EU)
- The importation of goods into Estonia (except for VAT-exempt imports), regardless of the status of the importer

C. Who is liable

A taxable person is an individual or a business entity (including a public entity and municipality) that makes taxable supplies of goods or services in the course of a business in Estonia. This rule also applies to a branch or fixed establishment of a foreign business entity.

The VAT registration threshold is annual supplies in excess of EUR16,000, counted from the beginning of a calendar year. A non-established business without a fixed establishment in Estonia that makes a taxable supply must register for VAT in Estonia if the place of supply is Estonia and if the supply is not taxed by the Estonian taxable person (purchaser). The registration obligation arises from the moment of the supply, regardless of the threshold of EUR16,000. A business that is liable to register for VAT in Estonia must notify the VAT authorities of its liability within three days.

Distance sales. If a taxable person established in another EU Member State is engaged in distance selling to a non-taxable person in Estonia (excluding distance selling of excise goods) and if the taxable value of the distance sales exceeds EUR35,000 from the beginning of a calendar year, the registration obligation for the vendor arises from the date on which the threshold was exceeded (see the chapter on the EU).

If the taxable value of intra-Community acquisitions of goods by a non-taxable person (except excise goods and new means of transport) exceeds EUR10,000 from the beginning of a calendar year, the obligation to register as a taxable person with limited liability arises from the date when the threshold was exceeded (see the chapter on the EU).

Special rules apply to foreign or “non-established businesses.”

Voluntary registration. A business established in Estonia whose supplies do not exceed the registration threshold may voluntarily register for VAT.

The tax authorities have the right not to register persons who do not prove that they are performing business activities or are about to begin business activities in Estonia.

Group registration. A parent company and its subsidiaries may apply to register as a VAT group. One VAT registration number is provided to all members of the VAT group. The effect of grouping is that no VAT is charged on supplies between group members if the person who acquired the goods or services as a result of the transaction uses them entirely for the purposes of that person’s taxable supplies. Group members are jointly and severally liable for all VAT liabilities.

Non-established businesses. A “non-established business” is a business that has no fixed establishment in Estonia. A non-established business must register for VAT if it makes taxable supplies of goods or services regardless of the amount of the supply (that is, effective from the first supply). A fixed establishment or resident legal person must be registered for VAT if it makes taxable supplies in Estonia totaling more than EUR16,000 from the beginning of the calendar year.

Tax representatives. The appointment of a tax representative is required for non-EU entities that are not established in Estonia. EU entities that are not established in Estonia may appoint a tax representative. A tax representative may not be used by a third-country taxable person that provides electronically supplied services and has opted for a special arrangement. A tax representative must be located in Estonia and must be accepted by the tax authorities.

Registration procedures. Taxpayers submit an application for registration (form KR) to the Tax and Customs Board. The application can be submitted in PDF format to email address kmkr@emta.ee, completed in Estonian, digitally signed, and submitted by a legal representative (who has to identify himself) or an authorized person (authorization required) or a notary.

Foreign traders must register in person, i.e., the person seeking registration cannot e-mail or send the registration form by post or fax. However, an authorized person may act for the taxpayer.

The tax authority shall register a person as a taxable person within five working days as of the receipt of the application or additional documentary (if required).

Late registration penalties. Penalties and interest are assessed for late registration for VAT.

Reverse charge. In general, the reverse-charge mechanism is applicable and the Estonian VAT taxable person is obliged to charge VAT upon the acquisition of goods or the receipt of services from a foreign taxable person who is not registered for VAT purposes in Estonia and does not have a fixed establishment in Estonia. The VAT charged can be deducted as an input VAT credit on the declaration if the goods or services are used for the taxable business.

Domestic VAT reverse charge applies on supplies of immovable tangible property (which are optionally taxed), waste (scrap) metal and gold if both parties to the transaction are taxable persons and the transaction is considered as taxable supply.

Digital economy. VAT obligation arises in Estonia if electronically supplied services are provided to a person whose location/dwelling place is in Estonia and who is not registered for VAT purposes or a taxable person with limited liability in any of the Member States. If electronically supplied services are provided to a person whose location/dwelling place is in another Member State and who is not registered for VAT purposes or a taxable person with limited liability in any of the Member States, VAT obligation arises in the Member State where electronically supplied services are provided. Special arrangements for imposing VAT may be applied to electronically supplied services provided by a taxable person of a third country who is not registered for VAT purposes in any of the Member States to a person in a Member State who is not registered for VAT purposes or taxable person with limited liability. In this case no obligation to register for VAT in Estonia arises.

Mini One-Stop Shop. Special arrangements for imposing VAT may be applied to electronically supplied services on the condition that the services are provided by a taxable person of a third country who is not registered for VAT purposes in any of the Member States to a person in a Member State who is not registered for VAT purposes or taxable person with limited liability. As of 1 January 2015, the Mini One-Stop Shop (MOSS) regime could be applied by Estonian VAT registered persons, including for telecommunication, broadcasting and electronic services provided to non-taxable persons located in another Member State.

If a third country taxable person has decided to register in Estonia under the special arrangements, the taxable person shall inform the tax authority, using electronic means, when activity as a taxable person is to commence, cease or change to the extent that the person no longer qualifies for the special arrangements, submits the necessary obligatory details for identification and the tax authority shall allocate a registration number.

A third country taxable person shall submit by electronic means to the tax authority a VAT return concerning electronically supplied services for each calendar quarter. He shall not deduct VAT paid upon the acquisition of goods or the receipt of services in the Community from the VAT to be paid by the person as input VAT, but he has the right to be granted a refund by the Member State concerned.

Deregistration. A taxable person that ceases to be eligible for VAT registration must deregister. That is, it must notify the VAT authorities that it must cease to be registered. A taxable person may also request deregistration if its taxable turnover drops below the annual registration threshold. However, deregistration is not compulsory in these circumstances. The tax authorities can delete a taxable person that is not performing business activities from the VAT register.

D. VAT rates

The term “taxable supplies” refers to supplies of goods and services that are subject to VAT. The following are the VAT rates in Estonia:

- Standard rate: 20%
- Reduced rate: 9%
- Zero rate (0%)

The standard rate of VAT applies to all supplies of goods or services, unless a specific measure allows the reduced rate, the zero rate or an exemption.

Examples of supplies of goods and services taxable at 0%

- Exports of goods
- Listed exported services
- Intra-Community supplies of goods
- Seagoing vessels, equipment, spare parts and fuel for seagoing vessels

Examples of supplies of goods and services taxable at 9%

- Medical equipment and products for handicapped people
- Books (excluding textbooks and workbooks related to the national curriculum)
- Periodicals
- Accommodation

The term “exempt supplies” refers to supplies of goods and services that are not subject to tax and that do not give rise to a right of input tax deduction (see Section F).

Examples of exempt supplies of goods and services

- Health care services
- Real estate transactions
- Financial services
- Insurance and reinsurance services
- Insurance mediation
- Educational services
- Lotteries and gaming
- Postal services
- Learning materials related to education

Option to tax exempt supplies. A taxable person may opt to apply VAT to certain transactions that would otherwise be exempt from VAT if the taxable person has previously notified the tax authority in writing. The tax authority must have been notified during the same tax period as the taxed supply or in an earlier period. The option to tax must be applied continuously for at least two years.

The following supplies are eligible for the option to tax:

- The leasing or letting of immovable property (or parts thereof), except dwellings.
- Immovable property and parts thereof, except dwellings.
- Investment gold under certain conditions.
- Financial services, including the following:
 - The supply of securities.
 - Deposit transactions for the receipt of deposits and other repayable funds from the public.
 - Borrowing and lending operations, including consumer credit, mortgage credit, leasing transactions, settlement, cash transfer and other money transmission transactions.
 - Issuance and administration of non-cash means of payment (for example, electronic payment instruments, traveler’s checks and bills of exchange).
 - Guarantees and commitments and other transactions creating binding obligations to persons.
 - Transactions carried out for their own account or for the account of clients in traded securities provided in the Securities Market Act and in foreign exchange and other money market instruments, including transactions in checks, exchange instruments, certificates of deposit and other such instruments.
 - Transactions and acts related to the issuance and sale of securities.
 - Money brokering and management of investment funds.

Other financial transactions that are not exempt from VAT, as well as factoring, are taxable at a rate of 0% or 20%, depending on the status of the customer.

The supply of insurance services, including insurance services provided by insurance brokers and insurance agents and reinsurance, are exempt services with no option to tax.

E. Time of supply

The time when VAT becomes due is called the “time of supply” or “tax point.” The basic time of supply for goods and services is the earliest of the following events:

- The delivery of goods
- The performance of services
- Receipt of full or partial payment

Effective from 1 January 2011, all taxable persons whose annual turnover does not exceed EUR200,000 can opt for cash-basis VAT accounting instead of accrual-basis accounting. Before 2011, cash-basis VAT accounting was available only to sole proprietors.

Cash accounting. Effective from 1 January 2011, all taxable persons whose annual turnover does not exceed EUR200,000 can opt for cash-basis VAT accounting instead of accrual-basis accounting. Before 2011, cash-basis VAT accounting was available only to sole proprietors.

Imported goods. The time of supply for imports is when the goods clear customs.

Reverse-charge services. Estonian businesses must self-assess VAT on taxable services purchased from abroad, using the reverse-charge mechanism. Under the reverse-charge mechanism, the purchaser self-assesses VAT at the appropriate rate. The self-assessed tax is treated as input tax and recovered (depending on the purchaser’s partial exemption status; see Section F). The reverse charge does not apply to supplies to private individuals who are not registered for VAT.

Effective from 1 January 2011, the reverse charge applies to certain domestic transactions between taxable persons that involve supplies related to immovable property and metal waste. From 1 April 2012, the domestic reverse charge also applies to the supply of gold.

The time of supply for reverse-charge services is the earliest of the following events:

- When the Estonian buyer receives the service
- When the Estonian buyer makes a payment

Continuous supplies of services. If the provision of services continues for longer than a period of taxation, the services are deemed to have been provided and received during the taxable period in which the provision of the services terminates. In the case of the provision of regular services to the same purchaser, the time at which the services are provided and received is deemed to be the taxable period overlapping with the end of the period of time for which an invoice is submitted or during which payment for services received is to be made as agreed, but not later than after twelve calendar months. Upon regular provision of service, in the case of which a tax liability arises for the recipient of the service, within a longer period of time than one year, the supply of the service shall be deemed to have been created as of the commencement of the provision of the service on 31 December of the following calendar year if the services have not been paid for and the provision of the services has not been completed within the period.

Prepayments. The time of supply is deemed to be the date on which full or partial payment is received for the goods or services or, in the case of the receipt of services, full or partial payment is made.

Intra-Community acquisitions. Intra-Community acquisition of goods is effected on the fifteenth day of the month following the month in which the goods obtained by intra-Community acquisition of goods are dispatched or made available or on the date on which an invoice is issued for the goods if the invoice is issued prior to the fifteenth day of the month following the month in which the goods are dispatched or made available to the purchaser, except in the case of a transaction that was originally not treated as intra-Community turnover, but then the grounds for a transaction cease to exist and the transaction shall be deemed to constitute an intra-Community supply of goods. Then the intra-Community acquisition of goods shall be deemed to have been effected on the date on which those grounds ceased to exist.

Intra-Community supplies of goods. Intra-Community supply is created on the fifteenth day of the month following the month in which the goods obtained by intra-Community acquisition of goods are dispatched or made available or on the date on which an invoice is issued for the goods if the invoice is issued prior to the fifteenth day of the month following the month in which the goods are dispatched or made available to the purchaser, except in the case of a transaction that was originally not treated as intra-Community turnover, but then the grounds for a transaction cease to exist and the transaction shall be deemed to constitute an intra-Community supply of goods. Then intra-Community supply of goods shall be deemed to have been created on the date on which the grounds ceased to exist.

Leased assets. In case of operational leases, supply of service rules shall be applied. In the case of capital leases, supply of goods rules shall be applied.

F. Recovery of VAT by taxable persons

A taxable person may recover input tax, which is VAT charged on supplies of goods and services used for business purposes. Input tax is generally recovered by deduction from output tax, which is VAT charged on supplies made. Input tax includes VAT charged on goods and services supplied in Estonia, VAT paid or payable on imported goods and VAT self-assessed for reverse-charge services received outside Estonia.

A valid tax invoice or customs document must generally support a claim for input tax. Invoice or customs documents are not needed if the reverse-charge mechanism is applied and other evidence is presented.

Input VAT is deductible if an invoice has been issued and the goods or services have been supplied or if full or partial payment is made.

For imported goods, input VAT is deducted on the basis of a customs declaration.

An invoice may be issued on paper or, subject to acceptance by the acquirer of goods or the recipient of services, by electronic means.

Nondeductible input tax. Input tax may not be recovered on purchases of goods and services that are not used for business purposes (for example, goods acquired for private use by an entrepreneur). In addition, input tax may not be recovered for some items of business expenditure.

The following lists provide some examples of items of expenditure for which input tax is not deductible and examples of items for which input tax is deductible if the expenditure is related to a taxable business use.

Examples of items for which input tax is nondeductible

- Business and employee entertainment
- Business use of home telephone

Examples of items for which input tax is deductible
(if related to a taxable business use)

- Hotel accommodation for a business trip
- Business gifts valued at less than EUR10
- Parking
- Mobile phones
- Travel expenses

Partial exemption. Input tax directly related to making exempt supplies is generally not recoverable. If an Estonian taxable person makes both exempt supplies and taxable supplies, it may not deduct input tax in full. This situation is referred to as “partial exemption.”

In Estonia, the amount of input tax that a partially exempt business recovers may be calculated using either of the following methods:

- General pro-rata
- A two-stage method, which includes a direct attribution of input tax

The general pro-rata method is based on the percentage of taxable and total supplies in the preceding calendar year. The recovery percentage is used provisionally during the current year and is adjusted at the end of the year based on the actual value of taxable and total supplies made.

The two-stage calculation consists of the following stages:

- The first stage identifies input VAT that may be directly allocated to taxable and exempt supplies. Input tax directly allocated to taxable supplies is deductible, while input tax directly related to exempt supplies is not deductible.
- The second stage identifies the amount of the remaining input tax (for example, input tax on general business overhead) that may be allocated to taxable supplies and recovered. The calculation is performed using the general pro-rata method based on the value of supplies made.

A partial deduction is based on the proportion of taxable supplies for which input VAT deduction is allowed, made during a calendar year in Estonia and abroad, compared with the total amount of supplies made by the person during a calendar year in Estonia and abroad.

Capital goods. Capital goods are items of capital expenditure that are used in a business over several years. Input tax is deducted in the VAT year in which the goods are acquired. The amount of input tax recovered depends on the taxable person's partial exemption recovery position in the VAT year of acquisition. However, the amount of input tax recovered for capital goods must be adjusted over time if the taxable person's partial exemption recovery percentage changes during the adjustment period.

In Estonia, the capital goods adjustment applies to immovable property for a period of 10 years and to other fixed assets for a period of five years. The adjustment may result in either an increase or a decrease of deductible input VAT, depending on whether the ratio of taxable supplies made by the business has increased or decreased compared with the year in which the capital goods were acquired.

A capital goods adjustment is also required if a taxable person transfers immovable property used for less than 10 years and if the supply is exempt from VAT. In these circumstances, the taxable person must recalculate its entitlement to input tax paid on acquisition of the immovable property and for related goods and services. A taxable person may opt to charge VAT on the sale or leasing of immovable property (the option may not be applied to the sale or lease of living space). If the transfer is subject to tax, no capital goods adjustment is required.

Refunds. If the amount of input tax that is deductible for a VAT period exceeds the amount of output tax that is chargeable in the same period, the taxable person has a VAT credit. The taxable person may choose to use the VAT credit to offset other tax obligations or penalties, or it may request a refund. Refunds are made within 60 days after the due date for payment. However, this period may be extended for up to 120 days if the tax authorities have justified reasons to check further the circumstances of the VAT refund application.

Preregistration costs. If a taxable person has, prior to the person's date of registration as a taxable person, acquired goods, except for fixed assets, intended for transfer or for the manufacture of goods to be transferred, the taxable person shall have the right to deduct the input VAT on such goods in the taxable period during which the goods were transferred as taxable supply.

A taxable person who has received services prior to the person's date of registration as a taxable person shall have the right to deduct the input VAT on such services in the taxable period during which such services were provided as taxable supply.

The input VAT on fixed assets acquired before registration of a person as a taxable person may be deducted, if the person has not used the fixed assets prior to the registration.

Write-off of bad debts. When bad debt is written off by taxpayers, there are no VAT benefits.

Noneconomic activities. Input VAT cannot be deducted if a taxable person uses goods or services for the purposes other than those related to business. If in the accounts of the taxable person it is not possible to separate input VAT paid on goods or services used for business-related purposes from input VAT paid on goods or services used for noneconomic activities, i.e., purposes not business related, the taxable person must request that the tax authority determine the amount deductible.

From 1 December 2014, input VAT from the acquisition of a passenger car or its use under contract shall be deducted according to the proportion of its use for business purposes, but not more than 50%.

Thus if the passenger car is not totally used for business purposes, only 50% or less of VAT is deductible. Company must have proof that passenger car is used exclusively for business purposes and only then 100% of VAT can be deducted. From 1 December 2014, this limitation also applies to all maintenance costs.

G. Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses

Estonia refunds VAT incurred by businesses that are neither established nor registered for VAT in Estonia. VAT is refunded if the following conditions are satisfied:

- The taxable person is required to pay VAT as a business in its country of residence.
- An Estonian taxable person may deduct VAT under the same circumstances on the import of goods, the acquisition of goods or the receipt of services.

Effective from 1 January 2010, for businesses established in the EU, refunds are made under the terms of EU Directive 2008/9/EC. For businesses established outside the EU, refunds are made under the terms of the EU 13th Directive. Refunds to non-EU claimants are made on the condition of reciprocity. Estonian VAT is refunded only to claimants established in countries that refund VAT to Estonian businesses.

For the general VAT refund rules of the EU 8th and 13th Directives refund schemes, see the chapter on the EU.

Effective from 1 January 2010, Directive 2008/9/EC rules and principles are applied. These rules are summarized below.

VAT paid in Estonia by a foreign taxable person that is an EU business on the import or acquisition of goods, except for immovable property, and on the receipt of services used for business purposes is refunded to the foreign taxable person on the basis of an electronic refund application submitted to the Estonian tax authorities by the tax authorities of other EU Member States if the following criteria are met:

- The taxable person is required to pay VAT in the home country of the person.
- VAT is refunded to the business in its country of residence under the same conditions with respect to the import of goods and the acquisition of goods or receipt of services.
- The refundable VAT amount is at least EUR50 for the year or EUR400 for a period that is longer than three months, but shorter than a calendar year.
- The application must be submitted electronically through the tax authorities of the country of residence to the Estonian tax authorities by 30 September of the year following the period of refund.

The application must be signed by a nonresident natural person or by the head of the nonresident legal entity or an authorized representative, and it must contain the number of the bank account and a note as to where and in whose name the VAT will be refunded. To obtain a refund for VAT paid on imported goods, the applicant must include with the application proof that it has paid VAT.

Refund application. VAT paid in Estonia is refunded to an EU taxable person on the basis of an electronic refund application submitted to the Estonian tax authorities by the tax authorities of the other EU Member State.

A non-established business from a non-EU state may request a refund of VAT by filing application form KMT. The application may be completed in Estonian or in English. It may be submitted by the non-established business or by an authorized representative to the following address:

Estonian Tax and Customs Board
Lõõtsa 8a
15176 Tallinn
Estonia

The application for a refund of tax must be accompanied by the following documents:

- Original invoices to support the claim for VAT refund
- For an authorized representative, a power of attorney
- A certificate issued within the preceding 12 months by the tax authorities in the country where the claimant is established, indicating that the claimant was a taxable person when it made the purchases

For non-EU taxable persons the following conditions must be met:

- The amount requested must be at least EUR320 for the year.
- The country where the applicant business is resident must refund VAT to Estonian residents under the same conditions.

The VAT authorities refund VAT claimed within six months after the date on which the application is filed.

H. Invoicing

VAT invoices and credit notes. A taxable person must generally provide a VAT invoice for all taxable supplies made and for exports. Invoices are not automatically required for retail transactions unless requested by the customer. A VAT invoice is required to support a claim for input tax deduction.

A VAT credit note may be used to reduce the VAT charged and reclaimed on a supply if the taxable value changes (for example, when goods are returned goods or a discount is granted). The credit note must refer to the original VAT invoice for the supply that is being amended.

Electronic invoicing. Effective 1 January 2013, the VAT law has been amended to permit electronic invoicing in line with EU Directive 2010/45/EU.

Proof of exports. Estonian VAT is not chargeable on exports of goods. An export supply must be accompanied by evidence confirming that the goods have left Estonia (e.g., the customs export declaration, the seller's invoice, proof of payment).

Documents that certify the provision of zero-rated services include a written service agreement or written letter of intent, the purchase invoice and proof of payment.

Foreign-currency invoices. If an invoice is issued in a foreign currency, the amount of VAT must be converted to euros (EUR), using the official exchange rate quoted by the European Central Bank on the date of the transaction.

B2C invoices. Effective 1 January 2015, new rules apply to the place of supply for supplies of telecommunications, broadcasting and electronic services to non-VAT taxable customers. For details of the VAT rules on electronic services in the EU, please refer to the European Union chapter.

I. VAT returns and payment

VAT returns. Estonian taxable persons must file VAT returns monthly. Returns must be filed by the 20th day of the month following the end of the tax period. Payment in full is required on the same date. VAT liabilities must be paid in euros.

From 1 November 2014 two types of invoices require a VAT return appendix submitted with the invoice:

- Invoices on which the transferor of the goods or provider of services has marked the supply taxable at the 20 percent and 9 percent VAT rates
- Invoices with a total amount (without VAT) that makes up at least 1,000 euros for one transaction partner during the taxation period. The transaction partner-based threshold shall be calculated separately for purchase and sale invoices.

A taxpayer has the right to receive a properly calculated and requested refund within 60 days. The Estonian tax authority may extend the term for a refund of VAT by up to 120 calendar days (30 days at a time).

Special schemes. A third country taxable person shall submit by electronic means to the tax authority a VAT return concerning electronically supplied services for each calendar quarter. The deadline for submission and VAT payment is the 20th of the month following the quarter. As of 1 January 2015, MOSS regulation could be applied also by Estonian VAT registered persons.

Electronic filing and archiving. VAT returns can be submitted electronically using the tax authority's electronic self-service environment "E-Tax Board." Electronic filing becomes obligatory for persons who have been VAT liable at least 12 months. One can continue submitting paper forms after the tax authority approves a formal application.

Estonian tax authorities maintain electronic storage of VAT declarations.

Annual returns. Not applicable.

J. Penalties

Interest at a rate of 0.06% per day is charged on amounts of VAT underpaid or paid late. In addition, a person is subject to a fine of up to EUR3,200. In addition, the penalties are subject to income tax at a rate of 20/80 as nonbusiness-related expenses.

K. EU filings

Intrastat. A taxable person that trades with other EU countries must complete statistical reports, known as Intrastat, if the value of either its sales or purchases of goods exceeds specified thresholds. Separate reports are required for intra-Community acquisitions (Intrastat Arrivals) and for intra-Community supplies (Intrastat Dispatches).

In Estonia, Intrastat declarations are required only from taxable persons whose total annual value of trade from and to EU countries exceeds the statistical threshold in the year preceding the accounting period.

For 2012, the threshold for Intrastat Arrivals is EUR140,000, and the threshold for Intrastat Dispatches is EUR100,000.

Intrastat Arrivals and Intrastat Dispatch reports are filed monthly and must be submitted by the 14th day of the month following the reporting period. If a person that is required to submit an Intrastat report has carried out no intra-Community trade in a previous taxable period, a “zero” Intrastat report must be filed.

EU Sales Lists. An Estonian taxable person who has made intra-Community supplies of goods or services during a tax period, or who has transferred goods as a reseller in a triangular transaction during a tax period, must submit a report on its intra-Community supplies of goods and services (Form VD) together with the VAT return to the tax authority by the 20th day of the month following the end of the tax period.

If no intra-Community supplies were made in the relevant period, no report is required.

If ownership in a new means of transport is transferred to a person in another EU country and if the means of transport will be transported to that EU country, a copy of the sales invoice must be submitted together with the report.

Penalties may be imposed for late, missing and inaccurate reports.

European Union

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

The chapter below summarizes the value-added tax (VAT) rules for the European Union (EU) as a whole. For more detailed information, see the chapters summarizing the VAT systems in each of the EU Member States, where you will also find EY VAT contacts listed.

Indirect tax contacts

Steve Bill
(resident in Luxembourg)

+44 (0) 7768 035826
sbill@uk.ey.com

A. The territory of the European Union

The European Union (EU) currently consists of the following 28 Member States:

Austria	Germany	Netherlands
Belgium	Greece	Poland
Bulgaria	Hungary	Portugal
Croatia	Ireland	Romania
Cyprus	Italy	Slovak Republic
Czech Republic	Latvia	Slovenia
Denmark	Lithuania	Spain
Estonia	Luxembourg	Sweden
Finland	Malta	United Kingdom
France

Of these 28, 13 are sometimes referred to as “new Member States”: Cyprus, Czech Republic, Estonia, Hungary, Latvia, Lithuania, Malta, Poland, Slovak Republic and Slovenia (joined 1 May 2004); Romania and Bulgaria (joined 1 January 2007); and Croatia (joined 1 July 2013).

B. The Single Market

On 1 January 1993, the Single Market was introduced in the EU. Under the rules of the Single Market, goods may move freely between Member States without hindrance, including customs controls. As a result, the concepts of “import” and “export” no longer apply to cross-border trade between Member States.

Imports and exports. In the EU, the term “export” applies to the supply of goods exported from a Member State to any country outside the EU (also referred to as Third Countries). The term “import” applies to goods imported into a Member State from any country outside the EU.

After goods are imported into the EU, they are in “free circulation,” which means that they may travel within the EU without further payment of customs duties or further border controls.

Intra-Community supplies of goods to non-taxable persons. “Non-taxable persons” are any persons or legal entities that are not registered for VAT. In the EU, VAT is generally charged on supplies of goods made to non-taxable persons using the “origin principle,” which means that VAT applies in the Member State where the supplier of the goods is established. Consequently, the VAT rate charged is the rate that applies to the goods in the supplier’s Member State, not the rate that would apply in the customer’s Member State. For example, if a Danish tourist buys a dress in a shop in Paris, she pays VAT at the French standard rate of 20%, not at the Danish standard rate of 25%, even if the dress is subsequently “exported” to Denmark. However, exceptions to this rule apply for “distance sales of goods,” sales of “new means of transport” and sales to “non-taxable legal persons” (see below).

Distance sales. A “distance sale” is a sale of goods dispatched or transported by (or on behalf of) the supplier from one Member State to specific types of customers in another Member State who are not registered for VAT, such as non-taxable persons. Distance sales commonly include sales of goods made by mail-order catalog and goods sold online via the Internet.

Non-taxable persons generally bear VAT as a cost. Because they do not charge VAT on sales, they are not permitted to offset VAT paid on purchases. Consequently, for non-taxable persons, the rate of VAT charged directly affects the cost of the goods purchased by them. With the introduction of the Single Market, it was feared that the application of the origin principle of taxation could lead to distortions of competition and the loss of VAT revenues for some Member States, as non-taxable persons would have an incentive to purchase goods from suppliers located in the Member State with the lowest VAT rate. Consequently, special rules were introduced for “distance sales” made to non-taxable persons (and certain taxable persons who are not registered for VAT in their home countries).

If the total value of supplies by a distance seller to customers in another Member State exceeds a certain turnover threshold, the distance seller must register for VAT in that other Member State (known as the “country of destination”). VAT is then chargeable on the supply of the goods in the country of destination, at the rate applicable in that country. The relevant threshold applicable in each Member State is provided in the Member State’s respective chapter.

Distance sellers may also opt to be taxed in the country of destination of the goods even if their sales do not exceed the distance-selling threshold.

Intra-Community trade between taxable persons. A “taxable person” for the purpose of intra-Community trade is generally any person or legal entity that is registered for VAT in the EU. Because no customs controls exist between Member States in the Single Market, intra-Community transactions between taxable persons are no longer termed “imports” and “exports” (see Imports and exports). Instead, they are referred to as “intra-Community acquisitions” and “intra-Community supplies.”

In general, VAT is charged on the “destination principle” on cross-border supplies of goods made between taxable persons. Under this principle, VAT is not chargeable in the Member State from where the goods are supplied (known as the “Member State of dispatch”), but is chargeable in the Member State where the goods are delivered (known as the “Member State of arrival”).

Intra-Community supplies. An intra-Community supply of goods is “zero-rated,” i.e., exempt with credit in the Member State of dispatch. This means that no VAT is chargeable, but the supplier is entitled to deduct VAT paid on purchases connected with the supply. The supplier must be able to prove that the goods have been dispatched to a taxable person in another Member State. The supplier must also quote the customer’s EU VAT registration number, including the country prefix (for example, BE for Belgium). The evidence required varies among Member States. Information about the evidence required in each Member State is provided in the chapters of the respective EU countries.

Intra-Community acquisitions. An intra-Community acquisition is an acquisition of goods from another Member State by a taxable person. An intra-Community acquisition is taxable in the Member State of arrival at the rate of VAT applicable in that country. Because no customs controls exist, the person making the acquisition must account for the VAT due, generally using “reverse charge” accounting (see Reverse-charge mechanism).

If a business makes an intra-Community acquisition of goods in a Member State where it is not registered for VAT, it may be required to register there.

Reverse-charge mechanism. Under the “reverse-charge” provision, an acquirer that is a taxable person self-assesses the VAT due on a supply at the VAT rate applicable to the transaction in the Member State of arrival. The acquirer then declares the tax due as output tax (VAT on sales). If the acquirer is entitled to recover the VAT on the acquisition as input tax (that is, VAT on purchases), the acquirer may offset the input tax at the same time as declaring the output tax. Consequently, an acquirer that deducts input tax in full does not actually pay any VAT in connection with an intra-Community acquisition. In order to combat fraud, Member States may also apply the reverse-charge mechanism in relation to domestic supplies of certain goods and services susceptible to fraud, namely mobile phones, integrated circuit devices, supply of gas and electricity, telecom services, game consoles, tablet PCs and laptops, cereals and industrial crops, and raw and semi-finished metals.

Branch transfers. A transfer of goods between different parts of the same legal entity is not generally treated as a supply for VAT purposes (for example, no VAT is charged on a transfer of goods from a factory to a warehouse owned by the same company within the same Member State). However, this rule does not apply to transfers of own goods across borders within the EU. A taxable person is deemed to make an intra-Community supply and an intra-Community acquisition if the person transfers goods between different parts of a single legal entity that are located in different Member States. For example, a deemed acquisition may occur when goods are moved between branches of the same company located in different countries or when goods are stored in a warehouse in a different country after being manufactured but before being sold. If a deemed acquisition occurs, the person transferring the goods may need to register for VAT in both the Member State of dispatch and the Member State of arrival. Further information about the requirement to register for VAT is listed in the chapters of the respective EU countries.

Certain transfers are excluded from the provision discussed above, either because they are deemed not to be acquisitions (see Transfers deemed not to be acquisitions) or because the goods are exempt from VAT.

Transfers deemed not to be acquisitions. Not all intra-Community movements of own goods qualify as acquisitions. Exceptions include the following transfers:

- Goods to be installed or assembled for a customer in another Member State
- Goods transported to another Member State under the distance-selling rules
- Goods that will be exported outside the EU from another Member State or dispatched to another Member State (that is, the goods are temporarily in the second Member State)
- Goods sent to another Member State for processing (provided that the goods are returned after processing)
- Goods temporarily used in another Member State for a supply of services made there
- Goods used temporarily (that is, for less than two years) in another Member State, provided that customs duty relief would be available if the goods were imported from outside the EU
- Goods acquired from a person not registered for VAT, unless the goods acquired are a “new means of transport” (see New means of transport) or are subject to excise duties (such as alcohol and tobacco products)

Triangulation simplification (ABC transactions). A “chain transaction” involves goods that are sold to different parties in a series of transactions, but are delivered directly from the first vendor in the chain to the final purchaser in the chain.

If three taxable persons that are registered for VAT in different Member States enter into a chain transaction, special “triangulation” simplification rules may apply. These transactions are sometimes referred to as “ABC transactions.” For example, manufacturer A in Spain sells goods to distributor B in France but delivers them directly to B’s customer, retailer C in Italy. In these circumstances, the triangulation simplification rules may be applied. Under the normal intra-Community rules, B makes an intra-Community acquisition in C’s country in these circumstances. However, under the simplification rules, B may choose not to register for VAT in C’s country and, instead designate C as being responsible for the VAT due. In addition, B must indicate to A that the simplification rules are being applied and include this information on its invoice to C. In some Member States, B may also be required to notify the VAT authorities that it has chosen to use the simplification rule rather than register for VAT there. Following case law of the European Court of Justice, careful consideration must be given to which party is responsible for transporting the goods to determine whether the simplification may be used because simplified triangulation applies only if the cross-border transport of the goods is arranged between parties A and B.

In some Member States, the triangulation simplification rules do not apply if more than three parties are involved in the chain.

Acquisitions by exempt persons, non-taxable legal persons and flat-rate farmers. Exempt persons, non-taxable legal persons and farmers who account for VAT under a flat-rate scheme are not treated as taxable persons. Consequently, goods acquired by these persons are generally taxed according to the origin principle, that is, in the Member State of dispatch.

However, if a person in one of these categories makes intra-Community acquisitions in excess of EUR10,000 a year (or a higher threshold set by the Member State), it must register for and pay VAT on its acquisitions in the Member State of arrival in the same way as taxable persons, that is, by using the reverse-charge mechanism. However, because a non-taxable or exempt person does not generally deduct input tax, VAT due on intra-Community acquisitions must generally be paid to the VAT authorities. These persons may also choose to be treated as taxable persons even if their acquisitions do not exceed the turnover threshold.

New means of transport. All supplies of “new means of transport” are taxed using the destination principle, that is, in the Member State of arrival, regardless of the status of the vendor or acquirer. Consequently, any person that acquires a new means of transport (see below) from another Member State must account for VAT. Taxable persons account for VAT in the same way as for all other intra-Community acquisitions, that is, by using the reverse-charge provision. Non-taxable persons must pay VAT due to the VAT authorities.

The following are considered to be “means of transport”:

- Boats with a length exceeding 7.5 meters
- Aircraft with a take-off weight exceeding 1,550 kilograms
- Motorized land vehicles with a capacity exceeding 48 cubic centimeters or with power exceeding 7.2 kilowatts that are intended to transport persons or goods

For boats and aircraft not to be treated as “new,” both of the following conditions must be met:

- The supply of the goods must be more than three months after the date of their first entry into service.
- They must have sailed more than 100 hours in the case of boats, and flown more than 40 hours in the case of aircraft.

For cars not to be treated as “new,” both of the following conditions must be met:

- They must be supplied more than six months after the date of first entry into service.
- They must have traveled more than 6,000 kilometers.

Excise products. The supply of excise products (i.e., energy products, alcohol and alcoholic beverages and manufactured tobacco) is always taxable in the Member State of destination. As a result, nonresident suppliers of excise products may be required to register for VAT there.

Intra-Community transportation of goods. VAT is charged on the intra-Community transport of goods using special rules. VAT is charged by the supplier on transport services provided to non-taxable persons in the Member State where the transportation begins.

For supplies of intra-Community transport services provided to taxable persons, the supplier does not charge VAT if the taxable customer is registered for VAT in a different Member State. Instead, the taxable person accounts for VAT in the Member State where it is established, using the reverse-charge mechanism.

C. Services

Before 2010, services were generally subject to VAT in the country where the supplier was established. Effective from 1 January 2010, under new rules on the place of supply of services, business-to-business (B2B) supplies of services are taxed where the customer is located, rather than where the supplier is located. For business-to-consumer (B2C) supplies of services, the place of taxation continues to be where the supplier is established. However, in certain circumstances, the general rules for supplies both to businesses and to consumers do not apply, and specific rules apply to reflect the principle of taxation at the place of consumption. These exceptions concern services such as restaurant and catering services, hiring of means of transport, admission to cultural, artistic, sporting, scientific and educational events, and telecommunications, broadcasting and electronic services supplied to consumers.

In general, effective from 1 January 2010, the following rules apply to services rendered by a taxable person established in the EU:

- If the customer is established in the same Member State as the supplier, the supplier charges VAT on the service at the rate applicable in the supplier's Member State.
- If the customer is a non-taxable person established in another Member State, the supplier charges VAT on the service at the rate applicable in the supplier's Member State.
- If the customer is a taxable person established in another Member State, the supplier does not charge VAT. The taxable customer accounts for VAT due using the reverse-charge provision at the rate applicable in the customer's Member State.
- If the customer is established outside the EU, the supplier does not charge VAT. The customer may be required to account for VAT in the country where it is established, depending on that country's VAT law.

The following EU VAT rules apply if a non-EU person supplies services:

- If the customer is a non-taxable person, the supplier does not charge EU VAT, unless they are "electronic services" (see Electronic Services) or the "use and enjoyment" provision applies (see Use and enjoyment). However, the supplier may be required to charge VAT in its own country, depending on that country's VAT law.
- If the customer is a taxable person established in the EU, the supplier does not charge EU VAT. The taxable customer accounts for EU VAT due using the reverse-charge provision at the rate applicable in the customer's Member State. The supplier may also be required to charge VAT in the non-EU country where it is established, depending on that country's VAT law.

- If the customer is established outside the EU, the supplier does not charge EU VAT, unless the “use and enjoyment” provision applies (see Use and enjoyment). However, the supplier may be required to charge VAT in its country, depending on that country’s VAT law.

Use and enjoyment. The above rules may lead to non-taxation or to double taxation if either party is not established in the EU. To help avoid these effects, additional rules may apply that either allow a service that is “used and enjoyed” in the EU to be taxed or prevent a service that is “used and enjoyed” outside the EU from being taxed. Before 2010, Member States could apply the use and enjoyment rules to the following services:

- The hiring out of a means of transport
- Telecommunications services supplied by a taxable person established outside the EU to a non-taxable person established in the EU

With a few exceptions, effective from 1 January 2010, Member States may apply the use and enjoyment provisions to almost any type of service if they choose to do so.

If a service is taxed in the EU under the use and enjoyment provisions, a non-EU supplier of the service may be required to register for VAT in every Member State where it has customers that are not taxable persons. For the information regarding the rules relating to VAT registration, see the chapters on the respective countries of the EU.

Electronic services. VAT rules, which took effect on 1 July 2003, apply to supplies of “electronic services.” “Electronic services” include services such as supplies of downloaded software and music, pay-per-view television broadcasts, information services and distance-learning services supplied by computer.

Until 1 January 2015, the following VAT rules applied to electronic services:

- EU taxable persons that supply electronic services charge VAT to taxable persons established in the same Member State and to non-taxable persons established anywhere in the EU, using the origin principle (that is, VAT applies at the rate in force in the Member State where the supplier is established).
- EU taxable persons that supply electronic services do not charge VAT to taxable persons in other EU Member States or to customers outside the EU.
- EU taxable persons that receive a supply of electronic services from another EU Member State or from outside the EU must account for VAT under the reverse-charge provision (that is, self-assess VAT).
- Non-EU suppliers that provide electronic services to non-taxable persons are required to register for VAT in the EU and charge VAT based on the destination principle (that is, at the rate in effect in the customer’s Member State).

A non-EU service provider may decide whether to register for VAT in each Member State where it has non-taxable customers or it may use a simplification measure. The simplification measure allows a non-EU service provider to register for VAT in a single Member State to fulfill its administrative obligations throughout the EU (however, VAT remains chargeable to non-taxable customers at the rate in effect in each customer's country). If the simplification measure is used, the non-EU service provider may only recover any input tax incurred through the EU 13th VAT Directive scheme (see Section E).

From 1 January 2015, new rules on the place of B2C supplies of electronic services were introduced. Effective from that date, these services are taxed in the country where the consumer is established. EU taxable persons that supply electronic services (as well as telecommunications and broadcasting services) have to charge VAT to non-taxable persons established anywhere in the EU, using the destination principle. EU suppliers are permitted to discharge their VAT obligations using the "Mini One-Stop Shop" (MOSS) scheme, which enables them to fulfill their VAT obligations (VAT registration, reporting and payment) in their home country, including for services provided in other Member States where they are not established. Accordingly, EU suppliers are able to apply a simplification measure similar to the one that is already in place for non-EU providers of electronic services (see above).

D. EU VAT rates

EU Member States may apply a standard rate of VAT and one or two reduced rates. No higher rates may apply. The standard rate must be at least 15%. Reduced rates may not be less than 5% and may apply only to certain goods and services listed in Annex III of the EU VAT Directive (Directive 2006/112/EC). As an exception to the reduced rate rule, Member States may continue to apply a reduced rate lower than 5% or to apply a reduced rate to goods not listed in Directive 2006/112/EC if such rates were in force in that country on 1 January 1991 or if the rate was agreed on at the time of the country's accession to the EU. Special reduced rates may also apply in certain territories.

Directive 2006/112/EC sets out which supplies of goods and services may or must be exempted when supplied within the territory of the Member State. Exempt supplies do not carry a right to deduct related VAT on purchases (known as input tax).

The European Commission periodically publishes the VAT rates that apply in the 28 Member States and provides examples of the goods and services that benefit from reduced rates in the EU (see http://ec.europa.eu/taxation_customs/resources/documents/taxation/vat/how_vat_works/rates/vat_rates_en.pdf).

E. Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses

Every EU Member State must refund VAT incurred by businesses that are neither established nor registered for VAT in that Member State. A non-established business may claim VAT to the same extent as a VAT-registered business in the Member State.

For businesses established in the EU, refunds are made under the terms of Council Directive 2008/9/EC. All Member States must refund VAT to eligible claimants established in other Member States. Effective from 1 January 2010, the procedure for reimbursement of VAT incurred by EU businesses in Member States where they are not established is replaced by a new fully electronic procedure, thereby ensuring a quicker refund to claimants.

For businesses established outside the EU, refunds are made under the terms of the EU 13th VAT Directive. All Member States must refund VAT to claimants established outside the EU. However, Member States may apply a condition requiring the non-EU country where the claimant is established to provide reciprocal refunds with respect to its own turnover taxes.

Who is eligible. To be eligible for a refund under Council Directive 2008/9/EC, the claimant must satisfy the following conditions:

- It must be a taxable person that is not established in the Member State of refund.
- It must not have the seat of its economic activity, a fixed establishment from where business transactions are effected, a domicile or a residence in the Member State where the refund is requested.
- It must not make supplies of goods or services in the Member State of refund, with the exception of transport and transport-related services and supplies of goods and services where the customer is the taxable person (reverse charge; see Section B).

To be eligible for a refund under the EU 13th VAT Directive, the claimant must satisfy the following conditions:

- It must carry out activities that would make it eligible to be a taxable person in the EU if the activities were conducted there.
- It must not have an establishment, center of economic activity, registered office or place of residence in the Member State where the refund is requested.
- It must not make supplies of goods or services in the Member State where a refund is requested, with the exception of transport and transport-related services and supplies of goods and services where the customer is the taxable person (reverse charge; see Section B).
- If a VAT refund is claimed in any Member State that requires reciprocal VAT refunds for its citizens, the country where the claimant is established must satisfy this condition.

Minimum claims. Under Council Directive 2008/9/EC, the minimum claim period is three months, and the maximum period is one year. The minimum claim for a period of less than a year is EUR400. For an annual claim, the minimum amount is EUR50. Member States may impose higher limits. The minimum claim limits for non-EU businesses may not be lower than for EU businesses. The claim limits applied by the individual countries of the EU are indicated in the respective chapters for such countries.

Documentation. Effective from 1 January 2010, under Council Directive 2008/9/EC, claimants established in the EU must electronically submit applicable documentation through an electronic portal set up by the Member State where they are established. The refund application must contain the following:

- The applicant's name, contact details, nature of the business and bank details
- For each Member State separately, a list of the suppliers, nature of the purchases, purchase invoices, import documents and VAT amounts
- On request by the Member State of refund, original invoices or import documents, if the taxable amount is EUR1,000 or more (EUR250 for fuel purchases)

Under the EU 13th VAT Directive, a non-EU claimant must submit the following applicable documentation to the relevant VAT office in the Member State where a refund is requested (the relevant offices are listed in the chapters dealing with the individual countries of the EU):

- The standard application form, which is available in all official EU languages and in all Member States. However, the form must generally be completed in the language of the Member State where the refund is requested.
- Proof of entitlement, which may include a certificate issued by the tax authorities in the country where the claimant is established (required annually).
- Original invoices, import documents, bills, vouchers, receipts or customs clearance forms supporting the amounts of VAT claimed.
- Documents appointing a tax representative in countries where that is required.

Time limits. Under the 13th VAT Directive, claims by non-EU businesses must generally be submitted within six months after the end of the calendar year, that is, by 30 June of the following year for most Member States. This deadline is generally strictly enforced. However, certain exceptions exist. The deadlines applied by the individual countries of the EU are indicated in the countries' respective chapters.

Under Council Directive 2008/9/EC, the deadline for the electronic filing of the refund application is 30 September of the calendar year following the refund period.

Refunds are generally paid within six months after the Member State receives the claim. Some Member States pay interest on VAT amounts refunded outside this time limit (for further details, see the chapters dealing with the individual countries of the EU).

Appeals. All Member States provide an appeal procedure if a refund is denied.

F. EU filings

Intrastat. Intrastat is a system of reporting related to intra-Community transactions made by taxable persons. It was introduced on 1 January 1993 to allow the collection of statistical information on intra-Community trade in the absence of customs controls at the borders. EU businesses must submit information on a periodic basis to the VAT authorities if they make either intra-Community supplies or intra-Community acquisitions of goods in excess of certain limits. Penalties may apply to missing and late Intrastat reports and to errors in reporting. Further information on the requirements for Intrastat reporting is provided in the chapters dealing with the individual countries of the EU. Effective from 1 January 2010, a new measure requires businesses to file Intrastat returns for cross-border services provided to business customers in other EU Member States (for further details, see the chapters dealing with the individual countries of the EU).

EU Sales Lists. Taxable persons that make intra-Community supplies must submit EU Sales Lists (ESLs) to the VAT authorities quarterly. Penalties may apply to missing and late ESL reports and to errors in reporting. Further information on the requirements for ESL reporting is provided in the chapters dealing with the individual countries of the EU.

G. Invoicing

The cornerstone of the VAT system is the invoice, which must be issued for most taxable supplies. However, an invoice is not required for business-to-customer supplies of services.

The second EU Directive on VAT invoicing was adopted on 13 July 2010, and its provisions were required to be applied by Member States from 1 January 2013. The Directive aims to promote and further simplify invoicing rules by removing existing burdens and barriers. It establishes equal treatment between paper and electronic invoices without increasing the administrative burden on paper invoices and aims to promote the uptake of e-invoicing by allowing freedom of choice regarding the invoicing method used.

H. VAT returns

On 23 October 2013, the European Commission put forward a legislative proposal for a standard VAT return. The aim of the standard VAT return is to reduce administrative burdens for businesses, ease tax compliance and make tax compliance across the EU more efficient. The proposal envisages a simplified and uniform set of information that businesses will have to provide to tax authorities when filing their VAT returns, regardless of the Member State of submission. The standard VAT return, which will replace national VAT returns, will ensure that businesses are asked for the same basic information, within the same deadlines, across the EU. The Commission envisages that the proposed directive will enter into force on 1 January 2017. However, before this can happen, the Commission's proposal will have to be adopted by the Council, after consultation with the European Parliament.

Finland

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Helsinki

GMT +2

Ernst & Young Oy
Alvar Aallon katu 5 C
00100 Helsinki
Finland

Indirect tax contacts

Kirsti Auranen	+358 (400) 621-692 kirsti.auranen@fi.ey.com
Titta Joki-Korpela	+358 (40) 7523-128 titta.joki-korpela@fi.ey.com

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Value-added tax (VAT)
Local name	Arvonlisävero
Date introduced	1 June 1994
European Union (EU) Member State	Yes
Administered by	Finnish Ministry of Finance and National Board of Taxes (Verohallinto) (http://www.vero.fi)
VAT rates
Standard	24%
Reduced	10% and 14%
Other	Zero-rated, exempt and exempt with credit
VAT number format	1234567-8 (used for domestic trade, imports and exports) FI12345678 (used for intra- Community trade)
VAT return periods	Monthly (or in certain cases quarterly or annually)
Thresholds
Registration	EUR8,500 (not applicable to non-established businesses and to municipalities)
Distance selling Intra-Community acquisitions	EUR35,000
General rule	No threshold
Fully exempt businesses	EUR10,000
Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses	Yes

B. Scope of the tax

VAT applies to the following transactions:

- The supply of goods or services made in Finland by a taxable person
- The intra-Community acquisition of goods and acquisition of services (as provided in Article 196 of EU Directive 2008/8/EY) from another EU Member State by a taxable person (see the chapter on the EU)
- Reverse-charge services received by a taxable person in Finland (that is, services for which the recipient is liable for the VAT due)
- Reverse-charge goods purchased by a taxable person in Finland
- The importation of goods from outside the EU, regardless of the status of the importer

For VAT purposes, Finland does not include the insular province of Ahvenanmaa (Åland Islands). However, the province is part of the Finnish and EU customs territory.

C. Who is liable

A taxable person is any business entity or individual that makes taxable supplies of goods or services, intra-Community acquisitions or distance sales, in the course of a business.

The VAT registration threshold of EUR8,500 applies to businesses that are established in Finland or that have a fixed (permanent) establishment in Finland. The law also includes a tax relief for small businesses with a turnover of between EUR8,500 and EUR22,500 during the financial year. The tax relief is gradual. As a result, the amount of the relief decreases as turnover increases.

Special rules apply to foreign or “non-established” businesses that have no fixed establishment in Finland.

Under the main rule, the place of supply of services is determined by the location of the fixed establishment of the purchaser to which the services are supplied. If no such fixed establishment of a purchaser exists, the place of supply is the purchaser’s domicile. If the supplier does not have a domicile or a fixed establishment that would intervene in the rendering of the service in the country of the purchaser, the supplier must invoice the purchaser for the sale of the service without VAT. Based on the reverse-charge mechanism, the purchaser reports and pays the VAT on the supplier’s behalf. The main rule regarding the place of supply of services (Article 44 of Directive 2008/8/EY) is similar to the treatment of intangible services before 2010. However, for certain services (for example, services relating to immovable property, passenger transport, arranging of events and catering services), exceptions to the main rule exist.

Group registration. Group registration may be granted to taxable persons that supply exempt financial or insurance services and to other taxable persons controlled by financial or insurance companies. Group members must have close “financial, economic and administrative relationships.” All members of the VAT group must be established in Finland. However, Finnish fixed establishments of foreign entities may belong to a VAT group.

Group members are treated for VAT purposes as a single taxable person. No VAT is charged on transactions between group members. Members are jointly responsible for all VAT liabilities of the group.

Cost sharing. An independent group of domestic or foreign persons may be granted a VAT exemption on services the group supplies to its members, subject to several conditions, among them that the provision of those supplies does not cause any distortion of competition. The legal form of the group of persons or the member is not restricted in the VAT Act. It is recommended that the group request an advance ruling from Finland's VAT authorities before launching a cost-sharing arrangement.

Non-established businesses. A "non-established business" is a business that has no fixed establishment in Finland. A non-established business that makes taxable supplies in Finland is not required to register for VAT if the reverse-charge rule applies to all of its transactions. Under the reverse-charge rule, the Finnish customer is responsible for accounting for the VAT. However, a non-established taxable person may opt to register for VAT purposes in Finland, and in that case, the reverse-charge rule no longer applies except for certain supplies of construction services or sales of metal scrap or metal waste (applied as from 1 January 2015).

The reverse-charge rule applies to most supplies of goods and services. The reverse-charge rule does not apply to the following transactions:

- Supplies of goods and services to private individuals
- Supplies of goods and services to a non-established business that does not have a fixed establishment in Finland and has not opted to be registered for VAT in Finland
- Distance sales in excess of the annual threshold
- Supplies of passenger transport, supplies of the right to entry to educational, scientific, cultural, entertainment or sporting events and other similar events, as well as services directly related to the admission to such events

If the reverse charge does not apply, the non-established business must register for VAT in Finland. The VAT registration threshold does not apply to supplies made by a non-established business that does not have a fixed establishment in Finland.

When registering for VAT in Finland a foreign entrepreneur must fill in an explanatory form concerning the business activities conducted by it in Finland. The explanatory form is an enclosure to the VAT registration. The Finnish tax authorities are likely to use the information provided on the form in its determination of whether the foreign entrepreneur has a permanent establishment in Finland.

A non-established business that is involved in intra-Community trade in Finland must notify the Finnish VAT authorities of its activities (see the chapter on the EU). Consequently, even if the business does not have to register for VAT (for example, because the reverse charge applies to its sales), it must still notify the Finnish VAT authorities of the fact that it has begun activities. It must also report details of its intra-Community trade to the VAT authorities on a monthly basis. The procedure for registering for the “notification duty” is the same as for general VAT registration.

Alternatively, a non-established business may opt to register for VAT. If a non-established business opts to register for VAT, it may recover Finnish input VAT more quickly through its periodic tax returns. The taxpayer must file a periodic tax return that contains VAT information and information regarding other taxes reported through the “tax account” (see Section I).

Tax representatives. A non-established business that must register for VAT in Finland is not required to appoint a tax representative, but it may choose to do so. In practice, many non-established businesses appoint tax representatives to deal with correspondence from the Finnish VAT authorities, because it is normally written in Finnish or Swedish.

However, if a non-established business opts to register for VAT in Finland when it is not required to do so (for example, because the reverse charge would apply to its transactions), it must appoint a tax representative resident in Finland. This obligation applies only to businesses that do not have a domicile or a fixed establishment in the EU. The Finnish VAT authorities must approve the tax representative. The representative is not liable for any VAT due.

Reverse charge in domestic trade. The reverse-charge mechanism is also applied to the following domestic sales:

- Sales of emission rights
- Sales of construction services
- Sales of investment gold
- Sales of scrap metal and metal waste

If a purchaser registered for VAT in Finland purchases emission rights, the purchaser must pay the tax.

The reverse charge is applied to the domestic supply of construction services (also labor leasing for construction work). The reverse-charge mechanism is applied to supplies of construction work with respect to immovable property in accordance with specific requirements. The nature of the service and the status of the buyer are decisive in determining whether the supplied service falls under the reverse-charge mechanism. The condition for the buyer is that the buyer is a business engaged in the sale of building services on an ongoing basis.

The reverse-charge mechanism applies to local supplies within Finland between VAT-liable businesses provided that the goods supplied meet the specific requirements. Effective from 1 January 2015, it applies to domestic supplies of waste and scrap metals.

Digital economy. Not applicable.

Registration procedures. As described above, in Finland there are alternatives for VAT registration. In the case of mandatory VAT registration, retrospective VAT registration is required, provided that the business activities causing the Finnish VAT registration obligation have commenced in the past. In the case where a foreign entity opts to register for VAT purposes in Finland voluntarily, the earliest possible point of VAT registration is the date of the filing of the VAT registration form.

In Finland, the VAT registration form must be filed in paper format, including the company's trade register extract with an English translation attached. On average, the completion of the VAT registration procedure takes 2 – 4 weeks after the filing of the VAT registration application.

Mini One-Stop Shop. The Finnish Mini One-Stop Shop e-service for electronic service suppliers has been launched. As of 1 January 2015, businesses supplying electronic services to EU non-taxable persons are able to choose Finland as their Member State of identification and declare VAT on services sold to other EU Member State consumers via the Finnish internet portal. For further information, see the chapter on the EU.

Late-registration penalties. No specific penalty is levied for late VAT registration in Finland. However, if the late registration results in the late submission of VAT returns or the late payment of VAT, penalties are assessed.

Deregistration. A taxable person that ceases to be eligible for VAT registration must deregister by filing a notification in paper format.

D. VAT rates

The term “taxable supplies” refers to supplies of goods and services that are liable to a rate of VAT, including the zero rate. Zero rate supplies can also be classified as “exempt with credit,” which means that no VAT is chargeable, but the supplier may recover related input tax. Examples of exempt with credit supplies include intangible services supplied to another taxable person established in the EU or to a recipient outside the EU (see the chapter on the EU).

The following are the current VAT rates in Finland:

- Standard rate: 24%
- Reduced rates: 10% and 14%
- Zero rate (0%)

Until 31 December 2012 the VAT rates were 23%, 9% and 13%.

The standard rate of VAT applies to all supplies of goods or services, unless a specific measure allows a reduced rate or exemption.

Examples of goods and services taxable at 0%

- Exports of goods

Examples of goods and services taxable at 10%

- Cinema
- Sporting services
- Books
- Medicine
- Passenger transport
- Accommodation
- Compensation from copyrights received by a copyright organization that represents the copyright holders
- Newspapers and periodicals sold by subscription for a minimum of one month (effective from 1 January 2012)

Examples of goods and services taxable at 14%

- Most foodstuffs including restaurant and catering services (food served at restaurants)
- Animal feed
- Drinking water

The term “exempt supplies” refers to supplies of goods and services that are not liable to tax. Exempt supplies do not give rise to a right of input tax deduction for related expenditure (see Section F).

Examples of exempt supplies of goods and services

- Land and buildings
- Financial transactions
- Insurance
- Education (as defined by law)
- Health and welfare
- Transfers of copyright ownership
- Universal postal services supplied by universal postal service providers

Option to tax for exempt supplies. Leasing of land and buildings is generally exempt. However, provided that the certain preconditions are met, the lessor is able to register for VAT when leasing immovable property and consequently, charge leases with standard VAT rate. This is possible only provided that the land and or building in question is used continuously for taxable purposes. There are also some additional requirements for mutual real estate companies.

E. Time of supply

The time when VAT becomes due is called the “time of supply” or “tax point.” The basic time of supply is the month in which the goods are delivered or the services are performed.

During the accounting year, a taxable person may account for VAT on the basis of invoices issued and received. At the end of the accounting year, the VAT reporting must be adjusted to follow the basic time of supply (that is, on the basis of goods delivered and services performed).

Prepayments. The time of supply for an advance payment or prepayment is when the payment is received by the supplier (even if the supplier has not yet issued an invoice or made the supply).

Intra-Community acquisitions. The basic time of supply for an intra-Community acquisition of goods is the month following the month in which the goods are received (that is, when the acquisition occurs). However, if the supplier issues an invoice in the month in which the goods were received, the time of supply is the month when the acquisition takes place.

Imported goods. The time of supply for imported goods is the date of the written customs clearance confirming that the imported goods are in “free circulation” in the EU following their direct importation or their release from a customs regime. This is not necessarily the date on which the goods are imported.

Continuous delivery. The time of supply of continuous delivery is the month in which a settlement period ends. A service for which invoicing is based on time spent rather than on amounts received is considered to be continuous delivery.

Cash accounting. Finland has not implemented Article 167a from Directive 2006/112/EC. A taxable person may use a cash accounting scheme during the financial year, but in the last VAT return of the financial year, the bookkeeping must be adjusted to an accrual basis.

Reverse-charge services. Time of supply of reverse-charge services follow the general time of supply rules described above.

Intra-Community supplies of goods. The time of supply of intra-Community supplies of goods reflect the time of supply of intra-Community acquisition. Thus, the basic time of supply for an intra-Community supply of goods is the month following the month in which the goods are delivered to the purchaser. However, if the supplier issues an invoice in the month in which the goods were received by the purchaser, the time of supply is the month when the goods are delivered to the purchaser.

Leased assets. Usually, the leasing of assets is considered to be continuous supplies of services as the invoicing is based on time spent. Thus, the time of supply of continuous delivery is the month in which a settlement period ends.

F. Recovery of VAT by taxable persons

A taxable person may recover input tax, which is VAT charged on goods and services supplied to it for business purposes. Input tax is generally recovered by being deducted from output tax, which is VAT charged on supplies made.

Input tax includes VAT charged on goods and services supplied within Finland, VAT paid on imports of goods and VAT self-assessed on the intra-Community acquisition of goods and acquisition of services (as provided in Article 196 of EU Directive 2008/8/EY) and reverse-charge goods and services.

A valid tax invoice that fulfills the requirements of the Finnish VAT invoicing rules (see Section H) or a customs document must generally accompany a claim for input tax.

Nondeductible input tax. Input tax may not be recovered on purchases of goods and services that are not used for business purposes (for example, goods acquired for private use). In addition, input tax may not be recovered for some items of business expenditure.

The following lists provide some examples of items of expenditure for which input tax is not deductible and examples of items for which input tax is deductible if the expenditure is related to a taxable business use.

Examples of items for which input tax is nondeductible

- Business entertainment
- Purchase, lease, hire and maintenance of passenger cars and cars for mixed purposes (that is, cars designed and equipped for carrying passengers and goods), unless used exclusively for business use
- Private use of trucks and vans
- Fuel for private cars
- Private expenditure

Examples of items for which input tax is deductible (if related to a taxable business use)

- Hotel accommodation (however, VAT on hotel breakfast is not deductible)
- Books

- Advertising
- Staff entertainment (subject to limitations)
- Home and mobile telephone bills (portion of private use is nondeductible)
- Attendance at conferences, seminars and training courses
- Fuel and maintenance of vans, to the extent used for business purposes
- Public transport and taxis

Partial exemption. Input tax directly related to the making of exempt supplies is not generally recoverable. If a Finnish taxable person makes both exempt supplies and taxable supplies, it may not recover input tax in full. This situation is referred to as “partial exemption.”

In Finland, the amount of input tax that a partially exempt business may recover is calculated in the following two stages:

- The first stage identifies the input VAT that may be directly allocated to exempt and to taxable supplies. Exempt with credit supplies are treated as taxable supplies for these purposes. Input tax directly allocated to exempt supplies is not deductible. Input tax directly allocated to taxable supplies is recoverable in full.
- The second stage prorates the remaining input tax that relates to both taxable and exempt supplies, in order to allocate a portion to taxable supplies (which may then be recovered). For example, this treatment applies to the input tax related to general business overhead. The pro-rata calculation is normally based on the value of taxable supplies made compared to the total value of supplies made, but other well-founded methods of apportionment may be used.

Capital goods. Capital goods are items of capital expenditure that are used in a business over several years. Input tax is deducted in the VAT year in which the goods are acquired. In Finland, special treatment for capital goods is restricted to purchases of land and buildings and to construction and fundamental improvements.

Special rules apply to deductions on real estate investments, including:

- Input tax on real estate investments is deducted in the VAT year in which the goods or services are acquired for taxable business purposes. The amount of input tax recovered depends on the use of the immovable property for taxable business activity. If the use of the property for taxable business activity increases or decreases, the amount of input tax recovered is adjusted. The right or obligation to adjust relates only to real estate used for business purposes.
- The adjustment period is 10 years, beginning with the year in which the construction or renovation work is completed. This period also applies to certain cases in which the real estate is taken into use after the completion of the real estate investment (that is, cases in which the real estate is not taken into use immediately after the real estate investment has been completed). Each year 1/10 of the input VAT paid for the real estate investment is subject to adjustment.
- The annual adjustment may result in either an increase or a decrease of deductible input VAT, depending on whether the portion of taxable use of the property has increased or decreased compared with the year in which the investment was made. The annual adjustment is reported in the last periodic tax return of the calendar year in question (that is, the periodic tax return for December). Adjustments do not apply to operating costs or maintenance costs.

- If the immovable property is sold to a business, the right or liability for adjustments is transferred to the acquiring business. In some cases, a full adjustment is made instead of annual adjustments.
- The adjustment and monitoring rules also apply to tenants that have made real estate investments with respect to the leased premises. Consequently, with respect to the transfer of the adjustment obligation, the status of the tenant is comparable to the status of the owner of the immovable property.

Other rules may also apply to certain circumstances, such as a sale of the real estate that is under construction.

Refunds. If the amount of input tax recoverable in a monthly period exceeds the amount of output tax payable in that period, the taxable person has an input tax credit.

Under the so-called “tax account” procedure, the amount of VAT that has not been used for the payment of VAT due during the tax period (that is, the input tax credit) is set off against other taxes due if needed or otherwise refunded to the taxpayer after the tax period. Alternatively, the taxpayer can allocate the amount of VAT into the tax account. This amount can be used for the payment of the VAT due in the future. As a result of the introduction of the tax account procedure, two earlier practices are, in general, no longer applicable: the VAT advance refund procedure that applied during the accounting period and the VAT refund procedure that applied after the accounting period. For further information, see Section I.

Preregistration costs. In general, costs related to the starting up of a taxable business are deductible.

Write-off of bad debts. Bad debt relief is available for both established businesses and non-established businesses registered for VAT in Finland. The amount does not need to be final based on bankruptcy or enforcement procedures, but it must be considered to be accrued in accordance with good accounting practice.

Noneconomic activities. In general, cost related to noneconomic activities are non-deductible.

G. Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses

Finland refunds VAT incurred by businesses that are neither established in Finland nor registered for VAT there. A non-established business is allowed to claim recovery of Finnish VAT to the same extent as a VAT-registered business.

Effective 1 January 2010 for businesses established in the EU, refund is made under the terms of EU Directive 2008/9. The Finnish VAT Act was amended to reflect EU Directive 2008/9.

For businesses established outside the EU, refund is made under the terms of the EU 13th Directive. Finland does not exclude claimants from any non-EU country from the refund process.

For the general VAT refund rules applicable to the EU 8th and 13th Directive refund schemes, see the chapter on the EU.

Refund application. Under EU Directive 2008/9, a claim form must be filed electronically with the domestic tax authorities of the taxpayer's country (for example, if the fixed establishment or domicile of the taxpayer is Finland, the competent tax authority is located in Finland). After a preliminary review of the claim form, the tax authorities will forward the claim form electronically to the tax authorities of the country of destination. The taxpayer must attach to the claim form scanned copies of the purchase invoices and other documents, such as importation documents with a tax base of at least EUR1,000. In addition, the tax authorities of the country of destination may also demand to see the original invoices and documents.

The claim form may have to contain a closer specification of the invoices and importation documents (among others, the nature of the purchased goods or services itemized to different codes).

For refund applications under the 13th Directive, the deadline for refund claims is 30 June of the year following the year in which the supply was made. The date of supply may be earlier than the date of the invoice. The deadline for claims is strictly enforced.

Claims must be submitted in Finnish, English or Swedish. The refund application must be accompanied by the appropriate documentation.

The minimum claim period is three consecutive months during the same calendar year. The maximum claim period is one year. The minimum claim amount for a period of less than a year is EUR400. For an annual claim, the minimum amount is EUR50.

Applications for refunds of Finnish VAT may be sent to the following address:

Uudenmaan Verovirasto
Yritysverotoimisto
PL34
00052 VERO
Finland

H. Invoicing

VAT invoices and credit notes. A Finnish taxable person must generally provide a value-added taxable invoice for all supplies made to other taxable persons and to all legal entities, including exports and intra-Community supplies. As of 1 January 2013 there is no longer an obligation to issue invoices for advance payments for intra-Community supplies. Invoices are required for supplies to private persons regarding intra-Community supplies of new means of transport and distance sales.

Both sales and purchase invoices must be in accordance with the Finnish VAT invoicing rules. A purchaser of goods and services may recover the input VAT on the purchase only if it retains an invoice that fulfills the requirements. If purchase invoices do not fulfill all the requirements, the purchaser may lose the right to recover the input VAT, unless the inadequate invoice is replaced with a new (corrected) invoice.

Under the EU Directive 2010/45/EU, effective from 1 January 2013, an invoice for intra-Community supplies of goods carried out in accordance with the conditions specified in Article 138 or for supplies of services for which VAT is payable by the customer pursuant to Article 196 must be issued on the 15th day of the month following at latest.

The following information must be included in the invoice:

- Invoice date.
- A sequential number, based on one or more series, which uniquely identifies the invoice.
- The VAT identification number of the supplier. For domestic supplies, it is the business identification number while, for intra-Community supplies and supplies of services mentioned in amended Article 44 of EU Directive 2006/112/EY, it is the EU VAT number.
- The VAT identification number of the customer if the customer or buyer is liable to pay tax on goods supplied or services rendered, if the goods have been supplied as an intra-Community supply or if the service is a supply mentioned in amended Article 44 of EU Directive 2006/112/EY.
- The full name and address of the supplier and the customer or buyer.
- The quantity and nature of the goods supplied or the extent and nature of the services rendered.
- The date on which the supply of goods and services is made or completed. For an advance payment, the invoice must show the date on which the payment on account is made if such date may be determined and differs from the date of issuance of the invoice.
- The taxable amount (excluding VAT) for each VAT rate or exemption, the unit price exclusive of VAT and the amount of any discount or rebates if they are not included in the unit price.
- The VAT rate applied (for each VAT rate).
- The VAT amount payable in euros (unless the margin scheme applicable to secondhand goods, works of art, collectors' items and antiques is applied).
- In the case of an exemption, a reference to the appropriate provisions of the Finnish VAT Act or the EU VAT Directive, or any other reference indicating that the supply of goods or services is exempt.
- If the customer is liable for the payment of the VAT, the reference "Reverse charge" must be used.
- If the customer receiving a supply issues the invoice instead of the supplier, the reference "Self-billing" must be used.
- Information regarding new means of transport sold to another Member State (such as date of sale, date of first use, cubic displacement or power rating of the engine, mileage driven).
- If the margin scheme for travel agents is applied, the reference "Margin scheme – Travel agents" must be used.
- If one of the special arrangements applicable to secondhand goods, works of art or collectors' items and antiques is applied, the reference "Margin scheme – secondhand goods, works of art or collectors' items and antiques" must be used.
- Indication of the sales of taxable investment gold.
- If a corrected invoice (for example, a credit note) is issued, an unambiguous reference to the original invoice.

In some specific cases, the invoicing requirements are less detailed. Less-detailed invoices may be issued in the following cases:

- Invoices for amounts up to EUR400 (including VAT).
- Invoices relating to supplies made by certain businesses whose clients are principally private persons, such as retailers and kiosks, and hairdressers.
- Invoices regarding passenger transport or restaurant services and receipts concerning parking meters and vending machines. For these invoices, only the following information must be included:
 - The invoice date.
 - The supplier's name.
 - The supplier's VAT identification number.
 - The quantity and nature of the goods supplied or the nature of the services rendered.
 - The amount of VAT payable (at each VAT rate) or the taxable amount exclusive of VAT (at each VAT rate).

A VAT invoice is necessary to support a claim for input tax deduction or a refund under the EU Directive 2008/9 or 13th Directive refund schemes (see the chapter on the EU).

A VAT credit note may be used to reduce the VAT charged and reclaimed on a supply.

Electronic invoicing. Effective 1 January 2013, the VAT law has been amended to permit electronic invoicing in line with EU Directive 2010/45/EU.

Proof of exports and intra-Community supplies. Finnish VAT is not chargeable on supplies of exported goods or on the intra-Community supply of goods. However, to qualify as VAT-free, exports and intra-Community supplies must be supported by evidence, such as proof that the goods have left Finland. Acceptable proof includes the following documentation:

- For an export, a copy of the export document, officially validated by customs. The authorities may also approve the use of other documentation such as consignment notes (or other commercial evidence) or the import declaration of the customs destination. Depending on the party that arranges the transportation, other requirements may need to be satisfied for the VAT exemption to be allowed.
- For an intra-Community supply, the supplier must include the purchaser's valid EU VAT identification number (issued by an EU Member State other than Finland) on the sales invoice and must retain commercial documentation (for example, transport documentation, consignment notes, proof of payment and proof of receipt of the goods) to show evidence of the transportation of the goods from Finland to another EU Member State.

Foreign-currency invoices. A valid Finnish VAT invoice may be issued in a foreign currency, but the VAT amount must be converted to euros using the latest selling rate of the Bank of Finland or the rate published by the European Central Bank at the time the tax becomes chargeable.

B2C invoices. Effective 1 January 2015, new rules apply to the place of supply for supplies of telecommunications, broadcasting and electronic services to non-VAT taxable customers. For details, refer to the European Union chapter.

Finnish suppliers are not specifically required to issue tax invoices to non-taxable customers for these services, but in practice, an invoice may often be required.

I. VAT returns and payment

Periodic tax returns. Finnish periodic tax returns are submitted monthly or, in certain cases, quarterly or annually.

Under the “tax account” procedure, the taxpayer files one periodic tax return that consists of VAT information and also information regarding other taxes reported through the tax account. In general, the periodic tax return must be filed electronically by the 12th day of the 2nd month following the return period. If the taxpayer files a periodic tax return on paper (that is, other than electronically), the due date is the seventh day of the second month following the return period. If the taxpayer’s tax period is a calendar year, the due date for the tax return and payment of the tax due is the 28th day of the 2nd month following the return period. The periodic tax return is considered to be filed on time when the Finnish tax authorities receive the tax return within the prescribed period. For example, the due date for the January 2014 tax return is 7 March 2014 or 12 March 2014, depending on whether the tax return is filed on paper or electronically.

Under the tax account procedure, all of the taxes and payments are entered in a tax account maintained by the tax authority. The taxpayer must pay all the taxes due in euros by the 12th day of the month by using a certain reference number. The tax account procedure replaces the former VAT advance refund procedure that applied during the accounting period and, to some extent, also the VAT refund procedure that applied after the accounting period. The amount of VAT that is not used for the payment of VAT due during the tax period is set off against other taxes due if needed or otherwise refunded to the taxpayer after the tax period. Alternatively, the taxpayer can retain the VAT in the tax account and use it for the payment of the VAT due in the future. Voluntary extensions of VAT reporting and payment periods to a quarter or a year are available for small companies (turnover not more than EUR50,000 or EUR25,000 per calendar year, respectively).

The supply and acquisition of services that fall under the new principal rule for the place of supply of services (Article 44 of Directive 2008/8/EY; see Section C) must be reported in the periodic tax return, effective from 1 January 2010, as well as in EU Sales Lists (ESLs; see Section K).

Special schemes. Not applicable.

Electronic filing and archiving. Electronic filing of VAT returns is recommended. Since November 2013, non-Finnish users have also had access to electronic filing services. E-filing of documents such as VAT returns and EU Sales Lists is organized through a so-called KATSO identification (Katso ID). Thus, in order to be able to make electronic filings, taxpayers should set up a Katso ID for electronic filing. Currently, the starting up of an e-filing procedure is rather complex, especially for foreign companies with no Finnish citizens as employees.

In principle, documentation related to Finnish VAT returns should be stored in Finland. However, in general this documentation can be stored abroad provided that the storage is arranged by electronic means and real-time access is guaranteed.

Annual returns. Not applicable.

J. Penalties

For the late payment of VAT, interest at an annual rate of 7.5% is assessed for 2015 beginning with the day following the due date to the date of payment.

If the periodic tax return is filed late, a punitive tax increase is separately assessed at an annual rate of 15%. The minimum penalty payment is EUR5 per type of tax due, up to a maximum EUR15,000 per type of tax, or the amount of tax due, whichever is lower. This penalty is imposed even if no tax was due in an amount of EUR5 per type of tax. In most cases, the separate penalty payment is not imposed if a punitive tax increase is imposed.

K. EU filings

Intrastat. A Finnish taxable person that trades with other EU countries must complete statistical reports, known as Intrastat, if the value of its sales or purchases exceeds certain thresholds. Separate reports are required for intra-Community acquisitions (Intrastat Arrivals) and for intra-Community supplies (Intrastat Dispatches).

The threshold for Intrastat Arrivals for 2014 is EUR500,000.

The threshold for Intrastat Dispatches for 2014 is EUR500,000.

Finnish taxable persons must complete Intrastat declarations in euros.

The Intrastat return period is monthly. The submission deadline is the 10th business day following the return period.

A penalty is assessed for late filing or for a failure to submit a return or for the submission of an incorrect Intrastat return in an amount ranging between EUR10 and EUR2,500.

EU Sales Lists. If a Finnish taxable person makes intra-Community supplies, it must submit an EU Sales List (ESL; also called EU recapitulative statement) to the Finnish tax authorities. An ESL is not required for any period in which a taxable person does not make any intra-Community supplies. Supplies falling under Article 44 of the EU Directive must be reported on an ESL if the purchaser is located in the EU and is liable to pay the VAT on behalf of the supplier in the country where the purchaser is established.

The reporting period for an ESL is one month. The due date for filing the ESL is the 20th day of the month following the month of the transaction. The ESL must be filed electronically. Subject to certain conditions, the tax authorities can allow the taxpayer to file the ESL in paper format if a request is made.

The tax authorities may impose a penalty fee from EUR80 to EUR1,700 for late or inaccurate ESLs.

France

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Paris

GMT +1

Ernst & Young Société d'Avocats

Tour First
1, place des Saisons
TSA 14444
92307 Paris La Defense Cedex
France

Indirect tax contacts

Gwenaëlle Bernier	+33 (2) 51-17-50-31 gwenaëlle.bernier@ey-avocats.com
Jean-David Vasseur	+33 (1) 55-61-15-17 jean-david.vasseur@ey-avocats.com

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Value-added tax (VAT)
Local name	Taxe sur la valeur ajoutée (TVA)
Date introduced	10 April 1954
Trading bloc membership	European Union (EU) Member State
Administered by	French Ministry of Finance (http://www.impots.gouv.fr)
VAT rates
Standard	20%
Reduced	2.1%, 5.5%, 10%
Other	Exempt and exempt with credit
VAT number format	FR 31 8 3 2 3 7 5 8 3 1
VAT return periods	Monthly (normal regime); quarterly and annually (simplified regime); or no return, depending on turnover and output VAT due the previous year
Thresholds
Registration	None
Distance selling	EUR100,000
Intra-Community acquisitions	EUR10,000 (under specific conditions)
Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses	Yes

B. Scope of the tax

VAT applies to the following transactions:

- The supply of goods or services performed in France by a taxable person
- The intra-Community acquisition of goods from another EU Member State by a taxable person (see the chapter on the EU)

- Reverse-charge services received by a taxable person in France (that is, services for which the recipient must account for the VAT due)
- The importation of goods from outside the EU, regardless of the status of the importer

For VAT purposes, the territory of France includes Corsica and Monaco. The Overseas Dependencies of Guadeloupe, Martinique and Réunion are considered to be non-EU countries with respect to the other EU Member States (see the chapter on the EU). VAT does not apply in French Guiana (Guyane).

C. Who is liable

A taxable person is any business entity or individual that performs taxable supplies of goods or services, intra-Community acquisitions or distance sales, in France in the course of a business.

Under the franchise regime, the following thresholds, effective through 31 December 2016, apply to small French-established businesses:

- Sales of goods: EUR82,200 during the previous year (or EUR90,300 when the turnover did not exceed the EUR82,200 threshold during the year before the previous year)
- Supplies of services: EUR32,900 during the previous year (or EUR34,900 when the turnover did not exceed the EUR32,900 threshold during the year before the previous year)

A taxable person that begins business activity in France must notify the French VAT authorities and register for VAT within 15 days.

Special rules apply to foreign or “non-established” businesses.

Group registration. An election to create a limited type of VAT group is allowed, with the election coming into effect at the beginning of the following financial year. The VAT group is considered to be a single entity exclusively with respect to a consolidated VAT payment. As a result, all VAT liabilities due and input VAT (VAT credit) held by the group members are compensated within the group. However, each member of the VAT group must submit its own VAT return for information purposes.

Non-established businesses. A “non-established business” is a business that has no fixed establishment in the territory of France. If a non-established taxable person exclusively performs supplies that are subject to the reverse-charge mechanism, it does not need to register for VAT in France.

Previously, entities that were not established in France and that made supplies subject to French VAT were not required to register for VAT in France because the French VAT was payable by the recipient registered for VAT in France (except for specific goods and services). However, the European Court of Justice recently found that the “repondant” mechanism was not in compliance with the EU VAT Directive, and therefore the mechanism has been cancelled, effective from October 2012.

Non-established businesses should review their French VAT registration status. In addition, a French VAT registration may be necessary to fulfill Intrastat obligations (see Section K).

Tax representatives and agents. Businesses established in the EU have the option to register for French VAT with or without appointing a tax representative in France. Businesses established outside the EU except in Argentina, Australia, Azerbaijan, Georgia, India, Iceland, Mexico, Moldova, Norway, Republic of Korea and Saint Barthélemy must appoint a tax representative to register for VAT. The tax representative must be known and accepted by the French Tax Authorities and is jointly and severally liable with the non-established businesses represented by it for all French VAT liabilities.

Foreign businesses established within the EU may either register directly or appoint a VAT agent who will file the registration form and the periodic VAT returns on behalf of the foreign company. In contrast to a VAT representative, the VAT agent acts under the responsibility of the foreign entity. The same rules apply to businesses established in countries that have concluded a tax treaty with France covering mutual assistance.

Reverse charge. Under a mandatory reverse-charge mechanism, the recipient of goods or services holding a French VAT number is liable to settle the French VAT incurred on the supply of goods or services performed by a taxable person not established in France, regardless of where the recipient is established.

For B2B supplies of services, VAT incurred is due by the recipient established in France, providing that the supplier is not established in France. An entity is considered “established in France” if there exists a registered office or fixed establishment in France effectively performing an economic activity.

Effective 1 January 2015, the reverse-charge mechanism has been extended to import VAT due upon the importation of goods into France, under strict conditions. Eligible operators could avoid the cash outflows associated with import VAT.

In addition, specific domestic reverse-charge rules apply to the following:

- Delivery of natural gas and electricity
- Supplies and work performance on new industrial waste and recoverable material
- Transfer of allowances to emit greenhouse gases
- Electronic communications services
- Construction work, including repair, cleaning, maintenance, alteration and demolition services related to immovable property carried on by a subcontractor

Registration procedures. Registration requires completing Form IMP and its appendix which describes the activity to be performed in France.

The registration form must indicate the address of the company, its main activity and the address where the company keeps its accounting records. Moreover, the company must attach a certificate of registration in the Trade and Companies registry in its country as well as the original of a certificate of taxable person status delivered in its EU Member State. Finally, the applicant must justify its intention to perform taxable activities in France.

Businesses established outside of the EU must include with their applications the ‘proxy’ appointing the fiscal representative (see above).

The complete file is to be sent to the following tax office:

Service des Impôts des Entreprises Etrangères
10, rue du Centre
TSA 20011
93465 Noisy-Le-Grand Cedex, France

The VAT registration is free of charge and no guarantee is required. It generally takes two to four weeks to obtain a VAT number.

Late-registration penalties. No specific penalty is imposed for late VAT registration. However, interest and penalties may apply if a late registration results in the late payment of French VAT.

Digital economy. EU Regulation provides an indicative list of services covered by the terms “electronic supply of services.” For business to business transactions, the place of supply of such services to a taxable person shall be the place where that taxable person has established his business. Consequently, supplies of electronic services are taxable in France when the recipient acting as a taxable person has a fixed establishment or permanent address in France or usually resides in France.

Until 31 December 2014, in respect of services supplied to non-taxable persons (B2C transactions), the place of supply is the place where the supplier is established. As from 1 January 2015, the place of supply of B2C transactions is modified for telecommunication, broadcasting and electronic services. Where supplied to an EU based recipient, they are taxable in the Member State of location of the customer.

Mini One-Stop Shop (MOSS). As from 1 January 2015, a MOSS regime came into effect, allowing taxable persons that supply telecommunication services, television and radio broadcasting services or electronically supplied services to non-taxable persons (“consumers”) in Member States in which they do not have an establishment to avoid registering, filing and paying VAT in each Member State of consumption.

They are able to account for VAT due on those supplies via a web portal in the Member State in which they are identified. These electronically supplied services are then subject to the VAT rate in force in the customer’s EU Member State.

Two schemes are available. The EU scheme allows taxable persons established in France that deliver electronically supplied B2C services in Member States in which they are not established to file returns and pay the VAT owed on these services through a single portal. In the non-EU scheme, traders established outside the EU delivering electronically supplied services to non-taxable persons residing in the EU can also register with the MOSS in only one Member State even if they have customers in several Member States.

As from October 2014, taxable persons established in France or established outside the EU may register for MOSS via the e-service “access the Mini One-Stop Shop” on the tax web portal: <http://www.impots.gouv.fr>). After registration, the taxable person will be able to file returns and pay VAT owed on digital distribution service provided to consumers residing in other Member States. In order to be identified for MOSS, the company must have an “espace profession” (trader’s subscriber section) on the web portal and have opted for the service “consulter: compte fiscal.” Registration will take effect from the first day of the calendar quarter following that in which the taxable person informs the French tax administration of the intention to start using the scheme.

Deregistration. When ending economic activity, a company must file a specific form (M4) within 30 days (extended to 60 days under certain circumstances) following the date of the end of activity. This form must list the transactions performed by the company during this period.

The company is required to regularize its position before the Tax Authorities, depending on whether it is in a VAT credit position (net input VAT to be refunded) or in a VAT debit position (net output VAT due). In the first case, the company can apply for a refund of its VAT credit within a period of 30 days running as from the date of the end of activity. In the second case, the company must settle the remaining VAT due through the filing of its VAT return.

Usually, the company will not be allowed to deduct the input VAT due on costs incurred after the date of the end of activity.

D. VAT rates

The term “taxable supplies” refers to supplies of goods and services that are subject to VAT, including a reduced or super-reduced rate. The term “exempt supplies” refers to supplies of goods and services that are within the scope of VAT but that are not liable to tax. In principle, exempt supplies do not give rise to a right to recover input tax on related expenditure (see Section F). Some supplies are classified as “exempt with credit,” which means that no VAT is chargeable, but the supplier may recover related input tax. Exempt with credit supplies include the following:

- Specified financial transactions
- Exports of goods outside the EU and related services
- Intra-Community supplies of goods
- Supplies of intangible services to other taxable persons established in the EU or to recipients outside the EU (see the chapter on the EU)

Mainland France. In mainland France, the following are the VAT rates:

- Standard rate: 20%
- Reduced rates: 2.1%, 5.5% and 10%

The standard VAT rate applies to all supplies of goods or services, unless a specific measure provides for a reduced rate or exemption.

Examples of goods and services taxable at 2.1%

- Pharmaceuticals

Examples of goods and services taxable at 5.5%

- Foodstuffs

Examples of goods and services taxable at 10%

- Accommodation

Corsica. On the island of Corsica, the standard rate is 20%. However, rates of 0.9%, 10% and 13% apply to specified goods or services. The 0.9% rate applies to the first performance of certain theatrical performances and circuses. The 10% rate applies to work on immovable property, to agricultural equipment and to sales of restaurant food for consumption on the premises. The 13% rate applies to petroleum products. A reduced rate of 2.1% applies to the supplies of goods and services that are subject to the reduced rate of 5.5% in mainland France.

Overseas Dependencies (Guadeloupe, Martinique and Réunion). In the Overseas Dependencies of Guadeloupe, Martinique and Réunion, the standard rate is 8.5%. A reduced rate of 2.1% applies to the supplies of goods and services that are subject to the 5.5% rate in mainland France. A special VAT rate of 1.05% applies to periodicals.

Exempt supplies. The term “exempt supplies” refers to supplies of goods and services that are within the scope of VAT but that are not liable to tax. In principle, exempt supplies do not give rise to a right to recover input tax on related expenditure but specific provisions can grant the right to recover input VAT on exempt supplies (see below and Section F).

Examples of exempt supplies of goods and services

- Land under specific conditions
- Financial transactions
- Buildings completed for more than five years
- Insurance
- Education
- Health and welfare
- Betting and gaming

Some supplies are classified as “exempt with credit,” which means that no VAT is chargeable, but the supplier may recover related input tax. Exempt-with-credit supplies include the following:

- Certain financial transactions (where invoiced to non-EU customers)
- Exports of goods outside the EU and related services
- Intra-Community supplies of goods
- Supplies of certain services to other taxable persons established in the EU or to recipients outside the EU

Option to tax for exempt supplies. Taxable persons performing economic activities which are exempt of VAT may, under express legal provision, be able to apply VAT on such activities. As a result, the taxpayer will be able to recover the VAT credit incurred on the goods or services. Option to tax for VAT grants the possibility to exempt the taxpayer from payroll tax if 90 percent of its turnover is VAT taxable.

Examples of exempt supplies of goods and services for which there is an option to treat as taxable

- Leasing of unfurnished buildings to professionals
- Leasing of agricultural assets

- Specific public services provided by local public authorities
- Supplies of undeveloped lands
- Supplies of buildings completed for more than five years
- Certain transactions of bank establishments

E. Time of supply

In France, the time when the legal conditions necessary to determine the VAT liability are fulfilled is called the “tax event,” while the time when VAT becomes due and recoverable is called the “tax due point.” Different tax event rules and tax due point rules apply to supplies of goods and supplies of services.

The general rule is that the tax event and the tax due point for goods occur at the same time. They occur when the right to dispose of the goods as owner is transferred. If the sale contract stipulates that the supplier retains ownership of the goods, the tax is due at the moment of the physical transfer of the goods from the supplier to the buyer.

The tax event for services is the moment when the services are performed, while the tax due point is the date of the effective payment. However, the supplier may opt to account for VAT on an accrual basis; that is, when the services are rendered and the invoice is issued. In principle, if the consideration for a supply of services is paid in installments, VAT is due on the receipt of each installment (“option pour les débits”).

Reverse charge. The time of supply for a reverse-charge service received by a French taxable person is the date of payment for the service, unless the recipient of the service has opted to account for VAT on an accrual basis.

Intra-Community acquisitions. The tax event for an intra-Community acquisition of goods is the moment of the introduction of the goods in France. The tax due point is the 15th day of the month following the month in which the acquisition occurred. If the supplier issues an invoice before this date but after the tax event, the tax due point is the date of the invoice.

Imported goods. The time of supply for imported goods is either the date of importation or the date on which the goods leave a duty suspension regime.

Cash accounting. France has not implemented the optional scheme under Article 167a but has implemented article 66b (as referred to in article 167a) for supplies/receipt of services only.

Continuous supplies of services. The “tax event” for services corresponds to the moment when the services are performed. In the case of installment payments or continuous payments, the chargeable event occurs at the end of the periods to which such payments refer. However, for continuous supplies of services over a period of more than one calendar year, subject to reverse charge, which do not give rise to installments or continuous payments during that period, the tax event occurs on expiry of each calendar year until such time as the supply of services comes to an end.

Prepayments. The collection of advance payments (prepayments) for supplies of goods does not give rise to VAT.

The tax due point for advance payments for services occurs on collection of the payment.

Intra-Community supplies of goods. Intra-Community supplies of goods fall under the general rule stating that the tax event and the tax due point for goods occur at the same time, that is when the right to dispose of the goods as owner is transferred. However, specific rules might be applicable in respect of tax due point. For instance:

- Contract of sale with a retention-of-title clause: VAT is due when the good is physically delivered.
- Supplies of goods which give rise to statements of account or payments: tax due point occurs on expiry of the periods to which such statements or payment relate.

Leased assets. A leasing contract of goods is an agreement whereby the lessor (the owner) contracts the use of the good to the lessee (the person who leases) in return for a consideration. At this stage, lease incomes received by the lessor during the period of the lease agreement are VAT taxable pursuant to the collection rules applicable to the supplies of services.

At the end of the lease period, should the lessee opt for the purchase of the good, VAT is chargeable upon the transfer of the right to dispose of the asset.

F. Recovery of VAT by taxable persons

A taxable person may recover input VAT charged on goods and services supplied to it for business purposes. A taxable person generally recovers input tax by offsetting it against output VAT charged on supplies made. Input tax includes VAT charged on goods and services supplied in France, VAT paid on imports of goods and VAT self-assessed by the taxable recipient under the reverse-charge mechanism.

A valid tax invoice or customs document is compulsory for a VAT refund claim.

Nondeductible input tax. Input tax may not be recoverable on purchases of goods and services that are not used for business purposes (for example, goods acquired for private use). Furthermore, input tax may not be recoverable on certain business expenditures.

The following lists provide some examples of items of expenditure for which input tax is not recoverable and examples of items for which input tax is recoverable, except in specific cases.

Examples of items for which input tax is not recoverable

- Hotel accommodation for employees
- Petrol
- Transport
- Purchase, lease and maintenance of passenger cars
- Business gifts valued at more than EUR65 including VAT

Examples of items for which input tax is recoverable (if related to a taxable business use)

- Restaurant meals and entertainment for employees and clients
- Hotel accommodation for clients
- Attending conferences, exhibitions and training seminars

- Books
- Motorway tolls
- Liquefied petroleum gas (LPG)
- Purchase, lease and maintenance of vans and trucks
- Diesel fuel for vans and trucks
- Advertising
- Business use of a home telephone

Partial exemption. Input tax directly related to exempt supplies is not generally recoverable. If a French taxable person performs both exempt supplies and taxable supplies, it may only recover a portion of input tax. This situation is referred to as “partial exemption.”

In France, the amount of input tax that may be recovered is calculated in the following two stages:

- The first stage identifies the input VAT that may be directly allocated either to exempt or to taxable supplies. Exempt-with-credit supplies are treated as taxable supplies for these purposes. Input tax directly allocated to exempt supplies is not deductible. Input tax directly allocated to taxable supplies is fully recoverable.
- The second stage prorates the input tax on mixed expenditures (relating to both taxable and exempt supplies) in order to allocate a portion to taxable supplies (which may be recovered). For example, this treatment applies to the input tax on general business overhead expenses.

Alternatively, a taxable person may apply the recovery ratio to all expenditures for the acquisition of goods and services.

A taxable person that performs within the same business entity different types of business activities that are subject to different VAT rules (referred to as “Separate Business Units”) must maintain separate accounts for each branch of activity and compute its recovery rights separately for each business unit.

Capital goods. Capital goods are items of capital expenditure that are used in a business over several years and thus qualify as fixed assets. Input tax is recoverable in the VAT year in which the goods are acquired. The amount of input tax recoverable depends on the VAT recovery ratio in the year of acquisition. However, the amount of input tax for capital goods initially deducted might have to be adjusted over a reference period if the VAT recovery ratio varies by more than 10 percentage points (since 1 January 2008) over the adjustment period, depending on the effective use of the fixed assets.

In France, the capital goods adjustment applies to the following assets for the number of years indicated:

- Buildings: for 19 years following the year in which they are acquired (that is, 20 years in total). This rule applies to buildings acquired on or after 1 January 1996.
- All other fixed assets: for four years after the year in which they were purchased, acquired under an intra-Community acquisition, imported or used for the first time (that is, five years in total).

Adjustment is required each year following the acquisition, to a fraction of the total input tax (1/20) for land and buildings and 1/5 for other fixed assets). The adjustment may result in either an increase or a decrease of recoverable input VAT, depending on whether the ratio of taxable supplies made by the business has increased or decreased compared with the year in which the fixed asset was acquired.

Further adjustments might be required upon the disposal of fixed assets (or similar events) within the adjustment period.

Refunds. If the amount of input tax recoverable in a monthly period exceeds the amount of output tax payable in that period, the taxable person has an input tax credit. The input tax credit may be carried forward to offset output tax in subsequent return periods, until it is used up.

A refund of the input tax credit may be requested at the end of the calendar year if the total amount refundable is at least EUR150. A refund may also be requested at the end of a calendar month or quarter if the amount refundable is at least EUR760.

Since 1 January 2014, the special refund scheme applicable to companies performing foreign trade operations such as exports and intra-Community supplies of goods has been abolished. Hence, VAT refund claims requested by such companies fall under the general scheme as detailed above.

VAT refund claims must be reported on Form 3559 for persons not VAT established in France. The application of VAT refunding Form 3519 is reserved to taxpayers established in France.

Preregistration costs. Newly created companies may claim a refund of input VAT paid on expenses incurred before registration, back to the point in time when they expressed their intention to perform economic activities. Documentation useful to show such an intention may include a statement of existence, a VAT registration certificate, evidence of market investigation and marketing expenses, etc.

Write-off of bad debts. A taxable person may recover input VAT paid on unpaid invoices when the debt is officially unrecoverable, which occurs when the supplier has exhausted all legal remedies against the debtor. However, VAT may be recovered further to a judgment of liquidation or a judgment granting a recovery plan. Therefore, a mere default of recovery does not enable the supplier to qualify the debt as definitely unrecoverable and to claim a refund.

Bad debt relief rules are applicable only to supplies for which the tax point arises before the receipt of payment. Consequently, VAT refund difficulties mostly arise regarding supplies of goods. For supplies of services, the tax point occurs at the date of the effective payment, so bad debt relief rules are only applicable which the taxpayer has opted to pay VAT under the invoice dates regime ("option pour les débits") under which VAT is due at the time when the debt is recorded).

Noneconomic activities. Noneconomic activities shall be taken into account in the computation of the VAT recovery ratio which will enable a taxable person to determine its deductible input VAT, specifically as to the assessment of the first and second of the three relevant ratios.

The first relates to the direct allocation of purchased goods or services to the execution of economic activities falling within the scope of VAT (“coefficient d’assujettissement”). The second ratio concerns the operation opening a VAT deduction right (“coefficient de taxation”). The third ratio addresses specific rules that might limit the input VAT deduction right (“coefficient d’admission”).

G. Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses

Businesses that are neither established in France nor registered for VAT may request the refund of input VAT. Non-established businesses may claim French VAT to the same extent as VAT-registered businesses.

For businesses established in the EU, refund is made under the terms of the EU 8th Directive. For businesses established outside the EU, refund is made under the terms of the EU 13th Directive. France does not exclude any non-EU countries from the refund process.

For the general VAT refund rules under the EU 8th and 13th Directive refund schemes see the chapter on the EU.

Refund application. Under the EU 13th Directive, the deadline for refund claims is 30 June of the year following the calendar year in which the tax is incurred. This deadline is strictly enforced.

The minimum claim period is three months. The maximum claim period is one year. The minimum claim for a period of less than a year is EUR200. For an annual claim, the minimum amount is EUR25.

As a result of the implementation of the VAT package, the deadline for VAT refund claims under the EU 8th Directive is extended to 30 September of the year following the calendar year in which the tax is incurred.

Claims must be submitted in French. The application for refund must be accompanied by the appropriate documentation (see the chapter on the EU).

The minimum claim period is three months. The maximum claim period is one year. The minimum claim for a period of less than a year is EUR400. For an annual claim, the minimum amount is EUR50.

Applications for refunds of French VAT must be sent to the following address:

Service de remboursement de la TVA aux assujettis étrangers
10 rue du Centre
TSA 60015
93 465 Noisy-Le-Grand Cedex
France

VAT refund claims filed under the EU 8th Directive procedure must, in principle, be submitted electronically. VAT refund claims filed under the EU 13th Directive procedure are still to be submitted on paper format.

Repayment interest. If the refund is not made within required time limits, the French VAT authorities must pay interest to the claimant provided the refund claim complies with all requirements.

H. Invoicing

VAT invoices and credit notes. A French taxable person must generally provide a VAT invoice for all taxable supplies performed for the benefit of other taxable businesses or non-taxable legal entities, including exports and intra-Community supplies. Invoices are not automatically required for retail transactions, unless requested by the customer. An invoice must be issued as soon as the supply has taken place.

A commercial invoice is necessary to support a claim for input tax under the domestic procedure or a refund under the EU 8th or 13th Directive refund schemes (see the chapter on the EU).

Under the French Administrative Guidelines, a VAT credit note may be used for transactions involving French clients to correct the VAT amount charged and reclaimed on a supply. The VAT amount credited must be separately itemized and it must be cross-referenced to the original VAT invoice.

Electronic invoicing. As from 1 January 2013, VAT law permits electronic invoicing in line with EU Directive 2010/45/EU. All formats of e-invoices are accepted, but authenticity of the origin, integrity of content and legibility must be satisfied from the invoice's date of issuance through the end of the archiving period.

In the case of invoices not issued in the Electronic Data Interchange (EDI) format or electronically signed with a qualified certificate, business controls must be put in place that demonstrate the existence of a reliable audit trail between the invoice and the underlying transaction. This would apply notably to e-invoices sent by e-mail.

Proof of exports and intra-Community supplies. French VAT is not chargeable on supplies of exported goods or on intra-Community supplies of goods (see the chapter on the EU). However, to qualify as VAT-free, exports and intra-Community supplies must be supported by evidence indicating that the goods have left France. Acceptable proof includes the following documentation:

- For export, a copy of the export document, officially validated by customs and showing the supplier as the exporter. Other acceptable proof of export may be provided. The sales invoice must include specific wording.
- For intra-Community supply, the supplier must include the purchaser's EU VAT identification number on the sales invoice and specific wording. The supplier must also retain commercial documentation (for example, purchase orders, transport documentation, proof of payment and a copy of the customer's invoice stamped for receipt of the goods).

Foreign-currency invoices. If a French VAT invoice is issued in a foreign currency, the VAT amount to be paid must be converted into euros using the rate published by the French Central Bank for the date of the supply. For intra-Community transactions, the customs rate (published monthly) may be used. If a taxable person chooses to use the customs rate, such rate must be used for all intra-Community trade, for at least one calendar year for both VAT returns and Intrastat returns (see Section K).

B2C invoices. Effective 1 January 2015, new rules apply to the place of supply for supplies of telecommunications, broadcasting and electronic services to non-VAT taxable customers.

French VAT rules do not set requirements as to the issuance of invoices for supplies of telecommunications, broadcasting or electronic services to non-VAT taxable private individuals. However, requirements are defined by the Commercial Law. As from 1 April 2015 (Arrêté of 31 December 2013), the invoice should include additional information on these services:

- The total amount including VAT and the corresponding VAT basis
- The total amount including VAT of the services rendered by the service provider and corresponding VAT basis
- Total amount including VAT of the services rendered by third parties and corresponding VAT basis.

The invoice shall comprise two sections, one referring to the services rendered by the operator and another one to the services delivered by third parties. The first section shall be organized in three parts:

- The subscription, all-inclusive packages and options
- Communications
- Other services and product of the operator

The second section shall be organized in two parts:

- Subscriptions with third parties
- Temporary services from third parties

These five parts must show detailed information on the services such as reference periods, quantities of goods or services, rebates, communications included in the subscription or not. For prepaid electronic communication, a simplified document can be issued as from 10 January 2014. As regards non-VAT taxable legal entities, an invoice shall be delivered under the French VAT rules.

Paper and electronic invoices must be archived in their originally issued form for a period of 6 years. French administrative guidelines distinguish between requirements for purchase invoices and sales invoices.

- Purchase invoices must be archived in paper form when received in paper; a paper purchase invoice digitized for archiving does not qualify as an electronic invoice. Electronic invoices must be stored in electronic format (the original one under which they were received).
- Sales invoices must be stored in electronic format if they were received in electronic format; for paper invoices, the tax authorities will accept archival storage in electronic form provided that certain conditions regarding integrity of the invoices are met.

I. VAT returns and payment

VAT returns. The applicable VAT return period depends on the taxable person's turnover. As from 1 January 2015, the following criteria apply:

- Companies following the normal regime ("régime réel normal") file returns monthly. There are two categories of taxpayer that must follow the normal regime:

- Companies whose turnover exceeds EUR783,000 (goods) or EUR236,000 (services)
- Companies whose output VAT due exceeded EUR15,000 the preceding year
- Companies following the simplified regime (“régime réel simplifié”) file returns quarterly and annually. These are two categories of companies that can follow the simplified regime:
 - Companies whose turnover is between EUR82,200 and EUR783,000 (goods) or between EUR32,900 and EUR236,000 (services), and whose output VAT due the previous year was less than EUR15,000
 - Companies whose turnover exceeds EUR783,000 (goods) or EUR236,000 (services) but whose total output VAT due during the previous calendar year did not exceed EUR4,000
- Companies that are not required to file a VAT return are those whose turnover is less than EUR82,200 (goods) or EUR32,900 (services).

For French companies, monthly VAT returns and payment are due between the 15th and the 24th day of the month following the end of the return period. The due date depends on several factors including the type of legal entity involved and where the taxable person is established.

For foreign entities, monthly or quarterly VAT returns are due on the 19th day of the month following the end of the return period.

Special schemes. In certain circumstances, taxpayers may opt to file VAT returns and pay VAT due under the installment payment scheme, pursuant to which the deadline for filing is extended. However, an installment shall be approved by tax authorities before the initial deadline.

As mentioned in Section C, the franchise regime is applicable to small French-established businesses following the below thresholds (effective 1 January 2014):

- Sales of goods: EUR82,200
- Supplies of services: EUR32,900

Special rules are also applicable for real estate operations or for agricultural activity.

Electronic filing. As from 1 October 2014, all businesses (except small companies and auto-entrepreneurs under certain circumstances) must file their VAT returns and settle the VAT due electronically. For companies not established in France but VAT registered in France, electronic filing is required but not electronic payment.

A notice is currently available on the official website (in French): <http://www.impots.gouv.fr>. The “TéléTVA” process can be used through one of these two methods:

- The “EDI” procedure using UN-EDIFACT standards (“échange de données informatisées”): the data will be transmitted to the tax office by the intermediary of an “EDI partner” accredited as such by the tax administration. The EDI partner can be the taxpayer itself provided the accreditation has been granted.
- The “EFI” procedure (“échange de formulaires informatisés”): the taxpayer declares and settles the VAT due through the tax authorities’ official website <http://www.impots.gouv.fr>. The taxpayer must have previously connected to this website and, by filling in the required information, created an account in the trader subscription section (“Espace professionnel”). When that is done properly, an activation code is sent to the taxpayer. Once the account is activated, the taxpayer has access to the VAT filing space.

The taxpayer must first approach the tax administration in order to be registered on a compulsory or voluntary basis.

In case electronic filing and payment obligations are not respected, a 0.2% penalty (assessed on the VAT due) is applicable.

Annual returns. Businesses falling into the scope of the simplified regime (“régime réel simplifié”) are obliged to file an annual return (CA12). In contrast, businesses subject to the “régime réel normal” scheme do not have to file annual VAT returns. When necessary, adjustments are directly made in a subsequent periodic VAT return (line 31 of the VAT return). A letter explaining the reason of the adjustment and the VAT returns concerned by the adjustment shall be attached.

J. Penalties

The following penalties are assessed for errors associated with electronic filing:

- Failure to declare VAT by electronic means: 0.2% of the VAT due
- Failure to pay VAT by electronic means: 0.2% of the VAT due

The following penalties are assessed for the late submission of VAT and late payment of VAT:

- Late payment: 5% of the tax due
- Late submission: 10% of the tax due if the French VAT authorities have not yet issued a formal notice
- First formal notice of a late submission: 40% of the tax due
- Second formal notice of a late submission: 80% of the tax due

In addition to the penalty, interest accrues at a rate of 0.4% per month.

Penalties and interest payments may also apply to inaccurate returns.

For inaccurate invoices, the following penalty applies:

- EUR15 per missing mandatory information per invoice (listed in Directive 2006/112/EC)

K. EU filings

Intrastat. A French taxable person that trades with other EU countries must complete statistical reports, known as Intrastat, if the value of its sales or purchases exceeds certain thresholds. Separate reports are required for intra-Community acquisitions (Intrastat Arrivals) and for intra-Community supplies (Intrastat Dispatches).

For 2014, the threshold for Intrastat Arrivals is EUR460,000. No threshold applies for Intrastat Dispatches.

French taxable persons must complete Intrastat declarations in euros.

Intrastat returns are filed monthly. The submission deadline is the 10th day of the month following the end of the return period.

The penalty for late filing is EUR750, increased to EUR1,500 if the report is not filed within 30 days after the French customs authorities have issued a warning notice. In addition, every omission or inaccuracy on an Intrastat return is punishable by a fine of EUR15. The fine cannot exceed EUR1,500 per Intrastat return. A penalty of EUR1,500 may also apply if a taxable person refuses to provide information or documents to the French customs authorities.

EU Sales Lists. In France, all information related to intra-Community transactions is reported using the Intrastat form. No separate EU Sales List (ESL) is to be filed.

As a result of the implementation of the VAT package, effective from 1 January 2010, an ESL for services must, in principle, be filed with respect to services provided by French suppliers to customers registered for VAT in the EU in specified circumstances.

Georgia

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Tbilisi

GMT +4

EY

44 Kote Abkhazi
Tbilisi 0105
Georgia

Indirect tax contacts

Zurab Nikvashvili	+995 (32) 215-8811 zurab.nikvashvili@ge.ey.com
Gocha Kvirikashvili	+995 (32) 215-8811 gocha.kvirikashvili@ge.ey.com

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Value-added tax (VAT)
Local name	damatebuli ghirebulebis gadasakhadi
Date introduced	24 December 1993
Trading bloc membership	None
Administered by	Ministry of Finance (http://www.mof.ge)
VAT rates
Standard	18%
Reduced	0.54%
Other	Exempt with the right to reclaim input tax; and exempt without the right to reclaim input tax
VAT number format	Not applicable
VAT return period	Monthly
Registration thresholds
Businesses established in Georgia	Taxable turnover of GEL100,000 in the preceding 12 months
Businesses established elsewhere	Reverse-charge rule applies
Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses	No

B. Scope of the tax

VAT applies to the following transactions:

- Supply of goods or services in Georgia within the scope of economic activities
- Use of VAT taxable goods or services for noneconomic purposes if a taxpayer has obtained a VAT credit for these goods (services)

- On termination of VAT registration (except for bankruptcy cases), the balance value of the goods for which a taxpayer has obtained a VAT credit
- Use of self-constructed buildings as fixed assets
- Transfer of ownership of goods or services in exchange for shares in an enterprise or partnership
- On expiration or early termination of a rental agreement, supply of leasehold improvements, if any, to the landlord
- Import or temporary import of goods into Georgia
- Export or re-export of goods from Georgia

C. Who is liable

Business entities or individuals are considered VAT payers if any of the following circumstances exists:

- They are registered or required to be registered for VAT.
- They carry out taxable imports or temporary imports of goods into Georgia. Such persons are considered VAT payers with respect to such imports or temporary imports only, without the obligation to register.
- They are nonresident persons (except for Georgian citizen individuals) rendering services in Georgia without VAT registration and a permanent establishment. Such persons are considered VAT payers with respect to such services only and are subject to reverse-charge taxation.
- They are transferring property to a creditor in fulfillment of a contract. Such persons are considered VAT payers with respect to this operation only and are subject to reverse-charge taxation, without the obligation to register.
- Their property is being sold to fulfill tax liability or other financial obligation (excluding imposed criminal and administrative sanctions) via auction, direct sale or other methods. Such persons are considered VAT payers with respect to this operation only, without the obligation to register.
- Their property is being sold according to the rules set by the Law of Georgia on Insolvency Proceedings. Such persons are considered VAT payers with respect to this operation only, without the obligation to register.

Taxpayers must register for VAT if they satisfy any of the following conditions:

- They conduct economic activities, and the total amount of VAT taxable transactions carried out in any continuous period of 12 calendar months exceeds GEL100,000. Such persons must register within two working days after exceeding the threshold.
- They produce goods subject to excise tax (excisable goods) in Georgia. Such persons must register before making a supply of such goods.
- They import excisable goods into Georgia (except for excisable goods exempt from VAT taxation on import). Such persons must register before making a supply of such goods.
- An entity is established as a result of reorganization and at least one of the parties to the reorganization is a VAT payer. The entity must register before a VAT taxable transaction is carried out, but no later than 10 calendar days following the completion of the reorganization.
- A VAT payer contributes goods or services into the capital of an enterprise or partnership. Registration of the latter is required before a VAT taxable transaction is carried out, but no later than 10 calendar days following the date of the contribution.

For purposes of determining whether VAT registration is required, exempt supplies with the right to reclaim input tax and exempt supplies without the right to reclaim input tax are not considered.

The above measures also apply to a foreign entity in Georgia. However, to determine the total amount of taxable transactions of a nonresident person, only the supply of goods and rendering of services through a permanent establishment in Georgia is taken into consideration.

Registration procedures. The VAT registration procedure is straightforward and any taxpayer may register for VAT in one working day. An authorized official of the company or its officially designated representative shall appear in person at the tax office to sign and submit the application.

Voluntary registration. A business established in Georgia, including a permanent establishment of a foreign entity, may register for VAT voluntarily. VAT registration is effective from the application date but no later than the date when the obligation of mandatory VAT registration arises.

Group registration. VAT group registration is not allowed in Georgia. Entities that are legally related must register for VAT individually.

Late-registration penalties. A penalty is assessed for late VAT registration. This penalty equals 15% of the VAT taxable turnover (except for exempt supplies) for the entire period of operating without VAT registration. The penalty for the late filing of a VAT return (see Section I) does not accrue during this period.

Non-established businesses and tax representatives. A “non-established business” is a business that does not have a permanent establishment in Georgia. If a business does not have a permanent establishment in Georgia, it may not register for VAT even if it makes taxable supplies of goods or services there. Reverse-charge VAT generally applies to the supply of services made by non-established businesses in Georgia.

The supply of goods by a non-established business through its tax representative in Georgia is considered to be a supply made by such representative for VAT taxation purposes.

Reverse charge. The reverse-charge mechanism applies to non-resident entities or nonresident individuals (except for Georgian individual citizens) making a taxable supply of services in Georgia. The reverse-charge mechanism also applies to the supply of goods or services conducted outside Georgia if the product (for example, projection documents, technical documentation, and technical schemes and programs) is delivered to resident taxpayers through the Internet or any other means of electronic communication and does not cross the customs border of Georgia in the form of an integrated device or any other type of information bearer.

Under the reverse-charge mechanism, resident taxpayers (except for individuals who do not carry out entrepreneurial activities and Free Industrial Zone Companies) and permanent establishments of foreign entities are responsible for the calculation and payment of VAT.

Digital economy. There are no special rules for the digital economy.

Deregistration. The VAT registration of a taxpayer, including a permanent establishment of a foreign entity, is cancelled in the following cases:

- A business is liquidated.
- An individual passes away.
- A taxpayer applies to the tax authorities through a written request or approves a request from the tax authorities to deregister.
- A bankruptcy proceeding is initiated in accordance with the procedure prescribed under the Law of Georgia on Insolvency Proceedings.

A taxpayer may request deregistration within one year of the most recent VAT registration if the value of taxable transactions carried out during the preceding 12 calendar months did not exceed GEL100,000. The tax authorities may also request that the taxpayer deregister.

VAT registration is cancelled from the date the state registration is cancelled, the date the individual passes away or the first day of the month following the application by a taxpayer, the date a court's statement on bankruptcy enters into force or an approval of the request from the tax authorities.

D. VAT rates

The term "taxable supply" refers to the supply of goods and services that are subject to VAT. The term "exempt supply" refers to the supply of goods and services that are not subject to VAT. Persons that make exempt supplies may or may not be entitled to claim the input tax deduction (see Section F).

In Georgia a standard rate of VAT at 18% applies to all taxable supplies of goods and services and imports, unless a specific measure allows an exemption. The 18% rate also applies to transactions subject to the reverse-charge mechanism.

A VAT rate of 0.54% applies to temporary imports for each full or partial calendar month in which the goods are located in the customs territory of Georgia, but the maximum VAT rate for these goods is 18%.

Goods and services that are exempt from VAT may or may not give rise to input tax deductions. The following lists provide some examples of exempt items for which the taxpayer has the right to reclaim input tax and those for which the taxpayer does not have the right to reclaim input tax.

Examples of exempt items with the right to reclaim input tax

- Export or re-export of goods
- Supply of goods or services intended for the official use of foreign diplomatic missions and equivalent representative offices as well as for the personal use of the members of such

- diplomatic missions and representative offices (including family members residing with them)
- Transportation of goods under export, re-export, external processing and transit arrangements (foreign goods moving through the customs territory of Georgia) and related services
 - Transportation of goods not yet declared into import, warehouse, temporary import, internal processing or free-zone operations between points located in Georgia and related services (except for storage services)
 - Transportation of goods declared into import, warehouse, temporary import, internal processing or free-zone operations before entering the territory of Georgia from the customs border of Georgia to the destination point and related services (except for storage services)
 - Transportation of passengers and cargo and related services, if the departure or arrival point is located outside Georgia and if a unified transportation document is issued for such transportation
 - Import and supply of products to be provided on board for international flights or international sea passages
 - Transportation, loading, unloading and storage services provided for the purpose of sending (returning) empty transport facilities (including containers and wagons) outside Georgia
 - Supply of natural gas to thermoelectric power stations
 - Withdrawal of assets by the state or a local governing body from an entity's capital if more than 50% of the shares is owned by the state or the local governing body
 - Free supply of goods or services to the state or a local governing body
 - Supply of Georgian goods to a duty-free outlet for sale, and sale of goods and provision of catering services in a duty-free zone
 - Supply of assets during a corporate reorganization
 - Contribution of assets into the capital of an enterprise or partnership (on the contribution, the recipient hypothetically credits the VAT on the assets)
 - Supply of gold to the National Bank of Georgia
 - Organized foreign tours into Georgia by tour operators and the supply of tourist packages to foreign tourists
 - Supply of all assets or independently operating units of an entity in a single transaction by one VAT payer to another VAT payer if both parties notify the tax authorities within 15 calendar days after the supply
 - Rendering of services to ships on carrying goods into the customs territory of Georgia, and in accordance with these agreements, the supply of such goods/services and/or import of goods is exempt from VAT
 - Supply of goods or services or import of goods that qualify for VAT exemption in accordance with the framework of international agreements ratified by the parliament of Georgia
 - Supply of unprocessed agricultural products produced in Georgia (except for eggs and chicken)

Examples of exempt items without the right to reclaim input tax

- Supply or import of certain medicines
- Supply or import of passenger cars
- Supply or import of publications and mass media

- Supply or import of baby products
- Supply of land plots
- Supply of goods and services between Free Industrial Zone Companies
- Conduct of financial operations or supply of financial services
- Supply of medical services
- Supply of educational services
- Supply of assets under finance leases if the assets are exempt without the entitlement to credit
- Supply of betting and gaming services
- Import of gold for supply to the National Bank of Georgia
- Supply or import of goods and services needed for the oil and gas industry under the Law of Georgia “on Oil and Gas”
- Import of natural gas for electricity production
- Import of goods by an issuer or a recipient of a grant as defined by the grant agreement
- Import or temporary import of goods or services intended for the official use of foreign diplomatic missions and equivalent representative offices, as well as for the personal use of the members of such diplomatic missions and representative offices (including family members residing with them)
- Import or temporary import of goods intended for the personal use of the citizens of foreign countries employed at oil and gas exploration and extraction works
- Import of natural gas for electricity production
- Import of goods by an issuer or a recipient of the grant as defined by the grant agreement
- Supply of property by partnerships to their members if all the members are individuals, the partnership is not a VAT payer, and the members have not changed since the moment of establishment of partnership

Option to tax for exempt supplies. A VAT-registered taxpayer may apply to pay VAT on all transactions that qualify for exemption without the right to reclaim input tax. This option gives the taxpayer the right to reclaim input VAT against output VAT.

After applying to the tax authorities to use this option, it becomes effective from the first day of the reporting month following submission of the application and is valid for 12 calendar months for all transactions.

E. Time of supply

The time when VAT becomes due is called the “time of supply” or “tax point.” The “basic” tax point is the moment when goods are delivered or made available to a customer or services are rendered. However, the “actual” tax point is the date on which the invoice for supplied goods or rendered services is issued or the date on which the payment obligation for supplied goods or rendered services arises, if either of these dates is earlier than the basic tax point. For regular or continuous supplies of goods (electrical or thermal energy, gas or water supply) and services, the actual tax point is the last day of a reporting period if earlier than the basic tax point.

A range of other situations have different time-of-supply rules that do not fit naturally into the above scheme. The following are some of these special time-of-supply rules:

- Starting point of the use of goods or services for noneconomic purposes
- In the case of VAT deregistration, the day preceding the date on which registration is cancelled
- Starting point of bringing self-constructed buildings into use as fixed assets
- Starting point of receiving ownership of goods or services in exchange for shares in an enterprise or partnership
- In the case of the supply of leasehold improvements to the landlord, the moment of expiration or early termination of the rental agreement
- December of each year for long-term contracts if neither the basic nor actual tax point occurs

Imported goods. The time of supply for imported goods is the date on which the commodity declaration is filed at the border and the goods are accordingly placed into the import regime.

Reverse-charge services. The time of supply for services subject to the reverse-charge mechanism is determined in accordance with the standard rules discussed above.

F. Recovery of VAT by taxable persons

VAT-registered taxable persons may recover input tax, which is VAT charged on goods and services received for business purposes. Taxable persons generally recover input tax by deducting it from output tax, which is VAT charged on supplies made. Input tax includes VAT charged on goods and services acquired in Georgia, VAT paid on imports or temporary imports of goods into the customs territory of Georgia and VAT self-assessed for reverse-charge services received from outside Georgia. Input tax also includes VAT assessed on self-constructed buildings that are used as fixed assets.

The claim for input VAT must be accompanied by one of the following documents:

- Tax invoice
- Customs declaration
- The bank payment order for reverse-charge VAT
- The bank payment order for VAT on a temporary import of goods
- The bank payment order for services rendered by public law entities
- The document confirming the purchase of property that includes the amount paid and related VAT in case of realization of this property to fulfill tax liability or other financial obligation

A VAT credit is allowed for the following:

- Goods and services that are used or will be used in taxable transactions (except for exempt transactions without the right to reclaim input tax), exports or re-exports of goods and rendering of services outside Georgia
- Goods and services used for production of the above-mentioned goods or rendering of services

Nondeductible input tax. No VAT credit is allowed in the following circumstances:

- VAT paid on expenses incurred or that will be incurred for the production of goods and services used in exempt supplies without the right to reclaim input tax
- VAT shown on tax invoices that do not make the identification of the seller of the goods or services possible
- VAT shown on tax invoices not included in a tax return within three reporting periods following the reporting period of a taxable transaction or in December of the calendar year of a taxable transaction. This limitation is not applicable to electronic invoices
- VAT shown on tax invoices issued with respect to bogus operations or fictitious agreements

Partially creditable VAT. If a VAT payer makes both exempt supplies with the right to reclaim input tax and exempt supplies without the right to reclaim input tax, it must account for these supplies separately. Input VAT directly related to exempt supplies with the right to reclaim input tax is recoverable in full, while input VAT directly related to exempt supplies without the right to reclaim input tax is not recoverable. Input VAT that may not be directly attributed to either of these two types of exempt supplies must be apportioned. The statutory method of apportionment is a pro-rata calculation, based on the value of exempt supplies without the right to reclaim input tax as compared to the total turnover of the business. The recoverable VAT is adjusted in the last VAT return for the current tax year in accordance with the annual proportion.

Capital goods. Capital goods are items of capital expenditure that are used in the business for more than one year.

The recovery of input VAT on capital goods is similar to the other goods described above with one exception. This exception applies if fixed assets are used in both exempt supplies with the right to reclaim input tax and exempt supplies without the right to reclaim input tax, and the input VAT cannot be directly attributed to either of these two types of exempt supplies. In these circumstances, the input VAT is recoverable in full in the first reporting period if exempt supplies without the right to reclaim input tax account for less than 20% of the total turnover of the preceding tax year of the business. The recoverable VAT is adjusted at the end of each calendar year based on the value of exempt supplies without the right to reclaim input tax as compared to the total turnover of the business for the respective calendar year.

If the above-mentioned 20% threshold is not met, the input VAT is recoverable only in the last VAT return of a calendar year in the proportion of supplies with the right to reclaim input tax to total turnover of the business during the calendar year.

The following adjustments must be made to the value of input VAT for capital goods:

- For a building, an adjustment of 1/10 of total input VAT applies annually for 10 calendar years from the year of bringing the building into use.
- For other fixed assets, an adjustment of 1/5 of total input VAT applies annually for five calendar years from the year of bringing the asset into use.

Refunds. The excess of input VAT over output VAT in the reporting period must first be used to offset other taxes payable. If the amount of VAT credit exceeds all taxes payable, the excess can be used to cover future VAT and other tax liabilities, or a refund may be claimed.

In certain cases specified by the Minister of Finance of Georgia, overpaid tax may be refunded to the taxpayer automatically.

Preregistration costs. The recovery of VAT incurred before VAT registration is allowed on the balance of inventory acquired for business purposes outstanding at the moment of VAT registration.

Write-off of bad debts. Not applicable.

Noneconomic activities. Input tax may not be recovered on purchases of goods and services that are not used for economic activities, e.g., VAT paid on expenses incurred for social purposes, entertainment activities or related expenses.

G. Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses

Non-established businesses cannot recover VAT, because only entities registered for VAT in Georgia may claim recovery of input tax.

Refund application. If the amount of input VAT on the export of goods, import or purchase of fixed assets subject to depreciation under the Tax Code of Georgia or the purchase of goods for the construction of buildings exceeds the output VAT assessed during the reporting period, this surplus amount must be refunded to the taxpayer within one month following the submission of the application to the tax authorities.

For all other cases, a surplus of input VAT over output VAT assessed during the reporting period must be returned to the taxpayer within three months following the submission of an application to the tax authorities.

Refund of VAT paid on goods purchased by citizens of foreign countries. A citizen of a foreign country who purchased goods in Georgia may obtain a refund of VAT paid on the goods if the following criteria are met:

- The goods are taken out of Georgia within three months from their purchase.
- The price of the goods is more than GEL200 (exclusive of VAT) per receipt.
- A special receipt is issued by an authorized seller.

H. Invoicing

VAT invoice and credit notes. A VAT invoice is a strict accounting document that must be issued in the format approved by the Minister of Finance of Georgia. It certifies the occurrence of a VAT taxable transaction. A VAT invoice could be issued and submitted in electronic form. Such an electronic invoice is not a strict accounting document.

A VAT-registered taxpayer is required to issue a VAT invoice to the recipient of goods or services on the request of the recipient within 30 calendar days. VAT invoices can be issued only for VAT taxable transactions. They can be issued according to the supply cycles for electrical or thermal energy, gas or water supplies if the taxpayer accounts for the supplies based on cycle accruals and payment is usually made periodically and not according to the calendar months.

VAT invoices must be issued in Georgian lari.

The Minister of Finance of Georgia may introduce a special form of VAT invoice for certain goods or services or certain buyers. In addition, computer-printed VAT invoices may also be introduced for certain VAT payers.

Corrected VAT invoices may be used to adjust VAT if a taxable transaction is cancelled, the type of taxable transaction has changed, the compensation amount has changed or services are partially or fully returned to the VAT taxpayer.

A corrected VAT invoice is also an accounting document issued in the format approved by the Minister of Finance of Georgia. It certifies the correction of a VAT taxable transaction.

Foreign-currency invoices. No foreign-currency invoices are allowed for VAT purposes. As noted above VAT invoices shall be issued in Georgian lari (GEL).

Electronic invoices. VAT invoices may be issued and submitted in electronic form.

Proof of export. Goods exported from Georgia are exempt from VAT with the right to reclaim input tax. To confirm the applicability of this exemption, the supplier must collect and provide to the tax authorities all relevant supporting documents: sales invoice, sales contract, transportation document, license/certificate, etc.

I. VAT returns and payment

VAT returns. The VAT reporting period is monthly. VAT payers must file VAT returns by the 15th day of the month following the reporting period. VAT returns must be completed in Georgian lari and filed electronically.

The VAT amount payable to the budget is the difference between output and input VAT. Payment in full is required by the due date for the VAT return. VAT liabilities must be settled in Georgian lari.

VAT on imports is paid at the moment the goods are imported into Georgia.

VAT on temporary imports must be paid by the 15th day of the month following the month of the temporary import. The last payment must be made on the last day of the temporary import.

Reverse-charge VAT must be paid by the 15th day of the month following the reporting period.

Special schemes. Not applicable.

Electronic filing and archiving. VAT returns must be completed and filed electronically.

Annual returns. Not applicable.

J. Penalties

Penalties and interest apply to a range of offenses. Late payment interest is calculated from the day following the payment due date. Late payment interest is imposed at a rate of 0.06% of the overdue tax amount for each overdue day. The payment day is considered an overdue day in case of delay.

A penalty is imposed for the late submission of a tax return at a rate of 5% of the amount payable stated in the return for each full or partial month of delay. The amount of the total penalty may not exceed 30% of the tax payable stated in the return and may not be less than GEL200.

If tax is understated, a penalty equaling 50% of the understated amount is imposed. A 10% penalty applies if the understatement results from a change of a tax point by the tax authorities. Understatement of tax in excess of GEL50,000 is considered tax evasion, and criminal proceedings are instituted.

The above penalties also apply to the increase of credited tax or tax subject to refund. If credits are claimed based on bogus operations, fictitious agreements or fake documents, a penalty of 200% of the credited tax amount is imposed.

If a purchaser requests an invoice and if the invoice is not submitted, a penalty equal to 100% of the VAT amount of the taxable transaction is imposed.

For the issuance of a fake invoice or the issuance of an invoice based on bogus operations or fictitious agreements, a penalty equal to 200% of the VAT amount indicated in this VAT invoice is imposed.

Interest is not charged on penalties.

No penalty is imposed for incorrect information presented in the return or calculation form filed by the taxpayer if the latter files an amended return or calculation form before receiving the notification regarding the tax audit or the tax violation from the tax authorities.

The head of the tax authorities and dispute resolution body may not impose the sanction on a “good faith taxpayer” if the taxpayer’s action resulted from a mistake or unawareness and has not adversely affected the state budget.

Germany

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Berlin

GMT +1

EY

Friedrichstrasse 140
 10117 Berlin
 Germany

Indirect tax contact

Peter Schilling

+49 (30) 25471-21262
 peter.schilling@de.ey.com

Andreas Funke

+49 (30) 25471-21215
 andreas.funke@de.ey.com

Cologne

GMT +1

EY

Börsenplatz 1
 50667 Cologne
 Germany

Indirect tax contact

Sibylle Schilling

+49 (221) 2779-25664
 sibylle.schilling@de.ey.com

Duesseldorf

GMT +1

EY

Graf-Adolf-Platz 15
 40213 Duesseldorf
 Germany

Indirect tax contact

Alexander Thoma

+49 (211) 9352-10501
 alexander.thoma@de.ey.com

Frankfurt/Eschborn

GMT +1

EY

Mergenthalerallee 3-5
 65760 Eschborn
 Germany

Indirect tax contacts

Robert Prätzler

+49 (6196) 996-19016
 robert.praetzer@de.ey.com

Rene Gütschow

+49 (6196) 996-21437
 rene.guetschow@de.ey.com

Peter Schilling

+49 (6196) 996-21262
 peter.schilling@de.ey.com

Hamburg

GMT +1

EY

Rothenbaumchaussee 78
 20148 Hamburg
 Germany

Indirect tax contact

Jan Petersen

+49 (40) 36132-16200
jan.petersen@de.ey.comMunich*GMT +1*EYArnulfstrasse 59
80636 Munich
GermanyIndirect tax contact

Dr. Martin Robisch

+49 (89) 14331-15306
martin.robisch@de.ey.comStuttgart*GMT +1*EYMittlerer Pfad 15
70499 Stuttgart-Weilimdorf
GermanyIndirect tax contact

Klaus Trejo

+49 (711) 9881-16859
klaus.trejo@de.ey.comA. At a glance

Name of the tax	Value-added tax (VAT)
Local name	Umsatzsteuer/Mehrwertsteuer
Date introduced	1 January 1968
Trading bloc membership	European Union (EU) Member State
Administered by	German Ministry of Finance (http://www.bundesfinanzministerium.de)
VAT rates
Standard	19%
Reduced	7%
Other	Exempt and exempt with credit
VAT number format	DE123456789 (DE+9 digits)
VAT return periods	Monthly or quarterly and/or annual returns
Thresholds
Registration	None
Distance selling Intra-Community acquisitions	EUR100,000 EUR12,500
Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses	Yes

B. Scope of the tax

VAT applies to the following transactions:

- The supply of goods or services made in Germany by a taxable person
- The intra-Community acquisition of goods from another EU Member State by a taxable person (see the chapter on the EU)

- Reverse-charge supplies, including supplies of services and supplies of goods with installation services
- The self-supply of goods and services by a taxable person
- The importation of goods from outside the EU, regardless of the status of the importer

For VAT purposes, the territory of Germany does not include the Island of Helgoland, the territory of Buesingen and a free zone of control type I, as defined in Article 1 (1), first sentence of the Customs Administrative Act; this mainly covers the free ports of Bremerhaven and Cuxhaven, as well as certain other special territories. Effective 1 January 2013, the free zone territorial exception no longer applies to the port of Hamburg.

The rules regarding the taxation of services have been significantly amended, effective from 1 January 2010, under the so-called “VAT Package Amendments.” Under the general rule, services rendered to taxable persons are taxable where the recipient is resident (many exceptions apply). Consequently, services rendered for foreign businesses are taxable in their home countries instead of Germany.

C. Who is liable

A taxable person is any person, business entity or individual that independently carries out any economic activity in any place.

No VAT registration threshold applies in Germany. A taxable person that begins an activity in Germany must notify the German VAT authorities of its liability to register.

The following two distinct types of numbers are used in Germany:

- General tax number (Steuernummer)
- VAT Identification Number (USt-IdNr.)

The tax number is the number under which the taxable person is registered at the local tax office that is responsible for the person’s tax affairs. The tax authorities use the tax number for internal management and coordination purposes. The tax number must be used for all preliminary VAT returns, annual VAT returns and all correspondence with the local tax authority.

On receipt of the tax number, a taxable person may apply to the Federal Office of Finance in Saarlouis for a VAT Identification Number. This number is used for intra-Community transactions.

Group registration. Germany allows group registration for subsidiaries that are “financially, economically and organizationally integrated” into the business of a parent entity. The following general conditions apply:

- The parent (or controlling) member of the VAT group may be any type of legal entity, including a corporation, a general partnership or a sole entrepreneur.
- A subsidiary (or controlled) member of a VAT group must be a corporation.

The VAT authorities apply the following tests to determine whether entities meet the criteria for integration:

- “Financial integration” means that the parent has the majority of voting rights in the subsidiaries.

- “Economic integration” means that the subsidiaries act like departments of one entity or like divisions with respect to the overall business of the group.
- “Organizational integration” exists if the parent has the means to exercise management power in the subsidiaries. For example, this requirement is met if the parent and the subsidiary have the same person acting as the Managing Director, whereas legislation requires this person to be employed at the parent and not at the subsidiary.

If the integration conditions are met, the subsidiaries and the parent are automatically treated as a group for VAT purposes. The effect of grouping is that the subsidiary is no longer considered to be an entrepreneur or separate taxable person. As a result, intra-group transactions are outside the scope of VAT and accordingly, no VAT is charged. The subsidiary is no longer required to file separate VAT returns and its transactions are reported through the parent’s VAT return. These effects apply only to domestic supplies between the group entities (that is, supplies within the scope of German VAT). In addition, the effects of the VAT grouping are limited to Germany.

VAT grouping does not apply to certain intra-Community compliance obligations (see Section J). Each subsidiary must have its own separate VAT Identification Number and must file its own European Sales List, if it carries out intra-Community supplies. Intrastat returns may either be filed on an aggregate group basis by the parent or by each subsidiary separately.

Non-established businesses. A “non-established business” is a business that has no fixed establishment in Germany. A non-established business is not required to register for German VAT if all of its supplies are covered by the reverse-charge procedure (under which the recipient of the supply must self-assess VAT). The reverse-charge procedure applies to most transactions. It does not apply to supplies of goods located in Germany (except supplies of installed goods) or to supplies of goods or services made to private persons. In principle, if the reverse charge does not apply, a non-established business must register for German VAT.

Tax representatives. In principle, a non-established business that is required to register for VAT in Germany may not appoint a tax representative. A tax representative may be appointed only if the non-established business does not have any German VAT to reclaim and exclusively makes supplies that are either exempt from German VAT or that are exempt with credit.

Reverse charge. Applying the reverse-charge mechanism shifts the liability for payment of the tax from the supplier to the recipient of the supply. The recipient must self-assess the VAT due.

The reverse-charge procedure applies to the following:

- Services and the supply of goods with installation provided by non-established businesses
- Certain supplies in connection with immovable property
- Certain supplies in connection with the real estate transfer tax law

- Certain supplies of gas and electricity
- Goods supplied as part of the execution of security outside of an insolvency procedure
- Supply of rights to emit greenhouse gases
- Certain supplies of heat and cooling
- Supply of scrap and discarded metal as defined by a special annex
- Facility cleaning under certain conditions
- Supplies of integrated circuits, mobile phones, tablet computers and games consoles for a remuneration of EUR5,000 or more
- Supplies of base metals as defined by a special annex

The reverse-charge procedure does not apply to certain supplies of passenger transportation or to services with respect to fairs or exhibitions.

The recipient is allowed to reclaim the reported VAT in the same preliminary VAT return as input VAT to the extent they are allowed for input VAT deduction. The supplier has to issue invoices without German VAT. Therefore, the taxable person only invoices the net amount. Furthermore, it is mandatory for the entrepreneur as of 1 July 2013 to state on the invoice that the reverse charge applies and that the recipient is liable for German VAT with the following phrase: “Steuerschuldnerschaft des Leistungsempfängers.”

Registration procedures. There is no VAT registration threshold. All taxable persons who carry out taxable transactions in Germany have to register for VAT purposes in Germany.

It normally takes 4-6 weeks to obtain a (general) tax number from the responsible local tax authority and afterwards the VAT ID number for intra-Community transactions or services supplied where received from the Federal Central Office for Taxes (Bundeszentralamt für Steuern).

The entrepreneur can apply for the (general) tax number at the responsible local tax authority by explaining in writing why he needs to register for VAT in Germany. No special form is required, but the entrepreneur generally has to complete a questionnaire issued by the relevant local tax authority. Furthermore, he has to submit a certification of status of taxable person as well as an excerpt from his local trade register. Online registration is not possible.

Late-registration penalties. No specific penalty applies to late VAT registration in Germany. If, as a result of the late registration, a taxable person submits VAT returns belatedly, late-filing penalties may apply. Penalties are also charged for any late payments of VAT. In addition, late filing and late payment of VAT may be regarded as a tax fraud.

Late-filing penalties may be assessed up to 10% of the VAT due, and late-payment penalties amount to 1% of the VAT due per month.

In the case of a voluntary disclosure to prevent punishment of tax fraud, a surcharge of 5% of the tax amount applies if the respective amount exceeds EUR50,000.

Digital economy. There are no specific rules relating to the taxation of the digital economy in Germany apart from, for example, specific rules for the place of the digital service and the Mini One Stop Shop scheme.

Mini One-Stop Shop. Effective 1 January 2015, new rules apply to the place of supply for supplies of telecommunications, broadcasting and electronic services to non-VAT taxable customers. Effective from that date, these services will be taxed in the country where the consumer is established. EU taxable persons that supply electronic services will have to charge VAT to non-taxable persons established anywhere in the EU, using the destination principle. EU suppliers will be permitted to discharge their VAT obligations using a “Mini One-Stop Shop” scheme, which will enable them to fulfill their VAT obligations (VAT registration, reporting and payment) in their home country, including for services provided in other Member States where they are not established. Accordingly, EU suppliers will be able to apply a simplification measure similar to the one that is already in place for non-EU providers of electronic services.

Deregistration. There is no special procedure or form required to deregister. The entrepreneur informs the tax office and states the reason for the deregistration.

D. VAT rates

The term “taxable supplies” refers to supplies of goods and services that are liable to a rate of VAT.

The following are the two rates of VAT in Germany:

- The standard rate at 19%
- The reduced rate at 7%

The standard rate of VAT applies to all supplies of goods or services, unless a specific provision allows a reduced rate or exemption.

An option to treat specific VAT-exempt supplies and services as taxable supplies exists.

Examples of goods and services taxable at 7%

- Books and newspapers
- Cultural services
- Food
- Passenger transport (however, effective from 2012, transport by ship is subject to the standard rate of 19%)
- Agricultural products
- Hotel stays

The term “exempt supplies” refers to supplies of goods and services that are not liable to German VAT and that do not give rise to a right of input tax deduction (see Section F). Some supplies are classified as “exempt with credit,” which means that no VAT is chargeable, but the supplier may recover related input tax. Exempt with credit supplies include exports of goods outside the EU and related services, and intra-Community supplies of goods (see the chapter on the EU).

Examples of exempt supplies of goods and services

- Land and buildings
- Financial transactions

- Insurance
- Education
- Medical services

Option to tax for exempt supplies. For some VAT-exempt supplies, such as land, buildings and financial transactions, there is an option for the supplier to treat a transaction as taxable, and if certain requirements are met, related input tax can be recovered. The supply or service must be rendered to an entrepreneur for business purposes, and further requirements might apply.

E. Time of supply

In principle, German VAT payable is due on the 10th day following the end of the filing period (Voranmeldungszeitraum) in which the VAT falls due. A filing period may be a month or a quarter of the calendar year.

The VAT falls due at the end of the filing period in which a supply takes place (tax point). However, some taxable persons are permitted to account for VAT on a cash basis (cash accounting). If cash accounting is used, the tax point is the end of the filing period in which payment is received.

Prepayments. The tax point for an advance payment or prepayment is the end of the VAT return period in which payment is received.

Reverse charge. The tax point for a supply taxed under the reverse-charge procedure (self-assessment by a German taxable person) is the end of the month following the month in which the supply takes place. If the supplier issues an invoice before this date, the tax point is the date on which the invoice is issued. For most services under the reverse-charge procedure, the tax point is the month in which the services are rendered, regardless of the date on which the invoice is issued. For most services under the reverse-charge procedure that last longer than a year, the tax point is once a year (for the yearly part of the service).

Intra-Community acquisitions. The tax point for an intra-Community acquisition of goods is the end of the month following the month when the acquisition occurred. If the supplier issues an invoice before this date, the tax point is the date on which the invoice is issued.

Imported goods. The tax point for imported goods is the date on which the goods clear customs or the date on which the goods leave a duty suspension regime and are released for free circulation. The date on which import VAT becomes due depends on how the goods clear customs. The following are the applicable rules:

- If the goods are cleared without using a payment-simplification regime, in general, the import VAT payment is due within 10 days.
- If the goods are cleared using a payment-simplification regime, payment is postponed for up to 45 days.

Cash accounting. Small businesses with a taxable turnover of less than EUR500,000 in the prior year may account for VAT on a cash basis (Istbesteuerung). The same applies to small businesses that have been exempted from the obligation to keep books and records (article 148 of the Fiscal Code) as well as to freelancers mentioned in article 18(1)(1) of the Income Tax Act. This method of VAT calculation must be approved by the tax office.

Continuous supplies of services. Continuous supplies of services are deemed to be rendered upon completion of delivery. If such services can be divided into parts and separate payments for these parts are agreed, such as monthly payments for an ongoing lease, VAT arises for these partial supplies.

Intra-Community supplies of goods. The tax point for intra-Community supplies of goods is the end of the month in which the supplies were made. However, for intra-Community supplies a zero VAT rate (exempt with credit) is applicable.

Leased assets. For the lease of assets the rules for continuous supplies are applicable (please see above).

F. Recovery of VAT by taxable persons

A taxable person may recover input tax, which is VAT charged on goods and services supplied to it for taxable business purposes (used for taxable (output) services or supplies). Exceptions to this rule exist. A taxable person generally recovers input tax by deducting it from output tax, which is VAT charged on supplies made.

Input tax includes VAT charged on goods and services supplied in Germany, VAT paid on imports of goods and VAT self-assessed on the intra-Community acquisition of goods (see the chapter on the EU) and VAT on purchases of goods and services taxed under the reverse-charge procedure.

A valid tax invoice or customs document must generally accompany a claim for input tax.

Nondeductible input tax. Input tax may not be recovered on purchases of goods and services that are not used for business purposes (for example, goods acquired for private use). The following specific rules apply in Germany to the input tax deduction:

- The 10% rule. If an asset is used for less than 10% business purposes, no input VAT recovery is allowed. This rule applies to all assets.
- Private use. For corporations (for example, a GmbH or an AG) that are taxable persons, any purchase of goods or services is treated as being made for business purposes. Consequently, input VAT recovery is allowed in full. If the goods or services are used for private purposes, the legal entity is deemed to make a supply of goods or services and output VAT is due. However, if the taxable person already intends to use the goods or services for private purposes when he/she acquires them, the legislation does not grant input VAT recovery. Consequently, no output VAT is due upon use for private purposes.
- Luxury goods and services. Input tax may not be deducted for some items of business expenditure. In general, if an item of expense is allowable for German income tax purposes, the input tax may be deducted.

The following lists provide some examples of items of expenditure for which input tax is not deductible and examples of items for which input tax is deductible if the expenditure is related to a taxable business use.

Examples of items for which input tax is nondeductible

- Business gifts (if valued over EUR35)
- Employees' home telephone bills and private mobile telephone bills

Examples of items for which input tax is deductible
(if related to a taxable business use)

- Hotel accommodation
- Restaurant meals for employees on business trips
- 100% purchase, lease or hire of cars by corporations, partnerships or sole proprietors (with VAT chargeable on employee private use)
- Advertising
- Books
- Transport services

Partial exemption. Input tax directly related to making exempt supplies is generally not recoverable. If a German taxable person makes both exempt and taxable supplies, it may not recover input tax in full. This situation is referred to as "partial exemption."

Exempt with credit supplies are treated as taxable supplies for these purposes.

The amount of VAT recoverable is calculated using the following two-stage calculation:

- The first stage identifies the input VAT that may be directly allocated to taxable and to exempt supplies. Input tax directly allocated to taxable supplies is deductible. Input tax directly related to exempt supplies is not deductible (exceptions apply).
- The second stage identifies the amount of the remaining input tax (for example, business overhead) that may be allocated to taxable supplies and recovered.

Capital goods. Capital goods are items of capital expenditure that are used in a business over several years. Input tax is deducted in the VAT year in which the goods are acquired. The amount of input tax recovered depends on the taxable person's (partial exemption) recovery position in the VAT year of acquisition. However, the amount of input tax recovered for capital goods must be adjusted over time, if the taxable person's partial exemption recovery percentage changes during the adjustment period.

In Germany, the capital goods adjustment applies to the following assets for the number of years indicated:

- Land and buildings (adjusted for a period of 10 years)
- Other assets (adjusted for a period of five years)

The adjustment is applied each year following the year of acquisition, to a fraction of the total input tax (1/10 for land and buildings and 1/5 for movable capital assets). The adjustment may result in either an increase or a decrease of deductible input VAT, depending on whether the ratio of taxable supplies made by the business has increased or decreased compared with the year in which the capital goods were acquired.

The above provision also applies to current assets and services.

For goods that are used only once, the adjustment takes place at the time the transaction (for example, their resale) is carried out. No adjustment period applies.

The initial input VAT deduction for services that are not performed on goods but that are used for transactions within the scope of VAT (for example, software licenses, cleaning services, consulting services for a business concept and prepayments for long-term leasing) must be adjusted to the extent that the initial deduction ratio changes.

For goods that are integrated in other goods and for services performed on goods, the capital-goods scheme applies in the same way; that is, the additional supply has its own capital-goods adjustment scheme, but the adjustment period is the same as the period that applies to the basic good (for example, if new windows are added to a house, the adjustment period for the windows begins with their first use and the adjustment period lasts for 10 years, because the windows become part of the immovable property).

No adjustment need be made in the following situations:

- The total input VAT on the purchase or the production cost of the goods or service is less than EUR1,000.
- The correction amount for the year does not exceed EUR1,000, and the adjustment is less than 10%.

Refunds. If the amount of input tax recoverable in a monthly period exceeds the amount of output tax payable in that period, the taxable person has an input tax credit. The credit is generally refunded. Exceptionally, the tax authorities may make the refund conditional on the taxable person making a deposit (for example, a bank guarantee) which is subsequently refunded.

Preregistration costs. The registration for tax purposes is free of charge in Germany. Therefore, no refund of preregistration costs is applicable.

Write-off of bad debts. A taxable person is entitled to recover any VAT already accounted to the tax authorities in respect of unpaid debts. VAT on a bad debt is recovered at the VAT rate that was applied to the original transaction.

Non-economic activities. Non-economic activities — supplies of goods or services not related to a business purpose — are not subject to German VAT. Therefore, the recipients are not entitled to an input VAT deduction.

G. Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses

Germany refunds VAT incurred by businesses that are neither established in Germany nor registered for VAT there. For businesses established in the EU, refund is made under the terms of the EU Directive 2008/9/EC; see below). For businesses established outside the EU, refund is made under the terms of the EU 13th Directive. In accordance with the terms of the 13th Directive, refunds to non-EU businesses are made on the condition of reciprocity. The German VAT authorities have published a list of countries to which refunds are granted and a list of those to which they are not granted.

A non-established business is generally allowed to claim German VAT to the same extent as a VAT-registered business. However, businesses established outside the EU may not recover German VAT on fuel costs.

For the general VAT refund rules of the EU refund schemes, see the chapter on the EU.

Refund application for non-EU businesses. The deadline for refund claims by non-EU businesses is 30 June of the year following the year in which the invoice was received by the claimant. The date of supply may be earlier than the date of the invoice. The claims deadline is strictly enforced.

Claims must be submitted in German. The application for refund must be accompanied by the appropriate documentation (see the chapter on the EU). The claimant must submit a Certificate of Taxable Status, which confirms that the claimant is registered as a taxable person under a tax number. The certificate may not be older than one year. In addition, the German VAT authorities may send an additional questionnaire, to confirm that the claimant should not be registered for VAT in Germany, as opposed to using the EU 13th Directive procedure. According to the tax authorities, the application must be signed by the legal representative and that other representatives are not allowed to sign the application. Consequently, they may reject an application on this ground. Cases regarding this issue are currently pending.

For all claimants, the minimum claim period is three months, while the maximum period is one year. The minimum claim for a period of less than a year is EUR500, while the minimum amount for an annual claim or for the remainder of a year is EUR250.

Applications of non-EU businesses for refunds of German VAT must be sent to the following address:

Bundeszentralamt für Steuern
Dienststz Schwedt
Passower Chaussee 3b
D-16303 Schwedt/Oder
Germany

Refund application for EU businesses. The deadline for refund claims of EU businesses is 30 September of the year following the year in which the invoice was received by the claimant. The date of supply may be earlier than the date of the invoice. The claims deadline is strictly enforced.

EU businesses must file their refund claims to the competent tax authorities in their home states via an electronic form. These tax authorities pass on the form to the German Federal Tax Office (Bundeszentralamt für Steuern, or BZSt). The language on the electronic form is the language of the Member State where the claimant is established. Any further correspondence with the BZSt must be completed in German. The minimum value of a claim is EUR400 and the minimum value for annual claims (or the remainder of the year) is EUR50. The original VAT invoices no longer need to be attached to the claims. However, copies must be attached electronically if the net amount is EUR1,000 or more or if the net amount for fuel is EUR250 or more. The original invoices must be retained because the BZSt may view the original invoices or copies of them under certain circumstances. The BZSt must generally repay VAT within four months after the date on which the claim was submitted for refund. The refunded amount yields interest of 0.5% per month, beginning generally four months and 10 work days after the claim is received by the BZSt.

Effective from 1 January 2011, a qualified electronic signature is required for electronic returns and claims to a German tax authority. This rule applies to the refund claims described above.

H. Invoicing

VAT invoices and credit notes. A German taxable person must generally provide VAT invoices for supplies made to other taxable persons and to legal entities, including exports and intra-Community supplies. This obligation generally does not exist for supplies that are VAT-exempt. Invoices are not automatically required for supplies made to private persons. A German taxable person is required only to issue invoices to private persons for certain supplies in connection with real estate.

Invoices must be issued within six months. From 2013 onwards, invoices for intra-Community supplies as well as services subject to reverse charge and rendered by taxable persons resident in the EU must be issued within 15 days following the month in which said supplies or services have been rendered.

Taxable persons must retain invoices for 10 years. Private persons who receive invoices for certain supplies in connection with real estate must retain the invoices for two years. Otherwise, private persons are not required to retain invoices.

However, all aforementioned retention periods may be extended under certain conditions.

A VAT invoice is required to support a claim for input tax deduction or a refund under the EU refund schemes (see above and the chapter on the EU).

A VAT credit note may be used to reduce the VAT charged and reclaimed on a supply. It is also possible to cancel an incorrect invoice and issue a revised one.

For intra-Community supplies of goods and exports, the invoice must include the statement that the supply is VAT-free. In addition, the customer's valid VAT Identification Number (issued by another EU Member State) must be mentioned in the invoice for all intra-Community supplies of goods.

Electronic invoicing. Electronic invoicing in line with EU Directive 2010/45/EU is permitted.

Proof of exports and intra-Community supplies. VAT is not chargeable on supplies of exported goods or on the intra-Community supply of goods (see the chapter on the EU). However, to qualify as VAT-free, exports and intra-Community supplies must be supported by evidence that proves the goods have left Germany. Acceptable proof includes certain bookkeeping records and the following documentation:

- For an export supply, certain validated customs documentation. If a freight forwarder is involved, a special confirmation of the freight forwarder or certain commercial documentation is required.
- For an intra-Community supply, a copy of the invoice, transport documentation and certain confirmations of the customer. If a freight forwarder is involved, a copy of the invoice and a special confirmation of the freight forwarder are required.

Revised regulations. Revised regulations regarding the required evidence are effective from 31 March 2012.

Under the new rules, the Automated Tariff and Local Customs Clearance System (ATLAS) proof of export is considered to be the standard documentary proof. Alternative proof, such as bills of lading, airway bills or freight forwarder certificates, is accepted only if an export has not been declared in the electronic ATLAS procedure or if, in special cases, the electronic export procedure could not be completed as required.

The new rules introduce a new standard proof for intra-Community supplies, the so-called Gelangensbestätigung (confirmation of arrival). An intra-Community supply is accepted as zero-rated only if such confirmation is available. The confirmation must contain the following information:

- The name and address of the customer
- The amount and customary description of the supplied goods
- In case of transport by the supplier or on behalf of the supplier or customer, the place and date of receipt of the delivered goods in another EU Member State
- In the case of transport by the customer, the date and place of the end of the transport in another EU Member State

Effective 1 October 2013, other types of proof are allowed. Before that date, a grace period allowed the supplier to prove the conditions for an intra-Community supply according to the former regulations that were valid until 2011.

Foreign-currency invoices. If a German VAT invoice is issued in a foreign currency, the value must be converted to euros (EUR) using an official exchange rate. The following conversion rates may be applied:

- The actual bank-selling rate for the date of the supply (not the date of the invoice). The rate used must be evidenced by documentation issued by the bank (this must be allowed by the German tax authorities).
- The average monthly exchange rates published by the Federal Ministry of Finance shortly after the end of the month.

German law provides that the use of the official Ministry of Finance rates is the standard method of currency conversion for VAT purposes. Alternatively, the tax authorities may accept the use of bank selling rates by a taxpayer. However, neither the law nor any official guidelines specify how this acceptance is to be achieved. In particular, no formal obligation to ask for approval exists. In practice, many companies simply use bank selling rates, while others inform their tax office in advance and ask for acceptance.

B2C invoices. Effective 1 January 2015, new rules apply to the place of supply for supplies of telecommunications, broadcasting and electronic services to non-VAT taxable customers. For further details of the VAT rules on electronic services in the EU, please refer to the European Union chapter.

I. VAT returns and payment

VAT returns. In general, preliminary VAT returns are filed quarterly, but monthly returns must be filed if the VAT payable for the preceding year exceeded EUR7,500. However, if the VAT payable for the preceding year did not exceed EUR1,000, the taxable person may be exempted from filing preliminary returns. Newly established taxable persons must file monthly VAT returns for the first and second year of registration.

In general, preliminary VAT returns must be filed electronically.

The preliminary VAT return must be submitted by the 10th day after the end of the filing period. The VAT authorities must receive payment in full by the same day.

Because the regular filing deadline is relatively short, the VAT authorities allow a permanent one month filing and payment extension on written application. However, taxable persons that must submit monthly preliminary VAT returns must pay a special prepayment equal to 1/11 of the preceding year's VAT liability by the due date. This special prepayment is deducted from the VAT payable in the preliminary VAT return submitted for the month of December. Taxable persons that file returns on a quarterly basis are not required to make a special prepayment when they apply for a permanent filing extension.

Annual return. In all cases (monthly, quarterly or no preliminary returns), an annual VAT return must be submitted by 31 May of the year following the end of the VAT year. If a German tax advisor is engaged to prepare the VAT returns, the filing deadline is 31 December of the following year.

Annual tax returns for tax periods beginning after 31 December 2010 must be filed electronically, together with a qualified electronic signature. This change applies for the first time to annual tax returns for the 2011 calendar year, which are filed in 2012.

Special schemes. A special scheme applies to supplies of second-hand goods, e.g., if a commercial car dealer acquires a car from a private person. If a taxpayer sells goods or services he previously purchased for taxable purposes in his business, he must charge VAT on the resale of such goods or services.

Electronic filing and archiving. In general, German VAT returns have to be filed electronically with authentication verified by an electronic certificate that the taxpayer receives by registering on the ELSTEROnline-Portal (<http://www.elsterformular.de/>).

Following the successful transmission of data, the transmission protocol needs to be printed out for the taxable person's files in order to fulfill the documentation requirements of Sec. 147 AO ("Abgabenordnung": German Fiscal Code).

J. Penalties

If VAT return liabilities are paid late, penalty interest is charged at a rate of 1% per month of the tax liability.

If a VAT return is filed late, a fine of up to 10% of the assessed tax amount may be imposed, up to a maximum of EUR25,000. In addition, an enforcement fine of up to EUR25,000 may be charged.

Further sanctions apply to tax fraud (please see above).

K. EU filings

Intrastat. A taxable person that trades with other EU countries must complete statistical reports, known as Intrastat, if the value of its sales or purchases exceeds certain thresholds. Separate reports are used for intra-Community acquisitions (Intrastat Arrivals) and intra-Community supplies (Intrastat Dispatches). Apart from deemed intra-Community supplies, any movement of goods to or from other Member States is also subject to Intrastat reporting (for example, goods sent for repair).

The threshold for Intrastat Arrivals is EUR400,000. The threshold for Intrastat Dispatches is also EUR400,000.

The Intrastat returns are generally filed monthly, but they may be submitted more frequently. The submission deadline is the 10th working day of the month following the month in which the intra-Community movement of goods takes place.

Penalties may be applied for late filing or failure to submit an Intrastat return.

EU Sales Lists. If a German taxable person carries out intra-Community supplies, it must submit an EU Sales List (ESL) in addition to its VAT return. No ESLs are required for periods in which no intra-Community supplies are made. Effective from 1 January 2010, ESLs must be filed for supplies of both intra-Community goods and intra-Community services. Under prior law, ESLs were required only for supplies of goods.

The filing period for the ESL for supplies of goods is changed from quarterly filing to monthly filing. For supplies of services, the filing period is quarterly. For entrepreneurs who must file monthly ESLs for supplies of goods, an option is available to also file monthly ESLs for intra-Community supplies of services.

In addition, the possibility of a one-month extension of the filing deadline is abolished. However, the due date for filing is changed from the 10th day of the following month to the 25th day of the following month.

A taxable person that is exempt from filing preliminary VAT returns, and that has taxable turnover not exceeding EUR200,000 a year may request permission to file annual ESLs if its intra-Community supplies do not exceed EUR15,000 and do not include supplies of new means of transport to purchasers using VAT Identification Numbers. In this case, the submission deadline is the 10th day of the month following the calendar year.

Penalties may be imposed for late or inaccurate ESLs.

Ghana

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Accra

GMT

EY

Mail address:
P.O. Box KA 16009
Accra
Ghana

Street address:
G15 White Avenue
Airport Residential Area
Accra
Ghana

Indirect tax contacts

Wilfred Okine

+233 (244) 310-646
wilfred.okine@gh.ey.com

Isaac Quaye

+ 233 (302) 772-088
isaac.quaye@gh.ey.com

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Value-added tax (VAT)
Date introduced	18 March 1998
European Union (EU) Member State	No
Trading bloc membership	Economic Community of West African States Member
Administered by	Ghana Revenue Authority
VAT rates
Standard	15%
Other	National Health Insurance Levy, 2.5% (increases overall VAT to 17.5%); zero-rated; exempt
VAT number format	C000XXXXXXX
VAT return periods	Monthly
Thresholds
Registration	Turnover exceeding GHS120,000 in 12 months, GHS90,000 in 9 months, GHS60,000 in 6 months or GHS30,000 in 3 months
Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses	No

B. Scope of the tax

VAT applies to the following transactions:

- Taxable supplies. VAT is payable by the persons making the supplies.
- Imported goods. VAT is payable by the importers.
- Imported services. VAT is payable by the recipients of the services.

Act 870 in 2013 introduced the concept of “taxable activity” for greater clarity on what constitutes a taxable supply. A taxable activity is defined as an activity carried on by a person wholly or partly in Ghana that involves or is intended to involve, in whole or in part, the supply of goods to another person for consideration, whether or not for a pecuniary profit.

C. Who is liable

In general, all taxable persons who engage in taxable activity wholly or partly in Ghana in the course of a business are liable to register as VAT vendors. The Ghana Revenue Authority (GRA) has instituted an 11-digit common Taxpayer Identification Number (TIN) for all tax types (C000XXXXXXX).

On registering a taxable person, the Commissioner-General must notify the person that it has been registered for VAT and must issue a certificate of registration to the taxable person.

Group registration. Ghana allows for group registration where the following conditions are satisfied:

- Each member of the group is a registered corporate body in Ghana and has an established place of business in Ghana.
- One of the group members controls the others in the group, or one company controls all of the members of the group.

Non-established businesses. A “non-established business,” which is a business that does not have a fixed establishment in Ghana, cannot register for VAT purposes in Ghana. A foreign entity is not required to register for VAT unless it has a permanent establishment in Ghana and, in the case of a non-resident entity which provides telecommunication services or electronic commerce services through a VAT-registered agent, who makes taxable supplies of goods and services in Ghana.

VAT on imported goods is generally paid by the importer of record at the point of customs clearance.

Registration procedures. A person who qualifies as a taxable person and meets the registration threshold is required to submit application for registration within 30 days of becoming a registrable person to the Commissioner-General. The person shall complete the requisite VAT form and submit it to the Commissioner-General. The form shall accompany the following documents:

- Certificate of Incorporation issued by the Registrar-General
- Certificate to Commence Business issued by the Registrar-General
- Form 3 and Form 4 issued by the Registrar-General

Late-registration penalties. A person that is not registered but is required to apply to be registered under the VAT Act, is considered to be a taxable person from the beginning of the tax period immediately following the period in which the duty to register arises. A person that fails to apply for registration commits an offense.

A person that fails to register is liable to a penalty of not more than two times the amount of tax on the taxable supplies payable from the time the person is required to apply for registration until the person files an application for registration.

Tax representatives. Ghana provides for the appointment of a representative by a taxpayer. The representative so appointed shall be responsible for payment of any tax payable by the person and take responsibility for other duties of the person. The Commissioner-General, where he deems it necessary, may also declare a person to be a representative of a taxable person.

Where a taxpayer appoints a representative, the appointment shall not relieve the taxpayer from performing any duty which the representative fails to perform.

Reverse charge. The reverse-charge mechanism of accounting for VAT/NHIL is applicable to importation of services into Ghana. A VAT/NHIL registered person that imports services from a non-resident person is required to reverse charge itself to VAT/NHIL at an aggregate rate of 17.5% (i.e., VAT at 15% and NHIL at 2.5%) insofar as the payment exceeds GHC120,000 or part thereof in a quarter.

The output tax charged shall be paid to the Commissioner-General within twenty-one (21) days. The payment shall accompany a service import declaration in a prescribed form stating the details of the import.

The input tax credit can be used to offset output tax for the period when the taxable person files its tax return. Where the input tax exceeds the output tax, the outstanding credit will carry over.

Digital economy. There are no specific rules relating to the digital economy.

Deregistration. A VAT-registered person may apply in writing to the Commissioner-General (CG) for cancellation of registration as a taxable person. The CG may cancel the registration of the person where the CG is satisfied that the taxable person:

- No longer exists
- Is not carrying on a taxable activity
- Is not required or entitled to apply for registration
- Has no fixed place of business or abode
- Has not kept proper accounting records related to a business activity carried on by that person
- Has not submitted regular and reliable tax returns required under the Act

A taxable person who voluntarily registers for VAT can only apply for cancellation of registration after two years of registration as a taxable person.

D. VAT rates

The normal VAT rate in Ghana is 17.5%, which consists of the standard VAT rate of 15%, which took effect 8 January 2014, and the National Health Insurance Levy of 2.5%.

A zero rate (0%) is available for exports.

Examples of goods and services taxable at 0%

- Exports of taxable goods
- Exports of taxable services
- Goods and services supplied to Free Zone Enclaves or a Free Zone Company
- Goods shipped as stores (stocked for own use) on a vessel or aircraft leaving the territories of Ghana

Repealed flat rate scheme. A VAT Flat Rate Scheme (VFRS) of 3% was repealed effective 8 January 2014. However, it is still being applied by some taxable persons, and the Commissioner-General issued a directive authorizing operators that were already using it to continue charging and accounting for VAT as 3% of the taxable value of their supplies until otherwise advised.

No VAT is charged on items that are exempt or fall outside the scope of the VAT.

Examples of exempt supplies of goods and services

- Unprocessed agricultural and aquatic products in their raw state, including agricultural and aquatic food products that undergo preservation such as freezing, chilling, smoking, stripping, polishing, etc.
- Transportation by bus and similar vehicles, and by train or boat
- Medical services
- Agricultural inputs, animals, livestock and poultry
- Transportation of passengers
- Provision of accommodation in a residential property

Option to tax for exempt supplies. Not applicable.

E. Time of supply

In Ghana, the time when VAT becomes due is referred to as the “time of supply” or the “tax point.” The following rules apply to the determination of the time of supply:

- If the goods or services are applied to the taxpayer’s own use, the tax point is the date on which the goods or services are first applied to the taxpayer’s own use.
- If the goods or services are supplied by gift, the tax point is the date on which ownership of the goods passes or the performance of the service is completed.

For all other cases, the time of supply is the earliest of the following events:

- The goods are removed from the taxable person’s premises or from the premises where the goods are under the taxable person’s control.
- The goods are made available to the person to whom they are supplied.
- The services are supplied or rendered.
- Payment is received.
- A tax invoice is issued.

Imports. The time of supply for imported goods is either the date on which customs clear or the date on which the goods leave a bonded warehouse (in the case of goods warehoused without the payment of duty).

F. Recovery of VAT by taxable persons

A taxable person may usually recover input tax incurred on goods and services purchased for business purposes. Input tax is claimed by deducting the input tax credits from output tax, which is VAT charged on taxable supplies. Taxable persons must claim input tax within six months after making an expenditure.

The input VAT credit includes VAT charged on goods and services purchased in Ghana and VAT paid on imports of goods and services.

Non deductible input tax. A taxable person may not usually recover VAT on the purchase of goods and services that are not used exclusively for business purposes. In addition, input tax may not be recovered with respect to certain business expenditure. If necessary, an apportionment of input tax between taxable goods and services and non-taxable goods and services is made.

The following lists provide some examples of items of expenditure for which input tax is not deductible and examples of items for which input tax is deductible if the expenditure is for purposes of making a taxable supply.

Examples of items for which input tax is nondeductible

- The purchase of a motor vehicle or spare parts unless the taxable person is in the business of dealing in or hiring motor vehicles, or selling vehicle spare parts
- Entertainment including restaurants, meals, and hotel expenses, unless the taxable person is in the business of providing entertainment
- A taxable supply to, or an import of goods by, a taxable person partly for business use and partly for personal or other use (the amount of input tax allowed as credit is restricted to that part of the supply that relates to business activity)

Examples of items for which input tax is deductible
(if related to a taxable business use)

- Business expenditure incurred in the production process (for example, VAT paid on material purchased for resale)
- Raw material that is used for production
- Office equipment
- Advertising

Partial exemption. VAT paid that relates directly to goods and services that are exempt is not recoverable. If a registered person makes both exempt and taxable supplies, the VAT incurred in respect of the exempt supply cannot be recovered. This situation is referred to as “partial exemption.”

Section 49 of the VAT Act provides the following rules with respect to partial exemption:

- A taxable person that makes both taxable and exempt supplies may deduct the input tax on its taxable purchases and imports that can be directly attributed only to the taxable supplies made, except that if the fraction is less than 5%, the taxable person may not claim a credit for any input tax for the period.
- Where a taxable person makes both taxable and exempt supplies, but cannot directly attribute the input tax to the taxable and exempt supplies, it may deduct as input tax an amount that bears the same ratio as the taxable supplies bear to the total supplies, applying an apportionment formula provided by the VAT Act.
- If the percentage calculated using the above formula is less than 5%, the taxable person may not claim credit for any input tax for the period.
- If the percentage calculated using the above formula is more than 95%, the taxable person may claim credit for all input tax for the period.

Refunds. Section 50 of the VAT Act provides the following rules regarding refunds and excess VAT credits:

- Where the amount of deductible input tax exceeds the output tax charged, the excess amount is credited by the Commissioner-General to the taxable person, except that, in the case of exports, the Commissioner-General may refund the excess credit to the taxable person if the person's exports exceed 25% of the total supplies within the tax period and the total export proceeds have been repatriated by the importers' bank to the taxable person's authorized dealer banks in Ghana.

- A refund under the conditions mentioned in the item above is made to the taxable person if the excess credit remains outstanding for a continuous period of three months or more.
- Where the amount of input tax deductible in an accounting period exceeds the output tax charged, the taxable person may submit a refund claim form to the Commissioner-General. The completed form shall be accompanied by documented proof of payment of the excess amount.
- Where the taxable person complies with the requirements mentioned above to the satisfaction of the CG, subject to the outcome of the tax audit, the CG may apply the amount of excess credit against any tax liability, interest or penalties and repay any remaining amount to the taxable person within 30 days.
- Where the Commissioner-General fails to make the refund without justification within one month of receipt of the return and claim, the taxable person is entitled to interest at the prevailing Bank of Ghana discount rate plus one-quarter of that rate for each day the refund remains unpaid.

G. Recovery of VAT by nonresidents

Ghana does not have a regime for the recovery of VAT paid by nonresidents leaving the country. Section 13 of the VAT Regulation indicates that refund of VAT charged on goods purchased by a person not resident or domiciled in Ghana for consumption outside Ghana may be authorized by the Commissioner-General subject to such written conditions that the Commissioner-General may impose.

H. Invoicing

VAT invoices. On making a supply of goods and services, a taxable person must issue to the recipient of the goods or services a pre-printed VAT/NHIL invoice in a form prescribed by regulations.

A taxable person that issues VAT invoices must retain copies of them in serial order for inspection by the Ghana Revenue Authority.

The invoice must contain specific information detailed in the VAT Act.

Proof of exports. Exports are zero-rated. All exports must be supported by evidence proving that the goods have left Ghana. The Export Promotion Council requires detailed documentation for exports.

Foreign-currency invoices. Ghana does not have a mandatory rule regarding foreign-currency invoices that have been translated into Ghanaian currency. The general practice is to use the Bank of Ghana (Central Bank) interbank exchange rate prevailing on the date of the transaction for the translation. The tax office may check the exchange rate used to translate the Ghana cedi into the foreign currency or vice versa if some doubt exists. If no doubt exists, the tax office accepts the taxpayer's translation of a foreign-currency-denominated invoice into cedi.

I. VAT returns and payment

VAT returns. VAT returns must be filed on a monthly basis. They are due one month in arrears. Payment is due in full at the same time the returns are filed. A nil return must be filed if no VAT is payable or claimable.

If the normal filing date falls on a public holiday or on a weekend, the VAT return must be filed on the last working day before that day.

Ghana does not yet have an e-filing system, but the administrative procedures for e-filing are currently being prepared. Returns may be filed by mail, but this may not be efficient and may result in delays.

Special schemes. Not applicable.

Electronic filing and archiving. Not applicable.

Annual returns. Not applicable.

J. Penalties

The following penalties are imposed for non-compliance with the VAT regime:

- Failure to register: a penalty of not more than two times the amount of tax on the taxable supplies payable from the time the person is required to apply for registration until the person files an application for registration
- Failure to notify the Commissioner-General of a change in business or apply for cancellation of registration: penalty of GHS1,000 or imprisonment for a term not exceeding five years or both
- Failure to issue a VAT invoice: not more than 100 penalty units (GHS12.00 each) or a term of imprisonment of not more than six months or both
- Making a statement to an officer of the Ghana Revenue Authority that is false or misleading, omitting from a statement any matter or item without which the statement is misleading: a fine not exceeding GHS1,000 or imprisonment for a term not exceeding five years or both where the offense is committed knowingly or recklessly. In any other case, the person shall be liable to a fine not exceeding GHS500 or imprisonment for a term not exceeding one year or both
- Falsification and alteration of documents: a fine of GHS200 but not exceeding GHS1,000 or imprisonment for a term not exceeding five years or both
- Evasion of tax payments: a fine not exceeding three times the tax that is being evaded or imprisonment for a term not exceeding five years or both
- Failure to maintain proper records: a fine not exceeding GHS1,000 or imprisonment for a term not exceeding five years or both where the failure is deliberate or reckless. In all other cases, the person shall be liable to a fine not exceeding GHS500 or imprisonment for a term not exceeding one year or both
- Obstruction of officer of the Ghana Revenue Authority: a fine of not less than GHS50 but not exceeding GHS500 or imprisonment for a term not exceeding one year

Greece

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Athens

GMT +2

EY

8B Chimarras

GR - 151 25, Maroussi, Athens
Greece

Indirect tax contacts

Tassos Anastassiadis	+30 (10) 288-86415 tassos.anastassiadis@gr.ey.com
Nikoleta Merkouri	+30 (10) 288-86572 nikoleta.merkouri@gr.ey.com

New tax laws have been introduced with effect from January 2015, and administrative guidelines are still awaited.

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Value-added tax (VAT)
Local name	Foros prostithemenis aksias (FPA)
Date introduced	1 January 1987
Trading bloc membership	European Union (EU) Member State
Administered by	Ministry of Finance (http://www.minfin.gr/)
VAT rates
Standard	23%
Reduced	6.5%, 13%
Other	Exempt and exempt with credit
VAT number format	EL 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9
VAT return periods
Monthly	Double-entry accounting
Quarterly	Single-entry accounting
Thresholds
Registration	None
Distance selling	EUR35,000
Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses	Yes (for businesses established in Norway, Switzerland or the EU)

B. Scope of the tax

VAT applies to the following transactions:

- The supply of goods or services made in Greece by a taxable person
- Reverse-charge services received by a taxable person in Greece
- The intra-Community acquisition of goods from another EU Member State by a taxable person
- The importation of goods and certain services from outside the EU, regardless of the status of the importer

For VAT purposes, the territory of Greece excludes Mount Athos.

C. Who is liable

A taxable person is any entity or individual that makes taxable supplies of goods or services, intra-Community acquisitions, imports of goods into Greece or distance sales (if the relevant annual threshold is exceeded), in the course of a business in Greece.

Group registration. VAT grouping is not permitted under Greek VAT law. Legal entities that are closely connected should register for VAT individually.

Non-established businesses. A “non-established business” is a business that does not have an establishment in Greece. A foreign or non-established business should register for VAT in Greece if it engages in any of the following taxable activities:

- Supply of goods that are located in Greece at the time of supply
- Intra-Community acquisitions
- Distance sales in excess of the annual threshold (EUR35,000)
- Imports
- Services to which the reverse charge does not apply

The reverse charge generally applies to supplies made by non-established businesses to taxable persons. Under this measure, the taxable person that receives the supply should account for the Greek VAT due. If the reverse charge applies, the non-established business is not required to register for Greek VAT.

The reverse charge does not apply to supplies of goods or services made to private persons.

Tax representatives. A foreign business, non-established and non-registered in Greece, should obtain a Greek VAT registration number before making taxable supplies in Greece.

In general, a non-EU business must appoint a tax representative, called locally a VAT fiscal representative, to register for VAT. (An exemption applies for registration under the non-Union scheme of MOSS.) The VAT fiscal representative should be given, among other documents required by law, a power of attorney to act on behalf of the non-established business.

The VAT fiscal representative should be appointed and registration obtained before the non-established business begins to make taxable supplies. The VAT fiscal representative may be any person engaged by the business who is resident and VAT liable in Greece, such as a legal entity or an accountant. The VAT fiscal representative is jointly liable for VAT debts with the foreign business that it represents.

An EU business is not required to appoint a VAT fiscal representative to register for VAT in Greece but may opt to do so. If a VAT fiscal representative is appointed at the foreign EU business’s option, such VAT representative undertakes compliance procedures and may be held jointly liable for VAT debts of the foreign EU business.

Registration procedures. Businesses established in the EU that are required to register locally in Greece can do so and obtain a Greek VAT registration number:

- Directly by applying electronically in a simplified process aimed at EU businesses with no prior registration or establishment in Greece, in which case the appointment of a VAT fiscal representative is not required

- By filing in hard copy an application form along with all required documents — including a memorandum of association and a certificate of taxable status, among others — and by appointing locally a VAT fiscal representative

Businesses established outside the EU that are required to register locally for VAT purposes in Greece are required to appoint a local VAT fiscal representative. No electronic registration is available.

In some cases the appropriate local tax office shall not grant the requested Greek VAT registration number to the applicant (foreign business), for example, if the business had already obtained a Greek VAT registration number.

Special registration procedures apply under the Mini One-Stop Shop (MOSS) scheme (see below).

Late-registration penalties. Not applicable.

Reverse charge. In general, VAT due on cross-border business-to-business supplies of services shall be due at the place where the customer is situated. Where the reverse-charge procedure applies, the Greek recipient must act as both supplier and recipient of the services for VAT purposes. That is, the Greek customer should account for both output and input VAT on the VAT return.

For cross-border business-to-consumer supplies of services, the place of taxation continues to be the place where the supplier is established. However, in certain circumstances, the general rules for both businesses and consumers shall not be applicable, and specified rules shall continue to apply to reflect the principle of taxation at the place of consumption. These exemptions apply to many services including those related to real estate property located in Greece; restaurant services; the hiring of means of transport; cultural, sporting, scientific and educational services; and business-to-consumer supplies of telecommunications, broadcasting and electronic services.

VAT law provides a use-and-enjoyment rule for the following services to customers established outside the European Union:

- Short-term lease of means of transport
- Telecommunication services or electronically supplied services or radio or television broadcasting services provided on a business-to-consumer basis
- Lease of movable goods provided on a business-to-consumer basis

In such cases, the place of taxation shifts back to Greece when the use and enjoyment of the services takes place in Greece.

Domestic reverse charge. Domestic reverse charge applies in case of supplies of scrap, recyclable goods and gas emission rights pursuant to Article 39a of the Greek VAT Code on certain conditions.

Moreover, a domestic reverse-charge mechanism has been introduced for construction works on real estate provided by private contractors to local municipalities or other public bodies, where the latter are acting as taxable persons for VAT purposes. In some of these cases, no Greek VAT is charged on the invoice issued by the private contractor (supplier) to the municipality or other public body, and the supplier is not required to account for VAT but is required to indicate on the invoice a special wording indicating application of this regime as follows: “Article 39A of the Greek VAT Code - domestic reverse charge.” The supplier has a full right to deduct input VAT incurred in relation to such supplies.

Digital economy. As of January 2015, the place of supply of telecommunication, broadcasting and electronically provided services to non-taxable persons (B2C) is where the customer is established.

Mini One-Stop Shop (MOSS). The Mini One-Stop Shop scheme (MOSS) is officially in force in Greece as of 1 January 2015, allowing suppliers of telecommunication, broadcasting and electronic services to consumers in Member States, where they have no establishment for VAT purposes, to pay the VAT due on such services via an online portal in the Member State where they are registered for tax purposes.

Such suppliers may elect to get registered in Greece on the basis of the MOSS scheme and on the basis of the relevant requirements and procedure, since both the Union scheme and the non-Union scheme have been enacted locally. A special registration form is used for MOSS registration purposes. Greece has implemented the provisions of Directive 2008/8/EE, according to which the place of supply of the telecommunication services or electronically supplied services or radio or television broadcasting services to a nontaxable person shall be the place where that person is established, has his permanent address or usually resides.

Deregistration. A taxable person that ceases to be required to account for Greek VAT may opt to deregister. If such taxable person is not deregistered, he must continue complying with all relevant filing obligations.

D. VAT rates

The term “taxable supplies” refers to supplies of goods and services that are liable to a rate of VAT.

In Greece, the VAT rate depends on where the supply is made. In the Cyclades, Dodecanese and the Sporades, as well as certain Aegean Islands, the standard rate is 16%. The reduced rates in these areas are 9% and 5%. In the remaining territory of Greece, the standard rate is 23%, and the reduced rates are 13% and 6.5%.

The standard rate of VAT applies to all supplies of goods or services, unless a specific measure allows a reduced rate or exemption.

Examples of goods and services taxable at 13% (9% in certain islands)

- Foodstuffs

Examples of goods and services taxable at 6.5% (5% in certain islands)

- Books
- Newspapers

- Magazines
- Hotel accommodation services

The term “exempt supplies” refers to supplies of goods and services that are not liable to tax and that do not give rise to a right of input tax deduction (see Section F).

Some supplies are classified as “exempt with credit,” which means that no VAT is chargeable, but the supplier may recover related input tax. Exempt-with-credit supplies include exports of goods outside the EU and related services, as well as intra-Community supplies of goods and intangible services supplied to a taxable person established in the EU or to any recipient outside the EU.

Examples of exempt supplies of goods and services

- Postal services
- Finance
- Insurance
- Sales and rental of immovable property
- Medical services supplied by public law and other not-for-profit organizations
- Healthcare
- Education

Option to tax for exempt supplies. Optionally, commercial lease of real estate may be subject to VAT instead of stamp duty, upon mutual agreement of the lessor and the lessee. The lessor must submit a specific request to the appropriate tax office before the commencement of the lease.

E. Time of supply

The time when VAT becomes due is called the “time of supply” or “tax point.”

Goods. The basic time of supply for goods is when the goods are put at the purchaser’s disposal. If the supplier undertakes the obligation to forward the goods to the buyer, the time of supply is at the beginning of the transportation. For installed goods, the time of supply is when installation is completed. If the supplier issues an invoice before the basic time of supply, the time of supply becomes the invoice date.

Services. In general, the time of supply for services is when they are performed. If the supplier issues an invoice before the basic time of supply, the time of supply is the invoice date.

Prepayments. Payments received before the supply of goods or services or the issuance of a VAT invoice are known as advance payments. Advance payments do not generally create a tax point (they create a tax point only in the event of an intra-Community supply of services).

Intra-Community acquisitions of goods. For intra-Community acquisitions, the time of supply is when the goods are put at the purchaser’s disposal. If the supplier undertakes the obligation to forward the goods to the buyer, the time of supply is the beginning of the transportation. VAT is due on the issuance of an invoice, or by the 15th day of the month following the month in which the supply took place, whichever is the earlier.

Imported goods. The time of supply for an importation is when the importation occurs or when the goods leave a duty suspension regime.

Cash accounting. As of 1 October 2014 a “cash accounting system” has been introduced in Greece for local taxable (VATable) supplies of goods or services and is aimed at businesses with an annual turnover not exceeding the EUR500,000 threshold.

Application of this regime is only optional and can be activated after filing an application to the tax authority before the beginning of the fiscal year concerned. For businesses registered under this new regime:

- Output VAT shall become due upon collection of the consideration or part thereof
- Input VAT incurred in relation to supplies of goods or services is deductible at the time when the taxable person (supplier) receives payment of consideration or a part thereof from the recipient of the goods or services.

The recipients of goods and services supplied by taxable persons, who have opted for this scheme, exercise their right to deduct the respective input VAT upon payment of the consideration to the taxable person (supplier). The tax records issued by entities applying this scheme should indicate the following: “Cash accounting scheme: Article 226.7a Directive 200/112/EC - Article 39B VAT Code.” Issuance of a special record for prepayments is provided for, in cases of prepayments’ collection in the context of special scheme’s transactions.

Continuous supplies of services. If services are provided continuously, an invoice must be issued at any time an amount is considered payable and no later than the end of the respective fiscal year.

Intra-Community supplies of goods. For intra-Community acquisitions, the time of supply is when the goods are put at the purchaser’s disposal. If the seller undertakes the obligation to forward the goods to the buyer, the time of supply coincides with the beginning of the transportation. VAT is due upon the issuance of the respective invoice, and at the latest on the 15th day of the month following the one on which the supply was effected.

F. Recovery of VAT by taxable persons

A taxable person may recover input tax, which is VAT charged on goods and services supplied to it for business purposes. A taxable person generally recovers input tax deducting it from output tax, which is VAT charged on supplies made.

Input tax includes VAT charged on goods and services supplied within Greece, VAT paid on imports of goods and VAT self-assessed on the intra-Community acquisition of goods and reverse-charge services.

A valid tax invoice or customs document should generally accompany a claim for input tax.

Nondeductible input tax. Input tax may not be recovered on purchases of goods and services that are not used for business purposes (for example, goods acquired for private use). In addition, input tax may not be recovered for some items of business expenditure.

The following lists provide some examples of items of expenditure for which input tax is not deductible and examples of items for which input tax is deductible if the expenditure is related to a taxable business use.

Examples of items for which input tax is nondeductible

- Hotel accommodation
- Business gifts valued at more than EUR10
- Lease, purchase, hire and maintenance of cars
- Fuel for cars
- Business entertainment
- Home telephone bills
- Taxis
- Public transport
- Food, drink and tobacco

Examples of items for which input tax is deductible
(if related to a taxable business use)

- Books
- Attending conferences and seminars
- Lease, purchase, hire and maintenance of vans and trucks
- Fuel for vans and trucks
- Mobile telephones
- Utilities

Partial exemption. Input tax directly related to making exempt supplies is not generally recoverable. If a Greek taxable person makes both exempt and taxable supplies, it may not recover input tax in full. This situation is referred to as “partial exemption.” Exempt with credit supplies are treated as taxable supplies for these purposes.

The amount of input tax that may be recovered is calculated in the following two stages:

- The first stage identifies the input VAT that may be directly allocated to taxable supplies and exempt supplies. Input tax directly allocated to taxable supplies is deductible, while input tax directly related to exempt supplies is not deductible.
- The second stage identifies the amount of the remaining input tax (for example, on general business overhead) that may be allocated to taxable supplies and recovered. The calculation is based on the value of taxable supplies made compared with total turnover. The partial exemption recovery percentage is rounded up to the nearest whole number (for example, a recovery percentage of 75.1% is rounded up to 76%).

Capital goods. Capital goods are items of capital expenditure that are used in a business over several years. Input tax is generally deducted in the VAT year in which the goods are acquired. The amount of input tax recovered depends on the taxable person’s partial exemption recovery position in the VAT year of acquisition. However, the amount of input tax recovered for capital goods should be adjusted over time if the taxable person’s partial exemption recovery percentage changes during the adjustment period.

In Greece, the capital goods adjustment applies to the following assets for a period of five years:

- Land and buildings
- Other movable capital assets and certain intangible goods

In the tax period of first use, the input VAT is deducted according to whether and to what extent the goods are used for taxable activities. One fifth of the total input VAT is attributed to each year of the adjustment period. At the end of each year, an adjustment of the input VAT has to be made according to the use of the goods (exempt/taxable) in that particular year. When the use of the goods in an adjustment year has changed compared to the use of the goods in the tax period of first use, part of the input VAT must be paid to or can be recovered from the authorities.

The final input VAT adjustment is performed on the basis of the overall data of the fiscal year, derived from the respective VAT returns.

The obligation to remit VAT is abolished if the amount of output VAT due in capital goods' supplies that occur during the adjustment monitoring period is lower than the VAT corresponding to the remaining years of this period.

Refunds. If the amount of input tax recoverable in a period exceeds the amount of output tax payable in that period, the taxable person has an input tax credit. If a VAT return results in an input VAT credit, the amount may be carried forward to offset output VAT payable in subsequent periods. Alternatively, the VAT return may be accompanied by a request for a refund.

Theoretically, a tax audit is not a prerequisite for the refund. However, under certain circumstances, a taxable person may be selected for a tax audit prior to the refund, based on a risk analysis method performed by the Directorate of the Ministry of Finance.

Preregistration costs. Not applicable.

Write-off of bad debts. As a general rule, no adjustment can be made concerning bad debts. Any amount of VAT charged must be paid to the Greek State, even if it has not been collected by the taxable person from their customer. As an exception to this general rule, relief could theoretically be provided for the supplier upon the tax authority's approval in case the customer has been subject to a special 'winding-up' or 'liquidation' process provided by domestic Greek legislation and provided that a court order has been issued beforehand; however, this exception has rarely been applied in practice.

Noneconomic activities. Not applicable.

G. Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses

Greece refunds VAT incurred by EU businesses that are neither established in Greece nor registered for VAT there. Refund is made under the terms of the EU Directives 2006/112/EC and 2008/9/EC. Greece does not yet refund VAT under the terms of the EU 13th Directive (Directive 86/560/EEC) to businesses established outside the EU, with the exception of businesses established in Norway and Switzerland. A Norwegian, Swiss or EU business may claim Greek VAT refunds to the same extent as a Greek taxable person.

Refund application. Greece has incorporated into its VAT law the provisions of EU Directive 2008/9/EC, which provides detailed rules for the refund of value-added tax, provided for in EU Directive 2006/112/EC, to taxable persons not established in Greece but established in another EU Member State. These measures took effect on 1 January 2010 and applied for the first time to refund claims of foreign businesses with respect to Greek VAT incurred in 2009. In accordance with EU Directive 2008/9/EC, VAT refund applications should be submitted electronically.

According to the guidelines issued by the Greek VAT authorities on the procedure for the 8th VAT Directive rules, the refund application should be submitted by 30 September of the calendar year following the refund period. Claims should be submitted electronically in either Greek or English and should be accompanied by scanned copies of relevant invoices placed in an electronic archive or file. The refund period should be no longer than one calendar year (the minimum VAT claim amount is EUR50) or less than three calendar months (the minimum VAT claim amount is EUR400). The appropriate Greek authority for this purpose is the following:

The Hellenic Republic
Ministry of Finance, VAT Division
Directorate of VAT Administration and Resources
Sina 2-4
10672 Athens
Greece

Repayment interest. If the refund application is approved, refund of the approved amount should be paid within 10 working days after the expiration of the deadline to respond. Interest is payable to the applicant on the amount of the refund to be paid if the refund is paid after the last date for payment. Interest due is calculated according to the rules applicable for payment of default interest to Greek taxable persons.

H. Invoicing

VAT invoices and credit notes. A taxable person should generally provide a VAT invoice for all taxable supplies made, including exports and intra-Community supplies. For retail transactions, retail receipts should be issued. A document qualifies as a valid invoice if it complies with requirements set out in the Greek law (Greek Transactions' Tax Reporting Code).

A valid original VAT invoice is required to support a claim for input tax deduction or a refund under the EU 8th Directive refund scheme. Invoices should comply with requirements in the Greek Transactions' Tax Reporting Code to qualify as valid evidence to support input tax deductions.

A VAT credit note may be used to reduce the VAT charged and reclaimed on a supply. A credit note should be cross-referenced to the original VAT invoice.

Proof of exports and intra-Community supplies. VAT is not chargeable on supplies of exported goods or on intra-Community supplies of goods. However, to qualify as VAT-free, exports and intra-Community supplies should be supported by evidence confirming that the goods have left Greece. Acceptable proof includes the following documentation:

- For an export, copies of the export document, officially validated by customs and showing the supplier as the exporter, and the bill of lading issued by the transporter
- For an intra-Community supply, a range of commercial documentation, such as dispatch notes, the bill of lading and proof of payment

Foreign-currency invoices. If an invoice is received in a foreign currency, the amounts should be converted into euros. The exchange rate to be used is issued by the Ministry of Finance. An invoice may be issued in foreign currency if Greece is the place of supply of goods or services and if the amount of VAT payable is indicated in euros.

B2C invoices. Effective 1 January 2015, new rules apply to the place of supply for supplies of telecommunications, broadcasting and electronic services to non-VAT taxable customers. For further details of the VAT rules on electronic services in the EU, please refer to the European Union chapter.

I. VAT returns and payment

VAT returns. Greek periodic VAT returns are submitted:

- Monthly if the taxable person maintains double entry accounting books
- Quarterly if the taxable person maintains single entry accounting books.

For fiscal years ending after 1 January 2014, the requirement to file annual VAT returns has been abolished.

In principle, filing of VAT returns and full payment of the VAT due should be made by the last business day of the month following the end of the return period. However, in the case of VAT returns filed in time, taxpayers have the option of paying the VAT due in two equal installments. If they choose installments, the first installment is due by the last business day of the month during which the VAT return was submitted, and the second installment is due by the last business day of the following month.

No VAT return is required if a taxable person has suspended its business activity and has declared such suspension with the appropriate tax office.

As a general rule, it is mandatory to file VAT returns electronically.

Special schemes. Taxable persons whose turnover exclusive of VAT during the previous fiscal year did not exceed the EUR10,000 threshold are exempted from the obligation to file VAT returns and from VAT payment, provided that they apply for and are registered as “small enterprises falling under the regime of Article 39 of Greek VAT Code.”

This exemption shall not apply to special scheme farmers, non-established taxable persons or supplies of new means of transport (Art. 28 par. 1b of the Greek VAT Code).

Application of this special regime requires filing of a relevant declaration to the tax office registry, which cannot be revoked during the following two years.

Tax records issued by these enterprises are issued with no VAT and must display prominently: “Without VAT: special scheme for small enterprises.” Taxable persons under this special scheme have no right to deduct input VAT.

If the turnover of the above taxable persons exceeds the EUR10,000 threshold after they have been registered as above as small enterprises, then they would mandatorily fall back to the standard VAT regime with effect as of the following fiscal year.

J. Penalties

Penalties are charged for late or inaccurate VAT returns and for the failure to file VAT returns, as follows:

Procedural violation penalties in the EUR100 – EUR500 range may be imposed for late or inaccurate VAT return or for failure to file a VAT return.

Further to the above penalties, additional surcharges are imposed for late payment of VAT due as follows:

- Where the VAT due is paid to the Greek State after the lapse of two months following the payment deadline, a penalty is imposed amounting to 10% of the tax due.
- Where the VAT due is paid to the Greek State after the lapse of one year following the payment deadline, a penalty is imposed amounting to 20% of the tax due.
- Where the VAT due is paid to the Greek State after the lapse of two years following the payment deadline, a penalty is imposed amounting to 30% of the tax due.

In cases of inaccurate VAT returns, whereby VAT due is understated in comparison to the amount assessed by the Tax Authorities, additional surcharges are imposed as follows:

- Where the difference in VAT ranges from 5% to 20% of the VAT due based on the inaccurate VAT return, additional tax is imposed at a rate of 10%.
- Where the difference in VAT ranges from 21% to 50% of the VAT due based on the inaccurate VAT return, additional tax is imposed at a rate of 20%.
- Where the difference in VAT exceeds 51% of the VAT due based on the inaccurate VAT return, additional tax is imposed at a rate of 100%.

In cases of failure to file a VAT return, a penalty equal to the VAT amount of the unaccounted VAT is imposed.

Finally, in cases of late payment, inaccurate underpayment or non-payment of VAT, the taxpayer is obliged to pay interest in arrears calculated on this amount on a monthly basis for the time period from the end of the payment deadline until the date of the payment.

K. EU filings

Intrastat. A Greek taxable person that trades with other EU countries should complete statistical reports, known as Intrastat, if the value of its intra-Community sales or purchases exceeds certain thresholds. Separate reports are used for intra-Community acquisitions (Intrastat Arrivals) and intra-Community supplies (Intrastat Dispatches).

For 2015, the threshold for Intrastat Arrivals is EUR100,000.

For 2015, the threshold for Intrastat Dispatches is EUR90,000.

The Intrastat return is filed electronically on a monthly basis. The submission deadline is the last day of the month following the end of the Intrastat return period.

A penalty amounting to EUR100 may be incurred for inaccurate or late or missing Intrastat returns.

EC Listings. EC Listings for cross-border supplies of both goods and services within the EU performed on or after 1 January 2010 are filed on a monthly basis. Separate forms should be filed for intra-Community dispatches (sales or supplies of services or goods) and for intra-Community acquisitions or receipt of services. In principle, EC Listings should be filed electronically through TAXISnet (that is, the electronic application of the Greek Ministry of Finance) by the 26th day of the month following the reporting period. It is not necessary to file nil EC Listings for a month in which no intra-Community transactions take place. EC Listings should include business-to-business (B2B) services supplied on a cross-border basis only if these services are taxable in the country of the recipient. On the contrary, EC Listings should not include services that are exempt from VAT in the country of the recipient business. Taxable persons required to file EC Listings should verify through the VAT Information Exchange System (VIES) the VAT identification number of their customers before engaging in intra-Community transactions.

A penalty amounting to EUR100 may be incurred for inaccurate or late or missing EC Listings.

Guatemala

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Guatemala City

GMT -6

EY

5th Avenue 5-55, Zone 14
EuroPlaza World Business Center
Tower I
Penthouse I, 19th and 20th Floors
Guatemala City
Guatemala

Please direct all inquiries regarding Guatemala to the persons listed below in EY's Costa Rica office.

Indirect tax contacts

Rafael Sayagués (resident in San José, Costa Rica)	New York:	+506 2208-9880 +1 (212) 773-4761 rafael.sayagues@cr.ey.com
Juan Carlos Chavarría (resident in San José, Costa Rica)		+506 2208-9844 juan-carlos.chavarría@cr.ey.com
Antonio Ruiz (resident in San José, Costa Rica)		+506 2208-9822 antonio.ruiz@cr.ey.com
Luis Eduardo Ocando B. (resident in Panama)		+507 208-0144 luis.ocando@pa.ey.com

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Value-added tax (VAT)
Local name	Impuesto al valor agregado (IVA)
Date introduced	1 July 1992
Trading bloc membership	None that affect VAT
Administered by	Tax Administration Superintendence (SAT) (http://www.sat.gob.gt)
VAT rates
Standard	12%
Reduced	5% on gross sales for small taxpayers with annual turnover of less than GTQ150,000 (no input tax recovery)
Other	Exempt, zero-rated, and a fixed amount on used vehicles
VAT number format	Tax identification number (NIT)
VAT return periods	Monthly
Thresholds
Registration	None
Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses	No

B. Scope of the tax

VAT applies to the following transactions:

- The sale or exchange of movable goods or rights derived from movable goods
- The rendering of services within Guatemala
- Imports
- Leasing of movable and immovable property
- The award (transfer) of movable and immovable goods as a payment
- Consumption by the taxpayer and consumption by the employees, executives, directors and shareholders of a company or their family members
- Certain shortages of inventory such as those derived from missing goods (for example, shrinkage) or damaged goods
- The first sale or exchange of immovable assets
- Certain donations
- Contributions of immovable property to legal entities if the assets have been previously contributed to a real estate entity

C. Who is liable

Any business entity or self-employed individual that carries out taxable activities on a regular or periodic basis must register for VAT. Taxable persons whose annual turnover does not exceed GTQ150,000 (approximately USD19,659) may elect to be taxed under a simplified VAT regime.

Group registration. VAT grouping of separate legal entities is not allowed in Guatemala. Legal entities that are closely connected must register for VAT separately.

Small taxpayers. Small taxpayers with annual turnover of up to GTQ150,000 (approximately USD19,659) may apply for a simplified regime. Under the simplified regime, taxpayers pay tax at a rate of 5% based on their gross taxable sales without a right to credit or deduct VAT input tax (see Section F). Small taxpayers will be subject to VAT withholding when engaging in commercial activities with VAT withholding agents. In all cases where VAT is not withheld, small taxpayers must declare and pay the VAT within the next calendar month. In addition, taxpayers operating under this regime are exempt and shall neither declare nor pay income tax.

Non-established businesses and tax representatives. A “non-established business” is a business that has no fixed establishment in Guatemala. A non-established business must register for VAT if it supplies goods or services in Guatemala. To register for VAT, a non-established business must take the following actions:

- Appoint a tax representative
- Provide the tax authorities with a copy of its Articles of Incorporation, legalized by a Guatemalan consulate, together with an official translation in Spanish Reverse charge. If a non-domiciled individual renders an occasional, temporary service in Guatemala (or performs another taxable activity) without being registered for VAT, the local beneficiary of the service may be able to issue a “special invoice” for VAT withholding.

Large taxpayers may be designated as VAT withholding agents for payments made relating to the acquisition of goods and services. This measure also applies to other special taxpayers expressly qualified as withholding agents (for example, exporters, government entities, and credit card operators). VAT withholding generally applies to the following (certain exemptions regarding minimum amounts may apply):

- Regular exporters (minimum monthly average exports of GTQ100,000 [approximately USD13,106]): 65% of VAT generated from the purchase of agricultural and cattle products, and 15% of VAT generated for other acquisitions
- Drawback entities: 65% of the VAT generated
- Government entities (excluding municipalities): 25% of the VAT generated
- Credit and debit card operators: 15% of the VAT generated on transactions carried out by affiliated entities
- Gas stations: 1.5% withholding on the gross amount of acquisitions of gasoline
- Special taxpayers: 15% of the VAT generated
- Other withholding agents: 15% of the VAT generated

In principle, the VAT withholding mechanism does not apply to transactions between withholding agents, unless the acquisition is made by credit or debit card (in such case, the taxpayer applies the VAT withholding as described above).

Registration procedures. The VAT registration process varies for entities that are newly incorporated or are branches of entities incorporated abroad.

Newly incorporated legal entities. Registration before the tax authorities should be performed simultaneously to registration before the Mercantile Registry. The tax ID certificate should be issued along with the certificate of registration. This process should be carried out directly by the notary public engaged for the incorporation of the entity, either in person at the Mercantile Registry or electronically through the following website: <https://minegocio.gt/>. A tax ID number should be assigned once the new entity has been registered, a process that takes approximately five business days once a complete application has been filed.

Branches of entities incorporated abroad. Registration should be carried out directly at one of the agencies authorized by the tax authorities. The following documents are required:

- ID of a legal representative of the company
- Document that proves the individual's authority to represent the company
- Notarized copy of the articles of incorporation of the company
- Utility invoice (water, electricity or phone services) from the registered fiscal and business address

Whenever the information in these documents or any information that is part of the VAT registration changes, the taxpayer must amend its registration within 30 days.

Late-registration penalties. A taxpayer that fails to register for VAT on a timely basis cannot offset VAT credits generated from purchases that are included in inventory at the time of registration.

The tax authorities may impose penalties and interest for late VAT registration.

Digital economy. There are no specific rules regarding the taxation of digital economy for VAT purposes. The general taxable events indicated in Section B should be observed whether or not they are transacted by digital means.

Deregistration. Taxpayers that will no longer develop commercial activities in Guatemala should, after the legal procedure to liquidate the entity has been completed, deregister for VAT purposes by filing form SAT-2175 and any other required documentation with the tax authorities.

D. VAT rates

In Guatemala, the standard VAT rate is 12%. The standard rate applies to the supply of all goods or services, unless a specific measure allows an exemption. A 5% rate on gross sales applies to small taxpayers, which are those with annual turnover of less than GTQ150,000 (approximately USD19,659). Under this scheme, no input tax recovery is permitted.

The 12% VAT rate applies to sales of vehicles and motorcycles when the transaction and the model of the vehicle or motorcycle corresponds to one of the following:

- The current year
- The year prior to the current year
- The year following the current year

For used vehicles, including motorcycles, a fixed amount of VAT applies ranging from GTQ200 to GTQ1,000 (approximately USD25 to USD125), depending on the year of manufacture.

The first registered sale of a real estate property is subject to 12% VAT but no stamp tax; the second and subsequent sales are exempt from VAT but subject to a 3% stamp tax.

Exports of goods and services are zero-rated (taxed at a 0% rate) which makes input VAT recoverable (see Section F).

In addition to supplies that are subject to tax, some supplies are exempt, which means input VAT is not recoverable.

Examples of exempt supplies of goods and services

- Transfer of assets in a merger
- In-kind contributions of movable property to a legal entity
- In-kind contributions of immovable property if the property had not been previously contributed to a real estate entity
- Supplies by cooperatives to their members
- Low-value retail sales of meat, fish, seafood or shellfish, fresh fruits and vegetables, cereals and basic grains in cantonal and municipal markets with a maximum sale value of GTQ100 (approximately USD13)
- Certain financial services
- Education
- Certain insurance and reinsurance transactions

Option to tax for exempt supplies. Not applicable.

E. Time of supply

The time when the taxable event is considered to be completed and VAT becomes due is called the “tax point.” For a supply or exchange of goods, the tax point is the earlier of the issuance of the invoice or the delivery of goods. For a supply of services, the tax point is when the invoice, receipt or other document related to the transaction is issued. If no invoice is issued, the tax point is at the time of payment.

Leasing and continuous supplies of services. For leasing and a continuous supply of services for which the customer pays periodically, the tax point is the due date for each periodic payment.

Imported goods. The time of supply for imported goods is when the goods clear all customs formalities for importation.

Other tax points. The tax point for insurance and bonds is when the premiums or quotas are received, and for shortages of inventory, it is when the shortage is discovered.

F. Recovery of VAT by taxable persons

A taxable person may recover input tax. Input tax is VAT paid on the purchase of goods and services used to generate other goods and services subject to tax. Input tax is generally credited against output tax, which is VAT charged or collected on the sale of goods and the rendering of services. To deduct or credit input tax, certain conditions must be met. Input tax may be deducted or credited in the month when the invoice is received or in the following two months.

In general, input tax paid on imports or purchases of goods and services is creditable when directly related to the taxpayer's business activity.

A valid tax invoice or customs document must generally accompany a claim for an input tax credit. Purchases supported by invoices issued by small taxpayers do not generate input tax credits.

Payments in excess of GTQ30,000 (approximately USD3,759) must be made through the banking system or using a deed from a notary public in which the payer and the beneficiary are clearly identified.

Nondeductible input tax. Input tax may not be recovered on imports or purchases of fixed assets not directly related to the taxpayer's business activity.

Examples of items for which input tax is nondeductible

- Items (expenses or purchases) without proper supporting documentation
- Items (expenses or purchases) not registered in the VAT purchases book

Examples of items for which input tax is deductible (if related to a taxable business use)

- Any item that is related to the taxpayer's taxable business activities, which is duly documented with the proper legal documents that comply with local requirements, provided the purchase has been included in the VAT purchases book, the balance of the tax credit has been registered in the accounting books as an account receivable, and the payment for the purchase has been made through a financial/banking institution.

Refunds. If the amount of input VAT recoverable in a month exceeds the amount of output VAT payable, the taxpayer obtains an input VAT credit. The credit may be carried forward to offset output tax in subsequent VAT periods.

Qualified exporters may claim a refund of VAT paid on inputs. The Bank of Guatemala (central bank) maintains a registry of qualified exporters.

To qualify for the registry of exporters, the taxpayer must provide the Bank of Guatemala with documents that prove it satisfies one of the following conditions:

- It exports 50% or more of its gross sales.
- It exports less than 50% of its gross sales, but it is not able to fully offset its input tax credit related to its exports against its output tax generated from domestic supplies.

Taxpayers registered as exporters may file a refund request with the Bank of Guatemala within 30 business days following the end of the period for which the refund is claimed. No refunds are granted for amounts of up to GTQ10,000 (approximately USD1,310). For refund requests greater than GTQ10,000, the Bank of Guatemala partially refunds the VAT paid by exporters in the following percentages:

- 75% of refund amounts of up to GTQ500,000 (approximately USD65,530)
- 60% of refund amounts greater than GTQ500,000

The remaining 25% or 40% is carried forward to the future periods, or the exporter may request a refund directly from the tax authorities.

Qualified taxpayers may also request VAT refunds based on an opinion issued by a registered certified public accountant.

A nonqualified exporter may request a 100% VAT refund from the tax authorities directly if the exporter is not able to credit VAT on inputs against VAT on outputs.

Partial exemption. Not applicable.

Preregistration costs. Not applicable.

G. Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses

Guatemala does not refund VAT incurred by foreign or non-established businesses unless they are registered as Guatemalan VAT taxpayers.

H. Invoicing

VAT invoices, credit notes and debit notes. A taxable person must generally provide a VAT invoice for all taxable supplies made. VAT invoices, credit notes and debit notes must be authorized by the tax authorities. An invoice is generally necessary to support a claim for an input tax credit. If the nature of the business makes it impractical for a taxpayer to issue tax invoices, the tax authorities may authorize the use of cash registers and other computerized systems to issue receipts instead of invoices.

A VAT debit note must be used to increase the VAT chargeable if the value of a supply increases for any reason. A VAT credit note must be used to reduce the VAT charged and claimed on a supply if the value is reduced for any reason (for example, the granting of a discount, a change in the price or a return of the goods). A debit note or credit note must include the same information as a tax invoice.

Companies and individuals qualified by the tax authorities as Special Contributors must register as Authorized Issuers of Electronic Invoices (Emisores de Facturas Electrónicas, or EFACE) with the tax authorities. Accordingly, as of March 2013, they must issue their invoices through electronic means (Facturación Electrónica, or FACE).

Exports. Exports of goods and services are zero-rated. However, to qualify as zero-rated, exports must be supported by customs documents that give evidence of the outbound process. Suitable evidence also includes export invoices and bills of lading.

Foreign-currency invoices. VAT invoices must be issued either in Guatemalan quetzals (GTQ) or in US dollars (USD). However, invoices issued in US dollars must show the exchange rate used on the date of the transaction.

I. VAT returns and payment

VAT returns. VAT returns are generally submitted monthly. VAT due must be paid in full by the end of the month following the month in which the return is submitted.

Special schemes. None.

Electronic filing and archiving. Tax forms should be prepared and filed online at the following website: <https://declaraguatate.sat.gob.gt/declaraguatate-web/>. Once the tax returns are filed, the payment can be made either through an online banking system tool named “Bancasat” or physically through authorized banks.

Annual returns. There are no annual VAT returns.

J. Penalties

Non-payment of VAT results in a penalty equal to 100% of the unpaid amount. If the penalty is paid voluntarily by the date required by the VAT authorities, the penalty is reduced to 50%.

Violation of formal duties. The late filing of VAT returns is subject to a penalty ranging from GTQ50 (approximately USD6.54) per day, up to a maximum of GTQ1,000 (approximately USD130). If the return is filed voluntarily, the late-filing penalty may be reduced to 85% of the original amount.

Tax fraud. Tax fraud occurs when information has been altered in a manner that causes the tax authorities to incorrectly compute the amount of tax due. The penalty consists of 100% of the amount of the tax plus imprisonment from one to six years.

The tax fraud penalty may not be imposed together with penalties for late payment.

Honduras

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Please direct all inquiries regarding Honduras to the persons listed below in EY's Costa Rica office.

San Pedro Sula

GMT -6

EY

Boulevard Armenta, Km 2, N.O.
Altia Business Park Tower 1
San Pedro Sula
Honduras

Tegucigalpa

GMT -6

EY

Avenida París y Calle Viena
Lomas del Guijarro Sur
Edificio Plaza Azul
Tegucigalpa
Honduras

Indirect tax contacts

Rafael Sayagués (resident in San José, Costa Rica)	New York: +506 2208-9880 +1 (212) 773-4761 rafael.sayagues@cr.ey.com
Juan Carlos Chavarría (resident in San José, Costa Rica)	+506 2208-9844 juan-carlos.chavarria@cr.ey.com
Antonio Ruiz (resident in San José, Costa Rica)	+506 2208-9822 antonio.ruiz@cr.ey.com
Luis Eduardo Ocando B. (resident in Panama)	+507 208-0144 luis.ocando@pa.ey.com

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Value-added tax (VAT) or sales tax
Local name	Impuesto sobre Ventas
Date introduced	1 January 1964
Trading bloc membership	None that relate to VAT
Administered by	Finance Secretary (http://www.dei.gob.hn)
VAT rates
Standard	15%
Other	18% and exempt
VAT number format	National Tax Registry number (RTN)
VAT return periods	Monthly VAT return if taxable turnover exceeds HNL250,000 (approximately USD11,652); separate monthly withholding returns and annual informational return if taxpayer defined in Official Gazette as large or medium-sized taxpayer

Thresholds
Registration	None
Exemption from VAT filing	Annual taxable turnover below HNL250,000 (approximately USD11,652)
Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses	No

B. Scope of the tax

VAT applies to the following transactions:

- The supply of taxable goods or services made in Honduras by a taxable person
- Self-consumption
- The importation of goods or services from outside Honduras, regardless of the status of the importer, with the exception of exempt goods or services

C. Who is liable

A taxpayer for VAT purposes is any entity or individual that supplies taxable goods or services in Honduras in the ordinary course of a trade or business. Taxpayers that deal primarily with final consumers may be designated as withholding agents for VAT. All businesses must register as taxpayers; no separate registry for VAT taxpayers exists. The national tax registry number (RTN) is used for VAT purposes.

Small businesses. Taxpayers whose annual turnover is less than HNL250,000 (approximately USD11,652) are not required to pay VAT or file VAT returns.

Group registration. VAT grouping is not allowed under the Honduran VAT law. Legal entities that are closely connected must register for VAT as separate entities.

Non-established businesses and tax representatives. A “non-established business” is a business that has no fixed establishment in Honduras. A non-established entity is required to register as a taxpayer if it engages in business activities within Honduras. Foreign taxpayers must complete a tax questionnaire, which includes information such as the names of the current shareholders and the projected sales during the first year. This information must be submitted together with the following documents:

- A copy of the Articles of Incorporation, together with an official translation in Spanish
- A special power of attorney granted to a legal representative in Honduras

The above documents must be legalized by the Honduran Consul in the foreign taxpayer’s country of residence.

Registration procedures. Entities or individuals that are subject to the sales tax must register as taxpayers using Form DEI 410.

They also must request an authorization to print invoices or receipts.

Late-registration penalties. A taxpayer that fails to register for VAT on a timely basis is subject to a penalty equal to three average current base salaries. The average base salary for 2014 is HNL6,861.20 (approximately USD319).

Reverse charge. Not applicable.

Digital economy. There are no specific rules regarding the taxation of the digital economy for VAT purposes. However, generally taxable events indicated in Section B are treated the same whether or not they are transacted by digital means.

Deregistration. The taxpayer must notify the tax authorities about ceasing operations, and it must file its tax return within 30 days after that notification.

D. VAT rates

The term “taxable supplies” refers to supplies of goods and services that are subject to VAT.

Effective since 1 January 2014, the standard rate of VAT is 15% and applies to the supply of all goods or services, unless a specific measure imposes a higher rate or allows an exemption. Also effective since 1 January 2014, a higher rate of 18% is imposed on supplies of alcoholic beverages and cigarettes.

The term “exempt supplies” refers to supplies of goods and services that are not subject to tax. Exempt supplies do not give rise to a right to an input tax deduction.

Examples of exempt supplies of goods and services

- Goods that form part of the average weekly shopping
- Pharmaceutical products
- Cleaning fluids and disinfectants
- Agrochemicals, fertilizers, animal feed, seeds and live animals
- Transfer of assets in a merger or liquidation
- Medical services
- Services supplied by barbers and beauty salons
- Personal insurance and reinsurance
- Gasoline, kerosene and related oil products
- Firewood and coal
- Books and newspapers
- Leather, except fine leather goods
- Water and electrical services
- Education
- Passenger transport
- Financial services

Option to tax for exempt supplies. Not applicable.

E. Time of supply

The time when VAT becomes due is called the “time of supply” or “taxable event.”

For the supply of goods, the time of supply is the earlier of the issuance of the invoice or the delivery of the goods. For a supply of services, the time of the supply is the earlier of the issuance of the invoice or the performance of the services.

Importation. The time of supply for imported goods is when the goods are “nationalized,” that is, when the goods clear all customs formalities for importation. For the importation of services, the time of supply is the earlier of the issuance of the invoice or the performance of the services.

F. Recovery of VAT by taxable persons

A taxpayer may recover input tax, which is VAT charged on goods and services supplied that are used to generate taxable income. Input tax is generally recovered by a deduction from output tax, which is VAT charged on supplies made. Input tax may be deducted in the month in which the invoice is received or in the following month.

Input tax includes VAT charged on goods and services supplied in Honduras, VAT paid on imports of goods and reverse-charge VAT on domestic self-consumption of services. The input tax credit is available only for goods and services acquired to generate income and for the purchase of machinery and equipment.

A valid tax invoice or customs document must generally accompany a claim for an input tax credit.

Nondeductible input tax. No deduction is allowed on input tax charged on goods self-consumed or services rendered for the taxpayer’s own benefit. Also, the deduction is not allowed when the purchases are not properly documented with the corresponding invoices or receipts.

Examples of items for which input tax is nondeductible

- VAT paid on items or services for personal consumption
- VAT paid on gifts or presents

Examples of items for which input tax is deductible (if related to a taxable business use)

- VAT paid on purchases of goods or fixed assets in order to produce sales subject to VAT
- VAT paid for services needed to produce goods or other services subject to VAT and repair services

Refunds. If the amount of input VAT recoverable in a month exceeds the amount of output VAT payable, the taxpayer obtains an input VAT credit. The credit may be carried forward to offset output tax in subsequent VAT periods.

Partial exemption. Not applicable.

Preregistration costs. Not applicable.

G. Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses

Honduras does not refund VAT incurred by foreign or non-established businesses unless they are registered for VAT in Honduras.

Diplomats and international organizations. Diplomatic consular delegations, and international organizations and agencies are entitled to reimbursement for VAT paid in Honduras. Depending on the claimant’s status, the claimant may request a refund of the VAT or exercise the right to offset the VAT credit by making subsequent purchases subject to VAT. If the credit has not been offset after six months, the amount may be applied against other taxes.

H. Invoicing

VAT invoices and credit and debit notes. A taxpayer must generally provide a VAT invoice for all taxable supplies made, including exports. An invoice is generally necessary to support a claim for input tax credit. If the nature of the business makes it impractical for a taxpayer to issue tax invoices, the VAT authorities may authorize the use of cash registers and computerized systems to issue receipts instead of invoices.

As an anti-fraud measure, a new electronic invoicing system entered into force in 2014. This system controls and regulates the printing of documents such as invoices and receipts. The new Honduran invoicing regulations establish that taxpayers should request an authorization from the tax authorities to print invoices or receipts. Taxpayers may use two methods in order to obtain their invoices or receipts:

- Printing through printing houses
- Self-printing through cash registers or computer systems connected to their accounting systems

Invoices or receipts that are self-printed by taxpayers include a barcode that contains important information about the transaction, which exempts taxpayers from having to enter the data manually into their accounting system.

However, the new electronic system does not exempt the seller, exporter or provider of services from the obligation to print the invoices and physically deliver them to buyers. Moreover, the obligation to keep physical records of the invoices or receipts persists.

A VAT credit note may be used to reduce VAT charged and reclaimed on a supply if the value is reduced for any reason (for example, the granting of a discount or bonus, a change in price or the return of the goods). A credit note must generally include the same information as a tax invoice.

Proof of export. VAT does not apply on supplies of exported goods. However, to qualify as VAT-free, exports must be supported by customs documents that prove the goods have left Honduras. Suitable evidence includes export invoices and bills of lading.

Foreign-currency invoices. VAT invoices must be issued in Honduran lempira (HNL).

I. VAT returns and payment

VAT returns. VAT returns are submitted monthly by the 10th day of the month following the end of the return period. Payment in full is due on the same date and must be paid in Honduran lempira.

Effective since November 2010, large taxpayers as defined in the Official Gazette are required to withhold 15% VAT on payments related to the following:

- Transportation services
- Cleaning and fumigation services
- Printing and screen printing services
- Investigation and security services
- Commercial sites and machinery and equipment rent

This withheld VAT must be paid in full along with a separate monthly withholding return that, like the regular VAT return, must be submitted by the 10th day of the month following the end of the return period.

In addition, all taxpayers that withhold taxes must file the monthly withholding return that covers VAT in addition to payroll taxes, local professional fees and any others withheld. This is Form DEI-540: Declaración Mensual de Retenciones (Monthly Withholding Declaration). Effective 1 January 2015, this withholding return is also due to be submitted by the 10th day of the month following the end of the return period.

Taxable persons whose annual turnover is below HNL250,000 (approximately USD11,652) are not required to file VAT returns or pay VAT.

Special schemes. None.

Electronic filing and archiving. The new Honduran invoicing regulations do not allow electronic filing and archiving.

Annual returns. Large and medium taxpayers, as defined in the Official Gazette, are also obligated to file an annual VAT information return. This is accomplished by filing Form DEI-525: Declaración Anual de Créditos de Impuesto sobre Ventas (Annual Sales Tax Credit Return) before 31 March of the year following the relevant calendar year.

J. Penalties

The penalty assessed for the late submission of a VAT return is 1% if filed within five days after the filing date. If the tax liability is not paid within these five days, a 2% monthly penalty applies up to a maximum of 24%.

The surcharge assessed for the late filing of a VAT return is 5% per month, up to 60% if the tax liability is not paid by the 10th day of the month following the end of the return period.

Violation of formal duties. Failure to file and satisfy reporting obligations in Honduras is subject to a penalty of three base salaries (the current minimum base salary is approximately USD319). Such penalties apply to the following:

- Providing false information when registering for VAT
- Not registering with the proper tax authorities
- Refusing to provide information to the tax authorities

The penalty assessed for not having the accounting registries updated and available for the tax authorities is 12 base salaries, which is increased by 25% if there is an aggravating circumstance, e.g., repeated infringement, public employment, or fiscal damage more than HNL50,000 (approximately USD2,326).

Tax fraud. Tax fraud is deemed to occur if a taxpayer files a return that results in the underpayment of taxes as a result of illegal actions. The Penal Code provides the following prison terms for tax evasion:

- Three to six years of imprisonment if the amount does not exceed HNL100,000 (approximately USD4,659)

- Three to nine years of imprisonment if the amount does not exceed HNL500,000 (approximately USD23,299)
- Six to 12 years of imprisonment if the amount exceeds HNL500,000 (approximately USD23,299)

In addition, a fine equal to 50% of the underpaid VAT applies. If the underpaid VAT cannot be calculated, the applicable fine is calculated based on the assessment issued by the tax authorities.

Hungary

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Budapest

GMT +1

EY

Váci út 20
1132 Budapest
Hungary

Indirect tax contacts

Tamas Vekasi	+36 (1) 451-8220 tamas.vekasi@hu.ey.com
Robert Heinczinger	+36 (1) 451-8262 robert.heinczinger@hu.ey.com
Aron Nagy	+36 (1) 451-8636 aron.nagy@hu.ey.com
Krisztina Brenner	+36 (1) 451-8324 krisztina.brenner@hu.ey.com
Péter Molnár (resident in US)	+1 212 773-1329 peter.molnar@ey.com
Zsanett Mester	+36 (1) 451-8386 zsanett.mester@hu.ey.com
Helga Flaisz	+36 (1) 451-8352 helga.flaisz@hu.ey.com
Gábor Lázár	+36 (1) 451-8522 gabor.lazar@hu.ey.com
Judit Boncz	+36 (1) 451-8170 judit.boncz@hu.ey.com
Attila Fülöp	+36 (1) 451-8228 attila.fulop@hu.ey.com

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Value-added tax (VAT)
Local name	Általános forgalmi adó
Date introduced	1 January 1988
Trading bloc membership	European Union (EU) Member State
Administered by	Ministry for National Economy (www.kormany.hu/en/ministry-for-national-economy) National Tax and Customs Authority (www.nav.gov.hu)
VAT rates
Standard	27%
Reduced	5%, 18%
Other	Exempt
VAT number format	12345678-2-34
VAT return periods
Quarterly	General
Monthly	Newly registered taxpayers, large taxpayers and VAT groups

Annual	Small taxpayers with no EU VAT number in at least the third year of registration
Thresholds
Registration	Every taxable person is required to register
Distance selling	EUR35,000 per year
Intra-Community acquisitions	EUR10,000 per year (for taxpayers with special taxable status)
Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses	Yes

B. Scope of the tax

VAT applies to the following transactions:

- The supply of goods or services provided in Hungary by taxable persons
- The intra-Community acquisition of goods from another EU Member State by a taxable person (see the chapter on the EU)
- Reverse-charge services and reverse-charge goods received by a Hungarian taxable person
- The importation of goods into Hungary, regardless of the status of the importer

Special rules apply to intra-Community transactions involving new means of transport and distance sales (see the chapter on the EU).

C. Who is liable

A taxable person is any business or individual that makes taxable supplies of goods or services in the course of its business in its own name.

Every entity or individual that undertakes a business activity in Hungary must register for VAT before beginning the activity in question. Retroactive VAT registration is possible but may trigger significant penalties. Obtaining Hungarian EU VAT numbers retroactively is not allowed.

Exemption for small businesses. If a taxable person's turnover did not exceed HUF6 million in the preceding VAT year, it may request VAT exemption status. The request for exemption must be filed before the end of the VAT year preceding the year in which the exemption is to take effect. A new business may request exemption from registration if its anticipated turnover is not expected to exceed HUF6 million a year. The request for exemption must be filed at the time of registration.

If exempt status is granted, the business must still register for VAT, although it may not charge VAT on its supplies and it may not recover input VAT on its expenses and purchases. In addition, such businesses are generally not required to file any VAT returns.

Group registration. VAT group registration is available for all industries. Companies that qualify as related parties and that have a fixed establishment in Hungary from a VAT point of view may opt for VAT grouping when the participating entities are regarded as being a single taxpayer and the group regime applies to all transactions performed by every group member. Practically, this means that the supplies performed between the group members fall out of the scope of VAT whereas any supplies performed outside the group are subject to VAT. In addition, the group members are obliged to file joint VAT returns with the tax authority.

Non-established businesses. A “non-established business” is a business that has no fixed establishment in Hungary. A non-established business that makes supplies of goods or services in Hungary must register for VAT if it is liable to account for Hungarian VAT on its supplies or if it makes intra-Community supplies or acquisitions of goods.

The reverse charge applies generally to installation supplies made by non-established businesses to taxable persons that file periodic VAT returns. Under this measure, the taxable person that receives the supply must account for the Hungarian VAT due. If the reverse charge applies, the non-established business is not required to register for Hungarian VAT.

Consequently, non-established businesses must register for Hungarian VAT if they make any of the following supplies:

- Intra-Community supplies
- Intra-Community acquisitions
- Distance sales in excess of the threshold
- Supplies of goods and services that are not subject to the reverse charge (for example, goods or services supplied to private persons)
- Importation of goods
- Purchase of services from other countries

Reverse charge for domestic transactions. The concept of a reverse charge also applies to the following transactions between Hungarian taxpayers:

- Transfer of immovable property on the basis of a construction contract
- Certain services relating to immovable property
- The supply of certain scrap materials
- The supply of real property if taxation is opted for
- The supply of goods provided as security in execution of that security
- Trading in greenhouse gas emission rights
- Goods and services provided by taxpayers under liquidation or insolvency proceedings, provided the value exceeds HUF100,000
- The supply of cereal, sugar and metal
- Staff leasing services
- Services provided by school cooperatives

Tax representatives. Businesses that are established in the EU may register for VAT without appointing a tax representative. However, EU businesses may opt to appoint a tax representative under certain conditions.

In general, businesses that are established outside the EU must appoint a resident tax representative to register for Hungarian VAT. The tax representative is jointly liable for VAT debts and obligations with the business it represents.

All non-established businesses must register with the office for foreign taxpayers at the following address:

NAV Kiemelt Ügyek Adóigazgatósága
 Dob utca 75-81
 1077 Budapest
 Hungary

Registration procedures. In order to register for VAT purposes in Hungary, two copies of the application form (available only in Hungarian language) should be submitted on paper together with several corporate documents (translated into Hungarian). The registration procedure generally takes at least two weeks from the date of submission.

Late-registration penalties. If a taxable person fails to register for VAT, a default penalty of HUF500,000 applies. In addition, the VAT authorities notify the taxable person of its obligation to register. The fine is doubled if the taxable person fails to register within the specified deadline.

Digital economy. From 1 January 2015, supplies of telecommunication, broadcasting and electronically supplied services supplied to private customers and non-taxable persons, i.e., B2C transactions are taxable in the Member State where the customer is established, has a permanent address or usually resides.

Mini One-Stop Shop. In case of supplies of telecommunication, broadcasting and electronically supplied services, non-EU based suppliers are entitled to decide in which Member State they register for VAT purposes and file the EU-level consolidated VAT return. Under this scheme, called the Mini One-Stop Shop (MOSS), suppliers do not have to register in Hungary for VAT purposes if they register in one of the other EU Member States under MOSS and report their Hungarian VAT liability in that Member State via the EU-level consolidated VAT return. Alternatively, such suppliers do not have to register in other EU Member States for VAT purposes if they register in Hungary under the MOSS scheme and file their EU-level consolidated VAT return in Hungary.

Deregistration. Foreign entities that cease to perform transactions subject to Hungarian VAT can deregister, canceling their Hungarian VAT number. The necessary steps for deregistration are the following:

- Checking the tax account statement of the company and paying any underpayments or reclaiming any overpayments
- Preparation and submission of the deregistration form within 15 days from the effective date of the deregistration
- Preparation and submission of a closing VAT return covering the period not covered by previous tax returns within 30 days from the effective date of the deregistration (submission together with the deregistration form is advisable)

The tax authority usually performs a tax audit related to the deregistration.

D. VAT rates

The term “taxable supplies” refers to supplies of goods and services that are subject to a rate of VAT. The term “exempt supplies” refers to supplies of goods and services that are not subject to tax and that do not give rise to the right to deduct input tax (see Section F). Some supplies are classified as “exempt with credit,” which means that no VAT is chargeable, although the supplier may recover related input tax. Exempt with credit supplies include, but are not limited to, exports of goods outside the EU and related services (for example, related to transport) and intra-Community supplies of goods.

In Hungary, the following VAT rates apply:

- Standard rate: 27%
- Reduced rates: 5% and 18%

The standard VAT rate applies to all supplies of goods and services, unless a specific rule provides for a reduced rate or exemption.

Examples of goods and services taxable at 5%

- Human medicines and certain medical products
- Books

Examples of goods and services taxable at 18%

- Basic foodstuffs
- Hotel services
- Entrance to certain open-air public music festivals

The term “exempt supplies” refers to supplies of goods and services that are not subject to tax and that do not give rise to the right to deduct input tax (see Section F). Some supplies are classified as “exempt with credit,” which means that no VAT is chargeable, although the supplier may recover related input tax. Exempt-with-credit supplies include, but are not limited to, exports of goods outside the EU and related services (for example, related to transport) and intra-Community supplies of goods.

Examples of exempt supplies of goods and services

- Financial services
- Insurance
- Public postal services
- Approved education
- Lease of property
- Sale of securities
- Sale or lease of land
- Human medical care
- Folk arts and crafts

Option to tax for exempt supplies. A taxable person may opt to pay VAT on transactions that would otherwise be exempt from VAT. This decision should be reported to the tax authority before beginning the VAT-exempt activity. The taxable person who exercises the option to pay VAT is required to continue paying VAT for the following five calendar years. After the five years, it can again choose VAT exemption by submitting a notification form to the tax authority by 31 December of the preceding year.

The following supplies are eligible for the option to apply VAT:

- The rental or leasing of immovable property or parts thereof
- The sale of immovable property and sale of land

E. Time of supply

The time at which VAT becomes due is called the “time of supply” or “tax point.” With some exceptions, the time of supply is deemed to be when the supply is made or when an invoice is issued.

Prepayments. A prepayment or deposit creates a time of supply when the payment is received. The amount is considered to be inclusive of VAT. When a reverse charge applies between domestic taxpayers, the prepayment shall not be deemed as a tax point as it is with intra-Community acquisitions and supplies of goods.

If a Hungarian taxable person makes a prepayment with respect to services purchased from other EU Member States or third countries (that fall under the reverse-charge mechanism), the amount shall be regarded as being exclusive of VAT and the Hungarian taxable person is required to self-charge the VAT on the advance payment it paid.

Continuous supplies of goods and services. Parties may agree that a supply of goods and services may be invoiced periodically or paid in installments. In these circumstances, the tax point is the due date for the payments.

As of 1 January 2016 (with respect to accounting, auditing and tax advisory services, from 1 July 2015) the following rules will apply:

- In general, the date of supply will be the last day of the period in question.
- If the date on which the invoice was issued (receipt) and the payment deadline both fall before the last day of the period concerned, the issue date of the invoice (receipt) will be the date of supply.
- If the payment deadline falls on a later date than the last day of the period in question, but not later than the 30th day following the last day of that period, the payment deadline will be the date of supply.
- If the payment deadline is later than the 30th day following the last day of the period in question, the date of supply will be the 30th day following the last day of the period in question.

Invoices relating to intra-Community supplies of goods cannot refer to a period longer than one month. In other cases the period can be up to 12 months. However, in the case of services purchased from other EU Member States or third countries, the period is deemed as ending on 31 December each year.

Intra-Community acquisitions. The time of supply for intra-Community acquisitions of goods is the date of issuance of the invoice or the 15th day of the month following the month in which the supply takes place, whichever is earlier. For services, it is the date on which the supply is made.

Imported goods. The time of supply for imported goods is either the date of acceptance of the customs declaration or the date on which the goods leave a duty suspension regime.

Reverse-charge services (other than intra-Community acquisition/importation of goods and purchase of services from abroad). If the reverse-charge mechanism applies to a transaction, the tax point date is the earliest of the following dates: (i) the receipt of the invoice, (ii) payment of the consideration or (iii) the 15th day of the month following the month in which the supply takes place.

Cash accounting. Hungary implemented a cash accounting scheme as of 1 January 2013. This taxation method may be applied by the following taxpayers:

- Taxpayers that qualify as small enterprises on the first day of the year based on the relevant act, or that would qualify as small enterprises if they were subject to the relevant act
- Taxpayers that have a fixed establishment in Hungary or, in the absence of a fixed establishment, a permanent address or place where they usually reside
- Taxpayers for whom the sum of both the expected and the actual consideration in a given year does not exceed the equivalent of HUF125 million (approximately EUR422,000)

Taxpayers may opt for cash-based taxation for domestic transactions subject to VAT, but considerations for supplies that are outside the scope of Hungarian VAT and for supplies subject to the reverse charge regime are also included in the threshold. Revenue deriving from the sale of tangible assets, from the assignment of intangible property on a permanent basis, from intra-Community supply, from certain VAT-exempt supplies and from services ancillary to financial services is not considered when applying the threshold.

New companies must meet the financial conditions proportionately.

Taxpayers may apply this taxation method based on the calendar year. Taxpayers that apply cash-based taxation must refer to this special taxation method and indicate it on their invoices.

Taxpayers that opt for cash-based taxation:

- Will have to pay output VAT when they receive the consideration, including the VAT for their supply
- Will be entitled to deduct input VAT when they pay the total gross amount of the invoice to their suppliers

Taxpayers may decide to terminate the application of cash-based taxation from the year following the year in question or during the suspension of their activities.

Taxpayers whose suppliers apply the cash-based accounting scheme are entitled to deduct the input VAT charged by the supplier at the time they pay the consideration (including the VAT) to the supplier.

Cash-based taxation will be terminated automatically if a taxpayer's revenue exceeds the threshold or if the taxpayer is subject to insolvency or discontinuation of operations proceedings. The termination of this taxation method must be announced to the tax authority within 15 days.

Intra-Community supplies of goods. The time of supply for intra-Community supplies of goods is the date of issuance of the invoice or the 15th day of the month following the month in which the supply takes place, whichever is earlier. For services, it is the date on which the supply is made.

Leased assets. Open-end financial leasing transactions (when buyers can decide whether or not they want to obtain the title of the leased assets at the end of the lease contracts) qualify as rented assets, so each installment should be invoiced with VAT. Closed-end financial leasing transactions (when it is fixed in advance that the buyer will automatically obtain the title of the assets upon the payment of the last installment) qualify as sale of goods where the tax point is the delivery date of the asset, i.e., the total value including VAT has to be invoiced at the beginning and no separate invoices have to be issued on the installments (that are not subject to VAT).

F. Recovery of VAT by taxable persons

A taxable person may recover input tax, which is VAT charged on goods and services supplied to it for business purposes. A taxable person generally recovers input tax by deducting it from output tax, which is VAT charged on supplies made.

Input tax includes VAT charged on goods and services supplied in Hungary, VAT paid on intra-Community acquisitions and imports of goods and VAT self-assessed for reverse-charge services received from outside Hungary and for certain reverse-charge domestic transactions.

The amount of VAT reclaimed must be supported with a valid VAT invoice.

Under the general rule, input VAT is deductible from output VAT charged in the same VAT period. If the amount of input VAT exceeds the amount of output VAT in the period, the excess can be carried forward to the next filing period, offset against the taxpayer's other Hungarian tax liabilities or refunded to the taxpayer's bank account.

Nondeductible input tax. Input tax may not be recovered on purchases of goods and services that are used for nonbusiness purposes (for example, goods acquired for private use). In addition, input tax may not be recovered for some items of business expenditure.

The following lists provide some examples of items of expenditure for which input tax is not deductible and examples of items for which input tax is deductible if it relates to a taxable business use.

Examples of items for which input tax is nondeductible

- Nonbusiness expenditure
- Purchase or lease of cars (private use)
- Fuel for cars
- Taxi services
- 50% of car maintenance costs
- 30% of telecommunication services

Examples of items for which input tax is deductible (if related exclusively to a taxable business use)

- Transport
- Purchase, lease or hire of cars, vans and trucks
- Books related to business activities
- Conferences
- Advertising
- Accommodation
- Attending exhibitions

Partial exemption. Input tax directly related to making exempt supplies is generally not recoverable. If a Hungarian taxable person makes both exempt supplies and taxable supplies, it may not deduct input tax in full. This situation is referred to as “partial exemption.”

The amount of input tax that may be deducted is calculated in the following two stages:

- The first stage is the direct allocation of VAT to exempt and taxable supplies. Input tax directly allocable to exempt supplies is not deductible, while input tax directly allocable to taxable supplies is deductible. Exempt with credit supplies are treated as taxable supplies for these purposes.
- The second stage is the proration of the remaining input tax that relates to both taxable and exempt supplies based on the percentage of taxable supplies to total supplies made (called the deduction ratio). This treatment may apply, for example, to input tax on business overhead. The deduction ratio is calculated up to two decimal places. The amount of VAT recoverable must be rounded up to units of HUF1,000.

When calculating the proration, a taxable person may initially use the deduction ratio amounts for either the current tax year or for the preceding tax year. However, if the preceding year's amounts are used, the calculation must be adjusted at the end of the VAT year, using the relevant information for the year in question.

Capital goods. Capital goods are tangible items of capital expenditure that are used in a business over several years. Input tax is deducted in the VAT year in which the goods are acquired. The amount of input tax recovered depends on the taxable person's partial exemption deduction ratio in the VAT year in which the acquisition took place. However, the amount of input tax recovered for capital goods must be adjusted over time if the taxable person's partial exemption deduction ratio changes during the year under review and if the difference with respect to a particular capital asset exceeds HUF10,000.

In Hungary, the capital goods adjustment applies to the following assets for the number of years indicated:

- Land and buildings: adjusted for a period of 20 years
- Tangible capital assets: adjusted for a period of five years
- From 2014, intangible rights related to capital goods: the same adjustment period as the underlying capital asset

The adjustment is applied each year following the year of acquisition, to a fraction of the total input tax (1/20 for land and buildings and 1/5 for other tangible capital assets). The adjustment may result in either an increase or a decrease in the deductible input VAT, depending on whether the ratio of taxable supplies made by the business has increased or decreased compared with the year in which the capital goods were acquired.

If a Hungarian taxable person sells an asset on which no input tax was deducted, a proportion of the input tax becomes deductible. The qualifying period for this treatment is the same as the capital goods adjustment period, which is 60 months (five years) for tangible assets and 240 months (20 years) for land and buildings.

Refunds. If the amount of input tax recoverable in a monthly period exceeds the amount of output tax payable in that period, the taxable person has an input tax credit. A taxable person may request a refund of the credit if this excess exceeds the following amounts:

- HUF50,000 if the taxable person files annually
- HUF250,000 if the taxable person files quarterly
- HUF1 million if the taxable person files monthly

If a taxable person is not allowed to request a repayment, the excess input tax may be carried forward to the following period to offset output VAT payable.

If a repayment is claimed, the VAT authorities must pay it within 75 days after the due date of the return. However, if all the supplier invoices that are recorded as deductions on a given VAT return have been paid by the time of filing of the VAT return, the tax authority must refund VAT repayment claims that exceed HUF1 million within 45 days. Repayment claim amounts under HUF1 million will be transferred within 30 days (if all supplier invoices have been paid). If the repayment is not made within these time limits, the VAT authorities must also pay interest, calculated from the due date of the repayment.

Preregistration costs. Input tax incurred by a company before completing Hungarian VAT registration is deductible on any VAT return submitted during the first five years after registration.

Write-off of bad debts. VAT cannot be recovered on bad debts.

Noneconomic activities. A taxable person that carries out both taxable and noneconomic activities cannot deduct input VAT incurred in connection with the noneconomic activities.

G. Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses

The Hungarian VAT authorities refund VAT incurred by businesses that are not established in Hungary nor registered for VAT purposes there. Non-established businesses may claim Hungarian VAT to the same extent as Hungarian taxable persons.

Hungary applies the reciprocity principle to refunds. Under this principle, refunds are granted to businesses established in countries that refund VAT to Hungarian businesses. Refunds are currently allowed to businesses established in another EU Member State, Liechtenstein and Switzerland.

Refund application. The deadline for submitting applications is 30 September following the claim year. This deadline is strictly enforced. The claimant must submit its application to either the tax office in its country of establishment in the EU or the Hungarian tax office for Swiss and Liechtenstein businesses.

Non-EU claimants must file a form issued by the Hungarian VAT authorities together with the relevant documents, including the original invoices. The claimant must also submit a certificate issued by the VAT authorities in the country in which it is established, certifying its status as a taxable person. The applicant must prove that it paid the gross amount of the invoices. Hungarian suppliers may also provide a declaration that the invoices have been paid in full. The form may be completed in Hungarian,

English, German or French. However, all correspondence with the tax authorities must be in Hungarian. A non-established claimant may appoint a lawyer, legal advisor or tax consultant resident in Hungary to represent it in any dealings with the VAT authorities. If a representative is used, the original power of attorney appointing the representative must accompany the repayment claim form. All documents relating to the VAT reclaim must be sent to the Hungarian VAT authorities at the following address:

NAV Kiemelt Ügyek Adóigazgatósága
1077 Budapest
Dob utca 75-81
Hungary

In accordance with EU Directive 2008/9/EC, EU claimants must file their refund applications electronically with their home country tax office, together with, in general, soft copies of invoices with a value over EUR1,000.

The claim period is a minimum of three months if the VAT recoverable in that period exceeds EUR400. The maximum claim period is one calendar year. The minimum claim allowed is EUR50. Non-established businesses cannot submit more than five claims with respect to a specific calendar year.

Refunds are paid in Hungarian forints into the bank account notified by the claimant. This account may be either a bank account in Hungary or in the country in which the claimant is registered. If the claimant provides the tax authority with a foreign bank account number, the costs related to the bank remittance and exchange are the claimant's responsibility and the refunded amount is reduced accordingly.

Repayment interest. Hungarian law provides that repayments must generally be made within 75 days of the date on which the claim is approved. If the VAT authorities do not repay the claim within this time limit, the claimant is entitled to interest.

H. Invoicing

VAT invoices and credit notes. Generally, a Hungarian taxable person must provide VAT invoices for all Hungarian taxable supplies made, including exports and intra-Community supplies, in line with the Hungarian invoicing provisions. If the supplier is not established in Hungary and (i) the supply is subject to the reverse-charge mechanism or (ii) the place of supply is outside the EU, Hungarian invoicing standards are not applicable (except in cases in which the invoices are issued by the buyer within the self-billing process).

Invoices must be issued no later than 15 days after the time of supply (or, for intra-Community supplies, no later than the 15th day of the month following the month in which the supply took place) (see Section E). If the consideration is paid in cash or using cash-substitute payment instruments, the supplier is obliged to issue the invoice immediately.

A VAT credit note may be used to reduce the VAT charged and reclaimed on a supply. The document must be clearly marked "credit note" and refer to the original invoice. A credit note must also indicate the date on which it was issued, the reason for and the numerical result of the correction and any new items arising from the correction.

Electronic invoicing. Effective 1 January 2013, the VAT law has been amended to permit electronic invoicing in line with EU Directive 2010/45/EU.

Proof of exports and intra-Community supplies. VAT is not charged on exports and intra-Community supplies. To qualify as VAT-exempt, exports and intra-Community supplies must be accompanied by evidence that the goods have left Hungary (in the case of exports, within three months). Suitable documentary evidence includes the following:

- For an export, a copy of the single administrative document or other export declaration endorsed by the customs office of exit on the actual exit of the goods
- For an intra-Community supply, a shipping document or any other credible evidence

Foreign-currency invoices. If an invoice is issued in any currency other than Hungarian forints, the taxable value must be converted into Hungarian forints using the foreign exchange offer rate on the date of supply of any domestic credit institution that has a foreign-exchange permit. The taxpayer may use the official exchange rate quoted by the National Bank of Hungary or the European Central Bank, provided it has reported this decision to the Hungarian tax authorities in advance. Once a taxpayer has exercised this option, it cannot be changed until the end of the following calendar year. If the domestic credit institution in question does not quote the foreign currency used, the Hungarian National Bank or the European Central Bank rate must first be used for conversion into euros. The conversion is based on the euro exchange rate for the quarter preceding the time of supply of the transaction.

B2C invoices. Effective 1 January 2015, new rules apply to the place of supply for supplies of telecommunications, broadcasting and electronically supplied services to non-VAT taxable customers. For further details of the VAT rules on electronic services in the EU, please refer to the European Union chapter.

Registering and documenting invoicing software. Effective 1 October 2014 in connection with invoicing software, taxpayers have an obligation to inform the tax authority of the following:

- The software they use for issuing invoices, including complex Enterprise Resource Planning systems that are able to issue invoices
- Online invoicing systems

Reporting should be done on the relevant form within 30 days after obtaining or starting to use the program whether the software was acquired from a supplier or was developed in-house. Discontinuing the use of an invoicing program or online invoicing service should also be reported to the tax authority within 30 days.

Taxpayers using invoicing software should possess detailed documentation of the software in Hungarian, such as a user manual, and retain it until the expiry of the software license. The manual does not have to be submitted to the tax authority but must be available for review during a tax audit. The documentation should contain a detailed description of the software's operation and functions. The invoicing software should be able to perform only those functions detailed in the user documentation.

The invoicing software should furthermore comply with Hungarian invoicing rules, and the user documentation should contain descriptions accordingly, even if the issuer of the invoice is a foreign enterprise having only a VAT number in Hungary or uses the company group's invoicing software developed abroad.

I. VAT returns and payment

In general, Hungarian taxable persons must file quarterly tax returns. However, three categories of taxable persons must file monthly returns (and EC listings):

- Effective 1 January 2015, newly registered taxpayers during the first two calendar years after registration
- Taxable persons whose net VAT payable or reclaimable in the tax year in question, or in the second year before the year in question, exceeds HUF1 million
- VAT groups

Taxable persons whose VAT payable or reclaimable for the second year preceding the year in question does not exceed HUF250,000 may file VAT returns annually if they were not given an EU VAT identification number. However, they may opt to file quarterly returns.

Monthly and quarterly VAT returns must be filed by the 20th day of the month following the tax period. Annual returns are due by 15 February in the year following the tax year in question. Payment in full is required on the same date.

VAT liabilities must be paid in Hungarian forints.

Domestic Summary Report. Effective since 1 January 2013, taxpayers must file reports on their domestic sales and purchases of goods or services at invoice level. This obligation concerns those invoices on which the VAT payment is due or the taxable person deducts input VAT in the tax period in question and the amount of VAT exceeds HUF2 million. For incoming invoices, the threshold concerns the aggregate amount of deductible VAT per supplier.

Electronic control system on the movement of goods on the road (EKAER). Effective 1 January 2015, the EKAER system was introduced so that the tax authority can track the movement of goods on the road from the point of dispatch. Under this system, taxable persons have a reporting obligation in relation to the road transportation of goods executed with toll vehicles for certain transactions.

Special schemes. Not applicable.

Electronic filing and archiving. If a taxable person performs any intra-Community transactions or is required to submit domestic summary reports in Hungary, it must file all of its tax returns electronically with the tax authority. To be able to file the tax returns electronically, a tax representative or employee of the taxable person must fill out a special registration in Hungarian and submit it in person in Hungary. Tax representatives can also be authorized to file the tax returns electronically on behalf of the taxpayer.

Electronically filed Intrastat reports should be prepared in CSV file format. The CSV file should be encrypted and signed with a specific program available on the website of the Hungarian Central Statistic Office. For encryption and signature purposes, the digital signature is also applicable.

Annual returns. Taxpayers that file quarterly or monthly do not file annual returns.

J. Penalties

Default penalty (maximum of HUF500,000) applies to the late submission of a VAT return, Intrastat return, Recapitulative Statement or Domestic Summary Report. If the VAT is paid late, late payment interest is charged. The interest rate used is double the prevailing prime rate of the Hungarian National Bank multiplied by 1/365 for each day late.

If a return has been filed but the VAT liability is not reported, the tax penalty is 50% of the tax arrears, plus late payment interest.

Default penalty may be imposed for a missing or inaccurate VAT return and Domestic Summary Report as well.

Late payment interest is not imposed if the taxable person is able to justify the default. Based on the circumstances of the individual case, the default penalty may be reduced or cancelled by the tax authorities.

K. EU filings

Intrastat. A taxable person that trades with other EU countries must complete statistical reports, known as Intrastat.

Recapitulative Statements. A taxable person must also file Recapitulative Statements (EU Sales Lists and EU Acquisition Lists) for both goods and services.

Penalties may be imposed for a late, missing or inaccurate Intrastat return or Recapitulative Statement.

Iceland

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Reykjavík GMT

EY
Mail address
Borgartún 30
105 Reykjavík
Iceland

Street address:
Borgartún 30
105 Reykjavík
Iceland

Indirect tax contacts

Helga Hauksdóttir	+354 5952585 helga.hauksdottir@is.ey.com
Ragnhildur Larusdottir	+354 5952575 ragnhildur.larusdottir@is.ey.com

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Value-added tax (VAT)
Local name	Virðisaukaskattur
Date introduced	1 January 1990
Trading bloc membership	European Economic Area (EEA)
Administered by	Ministry of Finance (www.fjarmalaraduneyti.is)
VAT rates
Standard	24%
Reduced	11% and zero-rated (0%)
Other	Exempt
VAT number format	12345
VAT return periods for parties subject to registration	Bimonthly Annual (turnover less than ISK3,000,000) Twice a year (agriculture) Monthly (output VAT habitually lower than input VAT) Weekly (fish processing)
Thresholds
Registration	ISK1,000,000 (registration optional if turnover is lower)
Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses	Yes

B. Scope of the tax

VAT applies to the following transactions:

- The supply of goods or services made in Iceland by a taxable person
- Withdrawals of goods and services from a registered enterprise, or an enterprise with a registration obligation, for use other than relating to sales of taxable goods and services, or for private use

- Reverse-charge services received by an Icelandic entity or person and used in whole or partially in Iceland
- The importation of goods, regardless of the status of the importer

C. Who is liable

A taxable person is any business entity or individual that makes taxable supplies of goods or services in Iceland in the course of a business.

The VAT registration threshold is ISK1,000,000 during a 12-month period. However parties can apply for annual VAT return if the turnover is less than ISK3,000,000 during a 12-month period.

Voluntary registration. Icelandic VAT legislation provides an option for voluntary registration for VAT purposes for certain activities. Special registration is available for leasing real estate for use by a taxable business and construction activity at its own expense for the purpose of selling real property to registered parties.

Group registration. The Icelandic VAT Act provides that two or more limited companies may be jointly registered. The condition for joint registration is that not less than 90% of the share capital in the subsidiary companies be owned by the principal company that requests joint registration or that of other subsidiaries that also participate in the joint registration. All the companies must have the same accounting year. The joint registration must be in the name of the principal company and is in effect for a minimum of five years.

An application for joint registration must be filed with the Director of Internal Revenue no later than eight days before the beginning of the first accounting year subject to the joint registration.

Members of a VAT group are regarded as one taxable person liable for the payment of VAT. The principal company will be responsible for all duties regarding settlement, payment, and assessment of VAT on behalf of all the jointly registered companies. All of the participating companies are jointly and severally liable for the correct payment of VAT. Transactions between jointly registered companies are generally not subject to VAT. However, the withdrawal of taxable goods or services from a taxable part of the group's business may be subject to VAT.

Non-established businesses. A "non-established business" is a business that has no fixed establishment in Iceland. A non-established business must register for VAT if it makes taxable supplies of goods or services in Iceland in excess of the registration threshold.

VAT representatives. If a non-established business is required to register for VAT in Iceland, it must appoint a resident tax representative, unless it maintains a place of business or a registered office in Iceland.

Electronic services. Effective from 1 November 2011, nonresidents who supply electronic services to final consumers in Iceland (B2C supplies) are required to register for VAT and charge VAT on services supplied to Icelandic consumers not registered for VAT. For this purpose, electronic services include the supply of e-books, films, music and software. This rule only applies if the turnover is ISK1,000,000 or more during a 12-month period.

Registration procedures. A taxable person applies for registration to the Director of Internal Revenue on form RSK 5.02. The form is available on the website <http://www.rsk.is> in Icelandic.

The RSK 5.02 can be submitted electronically by emailing the scanned form, signed by the taxpayer, to rsk@rsk.is.

If the form is correctly filled out, the application is processed by the Director of Internal Revenue within one week. A taxable person should register no later than eight days before starting taxable activities.

Late-registration penalties. No specific penalty applies to late VAT registration in Iceland; however, penalties are assessed if, as a result of the late registration, a taxable person submits a late VAT return or pays VAT late.

Reverse charge. A party purchasing services, listed below, from abroad for use in part or in full in Iceland shall pay value-added tax on its price. The same applies to the service of a foreign party provided in this country, provided the foreign party does not operate a venue for business nor has an agent in this country.

The reverse-charge mechanism applies to the following services received by parties in Iceland:

- Sale or lease of copyright, patent rights, registered trademarks and copyrighted designs and the sale or lease of other comparable rights
- Advertising services
- Services of consultants, engineers, lawyers, accountants and other similar specialized services, except for labor or services related to liquid assets or real property located in Iceland
- Electronically provided services to registered buyers
- Obligations and duties related to business or production activity or the use of rights listed under this Point
- Employment agency services
- Rental of liquid assets, except for means of transport
- Services of agents acting on behalf of others and for their account as regards the sale and delivery of services listed under this point
- Telecommunications services

Taxable parties record the self-assessed VAT as output VAT on the VAT return. If the VAT is classified as deductible cost, the self-assessed VAT may be deducted on the same VAT return.

Nontaxable parties that are subject to the reverse charge must file form RSK 10.24.

Digital economy. Not applicable.

Deregistration. Taxable persons apply for deregistration to the Director of Internal Revenue on written form RSK 5.04. Deregistration is allowed when taxable activities are sold or ceased. The Director of Internal Revenue may deregister a taxable person if, for two or more consecutive return periods, the taxpayer fails to file a VAT return or fails to provide proper supporting documents.

D. VAT rates

The term “taxable supplies” refers to all supplies of goods and services that fall within the scope of the Icelandic VAT Act. This includes zero-rated supplies, when no VAT is chargeable, but the supplier may recover input VAT related to the supplies.

The following are the VAT rates in Iceland:

- Standard rate: 24%
- Reduced rate: 11%
- Zero rate (0%)

The standard rate of VAT applies to all supplies of goods or services, unless a specific measure allows a reduced rate, the zero rate or an exemption.

Examples of goods and services taxable at 0%

- Export goods and services
- Supplies delivered for use on board inter-country vessels
- Sale and leasing of aircraft and ships, shipbuilding along with repair-and-maintenance work on ships and aircraft and their fixed equipment
- The design, planning and other comparable services related to construction and other real property abroad
- Contractual payments from the Treasury related to the production of milk and sheep farming
- Sales of services to foreign fishing vessels landing fish in Iceland
- Sales of services to parties neither domiciled nor having a venue of operation in Iceland, provided that the services are wholly used abroad
- Good transport services between countries or good transport services inside the country when the transport takes place to or from Iceland

Examples of services taxable at 11%

- Radio licenses
- Newspapers, periodicals and books
- Geothermal hot water, electricity and fuel oil used for heating
- Most food-related items (except certain items, such as alcoholic beverages)
- CDs, records, magnetic tapes and other similar means of music recordings, other than visual records
- Access to road facilities
- Condoms
- Reusable diapers and diaper lining

The terms “exempt” and “outside the scope” are used for supplies of goods and services that are not liable to VAT and that do not give rise to a right of input tax deduction (see Section F).

Examples of exempt supplies of goods and services (also called outside the scope of the VAT Act)

- Financial services
- Insurance
- Lease of residential property

- Medical services
- Social services
- Educational services
- Real estate transactions
- Specified cultural and sporting events
- Passenger transportation
- Postal services
- Lotteries and betting pools
- Services of travel agencies
- Funeral services

Option to tax for exempt supplies. When leasing real estate for use in taxable activities and for construction activity financed by the taxpayer for the purpose of selling real property to registered parties, the taxpayer has the option to register and pay VAT on those otherwise exempt supplies.

E. Time of supply

The basic time of supply for goods is when an invoice is issued (usually at the time of delivery). The tax point for advance payment, partially or fully, is when the payment is received by the supplier, even if no supply has been made. Consequently, the supplier shall account for VAT when advance payment is received. In practice, the tax authorities accept that invoices may be issued after the supply if this is common practice for the business.

VAT on services is, as a general rule, due in the VAT period when the service is supplied. Alternatively, VAT is due in the period when the invoice is issued, if the invoice is issued shortly after the supply. Accordingly, VAT shall be reported on the VAT return in the VAT period when the invoice has been issued. Service suppliers are authorized to issue invoices at the end of each month.

Reverse-charge services. VAT payable through the reverse-charge mechanism is due on the date of the invoice if the invoice is issued in accordance with the generally accepted accounting principles in the country of the service provider.

Imported goods. The time of supply is upon customs clearance.

F. Recovery of VAT by taxable persons

A taxable person may recover VAT that is charged on goods and services supplied to it for business purposes. A taxable person generally recovers input VAT by deducting it from output VAT, which is VAT charged on supplies made.

Input VAT includes VAT charged on goods and services supplied in Iceland, VAT paid on imports of goods and VAT self-assessed for reverse-charge services received from outside Iceland.

The amount of the VAT reclaimed must be detailed on a valid VAT invoice. Consequently, VAT may not be deducted as input VAT before a VAT invoice is received. Input VAT that is not properly documented may not be deducted. The input VAT deduction must be reported in the VAT period in which the invoice is dated.

Nondeductible input VAT. Input VAT may not be recovered on purchases of goods and services that are not for use in a business that is subject to VAT (for example, goods acquired for private use).

In addition, input VAT may not be recovered for some items of business expenditure.

Examples of items for which input VAT is nondeductible

- The cafeteria or dining room of the taxable party and all food purchases
- The acquisition or operation of living quarters for the owner and staff
- Perquisites for the owner and staff
- The acquisition and operation of vacation homes, children's nurseries and similar objects for the owner and staff
- Purchase and maintenance of passenger vehicles, with certain exemptions for taxi and car-lease companies
- Entertainment costs and gifts

Partial exemption. Iceland operates a procedure for the recovery of input tax when a business makes both taxable and exempt supplies.

If Icelandic parties make both taxable and exempt supplies, they can deduct input tax from all supplies solely related to the taxable activity. No deduction is available for supplies used solely for exempt activity. For supplies received and used for both taxable and exempt supplies, input tax may be apportioned according to the turnover split between taxable and exempt transactions.

Refunds. If the amount of recoverable VAT exceeds the amount of output tax payable in that period, the relevant tax authority shall investigate the tax return. If the return is calculated correctly, the Treasury shall refund the difference.

If a return has been submitted on time, the refund shall tax place within twenty-one days of the due date. A refund claim is triggered automatically if the VAT return shows a VAT credit.

Preregistration costs. VAT on costs incurred prior to VAT registration cannot be counted towards input VAT.

G. Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses

The Icelandic tax authorities refund VAT incurred by businesses that are neither established in Iceland nor registered for VAT there. A non-established business may claim Icelandic VAT to the same extent that an Icelandic taxable person may deduct input VAT incurred in the course of a similar business in Iceland.

Iceland does not apply the reciprocity principle to refunds. Consequently, it does not exclude claimants based on the country where they are established.

Refund application. A claimant must submit the following documentation to obtain a VAT refund:

- Application form RSK 10.29
- Under the general rule, the original VAT invoices
- A declaration in regard to the purposes of the purchases
- A declaration that the enterprise has, during the reimbursement period in question, neither delivered goods nor rendered taxable services in Iceland for which the enterprise would be liable to registration and taxation

- The original invoices or receipts of payments from the customs authorities noting the amount of VAT paid
- A certificate of taxable status obtained from the competent tax authorities in the country, such certificate being valid for two years from date of issue, a period that may be extended by two years at a time if the applicant is otherwise compliant with regulations
- A power of attorney if the claimant uses the services of a third party to recover the VAT

The applications must be submitted at least 15 days after the period in question and not later than six years after the end of the calendar year to which the application refers. The forms must be completed in Icelandic or English. The application must refer to purchases of goods and taxable services over a period of at least two months (e.g., January-February, March-April) and not exceeding one calendar year. The period may be less than two months where it is a question of the remaining part of a calendar year. The minimum claim amounts are ISK59,900 for a VAT application. Where the application covers a calendar year or the remainder of a calendar year, the amount shall be at least ISK11,600.

Applications for refunds of Icelandic VAT may be sent to the following address:

Ríkisskattstjóri Hafnarfirði
Virðisaukaskattskrifstofa
Suðurgata 14
IS-220 HAFNARFJÖRÐUR

Repayment interest. Claims for VAT refunds are generally paid within one month and five days after the end of the repayment period. Applications received after the deadline will be processed with the application pertaining to the next payment period. Interest is not paid on late refunds.

H. Invoicing

VAT invoices and credit notes. As a general principle, VAT invoices and credit notes must be issued by the supplier. An Icelandic taxable person must generally provide a VAT invoice for all taxable supplies and exports made. Invoices must support claims for input tax made by Icelandic taxable persons and VAT refunds claimed by non-established businesses.

A VAT credit note may be used to reduce the VAT charged and reclaimed on a supply. The document should be marked “credit note” and it must refer to the original invoice.

Proof of exports. Goods and services exported to countries outside Iceland are exempt from VAT with input tax credit. To qualify as VAT-free, the supplier must prove that the goods have been exported. Suitable proof includes a Customs Export Declaration.

Foreign-currency invoices. The value-added tax must be in Icelandic krona (ISK), but the underlying trade may be in any known currency for VAT purposes. The invoice must include the VAT amount in ISK. The currency conversion must use the exchange rate of the Icelandic Central Bank on the date of supply.

I. VAT returns and payment

VAT returns. In general, Icelandic taxable persons file bimonthly VAT returns. Parties engaged in fish processing are permitted to file a temporary settlement of one week from Monday to Sunday. Farmers file VAT returns twice a year. Businesses with taxable turnover of less than ISK3,000,000 may opt to file annual returns. Parties whose output VAT is habitually lower than their input VAT may obtain permission to file monthly VAT returns.

VAT groups submit a single, joint VAT return.

To ease cash flow, businesses that receive regular VAT refunds may request shorter VAT return periods. Taxable persons must contact the appropriate VAT office to register for annual returns or for permission to use shorter VAT return periods.

For bimonthly VAT returns, the VAT due for each period must be reported and paid in full within one month and five days after the end of the VAT period. Return liabilities must be paid in Icelandic krona.

Special schemes. Not applicable.

Electronic filing and archiving. VAT returns should be filed electronically. The Director of Internal Revenue may permit taxable persons with annual VAT periods to file VAT in paper form.

Taxable persons shall manage their accounts and their settlement in such a manner that tax authorities can always verify VAT returns.

All books, settlements and data related to VAT returns shall be safeguarded for seven years from the closure of the relevant accounting year. Those who use cash registers are not obligated to keep paper registers longer than three years from the close of the relevant accounting year, provided the accounts have been fully closed, and signed annual accounts are at hand.

Annual returns. Taxable persons shall file annual VAT return RSK 10.25 if they have not filed tax return RSK 1.04.

J. Penalties

If VAT is not paid on time, the party is subject to a surcharge. The same applies if a VAT return has not been submitted or has been deficient and the VAT therefore estimated, or a reimbursement has been excessive.

The surcharge is 1% of the amount not paid in full for every day beginning the next day after the due date, although no higher than 10%. This applies for the 5th to 15th day of the payment month. If VAT is not paid within a month of the due date, interest on arrears must be paid.

India

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Bangalore

GMT +5½

Ernst & Young LLP
S.R. Batliboi & Co.
S.R. Batliboi & Associates
24 Vittal Mallya Road
12th and 13th Floors
Canberra Block
UB City
Bangalore 560 001
India

Indirect tax contact

Vivek Pachisia

+91 (80) 4027-5196

vivek.pachisia@in.ey.com

Gurgaon (proximate to New Delhi)

GMT +5½

Ernst & Young LLP
S.R. Batliboi & Co.
S.R. Batliboi & Associates
Golf View Corporate Tower - B
Sector 42
Gurgaon 122 002
India

Indirect tax contact

Harishanker Subramaniam

+91 (124) 671-4103

harishanker1.subramaniam@in.ey.com

Mumbai (formerly Bombay)

GMT +5½

Ernst & Young LLP
S.R. Batliboi & Co.
S.R. Batliboi & Associates
14th Floor, The Ruby
29 Senapati Bapat Marg
Dadar (West)
Mumbai 400 028
India

Indirect tax contact

Heetesh Veera

+91 (22) 6192-0310

heetesh.veera@in.ey.com

A. At a glance

Names of the taxes

Value-added tax (VAT)
Central sales tax (CST)
Service tax
Excise duty
Customs duty

Date introduced

VAT

Implemented in most of the states in India, effective from 1 April 2005 (replaced the sales tax regime)

CST	1956
Service tax	1994 (scope gradually widened and shifted to a negative list system in 2012)
Trading bloc membership	Asia-Pacific Trade Agreement (APTA), South Asia Free Trade Area (SAFTA), Bay of Bengal Initiative for Multi-Sectoral and Economic Co-operations (BIMSTEC)
Administered by
VAT	Levied and administered by the states
CST	Levied by the central government, but collected and administered by the states
Service tax	Levied and administered by the central government
VAT rates
Standard	Ranges from 12.5% to 15% among the states
Other	0%, 1%, 5% to 5.5% (depending on the state) and 20%; 0.25% to 1% on entire turnover for small sellers
CST rates
Goods purchased for resale, use in manufacturing or other specified usage	2%
Other cases	VAT rate applicable in the respective state
Service tax rate	12.36% (12% service tax + 3% cess)
VAT number format	11-digit number format; first two digits identify the State of registration
VAT and CST return periods	Annually/half-yearly/quarterly/monthly
Service tax return periods	Half-yearly
Thresholds
VAT registration	Generally INR500,000 but varies from state to state
CST registration	None
Service tax registration	INR10,00,000
Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses	No

B. Scope of the tax

VAT. VAT applies to the following transactions:

- The sale of goods within the state, which for this purpose includes the transfer of a right to use goods (a lease)
- The transfer of goods during the execution of works contracts involving the supply of materials and services

- The purchase of goods from non-registered vendors in specified situations
- The delivery of goods with respect to hire-purchase or any system of payment by installments
- The supply of food or any other article for human consumption or any drink as part of a service or in any other manner

CST. CST applies to the interstate sale of goods, that is, to the movement of goods from one state to another, pursuant to a sale.

Service tax. Service tax is applicable on the supply of services provided in a taxable territory. A service is defined as any activity carried out by a person for another for a consideration. The following have been excluded from the definition of service:

- An activity which constitutes merely:
 - The transfer of title in goods or immovable property
 - Transactions, such as a transfer of the right to use goods, deemed to be a sale under the Indian Constitution
 - A transaction in money or actionable claim
- A service by an employee to the employer in the course of employment
- Fees applicable taken by legal courts or tribunals

Service tax law sets out a negative list of activities that are not subject to service tax. In addition, notifications provide for service tax exemption for specified activities. Law also declares certain activities to be services.

Other indirect taxes. In addition to VAT, CST and the service tax, an excise duty (CENVAT) is levied in the form of a value-added tax on the manufacture of goods in India. The general rate of excise duty is 12.36%.

India levies customs duty on the importation of goods into India and on the export of specified products. India's customs duty has the following components:

- Basic customs duty
- Additional customs duty (CVD) levied in lieu of excise
- Additional duty of customs (SAD) levied in lieu of the domestic sales tax and other local taxes
- Education cess levied at 3% on the basic customs duty and CVD

The excise duty and the CVD on inputs are creditable against the service tax and excise duty chargeable on outputs. SAD is creditable only against the excise duty. Refund of the SAD is available if the imported goods are subsequently sold as such in India after payment of appropriate VAT or CST.

The education cess is applied at a rate of 3%. It is levied on the amount of the notified duties and taxes, such as customs duty, excise duty and service tax.

Proposed goods and services tax. The central government of India has proposed the introduction of a new goods and services tax (GST). The GST is intended to subsume most of the central and state level indirect taxes currently in force. It is proposed that the new tax would be a "dual" GST, consisting of central GST (CGST) and state GST (SGST). The new tax would have a far-reaching impact on all sectors of the economy. The current proposed date for introduction of a GST is April 2016.

C. Who is liable

VAT. All sellers with a turnover in excess of the registration threshold are liable to register for VAT. In most states, the threshold is INR500,000 of sales.

The registration threshold is nil or very low for sellers who import goods into a state.

CST. Every person that sells goods to a buyer outside the state is required to be registered and pay CST. No turnover threshold applies.

Service tax. Every person that provides taxable services in excess of the turnover threshold is required to pay service tax. The service tax turnover threshold is INR1 million for discharge of tax. For a few specified activities, the service receiver is liable to deposit the service tax irrespective of the turnover. Also, for a few specified activities, the liability to discharge the service tax is shared between the service provider and the service receiver.

Excise duty. In general, every person that undertakes a manufacturing activity must be registered with Central Excise authority. Exemption from registration criteria is granted to a few specified persons, such as small-scale units having a turnover of INR15 million or less.

Registration procedures. Procedures have been prescribed to obtain registration under respective statutes. Generally, application of registration can be made online (certain States excepted). The online application for registration is followed by the filing of a signed physical copy along with supporting documents. Relevant department authorities, after review of the application and documents submitted, grant the registration certificate to the dealers.

Voluntary registration. An entity may register voluntarily for CST, excise duty and service tax. Voluntary registration is also available under most states' VAT laws.

Branch registration. Requirements vary for informing tax authorities of all company offices.

VAT/CST registration. Branches and offices of the company must be included in the VAT/CST registration for the state.

Service tax. Each premises of a service provider must be registered separately for the service tax. However, if the service provider maintains a centralized billing or accounting system, a single service tax registration can be obtained for all of its premises.

A head or centralized office of a manufacturer or service provider that receives invoices for the purchase of input services but has no or inadequate output tax liability can obtain a registration to distribute the surplus credit to other offices that are required to discharge the output tax liability.

Excise duty. Every manufacturing unit and/or place of clearance of excisable goods should be separately registered under Central Excise.

No VAT or CST applies to goods at the point of importation into a state. However, these taxes apply to any subsequent sale of the goods within the state after their importation.

Tax representatives. The respective statutes have prescribed a list of persons authorized to represent a company before department authorities and courts of law.

Late-registration penalties. Penalties are imposed under respective statutes for non-registration or late registration under the indirect tax statutes.

Group registration. Under the service tax regime, a service provider is allowed to register all its premises together. Similarly, state law provided for a single registration number for all branches within a state. Under the Excise law, every place of manufacture has to be separately registered, unless the company is registered as a “large tax payer.”

Non-established businesses. A “non-established business” is not required to register in India. Under the service tax regime, service tax is required to be paid under reverse-charge mechanism on procurement of services from a foreign service provider. Under the State laws, no such reverse-charge mechanism is applicable on importation of goods as imports are not liable to State VAT.

Reverse charge. For VAT, state laws may require registered dealers to pay tax on local purchase of goods from unregistered dealers. Under service tax law a service recipient is generally liable to pay the service tax with respect to any taxable service received from a nonresident service provider. Specified transactions have variable rates of tax due under reverse charge.

Digital economy. Specific rules relating to digital goods and services are not prescribed in India.

Deregistration. Dealers are required to surrender their registration when they cease to carry on covered operations.

D. Rates

VAT. The standard rate generally ranges from 12.5% to 15%. The standard rate applies to all supplies of goods unless a different rate is specified in law.

Other VAT rates are 0%, 1%, 5% to 5.5% (depending on the state) and 20%. Some goods are exempt from tax. The following lists provide some examples of supplies that are exempt or taxable at various VAT rates.

Examples of exempt goods

- Fruits and vegetables
- Agricultural implements
- Books

Examples of goods taxable at the 1% rate

- Gold
- Silver
- Other precious metals and articles made of such metals

Examples of goods taxable at a rate ranging from 5% to 5.5%

- Medicines
- Intangible goods
- Industrial inputs
- Information technology products
- Telephones

Examples of goods taxable at the 20% rate or a higher rate

- Alcohol
- Motor fuels

Flat rate. Generally, small businesses with sales turnover between INR500,000 and INR5,000,000 may opt for taxation under the “composition scheme,” which results in a lower rate of tax, normally under 5%. Under this scheme, sellers pay tax at a flat rate on all of their sales, with no right of input tax deduction for the tax paid on their purchases (see Section F). The flat rate varies from state to state.

CST. The rate of CST varies depending on the status of the buyer and on the state where the goods are sold.

If the buyer of the goods is a manufacturer or reseller or if it uses the goods for a purpose prescribed by the CST law, CST applies at the concessional rate of 2%.

In all other cases, CST applies at the local VAT rate in the vendor’s state.

Service tax. The service tax applies at a rate of 12.36% on activities that constitute a service. It is paid on the gross amount charged by the service provider. The central government, through notifications, also provides either an exemption or a rebate on specified services.

Excise duty. The general rate of excise duty in India is 12.36% on manufacturing activities. Excise law follows an HSN-based classification, and the excise tariff sets various rates for specified products. Excise law provides for specific valuation rules to cover situations such as sales to related parties, free-of-cost supply, duty on intermediate products, etc. Excise duty on certain products, generally consumer-based, is applied to the Maximum Retail Price.

Customs Duty. Every branch of the company in which import of goods takes place or export of goods takes place from is required to be registered in the Import Export Certificate provided by the Directorate General of Foreign Trade.

Option to tax for exempt supplies. No option to tax exempt supplies is available.

E. Time of supply

VAT and CST. VAT and CST are payable when the sale is complete (that is, when the transfer of title to the goods takes place or, for leases, when the right to use the goods is transferred).

Service tax. The taxable event for the service tax is the performance of the service. However, the tax is payable on the issuance of the invoice or receipt of consideration (including any payments received in advance), whichever is earlier. The invoice or bill must be issued within 30 days (45 days in cases where the service provider is a banking company or a financial institution) after the date of completion of the service or the receipt of any payment, whichever is earlier. If the invoice is not issued within 30 days, payment of service tax is due on completion of service.

Excise duty. The taxable event for levy of excise duty is the manufacture or production of goods. However, the tax is payable at the time of removal of goods from the factory or warehouse.

Continuous supplies. VAT/CST is payable in each tax period in which the sale is made.

For purposes of the service tax, continuous services are services provided under a contract for a period exceeding three months, with the obligation for payment periodically or from time to time. In such cases, besides the normal rule for determination of the time of supply, the periodic payment milestones also need to be considered for determination of the time of supply.

Imported goods. VAT and CST do not apply to the importation of goods.

Imported services. Service tax on taxable services provided from outside India and received in India must be paid by the service recipient in India under the reverse-charge mechanism. Tax is payable on the date the payment is made. In case the payment is not made within three months of the date of invoice, the point of taxation shall be the date immediately following the said period of three months.

For transactions with associated enterprises, service tax is payable on book entry.

F. Availability of credit for registered persons

Creditable goods and services. In most states, input tax credit is allowed for VAT paid with respect to goods acquired for resale or for use in the manufacturing of taxable goods. Credit is obtained by offsetting the tax paid against VAT charged on sales (output tax).

Exports from India are zero-rated. The exporter has a full right of input tax credit for tax paid on the purchase of the exported goods and on goods used to manufacture exported goods.

A valid tax invoice must generally be retained to support claims for input tax credits.

Excise duty paid on input goods and service tax paid on input services are available as a credit to a service provider and/or manufacturer of goods. Exports of services and goods are zero-rated. Service providers and manufacturers of goods are allowed a refund of the service tax and excise duty paid on inputs related to exported services. The pool of excise duty on input goods and service tax on input services is commonly referred to together as CENVAT.

A time limit of six months (from the date of invoice) has been introduced for use of CENVAT credit.

For imports, CVD on inputs are creditable against the service tax and excise duty chargeable on outputs. SAD is creditable only against the excise duty. Refund of the SAD is available if the imported goods are subsequently sold as such in India after payment of appropriate VAT or CST.

Non-creditable goods and services. Most state VAT laws specify a list of goods on which input tax credit is not allowed. Some examples include:

- Goods used for the manufacturing of exempt goods
- Goods distributed as gifts or free samples
- Construction materials
- Office equipment
- Fuel for motor vehicles

In addition, states generally restrict credit on purchases made by VAT dealers who are under a composition scheme.

For CST paid, no credit is allowed.

For excise duty and service tax (CENVAT), credit on inputs and input services used for manufacturing or provision of exempted goods or services is restricted. Furthermore, service tax paid on certain services meant for the personal consumption of an employee of the business is not creditable.

Partial exemption. For VAT, input tax credit is generally not permitted for purchases related to sales of exempt goods. If goods are used for both taxable and exempt sales, most states require the seller to maintain separate books of accounts to detail the allowable portion of its input tax. Alternatively, they allow proportionate input tax credit.

For excise duty and service tax (CENVAT), separate accounts must be maintained with respect to inputs and input services used for manufacturing or providing taxable, non-taxable or exempt goods and services. If separate accounts are not maintained, a manufacturer or service provider must pay 6% of the value of exempted goods or exempted services after taking the entire input tax credit for eligible inputs or input services. Alternatively, the manufacturer or service provider may claim the credit attributable to taxable goods or services computed as per a prescribed formula.

Treatment of capital goods. For VAT, capital goods are generally subject to VAT at a rate of 5%. VAT credit with respect to capital goods is allowed. The credit may be claimed immediately on receipt of the goods or it is subject to amortization over a specified period ranging from one to three years, depending upon the respective state's VAT laws.

The excise duty paid on procurement of capital goods is available as a credit to a manufacturer or service provider. Fifty percent of the credit is available in the year of receipt, and the remaining 50% is available in any subsequent year.

In general, the credits under the various laws mentioned above are subject to prescribed terms and conditions, including the availability of necessary documents for a claim of credit.

Refunds. For VAT, if the amount of input tax credit in a tax period exceeds the VAT payable, the excess may be used towards payment of CST and any other amount payable under the state's VAT laws. Any remaining excess may be refunded after a specified period.

Refunding excess credit with respect to excise duty and service tax (CENVAT) is allowed only where the excess credits relate to exports of goods or services. Refunds of CENVAT on supplies to units or developers of Special Economic Zones (SEZs) are allowed with respect to services provided to SEZs, subject to certain conditions.

Preregistration costs. Tax paid on preregistration expenses is generally not available as credit, except as may be specifically provided.

G. Recovery by non-established businesses

Refunds of VAT, CST and CENVAT are not granted to businesses that are not established in India. Only entities that are registered under the respective tax laws may claim set-offs or refunds.

H. Invoicing

Tax invoices and credit notes. For VAT, a registered person must issue a tax invoice for all taxable sales made within a state. A small business that pays tax under the composition scheme is generally not allowed to issue tax invoices.

A tax invoice is generally necessary to support claims for input tax credits. Contents of the tax invoice are prescribed under the state VAT laws.

An adjustment note (or credit or debit note) may be issued to reduce or increase the amount of VAT payable on a supply (for example, an agreed adjustment is made to the price as a result of an error, or goods sold are returned). The state laws generally prescribe the contents of adjustment notes. Some states provide for a time limit (typically six months) for the reduction of VAT payable on account of return of goods sold.

For service tax, an invoice or a bill must be issued with respect to taxable services within 30 days (45 days in cases where the service provider is a banking company or a financial institution) after the provision of taxable services. The invoice or bill must contain the details prescribed under the service tax law.

For excise duty, a registered person must issue an invoice for removal of goods from a factory or warehouse. The invoice or bill must contain the details prescribed in the excise duty law.

Proof of exports. For VAT and CST, exports of goods are zero-rated for VAT purposes, that is, taxable at 0% with a right to input tax deduction. In general, the state VAT laws do not specify the proof of export required to support a zero rating. A valid export invoice, shipping document and receipt of remittance are generally considered sufficient proof.

For service tax, specific rules determine whether a service qualifies as an export. These rules are based on the following criteria:

- The service provider is located in the taxable territory.
- The recipient of the service is located outside India.
- The service is not specifically excluded under the negative list.
- The place of provision of services, as determined by specific rules, is outside India.
- The payment is received in convertible foreign exchange.
- The provider of services and the recipient are not merely an establishment of distinct persons.

Foreign currency invoices. Generally, invoices must be issued in the local currency. However, in case of export invoice, the invoices can be issued in the foreign currency.

Electronic invoices. Invoices can be generated electronically. However, the original invoice should duly be signed in paper form, and that paper form must be maintained for tax purposes.

I. Returns and payment

VAT and CST. VAT and CST returns must be filed monthly, quarterly or half-yearly.

Some states require an annual return to be filed in addition to the periodical returns.

Some states require a mandatory audit to be conducted by an independent auditor (for example, a chartered accountant). The audit report must be submitted to the tax authorities.

VAT must generally be paid for the same period as the related return by the date provided in the state VAT laws.

Service tax. The service tax return period is half-yearly.

Excise duty. Generally, the excise returns are filed monthly.

Both service tax and excise duty need to be paid monthly before the 6th day of the following month, except for the month of March when the tax or duty must be paid by 31 March.

Interest. For VAT and CST, interest is levied with respect to non-payments or late payments of VAT and CST. The rates of interest vary from state to state.

For service tax, excise duty or customs duty, non-payment or late payment of taxes or duties is subject to interest at the prescribed rate ranging up to 36% per year.

Special schemes. Specific policies of the central or state government can provide potential tax benefits to industries set up in a particular area or on the basis of their sector or the investments involved.

Electronic filing and archiving. Under the India indirect tax laws, periodical returns and payments thereto can be filed electronically. Physical copies of all returns and documentation are required to be retained.

Annual returns. Under the VAT/CST statutes, a dealer may be required to file annual returns with the state authorities. The requirement varies from state to state. There is no such requirement under the service tax statutes or excise.

J. Penalties

For VAT and CST, penalties are imposed by the designated tax authorities for non-registration, non-payment or late payment or for the failure to submit a return.

Penalties are also imposed for non-compliance with other provisions of the VAT laws. The penalty provisions vary among the states.

For service tax, non-payments or late payments are generally subject to a penalty of the higher of INR100 per day or 1% of tax per month, subject to a maximum of 50% of tax payable.

The contravention of any provision of the service tax law, for which no other penalty is provided, attracts a penalty of up to INR10,000.

Offenses, such as the provision of services without the issuance of invoices and the submission of false information to the authorities, are punishable by imprisonment.

Serious offenses may attract a penalty equal to the unpaid tax.

For excise duty, the penalty is generally applied as 50% of the duty amount. However, in serious offenses involving fraud, suppression of facts, etc., the penalty may, at the discretion of the tax officer, be 100% of the duty amount.

For customs duty, the penalty is generally applied at an amount equal to the duty demand. However, in cases of misdeclaration of import prices, the penalty may, at the discretion of the tax officer, be five times the import price.

Indonesia

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Jakarta

GMT +7

Purwanto, Suherman & Surja (PSS) Consult

Mail address:
P.O. Box 1973
Jakarta 10019
Indonesia

Street address:
Indonesia Stock Exchange Building
Tower 1, 14th Floor
Jl. Jend. Sudirman Kav. 52-53
Jakarta 12190
Indonesia

Indirect tax contacts

Iman Santoso

+62 (21) 5289-5250
iman.santoso@id.ey.com

Elly Djoenaidi

+62 (21) 5289-5590
elly.djoenaidi@id.ey.com

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Value-added tax (VAT)
Local name	Pajak Pertambahan Nilai (PPN)
Date introduced	1 January 1984
Trading bloc membership	None
Administered by	The Directorate General of Taxes (http://www.pajak.go.id)
VAT rates
Standard	10%
Other	Zero-rated and exempt
VAT number format	11.111.111.1-111.111
VAT return periods	Monthly
Thresholds
Registration for small entrepreneurs	IDR4.8 billion of supplies of goods or services
Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses	No

B. Scope of the tax

VAT applies to the following transactions:

- Deliveries of taxable goods and taxable services made in the Indonesia Customs Area in the course of a business by a taxable entrepreneur
- Imports of taxable goods into Indonesia, regardless of the status of the importer
- The use of taxable services and intangible goods provided by overseas entities inside the Indonesia Customs Area
- Export of taxable goods (tangible or intangible) and/or taxable services by a taxable entrepreneur
- Self-construction activities performed outside the course of business or work by an individual or company if the results are for the person's own use or for use by others

- Deliveries of assets not originally acquired for sale. An exemption applies if the input VAT on acquisition cannot be credited because the purchase was not related to business or because it was a purchase of a luxury car.

C. Who is liable

All businesses engaged in supplies of goods or services subject to VAT are required to register for VAT as “taxable entrepreneurs,” unless they qualify as “small entrepreneurs.” This requirement also applies to any permanent establishment of a nonresident business located in Indonesia.

Small entrepreneurs. A business qualifies as a small entrepreneur if its gross annual turnover (from supplies of goods or services) does not exceed IDR4.8 billion.

Nonresident businesses and tax representatives. A legal requirement to appoint a fiscal representative in Indonesia is not imposed. However, a taxable entrepreneur may appoint a proxy to handle its VAT refunds or audits.

Registration procedures. Taxpayers who meet the definition of “taxable entrepreneur” must register with one of these two tax authorities:

- The tax office whose jurisdiction includes the taxpayer’s residence or domicile or place of business
- Another tax office assigned to that taxpayer by the provisions of tax laws and regulations

In the event that a taxpayer’s business is resident in two or more tax office jurisdictions, the Directorate General of Taxation (DGT) can stipulate where the taxpayer must register.

The application should be submitted using the hard copy form prescribed by the tax office, which shall verify the application and issue a VAT Registration Number no later than five working days after a fully completed application is received.

During the verification process, the tax office may conduct a visit to the taxpayer’s office.

Late-registration penalties. If a taxable entrepreneur registers late, penalties may be imposed on the supplies of taxable goods and services made before the date of registration. Input VAT (see Section F) incurred during the period before registration may not be claimed as a deduction against output VAT due after the registration date.

Reverse charge. VAT is imposed on utilization of taxable services and intangible taxable goods provided by overseas entities inside the Indonesia Customs Area. The VAT shall be self-assessed by the party that receives the taxable services and intangible taxable goods.

Utilization of intangible taxable goods and taxable services shall occur at the earliest of the following moments:

- The acquisition price is declared as debt by the party that receives them.
- The selling price of intangible taxable goods or reimbursement for taxable services is collected by the party who delivers them.

- The acquisition price of intangible taxable goods or taxable services is paid, entirely or in part, by the party who utilizes them.

Depending on the status of the party who utilizes the taxable service or intangible taxable goods, the paid self-assessed VAT shall be claimed as tax credit or claimed as cost.

Digital economy. The same rules that apply to digital supplies and transactions as to ordinary supplies and transactions.

Deregistration. The Directorate General of Taxation (DGT) ex-officio or upon application of the registered taxpayer can revoke the VAT Registration Number in the event that one of several circumstances arise:

- The taxable entrepreneur changes address to the jurisdiction of a different tax office.
- The taxable entrepreneur's stock value or gross receipts for an accounting year does not exceed IDR4.8 billion.
- The taxable entrepreneur's place of VAT payment has been centralized in other places.
- The taxable entrepreneur misuses the VAT Registration Number.

The revocation of VAT Registration Number shall be performed by verification or audit, and it shall not eliminate any VAT obligation of the taxable entrepreneur.

D. VAT rates

The term "taxable supplies" refers to supplies of goods and services that are liable to VAT, including at the zero rate. The two VAT rates are the standard rate of 10% and the zero rate (0%), which applies to exported taxable goods (tangible or intangible) and taxable services.

Non-taxable goods include mining or drilling products extracted from source, basic commodities for public necessities (rice, corn, sago, soybean, iodized and non-iodized salt, fresh meat, eggs, milk, fruits and vegetables), food and beverages served in hotels, restaurants, food courts and such other places (dine-in or take-away, including catering), money, gold bars and valuable documents.

Non-taxable services include the following:

- Medical health services
- Social services (orphanages and funerals)
- Mail services with stamps (postal services)
- Financial services including fund raising and placement
- Financing services including shariah-based financing (financial lease, factoring, credit card and consumer financing)
- Underwriting and mortgage
- Insurance services
- Religious services
- Educational services
- Commercial art and entertainment services that are subject to regional entertainment tax
- Broadcasting services for non-advertising (radio or television broadcasting performed by a government institution or private agency that does not constitute advertising and that is not financed by a sponsor for commercial purposes)
- Public transport on land or water

- Domestic air transport as an integrated part of international air services
- Manpower services
- Hotel services
- Public services provided by the government
- Parking space services
- Money order services
- Catering services

Examples of zero-rated supplies of goods

- Exports of taxable goods (tangible or intangible) and taxable services

However, the implementing regulation states that exports of services subject to zero-rated VAT, are limited to the following categories:

- Toll manufacturing services for overseas customers that meet certain requirements (in the toll manufacturing process, a contractor manufactures goods using raw materials provided by the party ordering the goods, and the manufactured goods are delivered to the ordering party or others appointed by the ordering party)
- Reparation and maintenance services relating to movable goods that are being used outside the Indonesia Customs Area
- Construction services, which include construction planning consultation services, construction execution work services and construction supervising consultation services, if these services are related to immovable goods located outside the Indonesia Customs Area

The term “exempt deliveries” refers to deliveries of certain taxable goods and taxable services that are exempt from VAT and that do not give rise to a right of input tax deduction or credit (see Section F).

VAT exemption also applies to deliveries or importation of goods that fall under the category of “strategic goods.” These goods include, but are not limited to capital goods in the form of plant machinery and equipment, certain agricultural products, seeds for agriculture and electricity for houses.

Examples of exempt supplies of “strategic goods”

- Capital goods in the form of plant machinery and equipment, in either built-up or knock-down condition, not including spare parts
- Livestock, poultry, and fish feed and raw materials for the manufacture of livestock, poultry, and fish feed
- Agricultural produce (goods produced from business activities in the sectors of agriculture, plantations, and forestry, livestock farming, hunting or trapping, or breeding fisheries, whether from fishing or cultivation)
- Seeds or sperm of agricultural, plantation, forestry, livestock, breeding, or fishery products
- Clean water channeled through pipes by a potable water company
- Electricity, except for residences with power in excess of 6,600 watts

According to a Circular Letter published by the DGT in July 2014, the VAT exemption on agricultural products only applied for fruits and vegetables while other agricultural products such as plantation products, ornamental or medicinal products, and forestry products, which were exempted from VAT according to the previous regulation, are now subject to 10% VAT.

Examples of exempt supplies of goods and services

- Official textbooks
- Religious books
- Vaccines
- Certain ships, aircraft and trains
- Some real estate transactions
- Services supplied to local shipping companies
- Services supplied by the national army

The Free Trade Zone (FTZ) regimes provide a VAT exemption for the delivery of goods or services within the FTZ and the non-collection of VAT for the delivery of taxable goods or services to the FTZ. The areas that have been confirmed as FTZs are Batam Island, Sabang Island, and Bintan and Karimun Islands.

Option to tax for exempt supplies. Not applicable.

E. Time of supply

In Indonesia, VAT becomes payable at the earlier of the date on which the taxable goods or services are supplied or the date of receipt of advance payments. Tax invoices must be issued when the delivery of goods or services takes place, or on receipt of payment for a supply of goods or services, whichever is earlier.

Imported goods. The time of supply for imported goods is either the date of importation, or, for goods imported by companies determined to be bonded zone companies, the date on which the goods leave the bonded zone area.

F. Recovery of VAT by taxable persons

A taxable person may recover input tax, which is VAT charged on taxable goods and taxable services supplied to it for business purposes to the extent that costs corresponding to the input tax are for sales that are subject to VAT. A taxable person generally recovers input tax by deducting it from output tax, which is VAT charged on supplies made. If the input VAT exceeds output VAT due, this excess tax can be claimed as a refund (see Refunds).

Input tax includes VAT charged on goods and services supplied in Indonesia, VAT paid on imports and self-paid VAT on the use of taxable services and intangible goods provided by overseas entities inside the Indonesia Customs Area (under the self-paid method, the party who uses the intangible goods or services may pay the 10% VAT directly to the state treasury on behalf of the overseas party).

A valid standard tax invoice or customs document must generally accompany a claim for input tax.

In September 2010, the Indonesian Tax Authority released a circular stipulating that the export of “strategic goods” (including animal feed, raw materials for production of animal feed, agricultural products and seeds), is subject to 0% VAT. The circular confirms that a taxpayer exporting “strategic goods” may claim an input VAT credit relating to export sales. This can be claimed as a tax refund if it results in a VAT credit (that is, the balance of the input VAT credit is greater than the amount of output VAT).

Non-creditable input tax. In general, a credit may not be claimed for input tax on purchases of goods and services that are not used for business purposes (for example, goods acquired for private use by an entrepreneur).

In addition, input tax on purchases of goods and services that were made before the taxable entrepreneur started to deliver taxable goods or services also cannot be credited, except for input VAT on capital goods that can still be claimed as a tax credit.

Input VAT on capital goods purchased or imported that were credited and refunded during the preproduction stage by a VAT-able firm must be repaid if the enterprise is unable to produce VAT-able goods within three years.

The following lists provide some examples of items of expenditure for which input tax is not creditable and examples of items for which input tax is creditable.

Examples of items for which input tax is non-creditable

- Purchases used for nonbusiness purposes
- Business gifts
- Purchase, lease or hire of benefits in kind (such as employee accommodation or personal cars)

Examples of items for which input tax is creditable (if directly related to a taxable business use)

- Advertising
- Attending conferences and seminars
- Purchase, lease or hire of cars, vans or trucks
- Maintenance and fuel for vans and trucks
- Business travel expenses

Refunds. If the amount of input tax credits in a period exceeds the VAT payable in the same period, the excess amount is refundable. In general, refund claims must be made at the end of the year. However, certain taxpayers may claim refunds on a monthly basis. The Indonesian tax authorities conduct audits to ensure the validity of VAT refund claims. The tax audit must be concluded within one year after the date of the request for a refund.

If the tax audit confirms that the VAT refund claim is valid, the taxable person may recover the overpaid tax within one month after the date of the tax audit assessment letter.

The Indonesian tax authorities must pay an interest penalty for delays in making valid repayments, calculated at the rate of 2% per month of the tax refundable.

An accelerated refund process through a tax examination is provided for certain taxable entrepreneurs who meet the criteria for a compliant taxpayer or a low-risk taxpayer.

Partial exemption. Not applicable.

Preregistration costs. Input tax paid prior to issuance of the VAT Registration Number is not creditable.

G. Recovery of VAT by nonresident businesses

Indonesia does not refund VAT incurred by businesses that are neither established nor registered for VAT in Indonesia. A permanent establishment of a nonresident business in Indonesia may request a VAT refund in the same manner as other Indonesian taxable persons.

H. Invoicing

VAT invoices and credit notes. A standard VAT invoice for all taxable supplies made must be provided by Indonesian taxable entrepreneurs except those who are engaged in retail business or are the end-users of the goods.

The VAT invoice number is determined by the Directorate General of Taxes (DGT). Indonesian taxable entrepreneurs are required to request the VAT invoice number from the DGT before issuing VAT invoices.

Indonesian taxable entrepreneurs are also required to submit a specimen of the signature of the authorized person who will sign VAT invoices.

A complete and correct standard VAT invoice is generally necessary to support a claim for input tax credit.

A purchaser who returns goods to a supplier or cancels services may issue a credit note or cancellation note. A credit note or cancellation note must refer to the original VAT invoice and clearly indicate details of the returned goods or cancelled services. A credit note or cancellation note may be used to adjust the amount of VAT due for a taxable supply of goods or services.

Proof of exports. Exports of goods are subject to VAT at the rate of 0%. However, export supplies must be supported with evidence that the goods were exported outside Indonesia. Valid evidence of export includes “Notification of Export Goods” (PEB) documents issued by the customs office for goods that have been approved for loading.

Foreign-currency invoices. For supplies denominated in a foreign currency, the amounts of output tax shown must be stated in Indonesian rupiah (IDR). The official exchange rate issued by the Minister of Finance on the date on which the VAT invoice is issued must be used to convert the currency.

Electronic invoicing. In June 2014 the Directorate General of Taxation (DGT) announced its plan to require all taxpayers to use electronic VAT invoices. The plan is aimed at minimizing the administrative burden of VAT invoices and to improve tax compliance. The requirement is being introduced in three phases, as follows:

- Effective 1 July 2014, 45 selected corporate taxpayers were required to issue electronic VAT invoices.
- Effective 1 July 2015, electronic VAT invoices are mandatory for corporate taxpayers registered in the 17 regional tax offices in the islands of Java and Bali.
- Effective 1 July 2016, all taxpayers nationwide will have to use electronic VAT invoices.

I. VAT returns and payment

VAT return. The due date for the submission of monthly VAT returns is the end of the following tax period. The VAT payable, if any, must be settled before the submission deadline of the monthly VAT returns.

VAT liabilities must be paid in Indonesian rupiah.

A new form of VAT return (SPT Masa PPN 1111) was introduced for VAT reporting periods beginning with the January 2011 period.

Special VAT-free regimes. Other VAT regimes technically eliminate the payment of VAT due. These include the following:

- The non-collection of VAT payable to companies in bonded zone areas and to manufacturers of goods for export
- The non-collection of VAT payable arising from goods or services supplied by principal contractors of projects financed by foreign aid loans or grants

In this context, non-collection refers to the tax facility under which the VAT due is not collected for certain taxable goods and services. Under such tax facility, the related input VAT can still be claimed as a tax credit.

Electronic filing and archiving. The taxable entrepreneur can submit the VAT return electronically via one of several application service providers (ASP) appointed by the DGT. The ASP must comply with the following requirements:

- It must be a legal entity.
- It must have a processing business license to be an ASP.
- It must have a processing Tax ID Number and already be stipulated as a taxable entrepreneur.
- It must sign an agreement with the DGT.

Taxable entrepreneurs who wish to file electronically must apply for an Electronic Filing Identification Number (e-FIN) and obtain a digital certificate from the DGT. The local tax office must reply no later than one working day after receiving a correctly completed application.

A VAT return completed according to regulations shall be signed electronically and submitted electronically through the ASP. Taxable entrepreneurs will receive proof of electronic receipt for every completed VAT return.

If there are additional documents that must accompany the VAT return but cannot be delivered electronically, the taxable entrepreneur must deliver them to the correct tax office (where it is registered) in person or by mail with a proof-of-delivery letter, or via courier or forwarder with a proof-of-delivery letter.

With regard to the VAT documents (both hard copy and electronic documents), these shall be archived for 10 years. In case of a VAT audit, the tax auditors will check the hard copy documents.

Annual returns. Not applicable.

J. Penalties

A penalty is charged at the rate of 2% per month on late payments of VAT. In the case of a tax audit, the maximum period is 24 months. An additional penalty of IDR500,000 is assessed for each VAT return submitted late.

A penalty, charged at a rate of 2% of the sales value, is imposed for the failure to issue a VAT invoice or for the issuance of a VAT invoice that is considered defective (including a VAT invoice that is issued late).

For severe evasion or fraud, criminal penalties apply. Two criminal offenses that may be charged with respect to VAT are described below.

Criminal offenses related to general tax administration excluding the issue related to a tax invoice. Criminal offenses related to general tax administration other than the issue related to the tax invoice that cause losses to the revenue of the state are punishable by imprisonment from six months to six years and a fine of twice the amount of the unpaid or underpaid taxes (minimum fine) or of four times the amount of unpaid or underpaid taxes (maximum fine). This criminal sanction may be doubled if the taxpayer commits another criminal tax offense before one year elapses from the date of completion of the taxpayer's jail term.

Criminal offenses related to the issuance of a tax invoice. Criminal offenses related to the issuance of a tax invoice are punishable by imprisonment from two years to six years and a fine ranging from two times to six times the amount of tax declared in the tax invoice.

Ireland, Republic of

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Dublin

GMT

EY

EY Building
Harcourt Centre
Harcourt Street
Dublin 2
Republic of Ireland

Indirect tax contacts

Breen Cassidy

+353 (1) 221-2413
breen.cassidy@ie.ey.com

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Value-added tax (VAT)
Date introduced	1 November 1972
European Union (EU) Member State	Yes
Administered by	The Revenue Commissioners (http://www.revenue.ie)
VAT rates
Standard	23%
Reduced	9% and 13.5%
Other	Zero-rated and exempt
VAT number format	IE 1234567 A
VAT return periods	Bimonthly (standard), triannually, biannually and annually, and Annual Return of Trading Details for all businesses
Thresholds
Registration
For persons supplying services	EUR37,500
For persons supplying goods	EUR75,000
Non-established businesses	None
Distance selling	EUR35,000
Intra-Community acquisitions	EUR41,000
Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses	Yes

B. Scope of the tax

VAT applies to the following transactions:

- The supply of goods or services made in Ireland by a taxable person

- The intra-Community acquisition of goods from another EU Member State by an accountable person
- Reverse-charge services received by a taxable person in Ireland
- The importation of goods from outside the EU, regardless of the status of the importer

C. Who is liable

The term “accountable person” refers to any individual or entity that is or should be registered for VAT. A liability to register arises from making “taxable supplies,” which include the supply of goods or services, intra-Community acquisitions and distance sales made in the course of a business in Ireland. An entity that exclusively makes exempt supplies is generally not treated as an accountable person.

The VAT registration thresholds in Ireland depend on the type of supplies made. For an Irish resident business or a fixed establishment of a foreign business, the following are the thresholds:

- EUR37,500 for persons supplying services
- EUR75,000 for persons supplying goods
- EUR35,000 for persons making mail order or distance sales into Ireland
- EUR41,000 for persons making intra-Community acquisitions

A business is required to register for VAT as soon as its turnover is likely to exceed the relevant threshold.

Option for registration. A business established in Ireland that generates turnover not exceeding the registration threshold is not required to register for VAT. However, a business that makes taxable supplies may opt to register in these circumstances.

Similarly, a new business may request registration in advance of making taxable supplies as soon as it is clear that it will become an accountable person.

Group registration. The Revenue Commissioners may grant group registration status to companies established in Ireland that are closely bound by “financial, economic and organizational links.”

A VAT group is treated as a single taxable person. VAT is not charged on supplies between group members, with the exception of certain supplies of real estate. Group members are jointly and severally liable for all VAT liabilities.

Non-established businesses. A “non-established business” is a business that has no fixed establishment in Ireland. A “nil” VAT registration threshold applies to supplies made in Ireland by a non-established business. VAT registration is required if a non-established business makes any of the following supplies:

- Goods located in Ireland at the time of supply
- Supplies of certain services deemed for VAT purposes to have taken place in Ireland (that is, services connected with immovable property)
- Intra-Community acquisitions in excess of the annual threshold or acquisitions of services from non-Irish suppliers
- Distance sales in excess of the annual threshold (see the chapter on the EU)

Registration is not required if all of the supplies made by the non-established business are subject to the reverse charge (self-assessment for tax by the recipient of the supply). The reverse charge does not apply to supplies of goods or services made to private persons.

A non-established business may apply to register for VAT in Ireland at the following address:

Office of the Revenue Commissioners
Dublin City Centre/North City Revenue
District 9/10 Upper O'Connell Street
Dublin 1
Ireland

The Irish VAT authorities may require a non-established business to provide security in order to register for VAT.

Tax representatives. A non-established business is not required to appoint a tax representative in order to register for VAT in Ireland.

Registration procedures. Taxpayers apply for VAT registration through forms TR2 (companies) or TR2 (FT) (branches). Hard copies of these forms have to be sent to the Irish tax authorities. Obtaining VAT registration typically will take 2-3 weeks.

Late-registration penalties. A penalty of EUR4,000 can be assessed for a failure to register for VAT.

Reverse charge. Not applicable.

Digital economy. From 1 January 2015, the place of supply of telecommunications, broadcasting and e-services to non-taxable persons will be the place where the customer is established, has a permanent address or usually resides. Taxable persons that make such supplies will generally be obliged to register, charge and account for VAT in the Member State of the customer (see section below describing the Mini One-Stop Shop scheme).

Mini One-Stop Shop. In simple terms, the business registers for MOSS in one Member State, known as the Member State of identification, and electronically submits quarterly MOSS returns in respect of its supplies of telecommunications, broadcasting and e-services to non-taxable persons in Member States in which it is not established, known as the Member States of consumption, along with the VAT due to these Member States. These returns, along with the VAT paid, are then transmitted by the Member State of identification to the corresponding Member State(s) of consumption via a secure network.

There are two schemes within the Mini One-Stop Shop scheme:

- The non-Union scheme for taxable persons that have no establishment within the EU
- The Union scheme for taxable persons that have an establishment within the EU but are making supplies to Member States in which they are not established

If the taxpayer is already registered in Ireland for the current VAT on e-services scheme (VOES), registration for MOSS is unnecessary: the taxpayer's information will be migrated to the new MOSS scheme. If further details are needed for the purposes of the MOSS, the Department of Revenue will contact the taxpayer directly. The registration number for MOSS will be the same as the VOES number.

To register for the non-Union scheme in Ireland, it is necessary to log on to www.revenue.ie or Revenue On-line Service (ROS) and access the VAT MOSS link. Some basic identification information such as company name, trading name, address, website URLs, contact persons, national tax reference number and bank details should be provided. It will also be required to confirm that the person is not VAT-registered or registered for MOSS in any other Member State and has no establishment in the EU. Once this information had been provided, the next step is to create a verification code which will be needed later to retrieve the VAT MOSS Tax Registration Number and Digital Certificate.

To register for the Union scheme in Ireland, it is necessary to log on to ROS, enter the Manage Registrations page, select VAT MOSS and select Register. As Revenue will already have basic facts about the person in question, the application will be pre-populated with this information. It will be possible to edit certain elements of that information for the purposes of MOSS registration. It will also be required to provide details of any fixed establishments the person has in other Member States and their VAT identification numbers in those other Member States. The VAT MOSS registration number will be the same as the VAT number of the person.

Deregistration. An accountable person that ceases to be eligible for VAT registration must cancel its registration. An accountable person may also request cancellation of its registration if the level of its taxable turnover falls below the annual registration threshold, or if the accountable person previously opted for registration and no longer wishes to be registered.

D. VAT rates

The term “taxable supplies” refers to supplies of goods and services that are liable to a rate of VAT, including supplies made at the zero rate. In Ireland, the following VAT rates apply:

- Standard rate of 23%
- Reduced rates 9% and 13.5%
- Zero rate (0%)

The standard rate of VAT applies to all supplies of goods or services, unless a specific provision allows a reduced rate, the zero rate or exemption.

Examples of goods and services taxable at 0%

- Books
- Most foodstuffs (excluding confectionery)
- Oral medicine
- Exports
- Children’s clothing and footwear
- Goods and services supplied to frequent exporters under the “VAT 56 Scheme” (see Section F)

Examples of goods and services taxable at 9%

- Newspapers and magazines
- Holiday accommodation
- Restaurant and catering services

Examples of goods and services taxable at 13.5%

- Electricity
- Repair, cleaning and maintenance services
- Developed immovable property
- Building services

The term “exempt supplies” refers to supplies of goods and services that are not liable to tax. Exempt supplies do not give rise to a right of input tax deduction (see Section F). However, an exception applies to certain exempt services supplied outside the EU.

Examples of exempt supplies of goods and services

- Postal services
- Finance
- Insurance
- Leasing of immovable property (unless option to tax exercised by landlord)

Option to tax for exempt supplies. A landlord can generally opt to tax a letting (with certain exceptions such as residential property and lettings to connected parties with less than 90% VAT recovery).

A vendor of immovable goods and the purchaser of those immovable goods can jointly agree to tax the sales.

E. Time of supply

The time when VAT becomes due is called the “time of supply” or “tax point.” The following is a general summary of the rules for determining when VAT is due:

- For supplies made to non-taxable persons, the due date is the date on which the supply is completed.
- For supplies made to taxable persons, the due date is the date on which the invoice is issued or the date on which the invoice should have been issued, whichever is earlier.

Prepayments. A prepayment is deemed to be a taxable supply, up to the value of the prepayment. The invoice for a prepayment must be issued within 15 days after the end of the month in which the prepayment is received.

A supplier that accounts for VAT on the invoice basis must account for VAT on a prepayment from a VAT-registered customer when the invoice is issued or when it should have been issued (that is, within 15 days after the end of the month in which the prepayment is received), whichever is earlier.

A supplier that accounts for VAT on the cash receipts basis must account for VAT on a prepayment from a VAT-registered customer when the payment is received.

The due date for a prepayment received from a non-taxable person is when the payment is received.

Intra-Community acquisitions of goods. The due date for intra-Community acquisitions of goods is the 15th day of the month following the month in which the goods arrive or the month in which the invoice is received, whichever is earlier.

Imported goods. The due date for imported goods is the date of importation or the date on which the goods leave a duty suspension regime.

Cash accounting. Some accountable persons are authorized to account for VAT on the basis of payments received rather than on the basis of invoices issued. This system is called “cash accounting.” Effective 1 May 2014, the turnover threshold for cash accounting will increase from EUR1.25 million to EUR2 million. For accountable persons using cash accounting, the liability to account for VAT arises on the date when payment is received for the supply. However, this does not change the basic tax point for the supply itself. The VAT rate applicable to a supply of goods or services is the rate in force on the date of the supply, not the rate in force on the date when payment is received.

Reverse-charge services. The time of supply is either the date the service performed is completed or the date of the tax invoice, whichever is earlier.

Continuous supplies of services. The time of supply for continuously supplied services is the date of the tax invoice.

Intra-Community supplies of goods. The time of supply for intra-Community supplies of goods is either the date of shipment/delivery or the date of the tax invoice, whichever is earlier.

Leased assets. Not applicable.

F. Recovery of VAT by accountable persons

An accountable person may recover input tax, which is VAT charged on goods and services supplied to it for business purposes. An accountable person generally recovers input tax by deducting it from output tax, which is VAT charged on supplies made.

Input tax includes VAT charged on goods and services supplied within Ireland, VAT paid on imports of goods and VAT that is self-assessed on the intra-Community acquisition of goods and reverse-charge services.

A valid tax invoice or customs document must generally accompany a claim for input tax.

Nondeductible input tax. Input tax may not be recovered on purchases of goods and services that are not made for business purposes, such as goods acquired for private use. If expenditure relates to business and private use, the input tax must be apportioned, and the amount related to business activities may be deducted.

In addition, input tax may not be deducted for some items of business expenditure, including the following items:

- The provision of food, drink and accommodation except for accommodation incurred in connection with attendance at a qualifying conference. A qualifying conference is a conference undertaken in the course or furtherance of business, organized to cater to 50 or more delegates. VAT may be claimed for a maximum period beginning with the night before the conference and ending on the date when the conference ends.
- Other personal services for taxable persons or their agents or employees.
- Entertainment expenses incurred by the taxable persons or their agents or employees.
- The purchase, hire or importation of passenger motor vehicles. However, 20% of VAT is recoverable on the purchase, hire, or importation of certain cars that have a low level of carbon dioxide emissions and that are used primarily for business purposes.

- The purchase of petrol (gasoline). However, diesel is deductible.

The following lists provide some examples of items of expenditure for which input tax is not deductible and examples of items for which input tax is deductible.

Examples of items for which input tax is nondeductible

- Hotel accommodation
- Food and drink
- Lease, purchase and hire of most passenger cars
- Petrol
- Business entertainment

Examples of items for which input tax is deductible (if related to a taxable business use)

- Car maintenance costs
- Attendance at qualifying conferences and seminars
- Lease, purchase, hire and maintenance of vans and trucks
- Diesel for business use
- Business use of mobile telephones
- Parking
- Gas and electricity

Partial exemption. Input tax directly related to making exempt supplies is not generally recoverable. However, input tax related to making certain exempt supplies to non-EU customers (qualifying activities) is deductible. If an accountable person makes both exempt supplies and taxable supplies, it may not recover all the input tax incurred on goods or services acquired for both purposes. This situation is referred to as “partial exemption.”

Input tax that directly relates to making exempt supplies is not recoverable. Input tax that directly relates to making taxable supplies is recoverable in full. For these purposes, the term “taxable supplies” includes zero-rated supplies and qualifying activities. Input tax that relates to taxable supplies and to exempt supplies is considered to have a dual use, and must be apportioned between taxable supplies and exempt supplies. The percentage of dual-use input tax that is attributable to making taxable supplies is recoverable. The recoverable percentage is rounded up to the nearest whole number. For example, a recovery percentage of 79.2% would be rounded up to 80%.

An Irish accountable person may use any calculation method to determine the recoverable percentage of dual-use input tax if the chosen method satisfies the following conditions:

- It results in a proportion of tax deductible that correctly reflects the extent to which dual-use inputs are used for the purposes of the person’s deductible supplies or activities.
- It has due regard to the range of the accountable person’s total supplies and activities.

Examples of possible apportionment methods include calculations based on the following:

- The ratio of turnover from taxable and qualifying activities to turnover from exempt activities
- The ratio of taxable transactions to exempt transactions
- The number of people involved in various activities

The Revenue Commissioners may require that a partially exempt accountable person uses a different calculation method if, in their view, the method adopted does not adequately reflect how input tax was used in the business or the activities undertaken.

Capital goods. Capital goods are items of capital expenditure that are used in a business over several years. Input tax is deducted in the VAT year in which the goods are acquired. The amount of input tax recovered depends on the accountable person's partial exemption recovery position in the VAT year of acquisition. In Ireland, no further adjustment is made to the amount of input tax recovered on the acquisition of capital goods with the exception of immovable goods, even if the ratio of taxable to exempt supplies changes in subsequent years.

Refunds. If the amount of input tax recoverable in a period exceeds the amount of output tax payable in that period, the accountable person has an input tax credit. An accountable person may claim a refund of the credit by submitting the VAT return for the period. If an accountable person normally receives refunds of VAT, it may request permission to submit monthly returns to improve cash flow.

Preregistration costs. VAT paid on costs incurred before registration are not recoverable.

Write-off of bad debts. The process of accounting for VAT on bad debts depends on whether the VAT was already paid to the supplier or if it was deducted but not yet paid.

In cases where VAT was already paid, the bad debt is allowable as a deduction for VAT if the following conditions are satisfied:

- The VAT paid was properly paid.
- The taxable person has taken all reasonable steps to recover the debt.
- The bad debt has been written off in the financial accounts of the taxable person.
- The person from whom the debt is due is not connected with the taxable person.

Where a person deducts VAT in a taxable period but has not, within six months of the end of that taxable period, paid the supplier for the goods or services, then the amount of VAT deductible will be reduced by the amount of VAT relating to the unpaid consideration, i.e., the VAT deducted relating to the unpaid consideration must be repaid to Revenue. A readjustment is provided for in the event of subsequent payment or part payment for the goods or services. The corresponding (re)adjustments should be declared on the corresponding periodic VAT return(s).

Noneconomic activities. Not applicable.

G. Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses

Ireland refunds VAT incurred by businesses that are not established in Ireland nor registered for VAT there. A non-established business may claim Irish VAT to the same extent as a VAT-registered business.

For businesses established in the EU, applications for refunds are made electronically to the tax authority in their Member States.

For businesses established outside the EU, refunds are made under the terms of the EU 13th Directive. Ireland does not exclude claims by businesses established in any country.

For the general VAT refund rules of the EU 13th Directive refund scheme, see the chapter on the EU.

Refund application. For non-EU claimants, the deadline for refund claims is 30 June of the year following the year in which the tax was incurred. For EU claimants, the deadline is 30 September of such year.

The claim must be for a period of not less than a calendar quarter, unless it is for the final part of a year, and the period may not be longer than a calendar year. For claims covering a period of between three months and one year, the minimum claim amount is EUR400. The repayment is made by a check issued in euros or by direct deposit into a bank account.

Applications for refunds of Irish VAT by non-EU claimants may be sent to the following address:

VAT (Unregistered) Repayments
Office of the Revenue Commissioners
3rd Floor
River House
Charlotte's Quay
Limerick
Ireland

Repayment interest. Claims are normally paid within three to six months after submission of the claim. For Irish VAT recovery claims from EU-based entities, in certain circumstances, interest is paid on repayments at a rate of 0.011% per day if the payment falls outside specific legislative time limits. For Irish VAT recovery claims by non-EU entities, interest is not paid by the Irish tax authorities on late repayments.

H. Invoicing

VAT invoices and credit notes. An Irish accountable person must issue a VAT invoice for taxable supplies made to taxable customers, exempt persons, government departments, local authorities, and bodies established by statute. An Irish accountable person must also issue an invoice with respect to intra-Community supplies to businesses in other EU Member States and to sales to private individuals in other EU Member States under distance selling arrangements. A VAT invoice must be issued within 15 days after the end of the month in which either the goods or services were supplied or an advance payment was received.

A VAT invoice is necessary to support a claim for input tax deduction or an Irish VAT refund application under the EU 13th Directive for non-EU businesses or under the VAT refund procedure applicable to EU businesses (see the chapter on the EU).

A VAT credit note must be used if the VAT payable on a supply is reduced because of a subsequent allowance or discount, unless the supplier and taxable customer agree that the VAT need not be adjusted. The credit note must be cross-referenced to the original VAT invoice and contain the same information.

Electronic invoicing. Effective 1 January 2013, the VAT law has been amended to permit electronic invoicing in line with EU Directive 2010/45/EU.

Proof of exports and intra-Community supplies. VAT is chargeable at a zero rate on the supply of exported goods or on the intra-Community supply of goods (see the chapter on the EU). However, to qualify for a zero rate, exports and intra-Community supplies must be supported by evidence that confirms the goods have left Ireland. Acceptable proof includes the following documentation:

- For an export, a copy of the export document officially validated by customs showing the supplier as the exporter, together with shipping or air freight documents, and copies of commercial documentation (for example, orders, copy invoices, dispatch notes and delivery notes).
- For an intra-Community supply, a range of commercial documentation, including purchase orders, transport documentation, proof of payments received from abroad and contracts. The EU VAT registration number of the customer must also be quoted on the sales invoice.

Foreign-currency invoices. A VAT invoice may be issued in a foreign currency, but the actual VAT amount must be converted to euros and included on all VAT invoices issued. The invoice amounts must be converted using the latest selling rate recorded by the Irish Central Bank at the time of supply.

It is possible to agree on a different exchange rate method with the Irish VAT authorities. If an alternative method is used, the accountable person must use it for all foreign-currency transactions.

B2C invoices. Effective 1 January 2015, new rules apply to the place of supply for supplies of telecommunications, broadcasting and electronic services to non-VAT taxable customers. For further details of the VAT rules on electronic services in the EU, please refer to the European Union chapter.

I. VAT returns and payment

VAT returns. Irish VAT returns are generally submitted on a bimonthly basis. All VAT returns must be filed electronically in Ireland. Returns and full payment of the VAT due must be made by the 23rd day of the month following the return period.

Biannual or four-monthly VAT returns may be submitted by traders whose total VAT payment for the year is less than EUR3,000 or between EUR3,000 and EUR14,000, respectively.

An accountable person that receives regular repayments of VAT may request to submit monthly returns.

Annual Return of Trading Details. All accountable persons must submit an Annual Return of Trading Details, which outlines sales and purchases for the year, broken down by VAT rate. It is a statistical return. Consequently, no VAT liability is attached to such return.

Changes to the format of this return, including requirements to provide additional details, are expected to be implemented in 2014.

Annual accounting. Some accountable persons are permitted to submit VAT returns on an annual basis. This facility is granted at the discretion of the Irish VAT authorities. Accountable persons that submit annual returns must also complete the annual return of trading details.

An accountable person that is permitted to use the above facility may align its annual VAT return date with its commercial accounting year.

An accountable person that is permitted to submit annual returns must make monthly VAT payments by direct debit throughout the year. Interest may be chargeable if the sum of the monthly payments made is less than 80% of the total VAT payable for the year.

Special schemes. Farmers who are not VAT registered can charge a flat rate addition of 5.2% on supplies including, for example, livestock and greyhounds. (The rate is up from 5.0% with effect from 1 January 2015.)

Special treatment for frequent exporters. A business that exports goods to persons outside the EU or to taxable persons in other EU Member States does not charge VAT on these transactions. However, it pays VAT on the goods and services it purchases locally or acquires from other EU Member States and on imports. Consequently, a business that predominantly trades with other countries would generally be in a net VAT repayment position for each period. This may have a negative impact on its cash flow position.

To help ease cash flow for businesses involved in international trade, exporters benefit from a special treatment for purchases. This provision is commonly known as the “VAT 56 Scheme” (formerly the “VAT 13A Scheme”). For these purposes, a qualifying exporter is an accountable person that derives at least 75% of its turnover from exports of goods from Ireland and from intra-Community supplies of goods from Ireland to persons registered for VAT in other EU Member States. Qualifying exporters may apply for certification of their entitlement to relief. Copies of the certification must be provided to suppliers which are required to supply most goods and services to qualifying exporters at the zero rate.

The VAT 56 zero rating applies to most domestic purchases of goods and services, imports and intra-Community acquisitions. The zero rating does not apply to the supply or hire of passenger cars, petrol (gasoline) for cars, food, drink, accommodation, non-business purchases or any other expenses for which the input tax is not deductible.

Electronic filing and archiving. It is not required to retain the paper originals of any third-party record where an electronic copy of the original record is generated, recorded and stored and the person is able to certify the following:

- The stored records were not damaged or amended.
- Proper security procedures were in place to prevent tampering.
- Programs are in place which will reproduce accurately the documents which are stored.

- A proper systems audit takes place annually to ensure that the instructions on the use of the system have been followed correctly and are in accordance with operational requirements.
- Copies of records must be accessible to Revenue in the way and format they may request.

J. Penalties

The basic penalty for the late submission of a VAT return is EUR4,000 per return. However, if the Irish VAT authorities determine that an error was made as a result of the taxpayer acting carelessly or deliberately defaulting, penalties may be imposed based on the amount of VAT underpaid or overclaimed. Such penalties can be between 3% and 100% of the VAT liability at issue.

Interest may also be levied on the amount of tax due at the rate of 0.0274% per day.

The Irish VAT authorities may mitigate penalties in certain circumstances.

K. EU filings

Intrastat. An accountable person that trades in goods with other EU countries must complete statistical reports, known as Intrastat, if the value of its intra-Community sales or purchases of goods exceeds certain thresholds. Separate reports are required for intra-Community acquisitions (Intrastat Arrivals) and intra-Community supplies (Intrastat Dispatches).

The threshold for Intrastat Arrivals is EUR191,000.

The threshold for Intrastat Dispatches is EUR635,000.

The Intrastat return period is monthly. The submission deadline is the 23rd business day of the month following the return period. Intrastat returns must be filed electronically through the Revenue On-Line System (ROS). Returns must be completed in euros.

The penalty for a late or incorrect submission of an Intrastat return is EUR1,265 plus EUR60 per day that the return is outstanding.

EU Sales Lists (VAT Information Exchange System [VIES] statement). If an Irish accountable person makes intra-Community supplies of goods and/or services, it must submit an EU Sales List (ESL). No threshold applies to ESLs. If no intra-Community supplies are made in a period, a “nil” statement must be submitted for that period.

ESLs are submitted quarterly if the quarterly amount of intra-Community supplies of goods does not exceed EUR50,000. Otherwise, ESLs are submitted monthly. An accountable person that is entitled to submit ESLs on a quarterly basis may apply to submit ESLs monthly if it is more convenient to do so. The submission deadline is the 23rd day of the month following the end of the return period.

The penalty for a late or incorrect submission of an ESL is EUR4,000.

Isle of Man

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Douglas

GMT

EY

Rose House
51-59 Circular Road
Douglas IM1 1AZ
Isle of Man

Indirect tax contacts

Ian Jones	+44 (1624) 691-823 ijones@im.ey.com
Julie Kirby	+44 (1624) 691-827 jkirby@im.ey.com

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Value-added tax (VAT)
Date introduced	1 April 1973
Trading bloc membership	Part of the European Union (EU) for customs and VAT matters but not an EU Member State
Administered by	Isle of Man Customs and Excise Division (http://www.gov.im)
VAT rates
Standard	20%
Reduced	5%
Other	Zero-rated, exempt and exempt with credit
VAT number format	GB 999.9999.99
VAT return period	Quarterly Monthly (if requested by a business that receives regular repayments) Annual (on request if annual taxable turnover is less than GBP1,350,000)
Thresholds
Registration	GBP81,000; nil for non-established businesses
Deregistration	GBP79,000
Distance selling	GBP70,000
Intra-Community acquisitions	GBP81,000
Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses	Yes

B. Scope of the tax

The Isle of Man is an international financial center that is part of the territory of the United Kingdom for indirect tax purposes.

However, the Customs and Excise Division in the Isle of Man operates independently from that of the United Kingdom, and the Isle of Man has its own VAT legislation. The United Kingdom and Isle of Man are considered one for VAT purposes, and the VAT laws of the two jurisdictions are very similar.

VAT applies to the following transactions:

- The supply of goods or services made in the Isle of Man or the United Kingdom by a taxable person
- The intra-Community acquisition of goods from another EU Member State by a taxable person (see the chapter on the EU)
- Reverse-charge services received by a taxable person in the Isle of Man
- The importation of goods from outside the EU, regardless of the status of the importer

C. Who is liable

A taxable person is any entity or person that is required to be registered for VAT. It includes any entity or individual that makes taxable supplies of goods or services, intra-Community acquisitions or distance sales in the Isle of Man in the course of a business in excess of the turnover thresholds.

Effective from 1 April 2014, the VAT registration threshold is GBP81,000; this threshold generally increases annually. The VAT registration threshold previously applied to both Isle of Man domestic and non-established businesses. However, effective from 1 December 2012, the VAT registration threshold was removed for businesses not established in the Isle of Man or the United Kingdom so that a nil registration threshold now applies. As a result, any non-established business that makes taxable supplies in the Isle of Man is required to register for VAT. Non-established businesses involved only in distance sales of goods to Isle of Man residents who are not taxable persons (see the chapter on the EU) are not affected by the removal of the VAT registration threshold. The distance selling threshold is GBP70,000; this threshold is set by EU law and does not generally increase from year to year.

Exemption from registration. A taxable person whose turnover is wholly or principally zero-rated (see Section D) may request exemption from registration.

Voluntary registration. A business may register for VAT voluntarily if its taxable turnover is below the VAT registration threshold. A business may also register for VAT voluntarily in advance of making taxable supplies.

Group registration. Corporate bodies that are under “common control” and are established or have a fixed establishment in the Isle of Man or the United Kingdom may apply to register as a VAT group. A VAT group is treated as a single taxable person. The group members share a single VAT number and submit a single VAT return. VAT is not charged on supplies made between group members. Group members are jointly and severally liable for all VAT liabilities.

Non-established businesses. A “non-established business” is a business that has no fixed establishment in the Isle of Man or the United Kingdom. Effective from 1 December 2012, a non-established business must register for VAT if it makes any of the following supplies in the Isle of Man, regardless of the value of the supply:

- Goods located in the Isle of Man at the time of supply
- Intra-Community acquisitions of goods (see the chapter on the EU)
- Services to which the reverse charge (see Reverse charge) does not apply

A non-established business must also register for VAT if it makes distance sales of goods to Isle of Man residents in excess of the distance selling annual threshold.

A non-established business that registers for VAT may normally do so from its place of business outside the Isle of Man. The application form (VAT 1 MAN) may be sent to the following address:

Isle of Man Customs and Excise
P.O. Box 6
Custom House
North Quay
Douglas IM99 1AG
Isle of Man

Reverse charge. If a non-established business supplies services to an Isle of Man taxable person but does not register for VAT, the taxable person may be required to account for the VAT due under “reverse-charge” accounting. This means that the taxable person charges itself VAT. The self-assessed VAT may be deducted as input tax (that is, VAT on allowable purchases) depending on the taxable person’s partial exemption status (see Section F). This provision does not apply in all circumstances. For example, it applies only if the place of supply of the services is the Isle of Man.

Tax representatives. A non-established business may choose to appoint a tax representative or agent to act on its behalf in VAT matters in the Isle of Man.

The Isle of Man VAT authorities may require that a non-established person appoint a tax representative. However, this condition may be imposed only if the business is established in a country outside the EU that has not agreed on mutual assistance provisions with the Isle of Man.

Annual accounting. Businesses with annual turnover of less than GBP1,350,000 may apply to complete an annual VAT return. Businesses that use annual accounting must make either three quarterly or nine monthly VAT payments, depending on the level of turnover. Any balancing payment must be made with the annual return. The annual return is due by the last day of the second month following the end of the taxable person’s VAT year.

Special accounting. A flat-rate scheme exists for businesses with an annual taxable turnover of less than GBP150,000. Under the scheme, eligible businesses may opt to calculate VAT due based on a fixed percentage of their total turnover. The percentages range from 4% to 14.5%, depending on the trade sector of the business.

Other special accounting schemes exist for retailers, including second-hand goods retailers, tour operators, gold traders and farmers.

Reverse-charge accounting for domestic supplies of mobile phones and computer chips. A domestic reverse charge with respect to specified goods is designed to combat missing trader fraud. The reverse charge applies, with some exclusions, to supplies of mobile phones and computer chips that are valued at GBP5,000 or more and that are supplied in the United Kingdom or Isle of Man by a VAT-registered business to another VAT-registered business. Under the reverse-charge accounting mechanism, it is the responsibility of the customer, rather than the supplier, to account for VAT on supplies of the specified goods.

Reverse-charge accounting for domestic supplies of emissions allowances. Purchasers of specified emissions allowances must account for VAT under a domestic reverse-charge accounting procedure, rather than paying VAT to the supplier. Only those compliance market credits which can be used to meet obligations under the EU Emissions Trading Scheme (EUETS) are subject to the reverse-charge mechanism. These currently comprise EU Allowances, some Certified Emission Reductions (CER) and some Emission Reduction Units (ERU), as defined in Directive 2003/87/EC (as amended).

Registration procedures. To register for VAT, form VAT 1 MAN should be completed and submitted along with supporting documentation to:

Isle of Man Customs and Excise
P.O. Box 6
Custom House
North Quay
Douglas IM99 1AG
Isle of Man

A VAT registration can usually be processed within 7 to 10 working days.

Late-registration penalties. A penalty is assessed for late VAT registration, which is calculated as a percentage of the VAT due (output tax less input tax).

If the liability to register for VAT arises before 1 April 2010, the penalty rate that applies depends on the length of time between when a business should have been registered and when it registers. If this period is less than 9 months, the penalty is 5% of the VAT due. If the period is between 9 and 18 months, the penalty increases to 10% of the VAT due. For businesses that register more than 18 months late, the penalty rate is 15% of the VAT due. The minimum penalty is GBP50.

If the liability arises on or after 1 April 2010, the penalty rate that applies may range from 30% (in most cases) to 100% (for deliberate and concealed acts) of the VAT due. However, measures exist for the reduction of such penalties if the business discloses the failure to register to the VAT authorities. The degree of mitigation depends on the “quality” of the disclosure.

Penalties apply to a range of other offenses (see Section J).

Digital economy. From 1 January 2015, the place of supply for digital services business to consumer (B2C) is where the customer belongs.

Mini One-Stop Shop. The Mini One-Stop Shop (MOSS scheme) will be available from 1 January 2015. The changes to the place of supply for electronic services means EU taxable persons supplying to non-taxable customers will have a requirement to register for VAT in the EU Member State where the non-taxable customer belongs. Registration for the MOSS scheme will enable EU taxable persons to file a single VAT return and make a single payment.

Deregistration. A taxable person that ceases to be eligible for VAT registration must deregister. A taxable person may also request deregistration if its taxable turnover drops below the deregistration threshold (GBP79,000 in 2014) or if its taxable turnover is wholly or principally zero-rated (see Section D). However, deregistration is not compulsory in these circumstances.

D. VAT rates

In the Isle of Man, the term “taxable supplies” refers to supplies of goods and services that are liable to a rate of VAT, including the zero rate.

If an Isle of Man company is not required to register for VAT but the beneficial owner is a non-Isle of Man or non-UK resident, look-through provisions may apply. In 1983, the Isle of Man reached agreement with the UK government to introduce measures to look through the fact that a company is resident in the Isle of Man and to consider the place of residence of the beneficial owner. Consequently, if a package of corporate administration services is provided to an Isle of Man company in these circumstances, the supply is not subject to VAT.

In the Isle of Man, the following three rates of VAT apply:

- Standard rate: 20%
- Reduced rate: 5%
- Zero rate: 0%

The standard rate of VAT applies to all supplies of goods or services, unless a specific measure provides for the zero rate, the reduced rate or an exemption.

Some differences exist between the Isle of Man and the United Kingdom with respect to the supplies that are eligible for zero rating and the reduced rate.

Examples of goods and services taxable at 0%

- Books, newspapers and periodicals
- Certain foodstuffs
- Children’s clothing and footwear
- Drugs and medicines supplied on prescription
- New housing
- Transport services
- Passenger transport (including yachts)
- Exports of goods and related services

Examples of goods and services taxable at 5%

- Fuel and power supplied to domestic users and charities
- Energy-saving materials

- Building materials for residential conversions
- Sanitary protection products
- Children's car seats
- Domestic property repairs
- Holiday accommodation

The term "exempt supplies" refers to supplies of goods and services that are not liable to tax and that do not give rise to a right of input tax deduction (see Section F). In addition, some supplies are classified as "exempt with credit." Exempt-with-credit supplies are effectively treated as if they were zero-rated, but they are not within the scope of VAT. This means that no VAT is chargeable, but the supplier may recover related input tax. Exempt-with-credit supplies include services supplied to taxable persons in the EU and to customers outside the EU.

Examples of exempt supplies of goods and services

- Betting and gaming
- Education
- Finance
- Insurance
- Land (in most cases)
- Public postal services
- Human blood products
- Medical services

Option to tax for exempt supplies. An option to tax can be made in respect of commercial land and property. Where an option to tax is made, supplies of interest in the land and property will become taxable with VAT chargeable at the standard rate of VAT and in return, input tax in relation to the taxable supply will be recoverable subject to the normal rules.

E. Time of supply

The time when VAT becomes due is called the "time of supply" or "tax point." The "basic" tax point under Isle of Man law is the point when the goods are either removed from the supplier's premises or made available to the customer, or when the services are performed.

The basic tax point may be overridden by the creation of an "actual" tax point. An actual tax point may occur before or after the basic tax point.

Before the basic tax point. If the supplier issues a VAT invoice or receives payment with respect to the supply, a tax point is created to the extent covered by the invoice or payment.

After the basic tax point. If an invoice is issued up to 14 days after the supply, the date of the invoice becomes the tax point. Taxable persons may request permission to extend the period for this invoicing tax point to up to a maximum of 30 days after the basic tax point.

Deposits and prepayments. The receipt of a deposit or prepayment normally creates an actual tax point if the amount is paid in the expectation that it will form part of the total payment for a particular supply. A tax point is created only to the extent of the payment received.

Intra-Community acquisitions. The time of supply for an intra-Community acquisition of goods is the 15th day of the month following the month when the acquisition occurred. If the supplier issues an invoice before this date, the tax point is when the invoice is issued.

Intra-Community supplies of goods. For intra-Community supplies of goods, the time of supply is the earlier of the 15th day of the month following the month when the goods are removed from the supplier or the date on which the VAT invoice is issued.

Imported goods. The time of supply for imported goods is the date of importation or the date on which the goods leave a duty suspension regime.

Goods sent on approval or for sale or return. The tax point for goods sent on approval or for sale or return is the earlier of when the goods are accepted by the customer or 12 months after their removal from the supplier. However, if a VAT invoice is issued before these dates, the invoice creates an actual tax point, up to the amount invoiced.

Continuous supplies of services. If services are supplied continuously, a tax point is created each time a payment is made or a VAT invoice is issued, whichever occurs earlier.

Reverse-charge services. The tax point for reverse-charge services is primarily when the service is performed. For single services, this is when the service is completed or when payment for the service is made, whichever is earlier. For a continuous supply of services, the tax point is the end of each periodic billing or payment period or when payment is made, whichever is earlier. For continuous supplies that are not subject to billing or payment periods, the tax point is 31 December each year unless a payment creates an earlier tax point.

Cash accounting. Businesses with annual turnover of less than GBP1,350,000 may apply to use cash accounting. Under the cash accounting scheme, businesses account for output VAT and reclaim input VAT on the basis of cash received and paid, rather than on the basis of invoices issued and received.

Continuous supplies of services. VAT is due when payments are received or when an invoice is issued, whichever happens first. Where payments are made at regular intervals, a VAT invoice can be issued in advance. However, the customer cannot recover input tax until the first payment is due or has been paid. Where payments are not made at regular intervals, an invoice should be issued annually to create a tax point.

Leased assets. The same general rules apply as with the continuous supply of services.

F. Recovery of VAT by taxable persons

A taxable person may recover input tax, which is VAT charged on goods and services supplied to it for business purposes. Input tax is generally recovered by being deducted from output tax, which is VAT charged on supplies made.

Input tax includes VAT charged on goods and services supplied in the Isle of Man or the United Kingdom, VAT paid on imports of goods into the Isle of Man or the United Kingdom, and self-assessed VAT on intra-Community acquisitions of goods and reverse-charge services (see the chapter on the EU).

A valid tax invoice or customs document must generally accompany a claim for input tax.

Special rules apply to the recovery of input tax on expenditure incurred before registration and after deregistration.

Nondeductible input tax. Input tax may not be recovered on purchases of goods and services that are not used for business purposes (for example, goods acquired for private use). In addition, input tax may not be recovered for some items of business expenditure.

The following lists provide some examples of items of expenditure for which input tax is not deductible and examples of items for which input tax is deductible if the expenditure is related to a taxable business use.

Examples of items for which input tax is nondeductible

- Purchase of a car (unless the car is available exclusively for business use)
- Fifty percent of VAT incurred on the rental or lease of a car used for mixed business and private purposes
- Private expenditure
- Business entertainment and hospitality (except when provided to overseas customers)

Examples of items for which input tax is deductible
(if related to a taxable business use)

- Conferences, exhibitions, training and seminars
- Taxi services
- Restaurant expenses for employees
- Accommodation
- Motoring expenses and fuel for business purposes
- Business use of a home telephone

Partial exemption. Input tax directly related to making exempt supplies is generally not recoverable. If a taxable person makes both exempt and taxable supplies, it may not recover input tax in full. This situation is referred to as “partial exemption.”

An Isle of Man taxable person that makes exempt supplies may calculate the amount of VAT that it may recover in several ways. The standard partial exemption calculation method is a two-stage calculation. The following are the two stages of the calculation:

- The first stage identifies the input VAT that may be directly allocated to taxable and to exempt supplies. Input tax directly allocated to taxable supplies is deductible, while input tax directly related to exempt supplies is not deductible. Supplies that are exempt with credit are treated as taxable supplies for these purposes.
- The second stage identifies the amount of the remaining input tax (for example, input tax on general business overhead) that may be allocated to taxable supplies and recovered. The calculation of recoverable VAT may be performed using the general pro-rata method based on the respective value of taxable and exempt supplies made.

If the standard calculation provides an unfair or distortive result, a special calculation method may be agreed with the VAT authorities. In some cases, the authorities may impose the use of a special calculation method.

Capital goods scheme (CGS). Capital goods are items of capital expenditure that are used in a business over several years. A taxable person does not have to be partly exempt or (for capital costs incurred after 1 January 2011) have nonbusiness activities when costs are incurred for the CGS to apply. The value of a capital item is the VAT-exclusive value of the item. Only the value of standard or reduced-rated taxable supplies is considered. Before 1 January 2011, the value of a capital item was determined by reference to the business-related expenditure. Effective 1 January 2011, the value is determined by reference to total expenditure on an asset. This includes both business and non-business expenditure on an asset.

Input tax is deducted in the VAT year in which the goods are acquired. The amount of input tax recovered depends on the taxable person's business use in the VAT year of acquisition. The scheme requires adjustments to be made to the initial amount of VAT claimed. This reflects the differences in the use of capital items over a period of time. This period is known as the "adjustment period." If, during the adjustment period, there is any change in the proportion of taxable use, then the taxable person must make a corresponding adjustment to input tax.

In the Isle of Man, the capital goods adjustment applies to the following assets for the number of intervals (normally a year) indicated:

- Land and buildings and related property expenditure valued at GBP250,000 or more are adjusted for a period of 10 intervals.
- Individual computer hardware valued at GBP50,000 or more is adjusted for a period of five intervals.
- Effective 1 January 2011, the CGS was extended to apply to ships and aircraft valued at GBP50,000 or more; the adjustment period is five intervals.

If, in any subsequent interval, the amount that the item is used to make taxable supplies increases or decreases compared with its use in the original deduction period, a CGS adjustment is required in that subsequent interval. No retrospective adjustments are made after the end of the first interval. The actual input tax adjustment (if any) required in a subsequent interval is calculated by dividing the total input tax (or total VAT if incurred after 1 January 2011) on the capital item by the total number of intervals in the adjustment period (usually either 5 or 10) and then multiplying by the adjustment percentage.

Refunds. If the amount of VAT recoverable exceeds the amount of VAT payable in a period, a refund may be claimed. This is done automatically through the submission of the periodic VAT return. A taxable person that receives regular repayments of VAT may request permission to submit monthly returns to improve cash flow.

Preregistration costs. VAT incurred on the purchase of goods for your taxable business still on hand at the time of VAT registration can be recovered, subject to the normal rules, up to four years prior to the effective date of VAT registration. VAT incurred on services purchased for your taxable business can be recovered, subject to the normal rules, up to six months prior to the effective date of VAT registration.

Write-off of bad debts. VAT on bad debts over six months old can be written off and output tax recovered. If payment is subsequently paid, however, VAT must once again be accounted for.

Noneconomic activities. Generally, VAT incurred in relation to non economic activities is not recoverable.

G. Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses

The Isle of Man refunds VAT incurred by businesses that are neither established nor registered for VAT in the Isle of Man. Non-established businesses may reclaim VAT to the same extent as VAT-registered businesses. For the general VAT refund rules, see the chapter on the EU.

EU businesses. An electronic VAT refund procedure applies across the EU. EU businesses must submit their claims for Isle of Man VAT through an electronic interface to their local VAT authorities.

Refunds are based on the calendar year. The final deadline for refund claims is 30 September of the year following the year in which the tax was incurred. Claims must be accompanied by the appropriate documentation (see the chapter on the EU).

Non-EU businesses. For businesses established outside the EU, refunds are made in accordance with the terms of the EU 13th Directive. The Isle of Man does not generally exclude businesses from any country from eligibility.

Refunds are based on the period from 1 July to 30 June (a prescribed year), and the final deadline for refund claims is 31 December following the end of the prescribed year in which the tax was incurred.

Applications for 13th Directive refunds of Isle of Man VAT must be submitted in English and must be accompanied by the appropriate documentation (see the chapter on the EU). The minimum claim period is three months and the maximum period is one prescribed year. The minimum claim for a period of less than a year is GBP400. For an annual claim, the minimum amount is GBP50.

Applications must be sent to the following address:

HM Revenue and Customs
 VAT Overseas Repayment Unit
 P.O. Box 34
 Foyle House
 Duncreggan Road
 Londonderry BT48 7AE
 Northern Ireland

H. Invoicing

VAT invoices and credit notes. An Isle of Man taxable person must generally provide a VAT invoice for all taxable supplies made, including exports and intra-Community supplies (see the chapter on the EU). Invoices are not automatically required for retail transactions, unless requested by the customer.

A VAT invoice is necessary to support a claim for input tax deduction or refund.

A VAT credit note may be used to reduce the VAT charged and reclaimed on a supply. The credit note must reflect a genuine mistake, an overcharge or an agreed reduction in the value of the original supply. A credit note must be issued within one month after the discovery of the mistake or overcharge, and it must be cross-referenced to the original VAT invoice.

Proof of exports and intra-Community supplies. Isle of Man VAT is not chargeable on supplies of exported goods or on intra-Community supplies of goods except distance sales (see the chapter on the EU). However, to qualify as VAT-free, exports and intra-Community supplies must be supported by evidence that proves the goods have left the Isle of Man/United Kingdom. Acceptable proof includes the following documentation:

- For an export, official customs documentation and commercial documentation, such as consignment notes and airway bills
- For an intra-Community supply, a range of commercial documentation, such as customer orders, sales invoices, transport documentation and packing lists

In all cases, the evidence must clearly identify the supplier, the customer, the goods and the destination. The evidence must be obtained within three months after the time of supply and be retained for at least six years.

Foreign-currency invoices. If a VAT invoice is issued in a foreign currency, the VAT value must be converted into pounds sterling (GBP), using an acceptable exchange rate, and stated in the invoice. Suppliers may use any of the following rates:

- The United Kingdom market selling rate at the time of supply
- The United Kingdom VAT authorities' published exchange rate for the period
- Any other acceptable commercial rate agreed to in writing with the VAT authorities

B2C invoices. Effective 1 January 2015, new rules apply to the place of supply for supplies of telecommunications, broadcasting and electronic services to non-VAT taxable customers. For further details of the VAT rules on electronic services in the EU, please refer to the European Union chapter.

I. VAT returns and payment

VAT returns. VAT returns are generally submitted quarterly. VAT return quarters are staggered into three cycles to ease the VAT authorities' administration. The following are the cycles:

- March, June, September and December
- February, May, August and November
- January, April, July and October

At the time of registration, each taxable person is notified about the return cycle that it must use. However, the Isle of Man VAT authorities may consider a request to use VAT return periods that correspond with a taxable person's financial year. In addition, a taxable person whose accounting dates are not based on calendar months may request permission to adopt nonstandard tax periods.

Taxable persons that receive regular repayments of VAT may request permission to submit monthly returns to improve cash flow.

Returns must be submitted by the last day of the month following the end of the return period. They may be submitted by mail or electronically. Payment in full is also due by the same date. However, taxable persons that pay their VAT return liabilities electronically have an additional 7 days after the normal due date to make payments.

VAT returns must be completed in pounds sterling, but return liabilities may be paid in pounds sterling or euros.

Payments on account. Taxable persons whose annual VAT liability is greater than GBP2,300,000 must make payments on account, which are interim payments made at the end of the second and third months of each VAT quarter. The balance of VAT payable for the period is made at the end of the quarter. The amount of the payment is generally based on the taxable person's VAT liability for the preceding 12 months. Electronic transfers must be used for all payments on account.

Special schemes. Not applicable.

Electronic filing and archiving. Electronic filing is permitted, and electronic archiving is permitted with approval from Isle of Man Customs.

Annual returns. Not applicable.

J. Penalties

If a business with a turnover of GBP150,000 or more submits a VAT return or payment late, the taxable person is in default and is issued a Surcharge Liability Notice. The surcharge liability period initially lasts for 12 months from the date of the notice. Any further default within this period triggers a penalty and extends the notice period. The penalty is a percentage of the VAT due.

The following are the percentage penalties:

- For the first further default in the notice period: a penalty of 2% of the VAT due
- For the second further default in the notice period: a penalty of 5% of the VAT due
- For the third further default in the notice period: a penalty of 10% of the VAT due
- For the fourth and subsequent further defaults in the notice period: a penalty of 15% of the VAT due (for each further default)

In the 2% and 5% penalty bands, penalties are not imposed on amounts of less than GBP400. A minimum penalty of GBP30 is imposed for the 10% and 15% penalty bands. If payment is made on time, but the return is submitted late, no penalty is levied. However, the surcharge liability notice period is extended.

For businesses with turnover of less than GBP150,000, a help letter is issued at the first default stage. At the first further default, a Surcharge Liability Notice is issued, followed by the same penalties listed above for further defaults.

Penalties for errors made on VAT returns. Under the current penalty regime (applying to inaccuracies on VAT returns for returns due for submission on or after 1 April 2009), if a business makes an error on a VAT return despite taking “reasonable care,” it should not be liable to a penalty. Otherwise, the penalty rate depends on the behavior giving rise to the error (rather than the size of the error) and may range from 30% (for “careless” errors) to 100% (for “deliberate and concealed” acts) of the VAT due. However, provisions exist for the reduction of such penalties if the business makes an unprompted disclosure to the VAT authorities. The degree of mitigation also depends on the “quality” of the disclosure.

K. EU declarations

Intrastat. An Isle of Man taxable person that trades in goods with other EU countries (excluding the United Kingdom) must complete statistical reports, known as Intrastat, if the value of its sales or purchases exceeds certain thresholds. Separate reports are required for intra-Community acquisitions (Intrastat Arrivals) and intra-Community supplies (Intrastat Dispatches).

The 2014 threshold for Intrastat Arrivals is GBP1,200,000.

The 2014 threshold for Intrastat Dispatches is GBP250,000.

A taxable person whose intra-Community trade exceeds GBP16 million (for either Arrivals or Dispatches) must also provide additional information concerning terms of delivery.

Intrastat declarations must be submitted monthly and completed in pounds sterling. The submission deadline is the 21st day following the end of the Intrastat return period (normally a month) to which they relate.

Penalties may be imposed if a taxable person’s Intrastat declarations are persistently late, missing or inaccurate.

EU Sales Lists. An Isle of Man taxable person must submit an EU Sales List (ESL) if they make either or both of the following types of supply:

- Intra-Community supplies of goods to business customer in other EU Member States
- Intra-Community supplies of services in other EU Member States if the place of supply is the customer’s Member State and if the customer is required to account for the VAT due on the supply under the reverse-charge procedure

The information to be included on the ESL includes the country code and VAT registration number of the customer, the total value of those supplies in pounds sterling and an indicator to identify the supply as one of goods or services.

An ESL is not required for any period in which the taxable person does not make any intra-Community supplies.

Monthly submission of ESLs is required if the value of supplies of intra-Community goods exceeds GBP35,000 in the current quarter or any of the previous four quarters.

Quarterly submission of ESLs is required for supplies of intra-Community services, but businesses may elect to submit them on a monthly basis.

Small businesses with a taxable turnover of less than GBP145,000 submitting annual VAT returns that make intra-Community supplies of less than GBP11,000 per year may request to submit annual ESLs.

For paper returns, ESLs must be submitted within 14 days after the end of the reporting period. For electronic returns, they must be filed within 21 days after the end of the reporting period.

Penalties are assessed for the late submission of ESLs and for material inaccuracies in ESLs.

Israel

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Tel Aviv

GMT +2

EY

3 Aminadav Street
Tel Aviv 67067
Israel

Indirect tax contacts

Avi Bibi	+972 (3) 623-2535 avi.bibi@il.ey.com
Regev Itzhaki	+972 (3) 623-2535 regev.itzhaki@il.ey.com

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Value-added tax (VAT)
Local name	Mass erech mussaf (Ma'am)
Date introduced	1 July 1976
Trading bloc membership	None
Administered by	Israel Tax Authority (ITA) Department of Customs and VAT (http://ozar.mof.gov.il/ita2013/eng/mainpage.htm)
VAT rates
Standard	18%
Other	Zero-rated and exempt
VAT number format	XXXXXXXXXX
VAT return period
Bimonthly	Taxable persons with annual turnover below ILS1.5 million
Monthly	General rule
Threshold
Registration	Annual turnover of ILS79,482; for lower turnover registration as an "exempted VAT-registered entity" required
Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses	No

B. Scope of the tax

VAT is charged on the following transactions:

- A sale of an asset including real estate, if the asset is located in, delivered in or exported from Israel (Delivery from a location outside Israel to another location outside Israel is out of the scope of the Act; this has implications for the input VAT deduction. See Section F.)
- Sale of intangibles or the provision of services by a taxable person in the course of its business
- Sale of an asset if the input tax on its purchase or import has been deducted

- An occasional transaction with respect to real estate (depends on the status of the seller and the purchaser and the classification of the asset sold)
- Provision of “services” by non-Israeli suppliers to Israeli customers
- Support, benefit or subsidy – including those not directly linked to the price of any supply (this may even extend to debt forgiveness) – provided to a taxable person unless an exemption applies
- Importation of goods (including intangible property) into Israel

The term “taxable person” refers to a person or an entity that sells assets or provides services in the course of its business, provided that it is not a nonprofit organization or a financial institution, which are subject to different tax regimes. This includes an entity that makes an occasional transaction. An entity that has annual turnover not exceeding ILS79,482, effective 1 September 2014 and that does not fall under the list of exceptions (for example, advisors and professionals) is not liable to VAT register as a trader, but must nevertheless register as an exempt entity for VAT purposes.

The term “asset” includes real estate and goods. “Goods” include all kinds of tangible and intangible property and all kinds of rights or interests but not securities, shares or similar negotiable instruments.

The term “service” includes all types of services provided to others for a consideration – including, importantly, credit transactions and money deposits. It does not include services provided by an employee to his or her employer.

An occasional transaction is the supply of goods or services in the course of a commercial activity. For real estate, it includes the sale of real estate by entities that are not in the real estate business to taxable persons, as well as the sale of land (excluding certain residential properties) by such sellers to nonprofit organizations, financial institutions or to certain purchasers specified in the Real Estate Tax Act.

C. Who is liable

A taxable person is liable for VAT on the sale of assets or the supply of services.

Several exceptions to the above rule exist, such as the following:

- For supplies of services or intangible property by non-Israeli suppliers to Israeli customers, see below under Reverse charge.
- Similarly, for certain purchases of real estate, the purchaser is liable to reverse charge the VAT.

For imported goods, the importer of record is liable for VAT.

Group registration. Registration as a VAT group is possible for two or more VAT-registered entities that are the following:

- A company and its subsidiaries
- Two or more subsidiaries owned by the same parent company
- A partnership and a partner that holds 50% or more of the rights in the partnership
- Entities whose bookkeeping is done jointly

The group members share a group VAT number and submit a single monthly or bimonthly VAT report. In addition, each member must submit an annual detailed digital VAT report, detailing the annual sum of output VAT and input VAT with respect to intra-group supplies and also the sum of output VAT and input VAT with respect to third parties. VAT is not charged on supplies made between group members, unless the VAT is not deductible as input tax. Group members are jointly and severally liable for each other's VAT liabilities. In practice, they may also be liable for other tax liabilities in certain circumstances.

Non-established businesses (foreign residents). A foreign resident that makes transactions in Israel, as defined in the VAT Law, or that acts as a financial institution or nonprofit organization in Israel must register for VAT in Israel and appoint a local representative (see below) to act on its behalf with respect to VAT matters within 30 days of beginning to carry on such activities in Israel.

The term foreign resident means an individual who permanently resides outside Israel or a company that is registered or incorporated outside of Israel.

For the purpose of zero-rate VAT for supplies made to foreign residents, additional requirements apply to meet the definition of "foreign resident" (see Section D).

Tax representatives. Where a foreign resident is liable to register for VAT in Israel, for example, because it plans to make taxable supplies, it also has to appoint a local representative, being both an Israeli citizen and resident, that would be liable to the tax authorities jointly and severally with the foreign resident.

Registration procedures. Online registration is not possible for overseas taxable persons, though it is for Israeli taxable persons. Hard copies – for some documents, the original is required – must be submitted. Relevant documents include appropriate forms, articles of association, proof of registration with the Israeli Companies House as a foreign resident corporation carrying on business in Israel, etc.

Late-registration penalties. These may be up 1% of the taxable turnover, on top of the VAT itself, plus interest, and adjusted for inflation.

Reverse charge. Supplies of services received from overseas must be self-accounted by the Israeli recipient. As for supplies of intangible property from overseas, the VAT on this should generally be withheld by the Israeli bank transferring payment to the overseas supplier. Failing that, the VAT should be self-accounted.

As for domestic reverse charge, this applies in various scenarios, such as where certain services are supplied by a non-taxable person to a taxable person and also where land is sold or leased by a non-taxable person, so as to amount to an occasional transaction, etc.

Digital economy. The Israeli tax authorities are widely expected to release a public notice setting out the relevant indicia in determining whether a foreign resident making digital supplies to Israeli resident customers is liable to register in Israel.

Deregistration. Israel has no separate registration and deregistration thresholds. A business whose turnover falls below the registration threshold may be deregistered.

D. VAT rates

VAT at the standard rate of 18% applies to the supplies of goods and services that fall within the scope of VAT as well as to the importation of goods, unless zero-rate VAT or a specific exemption applies.

Zero-rate VAT allows input VAT deduction, but an exemption does not allow input VAT deduction.

Examples of zero-rated transactions

- Exports of goods
- Supplies of intangibles to foreign residents
- Supplies of services to foreign residents, subject to broad use and enjoyment restrictions (for example, the services do not relate to assets in Israel, and the services are not also provided to an Israeli resident in Israel)
- Hotel accommodation for tourists
- Leasing private cars to tourists
- Tourist transportation

For the purpose of zero-rate relief the provision of services or the sale of intangibles to foreign residents, the term “foreign resident” is defined as an individual who permanently resides outside Israel or an entrepreneur that is registered or incorporated outside Israel, provided that the individual or entrepreneur is not engaged in a business activity in Israel.

Examples of exempt transactions

- Leasing of apartments for residence purposes for a period that does not exceed 25 years
- Transactions made by a business that is below the registration threshold
- Sales of diamonds and precious stones

Option to tax for exempt supplies. Israeli law offers taxpayers no option to tax exempt supplies.

E. Time of supply

Supply of goods. Generally speaking, the chargeable event takes place upon delivery – except for qualifying small manufacturers; these use the cash basis.

Supply of services. The cash basis generally applies. However, the chargeable event takes place when the services are supplied in the following circumstances:

- The consideration of services is affected by the fact that the transaction is between related parties.
- The consideration has not been agreed.
- At least some of the consideration is in cash.
- The services are supplied by certain businesses whose annual turnover is over ILS15 million.

Where the services are supplied in parts, a chargeable event occurs in respect of each part. Where services cannot be said to be made up of different parts, a chargeable event takes place upon each payment being made, in respect of that amount, or on completion of the services, whichever happens first.

These are general rules; specific rules apply to particular types of transactions.

Real estate transactions. For real estate transactions, VAT is due when the possession of the asset is transferred to the purchaser or when the asset is registered in the name of the buyer, whichever is earlier. For construction work, the tax is due when the work is completed or when the possession of the asset is transferred to the customer, whichever is earlier.

In addition, with respect to the above rules, if a payment is made before the above dates, VAT is due for that payment on the date of payment.

Imported goods. VAT is due when the goods are cleared through customs.

Effective 1 January 2013, a new tax clearance mechanism has been agreed between Israel and the Palestine Autonomous Areas for transfers of goods between their territories. VAT, purchase taxes and import taxes are based on the actual transfer of goods (not on the reported transfer of goods, as previously).

F. Recovery of VAT by a taxable person

A taxable person may recover input tax, which is the VAT charged on assets (purchased locally or imported) or services supplied to that taxable person for business purposes, if such items are used or will be used for taxable transactions. This excludes, for example, private expenditures, and expenditures that are used for out-of-scope transactions or exempt transactions.

A taxable person generally recovers input tax by deducting it from output tax, which is VAT charged on supplies made by it, provided that the proper tax invoices or importation documents are received in support of the input VAT deduction and that the deduction is claimed within six months after the date of issuance of these documents (a procedure for an extension is available).

Nondeductible input tax. This includes certain types of business and staff entertainment, input tax attributable to particular transactions such as costs related to share transactions, certain preregistration costs (see below), etc.

Refunds. If the amount of VAT recoverable exceeds the amount of VAT payable in a reporting period, the excess amount may be refunded within 30 days. A refund can be obtained by submitting the periodic VAT report, the additional detailed digital report and copies of the tax invoices exceeding the relevant amount if requested by the authorities. The authorities may postpone the refund and conduct an examination or audit.

Partial exemption. Partial exemption is generally calculated on a pro-rata basis. Unless rebutted, it is presumed that where most of the taxpayer's turnover is taxable, two thirds of input tax is used for making taxable supplies, and is therefore deductible; whereas, if the taxable person's turnover is mostly non-taxable, only one quarter of input VAT may be deductible.

Preregistration costs. Input tax on such costs is generally non-deductible. However, on application by a taxpayer, the tax authorities may allow input VAT incurred before registration to be deducted, where the authorities are satisfied that the relevant inputs are set-up costs, i.e., inputs bought at a time when the business was being set up, and used for that purpose.

G. Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses

While Israeli law has no mechanism that allows for this per se, i.e., any equivalent to the EU's 13th Directive, the scope of certain types of relief under Israeli law is broader than under EU law, with the result that non-established businesses may not incur VAT on supplies that would attract VAT in their home jurisdictions. One example of this is hotel accommodation supplied to foreign resident persons, including incidental supplies such as catering.

H. Invoicing

Only a taxable person may issue a tax invoice, and it must do so if requested by the customer. A tax invoice is required to support a claim for input tax deduction (see Section F). The invoice must be issued within 7 days when the time of supply is based on actual payments or within 14 days in all other cases.

The authorities intend to assign invoice numbers to each VAT-registered entity.

A VAT credit note may be used to reduce the amount of VAT charged on a supply. The credit note must reflect a genuine mistake, an overcharge or an agreed reduction in the value of the original supply. A credit note may also be used in a case of bad debts if all reasonable efforts have been exhausted to collect the debt and if all of the regulation requirements are fulfilled.

Foreign-currency invoices. The taxable amount must generally be stated in New Israeli Shekels. A foreign currency may be shown in addition, provided that the exchange rate on the day the invoice is raised is also shown. Alternatively, businesses may apply to the authorities for permission to raise foreign-currency-only invoices.

Electronic invoices. These may be used subject to strict technical rules concerning digital signature, electronic delivery, record-keeping, etc.

Proof of export. The export declaration issued by Israeli Customs and the commercial invoice are generally enough.

I. Reports and payments

Reports. VAT reports must be submitted on a monthly basis if annual turnover exceeds ILS1,500,000 or on a bimonthly basis if annual turnover does not exceed ILS1,500,000. Reports must be submitted by the 15th day of the month following the end of the reporting period. Payment in full is also due by the same date.

Electronic filing. An online detailed digital report is required for all taxable persons, regardless of their level of annual turnover.

Special schemes. The taxable amount for certain types of supplies may only be the profit margin on the sale. This includes supplies of second-hand movable goods, works of art and certain residential properties, where any of these supplies are made by a qualifying dealer.

Annual returns. There is no obligation to file an annual return applying to all taxable persons. That said, VAT group members must file a certain type of annual return (see Section C above) as to taxable persons in the Eilat free trade zone.

J. Penalties

Penalties for noncompliance with VAT obligations include fines and imprisonment.

A VAT-registered entity that fails to submit a report when required is liable to pay a fine of ILS212 for every two weeks of tardiness.

If a VAT-registered entity fails to pay an amount of tax when required, linkage differentials (such amount multiplied by the rate of increase of the consumer price index during the period in question) and interest are payable on the amount unpaid.

Penalties may also apply in certain other circumstances.

Italy

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Milan

GMT +1

Studio Legale Tributario

Via Wittgens, 6
20123 Milan
Italy

Indirect tax contacts

Stefano Pavesi	+39 (02) 851-4646 stefano.pavesi@it.ey.com
Silvia Confalonieri	+39 (02) 851-4559 silvia.confalonieri@it.ey.com
Anselmo Martellotta	+39 (02) 851-4485 anselmo.martellotta@it.ey.com
Emanuele Muolo	+39 (02) 851-4458 emanuele.muolo@it.ey.com
Marco Cantisani	+39 (02) 851-4635 marco.cantisani@it.ey.com
Maria Michela Mattei	+39 (02) 851-4510 maria-michela.mattei@it.ey.com

Rome

GMT +1

Studio Legale Tributario

Via Po 28/32
00198 Rome
Italy

Indirect tax contacts

Nicoletta Mazzitelli	+39 (06) 855-67323 nicoletta.mazzitelli@it.ey.com
Valentina Casale	+39 (06) 855-67334 valentina.casale@it.ey.com
Andrea Primerano	+39 (06) 855-67355 andrea.primerano@it.ey.com

Turin

GMT +1

Studio Legale Tributario

Corso Vittorio Emanuele II, 83
10128 Torino
Italy

Indirect tax contact

Anna Paola Deiana	+39 (011) 516-5293 anna-paola.deiana@it.ey.com
-------------------	---

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Value-added tax (VAT)
Local name	Imposta sul valore aggiunto (IVA)
Date introduced	1 January 1973

Trading bloc membership	European Union (EU) Member State
Administered by	Ministry of Finance (http://www.finanze.it)
VAT rates
Standard	22%
Reduced	4%, 10%
Other	Exempt and exempt with credit
VAT number format	IT 0 4 1 9 6 7 6 0 0 1 3
VAT returns	Annual (all businesses)
Thresholds
Registration	None
Deregistration	None
Distance selling	EUR35,000
Intra-Community acquisitions	None
Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses	Yes

B. Scope of the tax

VAT applies to the following transactions:

- Supplies of goods or services made in Italy by a taxable person (see the chapter on the EU)
- Intra-Community acquisitions of goods from another EU Member State by a taxable person
- Reverse-charge services received by a taxable person in Italy (that is, services for which the recipient is liable for the VAT due)
- Imports of goods from outside the EU, regardless of the status of the importer

For VAT purposes, Italy consists of the territory of the Republic of Italy excluding the municipalities of Livigno and Campione d'Italia and the Italian waters of Lake Lugano. Special arrangements apply to goods imported into Italy from the Vatican City and the Republic of San Marino, which do not form part of the territory of the Republic of Italy.

C. Who is liable

The term “taxable person” refers to any individual or legal entity that makes supplies of goods or services in the course of a business, or that performs an artistic or professional activity in Italy.

The occasional supply of goods or services is not generally within the scope of Italian VAT. However, any supply of goods or services made by a corporate entity is regarded as a business activity, unless it is specifically treated as a nonbusiness activity by the Italian VAT authorities.

Group registration. A corporate body that controls one or more other companies may apply to form a VAT group. The controlling company must form part of the group, but it is not necessary for all the companies that it controls to be included.

An Italian VAT group is not treated as a single taxable person. The group members retain separate VAT numbers, and VAT is chargeable on supplies made between group members. The use of a VAT group is actually an administrative convenience aimed at offsetting VAT payments and repayments among group members. EU entities that are registered for VAT in Italy may be part of an Italian VAT group.

Non-established businesses. A “non-established business” is a business that has neither the main establishment nor a fixed establishment in Italy. A non-established business must register for Italian VAT if it makes certain supplies, such as the following:

- Supplies of goods located in Italy at the time of supply to non-taxable persons or other non-established businesses
- Intra-Community acquisitions in Italy or intra-Community sales from Italy
- Distance sales in excess of the annual threshold (see the chapter on the EU)
- Supplies of services taxable in Italy to non-taxable persons or other non-established businesses

If a non-established business supplies goods or services to an Italian taxable person, the Italian-established taxable person is liable to account for the VAT due, under reverse-charge. Under this type of accounting, the taxable customer must self-assess the tax due. However, in such a case, a taxable person established in a non-EU country that does not register may not recover any Italian VAT charged to it unless the VAT is refundable under the terms of the EU 13th VAT Directive (for example, companies resident in Israel, Norway and Switzerland; see the chapter on the EU). A taxable person established in an EU country that does not register may recover any Italian VAT charged to it under the terms of the EU 8th Directive.

A non-established business that makes or receives taxable supplies of goods or services in Italy may choose to register for Italian VAT even if registration is not compulsory.

If Italian domestic supplies of goods and services are performed by non-established entities that are registered for VAT purposes in Italy to Italian-established VAT taxpayers, VAT is applied through the reverse-charge mechanism by the Italian-established VAT taxpayers. Non-established entities registered for VAT in Italy may no longer issue invoices applying Italian VAT to Italian-established VAT taxpayers.

Tax representatives. A foreign business that is established in another EU Member State or in a non-EU country that has suitable mutual-assistance provisions with the EU (currently no countries have such mutual-assistance provisions) may directly register in Italy for VAT without the appointment of a VAT representative.

Foreign businesses established in countries other than the countries mentioned above must appoint a VAT representative to register for VAT. The representative must be given a power of attorney to act on behalf of the non-established business.

Digital economy. Effective 1 July 2014, new rules on the taxation of digital economy services apply. Online purchase of advertising services and sponsored links, as well as online advertising spaces and sponsored links on the results page of search engines (search advertising services) that are viewable in the Italian territory, must be done exclusively through entities holding an Italian VAT registration. Moreover, for such purchases, the new legislation states that it is mandatory to use bank or postal accounts or any other means of payment allowing full traceability of transactions, including the VAT identification number of the supplier.

Registration procedures. Legal entities established in Italy or permanent establishments in Italy of foreign businesses must register for VAT purposes by submitting Form AA7/10 at the tax office competent for their tax domicile. The form must be submitted within 30 days of the commencement of economic activities.

Form AA7/10 is included in the comprehensive form called “ComUnica” which has been compulsory since 1 April 2010 for the establishment of a company. The ComUnica form must be submitted to the Italian Business Register electronically or in digital form. It includes all the forms necessary to satisfy all administrative requirements to be entered in the Italian Business Register, and it is valid for VAT registration.

This registration procedure usually takes one or two days.

Artists, professionals and individual businesses resident in Italy must fill in Form AA9/11 and file it in one of the following ways:

- In duplicate, submitted in person or by a duly delegated person if necessary, to one of the Revenue Agency’s offices, regardless of the tax domicile of the entity
- A single copy by registered post, enclosing a photocopy of an identity document of the declarant, to be sent to any one of the Revenue Agency’s offices regardless of the tax domicile of the entity (deemed submitted on the date mailed)
- Electronically, submitted by the taxpayer or by the person or entity entrusted with its electronic submission

The form must be submitted within 30 days of the commencement of economic activities, and the registration procedure usually takes one or two days. For foreign businesses established in a non-EU country, a VAT representative (see Tax representatives above) follows the same procedure as artists, professionals or individual businesses resident in Italy, filing Form AA9/11 with all the same requirements.

Direct VAT registration (only for taxpayers established in a EU Member State) is accomplished by submitting Form ANR/3 to the Revenue Agency Operational Centre in Pescara, which has exclusive competence in such matters, in the following ways:

- In person, to the office (by the taxpayer or a duly delegated person)
- By registered post, also enclosing a photocopy of an identity document of the declarant, together with a certificate demonstrating the VAT-taxable status held by the requesting person in the Member State of establishment and delivered to the following address:

Agenzia delle Entrate — Centro operativo di Pescara
Servizio identificazione soggetti non residenti
Via Rio Sparto, n. 21
65129 Pescara
Italy

Registration must be complete before the commencement of economic activities, and the registration procedure usually takes three to four weeks.

Late-registration penalties. Late registration for VAT may result in the imposition of various penalties, depending on the errors committed. Penalties include the following:

- Failure to inform the Italian VAT authorities regarding the beginning of activities: a penalty ranging from EUR516 to EUR2,065.
- Failure to issue and record invoices: a penalty ranging from 100% to 200% of the VAT not invoiced or posted.
- Failure to issue and record invoices for exempt and exempt-with-credit transactions or certain transactions not subject to VAT: a penalty ranging from 5% to 10% of the amount not invoiced or posted. However, if the violation is not relevant for the assessment of the income, a penalty ranging from EUR258 to EUR2,065 applies.
- Failure to make payments of VAT: a penalty of 30% of the payment not made, plus interest on the late payment.
- Failure to maintain VAT records: a penalty ranging from EUR1,032 to EUR7,746.
- Failure to file the annual VAT return: a penalty ranging from 120% to 240% of VAT due.

Reverse charge. The reverse-charge mechanism applies to taxable supplies of goods and services by non-established persons to taxable persons established in Italy and to intra-Community acquisitions of goods.

Supplies of B2B services as per Article 44 of the EU VAT Directive. Under the Italian VAT law, a domestic (i.e., applicable to all transactions, irrespective of where the supplier or the recipient is established) reverse charge applies in the following cases:

- Sale of industrial gold in which the seller opted for the application of VAT
- Services rendered under a subcontractor agreement in the construction industry
- Sale of residential buildings or commercial buildings for which the seller opted for the application of VAT
- Sale of mobile phones and microprocessors
- Sale of scraps, wastes and residuals of ferrous metals, shredded paper, bone waste, skin waste, glass waste, rubber and plastic waste, deemed to include even those related to the aforementioned goods which have been re-cleaned, selected, cut, compacted, transformed into ingots or subjected to other treatments to facilitate their use, transport and storage without modifying their nature; and scraps, wastes and residuals of non-ferrous metals included in specific categories such as refined copper and raw nickel.
- The provision of cleaning services, building demolition services, provision of installation systems and the services related to the completion of a building
- Certain transactions in the energy sector

Under the reverse-charge mechanism, the Italian supplier must issue an invoice without VAT, and the taxable customer must self-assess the VAT due.

Digital economy. Current legislation (Law 68/2014) repeals the requirement (Law 147/2013) that only entities registered for VAT in Italy be allowed to purchase online advertising services and sponsored links, as well as online advertising spaces and sponsored links on the results page of search engines (search advertising services) viewable in the Italian territory. Therefore, entities not registered in Italy for VAT purposes can purchase these services.

Mini One-Stop Shop. From 1 January 2015, the place of supply for business-to-consumer (B2C) supplies of telecommunications services, broadcasting services and e-services within the EU will be the Member State where the customer belongs. Taxpayers supplying electronic services to non-business customers in another Member State will have to charge and account for VAT according to the VAT rules of the customer's Member State.

Since 1 October 2014, businesses established in Italy and non-EU businesses can register for the Mini One-Stop Shop (MOSS) scheme through the Italian Revenue's website. A specific legislative decree implementing the new place of supply rules for telecoms, broadcasting and electronic services and clarifying the specific requirements for both Italian and foreign taxpayers is still to be issued by the Italian Government.

Deregistration. Taxpayers can cancel their registration for VAT purposes using the same forms used for the registration (see Registration procedures above). Taxpayers must deregister within 30 days of the end of business activity.

D. VAT rates

"Taxable supplies" are supplies of goods and services that are liable to VAT at the following rates:

- Standard rate: 22%
- Reduced rates: 4% and 10%

The standard rate of VAT applies to all supplies of goods or services unless a specific provision allows a reduced rate or exemption.

Examples of goods and services taxable at 4%

- Books, newspapers and periodicals (including e-books from 1 January 2015)
- Certain foodstuffs
- Medical equipment
- Supplies of food and drink in a staff restaurant

Examples of goods and services taxable at 10%

- Medicines
- Supplies of food and drink in restaurants, bars and hotels
- Supplies of electricity, methane and liquid petroleum, all for domestic use
- Electricity and gas for use by extraction enterprises and industrial enterprises

"Exempt supplies" are supplies of goods and services that are not liable to tax, and that do not give rise to a right of input tax deduction (see Section F). In addition, some supplies are "exempt with credit," which means that no VAT is chargeable but the supplier may recover related input VAT. Exempt-with-credit supplies include intra-Community supplies, exports of goods outside the EU and related services, and supplies of some services supplied to another taxable person established outside Italy.

Examples of exempt supplies of goods and services

- Education (under certain conditions)
- Finance
- Insurance
- Postal services
- Medical services

Option to tax for exempt supplies. Under certain circumstances, the seller can opt for the application of VAT to supplies that are listed as exempt, such as:

- Sale of social housing
- Sale of residential buildings where the seller is a construction company that has built or renovated the relevant property more than five years prior to the sale
- Sale of commercial buildings where the seller is not a construction company that built or renovated the relevant property
- Sale of commercial buildings where the seller is a construction company that has built or renovated the relevant property more than five years prior to the sale
- Renting or leasing of residential buildings carried out by a construction company that has built or renovated the relevant properties
- Rental or leasing of commercial buildings
- Sale of industrial gold and related intermediation activities

E. Time of supply

The time when VAT becomes due is called the “time of supply” or “tax point.” Time of supply rules vary according to the nature of the transaction.

For immovable property, the time of supply is the date on which the agreement to transfer the property is signed. For movable property, the time of supply is the date of delivery or dispatch of the goods. The time of supply may be an earlier date if an invoice is issued or if full or partial payment is received before the goods are supplied.

The time of supply for services is the date of full or partial payment of the consideration. The time of supply may be earlier if an invoice is issued before the services are supplied. No time of supply is triggered on the date of performance or completion of the service, in the absence of any payment or invoice.

If the services are performed on a continuous basis over a period longer than one year, and they do not entail advance payments within the same period, even partial payments, the time of supply will be at the end of each calendar year up to the completion of the services.

For purchases of services under Article 44 of the EU VAT Directive (implemented in Italy by article 7-ter of Italian VAT Law) from a non-established taxable person, the time of supply is the date when the services are completed or, if the services are supplied periodically or on a continuous basis, when the consideration accrues.

If the consideration is wholly or partly paid in advance, i.e., before the services are completed or the consideration is accrued, VAT becomes chargeable at the time when the payment is made and for the amount of said payment. The same rule applies to cross-border services supplied by a taxable person established in Italy to a non-established taxable person, when not falling under derogation rules provided by Article 47 and following the EU Directive (implemented in Italy by articles 7-quater and 7-quinquies of Italian VAT Law).

Deposits and prepayments. The receipt of a deposit or prepayment for a particular supply of goods or services creates a time of supply for up to the amount paid.

Goods sent on approval or for sale or return. The time of supply for goods sent on approval or for sale or return is the date on which the goods are accepted by the customer or 12 months after their removal, whichever is the earlier.

Intra-Community supplies. The time of supply rules for intra-Community supplies of goods are the same as those for domestic supplies.

Intra-Community supplies and acquisitions. The time of supply for intra-Community supplies and acquisitions of goods is the date when transport or dispatch of the goods to the customer begins in the territory of the Member State of departure, whether Italy or another Member State.

The time of supply may be an earlier date if an invoice is issued before the transport or dispatch of the goods begins.

Continuous intra-Community supplies and acquisitions of goods lasting for periods longer than one calendar month shall be regarded as being completed at the end of each calendar month.

Imported goods. The time of supply for imported goods is the date of importation or when the goods leave a duty suspension regime.

Cash accounting. Taxpayers can opt for cash accounting under specific circumstances if turnover did not exceed EUR2,000,000 in the previous year, with reference to transactions carried out with taxable persons.

Under cash accounting, rules for the supplier are as follows:

- VAT is due when the supplier receives payment for supplies of goods or services (but in any case not later than one year from the date in which the goods are supplied or the services are performed).
- VAT on purchases is recoverable when the consideration has been paid.

The invoice shall make specific reference to cash accounting and the pertaining legal provision.

A taxpayer that purchases goods or services from a supplier that has opted for cash accounting can deduct the relevant VAT when the transaction is deemed to be performed for VAT purposes, even if the payment for the supply has not yet been made.

Some supplies and purchases from a supplier that uses cash accounting are excluded from this regime.

Reverse-charge services. Under Article 44 of the EU VAT Directive (implemented by Article 7-ter of Italian VAT Law), the time of supply for services purchased from a non-established person by an Italian taxable person is the date when the services are completed.

If the consideration is wholly or partly paid in advance, VAT becomes chargeable at the time when the payment is made and for the amount of said payment. The same rule applies to cross-border services supplied by a taxable person established in Italy to a non-established taxable person, when not falling under derogation rules provided by Article 47 and following the EU Directive (implemented by Articles 7-quater and 7-quinquies of Italian VAT Law).

Continuous supplies of services. For services under Article 44 of the EU VAT Directive (implemented by Article 7-ter of Italian VAT Law) supplied periodically or on a continuous basis, the time of supply is when the consideration accrues.

If the consideration is wholly or partially paid in advance, VAT becomes chargeable at the time when the payment is made and for the amount paid. If the services are performed on a continuous basis over a period longer than one year, and they do not entail advance payments within the same period, even partial, the time of supply will be at the end of each calendar year up to the completion of the services.

Leased assets. Leasing of an asset is regarded as a supply of services for VAT purposes. The time of supply is the same as per other services, i.e., if an invoice is issued or a consideration is wholly or partly paid, the transaction is deemed to be carried out, within the limits of the invoiced or paid amount, at the invoice date or at the date of payment.

In case of leasing of movable properties, involving a non-established taxable person, the time of supply is the date when the consideration accrues, since leasing is a service typically supplied on a continuous basis. If a consideration is wholly or partly paid, the transaction is considered carried out, within the limits of the paid amount, at the date of payment.

F. Recovery of VAT by taxable persons

A taxable person may recover input tax, which is VAT charged on goods and services supplied to it for business purposes. Input tax is generally recovered by being deducted from output tax, which is VAT charged on supplies made.

Input tax includes VAT charged on goods and services in Italy, VAT paid on imports of goods and VAT self-assessed on intra-Community/domestic acquisitions of goods and reverse-charge transactions (see the chapter on the EU).

A valid tax invoice or customs document must generally accompany a claim for input tax.

Nondeductible input tax. Input tax may not be recovered on purchases of goods and services that are not used for business purposes.

Examples of items for which input tax is nondeductible

Input tax may not be recovered for the following items of business expenditure unless these goods or services are incurred by a taxable person in order to supply them in the course of its business activity.

- Passenger transportation services
- 60% of the VAT paid on the lease, rental or purchase of a car used for business purposes, maintenance costs, lubricants and fuel
- Costs relating to aircraft and leisure yachts
- Residential dwellings
- Food and beverages
- Representation expenses
- Business gift whose costs exceeds EUR50

Examples of items for which input tax is deductible
(if related to a taxable business use)

- 100% VAT paid on the lease, rental or purchase of a car used for business purposes, maintenance costs and fuel
- 100% VAT paid on mobile phones

Partial exemption. Input tax directly related to making exempt supplies is generally not recoverable. If an Italian taxable person makes both exempt and taxable supplies it may not recover input tax in full. This situation is referred to as “partial exemption.” Exempt with credit supplies are treated as taxable supplies for these purposes.

In Italy, the standard partial exemption calculation method is based on the ratio of taxable turnover to total turnover. Recovery percentages are rounded up or down to the nearest whole number (for example, a recovery percentage of 77.5% is rounded down to 77%, while a recovery percentage of 77.6% is rounded up to 78%).

Capital goods scheme. Capital goods are items of capital expenditure that are used in a business over several years. Input tax is deducted in the VAT year in which the goods are acquired. The amount of input tax recovered depends on the destination or use of the goods and/or on the taxable person’s partial exemption recovery position in the VAT year of acquisition. However, the amount of input tax recovered for capital goods must be adjusted over time if the destination or use of the goods changes and/or the taxable person’s partial exemption recovery percentage changes during the adjustment period by more than 10 percentage points.

In Italy, the capital goods adjustment applies to the following assets for the number of years indicated:

- Land and buildings (adjusted for a period of 10 years)
- Other capital assets as defined in the Italian civil code (adjusted for a period of five years)

The adjustment is applied each year following the year of acquisition to a fraction of the total input tax (1/10 for land and buildings and 1/5 for other capital assets). The adjustment may result in either an increase or a decrease of deductible input VAT, depending on, for example, whether the ratio of taxable supplies made by the business has increased or decreased compared with the year in which the capital goods were acquired.

Refunds to VAT-registered taxable persons. If the amount of input tax recoverable in a monthly period exceeds the amount of output tax payable in that period, the taxable person has an input tax credit. A refund of the credit may be claimed annually or quarterly if specific conditions are met, and if a taxpayer meets the conditions to claim both annually and quarterly, it may choose either. If the conditions for requesting a refund are not met, the input VAT credit may be carried forward to offset output VAT in the next VAT period.

Annual VAT refund. An annual VAT refund may be claimed if any of the following conditions are met:

- The average VAT rate paid by the taxable person on purchases exceeds the average VAT rate applied to its sales, increased by 10 percentage points.
- Exports, intra-Community supplies or international services make up more than 25% of the taxable person's total turnover.
- The VAT credit arises from purchases or imports of depreciable assets or purchases of goods and services for research and development (R&D) activities. However, the repayment is limited to the amount of VAT on purchased or imported depreciable assets and R&D goods and services.
- The majority of transactions are out of the scope of VAT under the place-of-supply rules.
- The taxpayer is a non-established business registered for VAT in Italy.
- The taxable person has an input tax credit in the annual VAT return for the following three years. In this case, the repayment is limited to the lowest of the credit amounts in the three years.

Quarterly VAT refund. A quarterly refund may be claimed if any of the following conditions are met:

- The average VAT rate paid by the taxable person on purchases exceeds the average VAT rate applied to the taxable person's sales, increased by 10 percentage points.
- Exports, intra-Community supplies or international services make up more than 25% of the taxable person's total turnover.
- The VAT credit arises from the purchase or import of depreciable assets, which represents more than 2/3 of the total amount of purchases subject to VAT. The repayment is limited to the amount of purchased depreciable assets.
- The taxpayer is a non-established business registered for VAT in Italy.
- The taxpayer renders to non-established taxable persons, for an amount higher than 50% of its total turnover, services related to tangible moveable goods, transport of goods and related intermediation services, services ancillary to transport of goods and related intermediation services, supply of banking, insurance and financial services to non-EU persons or regarding goods for exportation.

The VAT credit refund procedure may trigger the filing of a bank guarantee to the tax authorities. Starting from 2015, the bank guarantee is not due in case the VAT credit claimed for refund is lower than EUR15,000.

For VAT refunds higher than EUR15,000, under certain conditions, the filing of the bank guarantee can be replaced by a “certification” of the VAT credit by the auditing body or other authorized professionals who would sign the VAT return, from which the VAT credit arises, after having assessed its existence and amount through a check of the annual VAT return and of the VAT ledgers and proper bookkeeping. Moreover, the taxpayer should issue a self-declaration attesting to be an active business.

The obligation to file a bank guarantee for VAT refunds higher than EUR15,000 is instead still applicable in some specific cases:

- VAT refunds claimed by companies that started their business activity less than two years prior
- VAT refunds claimed by taxpayers that in the previous two years received a tax assessment regarding the amounts declared in the annual VAT return
- VAT refunds claimed by taxpayers that did not provide the VAT credit certification or the self-declaration
- VAT refunds claimed by taxpayers in the last year of activity

Taxable persons may use a VAT credit shown in the annual VAT return to offset other Italian tax liabilities. Offsets higher than EUR5,000 are subject to certain conditions:

- For offsets higher than EUR15,000, the VAT credit must be “certified.”
- The offset may not exceed EUR700,000 a year.

Frequent exporters. The Italian VAT law provides that repayments are made within three months after the deadline for the claim. However, particularly for credit amounts higher than EUR700,000, long delays are common because refunds exceeding this amount are subject to an audit process by the Revenue Agency. This delay may cause a severe cash flow problem for businesses involved in international trade because they are frequently in a VAT repayment position. To ease the situation, the Italian VAT law provides that “frequent exporters” may purchase, import and acquire goods and services without payment of VAT.

To qualify as a “frequent exporter,” export supplies must exceed 10% of a taxable person’s annual turnover. VAT-free purchases are limited to the value of the taxable person’s export supplies either in the preceding calendar year or in the preceding 12 months (at the option of the taxable person). For these purposes, exports include exports of goods, zero-rated services and intra-Community supplies.

Preregistration costs. Italian VAT law does not specifically provide for the recoverability of the VAT on preregistration costs. However, the Italian Revenue clarified that the input VAT incurred prior to registration can be recovered subject to the payment of penalties on late registration.

Write-off of bad debts. In principle, the VAT on bad debts can be recovered by issuing a credit note, subject to certain conditions.

If the adjustment occurs as a result of an agreement between the parties, an adjustment VAT credit note cannot be issued later than one year after the transaction was carried out.

There are no deadlines for issuing VAT credit notes if the adjustments are due as a consequence of the closing of a bankruptcy procedure or of an executive procedure. In these cases, in order to recover the relevant VAT, the credit note must be issued no later than the deadline to file the VAT return related to the second year following the one in which the right of deduction arises, i.e., the year in which the procedure is concluded. With respect to an “agreement for debt restructuring” (accordo di ristrutturazione dei debiti) or as a consequence of a debts plan certified and published in the Chamber of Commerce, no deadline for the issuance of VAT credit notes is provided.

Noneconomic activities. Taxpayers carrying out both noneconomic activities and economic activities can recover the VAT paid on the purchases of goods and services only insofar as they relate to the economic activities.

G. Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses

Italy refunds VAT incurred by non-established businesses that are not registered for VAT in Italy. A non-established person may claim Italian VAT to the same extent as an Italian taxable person.

For businesses established in the EU, a refund is made under the terms of the EU 8th Directive. For businesses established outside the EU, a refund is made under the terms of the EU 13th Directive.

In accordance with the terms of the EU 13th Directive, refunds to non-EU businesses are made on the condition of “reciprocity,” which the Italian VAT authorities strictly impose. This means that VAT is refunded to businesses that are established in countries that make refunds of VAT or sales taxes to Italian businesses. Israel, Norway and Switzerland are included in this category. In practice, businesses from a large number of non-EU countries, including the United States, are excluded from receiving refunds. However, a business established in a country that is excluded from the EU 13th Directive refund scheme may be able to recover Italian input tax by registering for Italian VAT through a VAT representative before making a purchase.

The deadline to file a claim for the refund of VAT paid in any year is 30 September of the next year.

For the general VAT refund rules contained in the EU 8th Directive and the EU 13th Directive, see the chapter on the EU.

Repayment interest. Italian VAT law provides that payment of recoverable VAT must be made no later than six months after the date on which the application is filed. However, in practice, the refund procedure takes two or three years. Interest accrues at a rate of 2% per year effective from 2010. (The date when interest starts accruing varies.)

H. Invoicing

VAT invoices and credit notes. An Italian taxable person must generally provide a VAT invoice for all taxable and exempt supplies made, including exports and intra-Community supplies. Invoices are not automatically required for retail transactions, unless requested by the customer. If an Italian taxable person that purchases goods or services from an Italian supplier does not receive a correct invoice by the end of the fourth month following the month when the acquisition occurred, it must regularize the purchase by disclosing it and paying VAT to the tax authorities by the end of the fifth month following the supply.

A VAT invoice is necessary to support a claim for input tax deduction or a refund under the EU 8th Directive or EU 13th Directive refund schemes (see the chapter on the EU).

A VAT credit note may be used to reduce the VAT charged and reclaimed on a supply. A credit note must reflect a genuine mistake or overcharge or an agreed reduction in the value of the original supply and must be issued only in the particular cases listed under Italian law. The document must be marked “credit note,” it must be numbered, and it must refer to the original VAT invoice.

Electronic invoicing. Effective 1 January 2013, the Italian VAT law has been extensively amended with respect to the rules on invoicing in line with EU Directive 2010/45/EU. Under the new rules, electronic and paper invoices are on an equal footing. The origin, authenticity and integrity of the data and legibility must be preserved from the date of issue to the end of the mandatory archiving period.

Mandatory electronic invoicing (e-invoicing) for supplies made to government agencies is effective as of:

- 6 June 2014 for supplies to some central administrations (ministries, tax agencies) as well as national social-security and welfare bodies
- 31 March 2015 for supplies to all remaining public administrations including local authorities such as regions, provinces, municipalities, etc.

Exports and exempt supplies. Invoices for exports, intra-Community supplies of goods and exempt supplies must mention “non-taxable transaction” and “exempt transaction” to support the fact that VAT has not been charged. Invoices may indicate the applicable provision of the Italian or EU law.

Proof of exports and intra-Community supplies. Italian VAT is not chargeable on supplies of exported goods or on intra-Community supplies of goods (see the chapter on the EU). However, to qualify as VAT-free, exports and intra-Community supplies must be supported by evidence proving that the goods have left Italy. Acceptable proof includes the following documentation:

- For exports, copies of the export documents or invoices officially validated by customs or indicating the Movement Reference Number (MRN)
- For intra-Community supplies, a range of commercial documentation, such as the Convention on the Contract for the International Carriage of Goods by Road (Convention des Marchandises par Route, or CMR) waybills, airway bills, consignment notes or transport documentation

Self-invoices for reverse charge supplies. If an Italian established taxable person receives a supply of goods or services from a non-established person, reverse charge applies, and it must issue a self-invoice, showing all the details of an Italian tax invoice and the correct VAT due. The self-invoice must mention “self-invoice” and must be recorded in both the purchases and sales ledgers of the taxable person.

For Article 44 services received from an EU supplier, instead of issuing a self-invoice, Italian taxpayers must apply the reverse-charge mechanism via the “integration” of the invoice. In practice, the taxpayer must follow the same reverse-charge procedure that is applicable to intra-Community acquisitions of goods (see below).

Intra-Community acquisitions. To account for Italian VAT on an intra-EU acquisition, the Italian purchaser (VAT taxpayer) must “integrate” the foreign invoice, i.e., the applicable Italian VAT rate and the corresponding Italian VAT must be written on the foreign invoice. The invoice must be entered into the taxable person’s purchases and sales ledgers. If the supplier does not issue an invoice for the transaction, the Italian acquirer of the goods must self-invoice by the 15th day of the third month following the month in which the acquisition occurred. Invoices issued in a foreign currency must be converted to euros (EUR).

Sales invoices must be issued in euros, rounding up to the euro cent. Invoices received from foreign suppliers and issued in foreign currency must be converted to euros by the recipient using the exchange rate at the time of the supply. If this information is unknown at the date of invoice, the conversion into euros may be made based on the exchange rate published by the European Central bank.

B2C invoices. Effective 1 January 2015, new rules apply to the place of supply for supplies of telecommunications, broadcasting and electronic services to non-VAT taxable customers. For further details of the VAT rules on electronic services in the EU, please refer to the European Union chapter.

I. VAT returns and payment

VAT payments. Italian taxable persons calculate VAT payments on a monthly or quarterly basis, depending on turnover, and pay the VAT. No monthly or quarterly VAT returns must be submitted. VAT may be paid on a quarterly basis if the turnover realized during the previous year (or anticipated for the first year of activity) does not exceed EUR400,000 for supplies of services or EUR700,000 for supplies of goods. Interest at a rate of 1% must be added to quarterly VAT payments.

Monthly payments are due by the 16th day of the month following the month for which VAT is due.

Quarterly payments are due by the 16th day of the second month following the quarter for which VAT is due, except for the last quarter. The balance for the last quarter is due on 16 March of the following year if the taxpayer spontaneously opts for quarterly payments (that is, a taxpayer that has revenues under certain thresholds and that opts to calculate the VAT balance on a quarterly basis instead of a monthly basis).

An advance payment is due by 27 December of the current year. Different methods are available to calculate the advance payments (forecast, historical or transactions actually carried out).

Starting from 1 December 2012, taxable persons whose turnover did not exceed EUR2,000,000 in the previous year can opt to account for VAT using cash accounting.

VAT returns. All Italian taxable persons must submit an annual VAT return. The VAT return period is the calendar year. The return must be filed by the last day of September following the VAT year.

Italian taxable persons must also submit an annual summary of supplies made. The annual summary is due by the last day of February following the VAT year.

Blacklist report. All Italian taxable persons must submit an annual report listing the transactions higher than EUR10,000 made with entities established or VAT-registered in “blacklisted” countries, i.e., countries such as Luxembourg and Switzerland that are named in specific Italian decrees.

Communication of letters of intent. Prior to 1 January 2015, companies were required to file with the Italian Revenue the letters of intent received from frequent exporters to whom they were going to make zero-rated supplies. However, effective from 1 January 2015, the suppliers are no longer required to file such a letter. Instead, frequent exporters must file letters of intent with the Italian Revenue.

The suppliers will be able to issue zero-rated VAT invoices to the frequent exporters only upon receipt from their customers of the letter of intent and confirmation that the letter was electronically filed with the Italian Revenue.

In case of default, fines ranging between 100% and 200% of the VAT not charged could apply.

Annual report. Italian VAT taxpayers must file an annual report called “Communication of Purchases and Sales of Goods and Services.” The annual report includes the amount of transactions relevant for VAT purposes carried out during the period of reference and subject to invoicing obligation, regardless of their unit amount.

The report can be filed in two versions: in aggregate form (i.e., per counterparty) or analytic form (i.e., per transaction), at the taxpayer’s choice, with the exception of some transactions. Transactions for which the supplier is not requested to issue an invoice (e.g., some supplies to final customers) are included in the report only when the amount of the supply equals or exceeds EUR3,600, VAT included.

Imports, exports and intra-EU transactions shall not be included.

For 2013 and following years, the annual report must be electronically filed by 10 April of the calendar year following the reporting one by taxable persons that pay VAT on a monthly basis. For all other taxable persons, the report must be filed by 20 April of the calendar year following the reporting one.

Special schemes. The Italian VAT law provides special schemes for tour operators; dealers of second-hand goods, works of art, antiques or collectibles; publishers and telecommunications companies, among others.

Tour operator margin scheme. Travel agencies and tour operators who organize and sell tour packages comprising trips, holidays, “all-inclusive” packages and related services for their own account or through an agent, benefit from a special VAT scheme, as provided for in Articles 306-310 of EU VAT Directive 2006/112/EC, implemented in Italy by Article 74-ter of DPR 633/1972. Output VAT is applicable only on the margin, calculated as the difference between the amount received from the customer and the amount paid to the suppliers, gross of VAT. Businesses cannot recover, deduct or claim for refund the input VAT charged on such travel services and goods.

The margin scheme for second-hand goods, works of art, antiques or collectibles. The special scheme provided by Council Directive 94/5/CE has been implemented in Italy by Law Decree 14/1995 converted by Law 85/1995. Output VAT is applicable only on the margin calculated on the difference between the amount that the businesses receive from the customer and the amount they pay to their suppliers, including ancillary costs. Businesses cannot recover, deduct or claim for refund the input VAT on purchases of goods.

VAT scheme for publishers. Under Article 74 of DPR 633/1972, for sale of daily newspapers, periodicals, books, and the related additional media and catalogues, the VAT is due by publishers on the basis of the sale price to the public, in relation to the number of the copies sold. The tax may optionally be applied in relation to the number of copies delivered or posted, reduced by 70% for books and 80% for daily newspapers and periodicals, excluding pornographic material and the one supplied together with supplementary package.

VAT scheme for telecommunications providers. A special scheme is available for services rendered by public telephone service providers as well as for sales of any technical means, including the supply of access codes, for use of fixed or mobile telecommunication services, as well as electronic services. The VAT is due by the holder of the license or by the authorized service provider on the basis of the consideration due by the user or, if not already determined, on the basis of the average price for the sale to the public in relation to the amount of phone traffic made available by technical means.

The same provisions are applicable to non-residents selling or distributing technical means in Italy through their permanent establishment or their tax representatives or through direct identification pursuant to Article 35-ter, as well as to agents, other intermediaries and third parties who sell or distribute in Italy technical means acquired from non-residents.

Others. Special schemes also available for the following activities:

- Trading of salts and tobaccos
- Trading of matches
- Entertainment activities, games and the other activities under the tariff attached to Presidential Decree N° 640 of 26 October 1972

Electronic filing and archiving. All VAT returns must be filed electronically directly by the taxpayer, using the Revenue Agency's electronic services (so-called Entratel or Fisconline services) or through authorized intermediaries such as business consultants and accountants. The filing receipt is transmitted electronically by the Revenue Agency to the user who filed it.

Electronic storage of fiscal documents, including tax returns, is allowed provided that specific requirements are met, such as search criteria, a description of the archive and the archiving process, and a clear delegation plan for the responsibility of the archiving process.

The electronic archiving process must be completed within three months from the deadline for filing the related annual tax return.

Electronic archiving of electronic invoices is mandatory. The electronic archive can be located also in another State, provided that such State has a legal instrument to regulate reciprocal assistance with Italy.

The taxable person established in Italy ensures, for control reasons, the automatic access to the archive and that all documents and information contained therein, including those related to the guarantee of the authenticity and the integrity of the documents, are printable and transferable onto other electronic storage media.

Annual returns. As defined elsewhere in this chapter, annual submissions required include the VAT Data Communication, the Communication of Purchases and Sales of Goods and Services, and the VAT return.

J. Penalties

If the annual VAT return is submitted more than 90 days after the deadline, the penalty is 120% to 240% of the VAT due, if any. The minimum penalty is EUR258.

The penalty for the late payment of VAT is equal to 30% of the VAT paid late. In addition, interest is accrued or charged at an annual rate of 1% (2.5% before 1 January 2014) in the case of voluntary settlement and 3.5% in the case of settlement of the tax audit report and in certain other circumstances.

If the annual VAT return is submitted with incorrect data, the penalty ranges from 100% to 200% of the VAT that is incorrectly declared.

K. EU filings

Intra-Community archive. Effective from 1 January 2011, Italian VAT taxpayers that intend to make intra-Community acquisitions or sales of goods must be included in the "Archive of Entities Authorized to Perform Intra-Community Transactions" (the Archive). Otherwise, they may not perform such transactions.

An entity that registers for VAT when it begins a business activity in Italy must inform the Italian tax authorities in writing if it intends to perform intra-Community transactions. VAT registration will be automatically included in the intra-Community archive, i.e., VIES; however, the VAT registration number will be excluded from the VIES archive, upon communication from the Italian Revenue, if the taxpayer does not file any Intrastat listings for four continuous quarters.

Intrastat. Italian taxable persons that trade with other EU Member States must complete fiscal and statistical reports, known as Intrastat. Separate reports apply to intra-Community acquisitions of goods and intra-Community acquisitions of services (Intrastat Arrivals) and intra-Community supplies of goods and intra-Community supplies of services (Intrastat Dispatches). Intrastat declarations must be filed in euros.

Intrastat reports may be monthly or quarterly, depending on the level of intra-Community trade. If in the previous four calendar quarters and for each type of transaction, transactions totaling less than EUR50,000 were carried out, the reports can be filed quarterly by the 25th day of the month following the return period. In all other cases, the reports must be filed monthly by the 25th day of the month following the return period.

Statistical information is required from businesses that mainly file monthly reports. Columns regarding the statistical value, delivery conditions and transport conditions must be filed when the threshold of EUR20 billion is exceeded or in the case of a movement of goods without the transfer of property or similar rights.

Penalties. Mistaken or missing Intrastat returns are subject to a penalty ranging from EUR516 to EUR1,032. In addition, statistical penalties ranging from EUR516 to EUR5,165 apply.

Penalties for violations of a statistical nature will apply only to taxpayers that performed, in the month of reference, transactions equal to or higher than EUR750,000. Penalties will apply only once for each incorrect Intrastat form, regardless of the number of violations related to the Intrastat form.

EU Sales Lists. In Italy, all information related to intra-Community transactions is reported using the Intrastat form. No separate EU Sales List is used.

Japan

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Tokyo

GMT +9

Ernst & Young Shinnihon Tax

32nd Floor
Kasumigaseki Building
3-2-5 Kasumigaseki
Chiyoda-ku
Tokyo 100-6032
Japan

Indirect tax contacts

Yoichi Ohira	+81 (3) 3506-2678 yoichi.ohira@jp.ey.com
Yoshihiro Ninagawa	+81 (3) 3506-2172 yoshihiro.ninagawa@jp.ey.com
Kazuhiro Ebina	+81 (3) 3506-2463 kazuhiro.ebina@jp.ey.com
Nami Okuyama	+81 (3) 3506-1273 nami.okuyama@jp.ey.com

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Consumption tax
Local name	Shouhizei
Date introduced	1 April 1989
Trading bloc membership	None
Administered by	National Tax Agency Japan (http://www.nta.go.jp)
Consumption tax rates
Standard	8% (expected to increase to 10% effective from 1 April 2017)
Other	Exempt (with input tax credit) and non-taxable (without input tax credit)
Consumption tax return periods	Monthly, quarterly, biannually and annually
Consumption tax number format	Not applicable
Thresholds
Registration	JPY10 million of taxable transactions
Recovery of consumption tax by non-established businesses	Yes

B. Scope of the tax

Consumption tax applies to the following transactions:

- The supply of goods or services made in Japan by a taxable person
- The importation of goods into Japan

C. Who is liable

A “taxable person” is any business entity or individual that makes taxable supplies of goods or services in the course of doing business in Japan.

Under the “small business” exception, enterprises with taxable supplies not exceeding JPY10 million in a “base period” are exempt from consumption tax for business years beginning on or before 31 December 2012. The base period for each consumption tax reporting year is the individual enterprise’s business year that was two years prior to the current business year.

For business years beginning on or after 1 January 2013, a business entity or individual whose taxable supplies in the calculation period are over JPY10 million is a taxable person even if the taxable supplies in the “base period” are JPY10 million or less. For business enterprises, if the preceding business year was longer than seven months, the calculation period is the first six months of the preceding business year. If the preceding business year was seven months or less, the calculation period is the first six months of the year before the preceding business year.

Instead of the amount of taxable supplies, the amount of salary payments can be used in determining whether the enterprise is taxable. For individuals, the calculation period is from 1 January to 30 June of the preceding year.

A newly formed corporation with capital of JPY10 million or more is not eligible for the small business exemption from consumption tax for its first two fiscal years. However, a newly formed corporation established on or after 1 April 2014 will be subject to consumption tax for the first two fiscal years, regardless of its registered capital, to the extent that a controlling person (e.g., a company holding more than 50% of equity interest in the newly established corporation) or a related corporation has taxable supplies in Japan exceeding JPY500 million.

If a newly formed corporation purchases certain assets during its first two fiscal years, the corporation may not be eligible for exemption for the subsequent two fiscal years.

Voluntary registration. A small business with taxable turnover of JPY10 million or less in its base period may voluntarily apply to become a taxable person.

Group registration. The consumption tax law does not allow closely related companies to register as a group.

Tax representatives. If a foreign business is required to become a taxable person, it must appoint a resident tax representative to deal with its consumption tax obligations. This is accomplished by submitting a form to the tax office. A taxpayer that discharges a tax representative must submit a report of the discharge to the tax office.

Late-registration penalties. A penalty does not apply to late registration although it applies to late payment and late filing.

Reverse charge. Currently, no reverse-charge mechanism applies in Japan to supplies made by non-resident businesses. (See Digital economy below.)

Digital economy. Under 2015 tax reform, certain services made by non-resident businesses including digital goods and services are expected to be subject to consumption tax. A reverse-charge mechanism may apply to some business-to-business transactions.

D. Consumption tax rates

The term “taxable supplies” refers to supplies of goods and services that are liable to consumption tax. Consumption tax is charged at a flat rate of 8% (6.3% national tax and 1.7% local tax). No reduced rates apply.

A rate increase to 10% is expected to take effect from 1 April 2017.

The 5% tax rate that applied generally until 1 April 2014 continues to apply to certain situations related to construction contracts and property leases.

The term “exempt supplies” refers to supplies of goods and services that are not taxed, but the taxpayer may deduct any related input tax. Exempt supplies include exports of goods or services and international travel, transportation and communication services.

Non-taxable supplies (with no right to input tax deduction) include insurance, real estate, foreign-exchange transactions and education (see Section F).

Option to tax for exempt supplies. Not applicable.

E. Time of supply

The time when consumption tax becomes due is called the “time of supply” or “tax point.” Consumption tax is generally chargeable when ownership of goods is transferred, when a service is performed or when foreign cargo is removed from bonded areas.

F. Recovery of consumption tax by taxable persons

A taxable person may recover input tax, which is consumption tax charged on goods and services supplied to it for business purposes. A taxable person generally recovers input tax by deducting it from output tax, which is consumption tax charged on supplies made.

Input tax includes consumption tax charged on goods and services supplied in Japan and consumption tax paid on imports of goods.

A valid invoice or customs document must generally accompany a claim for input tax.

For tax periods beginning on or before 31 March 2012, a taxable person may deduct input tax in full unless its non-taxable supplies exceed 5% of total supplies made. This is the “95% rule.” However, for tax periods beginning on or after 1 April 2012, the 95% rule applies only to a business with taxable supplies for the period of JPY500 million or less (annualized for a business with a taxable period of less than one year). Consequently, the partial exemption (see Partial exemption) applies to a business if it has over JPY500 million of taxable supplies regardless of its taxable supplies ratio.

Nondeductible input tax. Input tax may not be recovered on purchases of goods and services that are not used for business purposes (for example, goods acquired for private use by an entrepreneur). These private, non-business expenditures are the only category of expenditure for which input tax is nondeductible.

Input tax is deductible if the expenditure is related to a taxable business use.

Examples of items for which input tax is deductible
(if related to a taxable business use)

- Purchase, lease, hire, maintenance and fuel for cars, vans and trucks
- Attending conferences and seminars
- Advertising
- Accommodation
- Mobile phones
- Business gifts
- Travel expenses
- Business entertainment

Partial exemption. For tax periods beginning on or before 31 March 2012, if a taxable person's turnover from taxable supplies (including exports) is less than 95% of its total turnover, it may not recover input tax in full. This situation is referred to as partial exemption. For tax periods beginning on or after 1 April 2012, the partial exemption applies to a business if it has over JPY500 million of taxable supplies regardless of its taxable supplies ratio. The amount of input tax that the taxable person may deduct may be calculated using either of the following methods:

- General pro-rata method: the taxable person's taxable ratio (which is based on the ratio of the value of taxable supplies made compared to total supplies made) is applied to the total amount of input tax incurred.
- Direct attribution method: the taxable person's input tax is allocated to taxable and non-taxable supplies made. Input tax directly related to taxable supplies is deductible in full, while input tax directly related to non-taxable supplies is not deductible. The general pro-rata method is used with respect to the remaining input tax that is not directly related to taxable or non-taxable supplies.

A business with annual sales of JPY50 million or less may use a simplified formula to calculate consumption tax payable. Under this system, the taxpayer calculates the credit for consumption tax paid by multiplying the consumption tax on sales by a deemed purchase ratio. This ratio ranges from 50% to 90%, depending on the type of sales made. A taxpayer that elects to use the simplified accounting formula must use this formula for a minimum period of two years.

Refunds. If the amount of input consumption tax recoverable in a taxable period exceeds the amount of output consumption tax payable, such an excess should be refundable.

Preregistration costs. Not applicable.

G. Recovery of consumption tax by non-established businesses

Japan refunds consumption tax incurred by businesses that are not established in Japan. To obtain a refund, a non-established business must appoint a resident tax representative and elect to be treated as a taxable business.

H. Invoicing

Tax invoices and credit notes. The Japanese consumption tax law does not explicitly require that a taxable person provide a tax invoice for taxable supplies made to other taxable persons (or a credit note for adjustments).

Proof of exports. Japanese consumption tax is not chargeable on supplies of exported goods. To qualify as exempt from consumption tax, an export supply must be accompanied by official customs evidence stating that the goods have left Japan.

Foreign-currency invoices. If an invoice is issued in a foreign currency, the values for consumption tax purposes may be converted to Japanese yen (JPY) based on an official bank rate on the date of the transaction.

I. Consumption tax returns and payment

Annual consumption tax returns. Taxable persons must file consumption tax returns annually. An individual entrepreneur must file his or her consumption tax return and pay the tax due by 31 March in the year following the end of the calendar year. A corporation must file its annual consumption tax return and pay the tax due within two months after its fiscal year-end.

Interim consumption tax returns. Depending on the previous year's tax liability, a taxable person may be required to file interim consumption tax returns and pay tax during the year.

An interim tax return is required for the first six months of the tax year if the estimated tax due exceeds JPY600,000, based on the preceding year's tax payments. Interim payments are required in May, August and November (for a fiscal year ending in December) if the estimated tax due for the year exceeds JPY5 million. In addition, if the estimated tax due for the year exceeds JPY60 million, interim payments are required monthly.

For tax periods beginning on or after 1 April 2014 for a corporation and 1 January 2015 for an individual, a taxable person who is not required to file and pay interim tax will be able to voluntarily file an interim tax return and pay tax.

Special schemes. Not applicable.

Electronic filing. Electronic filing is available after certain procedures such as obtaining an ID number.

J. Penalties

Interest is applied to late payments of consumption tax. Effective 1 January 2014, the interest rate is the "standard rate" plus 1% for interest during the first two months after the due date. The standard rate is 1% plus the rate announced by the Minister of Finance every year on 15 December as the average interest rate on short-term bank loans that applied in the period between October of two previous years and September of the previous year. For 2014, the interest rate is 2.9%.

A penalty is charged in the following amounts if the annual consumption tax return is not filed by the due date:

- 5% if the taxable person makes a voluntary disclosure
- 15% or 20% (of the excess portion of additional tax over JPY500,000 for tax returns) if an error is found as a result of a tax audit
- 40% if fraud or tax evasion is involved

A penalty is charged in the following amounts if the amount of tax declared in the annual consumption tax return is understated:

- 0% if the taxable person makes a voluntary disclosure
- 10% or 15% (of the excess portion of additional tax over JPY500,000 or the original amount, whichever is greater) if the error is found as a result of a tax audit
- 35% if fraud or tax evasion is involved

Jersey, Channel Islands

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

St. Helier

GMT

EY

Liberation House
Castle Street
St. Helier
Jersey JE1 1EY
Channel Islands

Indirect tax contacts

Wendy Martin	+44 (1534) 288-212 wmartin1@uk.ey.com
Áine Slater	+44 (1534) 288-604 aslater@uk.ey.com
Moira Ashby	+44 (1534) 288-617 mashby@uk.ey.com
Sarah Tucker	+44 (1534) 288-649 stucker@uk.ey.com

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Goods and services tax (GST)
Date introduced	6 May 2008
Trading bloc membership	Part of the EU for customs by agreement with the United Kingdom but not a Member State
Administered by	Comptroller of Taxes (http://www.gov.je/taxesmoney)
GST rates
Standard	5%
Other	Zero-rated and exempt Flat rate International Services Entity (ISE) fee (predominantly financial services entities)
GST return periods	Quarterly Monthly (other periods on request)
GST registration number format	1234567
Thresholds
Registration	GBP300,000
Recovery of GST by non-established businesses	Yes (subject to conditions)

B. Scope of the tax

GST applies to the following transactions:

- The supply of goods or services made in Jersey by a registered person
- The importation of goods into Jersey, regardless of the status of the importer

- The supply of a service outside Jersey if all of the following conditions apply:
 - The supply is a taxable supply.
 - The service is specified in schedule 3 of the GST law (reverse charge to GST).
 - The recipient is a Jersey resident.
 - The service is performed in connection with a person, place or thing in Jersey, or is taken to be so performed.

Businesses (predominantly in the financial services sector) may be exempted from GST accounting if they obtain approval for International Services Entity (ISE) status (see Section D).

C. Who is liable

A “registered person” is a business entity, including a branch or agency, or individual who makes taxable supplies of goods or services in the course of doing business in Jersey.

The GST registration threshold is JEP300,000.

The registration threshold is met if either of the following circumstances exists:

- If, at the end of any month, the business made taxable supplies in the preceding 12 months
- If, on any day, reasonable grounds exist for believing that the value of the taxable supplies made by the business in the 12 months after that date is likely to exceed JEP300,000

GST may be recovered before the incorporation of a company if certain criteria are met.

Voluntary registration. A small business with taxable turnover of less than JEP300,000 a year may voluntarily apply to become a registered person. However, the value of exempt supplies cannot be included in calculating the taxable turnover. If the only supplies of goods and/or services are exempt, it is not normally possible to register for GST.

Group registration. Group registration is allowed for corporations or other taxable persons that are under common control. One entity must be the representative member.

Transactions between group members are disregarded for GST purposes.

As an alternative to GST registration, businesses in the financial services industry that predominantly serve nonresident clients may opt to pay an annual fee and be listed as International Service Entities to reduce their compliance and administrative obligations.

Registration procedures. For companies that already have an income tax reference number, the application can be submitted online (https://empret.jsytax.je/gst_main.aspx). For other companies, a form can be obtained from the Jersey Income Taxes Office.

A company will need to register once if it has made taxable supplies of GBP300,000 or more in the preceding 12 months or if it is believed that the value of taxable supplies for the following 12 months is likely to exceed GBP300,000. It may also choose to register voluntarily.

The information that will need to be supplied for the application include: details of the person or entity applying for registration; the trading name (if different); the business address; relevant telephone numbers; and the name and legal status of the person making the application. In addition, during the registration process the Jersey Income Taxes Office will request the expected annual taxable turnover; the nature of the business; and if there is any preference with regard to the months that the entity wishes to make its quarterly GST returns.

There is no restriction on who can make the registration on behalf of the company, but the registered person will be the legal entity that owns the business (for example, a limited company).

There is a different form for registering as an ISE.

Late-registration penalties. Penalties are assessed for a range of GST offenses, including late registration.

Reverse charge. The reverse-charge regime applies to services specified by the law if the following conditions are satisfied:

- A supply of services is made by a nonresident to a resident.
- The supply would be taxable if made in Jersey.
- The recipient of the supply is registered (or is required to be registered).

An input tax credit may be claimed with respect to the reverse charge to the extent that the service was acquired for the purpose of making taxable supplies.

Non-established businesses. Please see Section G.

International Services Entities. Certain entities, predominantly financial services entities, may opt out of the GST system by becoming an International Services Entity (ISE). Generally, an entity meets the requirements of an ISE if not more than 10% of its supplies are to individuals resident in Jersey. GST is not chargeable on supplies to ISEs. If the entity obtains approval for ISE status, it pays an annual fixed fee.

Trust companies can also be authorized to maintain a list of administered entities that are ISEs. Under the ISE regime, businesses are not required to account for GST on their supplies and are entitled to end-user relief under which they are not charged GST by GST-registered businesses.

A business may be charged on retail purchases of less than JEP1,000, but the GST may be refunded on application.

The following fees are payable for each calendar year for an ISE entity:

- Bank (deposit-taking business): JEP50,000
- Trust company business: JEP7,500 as an affiliation leader and JEP200 for each administered entity
- Fund service business not registered as a managed manager: JEP2,500
- Entity holding a Collective Investment Fund (CIF) permit as a functionary but not as a managed manager or collective investment fund: JEP2,500

- Entity holding a CIF permit as a managed manager: JEP500
- Collective investment fund if listed by the Comptroller of Taxes: JEP200
- Entity which is a body corporate or partnership, limited partnership or limited liability partnership, which is not included above: JEP200

Digital economy. Not applicable.

Mini One-Stop Shop. Not applicable.

Deregistration. A taxable person that ceases to make taxable supplies must notify the Jersey GST authorities within 30 days after ceasing operations. If the GST authorities are satisfied that the taxable person's operations are not expected to recommence, they will cancel its GST registration.

A taxable person may deregister voluntarily if it can satisfactorily prove to the GST authorities that its taxable turnover for the foreseeable future is expected to be less than JEP300,000.

D. GST rates

The term "taxable supplies" refers to supplies of goods and services that are liable to GST. The standard rate of GST is 5%. Some supplies are zero-rated (taxed at 0%), but no other reduced rates apply.

Examples of goods and services taxable at 0%

- Supplies of dwellings
- Prescription medicines
- Exported services and related services
- Services performed outside Jersey

In addition, some activities are exempt from GST. For exempt activities, no GST is charged, but the supplier does not have the right to deduct any related input tax.

Examples of exempt supplies of goods and services

- Financial services
- Insurance
- Postal services
- Medical and paramedical supplies
- Supplies by charities
- Education
- Child care (supplied in registered day care accommodation under the Day Care of Children (Jersey) Law 2002)
- Burial and cremation

Option to tax for exempt supplies. Not applicable.

E. Time of supply

The time when GST becomes due is called the "time of supply." The general rule is that a supply of goods takes place when the goods are removed or made available and that a supply of services takes place when the service is performed. However, if an invoice is issued or payment is received by the supplier prior to these times, the earlier date of the invoice is the time of supply.

Imported goods. The time of supply is the date the goods are imported.

Reverse-charge services. The time of supply is the date the supply of services takes place.

Continuous supplies of services. The time of supply is the date payment is received, or if an invoice for the services is issued before the payment is made, the time of supply is the date of the invoice.

Prepayments. The time of supply is the date payment is received, or if an invoice is issued before the payment is made, the time of supply is the date of the invoice.

Intra-Community acquisitions. Not applicable.

Intra-Community supplies of goods. Not applicable.

Leased assets. The time of supply is the date payment is received, or if an invoice is issued before the payment is made, the time of supply is the date of the invoice.

F. Recovery of GST by taxable persons

A taxable person may recover input tax, which is GST charged on goods and services supplied to it for business purposes. A taxable person generally recovers input tax by deducting it from output tax, which is GST charged on supplies made. Input tax includes GST charged on goods and services supplied in Jersey and GST paid on imports.

Nondeductible input tax. Input tax may not be recovered on purchases of goods and services that are not used for business purposes (for example, goods acquired for private use by an entrepreneur).

A registered person may recover GST in full if it acquires goods and services principally for the purpose of making taxable supplies.

Examples of items for which input tax is nondeductible

- Employee wages
- Private expenses or goods
- Certain goods incorporated in dwellings

Examples of items for which input tax is deductible (if related to a taxable business use)

- Raw materials used in the business
- Equipment (capital/office)
- Goods for resale
- Processing costs

Partial exemption. The GST law provides for the partial exemption method if goods and services are acquired for making taxable supplies but are also used for making exempt supplies. One of the following methods of allocation may be used for making the input tax adjustment:

- A general pro-rata method under which the taxable person's taxable ratio is based on the value of taxable supplies made compared with total supplies made. The taxable ratio is applied to the total amount of input tax incurred.
- A direct attribution method under which the taxable person's input tax is allocated to taxable and non-taxable supplies made. Input tax directly related to taxable supplies is deductible in full, while input tax directly related to non-taxable supplies is not deductible. The general pro-rata method is used with respect to the remaining input tax that is not directly related to taxable or non-taxable supplies.

- A special calculation method agreed on with the Jersey GST authorities.

Capital purchases in excess of JEP1 million (excluding GST) that are not zero rated or exempt from GST must be considered over a five-year period.

Refunds. If the amount of input GST recoverable in a period exceeds the amount of output GST payable, a refund may be claimed. GST refunds are generally made promptly after the receipt of a correct return or held as a credit against future returns unless otherwise requested.

Visitors to the island who arrive on commercial flights are entitled to claim a refund of GST paid on goods bought from local retailers participating in the GST visitor refund scheme. The total value of the goods must exceed JEP300, the purchase must be made in a single transaction with a single retailer, and the visitor must leave Jersey with the goods within one month of the date of purchase.

Preregistration costs. Not applicable.

Capital goods. Not applicable.

Write-off of bad debts. GST will be refunded by the comptroller if certain conditions are satisfied when a claim is made.

Noneconomic activities. The comptroller has issued a direction to the law stating that a charity or nonprofit organization shall be relieved of charge to GST on goods imported into Jersey if it is established for:

- The advancement of education
- Relief of poverty
- Purposes benefiting the community
- Furtherance of religion
- Cultural or artistic objectives financially supported by the States of Jersey.

G. Recovery of GST by non-established businesses

Entities that are registered for GST and that make taxable supplies in Jersey may recover GST incurred on goods and services that they acquire.

Effective from 1 January 2010, refunds are made to persons not established in Jersey with respect to GST on goods and services for business use. The supply on which the GST arose must have been for the purpose of a business carried on by the claimant. The claimant's home country must operate a similar refund scheme that is available to Jersey businesses.

Refunds are made by way of a claim in writing to the following:

Comptroller of Taxes
P.O. Box 56
Cyril Le Marquand House
The Parade
St. Helier
Jersey JE4 8PF

Jersey has not set a maximum amount that can be reclaimed. However, it has set a minimum reclaim amount of JEP50. Claims must be made within 12 months after the date of supply and must be made annually.

Claims must be accompanied by originals of all invoices, vouchers or receipts from suppliers. For amounts below JEP250, simplified invoices can be provided. Initial claims must also be accompanied by an official certificate showing that the claimant is registered for GST (or similar tax) in its home jurisdiction. A certificate must be provided annually thereafter.

H. Invoicing

A Jersey registered person must generally provide a tax invoice for all taxable supplies. A credit note may be used to reduce the GST charged and reclaimed on a supply if the value originally charged was incorrect. A credit note must indicate the reason why it was issued and must refer to both the GST originally charged and the corrected amount.

Foreign-currency invoices. Foreign-currency invoices must be translated into GBP invoices using the exchange rate effective on the date of the invoice.

Electronic invoices. No specific requirements apply to electronic invoices additional to those that apply to paper invoices.

Proof of export. Not applicable.

B2C invoices. Not applicable for telecommunications broadcasting.

I. GST returns and payment

GST returns. GST returns are generally submitted quarterly. Three cycles of quarterly returns are provided to stagger submission dates. A taxable person may request a change in its GST return cycle to ease administration.

Taxable persons may opt to submit GST returns monthly if they receive regular repayments of GST.

GST return periods generally end on the last day of a month. However, taxable persons may request different periods to align with their accounting records. GST returns must be submitted, together with payment of any GST due, by the last business day of the month following the end of the return period. The GST return form indicates the due date for each return.

Special schemes. The GST annual accounting scheme for small businesses requires only one return per year. The scheme can be used if the entity's taxable turnover, excluding GST on sales, for the previous 12 months did not exceed GBP500,000. The scheme can continue to be used until the taxable turnover for a year exceeds GBP600,000.

The GST cash accounting scheme for small businesses allows entities not to pay GST on sales until payment is received from the customer. The scheme can be used if taxable turnover (excluding capital assets or GST) for the previous 12 months did not exceed GBP1,000,000. The scheme can continue to be used until the taxable turnover for a year exceeds GBP1,200,000.

Electronic filing. GST returns can be filed online. They can also be filed using the Tax Returns Submission System (TRSS), where returns are downloaded, completed offline and then submitted by email or data stream via a secure connection. Alternatively, they can be submitted in paper format.

Annual returns. See Special schemes above.

J. Penalties

A penalty is assessed for the late payment of GST. A penalty of 2.5% of the tax due is assessed on the day after the due date.

A penalty of JEP50 is charged for the late submission of a GST return.

A range of GST offenses are subject to fines and imprisonment, depending on the offense committed.

Jordan

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Amman

GMT +2

EY

Mail address:
P.O. Box 1140
Amman 11118
Jordan

Street address:
300 King Abdullah II Street
Amman 11118
Jordan

Indirect tax contacts

Ali Samara	+962 (6) 580-0777 ali.samara@jo.ey.com
Rifat Obaidat	+962 (6) 552-7666 rifat.obaidat@jo.ey.com
Mohammed Freihat	+962 (6) 552-7666 mohammed.freihat@jo.ey.com

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	General Sales Tax (GST) (the GST Law provides for two types of taxes, which are the General Tax [GT] and the Special Tax [ST]; see Section B)
Local name	Addaryba al a'mma ala al mabia't
Date introduced	June 1994
Trading bloc membership	None
Administered by	Income and Sales Tax Department (ISTD) (http://www.istd.gov.jo)
GST rates
GT rates
Standard	16%
Reduced	4%
Other	Zero-rated and exempt
ST rates	Various (five types of goods and one type of service are subject to percentage rates or fixed amounts set forth in Regulation No. 80 of 2000)
GST number format	9999999
GT return periods	Two months
ST return periods	Monthly
Annual thresholds
Goods	JOD50,000
Services	JOD30,000
Imports of goods or services for non-personal purposes	None
Recovery of GST by nonresident businesses	No

B. Scope of the tax

General Sales Tax (GST) applies to the following transactions:

- The supply of taxable goods or services made by a taxable person
- The importation of taxable goods or services

The GST Law contains two types of taxes, which are the General Tax (GT) and the Special Tax (ST). ST is part of the tax base for GT if ST applies.

C. Who is liable

A “taxable person” is any entity or individual that is registered or required to be registered for GST. A taxable person is required to register by the earlier of the following dates:

- On the commencement of a new business that makes taxable supplies if it appears to the person that the person’s taxable turnover during the twelve months following the commencement date may exceed the threshold
- At the end of any month if taxable turnover during the preceding 12 consecutive months has reached the threshold
- At the end of any month if it appears that the person’s taxable turnover during the 12 consecutive months ending with the subsequent month may reach the threshold

The following are the annual thresholds for GST registration:

- JOD10,000 for manufacturers producing goods subject to ST
- JOD50,000 for suppliers of goods other than those subject to ST
- JOD30,000 for service suppliers

If a person carries out more than one of the business activities mentioned above, the minimum limit is the applicable registration threshold.

A person who imports taxable goods or services must register within 30 days of the first taxable import, regardless of the amount of the import, unless the import is made for private purposes.

Voluntary registration. A business may register for GST voluntarily if its taxable turnover is below the GST registration threshold. A business may also register for GST voluntarily in advance of making taxable supplies.

Exemption from registration. A taxable person whose entire turnover is zero-rated may request exemption from registration.

If a taxable person fails to register by the dates prescribed under the GST Law, the Income and Sales Tax Department (ISTD) may agree on request to register the person, effective from the date on which the person was required to register.

Group registration. GST grouping is not allowed. Legal entities that are closely connected must register for GST separately.

Registration procedures. A taxable person is required to register by the earlier of the following dates:

- On the commencement of a new business that makes taxable supplies if it appears to the person that taxable turnover during the twelve months following the commencement date may exceed the threshold

- At the end of any month if taxable turnover during the preceding 12 consecutive months has reached the threshold
- At the end of any month if it appears that the person's taxable turnover during the 12 consecutive months ending with the subsequent month may reach the threshold

A person with power of attorney should sign the registration form and submit it to the tax department. Under some circumstances he can authorize another person to act on his behalf.

The registration form is a pre-printed, hardcopy form that should be submitted to tax department. The registration process can be completed in about 30 minutes if the following supporting documents are available:

- Municipality license
- Commercial registration certificate
- Authorization letter
- Income tax registration certificate
- Office leasing contract or office ownership certificate

Late-registration penalties. The following penalties are assessed for late registration:

- A penalty of two to three times the output tax plus a criminal penalty equal to JOD200 is imposed if the date of registration is more than 60 days from the date on which the business should have been registered.
- A penalty of JOD100 is imposed if the date of registration is less than 60 days from the date on which the business should have been registered.

Non-established businesses. Not applicable.

Tax representatives. No specific requirements.

Reverse charge. Not applicable.

Digital economy. Rules for digital goods and services are the same as for traditional economy.

Deregistration. A registered person who stops supplying goods and services must deregister.

A registered person is not required to deregister in the following circumstances but may request deregistration:

- Taxable turnover drops below the registration threshold.
- Turnover is entirely zero-rated.

D. GST rates

“Taxable goods and services” are goods and services that are liable to a rate of GST, including the zero rate. The term “exempted goods” refers to supplies of goods and services that are not liable to GST and do not give rise to a right of input tax deduction.

In Jordan, the following are three rates of GT:

- Standard rate: 16%
- Reduced rate: 4%
- Zero rate (0%)

The standard rate of GT applies to all supplies of goods or services, unless a specific provision allows a reduced rate or an exemption.

Five types of goods and one type of service are subject to ST. ST is imposed at various percentage rates and in fixed amounts. These rates and amounts are provided in Regulation 80 of 2000.

Some goods and services liable to GT rates could also be liable to ST rates at the same time. These goods and services are defined under Schedule 1 annexed to the GST Law.

The following lists provide some examples of goods and services exempt from GT, taxed at a zero rate or taxed at a 4% rate, and examples of goods and services subject to ST.

Examples of goods and services taxable at 0%

- Books, newspapers and periodicals
- Supplies used by the handicapped
- Inputs for drug manufacturing, industrial machinery and equipment exempted under the Customs Tariff Tables and used to manufacture drugs, laboratory devices and their accessories needed by the drug industry and spare parts, regardless of whether local or imported

Examples of goods and services taxable at 4%

- Live animals
- Dairy produce, birds' eggs and natural honey
- Green or black tea
- Tomato paste
- Natural phosphates
- Potash
- Fertilizer

Examples of goods and services subject to ST

- All types of cement
- Beer (including non-alcoholic beer)
- Tobacco and tobacco products
- Vehicles (cars)
- Mobile phones and radio subscription service

Exempted goods are goods and services listed in Schedule 3 annexed to the GST Law and other goods and services exempted under the provisions of the GST Law. In addition, supplies to a person whose purchases are exempted are treated as exempted supplies even if these supplies are normally taxable. Other goods and services are called "non-taxable goods," which are goods and services that are not within the scope of GST.

Examples of exempt supplies of goods and services

- Wheat
- Bread
- Olive oil
- Plastic floor coverings
- Electrical energy
- Firefighting vehicles
- Education
- Medical services

Option to tax for exempt supplies. Not applicable.

E. Time of supply

GST becomes due at the time of supply, which is called the "tax point." The rules determining the tax point are discussed below.

GT or ST becomes due on the supply of goods at the earliest of the following events:

- Delivery of goods. However, the Director General of the Income and Sales Tax Department may consider the date of the tax invoice as the tax point if it is issued periodically or at the end of a certain period following the date of delivery.
- Issuance of a tax invoice.
- Receipt of the full or partial value of the goods, receipt of credit payment or any other receipt of value according to the agreed terms for payments.

Tax becomes due on the supply of services at the earlier of the following events:

- Issuance of a tax invoice
- Receipt of full or partial payment for the service

Tax is payable in the cases mentioned above by reference to the value covered by the invoice or the amount paid, whichever is higher.

Imported goods. Importers of goods must pay the tax due on the goods at the clearance stage to the Customs Department in accordance with the procedures applicable for the payment of customs duties. Clearance of these goods is not finalized until the tax due is paid in full.

Imported services. Importers of services must pay the tax due at the earliest of the following dates:

- Within one month after the date of payment for the imported service or after the date of making a partial payment, limited to the amount paid
- When the means that include the services (for example, compact disks and tapes) are released from Customs
- Within six months after the date on which the service or any part of the service is received, limited to the amount related to the part received

A registered importer may obtain permission from the ISTD to defer the payment of the tax payable on the importation of goods and services. This postponement is granted if the importer has no record of fraud or customs smuggling and has submitted all returns in the last 12 months.

F. Recovery of GST by taxable persons

A taxable person may recover input tax, which is GT charged on goods and services supplied to it for business purposes. Input tax is generally recovered by being deducted from output tax, which is GST charged on supplies made.

Input tax includes GT charged on goods and services supplied in Jordan and GT paid on imported goods and services into Jordan.

ST is also charged on goods supplied to produce goods subject to ST.

A valid tax invoice or customs documents must exist to recover input tax.

Special rules apply to the recovery of input GT on goods purchased or imported before registration.

Preregistration costs. A newly registered person can recover GT paid or charged before registration on the goods at hand at the time it registers for GST. If the invoice for the purchases is not a tax invoice, half of the value of the invoice is multiplied by the GT rate to calculate the deductible tax. Only the tax paid or charged on goods at hand is deductible.

Nondeductible input tax. Input tax may not be deductible on purchases or imports of goods and services that are not used for business purposes. In addition, input tax may not be recovered for some items of business expenditure.

The following lists provide some examples of items of expenditure for which input tax is not deductible and examples of items for which input tax is deductible if the expenditure is used for a taxable business purpose.

Examples of items for which input tax is nondeductible

- Goods and services used for nonbusiness purposes
- Sporting and recreational activities
- Restaurant and hotel services
- Purchases accounted for as returned purchases
- Goods and services that have been used for construction purposes, other than those used for the renting of construction and destruction equipment
- Cars

Examples of items for which input tax is deductible
(if related to a taxable business use)

- Business use of telephone and mobiles
- Business use of rental cars
- Accounting and tax consulting fees
- Cars purchased by car-trading businesses or for car rental purposes

Partial exemption. Input tax directly related to making exempt supplies is not recoverable. If a taxable person makes both exempt and taxable goods and services, it may recover input tax partially.

If the same taxable inputs are attributable to both taxable and non-taxable supplies (whether exempted or for nonbusiness use), the portion of the deductible general input tax is determined based on the production formula. If this is not possible, it is calculated based on the proportion of taxable supplies to total supplies.

Apart from the deduction of GT paid or charged on goods at hand at the time of registration, a registered person may not deduct the input tax paid more than three years earlier. However, a registered person that carries out a non-taxable business and that has already deducted tax paid on inputs relating to this business must prepare a debit note with respect to the already deducted tax on its purchases of taxable goods and services that were incorporated in non-taxable business supplies. The registered person must also undertake to calculate the tax based on the production formula and pay the tax shown in the tax return for its fiscal year. However, if calculation of tax based on the production formula is not possible, the tax is calculated based on the proportion of the non-taxable supplies to the total supplies.

Refunds. Tax is repaid within a period not exceeding three months after the date on which the claim for refund has been filed if any of the following circumstances exist:

- Tax is paid on goods or services exported or used in the manufacture of other goods that have been exported.
- Tax is collected by mistake.
- Recoverable input tax that was paid at least six months ago and that was carried forward as a credit has not yet been deducted from the tax charged on supplies made during that period.
- Tax was paid on goods that left the country in the possession of nonresident persons, and the tax amount to be refunded be not less than JOD50 but not more than JOD500.
- ST was previously paid on goods supplied to the bodies relieved from payment of tax under Article 21 of the GST Law (the King of Jordan, embassies, diplomats and consuls [subject to reciprocity] and international and regional organizations working in Jordan).

Capital goods. GST paid on capital goods is refundable. An exception is the GST paid on buildings and related expenditures, which is not recoverable. The GST paid on passenger cars is also not recoverable.

Write-off of bad debts. GST paid on bad debt is recoverable in the following cases:

- If the purchaser dies without leaving assets sufficient to pay the tax
- If the purchaser declares that his funds are not sufficient to pay the debts in full or in part, or if he fails to pay or communicate about the debt for two years
- If the seller has exhausted all legal means to collect the debt, including the tax, with no success
- If the seller has proved that the buyer has declared bankruptcy

Noneconomic activities. Not applicable.

G. Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses

No recovery is possible.

H. Invoicing

A registered person who supplies taxable goods or services to another registered person is required to make out a triplicate tax invoice containing the following details:

- The serial number and date of issuance of the tax invoice
- Name, address and tax number of the registered person
- Name, address and tax number of the purchaser
- A statement regarding the supplied item that provides the type, quantity, value, and rate and amount of the tax, together with a statement of the total amount of the invoice

The original invoice must be provided to the purchaser, and the copies must be maintained by the registered person.

If taxable goods or services are supplied by a registered person to a person that is not registered for GST, the person must issue an ordinary invoice. However, the taxable person may issue a tax-inclusive invoice showing the quantity and the tax-inclusive price of the goods or services supplied. This invoice must contain the following details:

- The serial number and date of the invoice
- Name, address and tax number of the registered person
- A statement regarding the supplied item that provides the type, quantity and value, together with a statement of the total amount of the invoice

The original invoice must be provided to the purchaser and the copies must be maintained by the registered person.

If a tax point results from a delivery of goods or services, or receipt of payment, the registered person must issue a tax invoice within the following time limits:

- Immediately after the delivery of goods or the receipt of payment if the supplier does not keep delivery notes or inventory cards.
- Within a maximum period of one month after the date on which the services are performed, or immediately on the receipt of payment.
- By the end of the day if the supplier keeps delivery notes and inventory cards.
- Immediately after the delivery of goods or services, or the receipt of payment if the supplier keeps a cash register machine. In this case, the cash register roll is considered an invoice.

Exports. To export goods outside Jordan and to the duty-free estates, zones and shops, the following conditions must be met:

- A customs declaration of the goods to be exported must be prepared with a minimum of three copies of the invoice attached to it.
- The Customs Center must check the contents of the invoice against the relevant customs declaration, certify the copy of the invoice, and affix the number and date of the declaration on the invoice, which is stamped by the Customs Center.
- The exporter must retain a copy of the invoice referred to in the bullet above together with a copy of the customs declaration produced and endorsed pursuant to the customs proceedings for the purposes of future audit.

If the exporter is not registered, in addition to the procedures described above, the procedures mentioned in Instruction No. 4 concerning the deduction or refund of the tax must also be followed. Under Instruction No. 4, a non-registered refund applicant must enclose the following documents together with the refund application:

- A completed refund form numbered 6/B, approved by the Income and Sales Tax Department (ISTD) and submitted by the concerned person or a legally authorized person.
- A copy of the supplier's tax return signed and certified by the ISTD, which contains the relevant invoice numbers for the amounts claimed. This must be attached later by the concerned directorate in the ISTD.
- The original of the tax invoice for local goods and services. However, if acceptable reasons prevent the issuance of an authenticated invoice and if the applicant undertakes that the applicant has never claimed and will never claim the tax in question when the original copy is found, the Director General of the ISTD may accept a certified copy of the invoice.
- A copy of the import declaration in the name of the exporter (the first copy), if the original declaration is requested from the customs department together with all the relevant attachments.

- A copy of the export invoice of which the number is fixed on the import declaration.
- A production formula approved by the customs department or the General Sales Tax Department concerning the materials incorporated in the production of exported goods.

The above procedures must be followed to export goods to Aqaba Special Economic Zone (SEZ) if the cost of the exported goods exceeds JOD10,000, regardless of whether the exporter is registered for GST. However, if the cost of the goods to be exported to the Aqaba SEZ is JOD10,000 or less, the following procedures must be followed:

- The exporter must produce a detailed invoice showing the cost and quantity of every exported item.
- The Customs Center must check and inspect the goods to be exported against the contents of the invoice and ascertain their exit of the goods to the zone. A customs employee then signifies the approval of the export invoices by affixing on the invoices the phrase “seen upon exiting.”

All goods leaving Jordan in the possession of the passengers, or those shipped abroad with a value not exceeding JOD500, may be exported without the need to produce a customs declaration if the exportation is substantiated in a manner satisfactory to the department. If the value of the goods does not exceed JOD1,000, the goods may be exported through the Jordan Export Development Commercial Corporation or via express mail, or it may be exported to the free zones, without the need to produce a customs declaration. In such a case it is sufficient to prepare a triplicate invoice or a bill of lading, stamped by the customs officer to substantiate the exportation. However, if the exported goods are valued at more than JOD1,000, the export must be made using the relevant transfer statement certified for this purpose.

To export services outside Jordan, the following conditions must be met:

- The beneficiary of the service must be a foreigner or a Jordanian who is not resident in Jordan.
- The place where the service is received must be outside Jordan.
- The service supplier must produce a contract substantiating the exportation of the service.
- The exporter must prove that the payment for the service has been transferred to Jordan.

To export services to the Aqaba SEZ, the following conditions must be met:

- The importer of the service must be a corporation registered in the Aqaba SEZ.
- The supplier must produce a service supply contract signed by both parties, which are the supplier and the purchaser located in the Aqaba SEZ.
- The supplier must produce an invoice showing the type and nature of the service supplied, as well as the name of the purchaser of this service.

To export services to the free estates, zones and duty-free shops, the following conditions must be met:

- The service must be provided to a person who is licensed to practice a business activity within the free estates, zones and duty-free shops.

- The service must be intended for the sole purpose of exercising this activity.
- The supplier must produce a service supply contract signed by both parties, which are the supplier and the purchaser of the exported service.
- The supplier must produce an invoice showing the type and nature of the service supplied, as well as the name of the purchaser of this service.

Foreign-currency invoices. If the supply of taxable goods or services is for a consideration determined in a foreign currency, the value must be converted into Jordanian dinars (JOD), according to the exchange rate at the time of supply.

I. GST returns and payments

A tax return, either completed in writing (manually) or filed electronically, must be submitted by the registered person using Forms Nos. 4 and 5 prepared by the ISTD for this purpose. A registered person must submit the required return within one month following the end of its tax period, as prescribed in the registration letter issued by the ISTD.

If a registered person realizes that it has made an error in a GST return that has already been submitted, it may amend the return through a written notice submitted to the ISTD. In this case, the registered person is not considered to have breached the provisions of the GST Law unless the ISTD discovered the error before the registered person declared it. However, the registered person must pay the underdeclared amount of tax, together with the late payment penalty imposed for that error, calculated for every week or any part thereof.

If a tax return adopted by the ISTD is submitted to a bank, it is deemed to be a tax return submitted to the ISTD.

If the tax return is submitted in a manner that violates the provisions of the GST Law, the return is considered to be cancelled and the registered person is liable for the penalties provided for under the GST Law.

If the registered person submits more than one return for the same period, the ISTD accepts only the return submitted first. The other returns are considered cancelled except for any amendment notices submitted afterwards.

J. Penalties

Apart from the criminal tax offenses provided for in the GST Law, a penalty not less than JOD100 and not more than JOD500 is levied on misdemeanors committed in connection with the GST Law.

A person who commits a criminal tax fraud offense is liable for a civil compensation penalty payable to the ISTD of not less than twice and not more than three times the tax due, and a criminal penalty of not less than JOD200 and not more than JOD1,000. For a second offense, the criminal penalty imposed is doubled. If the offense occurs again within one year thereafter, the court may impose the highest criminal fine or a term of imprisonment for a period not less than three months and not exceeding six months, or both.

Kazakhstan

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Almaty

GMT +6

EY

Esentai Tower, 77/7
Al-Farabi Avenue
Almaty 050060
Kazakhstan

Indirect tax contacts

Konstantin Yurchenko	+7 (727) 258-5960 konstantin.yurchenko@kz.ey.com
Aliya Dzhapayeva	+ 7 (7172) 58-04-00 aliya.k.dzhapayeva@kz.ey.com
Danna Balafanova	+7 (727) 258-5960 danna.balafanova@kz.ey.com

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Value-added tax (VAT)
Local name	Nalog na dobavlennoy stoimost (NDS) Kosylgan kun salygy (KKS)
Date introduced	24 December 1991
European Union (EU) Member State	No
Administered by	Ministry of Finance (http://www.minfin.gov.kz) State Revenue Committee of the Ministry of Finance (http://www.salyk.gov.kz)
VAT rates
Standard	12%
Other	Zero-rated and exempt
VAT number format	Number of certificate of registration for VAT (series with five digits and number of VAT registration certificate with seven digits)
VAT return periods
General period	Quarterly
Imports of goods from Belarus and Russian Federation	Monthly
Thresholds
Registration	Annual turnover of 30,000 times the minimum calculated index (MCI), approximately USD326,703 for 2015
Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses	No

B. Scope of the tax

VAT applies to the following transactions:

- Supplies of goods, work and services in Kazakhstan
- Imports of goods

For VAT purposes, taxable turnover is the total of practically all types of supplies (for example, sales, exchanges or gifts) of goods, work and services. Goods include practically all forms of property or property rights. Taxable supplies of services are any supplies of work or services that are made for consideration or made free of charge or anything that is performed for consideration and is not a supply of goods.

Goods and services are subject to VAT if, under the place of supply rules, they are deemed to be supplied in Kazakhstan.

The place of supply of goods is deemed to be the following:

- Goods sent by the supplier, the recipient or a third party: the place where the transportation of the goods begins
- For all other cases: the place where the goods are handed over to the purchaser

The place of supply of work and services is determined based on the nature of the executed transactions. Work and services connected with immovable property (for example, buildings and installations) are deemed to be supplied in Kazakhstan if such property is located in Kazakhstan. The place of supply of certain services that are provided outside Kazakhstan is deemed to be Kazakhstan. Such services include, but are not limited to, the following:

- The transfer of rights to use items of intellectual property
- Consulting
- Audit
- Advertising and marketing services
- Staff provision
- The leasing of movable property (other than means of transport)
- Agency services connected with the purchase of goods, work and services
- Consent to limit or terminate entrepreneurial activities for consideration
- Communication services
- Radio and television services
- Tourism organization services
- Rent of freight wagons and containers

C. Who is liable

Taxpayers are legal entities and nonresident legal entities that are registered for VAT purposes as well as importers of goods into Kazakhstan.

Registration procedures. VAT registration, a process separate from tax registration, is either compulsory or voluntary.

Resident legal entities, branches or representative offices of non-residents legal entities and private entrepreneurs must register for VAT if turnover during the calendar year exceeds 30,000 times the MCI. The threshold is approximately USD326,703 for 2015. The MCI is established by the state budget law for each year. For 2015, the MCI is KZT1,982 (approximately USD11). The deadline for VAT registration is within 10 business days after the end of the month in which the turnover threshold is exceeded.

Legal entities that are not subject to compulsory VAT registration have the right to submit an application for VAT registration to the tax authority at their location in person.

Whether the applicant is required to register or is registering voluntarily, several rules are the same:

- The head of an entity applying for VAT registration must possess an identification number in Kazakhstan.
- The tax authority shall within ten working days of the submission of an application for VAT registration register the taxpayer by issuing a certificate of VAT registration or reject the applicant by issuing such a decision.
- The legal entities shall become VAT payers from the first day of the month following the month in which they submitted an application for VAT registration.

Late-registration penalty. The penalty for late registration is up to 30% of turnover for the period of non-registration.

Group registration. Not applicable.

Non-established businesses. Not applicable.

Tax representatives. Not applicable.

Reverse charge. If a nonresident that is not registered for VAT purposes in Kazakhstan renders services for which the place of supply is Kazakhstan to a Kazakhstan purchaser and if the purchaser is a VAT payer, the purchaser must self-assess and pay VAT through a reverse-charge mechanism. A Kazakhstan purchaser of the services is allowed to offset the amount of the reverse-charge VAT paid, subject to the general offset procedure.

Digital economy. Not applicable.

Deregistration. A VAT payer may submit an application for VAT deregistration to the local tax authorities if the following conditions are simultaneously met:

- The taxable turnover for the calendar year preceding the year in which the tax application is submitted did not exceed approximately USD326,703.
- The taxable turnover for the period from the beginning of the current calendar year in which the tax application is submitted did not exceed approximately USD326,703.

The following documents should be submitted along with an application submitted for VAT deregistration:

- The original certificate of VAT registration
- A liquidation VAT declaration

Tax authorities should deregister a taxpayer within five working days from the date of submission of a tax application. The date of VAT deregistration shall be the date of submission of the tax application to the tax authority.

The tax authorities will deregister the VAT payer without notification in case, for example:

- The VAT declaration for two consecutive periods did not reflect information on output and input turnovers of the VAT payer.

- The taxable turnover did not exceed the minimum threshold of KZT59,460,000 for the calendar year in which the application for obligatory VAT registration was submitted.

D. VAT rates

The term “taxable supplies” refers to supplies of goods, work and services that are liable to a rate of VAT, including the zero rate.

The following are the VAT rates in Kazakhstan:

- Standard rate: 12%
- Zero rate (0%)

The standard rate of VAT applies to all supplies of goods, work and services except for supplies taxable at the zero rate and those exempt from VAT.

For imports of goods by individuals under the simplified procedure, VAT may be paid as part of the aggregate customs payment, the amount of which is determined in accordance with the customs law of Kazakhstan.

Examples of goods and services taxable at 0%

- Export sales of goods
- International transportation services
- Sale of oil and lubricants by airports when fueling aircrafts of a foreign air carrier performing international flights
- Sale of goods to the territory of Special Economic Zones

Exempt supplies. The term “exempt supplies” refers to supplies of goods, work and services not liable to tax and that do not give rise to a right to input tax deduction.

Examples of exempt supplies of goods and services

- Turnover associated with land and residential buildings
- Specified financial services
- Transfers of assets under financial leasing
- Services rendered by non-commercial organizations
- Services in the areas of culture, science and education
- Goods and services related to medical and veterinary activities
- Import of certain assets (a list is issued by the government)

Option to tax for exempt supplies. Not applicable.

E. Time of supply

The time of supply is the date that a sale of goods, work or services is completed, which is the date on which the goods are shipped (transferred), work is performed or services are rendered. The date of the performance of work or the rendering of services is the date of signing of an act of acceptance for work performed or services rendered.

For goods that are not shipped, the date of completion of a sale is the date on which ownership of the goods is transferred to the purchaser.

F. Recovery of VAT by taxpayers

The VAT liability of a taxpayer equals output VAT (VAT charged by a taxpayer) less input VAT (VAT paid by a taxpayer to its suppliers) in a reporting period.

VAT paid on services and goods purchased by a VAT payer (input VAT) including reverse-charge VAT paid and VAT paid at customs is generally available for offset (credit) in determining a taxpayer's VAT liability to the budget. However, offset is not available for VAT incurred for the purpose of making supplies that are either exempt or deemed to be supplied outside Kazakhstan.

The excess of input VAT over output VAT may generally be carried forward for offset against future VAT liabilities.

Non-recoverable input VAT. Input VAT is not allowed for offset in several instances.

Examples of items for which input tax is nondeductible

- Receipt of goods, work and services not related to taxable turnover
- Receipt of passenger cars that are purchased as fixed assets
- VAT invoice does not meet the set requirements of the Tax Code
- Goods and services purchased in cash for the amount exceeding 1,000 MCI (inclusive of VAT) irrespective of the frequency of the payment
- Goods, works and services that are transferred free of charge
- Purchase of goods, work and services from suppliers recognized by courts as false enterprises, except for transactions recognized by courts as valid
- Purchase of goods, work and services that are recognized by courts as executed by private business entities without an actual intent to carry out entrepreneurial activities

Examples of items for which input tax is deductible
(if related to a taxable business use)

- Capital assets
- Intangible and biological assets
- Investments in immovable property

Refunds. In practice, obtaining refunds requires significant effort. However, the rules prescribe a procedure for refunds under certain conditions.

Under the Tax Code of the Republic of Kazakhstan, the following amounts are refundable to a taxpayer from the budget:

- Until 1 January 2016, the amount by which input VAT exceeds the amount of tax assessed not related to zero-rated turnover, up to the amount of reverse-charge VAT
- Effective from 1 January 2016, the entire amount of input VAT that exceeds the amount of tax assessed that is not related to zero-rated turnover
- VAT paid to suppliers of goods, work and services that were acquired using a grant
- VAT paid by diplomatic and equivalent representations accredited in Kazakhstan and by persons who are members of the diplomatic, administrative and technical staff of these representations, including members of their families who reside with them, to suppliers of goods, work and services acquired in Kazakhstan
- The amount of any cash overpayment of VAT to the budget

For zero-rated supplies, excess VAT must be refunded if both of the following conditions are satisfied:

- The VAT payer sells zero-rated goods, work and services on a continuous basis.
- Zero-rated sales account for at least 70% of the total taxable sales of the payer for the tax period in which the zero-rated sales occurred and for which a refund of excess VAT is claimed in a VAT return.

Excess VAT must be refunded to a taxpayer on the basis of a refund claim made in the VAT return for a tax period.

Excess VAT confirmed by a tax audit must be refunded within 180 calendar days.

Partial exemption. Not applicable.

Preregistration costs. Not applicable.

G. Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses

Non-established businesses can not recover input VAT paid.

H. Invoicing

VAT invoices and credit notes. In general, the VAT invoice is a compulsory document for all VAT payers. No input VAT is allowed without an appropriate VAT invoice.

The amount of taxable turnover can be adjusted if the cost of goods, work or services changes in certain circumstances, including the following:

- The goods are returned in whole or in part.
- The conditions of a transaction change.
- The price or amount of compensation for goods, work or services sold is changed.

Adjustments to the amount of taxable turnover can be made if both of the following conditions are satisfied:

- Accounting documentation is available.
- A corrected VAT invoice is issued.

The cost of goods, work and services and the amount of VAT must be stated in the VAT invoice in the national currency of Kazakhstan, except for goods, work and services sold under foreign-trade contracts and in other circumstances provided for by law.

Credit notes. A credit note is an additional VAT invoice issued by a supplier of goods, work and services in some circumstances, such as in the following cases:

- Return of goods
- Where the value of sold goods, work or services change in either direction

The adjustment of the amount of taxable turnover shall take place in the tax period in which such adjustment took place.

Proof of exports. To confirm the applicability of zero-rated VAT for turnover, the supplier must collect supporting documents that are stipulated in the tax law of Kazakhstan.

Foreign-currency invoices. Values in VAT invoices should be indicated in the national currency (tenge). In certain cases, it is allowed to indicate the values in foreign currency.

Electronic invoices. Beginning 1 July 2014, taxpayers have had the right to issue electronic invoices on a voluntary basis. Electronic invoices have an established format and should be signed by means of electronic signature. Electronic invoice should be issued within seven calendar days from the date of a taxable turnover. There is a special online information system designated for receiving and processing of electronic invoices (<http://esf.gov.kz>).

I. VAT returns and payments

VAT returns. VAT payers must file a VAT return with the tax authorities for each tax period by the 15th day of the second month following the reporting tax period (quarter) and the respective liability must be paid to the budget by the 25th day of the second month following the reporting tax period.

A VAT return for the import of goods into Kazakhstan from other Customs Union member countries (Belarus and Russian Federation) must be filed with the tax authorities and the respective liability paid to the budget by the 20th day of the month following the tax period (month).

VAT on imported goods must be paid within the deadlines specified by the customs law of Kazakhstan for the payment of customs payments.

Special schemes. Not applicable.

Electronic filing and archiving. There is a special online system designated for electronic filing (<http://cabinet.salyk.kz>). All taxpayers can file tax returns and some tax applications via this online system provided they have obtained a special electronic key (electronic signature). All tax returns are kept and archived within this online system and have their own status (draft, filed, received).

Annual returns. Not applicable.

J. Penalties

The following administrative fines can be assessed with respect to VAT:

- Failure to file a tax return: penalty up to 70 MCI (approximately USD840 in 2014)
- Understatement of tax payments: penalty up to 50% of the underpaid tax
- Issue of fictitious invoice: penalty up to 200% of the input VAT included in the invoice
- Non-payment of tax for export and import of goods, work and services in the Customs Union: penalty up to 50% of the underpaid tax

The annual interest rate charged on late payments is equal to 2.5 times the official refinancing rate established by the National Bank of the Republic of Kazakhstan. Effective January 2015, the official refinancing rate is 5.5%, so the late payment interest rate is 13.75% per annum.

Non-payment of taxes may result in criminal charges.

Kenya

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Nairobi

GMT +3

EY
Mail address:
P.O. Box 44286 00100
Nairobi
Kenya

Street address:
Kenya Re Towers
Off Ragati Road
Upperhill
Nairobi
Kenya

Indirect tax contacts

Geoffrey G. Karuu	+254 (20) 271-5300 geoffrey.g.karuu@ke.ey.com
Catherine Mbogo	+254 (20) 271-5300 catherine.mbogo@ke.ey.com
Gitahi Gachahi	+254 (20) 271-5300 gitahi.gachahi@ke.ey.com

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Value-added tax (VAT)
Date introduced	1 January 1990
Trading bloc membership	East Africa Community (EAC) Member
Member of the Southern African Customs Union	No
Administered by	Kenya Revenue Authority (www.revenue.go.ke)
VAT rates
Standard	16%
Other	Zero-rated and exempt
VAT number format	P000111111A
VAT return periods	Monthly
Thresholds
Registration	KES5 million (in 12 months)
Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses	No

B. Scope of the tax

Since the enactment of a new VAT Act, which took effect 2 September 2013, VAT applies to the following transactions:

- The supply of goods and services in Kenya by a taxable person
- Taxable imported services received by a taxable person in Kenya to the extent that they relate to exempt supplies
- The importation of goods from outside Kenya, regardless of the status of the importer (unless the importer is listed as zero-rated in Part B of the Second Schedule to the VAT Act)

The exportation of goods and taxable services is zero-rated if, subject to the satisfaction of the Commissioner of Domestic Taxes, the supply takes place in the course of a registered person's business.

C. Who is liable

VAT is paid by consumers of taxable goods and services. It is collected by registered taxpayers (traders) that act as the agents of the government. VAT on imported goods is collected by the Commissioner of Customs Services Department, while the Commissioner of Domestic Taxes collects local VAT and VAT on imported services.

VAT registration is dependent on the attainment of a turnover threshold of KES5 million with respect to all taxable supplies. Businesses that do not attain this turnover threshold are subject to turnover tax at a rate of 3% of their turnover up to a maximum turnover of KES5 million. After reaching this threshold, they must register for VAT. Within 30 days after becoming a taxable person, a person should apply to the Commissioner of Domestic Taxes to be registered in the prescribed manner. Businesses whose turnover is less than the registration threshold can voluntarily apply to the commissioner for registration.

Registration procedures. The registration process involves a person making an online application for a Personal Identification Number (PIN). During this process, an entity is required to state its tax obligations including VAT.

Registration for all taxes is currently done online via the Kenya Revenue Authority (KRA) i-Tax portal (<https://itax.kra.go.ke/KRA-Portal/>). On average, tax registration can take one to five days depending on the availability of information required for registration.

Group registration. The Kenyan VAT Act allows group registration. However, in practice, group registration is allowed only under special circumstances.

Non-established businesses. A “non-established business” is a business that has no fixed establishment in Kenya. A foreign business that meets the registration requirements in Kenya and does not have a fixed place of business in Kenya is required to appoint a tax representative. A permanent establishment of a foreign business must register for VAT if it makes taxable supplies of goods or services. Other non-established businesses are not required to register for VAT. Instead, the person importing goods or services from a nonresident must pay the Kenyan VAT due.

Tax representatives. A person who is required to apply for VAT registration but who does not have a fixed place of business in Kenya should appoint a tax representative.

The registration of the tax representative shall be in the name of the non-resident person being represented.

The tax representative of a non-resident person shall:

- Be a person normally residing in Kenya
- Have the responsibility for doing all things required of the non-resident and
- With the non-resident person, be jointly and severally liable for the payment of all taxes, fines, penalties and interest imposed

Late-registration penalties. A penalty of KES200,000 or imprisonment for a period not exceeding two years (or both) is imposed in the event of late registration by traders who meet the turnover threshold.

Penalties apply to a range of other VAT offenses (see Section I).

Reverse charge. Reverse-charge VAT is applicable on imported services. Registered persons are only required to account for reverse-charge VAT to the extent it relates to exempt supplies.

Digital economy. Taxation of electronic services is provided for in the VAT Act of 2013. “Electronic services” means any of the following services, when provided or delivered on or through a telecommunications network:

- Websites, web-hosting or remote maintenance of programs and equipment
- Software and the updating of software
- Images, text, and information
- Access to databases
- Self-education packages
- Music, films and games, including games of chance
- Political, cultural, artistic, sporting, scientific and other broadcasts and events, including broadcast television

A supply of electronic services is made in Kenya if the place of business of the supplier from which the services are supplied is in Kenya.

If the place of business of the supplier is not in Kenya, the supply of the services shall be deemed to be made in Kenya if the recipient of the supply is not a registered person and the electronic services are delivered to a person in Kenya at the time of supply.

Deregistration. A registered person may apply to the commissioner for deregistration under the following circumstances:

- If the registered person ceases to make taxable supplies
- If the registered person’s annual value of taxable supplies no longer exceeds the registration threshold

The commissioner shall, by notice in writing, cancel the registration of a person in the following circumstances:

- The person has applied for cancellation and the commissioner is satisfied that the person has ceased to make taxable supplies.
- The person has not applied for cancellation but the commissioner is satisfied that the person has ceased to make taxable supplies and is not otherwise required to be registered.

The commissioner may cancel the registration of a person who is no longer required to be registered under the following circumstances:

- If the commissioner is satisfied that the person has failed to keep proper tax records
- If the commissioner is satisfied that the person has failed to furnish regular and reliable returns
- If the commissioner is satisfied that the person has failed to comply with obligations under other revenue laws
- If there are reasonable grounds to believe that the person will not keep proper records or furnish regular and reliable returns

D. VAT rates

The term “taxable supplies” refers to supplies of goods and services that are not included in the First Schedule to the VAT Act, which specifies exempt supplies.

The following are the VAT rates in Kenya:

- Standard rate: 16%
- Zero rate (0%)

Supplies listed in the Second Schedule to the VAT Act are zero-rated, which means no VAT is charged on the sale, but input tax incurred in making the sale is deducted against output tax. All other goods and services are subject to VAT at the standard rate of 16%.

Examples of zero-rated supplies

- Exportation of taxable goods and services
- Goods and services supplied to export-processing zones
- International transportation of passengers

Zero-rated supplies to specific persons

- Supplies to the Commonwealth
- Supplies to other governments
- Supplies to diplomats
- Passenger baggage

The term “exempt supplies” refers to supplies of goods and services that are not liable to tax. Persons that make exempt supplies are not entitled to input tax deduction (see Section F).

Examples of exempt goods

- Unprocessed agricultural products
- Airplanes and other aircraft

Examples of exempt goods in transition

- Motor fuel (regular and premium gasoline)
- Aviation fuel
- Gas oil
- Natural gas

Examples of exempt services

- Financial services
- Insurance
- Medical services
- Agricultural and horticultural services and animal husbandry
- Transportation of passengers (excluding transportation for hire)

Option to tax for exempt supplies. Not applicable.

E. Time of supply

The time when VAT becomes due is called the “time of supply” or “tax point.” In Kenya, the tax point is the earliest of the following events:

- The goods or services are supplied.
- A certificate is issued by an architect, surveyor or a consultant.
- An invoice is issued.
- Payment is received for all or part of the supply.

Other tax points apply in a variety of specific situations.

Imports. The time of the supply for imported goods is either the date of importation, or the date on which the goods leave a duty suspension regime.

F. Recovery of VAT by taxable persons

A taxable person may recover input tax, which is VAT charged on goods and services supplied to it for business purposes. Input tax is claimed by deducting it from output tax, which is VAT charged on supplies made. Taxable persons must claim input tax within six months after incurring the expense.

Input tax includes VAT charged on goods and services purchased in Kenya and VAT paid on imports of goods.

Examples of items for which input tax is deductible (if related to a taxable business use)

- Professional fees
- Utility costs

Non deductible input tax. VAT may not be recovered on purchases of goods and services that are not used for business purposes (for example, goods acquired for private use by an entrepreneur). In addition, input tax may not be recovered on certain business expenses.

Input tax is restricted with respect to business expenses incurred on the following items:

- Passenger cars or minibuses and the repair and maintenance thereof, including spare parts, unless the passenger cars and minibuses are acquired by the registered person exclusively for the purpose of making a taxable supply in the ordinary course of a continuous and regular business of selling and dealing in or hiring of passenger cars and minibuses
- Entertainment, restaurant and accommodation services unless:
 - The services are provided in the ordinary course of the business carried on by the person to provide the services, and the services are not supplied to an associate or employee
 - The services are provided while the recipient is away from home for the purposes of the business of the recipient or the recipient's employer

Partial exemption. VAT directly related to making exempt supplies is not recoverable. A registered person who makes both exempt and taxable supplies cannot recover VAT tax in full. This situation is referred to as “partial exemption.”

Under the VAT Act, if a taxable person supplies both taxable and exempt goods and services, only input tax attributable to taxable supplies may be recovered. The following are the attribution rules:

- Input tax directly attributable to taxable goods purchased and sold in the same condition is deductible in full.
- Input tax directly attributable to exempt outputs may not be deducted.
- Attributable to both taxable and exempt supplies is partially deductible. The recoverable amount is calculated using a simple pro-rata method based on the value of taxable and exempt supplies made.

If the exempt supplies are less than 10% of the total supplies, the input tax may be claimed in full. Where the exempt supplies constitute more than 90%, the registered person shall not be allowed any input tax attributable to taxable supplies.

Refunds. A taxable person may claim a refund of input tax in excess of output tax if the Commissioner General is satisfied that the excess arises from making zero-rated supplies.

Claims in excess of KES1 million must be accompanied by an auditors' certificate. However, in practice, the VAT Department requires an auditors' certificate for refunds in excess of KES200,000 to facilitate speedy processing.

The commissioner may refund tax where the tax has been paid in error.

A claim for tax paid in error must be filed within a period of one year after the date on which the tax was paid.

VAT on bad debts accounted for and paid by a registered person can be claimed after a period of three years from the date of such supply or it can be claimed if the person liable to pay the tax has become legally insolvent. However, it must be claimed no later than five years after the date of the supply. If legal insolvency does not apply, evidence of the effort to recover the tax is required to support such claims.

Preregistration costs. On the date a person is registered, and for the next three months, the taxable person may recover preregistration input VAT paid on taxable supplies intended for use in making taxable supplies, provided that those purchases of taxable supplies were completed no more than 24 months before the date of registration.

G. Recovery of VAT by nonresidents

Kenya does not refund VAT incurred by a foreign business, unless the foreign business has a permanent establishment in Kenya and it is registered for VAT in Kenya.

H. Invoicing

VAT invoices and credit notes. A supplier of taxable goods and services must issue a tax invoice to the purchaser at the time of supply. Simplified tax invoices may be used if the sales to any one person in a day do not exceed KES500.

A credit note may be used to reduce the VAT charged on a supply of goods or services. Credit notes must show the same information as a tax invoice.

Proof of exports. Goods and taxable services exported from Kenya are zero-rated. However, to qualify for zero rating, exports of goods must be supported by evidence that proves the goods left Kenya. Suitable evidence includes the following documents:

- A sales invoice
- A bill of lading, road manifest or airway bill
- A certified (endorsed) export entry (Form C17 [formerly Form C63])

- For sugar and other excisable goods, a certificate of exportation signed by the Commissioner of Customs and Excise

A service exported out of Kenya means a service provided for use or consumption outside Kenya. However, to qualify for zero rating, exports of services must be supported by a copy of the invoice showing the sale of the services to the purchaser.

Foreign-currency invoices. Foreign-currency invoices are dealt with in the same way as invoices in local currency. The tax authorities do not require a standard exchange rate to be used to convert the value of foreign invoices into Kenyan shillings (KES). In practice, they accept the rate used by the taxable person, if the rate used is within the prevailing market exchange rates.

Electronic invoices. Registered persons must keep records, including copies of tax invoices in an electronic manner or otherwise. An invoice may be generated electronically or manually, provided it meets the prescribed conditions of a valid tax invoice.

I. VAT returns and payment

VAT returns. The VAT tax period is one month. Returns must be filed by the 20th day after the end of the tax period. Payment is due in full by the same date. A “nil” return must be filed if no VAT is payable (either because the taxable person has made no supplies or because input tax exceeds output tax in the period).

If the normal filing date falls on a public holiday or on a weekend, the VAT return must be submitted on the last working day before that day.

VAT returns are now being submitted online.

A person may apply to the commissioner before the due date for submission of return for an extension of time to submit a return.

Special schemes. Not applicable.

Electronic filing and archiving. VAT returns can be filed electronically via the Kenya Revenue Authority (KRA) i-Tax portal.

Every registered person is required to keep records either electronically or otherwise for a period of five years.

Annual returns. VAT returns are filed monthly. There is no provision for annual VAT returns.

J. Penalties

The late submission of a return is subject to a penalty of KES10,000 or 5% of tax due, whichever is higher, plus late payment interest charged at a rate of 2% per month, compounded. Other penalties for VAT offenses include the following:

- Failure to comply with a notice to pay money owed to a taxable person: penalty of KES100,000 or a maximum sentence of six months’ imprisonment, or both, and payment to the commissioner of any liability so discharged
- Failure to produce books or information required by an authorized agent: penalty of KES100,000 or a maximum sentence of three years’ imprisonment, or both

- Failure to display registration certificate: a fine of up to KES200,000 or a maximum sentence of two years' imprisonment, or both
- Failure to apply for registration or deregistration: penalty of KES200,000 or a maximum sentence of two years' imprisonment, or both
- Making a fraudulent claim for a refund of tax: two times the amount of claim
- Unauthorized access to or improper use of tax computerized system: maximum of KES400,000 or a maximum sentence of two years' imprisonment, or both
- Interference with tax computerized system: maximum of KES800,000 or a maximum sentence of three years' imprisonment, or both
- Other offenses: maximum fine of KES1,000,000 or a maximum sentence of three years' imprisonment

Korea

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Seoul

GMT +9

Ernst & Young Han Young

TaeYoung Bldg.
10-2, Yeoido-dong
Youngdeungpo-gu
Seoul 150-777
Korea

Indirect tax contact

Danielle Suh

+82 (2) 3770-0902
danielle.suh@kr.ey.com

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Value-added tax (VAT)
Local name	Boo-ga-ga-chi-se
Date introduced	1 July 1977
Trading bloc membership	None
Administered by	National Tax Service (http://www.nts.go.kr)
VAT rates
Standard	10%
Other	Zero-rated, exempt and exempt with credit
VAT number format	000-00-00000 (showing tax office location, legal entity type and serial number)
VAT return periods	Quarterly
Registration thresholds	None (except for simplified taxation)
Simplified taxation	Individual businesses with prescribed categories and with turnover less than KRW48 million in previous calendar year
Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses	Yes

B. Scope of the tax

VAT applies to the following transactions:

- The supply of goods and services by a taxable person
- Reverse-charge services received by an exempt business person in Korea
- The importation of goods, regardless of the status of the importer

In addition to these general rules, several special cases are considered taxable supplies of goods.

If traders directly use or consume goods that are acquired or produced in the course of their business, the use or consumption of the goods is deemed to be a supply of goods to the traders themselves. This rule does not apply to stock-in-trade or to the consumption of the goods as raw materials.

If traders use or consume goods produced or acquired in the course of the business for their personal use or for the use of employees or if traders donate goods to customers or other persons, the use, consumption, or donations are deemed to be a supply of goods.

Inventory owned at the time of liquidation of a trader's business is considered to be supplied to the trader. The same rule applies if a VAT-registered person fails to start a business.

The sale or purchase of goods by a consignee or agent is deemed to be the same as if the consignor or the principal directly supplied the goods. However, this rule does not apply if the consignor or the principal cannot be identified.

Offers of goods given as security, and transfers of businesses to other persons are not deemed to be supplies of goods, unless these actions are undertaken by simplified taxpayers.

Taxable supplies of services include the rendering of services, the leasing of goods or facilities and the granting of rights under a contract or by law.

A deemed self-supply of services takes place if traders provide services for their own businesses. However, in practice the Korean tax authorities do not levy VAT on the self-supply of services.

Generally, services provided free of charge are not viewed as a supply of services, except for commercial properties being leased to related parties free of charge.

C. Who is liable

Any person that independently undertakes the supply of goods or services in the course of business, whether or not for profit, is liable to VAT. The definition of a VAT-registered trader includes individuals, corporations, the government and local authorities, associations of local authorities, and bodies of persons.

Any person that begins a business must register the particulars of each place of business with the tax authorities within 20 days after the date of business commencement. The business particulars may be registered before the date of business commencement. The tax office that has jurisdiction for the location of the trader's place of business issues a business registration certificate to the trader. In addition, the Korean VAT law provides that the registration can be based on business tax units if a taxpayer has various business places.

A person that carries on a VAT-exempt business may register under the corporate or individual income tax.

Reverse charge. A trader who receives a supply of services and intangible properties from a nonresident or foreign corporation must collect the VAT at the time of the payment for such services and pay the amount to the government, unless the services received are used in taxable operations.

Foreign corporations include the following:

- A nonresident or a foreign corporation that does not own a place of business in Korea
- A nonresident or foreign corporation with a domestic place of business (permanent establishment) in Korea that supplies services not attributable and related to the domestic place of business

Tax representatives. In certain circumstances, an individual trader must designate a tax administrator to deal with filing tax returns, making tax payments, requesting refunds and handling other necessary matters. Information about the tax administrator must be reported to the competent tax office. A tax administrator is required if the following circumstances exist:

- The individual is not normally present at the place of business.
- The individual intends to stay outside of Korea for a period of more than six months.

Registration procedures. When traders establish a business in Korea, they should choose to establish an entity in the form of subsidiary company, branch office or liaison office.

To set up a subsidiary or branch office, traders should register with the commercial court and tax office, and designate a foreign exchange bank. Average time to process is one month. To set up a liaison office, taxpayers should register with a tax office; average time to process is one week.

In general, the forms to be submitted are certificate of corporate information, resolution of board of directors, letter of appointment, certificate of corporate registry, articles of incorporation, acceptance of appointment and application of registration of branch seal impression, with additional documentation possibly required.

A trader who sets up a business shall register the required particulars of each business place within 20 days from the business commencement date. The particulars may be registered before the business commencement date, if desired.

Late-registration penalties. If a person fails to register a business within 20 days after the date of commencing the activity, a penalty tax equal to 1% of the value of supplies made is imposed. If a taxpayer provides goods or services without registration or with late registration, the penalty applies to the value of the supplies made during the period beginning with the date on which business commenced and ending on the day before the date on which the registration is made. The amount of the penalty is used to adjust the amount of tax payable or deductible. The penalty is capped at KRW100 million (KRW50 million for small and medium-sized enterprises [SMEs]). The cap covers every six-month period.

Group registration. Not applicable.

Non-established businesses. Korea refunds VAT incurred by traders that are neither established nor registered for VAT in Korea. A non-established trader may reclaim VAT to the same extent as a VAT-registered trader. A foreign company that is engaged in business in its home country but does not have a permanent establishment in Korea may reclaim the VAT incurred on the purchase of the following goods and services according to Article 107(6) of the Tax Incentive Limited Law:

- Meals and hotel charges
- Advertisements
- Electricity and telecommunications
- Real estate rentals and leases
- Goods and services necessary for the maintenance of an office in Korea

Digital economy. Effective 1 July 2015, South Korea applies VAT on electronic services purchased by South Korean customers from abroad. Foreign providers of electronic services must register with the South Korean tax authorities through the simplified business registration system.

Deregistration. A registered trader that has suspended or closed down its business or that has changed any of the registered particulars of the business is required to report the event without delay to the tax office that has jurisdiction for the trader's place of business. The same rule applies if a person that has registered for VAT before commencing business fails to actually start the business.

D. VAT rates

In Korea, the VAT rates are the standard rate of 10% and the zero rate (0%). The standard rate of VAT applies to all supplies of goods or services, unless a specific measure provides for the zero rate or an exemption.

Input VAT incurred with respect to zero-rated supplies is refundable. The zero rate applies exclusively to traders that are residents and to domestic corporations. However, for international transportation by ships or aircraft, the zero rate applies to traders that are nonresidents and foreign corporations on a reciprocity basis.

Examples of goods and services taxable at 0%

- Exported goods
- Services rendered outside Korea
- International transportation services by ships and aircraft
- Other goods or services supplied for foreign currency

Input VAT (that is, VAT on related purchases) incurred with respect to exempt supplies is not refundable. However, traders may elect not to be exempted.

Examples of exempt supplies of goods and services

- Social welfare services (for example, medical and health services and education services)
- Goods or services related to culture (for example, books, newspapers, magazines, official gazettes and communications, artistic works, and admission to libraries)
- Personal services similar to labor (for example, by actors, singers and academic research services)
- Postage stamps
- Basic life necessities and services (for example, unprocessed foodstuffs such as agricultural products, livestock products, marine products, forest products, piped water, briquette and anthracite coal)

- Services supplied by the government
- Finance and insurance services
- Supplies of land

Option to tax for exempt supplies. A trader may choose not to be exempted from value-added tax by filing a report on waiver of such tax exemption.

E. Time of supply

The time when VAT becomes due is called the “time of supply” or “tax point.”

Goods are deemed to be supplied at the following times (also, see the next paragraph):

- A supply of goods that requires the goods to be moved: when the goods are delivered
- A supply of goods that does not require the goods to be moved: when the goods are made available
- For other cases: when the supply of goods is confirmed

Goods are deemed to be supplied at the times specified below. However, if the goods are supplied after the date of the closure of a business, the closure date is regarded as the time of supply. The following are the times of supply for specified types of supplies:

- Cash or credit sales: when goods are delivered or made available
- Sales made for long-term installment payments: when each portion of the proceeds is stipulated as received
- Supply of goods under terms of payment on the percentage of work completed, or under terms of partial payments: when each portion of the proceeds is receivable
- Processing deemed to be a supply of goods: when the processed goods are delivered
- Self-supplies or the supply of services for personal use or for a gift: when the goods are consumed or used
- Business closure: the date of closure
- Goods supplied through vending machines: when the trader takes money from the machine
- Exports: the date of shipment
- Goods that are considered imported goods and that are supplied by a business in a bonded area to outside the bonded area: the date of the export declaration

Services are deemed to be provided at the times described below. However, if the time of supply comes after the closure of a business, the time of supply is deemed to be the date of business closure. The following are the times of supply for services:

- General rule: when the services are completely rendered
- Services provided under terms of payment based on the percentage of work completed, partial payment, deferred payment, or any other payment terms: when each portion of the payments is to be received
- A deemed rent deposit for a lease or advance or deferred payment of rent for the leasing of land, buildings or other structures built on the land: when the preliminary tax return or the tax period has been completed
- Other cases: when the services have been completely rendered and the value of the supply is determined

If a trader receives partial or full payment of the consideration for a supply of goods or services and issues a tax invoice or receipt for the payment before the general time of supply occurs (as described above), the time of supply is deemed to be the date that the tax invoice or receipt is issued. However, this measure does not apply to long-term installment sales or supplies of goods on an ongoing basis, such as utilities and electric power, to which the general time of supply rules apply.

Imported goods. The time of importation for goods shall be the time when an import declaration under the Customs Act is accepted.

F. Recovery of VAT by taxable persons

A taxable person may recover input tax, which is VAT charged on goods and services supplied to it for business purposes. The basic rule for VAT recovery in Korea requires a supply of goods or services to be made by a taxable person in the course of business. Any VAT claimed must be supported by a valid VAT tax invoice or customs document.

Deductibility of input tax. Input tax may not be recovered on purchases of goods and services that are not used for business purposes. Input tax incurred on expenses directly related to the business is generally recoverable.

Examples of items for which input tax is deductible (if related to a taxable business use)

- The value-added tax amount on goods or services that are used by traders for their own business.
- The value-added tax amount on the importation of goods that are used by traders for their own business or imported by them for such use.

However, certain input tax is not recoverable.

Examples of items for which input tax is nondeductible

- Input tax on expenses not directly related to the business
- Input tax on the purchase and maintenance of small automobiles used for nonprofit purposes
- Input tax incurred on the supply of goods or services that are exempt
- Input tax on entertainment expenses or similar expenses outlined in the Presidential Decree governing VAT recovery
- Input tax amount incurred more than 20 days before the date of registration

Refunds. If a trader is entitled to a refund, the competent tax office refunds the amount of tax refundable for each tax period concerned. This is done automatically through the submission of the periodic VAT return.

If a trader makes zero-rated supplies, if the trader is operating a newly established business or if the trader acquires, expands, or extends its business facilities, the tax office may refund the amount of tax due to the trader within 15 days after the date of the preliminary return (see Section I). This procedure is referred to as an “early refund.”

Partial exemption. If goods or services purchased by a trader are used both for taxable and exempt supplies, the creditable input tax is calculated based on the ratio of turnover related to supplies entitled to a VAT credit compared to the trader's total turnover.

Capital goods. Capital goods are items of capital expenditure that are used in a business over several years. Input tax is deducted in the VAT taxable period in which the goods are acquired. The amount of input tax recovered depends on the taxable person's partial exemption recovery position in the VAT taxable period of acquisition. However, the amount of input tax recovered for capital goods must be adjusted over time if the taxable person's partial exemption recovery percentage changes during the adjustment period.

In Korea, the capital goods adjustment applies to the following assets for the number of taxable periods indicated:

- Buildings (adjusted for 20 taxable periods)
- Equipment and fixtures (adjusted for 4 taxable periods)

The adjustment is applied each taxable period following the taxable period of acquisition to a fraction of the total input tax (1/20 for buildings and 1/4 for equipment and fixtures). The adjustment may result in either an increase or a decrease of deductible input VAT, depending on whether the ratio of taxable supplies made by the business has increased or decreased compared with the taxable period in which the capital goods were acquired.

Preregistration costs. Not applicable.

G. Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses

Korea refunds VAT incurred by businesses that are neither established nor registered for VAT in Korea. A non-established business may reclaim VAT to the same extent as a VAT-registered business.

A foreign company that is engaged in business in its home country but does not have a permanent establishment in Korea may reclaim the VAT incurred on the purchase of the following goods and services according to Article 107(5) of the Tax Incentive Limited Law:

- Meals and hotel charges
- Advertisements
- Electricity and telecommunications
- Real estate rentals and leases
- Goods and services necessary for the maintenance of an office in Korea

Refund application. A foreign company that seeks to reclaim VAT paid in Korea must submit an application, together with the required documents, to the district National Tax Service (NTS) by 30 June of the year following the calendar year covered by the claim. The district NTS must refund eligible VAT by 31 December of the year in which the application is submitted. The following documents must accompany the claim:

- A certificate that proves the foreign company is a registered business in its home country
- A detailed transaction list
- A copy of all tax invoices
- A power of attorney, if necessary

H. Invoicing

Tax invoice. When a registered trader supplies goods or services, it must issue a tax invoice to the other party to the transaction. The tax invoice must contain the following information:

- The registration number and the name of the individual or corporate trader
- The registration number of the other party to the supply
- The value of the supply and the VAT charged
- The date, month and year in which the tax invoice is issued
- Other particulars as prescribed by the Presidential Decree

Receipt. Traders that carry on businesses dealing with the public, such as retail outlets, ordinary restaurants, hotels, and passenger transport, may issue a tax invoice that does not indicate separately the name of the other party to the supply and the amount of VAT charged.

Monthly tax invoices. If it is deemed necessary, a trader may prepare and issue a tax invoice by aggregating the total receivable transactions to the end of the month. The invoice must be issued by the 10th day of the following month.

Import documentation. The Customs office is required to prepare and issue import tax invoices for imported goods. The documents must be given to individuals and companies that make imports and must be issued in accordance with the provisions of the Customs Law. However, only companies may claim a refund of the VAT paid.

Exemption from the obligation to issue tax invoices. Persons that carry on any of the following activities are exempt from the obligation to prepare and issue tax invoices:

- Self-supplies of goods, personal use of goods, donations for a business purpose, supplies in the course of the closure of a business and self-supplies of services
- Exportations of goods, supplies of services abroad, and other specific supplies of goods or services that earn foreign currency and that are subject to the zero rate

Electronic tax invoice system. The electronic tax invoice (ETI) is a tax invoice that is electronically transmitted to the information network of the NTS through an accredited certification system that can confirm information, such as a supplier's identification and the details of tax invoices if changed.

Effective from 1 January 2010, all registered corporate taxpayers must issue tax invoices under the ETI system and submit a statement of delivery to the NTS by the date specified by Presidential Decree, which is currently the day immediately following the issuance date.

Self-issuance tax invoice. If a customer receives supplies of goods or services from a trader without receiving a tax invoice, the customer may issue a self-billed tax invoice, after receiving an approval from a tax officer.

Credit note. If a tax invoice contains an error or if the trader needs to make a correction to the submitted tax invoice after it has been issued, the trader must prepare and reissue the tax invoice.

Foreign-currency considerations. If a VAT invoice is issued in a foreign currency, all values that are required on the invoice must be converted into Korean won (KRW), using the exchange rate at the time of supply. The exchange rate is contained in the Foreign Exchange Transaction Regulation, and it is generally the exchange rate announced by Seoul Money Brokerage Service Ltd (<http://www.smbs.biz>).

Export documentation. A detailed statement is required for a supply to be qualified as an export. This document must be prepared by the trader.

I. VAT returns and payment

The VAT period is quarterly. VAT returns must be filed on a quarterly basis.

VAT returns. A trader is required to file preliminary returns for the first and third quarters of the year, which end in March and September, respectively. These preliminary returns must indicate the tax base and the tax amount payable or refundable. The preliminary return must be filed within 25 days following the last day of each preliminary return period. A trader must pay the tax amount payable for the preliminary return period when the return is filed.

Traders must file a final return for the quarters ended June and December for the 2nd and 4th quarters of the year. The final return must be filed within 25 days following the end of the tax period. A trader must pay the tax amount payable for the final return period at the time of filing the return.

VAT returns must be completed in Korean won (KRW), and return liabilities must be paid in Korean won.

Few differences exist between a preliminary and final return except for the filing period and the reporting of input VAT. For companies that undertake both VAT-taxable and VAT-exempt business activities, the amount of nondeductible input VAT used for exempt business activities is recalculated in the final return.

Traders may file input VAT invoices related to the preliminary return period in the following final return period without incurring non-compliance penalties.

If a trader receives approval from the superintendent of the competent tax office of its principal place of business to be treated as a taxable unit, the trader must aggregate and report the tax returns for all of its places of business.

A trader also must submit an aggregate summary of the tax invoices for both sales and purchases and any supporting documents for zero-rated supplies at the time the preliminary returns and final returns are submitted.

If a trader makes a final return of the amount of tax refundable for each taxable period, the competent tax office may refund such amount to the trader within 30 days of the end of the final return period.

If a trader qualifies for zero rating or newly constructs, acquires, expands, or extends any of the business facilities, the competent tax office may refund such amount to the trader within 15 days from the ending date of the preliminary return.

Individuals or self-employed persons. In general, for the preliminary return period, individuals or self-employed persons must pay an amount of tax equal to half of the tax paid for the regular return in the immediately preceding return period. They are not required to file preliminary returns. Individuals or self-employed persons are not required to make a payment if the tax amount is less than KRW200,000.

However, the actual tax amount collected or refundable during the preliminary return period may be reported if the tax amount to be reported under a preliminary return is less than one-third of the amount of tax paid for the immediately preceding regular return period (for example, as a result of the suspension of the business or because of a downturn in business).

An individual or self-employed person who has no tax amount payable for the immediately preceding year or who is establishing a new business during the preliminary return period must report the actual tax amount collected (or refundable) during the preliminary return period.

Record retention. A trader must keep the books in which the transactions are recorded for a period of five years after the date of the final return for the tax period in which the transactions occurred. The books must also contain details of tax invoices or receipts issued or received. Records may be kept in hard copy or in electronic format.

Payments. A taxable person must pay the VAT due at each business place at the time of filing the return. However, if a trader has more than two business places, it may pay the entire VAT due at its principal place of business with the prior approval from the tax office that has jurisdiction over the principal business place.

Special schemes. Not applicable.

Electronic filing and archiving. Where a return is electronically submitted through the information network of the NTS, such return shall be treated as filed with the tax office at the time of submission to the information network of the NTS.

Traders shall record all facts of transactions related to their amount of tax payable or amount of tax refundable in their account books and maintain them at their own places of business for five years from the deadline for filing a final return for the taxable period of the relevant transactions. Traders can maintain books and invoices in electronic form.

Annual returns. Not applicable.

J. Penalties

Penalties apply to the following VAT errors or offenses:

- Failure to register within 20 days from the establishment of a business: 1% of the value of supply
- Failure to issue a correct tax invoice (including ETI) or to submit a correct list of tax invoices issued: 1% to 2% of the value of supply

-
- Failure to transmit a list of ETIs issued: 0.1% to 1% of the value of supply
 - Failure to report a zero-rated VAT transaction in a VAT return: 0.5% of the tax base
 - Failure to file a tax return: 10% to 40% of the underpaid tax amount (overpaid tax refund)
 - Underpayment and non-payment of taxes or overestimated refund: underpaid tax amount (or overpaid tax refund) at a rate of 10.95% annually
 - Failure to comply with the requirement to make a proxy payment (reverse charge): 10% of the amount not paid

The first three penalties listed above are capped at KRW100 million (KRW50 million for SMEs). The cap covers every six-month period.

Kosovo

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Prishtina

GMT +1

EY

Pashko Vasa 16/7 - Pejton
10000 Prishtina
Kosovo

Indirect tax contacts

Dr. Alexandros Karakitis
(resident in Athens, Greece)

+30 (211) 300-6317
alexandros.karakitis@gr.ey.com

Anisa Jasini
(resident in Tirana, Albania)

+355 (4) 241-9575, Ext.131
anisa.jasini@al.ey.com

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Value-added tax (VAT)
Local name	Tatimi mbi Vleren e Shtuar (TVSH)
Date introduced	31 May 2001
Trading bloc membership	Customs-free access to the EU market based on the EU Autonomous Trade Preference (ATP) Regime; Central European Free Trade Agreement
Administered by	Tax Administration of Kosovo (TAK)
VAT rates
Standard	16%
Other	Exempt with credit and exempt
VAT number format	1234567890
VAT return periods	Monthly
Registration thresholds
Supply of domestic goods	Annual turnover of EUR50,000
Exporters and importers	Subject to registration regardless of turnover
Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses	No, as relevant regulation to determine the refund procedure is still pending.

B. Scope of the tax

VAT applies to the following transactions:

- The supply of goods and services performed by a taxable person in Kosovo
- Importation of goods in Kosovo, regardless of the status of the importer
- Services supplied to taxable persons in Kosovo by service providers whose place of business is outside Kosovo

- Certain supplies of services rendered by service providers whose place of business is outside Kosovo to non-taxable persons in Kosovo, such as digital services and services related to an immovable property located in Kosovo

C. Who is liable

Any person (entity or individual) who independently carries out any economic activity in a regular or non-regular manner, whatever the purpose or results of that economic activity, is liable to VAT.

Taxable activities also include “the exploitation of tangible or intangible property for the purposes of obtaining income therefrom on a continuing basis.”

A taxable person established in Kosovo is obliged to register for VAT purposes and charge VAT when his annual turnover in the previous twelve months exceeds the threshold of EUR50,000. Any supply made by the taxable person after the threshold is exceeded shall be subject to VAT. In this case, the taxable person is required to apply for VAT registration within 15 days after exceeding the threshold. Consequently, the part of the supply which exceeded the threshold will be taken into account for purposes of VAT in the first tax period after registration.

Every person who meets all conditions of the definition of taxable person in Kosovo, but does not exceed the VAT registration threshold may voluntarily register for VAT.

Persons involved in import or export activities must register for VAT regardless of the amount of turnover.

VAT representatives. A non-established business must appoint a resident VAT representative to register for VAT purposes in Kosovo. The VAT representative may act on behalf of the taxable person for all purposes related to VAT and is jointly and severally liable for compliance with all VAT obligations of the non-established business.

Registration procedures. The application for registration cannot be done online. A person applying for VAT registration shall personally or through an authorized person submit the VAT registration form with the respective regional office of TAK. The VAT registration application form, which is available online at the following link: http://www.atk-ks.org/wp-content/uploads/2010/07/FRTVSH_en-US.pdf, must be accompanied by a copy of the business registration documents, the Certificate of the Fiscal Number and an official identification photo (passport, identity card, etc.).

The TAK determines whether to issue the VAT Registration Certificate or not within 10 days from receipt of the application form, after ensuring that the information provided in the registration form is accurate and that the taxpayer has complied with all tax obligations.

Late-registration penalties. There are no penalties for late registration. However, every person who has not applied for registration in due time shall be registered by TAK with retroactive effect as of the date the threshold was exceeded.

Digital economy. Kosovo follows the destination principle with regard to cross-border digital services supplied to non-taxable persons in Kosovo. The place of supply of cross-border digital services to non-taxable persons is the place where the non-taxable person is established or where he has his permanent address or usually resides. Thus a foreign service supplier providing digital services to a non-taxable person in Kosovo should register for VAT purposes in Kosovo by appointing a VAT representative in the country to account for and pay the VAT liability.

Group registration. The Kosovan VAT law does not allow group registration.

Non-established businesses. A “non-established business” is a business that does not have a fixed establishment in Kosovo. No VAT registration threshold applies to taxable supplies made in Kosovo by a non-established business.

A non-established business must register for VAT in Kosovo if it engages in any of the following taxable supplies:

- Supply of goods located in Kosovo at the time of supply
- Supply of certain services to non-taxable persons in Kosovo, such as digital services and services related to an immovable property located in Kosovo
- Import and export activities in Kosovo

Reverse charge. The reverse-charge mechanism applies to supplies of services made by non-established business to taxable persons in Kosovo. A non-established business is not required to register for VAT if all its supplies in Kosovo fall under the reverse-charge mechanism.

Deregistration. Every taxable person registered for VAT purposes may request to be deregistered if in the last 12 months the turnover fell below the VAT registration threshold. Taxable persons ceasing their economic activity are liable to request to be deregistered within 15 days from the termination of their activity. The TAK shall make a decision within 12 months after the request for deregistration has been made.

D. VAT rates

The term “taxable supplies” refers to supplies of goods and services except for exempt supplies.

The standard VAT rate for taxable supplies is 16%.

The standard rate of VAT applies to all supplies of goods and services, unless a provision of law introduces a reduced rate or a temporary higher rate for specific supplies of goods or services, which cannot be lower than 5% or higher than 21%.

The use of goods or services purchased or produced in the course of business activity for private purposes, or other nonbusiness purposes, or their disposal free of charge (other than goods for business use as samples or as gifts of small value) shall be treated as taxable supplies, to the extent the VAT on those supplies was deductible.

The term “exempt supplies” refers to supplies of goods and services that are not subject to VAT and that do not give rise to an input VAT deduction.

Some supplies are treated as “exempt with credit,” which means that no VAT is chargeable, but the supplier may recover the input VAT.

Examples of exempt supplies of goods and services without VAT credit

- Hospital services and medical care
- Education
- Insurance
- Financial services
- Welfare services
- Betting, lotteries and other forms of gambling
- Supply of land
- Leasing of immovable property

Examples of exempt supplies of goods and services with VAT credit

- Export of goods
- International transport
- Supplies under diplomatic and consular arrangements
- The supply of goods or services to international and inter-governmental bodies
- Supply of gold to the Central Bank of Kosovo

Option to tax for exempt supplies. Not applicable.

E. Time of supply

The time when VAT becomes due (or chargeable event occurs) is called the “time of supply.” VAT is due when one of the following events occurs:

- Issuance of an invoice in respect of a supply of goods or services
- Receipt of advance payment before the goods or services are delivered

Special rules apply to continuous supplies of goods or services, which are considered as being completed at intervals of one month. Long-term contracts including long-term construction contracts and long-term installation contracts shall be regarded as completed at regular intervals but at least at the end of each calendar year.

Imported goods. The time of supply for imported goods is the date of importation or the date on which the goods exit a duty suspension regime.

F. Recovery of VAT by taxable persons

A taxable person may recover input tax, which is the VAT charged on taxable goods and services supplied to the person for business purposes. A taxable person generally recovers input tax by deducting it from output tax, which is the VAT charged on supplies which he makes.

Input tax includes VAT charged on goods and services supplied in Kosovo, VAT paid on imports of goods and VAT applied to reverse-charge services.

Examples of items for which input tax is deductible
(if related to a taxable business use)

- Books
- Advertising
- Mobile telephones
- Utilities
- Attending conferences, seminars and training courses
- Taxis
- Hotel accommodation for employees, agents or representatives on business trips

Nondeductible input tax. Generally input tax may not be recovered on purchases of goods or services which are not used for business purposes.

The following list provides some examples of items of expenditure for which input tax is not deductible.

Examples of items for which input tax is not deductible

- Expenditure on yachts and boats intended for sport and recreation, private aircraft, cars and motorcycles used not for business purposes and fuels, lubricants, spare parts and services closely linked thereto
- Expenditure as regards cars used for both private and business purposes, with the right to deduct input VAT limited to 50%
- Expenditure for representation, which shall include costs for entertainment and amusement during business or social contacts, food costs including drinks and accommodation costs

Partial exemption. If a supply of a good or service is used partly for purposes of taxable supplies and partly for exempt supplies, the taxable person may not deduct input tax in full. This situation is known as “partial exemption.” The calculation of the amount of input tax that may be recovered is made on a pro-rata basis by using the following formula:

$$\text{Amount of relevant input VAT} \times \frac{\text{turnover enabling VAT credit}}{\text{total annual turnover}}$$

Supplies of capital goods and the incidental supply of financial services are excluded from turnover for this purpose.

The pro rata of VAT shall be determined on an annual basis as a percentage, and shall be rounded up to the next whole number.

The pro rata VAT calculation is tentatively based on the preceding calendar year’s results. It must be adjusted by 31 January of the following year in case of differences between the provisional pro rata and the actual pro rata.

Taxable persons are invited to use a pro rata for each individual activity of their business separately, provided they maintain separate accounts for each individual activity and notify the tax authorities.

Capital goods. Capital goods are items of capital expenditure used for the production of other goods and services with a useful service life of one year or more and acquired for a cost price equal to or more than EUR1,000. Input tax is generally deducted in the VAT period in which the goods are acquired. If the business comprises both taxable and exempt supplies and the capital goods do not only serve taxable supplies, the amount of input tax recovered depends on the taxable person's partial exemption recovery position in the VAT year of acquisition. The amount of input tax recovered is adjusted over time if the taxable person's pro rata changes during the adjustment period.

The capital goods adjustment applies to the following assets for the number of years indicated:

- Immovable capital assets: 20 years
- Movable capital assets: five years

The adjustment is applied each year following the year in which the goods were used for the first time, to a fraction of the total input tax (1/5 for movable capital goods and 1/10 for immovable capital goods).

The adjustment is not made if the difference of the deducted VAT is less than EUR20.

Write-off of bad debts. Taxable persons who have not received partial or total payment for a taxable supply may claim VAT charged in respect of that supply after submitting an application for the recognition of the bad debt with the tax authorities and obtaining written permission by the latter. The application should be accompanied by sufficient evidence to prove that the VAT on the debt has been paid to the tax authorities and that the whole or part of the payment for the taxable supply has not been received.

The application should be submitted not earlier than 6 months after the end of the tax period in which the VAT on the whole or part of the supply was paid to the tax administration.

Refunds. A taxpayer may claim a VAT refund until the 20th of the month following a calendar quarter if the following conditions are met simultaneously:

- There is a credit balance in the calendar quarter.
- The amount of VAT credit balance exceeds EUR5,000 in the last month of the calendar quarter.
- The taxpayer submitted all VAT declarations and declarations of other taxes for all previous tax periods.
- The taxpayer possesses sufficient documentation to prove the entitlement to the VAT reimbursement claim.

For exports, a refund may be claimed after each tax period provided that the following conditions are met:

- The export transactions represent at least 25% of the total transactions with right to deduct input VAT and the amount of VAT credit exceeds EUR5,000 at the end of the tax period.
- The taxable person has complied with all applicable customs and VAT provisions.
- All VAT returns and other tax returns for all past periods have been duly submitted.
- The taxpayer possesses sufficient documentation to prove the VAT reimbursement claim.

The taxpayer must file a request for refund form with the relevant tax office. The tax office must verify the fulfillment of the refund conditions and approve the refund within 60 days. Interest is applicable after exceeding the 60 days period if no reason for delay exists.

The Minister of Economy and Finance has to issue a relevant regulation to determine alternative procedures for refunding VAT to persons not required to submit VAT returns, to persons who cease their economic activity and to taxable persons and customers who are not established in Kosovo.

Preregistration costs. A taxable person cannot recover any input VAT incurred on goods or services supplied to it before the registration for VAT purposes.

G. Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses

Non-established businesses not registered for VAT in Kosovo may not recover Kosovo VAT incurred.

H. Invoicing

VAT invoices and credit notes. A Kosovan taxable person must issue invoices for all taxable supplies made, including exports. A VAT invoice is necessary to support a claim for input tax deduction or a refund. In order to qualify as a valid invoice it should comply with the requirements set out in the Kosovan VAT law.

Taxable persons are allowed to issue summary invoices if they carry out several separate supplies of goods or services during a tax period which corresponds to a calendar month. A VAT credit note may be used to reduce the VAT charged on a supply of goods or services; a debit note may be used to increase the amount of VAT. Tax credit and debit notes must be cross-referenced to the original VAT invoice.

Electronic issuance of invoicing. The Kosovan VAT law permits electronic issue of invoices subject to acceptance by the recipient. The authenticity of the origin and the integrity of their content must be guaranteed by means of advanced electronic signature or by means of electronic data interchange EDI as defined by European arrangements and recommendations.

Foreign-currency invoices. Invoices may be issued in any currency, provided that the taxable amount and the amount of VAT due is expressed in Euros. Where the taxable amount of a transaction, other than the importation of goods, is expressed in a foreign currency, the conversion of this amount into the domestic currency Euro shall be the latest selling rate as defined by the Central Bank of Kosovo recorded at the time VAT becomes chargeable. Where the value and factors used to determine the taxable amount on importation are expressed in a foreign currency, the conversion of this amount into euro shall be made by applying the exchange rate determined in accordance with the Customs regulations governing the calculation of the value for customs purposes.

Language. There are no requirements with regard to the language of the invoice. However, for inspection purposes, the VAT authorities may ask for a translation of the invoice into an official language of Kosovo (Albanian, Serbian and English).

I. VAT returns and payments

VAT returns. The tax period is a calendar month. The taxable persons must submit the VAT returns and remit the VAT due not later than the 20th of the calendar month following the end of each tax period. For imports, VAT is payable upon importation.

For a taxpayer that is newly registered the first tax period begins on the date of the registration, as stated in the certificate of registration. The last taxable period for a taxable person undergoing a deregistration procedure shall end on the date of the deregistration having begun on the first day of that month.

For a taxable person against whom a liquidation or bankruptcy procedures is initiated the tax period shall begin on the day of the opening of the liquidation or bankruptcy procedures and shall end on the date of the decision on the conclusions of such procedures.

Special schemes. Not applicable.

Electronic filing and archiving. The TAK has developed the electronic declaration system (EDI), which enables taxpayers to open an online account that will enable them to declare and pay their tax liabilities, including VAT. This system also enables any correction of tax returns.

Annual returns. Not applicable.

J. Penalties

Kosovan law No. 03/L-222 dated 12 July 2010, "On Tax Administration and Procedures," as amended provides for the penalties described below.

Taxable persons who make supplies without being registered shall be liable for the VAT due on those supplies plus an administrative penalty, if failure to register is due to negligence of the person. The penalty equals 15% or 25% of the VAT due, depending on whether the taxable supplies made prior to registration were less or more than EUR10,000. In addition, default interest is applicable.

Failure to issue a VAT invoice or issuance of an inaccurate invoice that results in a decrease of the VAT due or an increase of the VAT credit shall be subject to a penalty of 15% of the VAT amount where this was due to the negligence of the taxable person. The penalty will increase to 25% in case of failure to issue an invoice for a taxable supply in excess of EUR1,000 or issuing an incorrect invoice that is more than EUR500 above or below the amount that should have been included in the invoice of the taxable person. In addition, default interest is applicable.

Late filing of VAT return is subject to a penalty of 5% of the tax due for each month of delay, capped at 25% of the unpaid tax liability. In addition, default interest is applicable.

Late payment of a tax obligation triggers a penalty amounting to 1% of tax due for each month or part of the month in delay up to maximum of twelve months. In addition, interest is applicable.

Erroneous completion of a tax filing or a tax refund claim is subject to a penalty of 15% of the undeclared tax liability or the excess tax refund claimed where such understatement or overstatements is 10% or less of the VAT due, or 25% where the understatement or overstatements is more than 10% of the VAT due. In addition, interest is applicable.

Criminal offenses carried out by taxpayers are penalized under the Criminal Code. These offenses relate to certain situations, including, but not limited to, the following:

- Taxpayers willfully evade partially or entirely the payment of taxes or gain unwarranted tax refunds or tax credits
- Taxpayers provide false information relevant for the collection of taxes
- Taxpayers act as a member of group formed for the purpose of repeatedly committing tax evasion

Latvia

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Riga

GMT +2

Ernst & Young Baltic

Muitas iela 1A
LV 1010
Riga
Latvia

Indirect tax contacts

Irena Lejina	+371 6704-3901 irena.lejina@lv.ey.com
Ilona Butane	+371 6704-3836 ilona.butane@lv.ey.com

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Value-added tax (VAT)
Local name	Pievienotās vertības nodoklis (PVN)
Date introduced	1 May 1995
Trading bloc membership	European Union (EU) Member State
Administered by	State Revenue Service (http://www.vid.gov.lv)
VAT rates
Standard	21%
Reduced	12%
Other	Zero-rated and exempt
VAT number format	LV12345678901
VAT return periods	Monthly, quarterly and semiannually
Thresholds
Registration
Businesses established in Latvia	EUR50,000
Businesses established elsewhere	First taxable supply (specific exemptions apply)
Distance selling	EUR35,000
Intra-Community acquisitions	EUR10,000 (for non-taxable legal and private persons who perform business activities and are registered in Latvia)
Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses	Yes

B. Scope of the tax

VAT applies to the following transactions:

- The supply of goods, including the supply of goods within the EU and exports of goods
- The supply of services
- The intra-Community acquisition of goods in Latvia from another EU Member State
- The importation of goods into Latvia, regardless of the status of the importer
- The acquisition of new vehicles within the EU by a non-registered or non-taxable person
- The supply of new vehicles from Latvia to any other EU Member State
- Self-consumption of goods and services
- Reverse-charge services received by a Latvian taxable person
- Distance sales of goods in Latvia made to non-taxable persons

C. Who is liable

A taxable person is any natural or legal person or group of such persons bound by agreement, or the representative acting for a group of persons, who performs economic activities and who is registered with the State Revenue Service Register of VAT Taxable Persons. VAT groups and fiscal representatives are also considered to be taxable persons.

The VAT registration threshold for local businesses is turnover subject to VAT in excess of EUR50,000 in the preceding 12 months. If a business exceeds the VAT registration threshold, it must register for VAT by the 15th day of the month following the period in which the threshold is exceeded. However, voluntary VAT registration is possible before reaching the VAT registration threshold.

Mandatory VAT registration is also required prior to supplying services to taxable persons in another EU Member State, if the services are deemed to be supplied in that other Member State and the recipients of the services must account for VAT under the reverse-charge mechanism.

For intra-Community acquisitions, non-taxable legal persons and private individuals must register for VAT if the value of their intra-Community acquisitions (excluding VAT) in a calendar year is equal to or exceeds EUR10,000.

A state or municipal authority or a municipality that is not registered for VAT with the State Revenue Service and which has entered into a contract with a supplier of construction services for the supply of construction services according to the procurement procedure prescribed by the Public Procurement Law, or is involved in a public-private partnership project as a public partner according to the Public-Private Partnership Law shall be registered as a VAT taxable person with the State Revenue Service before these services are received.

Registration procedures. Taxable persons must register with the VAT authorities that are competent for the area where their place of business is located. Non-resident taxable persons with a fixed establishment in Latvia must register with the competent VAT authorities according to the place where the fixed establishment is located.

Taxable persons are given a VAT identification number (13 digits), beginning with a two-digit country code (LV). VAT identification numbers are important in controlling the correct remittance of VAT to the tax authorities within the European Union.

Applicants submit the registration application form, which contains information on company/person, its authorized persons and business activities along with supplementary documentation (e.g., register of companies extract, passport/ID card copy(s) of signatory person(s), applicable power of attorneys, etc.). The decision on registration is taken by tax authorities within five business days from receipt of required information and documents.

Generally, there is an option to submit any documents (including VAT registration and deregistration documents) to tax authorities via e-mail, however such documents shall be verified by sender using the “secure electronic signature,” a form of advanced electronic signature that may be acquired from respective authorities in Latvia. However, this option is not commonly used, and generally the VAT registration documents are submitted as hard copies.

Additionally, taxpayers registered in Latvia are obliged to use the Electronic Declaration System (EDS) of the tax authorities, which is subject to an additional registration procedure.

Special rules apply to non-established businesses (see below).

Group registration. Effective from 1 December 2009, VAT groups are allowed in Latvia.

The following are the rules for the registration of VAT groups:

- The value of VAT taxable transactions of at least one member of the VAT group in the preceding 12 months was EUR355,700).
- Each member of the VAT group must be registered for VAT.
- A member of a VAT group cannot be a member of another VAT group.
- VAT group members can be capital companies belonging to the same group of companies as well as Latvian branches of foreign legal entities, provided that, under the Law on Groups of Companies, the foreign legal entity belongs to the group of companies comprising other members of the VAT group.
- The members establishing the VAT group must enter into a valid contract.
- The members of the VAT group must be reachable at their legal addresses.
- The group members are jointly and severally liable for VAT group tax liabilities.

Effective 1 January 2014, the VAT cost-sharing exemption has been implemented. This provides an option to exempt support services that the cost-sharing group supplies to its members, providing certain conditions are met (in accordance with VAT Directive 2006/112/EEC Article 132(1)f and specific requirements laid out in Latvian VAT Law).

Non-established businesses. A “non-established business” is a business that does not have a permanent establishment in Latvia.

A non-established business must register for VAT if it makes supplies of goods or services for which it is liable to pay VAT in Latvia. If a non-established business performs intra-Community acquisitions of goods in Latvia or supplies of services and if it fails to register as a VAT-taxable person, in certain cases, the liability to account for reverse-charge VAT transfers to the recipient of the goods or services in Latvia (provided the recipient is a VAT-registered person). An entity registered for VAT in another EU Member State is not required to register for supplies made to Latvian taxable persons if the reverse charge applies (that is, the recipient of the service must account for the VAT on behalf of the supplier). The reverse charge does not apply to supplies made to private persons.

To register for VAT, a non-established business must submit the following documents to the State Revenue Service:

- A completed application form provided for in the Cabinet Regulations
- A copy of the registration certificate
- Confirmation of the address of the business in Latvia, if such an address exists

The person who submits the application must be either a person who has signature rights in the company or the applicant's authorized person. The person who submits the application must also present a passport or ID card as proof of identity.

Tax representatives. VAT fiscal representatives (called tax representatives in some other countries) are taxable persons who, based on a written contract, remit to the tax authorities the VAT due by a non-resident taxable person whom they represent, and fulfill on their behalf the administrative obligations relating to the following transactions:

- The importation of goods and the subsequent intra-Community supply of the imported goods
- The importation of goods and the subsequent domestic supply of the imported goods
- The receipt of goods in Latvia that are to be exported and which are stored under warehousing arrangements, and the subsequent exportation of those goods
- The intra-Community acquisition of goods that are to be exported and are stored under warehousing arrangements, and the subsequent exportation of those goods

VAT fiscal representatives must present a power of attorney, and they are responsible for payment of the VAT liabilities of the non-resident taxable person whom they represent. They must file monthly VAT returns in electronic format.

Effective 1 January 2014, persons established outside the EU are no longer required to appoint a fiscal representative to register for VAT purposes, and they can register in their own names. However, they may still opt to appoint a fiscal representative.

Late-registration penalties. No specific penalty applies to late registration. However, the following penalties may be assessed if VAT is not paid or if VAT returns are not filed as a result of late registration or non-registration:

- An administrative penalty in the amount of EUR210 to EUR350 may be imposed for non-registration in the VAT taxable person's register.
- A penalty may be imposed for undeclared VAT. In such circumstances, undeclared VAT must be paid, together with a penalty of up to 30% of the unpaid VAT and late payment fines of 0.05% per day.
- A penalty in the amount of 0.05% per day may be imposed for late VAT payments.

Domestic reverse charge. Domestic supply of timber products and related services are subject to the reverse-charge mechanism if the supplier and customer are taxable persons.

Domestic supplies of specified scrap materials and related services are subject to the reverse-charge mechanism if the supplier and customer are taxable persons and the customer is licensed to purchase scrap materials in Latvia or, lacking such a license, has obtained a permit for performing A- or B-category polluting activities or for collecting, handling, sorting or storing waste. Scrap materials include certain ferrous and nonferrous scrap, car wrecks, electrical and electronic waste, and batteries.

Effective from 1 January 2012, the domestic supply of construction services (such as construction of new buildings or reconstruction of a part or the whole of existing buildings) and construction-related services is subject to the reverse-charge mechanism if the supplier and customer are taxable persons and if the construction services are performed based on agreements concluded on or after 1 January 2012. With respect to construction services provided based on agreements concluded on or before 31 December 2011, the reverse-charge mechanism is applicable from 1 January 2013.

Digital economy. In general, no special rules apply to digital goods and services, but see MOSS below.

Mini One-Stop Shop. As of 1 January 2015 a new optional simplification measure called "mini one-stop shop" (MOSS) will enter into force with respect to telecommunications services, broadcasting services and electronically (TBE) supplied services.

The MOSS scheme will allow all taxable persons supplying TBE services to non-taxable persons in EU Member States in which they do not have an establishment to account for the VAT due on those supplies via a web portal in the Member State in which they are identified.

This scheme is introduced in connection with the change to the place of supply rules with respect to electronically supplied TBE services rendered cross-border within the EU. Effective from 1 January 2015, the supply of these services shall generally take place in the Member State of the customer, not the Member State of the supplier. The MOSS allows qualifying taxable persons to avoid registering in each Member State of consumption and it will be available both for taxable persons established and not established in the EU.

The MOSS generally mirrors the scheme that is in place now for non-EU established suppliers of electronically supplied

TBE services to customers. Persons already registered under the pre-existing scheme for electronically supplied TBE services, should retain their existing individual VAT identification numbers for the purposes of the MOSS.

Taxable persons supplying electronic TBE services may register for the new MOSS as of 1 October 2014 with the State Revenue Service. For suppliers that registered for the MOSS between 1 October 2014 and 31 December 2014, registration came into effect from 1 January 2015.

Deregistration. The State Revenue Service has the right to exclude a person from the register of taxable persons if:

- The taxable person submits an application for removal from the VAT Register.
- The taxable person has been liquidated or reorganized.
- The economic activity of the taxable person is suspended.
- The taxable person does not submit a VAT return within one month of the submission deadline, or he provides false information in a VAT return and does not correct this, following a written request to do so from the tax administration.
- The taxable person cannot be reached at his legal address or the declared place of residence (also in addition, if the address does not exist).
- A VAT group no longer complies with the registration conditions.

D. VAT rates

The term “taxable supplies” refers to supplies of goods and services that are subject to VAT.

In Latvia, the following rates of VAT apply:

- Standard rate: 21%
- Reduced rate: 12%
- Zero rate (0%)

The standard rate of VAT applies to all supplies of goods or services, unless a specific measure provides for the reduced rate, the zero rate or an exemption. When an exemption is granted, there may be an option to tax.

Examples of supplies of goods and services taxable at 0%

- Exports of goods and related services
- Intra-Community supply of goods
- International transport
- Tourism services provided outside Latvia

Examples of goods and services taxable at 12%

- Mass media and subscriptions thereto, except erotic material and pornography
- Specialized products for infants
- Medicines and medical devices (those authorized by state pharmaceutical authorities)
- Literature printed especially for schools and universities, as well as original literature (specified by Latvian National Library)
- Firewood and fuel wood supplied to natural persons
- Supply of thermal energy to natural persons
- Public transport services provided in Latvia
- Accommodation services provided in Latvia

Exempt supplies. The term “exempt supplies” refers to supplies of goods and services that are not subject to VAT and that do not give rise to a right of input VAT deduction. When an exemption is granted, there may be an option to tax.

Examples of exempt supplies of goods and services

- Financial services
- Insurance and reinsurance services
- Health and welfare services
- Education and cultural services
- Postal services provided by Latvijas Pasts
- Betting and gambling

Options to tax. Real estate transactions are generally exempt except for the sale of unused real estate or part of it and the sale of building land. In general, a plot of land is considered to be building land if building permission was issued after 31 December 2009. Effective 1 January 2013, an option to tax has been introduced for supplies of “used” real estate made to taxable persons.

E. Time of supply

In general, VAT is due when the following events occur:

- For local supplies and intra-Community supply of goods, the time when goods are delivered or service is performed, and the VAT invoice is issued.
- A prepayment is received in accordance with the prepayment invoice issued, except in the case of an intra-Community supply of goods.

However, for a supply of services subject to the new place of supply rules under EU Directive 2008/8/EC, VAT is due when the service is performed or the prepayment is received.

A VAT invoice must generally be issued within 15 days after services are rendered or goods are supplied. If the transaction is performed continuously over a long period of time, the VAT invoice may be issued for a period not exceeding one, six or 12 months, depending on the type of transaction.

Intra-Community acquisitions. VAT related to the intra-Community acquisition of goods must be paid when the goods are received and the VAT invoice is issued.

If a tax invoice has not been issued within the allowed number of months, the VAT due must be included in the VAT declaration for the tax period following the period in which the intra-Community acquisition is made.

Imports. Import VAT becomes due when goods are released for free circulation.

VAT on imports that is paid to the state budget may be deducted as input VAT on VAT returns filed for the period in which the goods are released for free circulation, that is, when the import VAT has been paid into the state budget.

Under the Latvian VAT law, the principle of postponed accounting rules (declaration of VAT by way of reverse-charge mechanism) can be applied to the importation of fixed assets if the following conditions are satisfied:

- The importer of goods is a VAT taxable person, it performs the import of goods within the framework of its business activities and it has obtained the special authorization/permit from the tax authorities.
- The importer of goods is a fiscal representative representing VAT taxable person of another EU or non-EU country and it has obtained the special authorization/permit from the tax authorities.

To receive the respective special authorization/permit, the following conditions must be satisfied:

Postponed VAT accounting corresponds to the principle that instead of physical payment of import VAT into the State budget, the taxpayer may declare it by way of reverse-charge VAT. Until 1 December 2009 such principle (under specific conditions) applied with respect to fixed assets (see above). However, under amendments to the Latvian VAT law, effective from 1 December 2009, the postponed VAT accounting mechanism can also be applied to the importation of goods that are to be released in free circulation in the EU. However, a taxable person is entitled to apply the postponed accounting mechanism only if the person has received in advance a special permit from the Latvian State Revenue Service. To receive this permit, the following conditions must be satisfied:

- The taxable person must have registered its economic activities in Latvia.
- The taxable person is a registered client of the State Revenue Service electronic reporting system.
- On the date of submission of the application to receive the permit, the taxable person does not have a tax debt relating to previous tax periods, or such tax debt is paid within five working days after the submission date of the application.
- The employee who has authority to sign the application has not been punished for criminal offenses of an economic nature.
- By a date specified by the State Revenue Service, the taxable person provides informative reports or additional information that is necessary to determine the amount of tax payable to the State budget or the amount of an overpayment.

Nevertheless, the taxable person is still authorized to apply the postponed accounting rules with respect to import of goods even without the special authorization/permit if the following conditions are met:

- The taxable person imports fixed assets, which are intended fully or partially for use in its taxable transactions within a period of at least 12 months from the time of importation of the fixed assets.
- The value of the fixed assets (excluding VAT) is at least EUR710.
- The taxable person does not have a tax debt for previous tax periods.

A passenger car would qualify as such a fixed asset if imported by a taxable person engaged in the basic activity of leasing or hire-purchase transactions with passenger cars or the provision of taxi services and vehicle driver training.

Cash accounting. Latvia operates a voluntary cash accounting scheme. To use cash accounting, a taxpayer's transactions (threshold) are generally not more than an annual turnover of EUR100,000. A threshold of up to EUR500,000 is applicable to taxable persons in specified industries, e.g., some types of farmers.

Reverse-charge services. Generally, the reverse-charge VAT is also applicable to the purchase of services from other EU and non-EU VAT taxable persons, as well as on intra-Community acquisitions of goods. Additionally, the local reverse-charge mechanism applies to the transactions mentioned under "Domestic reverse-charge" above.

Continuous supplies of services. If a local supply of services is performed without interruption over a long period of time, the tax shall become payable/declarable at the time payment for the service is received or the relevant filing period ends, but not less frequently than once in every six-month period.

Where an intra-Community supply of services is performed without interruption over a period of time that exceeds one year, and during this period no tax invoices are issued and no payments made, the tax becomes payable/declarable at the end of each year until the moment when the supply of services is fully completed.

Where an intra-Community acquisition of services is performed without interruption over a period of time that exceeds one year, and during this period no tax invoices are received and no payments made, the transaction becomes declarable at the end of each year until the moment when the purchase of services is fully completed.

Prepayments. VAT paid on goods supplied or services provided is to be paid into the State Budget during the filing period in which the goods were dispatched or the services provided and the tax invoice issued (except for intra-Community supply of services) or an advance payment made (except for intra-Community supply of goods) in accordance with the tax invoice. This means that if an advance payment or a pre-payment is received before the supply is performed, VAT is due at the end of the filing period in which the advanced consideration is received.

Intra-Community acquisitions. According to VAT law, intra-Community acquisition of goods is defined as acquisition of rights to dispose with goods as an owner, if respective goods are sent from one Member State to other Member State by the supplier, recipient or by third party on behalf of supplies or recipient.

The place where an intra-Community acquisition of goods takes place is the place where the goods are located at the end of the transportation to the person acquiring the goods, i.e., the place of an intra-Community acquisition of goods shall be Latvia if the goods are transported from another Member State to Latvia (inland). In addition, if the buyer is a Latvian taxable person and uses its Latvian VAT identification number in respect of the intra-Community acquisition, that intra-Community acquisition is also taxable in Latvia. However, this provision shall not be applicable if the buyer proves that the intra-Community acquisition was taxed in the state of arrival of the goods, namely, in case of triangular transactions.

The transfer of goods owned by a taxable person between Member States is treated as a deemed intra-Community acquisition of goods if the taxable person uses the goods for his own business purposes.

Intra-Community supplies of goods. An intra-Community supply of goods is one whereby the goods are dispatched or transported from Latvia to another Member State by or on behalf of the supplier or the person to whom the supply is made. To be able to apply the zero rate to such supplies, the supplier must have a valid VAT identification number from his customer issued by a Member State other than Latvia and evidence that the goods have actually left the territory of Latvia.

The transfer of goods owned by a taxable person between Member States is treated as a deemed intra-Community supply of goods if the taxable person uses the goods for his own business purposes.

Leased assets. The leasing or hiring of movable goods, including means of transport, is a supply of services in so far as the lease qualifies as an operational lease. According to the VAT law, a financial lease (lease of movable goods where at the end of the lease period the ownership of the movable goods is transferred to the lessee) is considered as a supply of goods.

F. Recovery of VAT by taxable persons

A taxable person may deduct input VAT, which is the VAT charged on goods and services supplied to it for business purposes. A taxable person generally recovers input VAT by deducting it from output VAT, which is VAT charged on supplies made.

Input VAT includes VAT charged on goods and services supplied in Latvia, VAT paid on imports of goods, and VAT self-assessed for intra-Community acquisitions of goods, for reverse-charge services received from foreign persons, as well as for domestic reverse-charge services, namely, supplies of specified scrap materials, supply of timber products and related services, and provision of construction services.

The amount of the VAT reclaimed must be supported by a valid VAT invoice.

Nondeductible input VAT. Input VAT may not be recovered on purchases of goods and services that are not used for business purposes (for example, goods acquired for the private use of an entrepreneur). In addition, input VAT may not be recovered for some items of business expenditure.

The following lists provide some examples of items of expenditure for which input VAT is not deductible and examples of items for which input VAT is deductible if the expenditure is related to a taxable business use.

Examples of items for which input VAT is nondeductible

- Hotel accommodation (if nonbusiness expenditure)

- Business gifts (except representation gifts with the company logo for which 40% of the input VAT is deductible)
- Taxi services (if nonbusiness expenditure)
- Business and employee entertainment

Examples of items for which input VAT is deductible
(if related to a taxable business use)

- Purchase, lease and hire of vans and trucks
- Fuel for vans and trucks
- Purchase, lease and hire of cars, including maintenance costs such as fuel and repair costs
 - 100% deductible if the car has fewer than eight passenger seats and the car's exclusive use in taxable transactions of the business is documented in accordance with the law's requirements
 - 80% deductible if the car has fewer than eight passenger seats and car's value is less than EUR50,000 (VAT excluded), i.e., not a luxury car
- Purchase, lease and hire of luxury cars, including maintenance costs such as fuel and repair costs (effective 1 January 2014):
 - 100% deductible, if it can be proved that the luxury car is fully used in making taxable transactions of the business
 - 0% deductible, if the taxpayer is not able to prove that the luxury car is fully used in taxable transactions of business
- Parking
- Mobile phones
- Advertising
- Books
- Taxi services

Partial exemption. Input VAT directly related to performing VAT-exempt supplies is not recoverable. If a Latvian taxable person makes both VAT-exempt supplies and taxable supplies, it may not deduct input VAT in full. This situation is referred to as "partial exemption."

The amount of input VAT that may be deducted by a partially exempt business is calculated based on the percentage of taxable supplies to total supplies made each month. The monthly calculation is adjusted annually.

Effective 1 January 2014, the percentage of deductible input VAT is to be rounded up to the next whole number (e.g., 19.2% is rounded up to 20%).

If a taxable person makes both taxable and VAT-exempt supplies and if the value of its taxable supplies is greater than 95% of the total value of its supplies in the period, the taxable person may deduct input VAT in full (without applying the partial-exemption calculation) on a monthly basis. A taxable person that is in this position must adjust its input VAT deduction on an annual basis.

Effective 1 January 2013, partially exempt taxable persons must apply separate VAT accounting to allocate input tax to taxable and exempt supplies. The use of a pro-rata calculation is allowed only in cases where separate accounting cannot be used.

Capital goods. Capital goods are items of capital expenditure that are used in a business over several years.

In Latvia, the capital goods adjustment applies to the following assets for the number of years indicated:

- Immovable property: 10 years
- Fixed assets that have a purchase or producing value (expenditure incurred to produce a fixed asset) exceeding EUR71,143.59 excluding VAT: five years

The amount of input tax recovered depends on the taxable person's partial exemption recovery position in the VAT year of construction, production or acquisition. However, the amount of input tax recovered for capital goods must be adjusted over time if the taxable person's partial exemption recovery percentage changes during the adjustment period.

During the construction, production or purchase phase for real estate or a fixed asset, the input VAT is deducted according to the normal rules. The adjustment is applied each year following the year of construction, production or acquisition, to a fraction of the total input tax (1/10 for immovable property and 1/5 for the fixed assets). The adjustment may result in either an increase or decrease of deductible input tax, depending on whether the ratio of taxable supplies made by the business has increased or decreased since the year in which the capital goods were acquired.

An adjustment is not made if the proportion does not change during the tax year.

If immovable property or a part of it is sold as VAT-exempt supply within a period of 10 years after its acquisition or acceptance for service, the taxable person must repay to the state budget an amount of input tax equal to an amount calculated by multiplying 1/10 of the deducted input tax by the number of years that remain in the 10-year adjustment period. This repayment is included in the value of the immovable property, and the purchaser may not deduct it as an input tax.

Refunds. Under amendments to the Law on Value-Added Tax, effective from 1 July 2010, the State Revenue Service may carry forward overpaid VAT incurred on or after 1 July 2010 to the next tax period within 30 days after it receives the VAT return for the respective tax period.

The transfer of the overpaid VAT to the next tax period may occur after any other tax liabilities of the taxpayer are fulfilled.

If, after the fulfillment of other tax liabilities, an amount of overpaid VAT amount remains, the respective VAT amount may be forwarded to the following tax period.

If, at the end of the tax year, an amount of overpaid VAT for the taxpayer remains, the overpaid VAT is repaid to the taxpayer's bank account within 10 days after the State Revenue Service receives the VAT return for the final month of the respective tax year and approves the overpaid VAT amount.

The State Revenue Service refunds overpaid VAT incurred during the tax period if at least one of the following conditions is met:

- The total amount of the taxpayer's zero-rated transactions and the transactions that have a place of supply not in Latvia account for at least 90% of the total value of taxable transactions.

- The overpaid VAT amount exceeds EUR1,422.87, and the total amount of zero-rated transactions, reduced-rate transactions and transactions that have a place of supply not in Latvia account for at least 20% of the total value of taxable transactions.
- The overpaid VAT amount incurred for fixed assets exceeds EUR142.29, and the taxable person requests a refund of the VAT overpayment.
- The overpaid VAT amount exceeds EUR1,422.87, and it is incurred for goods and services purchased for transactions involving timber, scrap metal or provision of construction services.
- The overpaid VAT amount exceeds EUR11,382.97.

The State Revenue Service may delay the refund of an overpaid tax amount by notifying the taxpayer in writing if any of the following circumstances exist:

- A decision has been made to conduct examinations and audits regarding the transactions and to seek necessary information for such examinations and audits. The period of the delay extends to the date on which the tax administration completes its evaluation of the transactions and reaches a decision regarding the justification for the application.
- The taxpayer cannot provide documentary evidence justifying the application of the 0% tax rate. The period of the delay extends until the date on which the documents are submitted verifying the exports or otherwise confirming the application of the 0% tax rate.
- The overpaid tax must be reduced by the amount of tax paid with respect to bad debts. The period of the delay extends to the date on which the reduction takes place.

Bad debts. Effective from 1 December 2009, a new rule regarding the recovery of bad debts applies. Under the new rule, taxable persons who supply goods or provide services may recover VAT related to their bad debts if specific conditions are met. VAT recovery can be performed on an annual basis.

Preregistration costs. Input VAT may be subject to VAT recovery if the goods or services were acquired up to 15 months before an entity was registered as VAT payer. Administrative services such as rent of premises and fuel costs are excluded, and additional rules apply.

Noneconomic activities. The following activities are considered to be noneconomic activities:

- Employment (under employment contract)
- Activities of state and local government authorities (with certain exceptions)

G. Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses

Latvia refunds VAT incurred by businesses that are not established in Latvia nor are required to be registered for VAT there. Non-established businesses may claim Latvian VAT refunds to the same extent as VAT-registered businesses.

Refund application. For businesses established in the EU, refund is made under the terms of EU Directive 2008/9/EC; for businesses established outside the EU, refund is made under the terms of the EU 13th Directive.

The application form may be completed in Latvian or in English.

Refund claims may be made for the following periods:

- One calendar year or a period of less than three months if the claim is made for the last three months of the calendar year (that is, the period from 1 October to 31 December)
- A period of at least three calendar months and less than one calendar year

For non-EU taxable persons, a claim for a complete calendar year must exceed EUR50, and a claim for a period of less than a calendar year, but longer than three months, must exceed EUR400.

For EU taxable persons, the amount of the claim in an application for a complete calendar year must exceed EUR50, and the amount of claim in an application for a period shorter than a calendar year, but longer than three months, must exceed EUR400 or the equivalent in other currency.

For non-EU taxable persons, the documents must be submitted to the State Revenue Service within the following time limits:

- For a claim for one calendar year or a period of less than three months (limited to the last three calendar months of the year): by 30 September of the following year
- For a claim for a period of at least three calendar months but not longer than one calendar year: within three months after the end of the period indicated on the application form

The documents must be submitted to the State Revenue Service by 30 September of the period following the requested refund period if the request is for period of one year, or within three months from the end of request period if the request is for period less than one year. In practice, the VAT could be refunded within a four-month period from the date of submission of the documents. This period may be prolonged if the tax authorities ask for additional information. In such case, the State Revenue Service will make a decision on a tax refund within a period of four months from the date of receipt of all relevant documents and information additionally required and submitted by the respective taxable person.

For EU taxable persons, the VAT refund request must be submitted via the local tax authorities according to the principles provided by EU Directive 2008/9/EC.

The decision on the VAT refund for persons from other EU Member States is made within four to eight months, depending on whether additional information is required by the State Revenue Service or the tax authorities of the other EU Member States.

H. Invoicing

VAT invoices and credit notes. A Latvian taxable person must generally provide a VAT invoice for all taxable supplies made and for exports within 15 days after the supply has been made or advance payment has been received.

A VAT credit note may be used to reduce the VAT charged and claimed on a supply. The document must be clearly marked “credit note,” and it should refer to the original invoice. It is recommended that a credit note also indicate the reason for the correction and any new items arising from it.

Electronic invoicing. Effective 1 January 2013, the Latvian VAT law has been amended to permit electronic invoicing in line with EU Directive 2010/45/EU.

Proof of exports. The zero VAT rate applies to exports of goods and intra-Community supplies of goods. Export supplies and intra-Community supplies of goods must be accompanied by evidence confirming that the goods have left the territory of Latvia. Suitable evidence includes the stamped customs exportation documentation or international transportation documents such as the CMR or bill of lading.

Invoices issued in a foreign currency. Effective 1 January 2014, if an invoice is issued in a currency other than the euro, the amount of the VAT must be converted to euros. The conversion must be done using the official exchange rate quoted by the European Central Bank on the date of the supply or on the date when the advanced payment has been received.

B2C invoices. B2C invoices may be issued upon request of the customer. However, if no invoice is issued, a supplementary internal document shall be issued for accounting and reporting purposes.

Effective 1 January 2015, new rules apply to the place of supply for supplies of telecommunications, broadcasting and electronic services to non-VAT taxable customers. For further details of the VAT rules on electronic services in the EU, please refer to the European Union chapter.

I. VAT returns and payment

VAT returns. In general, VAT returns may be filed monthly, quarterly or semiannually, depending on the amount of taxable supplies made by the taxable person and the transaction types. A VAT return must be filed by the 20th day of the month following the end of the tax period via the Electronic Declaration System.

VAT returns must be filed every six months if, during the year before the tax year, the amount of taxable transactions of the taxable person did not exceed EUR14,228.72, and if the taxable person did not perform intra-Community supplies of goods or supply services that had a place of supply in other EU Member States.

VAT returns must be filed on a quarterly basis if, during the year before the tax year, the amount of taxable transactions exceeded EUR14,228.72 but did not exceed EUR50,000, and if the taxable person did not perform intra-Community supplies of goods or supply services that had a place of supply in another EU Member State.

VAT returns must be filed on a monthly basis if the amount of taxable transactions performed by a taxable person during the year before the tax year or during the tax year exceeds EUR50,000 or if the taxable person supplies goods or services within the EU.

Special schemes. There are special schemes for small businesses; farmers; travel agents; dealers in second-hand goods, works of art, collectors' items and antiques; auctions, investment gold and electronically provided services.

Small businesses. The voluntary special regime for small businesses is applicable to a taxable person who complies with at least one of the following criteria:

- Taxable transactions in the previous tax year have not exceeded EUR100,000.
- At the time of VAT registration, there is no expectation that taxable transactions in excess of EUR100,000 will be performed in the tax year.

The special regime provides that small enterprises, as well as persons who produce agricultural products specified in the VAT Law, can remit VAT to the State Budget in the tax period in which the payment for supplies of goods or services is received. However, input VAT can only be deducted in the period in which invoices from other taxable persons are paid.

Farmers. The VAT Law provides a special flat-rate scheme for legal and private persons that produce agricultural products and are not registered as taxable persons.

Farmers subject to the flat-rate scheme cannot deduct input VAT. They are also not allowed to charge VAT on their agricultural outputs. Input VAT is, therefore, a cost for this type of farmer. The flat-rate scheme is based on the economic assumption that the farmers will and can transfer the burden of VAT, i.e., the price of goods supplied by such farmers includes the non-deductible input VAT.

Farmers subject to the flat-rate scheme are indirectly compensated by their customers for their input VAT. To avoid the accumulation of VAT, the customer is entitled to deduct the average input VAT burden on supplies made to him by the flat-rate farmer. The average VAT burden is set at a percentage of the supply price. The current flat rate is 14% of the farmer's supply price.

The scheme can only be applied to supplies of agricultural goods and services made by farmers in the course or furtherance of their agricultural business. If a farmer has voluntarily registered as a taxable person, the general rules regarding liability to VAT, issuing invoices and deducting input VAT apply.

If a flat-rate farmer also runs a non-agricultural business, his supplies of goods and services from the latter are taxed (unless exempt) according to the normal rules if he is required to register as a taxable person.

If a flat-rate farmer supplies agricultural goods to a taxable person in another Member State, the acquisition is taxed in that other Member State.

If a flat-rate farmer is the recipient of an intra-Community supply of goods and the total of his purchases is less than EUR10,000, the supply is taxed in the Member State of supply. The flat-rate farmer must register as a taxable person and is liable for VAT in Latvia on acquisitions of goods over this threshold. According to VAT Law, a flat-rate farmer can choose to be taxed in Latvia even if the value of his intra-Community acquisitions is less than EUR10,000.

A taxable person, who has been registered as a taxable person for VAT purposes before exceeding the EUR10,000 threshold, may submit to the State Revenue Service an application for exclusion from the VAT registry not earlier than two years after his registration.

Travel agents. VAT Law provides for a special arrangement with regard to the taxation of margins of tour operators. The tax shall be applied to the services provided by tour operators if the tour operator acts in its own name and in favor of a traveler, and uses supplies of goods and services provided by other persons for ensuring tourism services provided to the traveler.

All activities performed by inland tour operators related to travel shall be deemed to be a single service which the tour operator provides to the traveler. Such a service is taxable.

The taxable amount regarding services provided by tour operators shall be the difference between the total amount (without tax) paid by the recipient of the service (a traveler) and the actual costs of the supply of goods and services which are provided to the tour operator by other persons.

The tax calculated by a tour operator for the services which it provides (including compiling a travel package, publication of advertising brochures, etc.) shall be included in the total value of the travel package and collected from the recipient of the service. In calculating the amount of the tax payable into the budget, the tax paid for ensuring the tour operator's own services (including lease of premises, telephone calls, electricity, etc.) shall be deductible as input tax.

A tour operator must calculate the value of services provided and include it in the tax declaration for the taxable period in which the service was provided to the traveler and invoices were received from other persons in relation to the supply, but not later than in the next taxable period after the service has been provided to the traveler.

The tax for other tourism-related (travel-related) services (including services of hotels, transport, catering services, etc.), which are actually provided in Latvia by other taxable persons, shall be included in the total value of the charge for the travel services and is collectible from the recipient of the service. The amount of tax collected for these services is transferred, in full, by the tour operator to the actual providers of the services. A tour operator may not deduct this amount as input VAT.

The value of the services provided by a tour operator himself is taxable at the standard rate. If the services provided by tour operators are provided both within the territory of the European Union and outside it, the 0% tax rate shall be applied only to that part of the services which is provided outside the territory of the European Union.

Second-hand goods, works of art, collectors' items and antiques. Taxable dealers are taxable persons who have, as their regular business, trade in second-hand goods, works of art, antiques and collectors' items. A taxable dealer who purchases goods falling within one of these categories from a person who did not or was not entitled to deduct the input VAT can use the difference between the selling price and the purchase price (the profit margin) as the taxable amount.

A taxable dealer who makes use of the margin scheme cannot show VAT on his invoice. As no VAT is shown on the invoice, the purchaser cannot deduct input VAT. The second-hand goods VAT scheme is optional; dealers may choose to apply the general VAT regime.

The margin scheme may be applied where a taxable dealer imports works of art, antiques and collectors' items, or when works of art are supplied to him by the artist, his successor in title or by a taxable person other than a taxable dealer.

The special margin scheme is not applicable to the supply of new means of transport.

The taxable dealer must issue a "purchase declaration" (iepirkuma akts) to the seller on the purchase of goods. The purchase declaration should contain the following data:

- The name and the VAT identification number of the taxable dealer
- The legal address of the taxable dealer
- The number and date of the purchase declaration
- The registration number in the accounting register of the purchaser
- The name, the registration number (if available VAT registration number) and the legal address of the seller
- A clear description of the goods (for cars and motorcycles: the make, the year of production, the chassis number, the unladen mass, the engine capacity and the color)
- The identification number of the goods; for cars and motorcycles, the state registration number assigned by the Road Traffic Safety Directorate (Ceļu satiksmes drošības direkcija)
- The purchase price of the goods
- The purchase price of the goods excluding VAT
- The VAT (if applicable)
- The purchase price including VAT
- The signatures of the taxable dealer and the seller

Supplies through auctions. If a bailiff enforcing an adjudication of a court sells the property of a taxable person, VAT is imposed on the market value (price) or the auction price of the property.

The tax on the sale of the property in the auction must be paid into the State Budget by the bailiff within 20 days of when the amount calculated is applied and cannot be appealed.

Investment gold. Articles 344-356 of the VAT Directive (Council Directive 2006/112) have been implemented into the Latvian

VAT Law so as to provide for a special arrangement for the supply of investment gold. Investment gold is defined as:

- Gold, in the form of bars and plates, with a purity of at least 995/1,000, whether or not in the form of securities
- Gold coins that:
 - Have a purity of at least 900/1,000
 - Were minted after 1800
 - Are or have been accepted as legal tender in the country of origin
 - Are usually sold at a price which does not exceed by more than 80% the open market value of the gold contained therein

According to the primary rule, the local and intra-Community supply of gold in the above forms is exempt from VAT. Imports and intra-Community acquisitions of investment gold are also exempt from VAT. In addition, the exemption applies to intermediary services supplied by agents.

The following suppliers of investment gold may opt for taxation according to the general VAT rules:

- A manufacturer of investment gold or a person modifying gold into investment gold;
- A taxable person who supplies investment gold for industrial purposes in the course of his normal business; and
- An intermediary in the supply of investment gold, provided that the supplier has also opted to tax his supply.

An option to tax must be made by notifying the tax authorities in advance in writing.

A supplier who does not opt for taxation but, rather, uses the exemption for the supply of investment gold can still deduct input VAT on the following:

- The acquisition of investment gold that was supplied by a taxable supplier (in Latvia and other Member States) who exercised an option to tax;
- The acquisition of gold other than investment gold from taxable suppliers (in Latvia and in other Member States), on the assumption that he changes the gold into investment gold; and
- Services received for changing the shape, weight or content of investment or other gold.

A taxable person who produces investment gold or changes gold into investment gold can deduct VAT in connection with the local acquisition, the import or the intra-Community acquisition of goods or services that have a connection with the production or the modification of that gold.

The reverse-charge mechanism is applicable if the option for taxation is applied.

With regard to a taxable person who performs transactions with investment gold, the documents that are associated with such transactions must be retained for 5 years after the end of the calendar year in which the transaction occurred.

Electronically supplied services. Taxable persons that do not have a seat or fixed establishment in the European Union and that only carry out electronically supplied services to non-taxable persons in the European Union must register for VAT purposes in only one Member State (one-stop shop). Such VAT registration is valid for supplies in the whole of the EU area. Supplies to non-taxable persons in Member States are taxed at the ordinary rates of those Member States.

A non-resident taxable person should submit, by electronic means, a VAT return in respect of each calendar quarter, whether or not electronic services have been supplied. The VAT return should be submitted within 20 days of the end of the calendar quarter that is covered by the return.

Third-country suppliers that supply electronic services and have chosen Latvia as the Member State of VAT identification can obtain a refund of the Latvian VAT related to their Latvian taxable activities based on the Thirteenth VAT Directive (Council Directive 86/560).

In addition, as of 1 January 2015 it will enter into force a new optional simplification measure called “Mini One-Stop Shop” (MOSS) with respect to telecommunications services, broadcasting services and electronically (TBE) supplied services. The MOSS scheme will allow all taxable persons supplying TBE services to non-taxable persons in EU Member States in which they do not have an establishment to account for the VAT due on those supplies via a web portal in the Member State in which they are identified.

This scheme is introduced in connection with the change to the place of supply rules with respect to TBE services rendered cross-border within the EU, effective from 1 January 2015, according to which the supply of these services shall generally take place in the Member State of the customer, and not the Member State of the supplier. The MOSS allows qualifying taxable persons to avoid registering in each Member State of consumption and it will be available both for taxable persons established and not established in the EU.

The MOSS generally mirrors the scheme that is in place now for non-EU established suppliers of TBE services to customers. Persons already registered under the pre-existing scheme for TBE services, should retain their existing individual VAT identification numbers for the purposes of the MOSS.

Taxable persons supplying TBE services may register for the new MOSS as of 1 October 2014 with the State Revenue Service. If a supplier registers for the MOSS from 1 October 2014 to 31 December 2014, the registration will come into effect from 1 January 2015.

Electronic filing and archiving. An entrepreneur must store duplicates of the invoices issued and invoices received for a period of five years, except with respect to invoices relating to immovable property. Regarding the latter, invoices shall be stored for a period of 10 years. The duplicates should be stored in Latvia, except when they are stored by electronic means and full on-line access to the data concerned is guaranteed to State Revenue Service representatives.

Annual returns. The taxable person must submit an annual VAT return in the following circumstances:

- The proportion of taxable and non-taxable transactions for the taxation year has changed and it is not provided otherwise by the VAT Law.
- Any tax due or input tax deducted is adjusted according to the requirements listed in the VAT Law.
- Financial services are performed/supplied.
- A deposit system is applied to reusable packaging according to the packaging regulation.

This must be submitted prior to 1 May of the following year. In addition, the respective tax amount also has to be paid prior to 1 May of the following year.

J. Penalties

An administrative penalty for the non-submission of a VAT return is payable to the state budget in an amount ranging from EUR70 to EUR700. In addition, the tax authorities can exclude the taxpayer from the registry of VAT-taxable persons.

Also, penalties may be imposed for undeclared VAT. In such case, the undeclared VAT must be paid, together with a penalty of up to 30% of the unpaid VAT amount and a late penalty fine in the amount of 0.05% per day.

A penalty for late VAT payment is imposed in the amount of 0.05% per day.

K. EU filings

Intrastat. A taxable person that trades with other EU countries must complete statistical reports, known as Intrastat, if the value of either its sales or purchases of goods exceeds certain thresholds. The applicable form, which must be submitted to the Central Statistical Bureau of the Republic of Latvia, depends on the threshold prescribed for acquisitions and supplies, respectively. The following are the Intrastat thresholds, effective from 1 January 2014:

- EUR130,000 for intra-Community acquisitions (if this threshold is met, Intrastat 1A must be submitted)
- EUR2,500,000 for intra-Community acquisitions (if this threshold is met, Intrastat 1B must be submitted)
- EUR130,000 for intra-Community supplies (if this threshold is met, Intrastat 2A must be submitted)
- EUR4,000,000 for intra-Community supplies (if this threshold is met, Intrastat 2B must be submitted)

The Intrastat return must generally be submitted on a monthly basis. The submission deadline is the 10th day of the month following the return period.

Penalties may be imposed for late, missing or inaccurate declarations.

EU Sales Lists and EU Purchase Lists. If a taxable person makes intra-Community supplies of goods and services in a return period, it must submit an EU Sales List (ESL) to the State Revenue Service. An ESL must be submitted as an appendix to the VAT return.

ESLs must be submitted electronically on a calendar monthly basis by the 20th day following the end of the month.

If a taxable person makes intra-Community acquisitions of goods and services in a return period, it must submit an EU Purchase List (EPL) listing intra-Community acquisitions of goods and services to the State Revenue Service. The EPL must be submitted as an appendix to the VAT return.

EPLs must be submitted electronically on a calendar monthly basis by the 20th day following the end of the month.

Penalties may be imposed for late, missing or inaccurate ESLs and EPLs.

Lebanon

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Beirut

GMT +2

EY	Street address:
Mail address:	Commerce and Finance Building
P.O. Box 11-1639	1st Floor
Riad El Solh 1107-2090	Kantari
Beirut	Beirut
Lebanon	Lebanon

Indirect tax contacts

Zeina Frenn	+961 (1) 760-804 zeina.frenn@lb.ey.com
Mohammad Najjar	+961 (1) 760-810 mohammad.najjar@lb.ey.com

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Value-added tax (VAT)
Date introduced	1 February 2002
Trading bloc membership	None
Administered by	Ministry of Finance (http://www.finance.gov.lb)
VAT rates
Standard	10%
Other	Exempt and zero-rated
VAT number format	Tax identification number (TIN), followed by the VAT number (indicating whether the taxable person is an exporter; for example, 1473-601)
VAT return periods	Quarterly
Thresholds	LBP150 million
Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses	No

B. Scope of the tax

VAT applies to the following transactions:

- The supply of goods or services made in Lebanon by a taxable person
- The importation of services by a person resident in Lebanon
- The importation of goods into Lebanon, regardless of the status of the importer

C. Who is liable

A taxable person is an entity or individual who makes taxable supplies of goods or services in the course of doing business in Lebanon, in excess of the registration threshold. This definition includes a permanent establishment of a foreign business in Lebanon. The deadline for registration is two months after the last day of the quarter in which the liability to register arose.

The VAT registration threshold is total turnover of at least LBP150 million in the preceding four quarters.

Voluntary registration. Any person that begins or performs an independent economic activity that is liable to tax, or that is exempt with the right of deduction in accordance with the provisions of the VAT law, may voluntarily apply to become a taxable person, regardless of the person's level of turnover.

Group registration. The Lebanese VAT law does not allow VAT group registration. Legal entities that are closely connected must register for VAT individually.

Non-established businesses. A "non-established business" is a business that has no fixed establishment in Lebanon. A non-established business must register for VAT if it makes taxable supplies in Lebanon.

Tax representatives. A non-established business must appoint a tax representative resident in Lebanon before it makes any supplies of goods or services there, regardless of its expected level of turnover. The tax representative is jointly and severally responsible for the payment of all VAT liabilities and penalties with the non-established business that it represents. The tax representative is solely responsible for complying with all of the other provisions of the Lebanese VAT law.

If a Lebanese resident receives a taxable supply of goods or services from a non-established supplier that has not appointed a tax representative in Lebanon, the Lebanese resident is liable to pay VAT and any penalties due to the VAT authorities. However, the Lebanese resident may try to recover these amounts from the non-established supplier.

Registration procedures. A taxpayer registering with the Directorate of Value Added Tax (DVAT) is required to manually fill out hard copies of the necessary registration forms (K1-1, K11-1 and K12-1) along with other required documents and submit them to the DVAT within two months from the last day of the quarter in which the liability to register arose (in case of mandatory registration). The DVAT takes an average of one week to complete the registration.

Late-registration penalties. Under Law No. 44, dated 11 November 2008, late registration with the relevant tax department triggers the following penalties:

- LBP2 million for joint stock companies
- LBP1 million for limited liability companies
- LBP300,000 for sole proprietorships and other taxpayers

Reverse charge. Reverse charge is a transfer of liability to account for and pay the Value Added Tax on imported services from the person providing the supply (the supplier) to the person receiving the supply (the recipient). If services are being supplied by a foreign non-resident entity that has no agent in Lebanon to a Lebanese registered entity, it is the responsibility of the Lebanese taxpayer to book the VAT amount due on the service and declare it to the VAT department.

Digital economy. Not applicable.

Deregistration. A taxable person that ceases to carry on business in Lebanon must end its registration. A taxable person whose turnover falls below the compulsory registration limit may also deregister.

A taxable person that is registered voluntarily may request deregistration if its annual turnover does not exceed the compulsory VAT registration threshold.

D. VAT rates

The term “taxable supplies” refers to supplies of goods and services that are liable to a rate of VAT, including the zero rate.

In Lebanon, the two rates of VAT are the standard rate of 10% and the zero rate (0%). The standard rate of VAT applies to all supplies of goods and services, unless a specific measure provides for the zero rate or an exemption.

Examples of goods and services taxable at 0%

- Exported goods
- Exported services
- International transport

The term “exempt supplies” refers to supplies of goods and services not liable to tax and which do not give rise to a right of input tax deduction (see Section F).

Examples of exempt supplies of goods and services

- Postal services and stamps
- Education
- Insurance
- Financial services
- Transfer of real estate
- Medical services and equipment
- Precious metals and precious and semiprecious stones
- Betting and gaming
- Transport of persons
- Agricultural activities and products, including livestock, seeds, animal feed and pesticides
- Books, newspapers and magazines
- Basic foodstuffs and baby food

Option to tax for exempt supplies. Not applicable.

E. Time of supply

The time when VAT becomes due is called the “time of supply” or “tax point.” The tax point is the earliest of the following events:

- When the goods are delivered or the services are performed
- When the consideration is paid if this occurs before the goods are delivered or services are performed
- When the invoice is issued if this occurs before the goods are delivered or services are performed

The time of supply for imported goods is when the liability to pay customs duties arises, that is, either on the date of importation or when the goods leave a duty suspension regime.

A Lebanese resident who uses a service in Lebanon that is acquired from abroad must account for VAT on the service and pay VAT due to the VAT authorities. The tax point is when the service is received and the consideration is paid.

F. Recovery of VAT by taxable persons

A VAT payer may recover input tax, which is VAT charged on goods and services supplied to it for business purposes. A VAT payer generally recovers input tax by deducting it from output tax, which is VAT charged on supplies made.

Input tax includes VAT charged on goods and services supplied in Lebanon and VAT paid on imports.

A valid tax invoice or customs document must generally accompany a claim for input tax.

Nondeductible input tax. Input tax may not be recovered on purchases of goods and services that are not used for business purposes (for example, goods acquired for private use by an entrepreneur). In addition, input tax may not be recovered for some items of business expenditure.

The following lists provide some examples of items of expenditure for which input tax is not deductible and examples of items for which input tax is deductible if the expenditure is related to a taxable business use.

Examples of items for which input tax is nondeductible

- Business entertainment
- Nonbusiness expenditure

Examples of items for which input tax is deductible (if related to a taxable business use)

- Accommodation
- Advertising
- Business gifts
- Conferences
- Purchase, lease and hire of cars, vans and trucks
- Business use of home telephone
- Mobile phones
- Taxis

Partial exemption. Input tax directly related to making exempt supplies is not generally recoverable. If a Lebanese taxable person makes both exempt and taxable supplies, it may not recover input tax in full. This situation is referred to as a “partial exemption.” Zero-rated supplies (sometimes referred to as “exempt with credit” supplies) are treated as taxable supplies for these purposes.

A taxable person that makes both taxable and exempt supplies may generally recover input tax that is related to taxable supplies only. Input tax directly allocated to taxable supplies is deductible, while input tax directly related to exempt supplies is not deductible. The remaining input tax that is not allocated directly to exempt and taxable supplies is apportioned. The apportionment may be calculated based on the value of taxable supplies made compared with total turnover.

However, certain VAT exempt entities, including hospitals, educational institutions and nonprofit organizations, known as “Article 59 entities,” are subject to a special VAT recovery regime. Article 59 entities use fixed recovery percentages for recovering input VAT, depending on the type of expenditure. The following are the fixed percentages:

- 100% recovery is allowed for purchases of fixed assets.
- 100% recovery is allowed for current expenses.

Refunds. If the amount of VAT recoverable in a month exceeds the amount of VAT payable, the taxable person earns a VAT credit. The VAT credit is generally carried forward to offset output tax in the following VAT period. A refund of any remaining VAT credit may be claimed twice per year (every six months). However, exporters may claim a refund of the VAT credit at the end of each quarterly VAT period.

The VAT authorities must make a refund within three months after the date of receipt of the claim. The VAT authorities pay interest on late refund payments at a rate of 9% per year, beginning at the end of the fourth month following the date on which the claim is submitted.

Preregistration costs. A taxable person who purchases fixed assets and inventory at a date preceding VAT registration can request a refund of input tax on these items once registered. The taxpayer has to submit a letter to the Ministry of Finance in order to refund such items. The amount to be refunded is deducted from the VAT amount to be paid starting from the period following the taxable period in which the refund request is accepted.

G. Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses

The Lebanese VAT authorities do not refund VAT incurred by businesses that are neither established nor registered for VAT in Lebanon.

H. Invoicing

VAT invoices and credit and debit notes. A taxable person must generally provide VAT invoices for all taxable supplies made to other taxable persons and for exports. Taxable persons that supply goods and services primarily to retail customers may issue cash receipts instead of full tax invoices.

A VAT credit note may be used to reduce the VAT charged and reclaimed on a supply of goods or services. The value of the supply may be reduced if a supply is cancelled, goods are returned (in full or in part) or the contractual price is reduced. The amount of VAT credited must be separately itemized in the credit note. The credit note must be cross-referenced to the original VAT invoice and must contain generally the same information.

Proof of exports. Lebanese VAT is not chargeable on supplies of exported goods, which are zero-rated. However, to qualify as VAT-free, an export supply must be accompanied by official customs evidence and port clearance documents, stating that the goods have left Lebanon.

Invoices issued in a foreign currency. If an invoice is issued in a foreign currency, all values for VAT purposes must be converted to Lebanese pounds (LBP) using a published exchange rate for the date of the transaction.

Electronic invoices. Not applicable.

I. VAT returns and payment

VAT returns. Lebanese VAT returns are submitted for quarterly periods. VAT returns must be filed within 20 days after the end of the tax period. Payment in full is required at the same time. VAT liabilities must be paid in Lebanese pounds.

Effective 1 January 2014, all VAT-registered taxpayers are required to file their tax returns electronically. To access the electronic system, taxpayers were required to register for e-filing by 31 January 2014.

Special schemes. Not applicable.

Electronic filing and archiving. In order to file VAT returns electronically, a taxpayer should register online and create an account with the Directorate of Value Added Tax through the Ministry of Finance's website (www.finance.gov.lb).

Annual returns. Not applicable.

J. Penalties

A penalty is charged for the late submission of a VAT return at a rate of 5% of the tax due for each month or part of a month that the return is late. The minimum penalty is LBP750,000 for joint stock companies, LBP500,000 for limited liability companies and LBP100,000 for other taxpayers, and the maximum penalty is 100% of the tax due. For these purposes, a fraction of a month is considered to be a whole month.

A penalty is charged for late payment of tax at a rate of 1.5% per month or part of a month that the tax is unpaid.

Penalties apply to a range of other VAT errors and offenses, including the submission of incorrect tax returns (penalty is 20% of the difference between the tax due and tax paid), the issuance of incorrect VAT invoices (penalty is 25% of the tax due on the invoice), the issuance of invoices by unregistered taxpayers (penalty is three times the VAT amount in the invoice) and the failure to retain documents.

Lithuania

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Vilnius

GMT +2

EY

Subaciaus 7
LT-01302
Vilnius
Lithuania

Indirect tax contacts

Jelena Semionova

+370 (5) 274-2232

jelena.semionova@lt.ey.com

Irmantas Misiunas

+370 (5) 274-2307

irmantas.misiunas@lt.ey.com

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Value-added tax (VAT)
Local name	Pridetines vertes mokestis
Date introduced	1 May 1994
Trading bloc membership	European Union Member State
Administered by	Ministry of Finance (http://www.finmin.lt) State Tax Inspectorate (http://www.vmi.lt)
VAT rates
Standard	21%
Reduced	5%, 9%
Other	Zero-rated and exempt
VAT number format	LT123456789 LT123456789012
VAT return periods
Monthly	General return period
Semiannually	For natural persons; optional for legal persons with turnover not exceeding EUR60,000 in the preceding year
Quarterly	For non-EU persons that supply electronic services to non-taxable persons
Other	For members of international groups (period may not be longer than 60 days, and the entity's fiscal year must be the calendar year)
Thresholds
Registration
Businesses established in Lithuania	Revenue of EUR45,000 in the preceding 12 months
Businesses established elsewhere	First taxable supply (unless the reverse charge applies)

Distance selling	LTL125,000 (EUR36,203) in the previous year; EUR35,000 in the current year
Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses	Yes

B. Scope of the tax

VAT applies to the following transactions:

- The supply of goods or services in Lithuania made for consideration by a taxable person performing economic activities
- The intra-Community acquisition of goods from another Member State (see the chapter on the EU)
- The importation of goods into Lithuania (subject to import VAT)
- Certain other cases linked to the international traffic of goods (for example, the supply of goods that are intended to be produced to customs and placed in temporary storage, the supply of goods that are intended to be placed in a free zone or in a free warehouse and the supply of goods that are intended to be placed under customs warehousing arrangements or inward processing arrangements)

C. Who is liable

Persons liable for VAT are:

- A taxable person, i.e., a business entity, an individual established in Lithuania or elsewhere or a collective-investment undertaking (fund) that performs economic activity in the course of its business in Lithuania
- A taxable person, a legal entity which is not a taxable person with respect to intra-EU acquisitions of goods or any person with respect to acquisitions of new means of transport

The VAT registration threshold for Lithuanian entities is turnover in excess of EUR45,000 in the preceding 12 months. If the total turnover of all the entities controlled by a single entity or by an individual exceeds EUR45,000, all the entities are required to register for VAT even if the turnover of each entity separately does not exceed the threshold.

The VAT registration threshold for Lithuanian and foreign entities is the amount of intra-EU acquisitions of goods exceeding EUR14,000 in the preceding 12 months.

Special rules apply to foreign or “non-established” businesses that have no fixed establishment in Lithuania.

Voluntary registration. A business established in Lithuania that has turnover not exceeding the registration threshold (except when it is carrying out or intends to carry out only an activity for which input and/or import VAT on goods and/or services used could not be deductible under the provisions of Lithuanian VAT law) or a person that acquires or plans to acquire goods from another EU Member State (except new means of transport or excise goods) may register for VAT voluntarily. In practice, persons established outside Lithuania may also voluntarily register for VAT.

Group registration. VAT group registration is not allowed under Lithuanian VAT law. Entities that are legally related must register for VAT individually.

Registration procedures. Applications for registration as a Lithuanian taxpayer and as a VAT payer can be filed manually or electronically through the system Mano VMI. Registration as a Lithuanian taxpayer takes up to five working days, and registration as a Lithuanian VAT payer takes up to three working days.

A non-resident business that carries out taxable supplies of goods (services) in the territory of Lithuania must register for VAT through its fixed establishment in Lithuania or it must appoint a fiscal representative (also referred to as a tax representative). The requirement to appoint a fiscal representative is not applicable to non-resident businesses that are based in other EU Member States. The requirement to appoint the fiscal representative is also not applicable to non-EU established businesses that are based in the territories where the provisions of Mutual assistance agreements are applied, which essentially are equivalent to the provisions of Directive No 2010/24/EU and Regulation No. 904/2010.

Late-registration penalties. Penalties and interest are not assessed for late registration or failure to register for VAT. However, if a business does not register for VAT, it still must calculate and pay VAT. Failure to comply with this obligation may result in penalties and interest.

Non-established businesses and tax representatives. A “non-established business” is a business that does not have a fixed establishment in Lithuania. A non-established business must register for VAT in Lithuania if it makes taxable supplies of goods or services there. No VAT registration threshold applies to supplies made by foreign non-established businesses; that is, registration is required in the event a taxable supply is made in Lithuania, unless the reverse charge applies or unless the supply is outside the scope of VAT or is exempt. A non-established business must register for VAT through a fixed establishment in Lithuania or appoint a fiscal representative (tax representative).

As of 1 January 2015, an EU taxable person must register for VAT if it makes distance sales of goods to customers in Lithuania in excess of:

- LTL125,000 (EUR36,203) in the previous year
- EUR35,000 in the current year

Foreign entities are not required to register for VAT if their transactions are exempt, outside the scope of VAT or zero-rated (taxable at 0%). However, for certain supplies, VAT registration is required even though the zero rate of VAT applies. These supplies include the following:

- Exports of goods
- Supplies of goods that are intended to be produced to customs and placed in temporary storage
- Supplies of goods that are intended to be placed in a free zone or in a free warehouse
- Supplies of goods that are intended to be placed under customs warehousing arrangements or inward processing arrangements
- Services linked to the above supplies
- Supplies of goods to another EU Member State that are transported to that country
- Supplies of new vehicles that are transported to another EU Member State

Taxable persons established outside the EU that supply electronic services and taxable persons that supply electronic services through a fixed establishment outside the EU to non-taxable persons established in Lithuania must register for VAT (that is, if the service provider is not yet registered in another EU Member State).

Reverse charge. A non-established business that makes taxable supplies in Lithuania is not required to register for VAT if the reverse-charge rule applies to all its transactions. Under the reverse-charge rule, a Lithuanian customer that is a taxable person established in Lithuania is responsible for the calculation and payment of VAT, unless either of the following circumstances exists:

- The supply is used by a fixed establishment of the person outside Lithuania.
- The supply falls under the list of exceptions.

Under the reverse-charge rule, a customer that is a VAT-registered person in Lithuania is responsible for the calculation and payment of VAT with respect to supplies of the following:

- Natural gas and electricity
- Goods installed and assembled in Lithuania

The Lithuanian VAT law also provides for a reverse-charge procedure with respect to supplies between persons established in Lithuania, including the following:

- Supplies of goods and services while a supplier is under bankruptcy or a restructuring procedure
- Supplies of metal scrap and similar products
- Supplies of certain timber materials

Digital economy. For rules related to the taxation of digital goods or services, see Special schemes.

Mini One-Stop Shop. From 1 January 2015, taxable persons supplying telecommunication, broadcasting and electronic services within territory of the EU to non-taxable persons can choose to be registered for VAT purposes in one EU Member State to fulfill its VAT obligations relating to the above services supplied in any EU Member State.

Deregistration. A Lithuanian person who is a VAT payer has the right to deregister on its own initiative when:

- The VAT payer's total turnover does not exceed EUR45,000 in the preceding 12 months.
- The value of intra-EU acquisitions does not exceed EUR14,000 in the preceding 12 months.
- The VAT payer finishes its activities due to liquidation or reorganization.
- The VAT payer terminates its taxable activities.

A foreign person who is a Lithuanian VAT payer has the right to deregister on its own initiative when:

- The VAT payer finishes its activities in Lithuania.
- In the case of distance selling, the value of goods transported in Lithuania does not exceed EUR35,000 in the preceding 12 months.
- The VAT payer finishes its activities due to liquidation or reorganization.

Lithuanian VAT payers may be deregistered on the initiative of the tax administrator as well, when:

- The VAT payer does not perform economic activities or intra-EU acquisitions (e.g., the Lithuanian VAT payer does not submit the VAT returns or does not report taxable supplies, intra-EU acquisitions for two months in a row. (The tax administrator observes these indicators quite strictly.)
- The VAT payer finishes its activities due to liquidation or reorganization.
- The VAT payer (natural person) is dead.

D. VAT rates

The term “taxable supplies” refers to supplies of goods and services that are liable to a rate of VAT.

The standard rate of VAT applies to all supplies of goods or services, unless a specific measure provides a reduced rate, the zero rate or an exemption.

The VAT rates are as follows:

- Standard rate: 21%
- Reduced rates: 9% and 5%
- Zero rate (0%)

Examples of supplies of goods and services taxable at 9%

- Supply of books and printed non-periodical materials such as encyclopedias, dictionaries, children books and maps
- Heating and hot water supplies to residential premises
- Newspapers, magazines and other periodicals, with the exception of those with erotic or violent content or those that do not comply with professional ethics publications, as well as printed productions in which more than 4/5 of the content is paid advertising
- Passengers and their baggage transport services going on regular routes that are authorized by the Ministry of Transportation or the local authorities
- For accommodation services supplied according to the legislation regulating tourism activities (starting from 1 January 2015)

Examples of supplies of goods and services taxable at 5%

- Medical products and medical purposes products, subject to full or partial compensation from the state medical insurance budget
- Technical equipment that is used to assist persons with disabilities as well as for the repair services of such equipment

Examples of supplies of goods and services taxable at 0%

- Exports of goods from the EU and related services
- International transport and related services
- Supplies related to ships and aircraft
- Intra-Community supplies of goods
- Work on movable tangible property (certain cases)
- Intermediary services for the above supplies

The term “exempt supplies” refers to supplies of goods and services that are not liable to tax and that do not give rise to a right of input tax deduction (see Section F). Goods and services that are outside the scope of VAT do not result in tax deductions.

Examples of exempt supplies

- Healthcare services and goods
- Real estate rent and disposals
- Insurance and reinsurance
- Certain financial services
- Cultural and sporting activities
- Educational services
- Betting and gaming services
- Universal post services
- Social and related services
- Radio and television services
- Imported goods (certain cases)

Option to tax for exempt supplies. A VAT payer may opt to charge VAT on the following supplies:

- Rent of real estate
- Disposal of real estate
- Certain financial services

The option is applied only when the above services are supplied to the VAT payer. The tax authorities should be formally notified about the decision. A VAT payer that has opted to charge VAT on any of the above services should charge VAT on all similar transactions for a period of not less than 24 months.

E. Time of supply

The time when VAT becomes due is called the “time of supply” or “tax point.” The basic time of supply for goods and services is when the VAT invoice is issued. If an invoice is not issued, the time of supply is when the earlier of the following events occurs:

- Goods or services are supplied.
- Payment for goods or services is received.

A range of other situations have different time of supply rules. Some of these situations are described below.

Intra-Community acquisitions. The time of supply for the goods acquired from another EU Member State is the date on which the supplier issues an invoice, but not later than the 15th day of the month following the month during which the transport of goods began.

Prepayments. The time of supply for a prepayment received before the supply is made is when the prepayment or the total payment is received. This rule applies to contracts that provide for a supply after 12 months. If the prepayment is received and if the supply will be triggered earlier than 12 months beginning on the date of the signing of the contract, the taxable person may choose the date of receipt of prepayment as the time of supply and calculate the VAT on this prepayment.

If special margin schemes for travel agents and for second-hand goods, works of art, collectors’ items and antiques are applied, the above-mentioned treatment of prepayments does not apply.

Construction work. The time of supply for the self-construction of a building is the moment when the building begins to be used in economic activities. For an essential improvement on a building, the time of supply is the moment when the works are finished.

The time of supply for construction services is when the invoice for the services is issued. If the invoice for construction services is not issued, the time of supply for the services is when the earliest of the following events occurs:

- The services are provided.
- The consideration is paid for the services provided.

Imported goods. Import VAT shall become chargeable upon the entry of the goods from a third country territory into the territory of Lithuania. Where the goods imported into the territory of Lithuania are subjected to certain actions, procedures or arrangements specified in VAT law, import VAT shall become chargeable upon cessation of the application of said actions, procedures or arrangements within the territory of Lithuania.

Postponed accounting. Effective 1 March 2013, postponed accounting for imports applies to imports made by taxable persons. The import VAT due is calculated by the customs authority, but the VAT is included and recovered on the VAT return in the same taxable period.

Reverse-charge services. The time of supply for reverse-charge services is the date on which the invoice for the services is issued. If an invoice for the services is not issued, the time of supply for the services is when the earliest of the following events occurs:

- The services are provided.
- The consideration is paid for the services provided.

Cash accounting. Lithuania has not implemented Article 167a from Directive 2006/112/EC. However, there is a similar optional regime applicable to agricultural producers. Under this regime, VAT on the supplied agricultural products becomes chargeable upon the payment of consideration for it.

Continuous supplies of services. In the case where long-term services are supplied, i.e., services that are supplied for a certain continuous period such as telecommunications, leases, etc., and also in the case of long-term supply of electricity, gas, heat and other types of energy, VAT shall become chargeable when the VAT invoice for the supply of goods or services during the accounting period is issued. In cases where the VAT invoice is not issued, VAT is chargeable upon receipt of the consideration for the amount of goods or services supplied during the accounting period.

Intra-Community supplies of goods. VAT shall become chargeable for the goods supplied to another Member State when the VAT invoice for the supply of goods is issued, but not later than the 15th day of the month following the month in which the goods were dispatched.

Leased assets. VAT shall become chargeable when the goods are transferred in cases where goods are transferred under a lease contract or other contract that provides for payment on deferred terms or by installments and under the terms of this transaction the major part of risk and benefit relating to the ownership of the goods as well as the ownership of the goods shall pass to the person to whom the goods have been transferred.

F. Recovery of VAT by taxable persons

A taxable person that is registered for VAT and that performs economic activities may recover input tax, which is VAT charged on goods and services supplied to it for business purposes. A taxable person generally recovers input tax by deducting it from output tax, which is VAT charged on supplies made.

Input tax includes VAT charged on goods and services acquired in Lithuania, VAT paid on imports of goods and VAT self-assessed for reverse-charge services received.

The amount of the VAT reclaimed must be detailed on a valid VAT invoice or on cash receipts (for small amounts of VAT).

Specific rules apply for the recovery of VAT incurred before VAT registration in Lithuania.

Nondeductible input tax. Input tax may not be recovered on purchases of goods and services that are not used for business purposes (for example, goods acquired for private use by an entrepreneur). In addition, input tax may not be recovered for some items of business expenditure.

The following lists provides some examples of items of expenditure for which input tax is not deductible.

Examples of items for which input tax is nondeductible

- Purchase, lease and hire of cars
- Business gifts (if amount for “small gift” is exceeded)
- 25% of VAT for entertainment expenses
- VAT paid on behalf of a third party
- Tourism services if special VAT scheme is applied
- Second-hand and cultural value goods if special VAT scheme is applied

Examples of items for which input tax is deductible (if related to a taxable business use)

- Accommodation
- Advertising
- Books
- Conferences
- Fees from professional advisers such as accountants, lawyers and tax advisers
- Land and property
- Lease/purchase of vans and trucks
- Mobile phones
- Parking (on and off street)
- Petrol
- Petrol and maintenance costs of trucks and vans
- Subscriptions for periodicals and magazines (related to the business of the company)
- Telephone/faxes used in the office
- Travel expenses (air, rail, bus, boat)

Partial deduction. Input tax directly related to making exempt supplies is not generally recoverable. If a taxable person makes both exempt supplies and taxable supplies, it may not deduct input tax in full. This situation is referred to as “partial deduction.”

The amount of input tax that may be deducted is generally calculated using the following two-stage calculation:

- The first stage identifies the input VAT that may be directly allocated to taxable and to exempt supplies. Input tax directly allocated to taxable supplies is deductible, while input tax directly related to exempt supplies is not deductible.
- The second stage identifies the amount of the remaining input tax (for example, input tax on general business overhead) that may be allocated to taxable supplies and recovered. The calculation is done using a pro-rata method, based on the value of taxable supplies made in the period, compared with the value of total supplies made.

If a taxable person is not able to directly allocate VAT to taxable and exempt supplies, a pro-rata calculation may be used for all input tax incurred.

A partially exempt taxable person may provisionally use the recovery percentage calculated for the previous year. If, at the end of the year, the taxable person's actual recovery percentage differs by more than 5% from the provisional percentage used, an adjustment calculation must be made.

Capital goods. Capital goods are items of capital expenditure that are used in a business more than one year. Input tax is deducted in the VAT year in which the goods are acquired. The amount of input tax recovered depends on the taxable person's partial deduction recovery position in the VAT year of acquisition. However, the amount of input tax recovered for capital goods must be adjusted over time if the taxable person's partial exemption recovery percentage changes during the adjustment period or if the capital goods are either used for non-taxable supplies or written off. The adjustment may result in either an increase or a decrease of deductible input VAT, depending on whether the taxable person's recovery percentage increased or decreased in the year, compared with the year in which the capital goods were acquired.

In Lithuania, the capital goods adjustment applies to the following assets for the number of years indicated:

- Property immovable by its nature, including improvement of buildings or structures: adjusted for a period of 10 years
- Other types of tangible capital assets legally required to be depreciated over a period of at least four years for purposes of the taxes on profit or income: adjusted for a period of five years

The adjustment is applied each year following the year of acquisition, to a fraction of the total input tax (1/10 for immovable property and 1/5 for other tangible capital goods).

Refunds. If the amount of input tax that is deductible for a VAT period exceeds the amount of output tax that is chargeable in the same period, the taxable person has a VAT credit. The credit must first be used to offset other taxes payable. If the amount of VAT credit exceeds all taxes payable, the excess is refunded.

Bad debts. Effective 1 January 2012, the amendments implement the concept of bad debt relief in the VAT law. The amendments provide for a possibility to reduce the calculated payable VAT with the output VAT amount attributable to bad debts (not applicable to margin schemes and when the supplier of goods or provider of services is a related person). As indicated in VAT law, a receivable remuneration is considered as a bad debt (including output VAT), if the person cannot recover such remuneration for at least 12 calendar months from the taxation moment of the supplied goods or provided services and if the output VAT amount was calculated and declared.

Preregistration costs. Starting from 1 January 2013, input VAT may be subject to VAT recovery in those cases where VAT was paid on goods or services acquired before an entity was registered as VAT payer. Special rules and procedures apply.

Noneconomic activities. The following activities are considered as noneconomic activities:

- Employment (under employment contract)
- Activities of state and local government authorities (with exceptions)

G. Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses

Lithuania refunds VAT incurred by businesses that are neither established nor registered for VAT in Lithuania. Non-established businesses may claim Lithuanian VAT to the same extent as VAT-registered businesses.

For businesses established in the EU, refund is made under the terms of the EU Directive 2008/9/EC. For businesses established outside the EU, refund is made under the terms of the EU 13th Directive. The refund scheme for non-EU countries applies in accordance with the reciprocity principle and is currently in place with Armenia, Iceland, Norway, Canada, Switzerland and Turkey.

To claim a refund, a non-established business must satisfy both of the following conditions:

- It must not have a business establishment in Lithuania through which activities are performed (or if the claimant is an individual, he or she must not be a permanent resident in Lithuania).
- It must not make taxable supplies of goods or services in Lithuania.

However, if the claimant supplies international transport services or sells goods that are taxed through the application of the reverse-charge mechanism, it may still apply for a VAT refund.

For the general VAT refund rules in the EU Directive 2008/9/EC and the EU 13th Directive refund schemes, see the chapter on the EU.

Refund application. The deadline for refund claims is 30 September of the year following the year when the input tax was incurred. The minimum claim period is three months, while the maximum period is one year. The minimum claim for a period of less than a year is LTL1,380 (EUR400). For an annual claim, the minimum amount is LTL170 (EUR49).

A taxable person that is not established in Lithuania (that is, registered in another EU Member State for VAT purposes) submits the VAT refund applications to the electronic VAT refund system through the home country tax authorities.

H. Invoicing

VAT invoices and credit notes. A Lithuanian taxable person must generally provide a VAT invoice for all taxable supplies made and for exports. A VAT invoice is necessary to support a claim for input tax deduction.

A VAT credit note may be used to reduce VAT charged and reclaimed on a supply if the taxable value changes (for example, if the customer returns the goods or the supplier grants a discount) or if the VAT rate changes.

Invoicing. Lithuanian VAT law was amended with respect to the provisions of EU Directive 2010/45/EC, effective from 1 January 2013.

Proof of exports and intra-Community supplies. Supplies of exported goods or the intra-Community supply of goods are zero-rated (see the chapter on the EU). However, to qualify as VAT zero-rated, exports and intra-Community supplies must be supported by evidence that proves the goods have left Lithuania. Suitable evidence for exports includes the acknowledgment from customs of the third country, transportation documents and other documents. Special rules apply to the evidence required for excise goods. Suitable evidence for the intra-Community supply of goods includes transportation documents stamped by the receiver of the goods.

Invoices issued in a foreign currency. If an invoice is issued in a foreign currency, the VAT amount must be converted to the national currency. The Bank of Lithuania publishes currency conversion rates each day. From 1 January 2015 Lithuania is using the euro as the national currency.

B2C invoices. New rules apply to the place of supply for supplies of telecommunications, broadcasting and electronic services in the EU to non-taxable customers. For further details of the VAT rules on these services please refer to the EU chapter.

I. VAT returns and payment

VAT returns. Lithuanian taxable persons must generally file VAT returns monthly. A taxable person whose taxable supplies did not exceed LTL200,000 before 31 December 2014 and EUR60,000 after 1 January 2015 in the preceding calendar year may choose to file semiannually. Individuals generally file semiannually. However, they may request a different VAT period.

Members of international corporate groups may request to file VAT returns for a different period if the group uses accounting periods other than calendar months. However, the maximum allowable return period is 60 days. In addition, both the beginning of the first period and the end of the last period must coincide with the calendar year (that is, beginning on 1 January and ending on 31 December each year).

In general, monthly VAT returns must be filed by the 25th day of the month following the end of the tax period (other dates may apply). Payment in full is required on the same date. VAT return liabilities must be paid in euros after 1 January 2015.

Special schemes. There are special schemes for farmers; travel agencies; investment gold; telecommunications, broadcasting and electronic services; and the sale of second-hand goods such as art, antiques and other collectibles.

Farmers. Farmers can receive six percent compensation from the buyers of their produced agricultural products. The receipt and payment of compensation should be declared to the tax authorities accordingly.

Travel agencies. Travel agencies calculate VAT on the margin of the services bought and sold to the final user. Travel agencies have no right to deduct input VAT on travel services bought from the third parties. Travel services supplied by travel agencies outside Lithuania are taxed at the zero rate.

Investment gold. The supply of investment gold acquired from another Member State is exempt; agency services for supplies and acquisitions of investment gold are also exempt. However, VAT-registered persons manufacturing investment gold or reworking any gold into investment gold can choose to charge VAT on the supplies they perform. In those cases, agents can also charge VAT for their services outlined above. Persons supplying investment gold that are not registered for VAT can register for VAT and make use of the provision outlined above.

Also, input VAT incurred on acquisitions of investment gold for which the VAT has been chosen to charge in the case outlined above, acquisition or import of any gold to be turned into investment gold, acquisition of gold form, weight and purity changing services can be deducted. Persons manufacturing investment gold or reworking any gold into investment gold can also deduct any input VAT incurred on acquisitions of any services or goods related to the processes named above.

Telecommunications, broadcasting and electronic services. Taxable person supplying telecommunication, broadcasting and electronic services in the EU to non-taxable persons can choose to be registered for VAT purposes in Lithuania to fulfill its VAT obligations relating to these services supplied in any Member State.

The sale of second-hand goods such as art, antiques and other collectibles. VAT is calculated on the margin of the goods bought and sold. and when this scheme is adopted, the seller has no right to deduct input VAT. However, a seller (VAT payer) has the right to calculate VAT on the total value of goods, in which case the seller has the right to deduct input VAT paid, but not earlier than the date the goods are sold.

Electronic filing and archiving. VAT returns may be filed to the tax authorities both manually or electronically. In the latter case, registration in the Electronic Declaration System is required. VAT invoices have to be kept for 10 years.

Lithuanian VAT payers are obliged to keep the following registers:

- The register of issued invoices
- The register of received invoices

The above registers have to be provided to the tax authorities upon request.

Annual returns. Generally, a taxpayer is obliged to provide an annual VAT return only in cases where its partial exemption recovery percentage has changed or when adjustments in the context of the capital goods scheme are necessary.

J. Penalties

The penalty assessed for the late payment of VAT ranges from 10% to 50% of the unpaid tax. In addition, late payment interest is calculated from the day following the due date for payment up to the date on which the payment is made. Late payment interest rates vary from 0.03% to 0.05% per day during the different periods. Effective from 1 October 2010, the late payment interest rate is 0.03% per day.

K. EU filings

A taxable person that trades with other EU countries must complete statistical reports, known as Intrastat, and EU Sales Lists (ESLs). Penalties may be imposed for late, missing and inaccurate Intrastat returns and ESLs.

Taxable persons must begin to report services provided to taxable persons established in other EU countries if these services are subject to VAT in those EU countries.

EU Sales List. No threshold is applied. However, in cases where there are no transactions in a given period that would need to be reported, it is not required to submit a nil EU Sales List. EU Sales List can be submitted either manually or by electronic means.

Intrastat. For the year 2015 the thresholds are as follows:

- If the amount of intra-EU acquisitions within the previous 12 months exceeds EUR290,000, the Intrastat form shall be filed to the Territorial Customs Office.
- If the amount of intra-EU supplies within the previous 12 months exceeds EUR215,000, the Intrastat form shall be filed to the Territorial Customs Office.

Also, additional statistical information needs to be provided in the Intrastat declaration (box 13) if the value of intra-EU supplies exceeds EUR8 million or the value of intra-EU acquisitions exceeds EUR3 million.

The deadline for submission of the Intrastat statement is the 10th working day after the end of the calendar month to which it relates.

Intrastat statements may be submitted both electronically and manually.

Luxembourg

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Luxembourg City

GMT +1

EY
Mail address:
P.O. Box 780
L-2017 Luxembourg

Street address:
7, Rue Gabriel Lippmann,
Parc d'Activité Syrdall 2
L-5365 Munsbach
Luxembourg

Indirect tax contact

Yannick Zeippen

+352 42-124-7362
yannick.zeippen@lu.ey.com

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Value-added tax (VAT)
Local name	Taxe sur la valeur ajoutée (TVA)
Date introduced	5 August 1969
European Union (EU) Member State	Yes
Administered by	Ministry of Finance (http://www.aed.public.lu)
VAT rates
Standard	17%
Reduced	3%, 8% or 14%
Other	Exempt without credit and exempt with credit
VAT number format	LU12345678
VAT return periods
Monthly	Turnover of more than EUR620,000
Quarterly	Turnover between EUR112,000 and EUR620,000
Annual	All taxable persons, including those with turnover below EUR112,000
Thresholds
Registration	None
Distance selling	EUR100,000
Intra-Community acquisitions	EUR10,000
Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses	Yes

B. Scope of the tax

VAT applies to the following transactions:

- The supply of goods or services made in Luxembourg by a taxable person
- The intra-Community acquisition of goods from another EU Member State by a taxable person or non-taxable legal person (see the chapter on the EU)
- The importation of goods from outside the EU, regardless of the status of the importer

C. Who is liable

A taxable person is any business entity or individual that carries out economic activities independently and regularly. Economic activities include activities such as making supplies of goods or services, making intra-Community acquisitions (see the chapter on the EU) and making importations in the course of a business.

Effective 1 January 2010, for the purpose of applying the rules concerning the place of supply of services, a non-taxable legal person registered for VAT is regarded as a taxable person when it receives services from a taxable person. This rule does not affect the liability for and payment of the tax in the case of local supplies by a Luxembourg taxable person to a Luxembourg non-taxable legal person. However, for cross-border supplies of services, this rule leads to a shifting of the tax liability to a non-taxable legal person registered for VAT, which must self-assess and pay the VAT due in its country of establishment under the reverse-charge mechanism.

No VAT registration threshold applies in Luxembourg. A taxable person that begins activity in Luxembourg must notify the Luxembourg VAT authorities of its liability to register.

Special rules apply to foreign or “non-established businesses” (see Non-established businesses).

Group registration. VAT grouping is not permitted under the Luxembourg VAT law. Legal entities that are closely connected must register for VAT individually.

However, non-taxable persons or taxable persons that have a VAT recovery rate of less than 30% may set up an autonomous group of persons. The services supplied by this group to its members are generally exempt from VAT.

Non-established businesses. A “non-established business” is a business that has no fixed establishment in Luxembourg. A non-established business that makes taxable transactions in Luxembourg must register for VAT, unless it is not liable for VAT (for example, because its supplies to taxable persons may be taxed using the “reverse charge” mechanism). Under the reverse charge, the recipient of the supply must account for the tax. The reverse charge does not apply to supplies of goods and services made to private persons. A non-established business must register for Luxembourg VAT if it makes any of the following supplies, which are all liable for Luxembourg VAT (unless an exemption applies):

- Intra-Community supplies or acquisitions
- Distance acquisitions in excess of the threshold (see the chapter on the EU)
- Supplies of goods and services to which the reverse charge does not apply

Tax representatives. Businesses established in the EU that are required to register for VAT in Luxembourg cannot appoint a tax representative.

Businesses established outside the EU may be required by the Luxembourg VAT authorities to provide a security deposit to secure their VAT liability. The deposit must be in the form of cash or a letter of indemnity provided by an approved bank.

The VAT registration application for non-established businesses must be sent to the following address:

Administration de l'Enregistrement et des Domaines
Bureau d'imposition 10
14, avenue de la Gare
L-1610 Luxembourg
BP 31
L-2010 Luxembourg

Registration procedures. The application file to register for VAT should be submitted in hard copy with the VAT authorities at the latest within 15 days after the start of the economic activity of the VAT taxable person. Registration on line is not possible.

The application document should be accompanied by several documents, such as a copy of the articles of association of the company, a copy of the ID cards of the Directors of the company, a copy of a rental agreement or domiciliation agreement, and possibly others. After the filing of a complete application, it usually takes three to five weeks before the VAT number is actually granted.

Late-registration penalties. A penalty of between EUR50 and EUR5,000 may be assessed for late VAT registration.

Reverse charge. Except if obliged by the VAT Directive, in principle the Luxembourg VAT legislation does not foresee a reverse charge. Hence for local supplies, the supplier should charge VAT, even if it is a non-established business.

Digital economy. As from 2015, electronically supplied services will be deemed to take place where the customer is established. In case the customer is not a VAT taxable person, established in the EU, the supplier will be liable to charge the VAT of the countries of consumption and either have to register in the countries of consumption or to register under the Mini One-Stop Shop (MOSS) scheme.

Mini One-Stop Shop. By using the MOSS, taxpayers avoid the need for VAT identifications in other EU Member States, and the revenue realized outside Luxembourg is reported in the same VAT return. In Luxembourg companies started registering for the MOSS on 1 October 2014.

Deregistration. In case a VAT taxable person stops performing the economic activity that had triggered the obligation to be registered, it should apply for a deregistration within 15 days after the date he stopped his activity.

D. VAT rates

The term "taxable supplies" refers to supplies of goods and services that are subject to VAT.

In Luxembourg, the following VAT rates apply:

- Standard rate: 17%
- Reduced rates: 3%, 8% and 14%

The standard rate of VAT applies to all supplies of goods or services unless a specific measure provides for a reduced rate or an exemption.

Examples of goods and services taxable at the super-reduced rate of 3%

- Food for human consumption, excluding alcohol
- Agricultural products
- Books, newspapers and periodicals, including e-books
- Children's shoes and clothes
- Sale of domestic accommodation
- Pharmaceutical products
- Restaurant services, excluding alcohol
- Water
- Transport of persons
- Admission to cultural events

Examples of goods and services taxable at the reduced rate of 8%

- Liquid gas for heating, lighting and fueling engines
- Electric energy
- Plants and other floriculture products
- Hairdressing
- Repair of bicycles, shoes and other leather goods
- Cleaning of private accommodation

Examples of goods and services taxable at the parking rate of 14%

- Wine of grapes with a concentration of alcohol up to 13 grades
- Solid mineral combustibles, mineral oil and wood used as fuel
- Advertising brochures and other prints
- Steam, heating and cooling
- Tailored clothes for men
- Custody and management of securities
- Management of credits and credit guarantees by an entity other than the entity that granted the credit

The term “exempt supplies” refers to supplies of goods and services that fall within the scope of VAT but are not subject to a VAT rate. In principle, exempt supplies do not give rise to a right of input tax deduction (see Section F). Some supplies are classified as “exempt with credit,” which means that no VAT is chargeable, but the supplier may recover related input tax. Exempt-with-credit supplies include exports of goods and related services and intra-Community supplies of goods (see the chapter on the EU).

Examples of exempt supplies of goods and services
(with and without VAT credit)

- Real estate transactions
- Supplies of postage and fiscal stamps at face value
- Services of doctors and dentists
- Finance
- Insurance
- Cultural and sporting services
- Welfare services
- Education

Option to tax for exempt supplies. There is no option to treat exempt supplies as taxable.

E. Time of supply

The time when VAT becomes due (or the chargeable event occurs) is called the “time of supply” or “tax point.” For supplies of goods, the basic time of supply is when the goods are delivered and the power of disposal is transferred. The basic time of supply for services is when the services are completed.

The actual time of supply of goods or services, with the exception of services subject to VAT in the recipient country, may be delayed by the issuance of an invoice (when the issuance of an invoice is mandatory), but no later than the 15th day of the month following the month in which the basic time of supply occurs. If the supplier issues an invoice before this date, the time of supply is when the invoice is issued. Specific rules apply to continuous supplies of services. For supplies of services subject to VAT in the recipient country, the time of supply is when the chargeable event occurs (that is, when the supply is completed).

Intra-Community acquisitions. The time of supply for an intra-Community acquisition of goods is the 15th day of the month following the month in which the acquisition takes place. If the supplier issues an invoice or a document serving as an invoice (other than relating to an installment) before such date, the time of supply is when the invoice is issued.

Imported goods. The time of the supply for imported goods is the date of importation or the date on which the goods leave a duty suspension regime.

Cash accounting. Luxembourg operates a cash accounting scheme with a maximum threshold of EUR500,000.

Reverse-charge services. For supplies of services subject to VAT in the recipient country, the chargeable event occurs when the supply is completed.

Continuous supplies of services. In case the customer is liable to self-assess VAT and no statements of account are issued and no payments are made, the VAT becomes due at the end of the calendar year.

Prepayments. If a prepayment is made in advance of a transaction, and there is no obligation to issue an invoice, then VAT becomes due at the time of the prepayment. However, if there is an obligation to issue an invoice, and it is issued with the prepayment, then VAT is due before the 15th of the month following the month during which the transaction takes place.

Intra-Community supplies of goods. Intra-Community supplies of goods are deemed to take place at the time the invoice is issued (at the latest the 15th of the month following the month during which the supply took place or when a payment on account is received) or when the invoice should have been issued if not issued timely.

Leased assets. Not applicable.

F. Recovery of VAT by taxable persons

A taxable person may recover input tax, which is VAT charged on goods and services supplied to it for business purposes. A taxable person generally recovers input tax by deducting it from output tax, which is VAT charged on supplies of goods and services made.

Input tax includes VAT charged on goods and services supplied within Luxembourg, VAT paid on imports of goods and VAT self-assessed on intra-Community acquisitions of goods and reverse-charge services (see the chapter on the EU).

A valid tax invoice or customs document must generally accompany a claim for input tax.

Nondeductible input tax. In Luxembourg, input tax may be deducted in full for all items of business expenditure. Input tax may not be recovered on purchases of goods and services that are not used for business purposes (for example, the private use of an entrepreneur's home telephone or goods acquired for private use).

The following lists provide some examples of items of expenditure for which input tax is not deductible and examples of items for which input tax is deductible if the expenditure is related to a taxable business use.

Examples of items for which input tax is nondeductible

- Private expenditure

Examples of items for which input tax is deductible
(if related to a taxable business use)

- Purchase, hire, lease, maintenance and fuel for cars, vans and trucks
- Parking
- Business gifts
- Attending conferences, seminars and training courses
- Business entertainment
- Business use of home telephone
- Advertising
- Transport

Partial exemption. In general, input tax directly related to exempt supplies is not recoverable. If a Luxembourg taxable person makes both exempt and taxable supplies, it may not recover input tax in full. This situation is referred to as "partial exemption." Exempt with credit supplies are treated as taxable supplies for these purposes.

In Luxembourg, the amount of input tax that a partially exempt business may recover may be calculated by using the general pro-rata method or a special deduction method.

The general pro-rata method calculates the amount of recoverable VAT based on the ratio of turnover that entitles the taxable person to deduct input tax (that is, taxable turnover and exempt turnover with credit) to total turnover within the scope of VAT. Incidental supplies of capital goods and incidental real estate and financial transactions are excluded from turnover for these purposes. The recovery percentage is rounded up to the nearest whole number (for example, a recovery percentage of 77.2% is rounded up to 78%).

Alternatively, the Luxembourg VAT authorities may authorize a taxable person to use a special deduction method based on the direct allocation of all or certain goods and services used in making taxable and exempt supplies. The VAT authorities may direct a taxable person to use this method. The administration may also authorize or direct the use of a special deduction method for each sector of a single business or for certain sectors of the business.

Capital goods. Capital goods are items of capital expenditure that are used in a business over several years. Input tax is deducted in the VAT year in which the goods are acquired. The amount of input tax recovered depends on the taxable person's partial exemption recovery position in the VAT year of acquisition. However, the amount of input tax recovered for capital goods must be adjusted over time if the taxable person's partial exemption recovery percentage changes during the adjustment period.

In Luxembourg, capital goods are defined as tangible, movable or immovable goods that are subject to depreciation under income tax law. They also include work that qualifies as investment expenditure under the income tax law.

The capital goods adjustment applies to the following assets for the number of years indicated:

- Immovable capital assets (primarily, buildings): adjusted for a period of 10 years
- Movable capital assets: adjusted for a period of five years

For movable goods, the adjustment period starts on 1 January of the year in which the goods are manufactured or purchased. If the goods are first used in a later year, the period begins on 1 January of the year in which the goods are used for the first time. The adjustment is applied each year to 1/5 of the total input tax, unless the goods are sold. If the goods are sold, the adjustment is made once for the total remaining period. The adjustment may result in either an increase or a decrease of deductible input VAT, depending on whether the ratio of taxable supplies made by the business has increased or decreased compared with the year in which the capital goods were acquired (or used for the first time).

For immovable goods, the adjustment period starts on 1 January of the year in which the acquisition takes place or construction or refurbishment work ends or on 1 January of the year in which the immovable property is used for the first time if the year of first use differs from the year of acquisition or the year in which the construction or refurbishment work is finalized. The adjustment is applied each year to 1/10 of the total input tax, unless the immovable property is sold or if the VAT deduction depends on the rental status of the immovable property. In such cases, the adjustment is made once for the total remaining period. The adjustment may result in either an increase or a decrease of deductible input VAT, depending on whether the ratio of taxable supplies made by the business has increased or decreased compared with the year in which the immovable property was acquired, constructed or refurbished.

Refunds. If the amount of input tax recoverable in a monthly period exceeds the amount of output tax payable in that period, the taxable person has an input tax credit. This input tax credit may usually be carried forward to the next reporting period. If the credit exceeds EUR1,200, a refund may be requested.

Preregistration costs. Not applicable.

Write-off of bad debts. In case it can be reasonably expected that the customer will not pay (or not pay the full amount), the taxpayer is entitled to reclaim the VAT on the unpaid VAT amount.

Noneconomic activities. VAT related to noneconomic activities is not recoverable.

G. Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses

Luxembourg refunds VAT incurred by businesses that are neither deemed to be established in Luxembourg nor registered for VAT there. A non-established business may claim Luxembourg VAT to the same extent as a VAT-registered business. However, VAT may not be recovered on private expenditure.

For businesses established in the EU, a refund is made under the terms of EU Directive 2008/9/EC. For businesses established outside the EU, refund is made under the terms of the EU 13th Directive. Luxembourg does not exclude any non-EU country from the refund scheme (no reciprocity required).

For the general VAT refund rules of the EU Directive 2008/9/EC and the EU 13th Directive refund schemes, see the chapter on the EU.

Refund application. The deadline for submitting EU Directive 2008/9/EC refund claims is 30 September of the calendar year following the refund period.

Claims must be submitted in English, French or German.

For EU Directive 2008/9/EC claims, the minimum claim period is three months, and the maximum period is one year. The minimum claim for a period of less than a year is EUR400. For an annual claim, the minimum amount is EUR50.

Applications for refunds of Luxembourg VAT under EU Directive 2008/9/EC must be submitted to the EU Member State in which the claimant is established via the electronic portal set up by that EU Member State.

The deadline for EU 13th Directive refund claims is 30 June of the year following the calendar year in which the tax was incurred.

Claims must be submitted in English, French or German. The application for refund must be accompanied by the appropriate documentation.

For EU 13th Directive claims, the minimum claim period is one year. The minimum claim amount is EUR250.

Applications for refunds of Luxembourg VAT under the EU 13th Directive must be sent to the following address:

Administration de l'Enregistrement et des Domaines
Bureau d'imposition XI
Remboursements et franchises
67-69, Rue Verte, L-2667 Luxembourg
BP 31
L-2010 Luxembourg

Repayment interest. The Luxembourg VAT authorities do not pay interest on late refunds of VAT made under the EU 13th Directive scheme.

H. Invoicing

VAT invoices and credit notes. A Luxembourg taxable person must generally provide a VAT invoice for all taxable supplies made, including exports and intra-Community supplies to other VAT taxable persons or to non-taxable legal persons. Invoices are not automatically required for retail transactions to private individuals, unless the supply is a distance sale or the customer requests an invoice.

A VAT invoice is required to support a claim for input tax deduction or a refund under the EU Directive 2008/9/EC or EU 13th Directive refund schemes (see the chapter on the EU).

A VAT credit note may be used to reduce the VAT charged and reclaimed on a supply of goods or services. It must be cross-referenced to the original VAT invoice and contain the same information.

Electronic invoicing. Effective 1 January 2013, the VAT law was amended to permit electronic invoicing in line with EU Directive 2010/45/EU.

Proof of exports and intra-Community supplies. Luxembourg VAT is not chargeable on supplies of exported goods or on the intra-Community supply of goods (see the chapter on the EU). However, to qualify as VAT-free, exports and intra-Community supplies must be supported by evidence proving that the goods have left Luxembourg. Acceptable proof includes the following documentation:

- For an export, a copy of the export document, officially validated by customs, showing the supplier as the exporter. The invoice must include the following language: “Not subject to Luxembourg VAT, article 43, 1, a of the Luxembourg VAT Law — export.”
- For an intra-Community supply, a range of commercial documentation such as purchase orders, tax invoices, transport documentation, proof of payment and contracts. The invoice must include the following language: “Not subject to Luxembourg VAT, article 43, 1, d of the Luxembourg VAT Law — intra-Community supplies of goods.”

Foreign-currency invoices. If an invoice is issued in a foreign currency, the tax and values for VAT purposes must be converted to euros (EUR) using the official rate in force on the date of the invoice, published by an approved bank.

B2C invoices. Effective 1 January 2015, new rules apply to the place of supply for supplies of telecommunications, broadcasting and electronic services to non-VAT taxable customers. For further details of the VAT rules on electronic services in the EU, please refer to the European Union chapter.

I. VAT returns and payment

VAT returns. In principle, Luxembourg VAT returns must be filed on a monthly basis. However, the authorities can allow taxable persons whose annual turnover does not exceed EUR112,000 to file only a single annual return for the calendar year. The due date is 1 March of the following year.

Taxable persons whose annual turnover is between EUR112,000 and EUR620,000 may be allowed to submit periodic returns quarterly. In addition, they must file a recapitulative annual return. The due date for the periodic returns is the 15th day of the month following the end of the return period. The due date for the annual return is 1 May of the following year.

Taxable persons whose annual turnover exceeds EUR620,000 must submit periodic returns monthly, plus a recapitulative annual return. The due date for the periodic returns is the 15th day of the month following the end of the return period. The due date for the annual return is 1 May of the following year.

Filing extensions are automatically granted for both the periodic (two months) and the annual returns (eight months). However, these extensions apply exclusively to the filing of the returns. As a result, provisional VAT payments can be requested within the legal deadline.

Return liabilities must be paid in euros.

Electronic filing and archiving. Taxable persons that are required to submit VAT returns monthly or quarterly must file all returns (periodic and annual returns) and EC sales listings electronically, using the tax administration's electronic portal (eTVA).

In principle, all books, documents and information required by the VAT law should be stored in hard copy. However, electronic storage is allowed, if the data guaranteeing the authenticity of the origin and the integrity of the content are also stored electronically.

Special schemes. Not applicable.

Annual returns. Not applicable.

J. Penalties

Penalties are assessed for the late payment or late submission of a VAT return in the following amounts:

- For monthly or quarterly returns, the fine may vary from EUR50 to EUR5,000.
- For annual returns, the fine may vary from EUR50 to EUR5,000.

K. EU filings

Intrastat. A Luxembourg taxable person that trades with other EU countries must complete statistical reports, known as Intrastat returns, if the value of its sales or purchases of goods exceeds certain thresholds. Separate reports are required for intra-Community acquisitions (Intrastat Arrivals) and for intra-Community supplies (Intrastat Dispatches). Electronic submissions via email are allowed.

The threshold for Intrastat Arrivals is EUR200,000.

The threshold for Intrastat Dispatches is EUR150,000.

Luxembourg taxable persons must complete Intrastat declarations in euros.

Intrastat returns are due monthly by the 6th working day of the month following the period (unless they are submitted electronically or on floppy disk, in which case a 10-working-day filing extension is allowed).

A penalty may be imposed for late submission or for missing or inaccurate declarations. The fine is generally EUR500 (although the statistical authorities may impose a penalty of between EUR251 and EUR2,500).

EU Sales Lists. If a Luxembourg VAT taxable person performs intra-Community supplies of goods, it must submit an EU Sales List (ESL) for goods.

In principle, ESLs for goods must be submitted by the 15th day of the month following the end of the month. However, ESLs for goods may be submitted quarterly if the threshold of EUR50,000 of intra-Community supplies of goods to other EU Member States is not exceeded during the concerned quarter or during the four preceding quarters. For a quarterly filing, the ESLs for goods must be submitted by the 15th day of the month following the concerned quarter.

A Luxembourg VAT taxable person must also file an ESL for services rendered. This ESL must provide information regarding services rendered to VAT taxable and non-taxable persons who satisfy the following conditions:

- They are registered for VAT in another EU Member State, and the services are rendered in the other EU Member State.
- The service recipients are not exempt from VAT in the EU Member State where the services are deemed to take place.
- The recipients are liable to deal with the VAT in the other EU Member State.

ESLs for services must be filed on a monthly basis by the 15th day of each month. VAT taxable persons may file the lists on a quarterly basis by the 15th day of each quarter.

If no transactions reportable in ESLs are performed, no ESLs need to be filed for the concerned month or quarter.

A penalty may be imposed for late, missing or inaccurate ESLs. The penalty may vary from EUR50 to EUR5,000.

Macedonia, Former Yugoslav Republic of

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Skopje

GMT +1

Ernst & Young Services Ltd-Skopje

8mi Septemvri building 3, 4th floor
1000 Skopje
Macedonia

Indirect tax contacts

Milen Raikov (resident in Sofia, Bulgaira)	+359 (2) 81 77 100 milen.raikov@bg.ey.com
Svetlana Radenkovic	+389 (2) 311-3310 svetlana.radenkovic@mk.ey.com
Dusko Stevceski	+389 (2) 311-3310 dusko.stevceski@mk.ey.com

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Value-added tax (VAT)
Local name	Danok na dodadena vrednost
Date introduced	1 April 2000
Trading bloc membership	EU, EFTA, CEFTA
Administered by	Ministry of Finance (http://www.finance.gov.mk)
VAT rates
Standard	18%
Reduced	5%
Other	Zero-rated and exempt
VAT number format	MK 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 10 11 12 13
VAT return periods
Monthly	Turnover in excess of MKD25 million in preceding calendar year
Quarterly	Turnover of MKD25 million or less in preceding calendar year
Thresholds
Registration	MKD1 million
Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses	Yes (subject to reciprocity)

B. Scope of the tax

VAT applies to the following transactions:

- The supply of goods and services made in Macedonia by a taxpayer within the scope of its business activity
- The importation of goods into Macedonia (other than exempt importations)
- Reverse-charge supplies by foreign legal entities to Macedonian legal entities

C. Who is liable

A taxpayer is a person that permanently or temporarily performs an independent business activity, regardless of the purposes of and the results from such business activity.

Taxpayers must register for VAT when their total supplies in a year exceed MKD1 million. Also, they must register if, at the beginning of a business activity, they project the making of total annual supplies exceeding MKD1 million. Taxpayers may voluntarily register for VAT at the beginning of each calendar year or at the beginning of their business activity.

Group registration. The Macedonian VAT law allows VAT group registration. Several VAT-registered entities may decide to be registered as a single VAT-registered taxpayer if they have a proprietary, organizational or managerial relationship. In addition, if the tax authorities detect violation of tax principles or the possibility for violation of such principles as a result of proprietary, organizational or managerial relationship among particular entities registered as separate VAT taxpayers, they can issue a decision ordering the entities to register as a single taxpayer.

Foreign legal entities (non-established businesses). Foreign traders may not have a VAT registration number. If a supply is made by a taxpayer that does not have headquarters or a branch office in Macedonia, the VAT reverse-charge mechanism applies.

Tax representatives. Not applicable.

Registration procedures. Taxpayers apply for VAT registration by filing a hard copy DDV-01 form with the tax authorities. No electronic VAT registration is possible. The relevant form can be submitted by the legal representative or by an authorized person of the taxpayer. The deadline for submission of the VAT registration form is 15 days from the day the taxpayer meets the VAT registration obligation. The average time for the tax authorities to complete registration is seven working days following the day the registration form is submitted.

Late-registration penalties. For late registration, a legal entity is fined EUR1,200, and the responsible person at the legal entity is fined EUR500.

For failure to register, the fine ranges from EUR2,000 to EUR2,500 for the legal entity and from EUR500 to EUR1,000 for the legal representative.

Reverse charge. In Macedonia, the reverse charge applies to the following supplies:

- Supply of goods and services by foreign legal entities to Macedonian taxpayers
- Supply of construction services by a domestic constructor to an investor
- Supply of construction services by a domestic sub-constructor to principal constructor
- Supply of waste and scrap

Under the reverse-charge mechanism, the recipient of the goods or services bears the responsibility for the calculation of VAT, the submission of a VAT tax return, the payment of tax and the payment of interest in the event of a late payment.

Digital economy. The VAT law does not stipulate specific rules relating to the taxation of the digital economy.

Deregistration. Taxpayers stay VAT registered for at least five years following the year of VAT registration. If in the fifth year, the taxpayer does not reach the VAT registration threshold of MKD1 million, he is entitled to request to be deregistered at the beginning of the following year.

The tax authorities may deregister the taxpayer before the five-year period lapses in any of the following circumstances:

- During one calendar year the taxpayer submits tax returns with no supplies and input VAT.
- During two calendar years the taxpayer submits tax returns with no supplies, zero VAT supplies or input VAT from investments made or import of goods.
- The taxpayer fails to submit tax returns for two consecutive tax periods.
- The tax authorities cannot find the taxpayer at the business address reported by the taxpayer.
- The taxpayer is registered in a VAT group.

D. VAT rates

The term “taxable supplies” refers to supplies of goods and services and imports that are subject to VAT (either at the standard rate of 18% or the reduced rate of 5%). In Macedonia, the VAT rates are the standard rate of 18% and the reduced rate of 5%. The standard rate of VAT applies to all supplies of goods or services and imports, unless a specific measure allows a reduced rate or an exemption.

Examples of supplies of goods and services taxable at 5%

- Potable water from public water-supply entities
- Food products
- Computers
- Pharmaceuticals and medical devices
- Raw oil for production of food for human consumption
- First sale of new residential buildings (within the first five years)
- Services provided by commercial tourist facilities (hotels, motels and similar facilities)

The term “exempt supplies” refers to supplies of goods and services that are not subject to tax and that do not give rise to a right of input tax deduction (see Section F). Some supplies are classified as “exempt with credit,” which means that no VAT is chargeable, but the supplier may recover related input tax. In Macedonia, the VAT rates are the standard rate of 18% and the reduced rate of 5%.

Examples of exempt supplies of goods and services (without credit)

- Rental of residential buildings and apartments that are used for housing
- Banking and financial services
- Insurance and reinsurance
- Games of chance
- Educational services

Examples of exempt supplies of goods and services with credit (0% rate)

- International air transport of passengers
- Supply of precious metals for the central bank
- Supply, repair and maintenance, chartering and leasing of aircraft

Option to tax for exempt supplies. Not applicable.

E. Time of supply

The moment when VAT becomes due is called the “time of supply” or the “tax point.” The tax point is the earlier of the following two dates:

- The date on which goods are dispatched (transferred) and services are completely delivered
- The date on which the payment is received if the payment is made with respect to future supplies of goods or rendering of services

In the case of periodical or continuous supplies for which subsequent payments are prescribed, the tax point is the date on which the invoice is issued for the relevant period or, if earlier, the date on which the payment for the relevant period is received.

Reverse-charge services. Reverse-charge VAT applies to amounts charged for goods or services supplied by foreign legal entities to Macedonian legal entities. Under the reverse-charge mechanism, the recipient of the goods or services bears the responsibility for the calculation of VAT, the submission of a VAT tax return, the payment of tax and the payment of interest in the event of a late payment.

Imported goods. Imported goods are subject to VAT unless they are exempt from VAT under law. The import VAT is calculated by the customs authorities based on the customs value of goods increased for the customs duty, excise duty and commission, transportation and insurance fee. The import VAT is paid with the customs office simultaneously with the payment of the customs and excise duties.

F. Recovery of VAT by taxable persons

A taxpayer may recover input tax, which is VAT charged on goods and services supplied to it for business purposes. A taxpayer generally recovers input tax by deducting it from output VAT. The difference between the output and input VAT is refunded to the taxpayer based on a written claim stated in the taxpayer’s tax return.

Input tax includes VAT charged on goods and services supplied in Macedonia, VAT paid on imports of goods, and VAT self-assessed under the reverse-charge mechanism with respect to goods or services supplied by non-established entities.

VAT is recoverable for supplies provided to taxpayers by other taxpayers if a valid invoice or a customs declaration containing a separate statement of the tax collected on the import is issued and if such document is recorded in the accounting books of the taxpayer.

Nondeductible input tax. Input tax may not be recovered on purchases of goods and services that are not used for business purposes (for example, goods acquired for private use by an entrepreneur). In addition, input tax may not be recovered for some items of business expenditure.

The following lists provide some examples of expenses for which input tax is not deductible and examples of expenses for which input tax is deductible if made for business purposes.

Examples of items for which input tax is not deductible

- Representation expenses
- Audio and video devices
- Hotels
- Restaurant meals

Examples of items for which input tax is deductible

- Advertising
- Consultancy services
- Telecommunication services
- Equipment

Partial exemption. Input tax directly related to taxable supplies is fully recoverable, while input tax directly related to exempt supplies is not recoverable. If the domestically supplied or imported goods or services are used by the taxpayer to make both supplies with the right to deduct input VAT and exempt supplies without the right to deduct input VAT, such person may deduct only the portion of the input VAT corresponding on a pro-rata basis to the supplies giving rise to an input VAT deduction.

Refunds. If the amount of input tax recoverable in a tax period exceeds the amount of output tax in that period, the taxable person earns an input tax credit. In general, the input tax credit is carried forward to offset output tax in the following tax period. However, a taxable person may claim a refund of the input tax credit in the VAT return for the relevant tax period. The refund of the difference between the input and output tax is made within 30 days after the date of the submission of the tax return.

Preregistration costs. Not applicable.

G. Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses

On the condition of reciprocity Macedonia refunds VAT incurred by businesses that do not have a headquarters or a branch office in the country and that satisfy the following additional conditions:

- They do not make any supplies in the country.
- They do not owe any outstanding VAT.

Refund application. The deadline for refund claims is 30 June of the year following the calendar year in which the tax becomes chargeable. The application for refund must be submitted to the Macedonian tax authorities and must be accompanied by the appropriate documentation.

A refund application must be processed within six months after the date of submission of the application and supporting documents.

The claim period varies between one month and several consecutive months in one calendar year. The minimum claim for these periods is MKD30,000. In the claims for the last month of the calendar year, input taxes from previous claim periods may also be taken into account. The minimum claim for this period is MKD15,000.

Claims are paid in domestic currency (MKD) into a bank account opened by the applicant in Macedonia.

H. Invoicing

VAT invoices and credit notes. A Macedonian taxpayer must issue invoices for all of its taxable supplies. A document qualifies as a valid invoice if it complies with the requirements set out in the Macedonian VAT Act. The invoice must be issued within five working days after the date of the supply.

If an invoice is issued both for taxable supplies and non-taxable supplies, each supply must be stated separately. If a non-taxable supply is made, it must be stated on the invoice that “The Value Added Tax is not calculated.”

A taxpayer delivering taxable goods to recipients of goods or services who are not taxpayers (end consumers) must record the supply through a cash register and issue a receipt, regardless of whether the recipient of such goods or services requests a receipt.

A credit note may be used to reduce VAT charged and claimed back on a supply. A credit note must be cross-referenced to the original invoice. However, no official rules have been issued with respect to credit notes.

Foreign-currency invoices. In general, VAT invoices must be issued in domestic currency (denars [MKD]). If a VAT invoice is issued in a foreign currency, all values required for VAT purposes must be converted into denars for tax purposes, using the rate published by the National Bank of Macedonia on the date of the invoice.

Proof of exports. The taxpayer must hold an export customs clearance issued by the customs authorities as proof that the goods are exported from the country. In case the export customs procedure does not require an export clearance to be issued, the taxpayer must hold a document issued by the customs authorities that displays the name and address of the taxpayer and the foreign recipient of the goods, trade name of the goods and the quantity of the goods exported, place and date of export.

I. VAT returns and payment

VAT returns. The tax period is the calendar month if the total turnover in the preceding calendar year exceeded MKD25 million. Taxpayers that had total turnover in the preceding year of less than MKD25 million must file VAT returns and pay VAT quarterly. Newly registered taxpayers projecting an annual turnover of more than MKD1 million must register for VAT and make quarterly VAT return filings. Taxpayers that are registered on a voluntary basis and do not expect to exceed the mandatory registration threshold of MKD1 million but plan to invest more than MKD100 million during the year may apply for permission to file monthly. Taxpayers must calculate the VAT for the relevant tax period for all supplies made that are subject to VAT. Taxpayers must submit a tax return within 25 days after the end of the relevant tax period.

Special schemes. Not applicable.

Electronic filing and archiving. All taxpayers must submit tax returns electronically. After the VAT registration and before the deadline for filing the first tax return, the taxpayers must register for electronic filing. Electronic archiving of the submitted tax returns and any related supporting documentation is permissible.

Annual returns. No requirement exists for filing of annual returns.

J. Penalties

A legal entity is fined the MKD equivalent of EUR1,200 for late VAT registration and of EUR1,500 for a late VAT return filing and for a late issuance of an invoice.

Failure to register or file a VAT return is subject to fines ranging from EUR2,000 to EUR2,500. The same penalties apply if the legal entity fails to pay the VAT into the authorities' bank account into which registered VAT payers must pay their VAT or if the legal entity makes inaccurate VAT accounting entries. Separate fines apply to the legal representative of the company. Criminal sanctions apply if the offenses are intentional.

Taxpayers that make a late VAT payment are liable to pay interest on the tax due at a rate of 0.03% for each day of delay.

Madagascar

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Antananarivo

GMT +3

EY

Villa Pervenche
Lotissement Bonnet Ivandry
Antananarivo 101, Madagascar

Indirect tax contacts

Yann Rasamoely

+261 20 23 217 96

yann.rasamoely@mu.ey.com

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Value-added tax (VAT)
Date introduced	1962
Trading bloc membership	Common Market for Eastern and Southern Africa (COMESA); Tarif Préférentiel Spécial with China (TPS); Système Généralisé de Préférences (SGP); Commission de l'Océan Indien (COI); Accord de Partenariat Economique (APE); Southern African Development Community (SADC)
Administered by	Ministry of Finance and Budget (www.mefb.gov.mg)
VAT rates
Standard	20%
Reduced	0%
Other treatment	Exempt; exempt with credit
VAT number format	Not applicable
Thresholds
Registration	MGA200,000,000 (annual turnover exclusive of taxes)
Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses	No

B. Scope of the tax

VAT applies to legal persons carrying out economic activities habitually or occasionally in Madagascar, including such activities as:

- Trade
- Commercial, industrial, agricultural, handmade, mining, hotel activities
- Games exploitation
- Service delivery

- Liberal profession
- Import
- Supply of goods and services
- Construction
- Miscellaneous, except express exemption

The following are outside the scope of VAT and should not be included in the computation of taxable operations:

- Cash discounts and rebates mentioned in the invoice
- Compensation for damages
- Disbursements to service providers in repayment of expenditures paid on behalf of the client

C. Who is liable

Persons with an annual turnover equal to or more than MGA200,000,000 are required to register for VAT: a person may apply for voluntary registration.

Registration procedures. There is no specific VAT registration procedure provided by the General Tax Code, but the tax authority does maintain a roster of VAT-registered taxpayers.

From the administrative perspective, registrations occur two ways:

- The person reaches the registration threshold and is automatically subject to VAT.
- The person voluntarily registers, whether turnover is lower or higher than the threshold.

In either case, the procedure is that the person submits a letter to the tax authority applying for VAT registration. The tax authority will update the Standard Tax Identification Card with the mention of VAT registration. The tax authority does not assign the registrant a specific VAT identification number; the general tax identification number serves for VAT as well.

Exemption from registration. Persons with a total annual turnover less than MGA200,000,000 are exempted from VAT.

Group registration. Group registration is not applicable in Madagascar.

Non-established businesses. Persons with no fixed place of business in Madagascar but who perform taxable services in Madagascar may appoint a legal resident representative who is authorized to act for the nonresident service provider in complying with the VAT obligations.

In practice, the recipient of the service is in charge of the payment of the tax as well as the filing of the return. This does not have any impact if the Madagascar person is able to recover the VAT. It does not imply that the recipient will become the legal representative of the nonresident supplier without any official appointment. However, in case of compliance failure by the nonresident supplier, the VAT liabilities fall to the recipient of the service.

Reverse charge. Reverse charge is applicable to services performed in Madagascar by a nonresident service provider who does not have a fixed place of business in Madagascar.

The VAT is paid by the local recipient of the service to the tax authority before the 15th of the month following the month of payment for the service if the nonresident service provider does not have a legal representative in Madagascar.

Tax representatives. As described above, nonresident service suppliers with no fixed place of business in Madagascar may appoint a legal resident representative that acts on behalf of the taxpayer to comply with VAT obligations.

The appointment consists of sending an official letter to the Ministry of Finances and Budget appointing the tax representative to obtain a tax identification number for compliance obligations. This representative would be responsible for filing returns and paying the tax due. However, in practice, it is most commonly the recipient of supplies from a nonresident service provider who ensures VAT compliance and will be liable to tax assessment in case of non-compliance.

Deregistration. Registration for VAT is irrevocable. Once a person is registered for VAT, deregistration is not allowed although the yearly turnover may not exceed the registration threshold.

Late-registration penalties. Penalties in case of late registration are the following:

- Fine for default of submission of the return: MGA100,000
- Delay interest penalty: 1% of the tax due per month

In case of deficiency, inaccuracy, omission, reduction or falsity in the VAT return, the fine would be 40% of the additional tax due. In the case of fraudulent practice or intentional non-compliance, the penalty is computed at 80% of the additional tax due.

Digital economy. There is not yet a special VAT treatment applicable to digital economy.

D. VAT rates

The term “taxable supplies” refers to supplies of goods and services that are liable to a rate of VAT, including the zero rate. Madagascar’s VAT rates are as follows:

- Standard rate: 20%
- Zero rate (0%)

The standard rate of VAT applies to all supplies of goods or services, unless a specific measure provides for the zero rate or an exemption (see below).

Input tax is the VAT paid on goods and services supplied to the person for the purpose of making taxable supplies. This input tax paid may be recovered by a taxable person, whether those supplies are taxed at the standard rate or the zero rate. All exports of goods or services are taxed at the zero rate, and those are the only zero-rated supplies.

The term “exempt supplies” refers to supplies of goods and services that are not liable to any rate of VAT. Suppliers of exempt supplies are generally not permitted to recover input tax, although some exempt supplies are designated as exempt with credit, meaning that input tax is recoverable (see Section F).

Examples of exempt supplies of goods and services

- School fees relating to general, technical and professional education
- Interest paid by the Public Treasury
- Certain operations linked to shares, bonds and other securities
- Interest from receivables, deposits and guarantees of banks having their headquarters in Madagascar, interest charged by credit on financing; interest received from deposits and loans granted to members of microfinance institutions
- Subscription of mixed popular insurance or insurance group linked to supplement retirement with an insurance company having its headquarters in Madagascar; reinsurance premiums granted by local insurance companies to insurance companies that do not have permanent establishment in Madagascar
- Consumption of water and electricity by individuals for their domestic use up to 10m³ for water and 100kWh for electricity
- Services provided regarding health profession
- Import and sales of drugs; material and inputs used for drugs manufacturing and packages involved
- Import and sales of newspapers and periodicals, excluding revenue from advertising
- Import and sales of stamps and legal currency
- Import and sales of books, brochures and educational and academic nature
- Import and sales of corrective lenses
- Import and sales of inputs exclusively used for agriculture
- Import and sales of potato seed and corn
- Import and sales of breeding stock, equipment and farm equipment, materials and sports facilities for public use, materials and equipment for the production of renewable energy
- Subject to reciprocity, goods or services earned by diplomatic agent and consular officers from taxable individuals
- Import and sales of mosquito nets and mosquitos
- Air and sea transport of people and goods to and from abroad
- Membership fees and contributions of members of management centers during their three first years; products of shares for training or information provided to members of the management centers
- Import and sales of kerosene
- Import and sales of rice and paddy

Option to tax for exempt supplies. Not applicable.

E. Time of supply

The moment when VAT becomes due is called the “time of supply,” which in Madagascar depends on the good or service being supplied. For imports, the time of supply is the moment of clearance from customs. For operations subject to a special customs regime (warehouse, temporary admission, transit, transshipment, customs deposit), the time of supply is upon release for consumption. For general sales of goods, the time of supply is upon delivery of the goods. For both construction and service delivery, the time of supply is upon receipt of payment.

Deposits and prepayments. Deposits and prepayments are not subject to VAT because they do not consist of remuneration for services or the price of goods. However, when the supply of goods or services is acquired and not returned, deposits and prepayments are liable to VAT as if the additional payment had been made.

VAT is due on prepayment within the month of its receipt for supply of services and upon delivery for supply of goods.

Imported goods. VAT on imported goods is due upon customs clearance. The tax is paid directly to the customs office.

Goods sent on approval or for sale or return. VAT would apply only when the “goods sent on approval or for sale or return” are booked and recorded as delivered.

Continuous supplies of services. VAT on services is due on payment. However, the service provider can account for the tax on an accrual basis with the prior authorization of the tax authority.

Cash accounting. Cash accounting is only permitted for persons that satisfy two criteria:

- They have an annual turnover less than MGA20,000,000
- They have not voluntarily registered for VAT.

Leased assets. In the case of leasing, the lessor is able to deduct input VAT applied on the acquisition of any kind of assets dedicated to leasing. In principle, input VAT is deductible for the lessee if the assets are used for the normal business of the lessee.

In general, for all types of leased assets, input VAT on the following is not deductible:

- Building not dedicated to industrial, commercial, hotel, restaurant, agricultural or mining activities
- Passenger vehicles (except those whose exclusive use is leasing)
- Furniture (except hotel and restaurant furniture)

F. Recovery of VAT by taxable persons

Input VAT may be recovered in the usual way by deducting it from output VAT due, or in limited cases, by refund.

When offsetting input VAT against output VAT, the following requirements should be respected:

- Input VAT must be clearly labeled on the invoices and linked to the company business
- Input VAT paid on imported goods linked to the company business
- Input VAT relating to the acquisition of goods in respect of leasing clearly identified
- Input VAT linked to goods held in stock and the portion of the tax paid clearly corresponding to the depreciated value of property, machinery and equipment for newly registered individuals/entities

The tax can only be deducted when the chargeability occurs at the supplier side and when the supplier is legally allowed to collect VAT.

For VAT repayment, only the companies listed below can receive a VAT refund:

- Free-zone companies
- Companies performing exclusive export activities

- Companies making investments that comply with the following conditions:
 - Being registered for VAT
 - Having VAT credit higher than MGA100,000,000 in a month and in which VAT involved must not be less than MGA20,000,000
 - Concerned investments related to tangible capital assets necessary to the normal company business

Nondeductible input tax. Nondeductible tax is the tax which does not have a link with normal business of the company.

Examples of items for which input tax is nondeductible

- VAT on construction or acquisition of buildings, or on related services (not applicable to industrial, commercial, mining, craft, hotel and agricultural buildings)
- VAT on purchase of vehicles not used for rental or related services
- VAT on purchase of furniture or related services (not applicable to hotels and restaurants)
- VAT on purchase of energy unnecessary for the operation of the company
- VAT on purchase of food intended for consumption of the company
- VAT on purchase of oil products such as gasoline used for tourism, super fuel, gas-oil and fuel-oil (not applicable to companies in charge of processing and distribution of oil products, industrial companies, aquaculture farms, cargo and hydrocarbons carriers)

Examples of items for which input tax is deductible
(if related to a taxable business use)

- VAT documented in an invoice (with the tax identification number of the provider) relating to non-exempted products and services that have a link with the normal business of the company
- VAT on import of goods that have a link with the normal business of the company
- VAT on goods representing intangible assets
- VAT on goods and services allocated to deductible operations
- VAT on goods relating to the acquisition of leased assets by the lessor; and VAT on rent paid by the lessee to the lessor
- VAT on import of oil products carried out by companies in charge of processing and distribution of oil products; VAT on purchase of oil products made by industrial companies for fixed motors used in their production operations; VAT on oil products used in aquaculture farms; VAT on purchase of oil products performed by professional carriers of hydrocarbon cargo
- VAT on goods held in stock and non-amortized machines and materials for newly taxable persons

Partial exemption. Where input VAT is attributable to both taxable and exempt supplies, only the portion of input tax attributable to taxable supplies is recoverable. The taxpayer must calculate and document taxable supplies as a percentage of total supplies.

Examples of partially exempt items

- Operations linked to shares, bonds and other securities are exempt, but operations relating to stock and management of shares, bonds and securities are taxable, as are securities representing goods and shares giving the holder de jure or de facto rights of possession of property or enjoyment of an immovable property.

- Consumption of water and electricity by individuals for their domestic use up to 10m³ for water and 100kWh for electricity is exempt, while consumption above those levels is taxable.
- Import and sales of newspapers and periodicals are exempt, but income from insertion of advertising is taxable.

Capital goods. Input VAT on capital goods dedicated to normal business of the company is accepted as deductible.

Refunds. Free-zone companies, companies performing export activities and companies making a specified amount of investment are allowed to apply for a VAT refund.

For free-zone and export companies, the amount subject to refund is determined by the proportion between the amount of the annual turnover on export and the amount of the total taxable annual turnover of the previous year.

The application for the refund is made at the time the VAT return is submitted.

The refunds should be done within 60 days from the receipt of the application by the tax authority.

Preregistration costs. Not applicable.

Write-off of bad debts. Although the VAT laws do not expressly deal with the VAT treatment of bad debts, the tax authority generally agrees that output tax written off on a bad debt is allowable.

This does not arise for supply of services. Since the tax point is the time payment is received, relief for bad debt is automatic.

Noneconomic activities. Noneconomic activities are considered to be activities performed by a taxable person that are not part of a profit-making enterprise. Individuals and entities performing noneconomic activities are not subject to VAT.

G. Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses

A non-established business is not allowed to recover VAT.

H. Invoicing

VAT invoices and credit notes. There is no special VAT invoice in Madagascar. The word VAT must appear clearly and distinctly on the invoice. The same rule applies to credit notes.

Electronic invoicing. Electronic invoicing should comply with the same requirements as non-electronic invoices:

- Two copies
- Dated and signed by the provider
- Chronologically numbered and mentioning for both provider and customer:
 - The commercial name
 - The statistical number
 - The tax identification number
- Quantity and price of the delivered goods or services
- Settlement date
- Payment method

Proof of exports. Supplies of services and goods are treated as exports if the ultimate beneficiary is located outside Madagascar and the payment is made to a foreign bank in a foreign currency. Customs documents are also required for export of goods.

Foreign-currency invoices. Foreign-currency invoices are only allowed for the export of goods or services or supplies made to local free-zone companies. Otherwise, invoices should be in local currency, MGA.

I. VAT returns and payment

VAT returns. VAT returns and payment are due on a monthly basis: the due date is the 15th of the month following the taxable month.

The monthly return is mandatory even if there is no payment due in the taxable month. In case of omission of input VAT, the registered person is allowed to make an adjustment in any of the VAT returns in the subsequent six months.

Payments on account. A payment on account creates a tax point for a supply of services only. In connection with supply of goods, the tax point is always the time the goods are delivered.

Special schemes. None.

Electronic filing and archiving. Electronic filing is allowed for certain companies that have reached the prescribed annual turnover.

Taxpayers with annual turnover between MGA200 million and MGA4 billion are assigned to the Services Régionaux des Impôts. Taxpayers with annual turnover more than MGA4 billion are assigned to the Direction des Grandes Entreprises. These two tax offices have discretion to allow electronic filing according to rules they establish.

Taxpayers with annual turnover lower than MGA200 million are assigned to the Centre fiscal where no electronic filing is permitted.

Archiving requirements involve storing and making available the financial statements, ledgers, invoices and all supporting documents (agreements, etc.) relating to each transaction for 10 years after the transaction.

Annual returns. Not applicable.

J. Penalties

In case of late payment, the following penalties apply:

- Fine for default of submission of the return: MGA100,000
- Delay penalty interest: 1% of the tax due per month

The above-mentioned fixed fine only applies for cases outside of any tax audit period, where a voluntary disclosure is made. Once the tax audit is started, though the tax assessment notice is not yet issued or definitive, penalties range from 40% to 80% of the additional due tax. Where the taxpayer makes a voluntary disclosure, a fixed fine of MGA100,000 applies.

Malaysia

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Kuala Lumpur

GMT +8

EY

Mail address:
P.O. Box 11040
50734 Kuala Lumpur
Malaysia

Street address:
Level 23A, Menara Milenium
Jalan Damanlela
Pusat Bandar Damansara
50490 Kuala Lumpur
Malaysia

Indirect tax contacts

Bernard Yap	+60 (3) 7495-8291 bernard.yap@my.ey.com
Aaron Bromley	+60 (3) 7495-8314 aaron.bromley@my.ey.com
Yeoh Cheng Guan	+60 (3) 7495-8408 cheng-guan.yeoh@my.ey.com
Koh Siok Kiat	+60 (3) 7495-8355 siok-kiat.koh@my.ey.com

The Malaysian government replaced its sales and service tax regimes with a goods and services tax (GST), effective 1 April 2015.

A. At a glance

Name of the taxes	Goods and services tax (GST)
Dates introduced	1 April 2015
Administered by	Royal Malaysian Customs Department (RMCD) (http://www.customs.gov.my)
GST rates
Standard	6%
Other	Zero-rated (0%) and exempt
GST return periods	Monthly if annual sales turnover is MY$5 million or more Quarterly if annual sales turnover less than MY$5 million
Threshold for registration	Annual taxable turnover exceeds MY$500,000
Recovery of GST by non-established businesses	No (unless the non-established business is registered for GST in Malaysia)

B. Scope of the taxes

GST is to be charged and levied on:

- Any supply of goods and services in Malaysia, including supply of imported services and anything treated as a supply under the GST Act
- Any importation of goods into Malaysia

C. Who is liable

Taxable persons (i.e., any person who is or is liable to be registered under this Act) are businesses or individuals who perform taxable supplies of goods or services in the course of business in Malaysia.

Compulsory registration. The GST registration threshold is MY$500,000. For compulsory registration, the threshold applies in one of the following ways:

- The historical taxable annual turnover is more than MY$500,000
- There are reasonable grounds that the future taxable annual turnover will be more than MY$500,000

Based on the above, a business must notify the Director General (DG) about the liability to register within 28 days of becoming liable.

Voluntary registration. If the value of taxable supplies made by a business is below the registration threshold, the business may register for GST voluntarily. A business that registers for GST voluntarily must remain registered for at least two years unless otherwise allowed by the RMCD.

Under the GST law, “taxable supply” is defined as a supply of goods or services made in Malaysia other than an exempt supply. In other words, businesses that make wholly exempt supplies would not be eligible for voluntary registration.

Group registration. Businesses that perform wholly taxable supplies and have control over another company either directly or indirectly through subsidiaries by holding more than 50% of the issued share capital of the other company can apply for group GST registration. Each member must be individually registered for GST. After group members are registered as a GST group, they are treated as a single taxable person and submit a single GST return. Supplies made between members within the same GST group are disregarded for GST purposes. Group members are jointly and severally liable for all GST liabilities.

Foreign companies that are not established in Malaysia cannot become members of a group. However, for the purposes of eligibility for group registration, their subsidiaries or registered branches in Malaysia can be considered as members of a group.

Divisional registration. A business that operates through branches or divisions has to determine whether it is liable to be registered based on the aggregate total taxable supplies of all the branches and divisions. Divisional registrations ease the GST administration for such businesses. On approval, each branch or division may apply to register individually under the name of that branch or division. Supplies made between divisions within the divisional registration are disregarded for GST purposes.

Exemption from registration. A taxable person that makes wholly zero-rated supplies may request approval from the DG to be exempted from registration.

Deregistration. A business that ceases operations must cancel its GST registration. The business is required to notify RMCD within 30 days from the date of such occurrence.

Non-established businesses. A “non-established business” is a business that has no fixed establishment in Malaysia. A business that is not established in Malaysia must register for GST via a tax agent if it makes taxable supplies in Malaysia exceeding the registration threshold of MY$500,000.

Tax agent. The business is required to appoint a local agent to act on his behalf for all matters pertaining to GST. The local agent will be liable for the accountability for tax regardless if he is a taxable person or not. The registration of a foreign principal will be under the name of such foreign principal.

Late-registration penalties. Penalties will be imposed for failure to register for GST, late payment of GST, late submission for GST returns and the submission of incorrect returns.

D. Tax rates

The term taxable supplies refers to supplies of goods and services that are liable to GST, including supplies that qualify for zero-rating relief (subject to GST at 0%). The term exempt supplies refers to supplies of goods and services that are exempted from GST. Exempt supplies may give rise to a restriction on the input tax.

The standard rate of GST in Malaysia is 6%. The standard rate of GST applies to all supplies of goods and services, unless the supplies qualify for zero rating or exemption.

Exports of goods and the supply of international services are zero-rated. International services that qualify for zero-rating are specifically listed in the GST Zero-Rated Supply Order. Exempt supplies include the sale or lease of residential properties; financial transactions, including life and investment-linked insurances; domestic mass public transportation; private education; and health services.

Examples of zero-rated transactions

- Essential foodstuffs (e.g., rice, table salt, sugar, plain flour, cooking oil)
- Livestock supplies
- Supply of the first 300 units of electricity per month to domestic users
- Supply of treated water to domestic users
- International services

Examples of exempt transactions

- Sales/lease/rental of residential land/property
- Domestic mass public transportation
- Tolled highways
- Land for agricultural purposes and land for general use (government buildings and burial grounds)
- Private healthcare and certain educational services
- Certain financial services

E. Time of supply

Generally, the basic time of supply of goods is:

- If the goods are to be removed/delivered, at the time of removal of the goods

- If the goods are not to be removed, at the time when the goods are made available to the person to whom the goods are supplied
- If the goods are being sent or taken on approval, sale, return or similar terms (i.e., consignment sale), at the time when it becomes certain that the taxable supply has taken place or 12 months after the removal, whichever is the earlier

The basic time of supply of services is the time when the services are performed. The RMCD considers a service “performed” when the work is done or completed by the supplier.

However, if a tax invoice is issued within 21 days from the basic tax point, the time the invoice is issued is taken as the time of supply. This applies to both supply of goods and services.

Where the invoice is issued or payment is received prior to the basic tax point, the date of such invoice or receipt of payment is taken as the time of supply, but only to the extent covered by the invoice or the payment.

F. Recovery of GST by taxable persons

A taxable person may recover the GST incurred on its expenses as input tax if the input tax is incurred for the purpose of making a taxable supply in the course or furtherance of business. Input tax comprises GST incurred on any supply of goods and services made to a taxable person and GST paid or to be paid by a taxable person on any importation of goods. A taxable person generally recovers input tax through its GST returns, by deducting it from output tax, when GST is charged on supplies made.

Under GST, there are two types of accounting that are either the invoice (accrued) or the payment basis. Generally, a registered person is required to account for GST on an accrual basis; however, the registered person may request approval from the DG to account for GST on a payment basis.

A valid tax invoice must be held to support a claim for input tax.

A taxable person is required to repay to the RMCD any input tax claimed for which payment has not been made to the supplier for more than six months from the date of supply.

Nondeductible input tax. Input tax may not be recovered on purchases of goods and services that are not used for business purposes (for example, goods acquired for private use by a taxable person) or incurred by a person other than a taxable person. In addition, input tax may not recover for some items of business expenditure.

Examples of items for which input tax is nondeductible

- Purchase/lease or maintenance of a passenger motor car
- Club subscription fee
- Medical and personal accident insurance premium or takaful contribution
- Certain medical expenses
- Family benefits
- Entertainment expenses (excluding expenses incurred for existing customers and staff), except for entertainment expenses incurred by a person who is in the business of providing entertainment

Partial exemption. No credit is available on any input tax incurred on the acquisition of goods or services that is attributable to exempt supplies. However, there are exceptions as follows:

- De minimis rule: the input tax attributable to any exempt supply is treated as input tax attributable to a taxable supply where the value of all exempt supplies is an average of MY$5,000 per month and an amount equal to 5% of the total value of all taxable and exempt supplies made in that period.
- Incidental exempt financial supplies: special rules are made to allow taxable persons other than financial institutions to claim credit for any input taxes attributable to the making of the following exempt financial supplies:
 - The deposit of money
 - The exchange of currency
 - The holding of bonds, debentures, notes or other similar instruments representing or evidencing indebtedness
 - The transfer of ownership of securities or derivatives relating to securities
 - The provision by a taxable person of any loan, advance, credit or other similar facility to his employee or between connected persons (e.g., a loan from a holding company to a subsidiary)
 - The holding or redemption of any unit or other similar instruments under a trust fund
 - The hedging of any interest rate risk, currency risk, utility price risk, freight price risk or commodity price risk

A mixed supplier is a taxable person who makes both taxable and exempt supplies. If the de minimis rule is satisfied for a particular taxable period, the supplier is entitled to claim credit in respect of all input tax incurred during the taxable period. Otherwise, he is entitled to claim input taxes that are common for both taxable and exempt supplies that are attributable to the taxable supplies only. For residual input tax, the proportion allowed is the ratio of taxable supplies to total supplies.

Repayments. If the amount of input tax recoverable in a GST period exceeds the output tax in the same period, the excess is refundable. In principle, according to current guidance from RMCD, the refund will be made within 14 working days after the return to which the refund relates is received for online submission and 28 working days after the return to which the refund relates is received for manual submission.

G. Recovery of GST by non-established businesses

Malaysia does not refund GST incurred by non-established businesses that are not registered for GST in Malaysia.

H. Invoicing

Tax invoice and credit notes. A tax invoice must be issued when a GST-registered person makes a standard-rated supply. Subject to approval by the DG, a simplified tax invoice can take the form of an invoice, receipt, voucher or any other similar document, as long as it contains the particulars approved by the DG. A simplified tax invoice can be used to claim input tax credit. However, if this invoice does not have the name and address of the recipient, the maximum amount of input tax that can be claimed is MYS30.

Adjustments generally arise as a result of the cancellation of a supply or acquisition, a change in the amount of consideration, a change in the quantity of the supply, or a change in tax rate. Adjustments also arise if the goods or services cease being a taxable supply.

Adjustment notes (i.e., debit and credit notes) should contain the prescribed particulars under the Regulations and must cross-reference the original tax invoice number and date it relates to.

Proof of exports. Export of goods is zero-rated for GST purposes if supported by evidence confirming the departure of the goods from Malaysia. This evidence consists of a range of documentation:

- Export declaration (K2)
- Sales invoice
- Bill of lading
- Shipping note
- Insurance note
- Payment document, such as documentary credit, debit advice, bank statement, etc.
- Debit and credit notes
- Tally sheet from the port authority
- Short ship/short-landed certificate
- Other documents related to the export

Foreign-currency invoices. If a tax invoice is stated in a foreign currency, the following particulars in the tax invoice have to be converted into the Malaysian ringgit for GST purposes:

- The amount payable before GST
- The total GST chargeable
- The total amount payable (including GST)

The foreign currency is converted into Malaysian ringgit by using the daily exchange rate. The selling rate of any bank operating in Malaysia is acceptable. In the case of importation, the importer can use the exchange rates published by Malaysian Customs, which are updated every week.

I. GST returns and payment

GST returns. Every taxable person is required to account for tax by furnishing the GST-03 form monthly, quarterly or in any other prescribed period upon approval by the DG.

The GST return is required to be furnished to the DG not later than the last day of the month following the end of the taxable period. If a taxable person's taxable period does not end on the last day of the month, the GST return should be furnished no later than the last day of the 30-day period from the end of the varied taxable period.

The taxable person can submit the GST return in one of three ways:

- Electronically
- By posting to the GST Processing Centre
- By furnishing to the GST Processing Centre

The taxable person who is in the payable position must pay to the DG the amount of tax due and payable by him. Any tax due in respect of a taxable period becomes payable not later than the last day on which the taxable person is required to furnish the GST return by way of electronic fund transfer, cheques, bank draft, money order or postal order.

J. Penalties

If any tax due and payable remains unpaid after the last day on which it becomes due and payable, that person commits an offense for which, on conviction, he shall be liable for a fine of up to MYS50,000, imprisonment for a term of up to three years or both. As for the offense of stating incorrect returns/information or understating output tax/overstating input tax, there is an additional penalty equal to the amount of tax that has been undercharged or would have been undercharged.

Malta

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Valletta

GMT +1

EY

Fourth Floor
Regional Business Centre
Achille Ferris Street
Msida MSD 1751
Malta

Indirect tax contact

Christopher J. Naudi

+356 2347-1440

chris.naudi@mt.ey.com

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Value-added tax (VAT)
Local name	It-taxxa fuq il-valur mizjud
Date introduced	1 January 1999
Trading bloc membership	European Union (EU) Member State
Administered by	Ministry of Finance (http://www.vat.gov.mt)
VAT rates
Standard	18%
Reduced	5% and 7%
Other	Exempt with credit and exempt without credit
VAT number format	MT12345678
VAT return periods	Quarterly (Commissioner for Revenue may prescribe longer or shorter periods)
Thresholds
Registration	None
Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses	Yes

B. Scope of the tax

VAT applies to the following transactions:

- The supply of goods and the rendering of services in Malta by a taxable person for consideration, in the course or furtherance of an economic activity
- Intra-Community acquisition of goods (subject to certain conditions; see the chapter on the EU)
- Intra-Community acquisitions of new means of transport (see the chapter on the EU)
- Intra-Community acquisitions of excise goods
- The importation of goods into Malta (other than exempt importations)

C. Who is liable

A taxable person is any person that carries on an economic activity, regardless of the purpose or result of that activity.

Until 31 December 2010, under Article 10 of the VAT Act, no registration threshold applied. Effective from 1 January 2011, the VAT registration threshold was EUR7,000. Effective 1 January 2015, VAT registration is mandatory for any person who carries out an economic activity, regardless of turnover. Any person or business entity that carries on an economic activity in Malta and has a turnover exceeding this threshold must register for VAT within 30 days.

Group registration. To date, VAT group registration is not allowed under the Maltese VAT law. Legal entities that are closely connected must register for VAT individually.

Non-established businesses and tax representatives. A “non-established business” may be any of the following persons:

- A taxable person that has not established its economic activity
- A taxable person that has no fixed place of establishment in Malta
- A physical person who has not established his or her economic activity in Malta
- A physical person who does not have a fixed place of establishment in Malta, has no permanent address in Malta or does not usually reside in Malta

A non-established business that makes supplies in Malta may appoint a tax representative or may be required by the Maltese tax authorities to do so. The Commissioner for Revenue may designate, by means of a written notice, a person resident in Malta with whom the non-established business has a business relationship to be the tax representative of the non-established business, unless the non-established business has already designated a representative. The representative must be nominated in writing to the VAT authorities. A tax representative is jointly and severally liable with the person represented.

Registration procedures. A taxable person established in Malta who carries on an economic activity (or a non-Maltese established taxable person who is liable to charge Maltese output VAT on his supplies) is liable to register for Maltese VAT under Article 10 within 30 days of making a supply for consideration in Malta other than an exempt without credit supply.

Maltese established taxable persons that qualify as a small undertaking may register under Article 10 but also may opt for a simpler VAT registration under Article 11, depending on the type of economic activity involved and the level of turnover, as follows:

- For new registrants who principally supply goods: those with annual turnover lower than EUR35,000 (the “entrance threshold”) may register as a small undertaking. Taxpayers currently registered under the normal regime may reregister as a small undertaking if their turnover falls below EUR28,000 (the “exit threshold”).
- For new registrants who principally supply services with relatively low value added, those with annual turnover lower than EUR24,000 may register as a small undertaking. Such taxpayers

- currently registered under the normal regime may reregister as a small undertaking if their turnover falls below EUR19,000.
- For new registrants who principally supply other services, those with annual turnover lower than EUR14,000 may register as a small undertaking. Such taxpayers currently registered under the normal regime may reregister as a small undertaking if their turnover falls below EUR12,000.

Moreover, anyone who carries on an economic activity is not registered under Article 10 and intends to make an intra-Community acquisition in Malta is liable to register for Maltese VAT under Article 12, by not later than the date of that acquisition if his total intra-Community acquisitions in Malta during that calendar year exceed EUR10,000.

Effective 1 January 2010, a taxable person established in Malta who is not registered under Articles 10 or 11 and who supplies services within the territory of another Member State for which the tax is payable solely by the recipient shall apply to be registered under Article 10 by not later than 30 days from the date on which he makes a supply for consideration. Moreover a taxable person established in Malta, other than a taxable person registered under Article 10, who receives services for which he is liable to pay the tax (reverse-charge mechanism) shall apply to be registered under Article 12 by not later than the date on which he receives a service.

With effect from 1 January 2015, the exemption from registration for those with annual turnover below EUR7,000 is no longer in place. All suppliers that have been benefiting from the exemption must register for Maltese VAT by 30 June 2015.

A Maltese VAT registration should be accompanied by the necessary due diligence documentation and is usually processed within 5 to 10 working days from when all information is made available to the Maltese VAT Department.

Late-registration penalties. Penalties are assessed for late registration or for failure to keep records or submit returns. A penalty for late registration is assessed on an amount equal to the higher of the following:

- 1% of the excess, if any, of the output tax due over input tax (and any allowable deductions) for the first VAT period following registration
- EUR20 for every month or part of a month that the registration is late

Capped at a maximum of 20% of the output tax due over input tax (and any allowable deductions) for the first VAT period following registration.

Tax representatives. Persons who are not established in Malta and who are required to register for VAT purposes in Malta may nominate a person resident in Malta to act as their fiscal representative. This is to be made in writing to the Commissioner for Revenue and is subject to his approval. Such a request may also be made by the Commissioner for Revenue himself.

The representative is liable in the same manner and to the same extent as the person for whom he acts as representative for all the obligations imposed by the VAT Act.

Reverse charge. Under the VAT directive, certain supplies received as a customer from a supplier outside Malta are required to be treated in a different way to normal supplies. In such situations, rather than being charged VAT by the supplier, the customer will account for any VAT due. This is known as the “reverse-charge” mechanism.

Where the reverse-charge mechanism applies, the Maltese recipient must act as both supplier and recipient of the services for VAT purposes. On the same VAT return, therefore, the Malta taxable person must account for output and input tax.

Where a Maltese supplier supplies certain goods/provides certain services to a taxable person then no VAT is due and therefore, should not be accounted for.

Whereas up to 31 December 2009 reverse-charge services were the exception, as from 1 January 2010, they became the general rule. Hence, unless the supplies are provided for in a particular exception (see EC Directive 2008/8/EC), it is to be treated under the reverse-charge mechanism.

However, in order to avoid double taxation, non-taxation or distortion of competition, the Director General, VAT may, with regard to the supply of the services referred to in Articles 44, 45, 56 and 59 of the EC Directive 2006/112/EC as from 1 January 2010:

- Consider the place of supply of any service as being situated outside the EU, if the effective use and enjoyment of the services takes place outside the EU.
- Consider the place of supply of any service as being situated within Malta, if the effective use and enjoyment of the services takes place within Malta.

The penalties for the non-inclusion of this information are the same for any other information and disclosure.

Digital economy. Effective 1 January 2015, new rules will apply regarding the place of supply of telecommunication services, broadcasting services and electronically supplied services. As a general rule, such services when provided to non-taxable persons will be deemed to take place in the country where the customer is established.

Mini One-Stop Shop. The Mini One-Stop Shop as contemplated by the “Guide to the VAT Mini One-Stop Shop” issued by the EU Commission on 23 October 2013 and by the new Articles 359 and 369b of the Council Directive 2006/112/EC as of 1 January 2015, will become effective 1 January 2015 and registration started effective 1 October 2014.

Moreover, the Maltese VAT Department issued a notice stating that persons supplying services under the MOSS in terms of Articles 359 and 369b of the EU VAT Directive 2006/112/EC (which becomes effective 1 January 2015) shall not be required to issue fiscal receipts for such B2C services.

Deregistration. An application for the cancellation of a Maltese VAT registration shall be filed by any Maltese VAT registered person who is no longer required to remain registered for Maltese VAT purposes and shall contain the particulars specified in that form.

D. VAT rates

The term “taxable supplies” refers to supplies of goods and services that are liable to VAT (at the standard rate of 18% or the reduced rates of 5% or 7%).

The VAT rates are:

- Standard rate: 18%
- Reduced rates: 5% and 7%

The standard rate of VAT applies to all supplies of goods or services, unless a specific measure provides a reduced rate or an exemption.

Examples of supplies of goods and services taxable at 5%

- Confectionery
- Medical equipment and accessories
- Printed matter (including e-books/audio books as from 1 January 2015)
- Supply of electricity
- Examples of goods and services taxable at 7%
- Tourist accommodation

Examples of exempt with credit supplies of goods and services (0% rate)

- Food, excluding catering
- Pharmaceutical goods
- International transport
- Exports of goods and related services
- Supplies to ships
- Supply of gold to the Central Bank of Malta

The term “exempt supplies” refers to supplies of goods and services not liable to tax and that do not give rise to a right of input tax deduction (see Section F). Some supplies are classified as “exempt with credit,” which means that no VAT is chargeable, but the supplier may recover related input tax. Exempt with credit supplies include exports of goods and related services to third territories (that is, territories outside the EU).

Examples of exempt supplies of goods and services (without credit)

- Letting and transfer of immovable property
- Health and welfare
- Education
- Postal services
- Banking and insurance
- Grant and negotiation of credit and the management of credit by the grantor
- Supply by nonprofit organizations of approved services related to sports or physical recreation
- Sports
- Lotteries
- Broadcasting
- Water

Option to tax for exempt supplies. Not applicable.

E. Time of supply

The time when VAT becomes due is referred to as the “date when tax on supplies becomes chargeable” or “tax point.”

The basic tax point for a supply of goods is the earlier of the date on which the goods are delivered or otherwise made available to the recipient of the supply or the date on which payment is made. The basic tax point for a supply of services is the earlier of the date on which the services are performed or the date on which payment is made.

If a VAT invoice is issued before the basic tax point or by the 15th day of the month following the basic tax point, the date on which the VAT invoice is issued becomes the actual tax point. The actual tax point overrides the basic tax point.

Cash accounting. Professional service providers and retailers, as well as civil, mechanical and electrical engineering contractors, may use cash accounting if they have not exceeded the threshold of EUR2,000,000, subject to the condition that the right to deduct input tax shall be postponed until the tax on the goods or services supplied to them has been paid.

Imported goods. When goods are, on importation, placed under a customs duty suspension regime the chargeable event takes place and the tax becomes chargeable on the date when they cease to remain subject to that regime.

Reverse-charge services. The basic tax point for a supply of services is the earlier of the date on which the services are performed or the date on which payment is made.

If a VAT invoice is issued before the basic tax point or by the 15th day of the month following the basic tax point, the date on which the VAT invoice is issued becomes the actual tax point. The actual tax point overrides the basic tax point.

Continuous supplies of services. When the supply of services gives rise to successive statements of account or payments they shall be treated as performed, up to the value covered by those statements, on the last day of each period to which such statements of account or payments refer (basic tax point).

Provided that, when a continuous supply of services does not give rise to statements of account or payments during a year, it shall be regarded as being completed at least at intervals of one year.

Prepayments. The basic tax point for a supply of goods is the earlier of the date on which the goods are delivered or otherwise made available to the recipient of the supply or the date on which payment is made. The basic tax point for a supply of services is the earlier of the date on which the services are performed or the date on which payment is made.

Intra-Community acquisitions. The tax on an intra-Community acquisition becomes chargeable on the earlier of the following two dates — (a) the 15th day of the month following the date of the acquisition; (b) the date on which a tax invoice is issued to the person making the acquisition for the supply of goods in question.

Intra-Community supplies of goods. The basic tax point for a supply of goods is the earlier of the date on which the goods are delivered or otherwise made available to the recipient of the supply or the date on which payment is made.

If a VAT invoice is issued before the basic tax point or by the 15th day of the month following the basic tax point, the date on which the VAT invoice is issued becomes the actual tax point. The actual tax point overrides the basic tax point.

Leased assets. In cases of leased goods (where the delivery of goods pursuant to a contract for the hire of goods for a certain period or for the sale of goods on deferred terms, which provides that in the normal course of events ownership shall pass at the latest upon payment of the final installment such supplies shall be treated as supplies of goods with the basic tax point being the earlier of the date on which the goods are delivered or otherwise made available to the recipient of the supply or the date on which payment is made.

F. Recovery of VAT by taxable persons

A VAT-registered person may recover input tax, which is VAT charged on goods and services supplied to it for business purposes. Input tax is recovered by deducting the amount from output tax, which is VAT charged on supplies made in the same period.

Input tax includes VAT charged on goods and services supplied in Malta, VAT paid on imports of goods and VAT self-assessed for reverse-charge services received from outside Malta.

For a claim for input tax to be valid, the following conditions must be met:

- The claim must be supported by a tax invoice.
- The person claiming the expense must have the document in its possession, and produce it to the Director General, VAT if and when requested.
- The amount of tax claimed must be properly accounted for in the records held by the claimant.
- The VAT is recoverable to the extent allowable by the VAT Act.

Nondeductible input tax. Input tax may not be recovered on purchases of goods and services that are not used for business purposes (for example, goods acquired for private use by an entrepreneur). In addition, input tax may not be recovered for some items of business expenditure.

Examples of items for which input tax is nondeductible

- Nonbusiness expenditure
- Purchase, repair and maintenance, lease, fuel and hire of vehicles (excluding commercial vehicles)
- Business and employee entertainment
- Tobacco and alcohol
- Works of art and antiques

Partial attribution (partial exemption). Input tax directly related to the provision of exempt without credit supplies is generally not recoverable. If a registered person makes both exempt without credit supplies and taxable supplies, the person may not deduct input tax in full. This situation is referred to as “partial attribution” or “partial exemption.” The amount of input tax that may be deducted from output tax by a taxable person making exempt without credit supplies is based on the percentage of taxable supplies made compared with total supplies made. Attribution is based on a provisional rate in the first year (Year 1) and is then adjusted to a definitive rate, which is based on the level of taxable supplies made compared with total supplies made on an annual basis. The definitive rate (as amended at the end of the first year) is used as the provisional rate in the second year (Year 2).

Capital goods. Capital goods are items of capital expenditure that are used in a business over several years. Input tax is deducted in the VAT year in which the goods are acquired. The amount of input tax recovered depends on the taxable person's partial attribution recovery position in the VAT year of acquisition. However, the amount of input tax recovered for capital goods must be adjusted over time if the taxable person's partial attribution recovery percentage changes during the adjustment period or if the use of the capital goods changes.

An adjustment may be necessary to the initial VAT deduction with respect to capital goods and immovable property, resulting from either changes in the circumstances of the business or to changes in the proportion of use of the asset in the business. In the event of such change in circumstances, an adjustment to the initial deduction is made. The adjustment period is five years with respect to capital goods other than immovable property and 20 years with respect to immovable property.

Refunds. If the amount of input tax recoverable in a tax period exceeds the amount of output tax payable in that period, the taxable person ends up in an excess credit position. A taxable person is entitled to a refund of such excess credit if the excess credit is not set off against any VAT due in the subsequent tax period. The refund must be paid within five months after either the due date of the VAT return or the date on which the return is submitted, whichever is later.

The VAT authorities pay interest on VAT refunds that are paid late at a rate of 0.75% per month or part of a month. Interest is payable for the period beginning with the date on which the refund becomes payable and ending on the date on which the refund is paid.

Preregistration costs. As a general rule no amount shall be treated as input tax of a person unless it is supported by a tax invoice (including all necessary details such as VAT identification number) in respect of the tax relating to goods or services supplied to him.

Write-off of bad debts. A claim for a deduction by way of a bad debt relief shall be subject to such directives as the Maltese VAT Department may give as to the circumstances in which it may be made and the documents or other evidence that should be produced.

Noneconomic activities. Where any goods or services are or will be used but not wholly used in the course or furtherance of an economic activity, there shall be treated as input tax such proportion of the tax chargeable on the supplies, intra-Community acquisitions or importations in question, taking into account the proportion of the use of those goods or services in the course or furtherance of the economic activity to their total use.

G. Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses

The VAT authorities refund VAT incurred by businesses that are neither established nor registered for VAT in Malta, under the terms of Council Directive 2008/9/EC and the EU 13th Directive (see the chapter on the EU). For businesses established in the EU, refund is made under the terms of Council Directive 2008/9/EC. For businesses established outside the EU, refund is made under the terms of the EU 13th Directive.

For the general VAT refund rules under Council Directive 2008/9/EC and the EU 13th Directive refund schemes, see the chapter on the EU.

Claims for refunds by persons established in other EU Member States must be made online in accordance with Council Directive 2008/09/EC. Claims for refund under the EU 13th Directive must be made on an appropriate form and sent to the following address:

Director General, VAT
Value Added Tax Department
Centre Point Building
Ta' Paris Road
Birkirkara BKR 4633
Malta

H. Invoicing

VAT invoices and credit notes. Registered persons must generally provide tax invoices for all taxable supplies of goods and services made and for exports. Fiscal receipts must be issued for retail sales. A purchaser who receives a fiscal receipt for a supply must retain it for a period of at least 24 hours because the purchaser may be required to produce the receipt for inspection by the VAT authorities.

A credit note may be used to reduce VAT charged and reclaimed on a supply. A credit note must be cross-referenced to the original invoice.

Electronic invoicing. Effective 1 January 2013, the VAT law has been amended to permit electronic invoicing in line with EU Directive 2010/45/EU.

Proof of exports and intra-Community supplies. VAT is not chargeable on exports and intra-Community supplies of goods dispatched to a destination outside of Malta. Both supplies must be accompanied by evidence that confirms the goods have left Malta. Suitable evidence includes the stamped customs exportation documentation.

Foreign-currency invoices. Invoices may only be issued in euros. Foreign currency may only be quoted as a reference. The selling rate quoted by the European Central Bank on the date on which the supply takes place must be used.

B2C invoices. Effective 1 January 2015, new rules apply to the place of supply for supplies of telecommunications, broadcasting and electronic services to non-VAT taxable customers. For further details of the VAT rules on electronic services in the EU, please refer to the European Union chapter.

Maltese suppliers of these B2C services are not required to issue a tax invoice to non-taxable customers but are required to issue a fiscal receipt. Moreover the Maltese VAT Department issued a notice stating that persons supplying services under the MOSS in terms of Articles 359 and 369b of the EU VAT Directive 2006/112/EC (effective 1 January 2015) shall not be required to issue fiscal receipts for such B2C services.

I. VAT returns and payment

VAT returns. In most cases, registered persons file VAT returns quarterly. VAT returns must be filed within one-and-a-half months after the end of the tax period to which they relate. Payment in full is required on the same date. Return liabilities must be paid in euro.

Recently Maltese VAT law was amended to ensure that businesses sending their VAT declarations and making payments online are not charged interest and administrative fines if the declaration or payment is sent within seven days after the current deadline.

Special schemes. The Maltese VAT Act, in the 14th Schedule, contemplates the following special schemes:

- Professional services. A special scheme restricted for warrant holders whereby they can apply the cash accounting system for VAT accounting (as opposed to accrual accounting)
- Second-hand goods, works of art, collectors' items and antiques. A special scheme whereby VAT is mainly charged on the profit margin generated on the supply of such goods
- Supplies by retailers and by civil, mechanical and electrical engineering contractors. A special scheme whereby these contractors can apply the cash accounting system for VAT accounting (as opposed to accrual accounting)
- Travel agents. The tour operators/travel agents margin scheme
- Tax in danger. A scheme which allows the domestic reverse-charge mechanism only in connection to construction-related supplies and subject to approval by the Maltese VAT Department
- Investment gold. A special scheme regarding the VAT accounting for investment gold
- Electronically supplied services. The Mini One-Stop Shop applicable before 1 January 2015 to non-established service providers of electronically supplied services

Electronic filing and archiving. VAT returns may be filed electronically and there are certain benefits to incentivize the use of electronic filing (mainly a seven-day extension for the filing of the VAT return and the payment of the respective VAT due (if any).

With respect to electronic archiving, invoices shall be stored in the original form in which they were sent or made available, whether paper or electronic. Additionally, in the case of invoices stored by electronic means, the Maltese VAT Department may require that the data guaranteeing the authenticity of the origin of the invoices and the integrity of their content shall also be stored by electronic means.

Annual returns. Not applicable.

J. Penalties

Interest is assessed on VAT paid late. The current rate is 0.54% for each month or part of a month. The interest rate may change.

A penalty for default in submitting a tax return equals the greater of the following two amounts:

- 1% of the excess, if any, of the output tax over input tax for the period (disregarding any excess credit brought forward from a previous tax period and any allowable deductions)
- EUR20 for every month or part of a month that the return is late
- Capped at EUR250.

For the filing of a tax return containing errors that are discovered during a VAT inspection, a penalty equal to the sum of the following is imposed:

- 20% of the excess, if any, of the correct amount of output tax over the output tax declared in the return
- 20% of the excess, if any, of the deductions declared in the return over the correct amount of the deductions

If an error is voluntarily disclosed before it is discovered by the VAT Department, the penalty is reduced to 10%. This reduction also applies if the person involved cooperates with the Commissioner for Revenue, accepts an agreement and pays the amounts due within one month after signing the agreement.

K. EU filings

Intrastat and EU Sales Lists. A taxable person that trades with other EU countries must complete statistical reports, known as Intrastat returns and EU Sales Lists (ESLs). Penalties may be imposed for late, missing or inaccurate Intrastat returns and ESLs.

Recapitulative statement. In general, recapitulative statements must be prepared for each calendar month with respect to the following:

- Intra-Community supplies of goods
- Intra-Community supplies of services made to a customer that is liable to pay the tax on that service in the EU Member State in which it is established, except when such service is exempt in that Member State

Recapitulative statements must be submitted online to the VAT Department by the 15th day of the month following the relevant calendar month.

However, recapitulative statements may be submitted online for each calendar quarter by the 15th day of the month following the end of the quarter if the total amount of the supplies of goods, excluding VAT, did not exceed in the relevant quarter or in any of the four preceding quarters EUR50,000. If the EUR50,000 threshold is exceeded, the recapitulative statements must be submitted by the 15th day of the month following the relevant month.

Notwithstanding the above, if a person provides only supplies of services, it may submit an online recapitulative statement for each calendar quarter regardless of the total value of services supplied.

The values of supplies of goods or services required to be reported in the recapitulative statement must be declared in the period of submission during which VAT becomes chargeable.

Mauritius

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Ebène GMT +4

EY

9th Floor
Tower 1
NeXTeracom
Cybercity
Ebène
Mauritius

Indirect tax contact

Ryaad Owodally

+230 403-4777

ryaad.owodally@mu.ey.com

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Value-added tax (VAT)
Date introduced	7 September 1998
Trading bloc membership	Common Market for Eastern and Southern Africa Member, Southern African Development Community Member
Administered by	Mauritius Revenue Authority (MRA)
VAT rates
Standard	15%
Other	Zero-rated and exempt
VAT number format	VAT99999999
VAT return periods
Monthly	Annual amount of taxable supplies exceeds MUR10 million
Quarterly	Annual amount of taxable supplies is MUR10 million or less
Thresholds
Registration	Annual turnover of MUR4 million (see Section C)
Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses	No

B. Scope of the tax

VAT applies to the following transactions:

- The supply of goods or services made in Mauritius by taxable persons
- Reverse-charge services received by taxable persons in Mauritius
- The importation of goods from outside Mauritius

Certain persons, such as airlines and other organizations approved by the Director-General, Mauritius Revenue Authority (MRA), are exempt from VAT on specified supplies.

C. Who is liable

A taxable person is any entity or person that is required to be registered for VAT.

VAT registration is compulsory if annual turnover from a trade or profession exceeds MUR4 million. Before 1 April 2013, the threshold was MUR2 million.

However, persons engaged in certain businesses or professions must register for VAT, regardless of their level of turnover. This rule applies to the following businesses or professions:

- Accountants
- Auditors
- Advertising agents
- Advisers
- Architects
- Attorneys
- Barristers
- Clearing and forwarding agents
- Engineers
- Estate agents
- Land surveyors
- Notaries
- Opticians
- Project managers
- Property valuers
- Quantity surveyors
- Tour operators
- General sales agents of airlines

Exemption from registration. A taxable person whose turnover is exclusively zero-rated may choose not to apply for registration.

A taxable person whose turnover is exclusively exempt from VAT may not apply for registration.

Voluntary registration. A person may register for VAT voluntarily if its taxable turnover is below the VAT registration threshold. A person may also register for VAT voluntarily in advance of making taxable supplies.

Group registration. Not applicable.

Reverse charge. If a nonresident person supplies services to a VAT-registered person that are performed or used in Mauritius, the VAT-registered person must account for the VAT due under “reverse-charge” accounting; that is, the registered person must charge itself VAT. The self-assessed VAT may be deducted as input tax depending on the taxable person’s partial exemption status (see Section F). This measure does not apply to supplies that are exempt from VAT under the Mauritian VAT law.

Registration procedures. An application form for registration should be submitted to the MRA. The form is submitted in hard copy and registration may be completed within a week.

Late-registration penalties and interest. A penalty applies to late registration. The penalty is 5% of the unpaid tax plus interest at a rate of 1% of the unpaid tax per month.

Non-established businesses. Not applicable.

Tax representatives. Not applicable.

Digital economy. Currently, there are no specific rules relating to the taxation of the digital economy.

Deregistration. A taxable person that ceases to be eligible for VAT registration must deregister. The person must write to the Director-General, MRA, who determines the effective date of deregistration.

D. VAT rates

In Mauritius, the term “taxable supplies” refers to supplies of goods and services that are liable to a rate of VAT, including the zero rate.

The VAT rates are:

- Standard rate of 15%
- Zero rate (0%)

The standard rate of VAT applies to all supplies of goods or services, unless a specific measure provides for a zero rate or an exemption.

Examples of goods and services taxable at 0%

- Printed books and booklets
- Sugar
- Fertilizers
- Margarine
- Rice
- Yogurt
- Edible oils
- Transport of passengers and goods by sea or air
- Electricity and water
- Export of goods and services

The term “exempt supplies” refers to supplies of goods and services that are not liable to tax and that do not give rise to a right of input tax deduction.

Examples of exempt supplies of goods and services

- Bread
- Baby food
- Entrance to cinemas, concerts and shows
- Films, including royalties
- Education and training
- Certain financial services
- Insurance
- Public transport
- Land
- Medical services

Option to tax for exempt supplies. Not applicable.

E. Time of supply

The time when VAT becomes due is called the “time of supply” or “tax point.” The tax point under the Mauritian law is the earlier of the receipt of payment or the issuance of an invoice or VAT invoice.

For hire-purchase agreements, the tax point arises when the agreement is made.

Deposits and prepayments. The receipt of a deposit or prepayment normally creates an actual tax point if the amount is paid in the expectation that it will form part of the total payment for a particular supply. A tax point is created only to the extent of the payment received.

Imported goods. The time of supply for imported goods is the time when the goods are removed from customs.

Goods sent on approval or for sale or return. The tax point for goods sent on approval or for sale or return is the earlier of the issuance of an invoice or VAT invoice or when payment is received.

Continuous supplies of services. If services are supplied continuously, a tax point is created each time a payment is made or an invoice or VAT invoice is issued, whichever occurs earlier.

Reverse-charge services. The tax point for reverse-charge services is when the consideration for the services is paid. If the consideration for the services is not in money, the tax point is the last day of the VAT period during which the services are performed.

F. Recovery of VAT by taxable persons

A taxable person may recover input tax, which is VAT charged on goods and services supplied to it for business purposes. A taxable person generally recovers input tax by deducting it from output tax, which is VAT charged on supplies made.

A valid VAT invoice or customs import declaration must generally support a claim for input tax.

Input tax on expenditure incurred before registration is not generally allowable.

Nondeductible input tax. Input tax may not be recovered on purchases of goods and services that are not used for business purposes (for example, goods acquired for private use by an entrepreneur). In addition, input tax may not be recovered for some items of business expenditure.

Examples of items for which input tax is nondeductible

- Purchase of a car
- Accommodation
- Assets transferred as part of a going concern
- Business entertainment and hospitality

Examples of items for which input tax is deductible (if related to a taxable business use)

- Conferences, exhibitions and seminars
- Staff welfare
- Certain goods' vehicles

Partial exemption. Input tax directly related to making exempt supplies is not recoverable. If a taxable person makes both exempt and taxable supplies, it may not recover input tax in full. This situation is referred to as "partial exemption."

A taxable person that makes exempt supplies may calculate the recoverable amount of VAT by using several methods. The standard partial exemption calculation method is a two-stage calculation. The following are the two stages for this calculation:

- The first stage identifies the input VAT that may be directly allocated to taxable and exempt supplies. Input tax directly allocated to taxable supplies is deductible, while input tax directly related to exempt supplies is not deductible.
- The second stage identifies the amount of the remaining input tax (for example, input tax on general business overhead) that may be allocated to taxable supplies and recovered. The calculation of recoverable VAT may be performed using the proportion of the value of taxable supplies to total turnover in the preceding year. An adjustment is made after the year so that the proportion is based on actual figures.

If the standard calculation provides an unfair result, the taxable person may agree on a special calculation method with the MRA.

Capital goods scheme. Not applicable.

VAT refunds. If the amount of input tax (VAT on purchases) recoverable in a period is greater than the amount of output tax due (VAT on sales), the excess may be refunded in certain circumstances.

A registered person may make a claim for repayment of the amount of input tax allowable with respect to capital goods amounting to MUR100,000 or more if it has excess input VAT in the relevant tax period. The MRA may refund all or part of the claim.

In addition to any amount repayable relating to capital goods, a registered person may also make a claim to the MRA for a repayment of that part of the excess amount that corresponds to the proportion of the total value of zero-rated supplies made compared to the total value of taxable supplies made in that tax period.

VAT refund scheme for selected industries. The VAT refund scheme introduced in 2011 will not have any time limit further to the amendment made by the Finance (Miscellaneous Provisions) Act 203. Relevant equipment includes the following:

- Bakers
- Planters or horticulturists
- Livestock breeders
- Apiculturists
- Fishermen

Preregistration costs. Input tax on trading stocks and capital goods acquired within three months immediately preceding the date of registration can be recovered provided that the VAT is substantiated by receipts or invoices or customs import declaration. The input tax should be certified by a qualified auditor.

G. Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses

Mauritius does not refund VAT to businesses that are not established in Mauritius.

H. Invoicing

VAT invoices and credit notes. Taxable persons must provide VAT invoices for all taxable supplies made to other registered persons in Mauritius.

A VAT invoice is necessary to support a claim for input tax deduction or a refund.

A VAT credit note may be used to reduce the VAT charged and reclaimed on a supply. The credit note must reflect a genuine mistake, an overcharge or an agreed reduction in the value of the original supply.

Foreign-currency invoices. If an invoice or a VAT invoice is issued in a foreign currency, the VAT due must be converted into Mauritian rupee using the prevailing exchange rate at the time of the issuance of the invoice.

Proof of exports. In connection with the export of goods, documentary evidence regarding customs control should be kept.

I. VAT returns and payment

VAT returns. VAT returns are submitted either quarterly or monthly. The quarterly return periods end in March, June, September and December. Returns must be submitted within 20 days after the tax period. VAT payments must also be made within 20 days after the tax period. The time limit of 20 days does not apply to a person that is required to submit its VAT return electronically. In such a case, the time limit is the end of the month following the taxable period. If the statutory date is the end of December, the due date for the submission of the return and payment of tax is two days, excluding Saturdays and public holidays, before the end of December.

Special schemes. Not applicable.

Electronic filing and archiving. Where the VAT return is submitted electronically, the submission date and payment of the tax is a month within the taxable period. The records may be kept electronically.

Annual returns. Not applicable.

J. Penalties

A penalty applies for the late submission of a VAT return. It equals MUR2,000 per month, up to a maximum of MUR20,000.

For late payment of VAT, the penalty is 5% of the unpaid tax and interest is computed at a rate of 1% per month. The Director-General, MRA may waive the penalty and interest if the Director-General is satisfied that the error was attributable to a just or reasonable cause.

Mexico

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Mexico City

GMT -6

Ernst & Young Mancera

Antara Polanco
Av. Ejercito Nacional 843 A
5th Floor
Col. Granada
11520 Mexico City
Mexico

Indirect tax contacts

Jorge Garcia	+52 (55) 5283-8649 jorge.garcia@mx.ey.com
Monica Montes de Oca	+52 (55) 5283-8625 monica.montesdeoca@mx.ey.com
Liliana Salomon	+52 (55) 5283-1300 liliana.salomon@mx.ey.com

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Value-added tax (VAT)
Local name	Impuesto al valor agregado (IVA)
Date introduced	1 January 1980
Trading bloc membership	None
Administered by	Ministry of Finance and Public Credit (http://www.sat.gob.mx) (http://www.shcp.gob.mx)
VAT rates
Standard	16%
Other	Zero-rated and exempt
VAT number format	Not applicable
VAT return periods	Monthly
Thresholds
Registration	None
Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses	No

B. Scope of the tax

VAT applies to the following transactions:

- Supplies of goods made or services provided in Mexico by a taxable person
- Supplies of goods and services subject to the reverse charge (see Section C)
- Grants of temporary use or exploitation of goods
- Importations of goods from outside Mexico, regardless of the status of the importer

C. Who is liable

A taxable person is any business entity or individual that makes taxable supplies or grants temporary use of goods or provides services in the course of doing business in Mexico. A business entity or individual is liable to register for VAT, effective from its first taxable transaction.

Group registration. VAT grouping is not allowed under the Mexican VAT law. Legal entities that are closely connected must register for VAT individually.

Non-established businesses. Not applicable.

Non-established businesses (foreign businesses). A foreign legal entity with an establishment in Mexico must submit an application for VAT registration, together with its corporate documents, to the Ministry of Finance and Public Credit. The registration must be submitted together with the request for tax identification.

A non-established business that has no permanent establishment in Mexico must appoint a tax representative to register for VAT.

Reverse charge. The “reverse charge” applies to certain supplies of goods and services. Under this provision, a taxable person that receives a supply must withhold the VAT due from the supplier and must pay the VAT. The reverse charge applies to a variety of transactions, including the following:

- Fees paid by companies to individuals
- Acquisitions of scrap material
- Ground transportation of goods
- Commissions paid by companies to individuals
- The lease or acquisition of tangible goods from residents abroad

Registration procedures. The taxpayer has to request a tax identification (federal taxpayers registry) to the tax authorities (SAT) using the “RX” form. Submit this form at the SAT website (www.sat.gob.mx). In addition, the taxpayer has to deliver copies of the following information to the SAT office:

- Bylaws of the entity
- Proof of the tax addresses (copy of telephone bill, etc.)
- Copy of the power of attorney granted to the legal representative
- Copy of the identification card of the legal representative; among others

The tax authorities receive the application on the website, and the taxpayer has 10 days to deliver the information requested to the corresponding office of the tax authorities.

Late-registration penalties. Penalties and interest are assessed for several types of VAT errors, including late registration for VAT (see Section I).

Tax representatives. Not applicable.

Digital economy. There are no specific rules relating to the taxation of the digital economy.

Deregistration. The taxpayer should cancel the tax identification (provided by the tax authorities).

D. VAT rates

The term “taxable supplies” refers to supplies of goods and services that are liable to VAT, including supplies at the zero rate.

The two VAT rates are:

- Standard rate: 16%
- Zero rate (0%)

The standard rate of 16% applies to all supplies of goods or services, unless a specific measure provides for a reduced rate, the zero rate or an exemption. Effective 1 January 2015, all temporary importations made by companies who operate under the IMMEX program are subject to VAT at the standard rate. Previously, import VAT was not applied.

Examples of goods and services taxable at 0%

- Exported goods
- Certain exported services
- Unprocessed food and milk
- Patented medicines

The term “exempt supplies” refers to supplies of goods and services that are not liable to tax. Exempt supplies do not give rise to a right of input tax deduction (see Section F).

Examples of exempt supplies of goods and services

- Books, newspapers and magazines
- Land and buildings used for residential purposes
- Transfers of copyrights by authors
- Education
- Public transport of passengers by land
- Transport of goods by sea for nonresidents
- Local and foreign currency and credit instruments (including shares)

Option to tax for exempt supplies. Not applicable.

E. Time of supply

The time when VAT becomes due is called the “time of supply” or “tax point.” The basic tax point for supplies of goods and services is when the customer pays the consideration. As a result, VAT is determined on a cash-flow basis.

Imported goods. The time of supply for imported goods is when the goods clear all customs procedures.

F. Recovery of VAT by taxable persons

A taxable person may recover input tax (also known as credit VAT), which is VAT charged on goods and services supplied to it for business purposes. A taxable person generally recovers input tax by deducting it from output tax (also known as debit VAT), which is VAT charged to customers. Input tax includes VAT charged on goods and services supplied in Mexico, VAT paid on imports of goods and VAT withheld on reverse-charge goods and services.

To be deductible, input tax must relate to the acquisition of goods and services that qualify as deductible expenses for income tax purposes. If an item of expenditure is only partly deductible for income tax purposes, input VAT may be credited only with respect to the deductible portion of the expense.

A valid tax invoice or customs document must generally support a claim for input tax.

Examples of items for which input tax is nondeductible

- Business gifts
- Entertainment of employees

Examples of items for which input tax is deductible
(if fully related to a taxable business use)

- Business entertainment
- Accommodation
- Purchase of a vehicle, up to MXN130,000
- Lodging, up to MXN3,850 per day
- Meals, disbursed in Mexico, up to MXN750 per day, and disbursed in foreign countries, up to MXN1,500 per day
- Lease of a vehicle, up to MXN850 per day
- Mobile phones
- Travel expenses
- Taxis

Partial exemption. Input tax directly related to making exempt or non-taxable supplies is generally not recoverable. If a taxable person makes exempt or non-taxable supplies, as well as taxable supplies, it may not recover input tax in full.

A taxable person that makes taxable supplies, as well as exempt or non-taxable supplies, must calculate its input tax credit based on a “credit factor.” The credit factor is determined based on the percentage of taxable turnover compared with total turnover (including taxable and exempt or non-taxable supplies) in the month of the payment.

Refunds. If the amount of input VAT (credit VAT) recoverable in a month exceeds the amount of output VAT (debit VAT) payable, the excess credit may be carried forward to offset output tax in the following tax periods, or it may be refunded on request. The tax authorities refund a VAT credit by depositing the refundable amount into the taxable person’s bank account. By law, refunds must be made within 40 business days after the date on which the refund request is filed.

Preregistration costs. Not applicable.

G. Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses

Mexico does not refund VAT incurred by businesses that are neither established in Mexico nor registered for VAT there. If a foreign business has an establishment in Mexico for VAT purposes and makes taxable supplies there, it may request a refund of any VAT credit balances through the general refund procedure for taxable persons (see Section F).

H. Invoicing

VAT invoices and credit notes. A taxable person must generally provide a VAT invoice for all taxable supplies made, including exports. Since 2013, digital invoices have been required. Taxable individuals with incomes equal or lower than MXN500,000 may issue tax receipts (printed) or electronic bills until March 31, 2014.

A valid VAT invoice is required to support a claim for input tax deduction.

A VAT credit note may be used to reduce VAT charged and reclaimed on a supply of goods and services. A credit note must contain the same information and fulfill the same requirements as a VAT invoice.

Exports. Mexican VAT is not chargeable on supplies of exported goods. However, to qualify as VAT-free, exports must be supported by evidence that proves the goods have left Mexico. Suitable proof includes the customs export documentation for the transaction.

Foreign-currency invoices. If a VAT invoice is issued in foreign currency, the values for VAT purposes must be converted to Mexican pesos (MXN), using the exchange rate published on the date of the transaction by the Central Bank of Mexico in the Federal Official Gazette.

I. VAT returns and payment

VAT returns. VAT returns must be submitted for monthly periods. VAT returns and payment in full are due by the 17th day of the month following the end of the return period. In most cases, taxable persons must file VAT returns electronically.

Liabilities shown on returns must be paid in Mexican pesos.

Special schemes. Not applicable.

Electronic filing and archiving. The procedure for submitting a VAT return is an electronic process. The usual documentation necessary for filing with the tax authorities is a formal letter explaining the taxpayer's motives for the return, along with the F3241 form (including appendix 7 and 7-A, according to the type of VAT return), the corresponding paper work that shows the summary of the VAT transactions, the corresponding bank account of the person or entity (that does not exceed two months from the moment the return is requested) among others.

Annual returns. The VAT return should be submitted no later than March 31 of the following year, however, for taxpayers who submit the informative tax return (DIOT) every month, the option exists for them to be exempted from submitting the VAT information in the annual tax return.

J. Penalties

Penalties are assessed for errors and omissions connected with VAT accounting. Under the Mexican Federal Tax Code, the following are considered tax offenses:

- Failure to comply with the obligations set out in tax provisions, including late compliance with those obligations
- Underpayment and non-payment of taxes
- Overestimated refunds, credits or offsets
- Issuance of invoices that do not comply with tax requirements
- Mathematical errors in filed returns
- Failure to keep accounting books

Any amount of tax that is not paid by the due date must be adjusted for inflation. A monthly surcharge is also applied to the amount of tax owed at a rate of 1.13% per month. If the taxable person corrects the error voluntarily or if the late payment is due to factors beyond the taxable person's control, no fines are imposed. However, the surcharge and inflation restatement apply.

Interest is assessed on late payments of tax at a monthly rate of 1.13%.

The Federal Tax Code also lists tax crimes, which are criminal offenses. Tax crimes include the following offenses:

- Contraband
- Tax fraud
- Hiding, altering or destroying (in whole or in part) accounting books and records

Criminal offenses are punishable by fines, which may be a percentage of the tax lost or a specified amount. Tax crimes may also be penalized with a term of imprisonment of between three months and nine years, or longer, depending on the circumstances.

K. Tax reform in 2014

The tax reform gazette on 23 December 2013 resulted in significant changes to the VAT in Mexico.

Border zone VAT rate. The border zone VAT rate of 11% was eliminated, thus standardizing the application of the general VAT rate of 16% for all of Mexico.

0% rate. The application of the 0% VAT rate was eliminated for the following activities: export of hotel services and related services by hotel companies to foreign travelers who enter Mexico exclusively to attend conferences, conventions, exhibitions or fairs in Mexico; the sale of chewing gum; and the sale of dogs, cats and other small animals acquired as domestic pets, as well as the food for these animals.

Incorporation regime. The tax reform conferred new benefits on individuals with low incomes and reduced administrative capacity for up to six years. These individuals now file their VAT returns every two months, and if they have filed information on their transactions with their suppliers during the immediately preceding bimonthly period, in conformity with the income tax law, they do not have to file VAT information returns.

Returns. For sold goods that are returned to the taxpayer, for discounts or rebates granted by the taxpayer, and for reimbursements of deposits or advance payments received by the taxpayer, the reimbursement of the corresponding VAT must be documented to show, expressly and separately, both the base amount and the respective VAT that were reimbursed, as well as other information contained in the original receipt.

Sale of goods in bonded warehouses. The tax reform eliminated the VAT exemption on sales of all goods imported under the strategic in-bond warehouse customs regime, except for domestic merchandise or merchandise imported permanently, as long as such merchandise has not been previously considered an export for inclusion in the aforementioned customs regimes.

Lost inventory. The tax reform specified that a taxpayer's lost inventory is considered sold and, consequently, generates VAT at the time either the taxpayer or the tax authorities become aware of the lost inventory, whichever occurs first. In the case of donations on which VAT is payable, this VAT is payable when the donated good is delivered to the donee or when the document supporting the transfer of ownership of the goods is provided by the donor, whichever occurs first.

Interest exemption. Interest received or paid by cooperative savings and loan associations, as well as popular financial companies, community financial companies and rural financial integration agencies, is included in the VAT-exempt items set forth in Article 15, Section X, of the VAT law.

Moldova

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Chisinau

GMT +2

EY

Str. Alexandru cel Bun 51
MD2012 Chisinau
Moldova

Indirect tax contact

Alexander Milcev (resident in Bucharest, Romania)	+40 (21) 402-4000 alexander.milcev@ro.ey.com
Alexandru Sipitca	+373 (22) 214-040 alexandru.sipitca@md.ey.com

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Value-added tax (VAT)
Local name	Taxa pe valoarea adaugata (TVA)
Date introduced	1 July 1998
Trading bloc membership	None
Administered by	Principal State Fiscal Inspectorate (www.fisc.md)
VAT rates
Standard	20%
Reduced	8%
Other	Zero-rated and exempt
VAT number format	1234567
VAT return period	Monthly
Thresholds
Mandatory registration	MDL600,000
Voluntary registration	MDL100,000
Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses	No

B. Scope of the tax

VAT applies to the following transactions:

- The supply of goods or services made in Moldova by a taxable person in the course of a business
- Importation of services received in Moldova by a taxable person (using the “reverse-charge” mechanism)
- Importation of goods

C. Who is liable

A taxable person is any person or legal entity that is registered for VAT in Moldova. An entity that has a fixed place of business or carries out commercial or professional operations on a regular basis in Moldova must register for VAT.

The mandatory VAT registration threshold is turnover or imported services of MDL600,000 in a period of 12 consecutive months.

The voluntary VAT registration threshold is turnover of MDL100,000 in a period of 12 consecutive months.

Group registration. VAT grouping is not permitted under Moldovan VAT law. Legal entities that are closely connected must register for VAT individually.

Non-established businesses. Foreign traders are not allowed to have a VAT registration number. If a foreign entity develops entrepreneurial activity in Moldova that results in a permanent establishment (PE), it must register for VAT locally. It is then treated in the same way as a resident entity.

Reverse charge. The reverse charge is a form of self-assessment for VAT, under which the recipient of a supply of goods or services accounts for the tax.

Services rendered by nonresidents to entities that carry on business in Moldova are regarded as imported if they are considered to be delivered in Moldova.

The recipient of the service is required to account for the VAT due in Moldova. The tax is due on the date of payment for the services. VAT paid for imported services is allowed for input tax recovery (see Section F).

The information relating to VAT on imported services is declared to the tax authorities in a separate box of the VAT return.

Registration procedures. In order to register as a VAT payer, the local entity should file a VAT registration application form before the last day of the month during which the VAT registration conditions are met. The application form shall be filed in a hard copy format only (i.e., no online registration is possible) together with a list of supporting documents required by the local tax authorities. A tax audit should be performed for VAT registration purposes, where additional documentation and information can be asked by the tax authorities.

The taxpayer is considered to be VAT registered starting the first day of the month following the month during which it filed the application form and with condition that the VAT registration requirements are met. Although the local legislation does not provide for a specific deadline during which the tax authorities should finalize the tax audit and confirm the VAT registration, in practice this process can take up to 30 days after filing of the registration application form.

Late-registration penalties. If the VAT on an imported service is not paid at the correct time, a penalty is imposed, effective from the date on which the VAT became due (that is, effective from the date of the payment for services).

Tax representatives. Not applicable.

Digital economy. Moldovan tax legislation does not provide for special VAT rules on taxation of the digital economy.

Deregistration. Deregistration as a VAT payer is subject to a tax audit to be performed by the tax authority. The date of deregistration is considered the date of issuance of the tax audit report based on which the tax authority decided to perform the respective deregistration.

In case of suspension of the VAT taxable supplies, the VAT payer is obliged to inform the tax authority. Deregistration is performed according to the procedure provided by the state fiscal inspectorate.

Additionally, the tax authority has the right to deregister the VAT taxpayer in case:

- Total value of VAT taxable supplies does not exceed the threshold of MDL100,000 recorded in any period of 12 consecutive months
- VAT taxpayer has failed to file the VAT tax return for a certain amount of tax periods (arguable for at least 12 months)
- VAT taxpayer has presented untruthful information with regard to its headquarter registration address

D. VAT rates

The term “taxable supplies” refers to supplies of goods and services that are subject to VAT. Some supplies are classified as zero-rated, which means that no VAT is chargeable, but the supplier may recover related input tax. In general, zero-rated supplies include exports of goods and related services as well as other supplies.

The VAT rates are:

- Standard rate: 20%
- Reduced rate: 8%
- Zero rate (0%)

The standard rate of VAT applies to all supplies of goods or services, unless a specific measure provides a reduced rate or an exemption.

Examples of goods and services taxable at 8%

- Bakery products
- Dairy products
- Drugs
- Natural and liquefied gas produced and imported in Moldova
- Phytotechnics and horticulture products in natural form, zootechnical products in natural form, live and slaughtered produced and/or delivered within the territory of Moldova
- Beet sugar produced, imported and/or delivered within the territory of Moldova

Examples of goods and services taxable at 0%

- Exports of goods and services
- International transport of persons and freight
- Electric and thermal power
- Supplies of water to the public

The term “exempt supplies” refers to supplies of goods and services that are not subject to VAT. Exempt supplies do not give rise to a right of input tax deduction (see Section F).

Examples of exempt supplies of goods and services

- Dwellings
- Land
- Cars
- Long-term tangible assets contributed into share capital under the special rules approved by the government
- Tractors and other agricultural machineries

- Food for children
- Financial services
- Educational services
- Insurance
- Betting and gaming
- Books and periodicals

Option to tax for exempt supplies. Not applicable.

E. Time of supply

The time when VAT becomes due is called the “time of supply” or “tax point.” In general, a VAT payer becomes liable to account for VAT at the time of the earliest of the following events:

- The receipt of partial or total payment from the customer
- The performance of the supply
- The issuance of the VAT invoice

VAT payers must make payments for every tax period. The standard tax period is a calendar month.

Reverse charge. Tax is payable on reverse-charge services on the date of payment for the services.

Imported goods. The time of supply for imported goods is either the date of importation or the date on which the goods leave a duty suspension regime.

F. Recovery of VAT by taxable persons

A taxable person may recover input tax, which is VAT charged on goods and services supplied to it for business purposes. A taxable person generally recovers input tax by deducting it from output tax, which is VAT charged on supplies made.

Input tax includes VAT charged on goods and services supplied in Moldova, VAT paid on imports of goods and VAT self-assessed on reverse-charge services.

A valid tax invoice or customs document must generally accompany a claim for input tax. The right of deduction may be exercised in the tax period in which the purchase documents are entered into the recipient’s books of account.

Nondeductible input tax. Input tax may not be recovered on purchases of goods and services that are not used for business purposes (for example, goods acquired for private use by an entrepreneur). In addition, input tax may not be recovered for some items of business expenditure.

The following lists provide some examples of items of expenditure for which input tax is not deductible and examples of items for which input tax is deductible if the expenditure is related to a taxable business use.

Examples of items for which input tax is nondeductible

- Private expenditure
- Cost of goods that are lost, stolen or destroyed
- Expenditure that is not allowable for income and corporate tax purposes
- Business gifts
- Bad debts (a purchaser acquired goods and services but never paid the supplier)

- Goods and services purchased based on fiscal invoices that are not registered in the state general electronic fiscal invoices register (if the supplier has the obligation to register the fiscal invoices, and the buyer does not include the information on the respective invoices in the appendix to the VAT return)

Examples of items for which input tax is deductible
(if related to a taxable business use)

- Hire, lease, maintenance and fuel for cars
- Purchase, hire, lease, maintenance and fuel for vans and trucks
- Parking
- Books
- Attendance at conferences, seminars and training courses
- Mobile phones
- Advertising
- Transport
- Hotel accommodation

Partial exemption. Input tax deduction is not granted for exempt supplies. If a taxable person makes both taxable and exempt supplies, it may recover only input tax related to supplies that are taxable. Zero-rated supplies are treated as taxable supplies for these purposes. Taxpayers who make taxable and exempt supplies may deduct VAT paid on purchases if they satisfy the following conditions:

- The taxpayer maintains separate records of payments made for goods and services used for both VAT-taxable and exempt supplies.
- The recoverable amount of VAT is determined on a monthly basis by the application of the pro-rata method to the amount of VAT related both to VAT-taxable supplies and to VAT-exempt supplies.

Refunds. If the amount of input tax recoverable in a monthly period exceeds the amount of output tax payable in that period, the taxable person may request a refund of VAT if the excess VAT results from any of the following:

- Zero-rated taxable supplies
- Supplies made by companies that produce and sell bread and dairy products
- Capital investments by business entities registered as VAT payers except for investments made in buildings and in certain types of means of transport
- Capital investments in motor vehicles for passenger transportation
- Overpaid tax

The following special procedure applies if a taxpayer requests a VAT refund:

- The taxable person must submit a request to the tax authorities.
- Before the repayment is made, the tax authorities perform a special tax audit to ensure that the amount claimed is accurate.

In practice, it may be difficult to receive a refund in these circumstances and substantial delays may be experienced.

Preregistration costs. Generally the input VAT related to pre-registration costs (purchases) is not allowed for recoverability, except if this VAT is related to fixed assets bought for some specific needs of agricultural companies.

G. Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses

Moldova does not refund VAT incurred by businesses that are neither established nor registered for VAT there.

H. Invoicing

Fiscal invoices and credit notes. In general, a taxable person must provide a fiscal invoice for all taxable supplies except in several circumstances provided for by the Moldovan law. A fiscal invoice is necessary to support a claim for an input VAT deduction. No laws exist with respect to credit notes.

Proof of exports. VAT is not chargeable on supplies of exported goods. However, to qualify as VAT-free, export supplies must be supported by evidence confirming that the goods have left Moldova. The law provides for a specific list of supporting documents proving the exportation, which vary according to the type of exported goods or services.

Foreign-currency invoices. A fiscal invoice must be issued in leu (MDL), which is the currency of Moldova.

Invoice register. A state general electronic fiscal invoice register (the register) has been introduced in Moldova. VAT taxpayers must register all fiscal invoices with a total value of VAT taxable supply in excess of MDL100,000 within 10 working days after the issuance date.

Failure to register fiscal invoices correctly and on time in the register may result in significant penalties imposed by the tax authorities.

I. VAT returns and payment

VAT returns. VAT return periods are generally monthly.

Returns must be filed by the day 25th of the month following the end of the return period. Payment in full must be made by the same date. However, VAT with respect to reverse-charge services must be paid to the tax authorities when the recipient pays for the services.

Return liabilities must be paid in leu.

Special schemes. Not applicable.

Electronic filing and archiving. VAT payers are obliged to file the VAT returns by using a specific online electronic program provided by the local tax authority. For archiving purposes, VAT returns as well as other related registers and supporting documentation, should be printed and kept in hard copy by the VAT payers.

Annual returns. Not applicable.

J. Penalties

Penalties are levied for several VAT offenses, including failure to register for VAT, failure to apply the reverse charge, late submission of a VAT return and late payment of VAT.

Mongolia

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Ulaanbaatar

GMT +8

Ernst & Young TMZ LLC
Certified Public Tax Accountants
Suite 200,
Naiman Zovkhis Building
Seoul Street 21
Ulaanbaatar
Mongolia

Contacts

David Allgaier (resident in China)	+86 21 22283136 david.allgaier@cn.ey.com
Khishignemekh Regzedmaa	+976 11 314032 khishignemekh.regzedmaa@mn.ey.com
Uyanga Mandal	+976 11 314032 uyanga.mandal@mn.ey.com

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Value-added tax (VAT)
Local name	VAT
Date introduced	1 July 1998
Trading bloc membership	None
Administered by	Ministry of Finance of Mongolia (http://mof.gov.mn/) Mongolian Tax Authority (http://www.mta.mn)
VAT rates
Standard	10%
Other	Zero-rated and exempt
VAT number format	Tax identification number (TIN) with 7 digits
VAT return periods	Monthly
Thresholds
Registration
Mandatory	MNT10 million (annual taxable turnover)
Voluntary	MNT8 million
Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses	No

B. Scope of the tax

VAT is imposed on goods imported and exported by Mongolian citizens and legal entities, as well as goods sold or manufactured, works performed and services rendered in the territory of Mongolia.

VAT applies to the following transactions:

- Goods sold in Mongolia
- Services provided and works performed in Mongolia

- Goods exported from Mongolia for use or consumption outside of Mongolia
- Goods imported into Mongolia for domestic sale, use or consumption

The provision of services includes the following:

- Providing electricity, heat, gas, water, sewers, postal services, communication and other utilities
- Leasing, possessing, or using goods
- Renting immovable and movable property other than buildings and houses or allow to possess or use them in other forms
- Selling, transferring, or leasing patents, copyrights, trademarks, software, know-how and other information on assets
- Performing work and services provided for repayment of debts owed to other entities
- Performing work and services by any entity that does not reside in the territory of Mongolia based on orders by placed citizens or legal entities of this country

C. Who is liable

In general, a taxpayer is any citizen or legal entity (including a foreign legal entity) that is engaged in the import and export of goods, as well as the sale and manufacturing of any goods, performance of work and rendering of services in the territory of Mongolia. Any citizen permanently or temporarily employed under a labor contract is deemed not to be VAT taxpayer.

Tax registration. The MTA will charge around MNT10,000 for a VAT payer license and to set up a VAT slip. The following VAT registration thresholds apply in Mongolia:

- Taxpayers must be registered for VAT when taxable turnover exceeds MNT10 million in a given financial year.
- Taxpayers can voluntarily register for VAT when annual taxable turnover reaches MNT8 million.
- Taxpayers can voluntarily register for VAT if they have invested more than USD2 million (approximately MNT1.97 billion) in Mongolia (noting that such investment must be made in fixed assets located in Mongolia).

Exemption from VAT payment obligations. If a taxpayer has not reached the registration threshold of MNT10 million within a given financial year, the taxpayer is exempted from VAT.

Group registration. Group VAT registration is allowed if 66% or more of the assets or voting rights of two or more legal entities are owned by one or several legal entities. These group entities may be registered as a single group VAT taxpayer; however, each legal entity included in this single group shall be a VAT taxpayer. This implies that legal entities of a group can consolidate monthly VAT returns.

Non-established businesses (foreign legal entities). A “non-established business” is a business that does not have a fixed establishment in Mongolia.

Foreign legal entities or individuals that perform work or render services in the territory of Mongolia for an amount that exceeds MNT10 million will be subject to VAT. As such, the recipient of the services or goods must act as a tax agent and withhold the VAT under the Mongolian ‘reverse-charge’ VAT system. A foreign legal entity is not entitled to recover any input tax (VAT on purchase) unless they have permanent establishment that is registered for Mongolian VAT purposes.

Late-registration penalties. In accordance with the VAT law of Mongolia, if an individual or legal entity that has exceeded the threshold for registration has not registered with the respective tax authority, then a competent state inspector shall assess the VAT due and impose the following penalties:

- A daily fine in the amount of 0.3% of the VAT due
- A penalty ranging up to 50% of the VAT due

Reverse charge. Reverse-charge VAT is applied to payments for works and services supplied by foreign legal entities to Mongolian legal entities or individual entrepreneurs. Under the reverse charge mechanism, the liability to impose, pay and report VAT rests with the recipient of the supply that acts as a tax agent. The reverse charge applies when the following two circumstances both apply:

- The foreign legal entity is not registered as a taxpayer in Mongolia.
- The place of supply for the goods (works and services) is in Mongolia.

Tax representative. Not applicable.

Digital economy. Not applicable.

Deregistration. An individual or legal person registered as VAT payers shall be excluded from the taxpayers' registry and their certificate shall be cancelled if it has been proven by financial statements for a business entity or organization or by income and tax sheet for an individual that their taxable income amount for the subsequent year after being registered as VAT payer is less than MNT10 million and if taxable income amount for later years will not reach MNT10 million.

D. VAT rates

The term "sale" refers to a transfer of the ownership of goods to another person in exchange for a payment and the performance of services for a payment. The term "goods" includes all types of property other than money capital, and the terms "services" includes any activity.

In Mongolia, the following are the VAT rates:

- Standard rate: 10%
- Zero rate (0%)
- Other: VAT exemptions

The standard rate of VAT applies to all supplies of goods (works and services) unless a specific measure provides for the zero rate or an exemption.

Examples of goods and services taxable at 0%

- Goods exported from the territory of Mongolia for the purpose of sale and declared with the customs organization
- Passenger and cargo transportation services rendered from the territory of Mongolia to foreign countries, from foreign countries to the territory of Mongolia, as well as from foreign countries to third countries transiting through the territory of Mongolia

- Services provided in a foreign country (including tax-exempt services)
- Any rendering of services (including “non-taxable services”) to a foreign citizen or a legal person, who was outside the territory of Mongolia at the time the services were rendered
- Any services of air navigation management, technical and fuel services, and cleaning which shall be provided for both foreign and domestic airplanes conducting international flight and sale, food and drink services provided for air crew members or passengers during flight
- State medals and coins manufactured domestically on the order of the Government or the Bank of Mongolia
- Mining finished products that are exported (government approves list of final mining products)

Examples of exempt supplies of goods

- Passengers’ personal-use goods (subject to permitted amounts and approval by customs authority)
- Goods received through humanitarian and grant aid from foreign governments, NGOs and international or humanitarian organizations
- Special purpose appliances, equipment and machinery designed for citizens with a disability
- Civil passenger airplanes and related spare parts
- Revenues from the sale of establishments used for housing or portions thereof
- Equipment, materials, raw materials, spare parts, gasoline and diesel fuel imported for oil-related operations under a product-sharing agreement entered into with the government
- Blood, blood products and organs to be used for purposes of specified treatment
- Gas fuel, gas fuel containers, equipment, special purpose machineries, mechanisms and related mechanics
- Sale of gold
- Sale of newspapers
- Experimental products related to research and scientific work
- Mining products other than mining finished product that was exported
- Cereal, potatoes, vegetables and fruits domestically grown and sold by farmers and domestically produced flour

Examples of exempt supplies of services

- Currency exchange
- Banking services, such as the receipt or transfer of money, or any dealing with money, any security for money or any note or order for the payment of money and the operation of any savings account
- Services of insurance, reinsurance and registration of property
- The issuance, transfer or receipt of any securities and shares, and underwriting of such securities
- The making of an advance or the granting of credit
- The provision or transfer of an interest related to a social and health insurance fund
- Any services in respect of fees for bank or financial interests, dividends, credit guarantees or insurance contracts
- Services related to the renting of accommodation for housing, and in buildings used for housing and other purposes, the services related to the part used for housing

- Educational and professional services (referred to in regulation) of a citizen or legal entity that is conducting, and has a special permission to conduct, educational and professional training
- Medical services
- Services of religious organizations
- Services provided by a government organization; this shall include public services provided by the government, its agencies and budgetary organizations
- Public transportation services
- Tour operating services

Option to tax. Not applicable.

E. Time of supply

The moment when VAT becomes due is called the “time of tax imposition,” called in many countries the time of supply.

For taxpayers, the time of tax imposition is the earliest of the following dates:

- The date when the seller issues an invoice
- The date when the seller receives payment for the sold goods, performed works and rendered services
- The date of the purchase of goods, jobs and services

Deposits and prepayments. Not applicable.

Imported goods. Imported goods are subject to 10% of VAT.

Goods sent on approval or for sale or return. Not applicable.

Continuous supplies of services. Not applicable.

Cash accounting. Please refer to time of tax imposition.

Leased assets. Leased assets are subject to VAT.

F. Recovery of VAT by taxpayers

A taxpayer may recover input tax, which is VAT charged on goods (works and services) supplied for carrying out activities within the scope of VAT. A taxpayer generally recovers input tax by deducting it from output tax, which is VAT charged on supplies made.

Input tax includes VAT charged on goods (works and services) in Mongolia, VAT paid on the import of goods and VAT paid to the Mongolia budget by a buyer acting as a tax agent with respect to the acquisition of goods (works and services) from a foreign legal entity.

Nondeductible input tax. Input tax cannot be recovered on purchases of goods (works and services) and property rights that are not used for making supplies within the scope of VAT (for example, goods purchased for private use by an entrepreneur).

Examples of items for which input tax is nondeductible

- Personal expenses
- VAT paid for the spare parts of auto vehicles
- Reverse-charge VAT paid by service recipients from non-residents

Partial exemption. If a Mongolian taxpayer makes both exempt supplies and taxable supplies, the taxpayer must account for them separately. Input VAT directly related to taxable supplies is recoverable in full, while input VAT directly related to exempt supplies is not recoverable and must be expensed for Mongolian profit tax purposes. Input VAT that may not be directly attributed to taxable or exempt supplies (such as VAT on business overhead costs) must be apportioned. The statutory method of apportionment is a pro-rata calculation, based on the value of taxable supplies made compared with the total turnover of the business.

Capital goods. Not applicable.

Refunds. The VAT refund application must be sent to the appropriate tax authority. The appropriate tax authority will review, confirm the ending balance and submit its proposal to the Mongolian Tax Authority (MTA) within 15 working days. The MTA will review the application and proposal within seven working days and submit its opinion including name of the taxpayer, registration number, bank account, refundable amount within two working days to the Ministry of Finance who will refund the amount within 45 days after the receipt of opinion. However, a refund of VAT shall not exceed 15% of the total VAT revenue to be paid into the state budget in a given month, quarter or year. Thus, a refund may take some time if the amount is sizable.

Interest on refunds. The VAT law requires the tax authorities to pay a refund no later than 45 days following the positive decision regarding the VAT refund claim of a taxpayer. In practice, however, refund payments are often delayed.

If a refund is made with delay, the tax authorities must pay interest, accrued at the rate announced by the Government of Mongolia on 14 February 2014. Starting from 1 January 2015, the daily rate is 0.052%.

Preregistration costs. Input VAT is recoverable only if it was incurred after the taxpayer submits a complete application for registration to the tax authority.

Write-off of bad debts. Not applicable.

Noneconomic activities. If VAT payer has purchased noneconomic related activities or goods, input VAT is not deductible.

G. Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses

VAT recovery is made exclusively by registered persons that make taxable supplies in Mongolia. VAT incurred by a foreign legal entity is not recoverable.

H. Invoicing

VAT invoices and credit notes. In general, a VAT taxpayer must provide a VAT invoice. Invoices must be issued in Mongolian, but bilingual invoices may also be issued in Mongolian and any other language.

A VAT invoice is only issued in paper format.

Proof of exports. Goods exported from Mongolia as well as some types of work and services related to exports are subject to a 0% VAT rate in Mongolia. To confirm the applicability of the 0% rate, the supplier must attach a customs declaration as supporting documentation. For works and services, a written agreement, invoice and bank statement should be attached as supporting documentation.

Foreign-currency invoices. The issuance of a VAT invoice must be in Mongolian currency.

Electronic invoices. Only paper invoices are acceptable.

I. VAT returns and payment

VAT returns. Taxpayers must file VAT returns on a monthly basis. The VAT amount per VAT return must be paid within the 10th day of the following month. VAT payable under the reverse-charge mechanism is accounted in the same VAT return.

Electronic filing and archiving. Taxpayer shall submit a monthly VAT return by the 10th of the following month. There is no requirement to transmit a hard copy of VAT return to the MTA, but the taxpayer shall keep a copy for further reference.

Payments on account. The taxpayer shall pay the amount of VAT due monthly by the 10th of the following month.

Annual return. Not applicable.

Special schemes. Not applicable.

J. Penalties

The Mongolian tax law provides for the following fines with respect to the filing of VAT returns:

- Failure to obtain a VAT registration obligation is subject to certain penalties and fines. Please refer to Section C above for more details.
- Late filing: penalties ranging from MNT384,000–MNT768,000 may apply, depending on the duration of the delay.
- Nonpayment or partial payment of VAT: interest at a rate of 0.3% is imposed on the total sum of VAT that is to be paid in compensation. In addition, a fine of not more than 50% of the total sum of VAT is to be paid in compensation may be imposed.

Morocco

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Casablanca

GMT

EY

37, Boulevard Abdellatif Ben Kaddour
20 050
Casablanca
Morocco

Indirect tax contacts

Abdelmejid Faiz	+212 (522) 957-900 abdelmejid.faiz@ma.ey.com
Loubna Saifeddine	+212 (522) 957-951 loubna.saifeddine@ma.ey.com

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Value-added tax (VAT)
Local name	Taxe sur la Valeur Ajoutée (TVA)
Date introduced	1 January 1986
Trading bloc membership	None
Administered by	Ministry of Finance (www.finances.gov.ma)
VAT rates
Standard	20%
Reduced	7%, 10% and 14%
Other	Exempt
VAT number format	12345678
VAT return periods	Monthly or quarterly
Thresholds
Registration	Nil
Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses	Yes, in some situations

B. Scope of the tax

VAT applies to all transactions involving the supply of goods and services performed in Morocco and to the importation of goods and services, including the one-off supply or importation of goods.

C. Who is liable

A taxable person is a person or legal entity that carries out a taxable transaction. A taxable transaction is a transaction involving the sale or importation of goods or services that is subject to VAT even if such transaction occurs only once. A person liable to VAT in Morocco must register with the local tax service.

Morocco does not provide a VAT registration threshold. A business registers for VAT when it registers for corporate or income tax purposes.

Group registration. The Moroccan VAT law does not allow VAT grouping. Legal entities that are closely connected must register for VAT individually.

Non-established businesses. Nonresident companies that perform a taxable activity in Morocco are liable to Moroccan VAT.

Tax representatives. Under the VAT law, nonresident companies must appoint a tax representative to handle their VAT obligations (VAT returns, filings and payments). If a nonresident company does not appoint a tax representative, the Moroccan customer becomes liable for the declaration and the payment of VAT due on behalf of the nonresident supplier on its own VAT return (autoliquidation).

Registration procedures. When the taxpayers apply for registration, they must provide the following documents:

- “Declaration d’existence” which is a printed form delivered by the tax administration that includes, in addition to the corporate name of the foreign provider, mainly the following information:
 - Information regarding the foreign provider
 - Nationality
 - Corporate business address
 - City
 - Activity
 - Phone number
 - Email
 - Information regarding the foreign provider’s legal representatives (individuals)
 - Last and first name of the legal representative(s)
 - Function of the representative(s)
 - Address
 - City
- Copy of the contract signed by the foreign provider with the Moroccan client
- Representation letter signed by the foreign company which allows the representative to collect, declare and pay VAT on its behalf
- Letter from the tax representative stating that it commits itself to fulfill VAT obligations of the foreign company.

The tax administration usually provides the VAT ID certificate within one week.

The procedure above is applicable to nonresident companies. For resident companies, a unique tax identification (VAT, CIT) is given upon normal registration process of a company in Morocco.

Late-registration penalties. Morocco does not impose a specific penalty for late registration. However, VAT due for the period preceding registration results in late filing and payment penalties (see Section I).

Reverse charge. Pursuant to Article 115 of the Moroccan Tax Code (MTC), nonresident entities performing VAT taxable activities are required to appoint a tax representative in Morocco in order to comply with VAT obligations and pay due VAT to the tax authorities on their behalf. In case the foreign entity does not appoint a tax representative, the mechanism of the VAT reverse charge applies. This mechanism provides that, in case a tax representative is not appointed, the Moroccan client is allowed to report and pay VAT on behalf of its foreign provider using its own VAT ID number. In other terms, VAT registration of the foreign provider is not mandatory for the client to declare and pay VAT to the tax authorities.

Digital economy. Not applicable.

Deregistration. Once the nonresident entity ends its activities in Morocco and has appointed a tax representative, it is required to deregister from VAT.

In practice, the deregistration process consists of sending a “deregistration letter” to the tax authorities in which the nonresident entity requests to be deregistered from VAT.

The tax authorities do not provide a deregistration certificate.

D. VAT rates

The term “taxable supplies” refers to supplies of goods and services that are subject to VAT. The term “exempt supplies” refers to supplies of goods and services that are not subject to VAT. A business engaged in the sale of exempt supplies may have a right to deduct input VAT. If supplies are exempt with a right to deduct, no VAT is chargeable but the supplier may recover related input tax.

The standard rate of VAT is 20%. Under Article 99 of the Moroccan Tax Code, lower rates apply to specific business activities, including the following:

- Supply of water, electricity and pharmaceutical products: 7%
- Petroleum products, banking transactions, and hotels’ and restaurants’ operations: 10%
- Transport services: 14%

Option to tax for exempt supplies. Not applicable.

E. Time of supply

The time when VAT becomes due is called the “time of supply” or “tax point.” In Morocco, the “tax point” generally corresponds to the time when the payment is made.

The Moroccan Tax Code provides that the tax point is the date of cash receipt. After a company receives cash, VAT becomes due, even if the cash received represents only part of the total outstanding amount for the goods or services provided.

The Moroccan Tax Code provides an optional regime under which VAT is due when the transaction is booked in the accounts of the seller or service provider. However, if the payment precedes the invoicing, the time of payment constitutes the tax point. Any company that wants to use the optional system must file a declaration with the tax administration before 1 January. A list of the company’s customers that sets forth the unsettled VAT for each of the customers must be attached to the declaration. Newly registered taxpayers must file the declaration within one month after the commencement of their activity.

Prepayments. A prepayment or deposit constitutes a tax point. As a result, the time of effective delivery of the goods or services is ignored for VAT purposes.

Continuous supplies of services. If services are received continuously but payment is made periodically, a tax point is created each time payment is made (unless option for the debit system is chosen) or a VAT invoice is issued, whichever is earlier. No specific regulation provides for the VAT treatment of continuous services.

Goods sent on approval. The tax point for goods sent on approval is when the customer accepts the goods and a supply is made.

Imported goods. VAT on imported goods is due at the time of customs clearance.

F. Recovery of VAT by taxable persons

Input tax is VAT charged on goods and services acquired by an entity for business purposes. A taxable person generally recovers input tax by deducting it from output tax (VAT charged on supplies made). Input tax consists of VAT charged on goods and services purchased in Morocco and VAT paid on imports of goods.

Until 31 December 2013, Moroccan tax law permitted input VAT paid on purchases of non-fixed assets (non-capital expenses) to be recovered on the VAT return of the month following the one during which the tax was reported as paid. The finance bill for 2014 canceled this time lag rule, and effective 1 January 2014, companies may offset such input VAT against output VAT on the same month's VAT return.

However, in order to limit the significant cash impact of this new provision on the government's budget, the finance bill provided that the deductibility of the input VAT reported as paid by companies in December 2013 with regard to non-fixed assets would be deductible over a five-year period, with one-fifth of the deduction appearing on the first VAT return of each year during the following five years.

Nondeductible input tax. Input tax may not be recovered on purchases of goods and services that are not used for business purposes and that are considered to be nondeductible expenses for corporate tax purposes (for example, goods acquired for private use by an entrepreneur).

Examples of items for which input tax is nondeductible

- Goods and services not related to the business requirements
- Transport cars not used for the business needs
- Petroleum products not used as fuel

Examples of items for which input tax is deductible (if related to a taxable business use)

- Purchases and services related to a business use
- Transport cars having a business use

Partial exemption. Input tax deduction is granted for taxable supplies and for supplies that are exempt with a right to deduct. If a taxable person makes both taxable supplies and exempt supplies, it may recover only the input tax related to supplies that are taxable or exempt with a right to deduct.

Refunds. If the amount of input VAT recoverable in a period exceeds the amount of output VAT payable in the same period, a refund is not generally granted. In most cases, the taxable person must carry the excess forward to a future VAT period. Refunds of the excess are generally only available with respect to the following VAT:

- VAT incurred on supplies of exported goods except for recycling metals (ferrous and nonferrous)
- VAT incurred on supplies of goods and services that are exempt with a right to deduct
- VAT incurred on purchases of equipment goods (fixed assets) during the first 24 months of activity of newly incorporated companies
- VAT incurred on financial leasing activities

Preregistration costs. Not applicable.

G. Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses

Nonresident entities conducting taxable activities in Morocco are not eligible for VAT refunds. Nevertheless, input VAT incurred in Morocco by nonresident entities may be offset against output VAT.

H. Invoicing

VAT invoices and credit notes. A Moroccan taxable person must provide VAT invoices for taxable supplies, including exports, made to other taxable persons. Recipients of supplies must maintain copies of invoices.

Credit notes must be issued with VAT included.

Proof of exports. Moroccan VAT is not chargeable on supplies of exported goods. However, to qualify as VAT-free, export supplies must be supported by evidence confirming that the goods have left Morocco. The evidence required is the customs declaration, which must clearly identify the exporter, the customer, the goods and the export destination, and must provide invoice information.

Foreign-currency invoices. A VAT invoice for a domestic supply is generally issued in Moroccan dirhams (MAD). VAT based on the applicable VAT rate must be shown on the invoice.

I. VAT returns and payment

VAT returns. The filing of VAT returns may be on a monthly or quarterly cycle based on certain criteria.

The following taxpayers must file monthly VAT returns:

- Taxpayers that had taxable turnover during the preceding year of MAD1 million or more
- Nonresident persons that carry out taxable activities in Morocco

The following taxpayers must file quarterly VAT returns:

- Taxpayers that had taxable turnover during the preceding year of less than MAD1 million
- Taxpayers operating through seasonal establishments, practicing periodic activities or carrying out occasional activities
- New taxpayers in their first calendar year of activity

The above taxpayers can opt for the monthly declaration system by filing a request with the tax administration before 31 January.

Taxpayers under the tele-declaration and tele-payment system must file VAT returns and make VAT payments within one month after the end of the relevant month or quarter.

Other taxpayers must file their VAT returns and pay VAT due before the 20th day of the month following the relevant month or quarter.

Tele-declaration and tele-payment are mandatory for taxpayers generating turnover of more than MAD50 million, taxes excluded.

Special schemes. Not applicable.

Electronic filing and archiving. See above (Section I relating to VAT returns)

Annual returns. The VAT returns are either monthly or quarterly.

J. Penalties

Failure to file a VAT declaration results in a penalty of 15% of the amount of VAT due. If no VAT is due, the penalty equals MAD500.

Late payment or underpayment of VAT results in a penalty of 10% of the amount of VAT due plus an interest charge of 5% of the VAT due for the first month for which the payment is late and interest of 0.5% of the VAT due for every month thereafter. If the VAT declaration provides that no tax is due, the amount of any VAT credit is reduced by 15%.

Myanmar

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Please direct all queries regarding Myanmar to EY's Thailand office:

▶ William Chea: +66 (2) 264-0777, ext. 21021; william.chea@th.ey.com

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Commercial Tax (CT)
Date introduced	31 March 1990
Trading bloc membership	Association of Southeast Asian Nations
Administered by	Companies Circle Tax Office
Rates	5% to 100% (goods) 5% (services)
Commercial Tax number format	Changes yearly
Return periods	Quarterly and yearly
Threshold Registration	Annual revenue of MMK15,000,000 for supply of goods and services
Distance selling	Not applicable
Intra-EU acquisitions	Not applicable
Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses	Yes

B. Scope of the tax

Commercial Tax applies to the following transactions:

- Supplies of goods or services by a taxable person that are consumed in Myanmar, with some services exempted
- The importation of goods into Myanmar

C. Who is liable

- Importer of goods
- Any person or entity that has taxable proceeds of sale of goods or receipts from service

CT registration. CT registration must be made one month before the commencement of business.

Registration procedures. Taxpayers are required to register each year as commercial tax operators. To register, an applicant must appear in person at the Companies Circle Tax Office and submit the following documents in hard copy:

- Forms KaThaKha-1 and KaThaKha-3
- Certificate of Incorporation
- Permit to trade (in case of foreign company)
- Two copies of photographs of the company's managing directors

There is no online registration system.

If a Myanmar company earns an income below MMK15 million in an accounting year, it is not required to register as a commercial tax operator.

Late-registration penalties. Penalties are imposed for failure to register for CT. The penalty is 10% of the additional CT payable in the relevant assessment.

Group registration. Not applicable.

Non-established businesses. Non-established businesses must register and pay CT.

Tax representatives. Not applicable.

Reverse charge. Not applicable.

Digital economy. Not applicable.

Deregistration. A business that ceases operations must cancel its CT registration by filing a request for deregistration with the tax authorities within 15 days after the date of ceasing operation.

D. CT rates

CT is levied at a rate of 5% to 100% on goods sold in Myanmar.

CT is levied at a rate of 5% on all services, with some exemptions (see selected examples below).

CT is levied at a rate of 5% on the landed cost of imported goods.

For the importation of goods from a seller located outside of Myanmar, the importer must pay the CT due to the customs authority, which collects the CT on behalf of the Myanmar International Revenue Department (MIRD) at the time of importation.

Exported goods are generally eligible for a zero rate of CT, but a list of items is maintained that are subject to various rates of CT upon export.

Examples of exported items on which CT is levied

- Oil 5%
- Natural gas 8%
- Teak log and conversions 50%
- Hardwood log and conversions 50%
- Raw jade, rubies, sapphires, emeralds, diamonds and other precious stones 30%
- Value-added jade, rubies, sapphires, emeralds, diamonds and other precious stones 10%

The tax authority maintains a list of items that are exempt from CT.

Examples of items that are exempt from CT

- Fertilizers, insecticides and pesticides
- Farm equipment and machine spare parts
- Solar panels
- X-ray film, plates and other medical equipment
- Household medicines and some other pharmaceuticals
- Text books and various papers for the production of such books
- Graphite and pencils
- Military stores and equipment

In addition, the tax authority maintains a list of items produced and sold locally that are exempt from CT, mostly agricultural and animal products but some others.

Examples of locally produced and sold items that are exempt from CT

- Umbrella cloths
- Stamps, all sorts
- Sealing wax and sticks
- Slates, slate pencils and chalk
- Various beads
- Various rulers, erasers, sharpeners
- Alternatives to firewood
- Oil dregs
- Computers and telephone handsets

Option to tax for exempt supplies. Not applicable.

E. Time of supply

- For the supply of goods and services: at the time of issuance of the tax invoice
- For the import of goods: at the time of custom clearance

F. Recovery of VAT by taxable persons

A taxable person may recover input tax (CT) that it paid on most goods that were supplied to it for business purposes, including goods produced and sold, trading goods and imported goods. A taxable person generally recovers input tax by deducting it from output tax, which is CT charged on supplies made.

Input tax includes CT charged on goods supplied in Myanmar and CT paid on imports of goods into Myanmar.

Nondeductible input tax. Input tax may not be recovered on services, and there are some goods for which input CT may not be deducted.

The purchase of goods that are not used for business purposes, but instead are acquired for private use by an entrepreneur, do not give rise to a right to deduct CT paid. Even some goods supplied to the taxpayer for business purposes do not give rise to a right to recover CT paid.

Examples of business expenditures for which input tax is nondeductible

- Damage and losses of raw material when producing finished goods
- Damage and losses of semi-finished goods
- Damage and losses of trading goods

In addition, some goods deemed harmful do not give rise to a right to recover input tax.

Examples of items deemed harmful for which input tax is nondeductible

- Cigarettes, tobacco leaf, Virginia cheroots, cigars and pipe tobacco
- Betel chewing preparations
- Liqueur, beer and wine

Partial exemption. Not applicable.

Refunds. Not applicable.

Preregistration costs. Not applicable.

G. Recovery of CT by non-established businesses

There is no CT recovery allowed in such situations.

H. Invoicing

There is no specific form of invoice or credit note, but commercial tax law defines the mandatory data to be stated in each invoice:

- Invoice number
- Name, address and registration certificate number of vendor
- Name, address and registration certificate number of customer
- Transaction date
- Name, type, description of goods or services
- Quantity, price or rate and amount of goods or services
- Amount of commercial tax collected

Foreign-currency invoices. Invoices can be issued in a foreign currency, but CT shall be paid in local kyats (MMK).

Electronic invoices. Not applicable.

Proof of export. Taxpayer shall present the completed export declaration form issued by customs.

The producer or service provider shall maintain tax invoices for up to three years.

I. VAT returns and payment

CT returns. CT returns are submitted quarterly and yearly. A supplier of goods and services must collect CT from the purchaser of the goods or the recipient of a service and remit it to the MIRD by the 10th day of the month following the month in which the tax point is triggered.

Special schemes. Not applicable.

Electronic filing and archiving. Not applicable.

Annual returns. Annual return must be submitted to the MIRD within three months after the end of respective year.

J. Penalties

If any person, without sufficient cause, defaults in any of the following matters, the Township Revenue Officer shall cause him to pay the following fines:

- A fine equivalent to ten percent of the tax payable in the relevant assessment for the failure to register or to send notice of commencement of the operation's economic activities
- A fine equivalent to ten percent of the tax payable in the relevant assessment for each of the following failures:
 - Failure to pay the monthly tax within the stipulated time
 - Failure to submit the quarterly return or the annual return

- A fine equivalent to ten percent of the additional tax payable in the relevant assessment for each of the following failures:
 - Failure to pay in accordance with the annual return
 - Failure to comply with a notice requesting personal attendance for an examination relating to the assessment
- A fine equivalent to ten percent of the additional tax payable in the relevant assessment for the failure to pay tax within the stipulated period or within the extended period
- A fine equivalent to ten percent of the tax payable in the relevant assessment for the failure to keep receipts or documents showing acceptance of the money as required by Commercial Tax Regulations
- A fine equivalent to one hundred percent of the tax payable in the relevant assessment if the Township Revenue Officer finds that the taxpayer failed to give the receipt or document showing acceptance of the money to the purchaser or recipient of the service in spite of the taxpayer's having kept such receipt or document. This fine shall be collected separately from others before the end of the financial year.

Namibia

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Windhoek

GMT +1

EY

Mail address:
P.O. Box 1857
Windhoek
Namibia

Street address:

Cnr Otto Nitzsche and Maritz Streets
Klein Windhoek
Windhoek
Namibia

Indirect tax contacts

Cameron Kotzé

+264 (61) 289-1112
cameron.kotze@za.ey.com

Yolande Böttger

+264 (61) 289-1212
yolande.bottger@za.ey.com

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Value-added tax (VAT)
Date introduced	27 November 2000
Trading bloc membership	Southern African Customs Union Member, South African Development Community Member
Administered by	Commissioner of Inland Revenue
VAT rates
Standard	15%
Other	Zero-rated and exempt
VAT number format	123 4567-01-5
VAT return periods	Bimonthly
Thresholds
Compulsory registration	Annual taxable supplies of more than NAD200,000 (expected to be increased to NAD500,000)
Voluntary registration	No threshold
Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses	Yes

B. Scope of the tax

VAT applies to the following transactions:

- The supply of goods or services made in Namibia by a registered person
- Reverse-charge services received by a person in Namibia that is not entitled to claim full input tax credits (referred to as imported services)
- The importation of goods from outside Namibia, regardless of the status of the importer

Goods that are imported from countries in the Southern African Customs Union (Botswana, Lesotho, Namibia, South Africa and Swaziland) are not subject to customs duty but are subject to import VAT.

C. Who is liable

A VAT-registered person is required to account for output tax on all goods and services supplied, unless the supply is specifically exempted by the Value-Added Tax Act. Exempt supplies are specified in Schedule IV to the VAT Act.

A VAT-registered person is a person (business entity or individual) carrying on an activity in Namibia or partly in Namibia on a continuous or regular basis if, in the course of the activity, goods or services are supplied to another person for consideration exceeding the registration threshold or who has voluntarily registered for VAT. This includes persons who are registered for VAT in Namibia as well as persons who are required to register for VAT.

A person is required to register for VAT if the value of taxable supplies exceeds (or is expected to exceed) NAD200,000 in any consecutive 12-month period. This threshold is currently under review and is expected to be increased to NAD500,000.

A VAT registration only becomes effective from the first calendar day of the month after registration was approved. The earliest the registration can become effective is the first day of the calendar month following the month in which application for registration was filed.

Voluntary registration. A person whose turnover is below the compulsory registration threshold may register for VAT on a voluntary basis (excluding the provision of commercial accommodation, for which the threshold is NAD24,000).

Group registration. VAT grouping is not allowed under the Namibia VAT Act. All legal entities must register for VAT individually, and all activities carried on by such person must be accounted for on one registration number. VAT is charged on transactions between separately registered entities within a commercial group in accordance with the general VAT rules and subject to the rules relating to supplies between related persons.

Non-established businesses. A “non-established business” is a business that has no fixed establishment in Namibia. A non-established business that makes taxable supplies of goods or services continuously or regularly in Namibia must appoint a tax representative and open a Namibian bank account to register for VAT.

Deemed supplies. In addition to actual goods and services supplied by a registered person, the VAT Act also deems certain supplies to be supplies of goods or services. The person making the deemed supply is liable to pay VAT. Deemed supplies include the following:

- Ceasing to be a registered person
- Short-term indemnity payments
- Change in use
- Acquisition of used goods (excluding immovable property) from a person not registered for VAT

Goods imported to Namibia are subject to import VAT. The import VAT is payable at the time of import unless the importer has obtained approval from the Directorate of Inland Revenue to maintain a VAT import account, in which case the payment of the import VAT can be deferred and paid when the import VAT return is due for submission (see Section I).

Tax representatives. Persons who make supplies in Namibia may appoint a representative who is responsible for registration and payment of VAT on behalf of the registered person.

Reverse charge. Recipients of services who make exempt supplies are liable to pay VAT on imported services, subject to specific provisions. Imported services are exempt from VAT if the import is specified in Schedule V of the VAT Act.

Registration procedures. The VAT registration application (VAT 1) must be completed and submitted to Inland Revenue in hard copy. The person applying for VAT registration should have a Namibian bank account and a fitness certificate for the premises from which they will be conducting the taxable activity. The VAT registration, once approved by Inland Revenue, becomes effective on the first calendar day of the second month after the registration letter was received from Inland Revenue. On specific application the registration can become effective on the first calendar day of the month following the receipt of the registration confirmation.

Late-registration penalties. A person who fails to register will be liable for the payment of a penalty equal to double the amount of output tax payable from the time such person becomes liable to be registered until they file an application for registration. No input tax may be claimed in respect of the period that has lapsed during which the person was not registered.

Digital economy. There are no special rules for the taxation of the digital economy in Namibia.

Deregistration. A person may apply for deregistration if the value of such person's taxable supplies in a period of 12 months (begin on the date of application) will be less than NAD200,000 but only after expiration of a period of two years from the effective date of registration.

D. VAT rates

The term "taxable supplies" refers to supplies of goods and services that are subject to tax at either the standard rate (15%) or the zero rate (0%). A registered person must account for VAT at the standard rate on all supplies of goods and services, unless the supply is specifically zero-rated (Schedule III of the VAT Act) or exempted under the VAT Act.

Examples of goods and services taxable at 0%

- Exports of goods and related services
- International transport of passengers and goods and related services
- Certain supplies of goods that are used exclusively in an export country
- Services supplied outside Namibia and to foreign branches and head offices
- Certain basic foodstuffs
- Supply of land to be used solely for residential accommodation purposes

- Supply of goods or services to erect or extend a residential building
- Supply of a business capable of separate operation as a going concern (provided that all of the requirements are met)
- Supply of goods subject to the fuel levy
- Supply of telecommunication services, electricity, water, refuse removal and sewerage to residential accounts
- Supply of livestock on the hoof
- Supply of intellectual property for use outside Namibia
- Supply of services to nonresidents subject to certain provisions
- Supply of goods or services to an export processing zone enterprise

The term “exempt supplies” refers to supplies of goods and services that are not subject to tax and which are specified in Schedule IV of the VAT Act. A registered person is not entitled to claim a deduction on expenses incurred to make exempt supplies (see Section F).

Examples of exempt supplies of goods and services

- Financial services as defined
- Fare-paying public passenger transport
- Educational services
- Medical services provided by registered medical professionals
- Hospital services provided by registered hospitals
- Rental of residential accommodation
- Fringe benefits provided by an employer to employees
- Services supplied to members in the course of the management of a body corporate
- Supplies of goods or services to heads of state
- Supply of services by a trade union to or for the benefit of members if the supply is made from members’ contributions

Option to tax for exempt supplies. Not applicable.

E. Time of supply

The time when VAT becomes due is called the “time of supply” or “tax point.” In Namibia, the basic time of supply is the earlier of the issuance of an invoice or the receipt of payment.

Other tax points are used for a variety of situations, including betting transactions, construction, supplies made from vending machines and “lay-by” sale agreements.

Supplies between related persons. The tax point for supplies of goods between related persons is when the goods are removed by or made available to the purchaser or recipient of the goods. The time of supply for supplies of services between related persons is when the services are performed. For services such as management services, the tax point is at the end of each calendar month.

Supplies to a branch or main business outside Namibia. The tax point for goods consigned or delivered to a branch or main business outside Namibia is when the goods are actually consigned or delivered. The tax point for services supplied to a branch or main business outside Namibia is when the services are performed.

Periodic supplies. The tax point for periodic supplies is the earlier of the date on which payment is due or the date on which payment is received.

Installment credit agreements. For installment credit agreements, the supply is deemed to take place at the earlier of when the goods are delivered or any payment of consideration is made.

Immovable property. The supply of immovable property is deemed to take place at the earlier of the following dates:

- The date on which the registration of the transfer is made in a deeds registry
- The date on which any payment in respect of selling price is received (excluding deposits)

Imported goods. The tax point for imported goods varies depending on the source of the goods being imported. The following are the applicable rules:

- For goods that are imported from a member of the Southern African Customs Union — when the goods enter Namibia at the border post
- For goods imported from other countries — when the goods are cleared for home consumption
- For goods imported and entered into a licensed customs and excise storage warehouse — when the goods are cleared from the warehouse for home consumption

F. Recovery of VAT by taxable persons

A VAT-registered person may recover input tax (that is, VAT charged on goods and services supplied to it for business purposes) by deducting it from output tax (VAT charged on supplies made) provided the VAT-registered person is in possession of a valid tax invoice.

Input tax includes VAT charged on goods and services supplied in Namibia and VAT paid on the importation of goods.

Nondeductible input tax. Input tax may not be recovered on purchases of goods and services that are not used for taxable purposes (for example, goods acquired for private use by an entrepreneur or goods and services used for making exempt supplies). In addition, input tax may not be recovered for specifically excluded business expenditure, such as entertainment.

Examples of items for which input tax is nondeductible

- Purchase or rental of a vehicle principally designed to carry nine or fewer seated people including the driver (referred to as a passenger vehicle in the VAT Act)
- Business and staff entertainment, which includes accommodation, meals and beverages when travelling for business purposes
- Club subscriptions (excluding subscriptions to professional bodies)
- Acquisition of capital goods prior to being registered for VAT

Examples of items for which input tax is deductible (if related to a taxable business use)

- Purchase, hire and maintenance of vans and trucks
- Attendance at conferences and seminars
- Vehicle maintenance costs (including passenger vehicles)
- Mobile phones
- Air transport of goods within Namibia
- Aviation fuel

- Trading stock
- Raw materials
- Marketing expenditure
- Stationery

Partially deductible input tax (partial exemption). Input tax directly related to the making of exempt supplies is not recoverable. If a taxable person makes both exempt and taxable supplies, it may recover only a portion of the input tax incurred.

In Namibia, the deductible portion is determined using the following two-stage calculation:

- The first stage identifies the input tax directly attributable to taxable and exempt supplies. Input tax directly attributable to taxable supplies is deductible, while input tax directly related to exempt supplies is not deductible.
- The second stage identifies the amount of the remaining input tax (for example, input tax on general business overhead) that cannot be directly attributed to the making of taxable or exempt supplies. Such input tax may be deducted only to the extent that it relates to the making of taxable supplies. In general, the deductible portion is determined by comparing the value of taxable supplies to total supplies. However, a registered person may apply to the Directorate of Inland Revenue for another equitable apportionment method (for example, apportionment based on floor space or activity), particularly if significant investment income, foreign-exchange gains or other non-taxable passive income is realized. The input tax ratio calculated for a financial year is applied to the following financial year and amended annually when a financial year comes to an end.

Refunds. If the amount of input tax recoverable in a period exceeds the amount of output tax payable in that period, a refund of the excess may be claimed.

Preregistration costs. No VAT paid may be claimed prior to the effective date of registration unless it relates to trading stock or consumables on hand at the date the VAT registration becomes effective and the goods were acquired within four months of the effective date of the VAT registration. The VAT paid in respect of the acquisition of capital goods prior to registration may not be claimed.

G. Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses

VAT incurred by businesses that are neither established nor registered in Namibia may be recovered only with respect to goods that are subsequently exported from Namibia. A refund may be claimed from the VAT refund administrator. No claim may be made in respect of services (such as hotel accommodation and restaurant meals) consumed in Namibia.

A business rendering services on a continuous or regular basis in Namibia may be liable to register for VAT even though the business is neither established nor registered in Namibia. In this instance, the non-established business registered for VAT may recover input tax through the normal VAT return process.

H. Invoicing

VAT invoices and credit notes. Registered persons are required to issue a tax invoice for all supplies made if the consideration (that is, the total amount received exclusive of VAT) amounts to NAD100 or more. If the total amount in money for the supply is less than NAD100, the supplier may issue an abridged tax invoice. Only hard copy tax invoices qualify as valid tax invoices.

The following information is required for a valid tax invoice:

- The words “tax invoice” displayed in a prominent place
- The name, address and VAT registration number of the supplier
- The name and address of the recipient
- An individual serialized number and the date on which the tax invoice was issued
- Full description of the goods or services supplied
- Quantity or volume of goods or services supplied
- The value of the supply, the VAT amount and the VAT-inclusive amount of the supply

In order to claim input VAT, the claimant must be in possession of a valid tax invoice for each supply including periodic supplies.

A tax credit note or debit note may be used to reduce VAT charged and reclaimed on a supply of goods or services. A credit note or a debit note may be issued only if the tax charged is incorrect or if the supplier has paid incorrect output tax as a result of one or more of the following circumstances:

- The supply has been cancelled
- The nature of the supply has been fundamentally varied or altered
- The previously agreed consideration has been altered by agreement with the recipient of the supply
- All or part of the goods or services has been returned to the supplier

If a credit note adjusts the amount of VAT charged, it must be clearly marked “tax credit note” and must refer to the original tax invoice. It must briefly indicate the reason that it is being issued and provide sufficient information to identify the transaction to which it refers.

Proof of exports. Exports can be classified as either direct exports or indirect exports. Direct exports (that is, the seller is responsible to deliver the goods at an address outside Namibia) can be zero-rated if the documentary requirements are met. The seller may not zero-rate exports if the goods are not delivered or consigned and delivered at an address in a country outside Namibia.

Documentation that must be retained to substantiate an export includes the following:

- The original customs export documentation (such as Form SAD500, Form 178 and any export certificate or certificate of origin)
- Commercial and tax invoices for the supply

These documents have to be stamped by the customs and excise officials at the port of export.

The import documentation into the country of import may also be requested by the Directorate of Inland Revenue in support of the export from Namibia.

Foreign-currency invoices. In general, a tax invoice must be issued in Namibia dollars. If an invoice is issued in a foreign currency, the Namibia dollar (NAD) equivalent must be determined using the appropriate exchange rate on the date on which the invoice is issued.

I. VAT returns and payment

VAT returns. The tax return period is bimonthly for all registered persons other than those persons who conduct only farming activities. Registered persons who carry on only farming activities may elect four-monthly, semiannual and annual tax periods.

VAT returns must be filed by the 25th day after the end of the tax period. Payment is due in full by the same date. If the due date falls on a Saturday, Sunday or a public holiday, the due date is the next business day.

Import VAT returns for the declaration of the import of goods are due monthly by the 20th day of the month following the month of import and must be submitted even if no goods were imported in a particular month. Payment is due in full by the due date. If the payment date falls on a Saturday, Sunday or public holiday, the due date is the next business day.

Special schemes. Not applicable.

Electronic filing and archiving. Not applicable.

Annual returns. Not applicable.

J. Penalties

A penalty equal to 10% of the net VAT due is imposed if the VAT payment is made after the due date. The penalty is calculated as 10% for each month or part of a month the VAT remains outstanding, but the total penalty is limited to the tax due. However, a registered person may request that the Directorate of Inland Revenue waive the penalty if the delay was not due to the intent of the VAT-registered person to postpone payment.

An additional penalty of NAD100 is imposed for each day the VAT return or import VAT return is submitted after the due date.

Additional tax not exceeding double the value of the VAT due may be levied in the case of evasion.

A range of other offenses related to VAT can result in additional tax and penalties, including fines and, for severe offenses, imprisonment for a period not exceeding 24 months.

Interest. Interest is charged at 20% per annum on late payments of the VAT liability or import VAT liability.

Netherlands

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Amsterdam

GMT +1

EY

Mail address:
P.O. Box 7925
1008 AC Amsterdam
Netherlands

Street address:

Antonio Vivaldistraat 150
1083 HP Amsterdam
Netherlands

Indirect tax contacts

Bas Breimer

+31 (88) 407-1005
bas.breimer@nl.ey.com

Gijsbert Bulk

+31 (88) 407-1175
gijsbert.bulk@nl.ey.com

Jeroen Scholten

+31 (88) 407-1009
jeroen.scholten@nl.ey.com

John Slood

+31 (88) 407-0426
john.slood@nl.ey.com

Hanne Jesca Bax

+31 (88) 407-1325
hanne.jesca.bax@nl.ey.com

Walter de Wit

+31 (88) 407-1390
walter.de.wit@nl.ey.com

Rotterdam

GMT +1

EY

Mail address:
P.O. Box 2295
3000 CG Rotterdam
Netherlands

Street address:

Boompjes 258
3011 XZ Rotterdam
Netherlands

Indirect tax contacts

Remco van der Zwan

+31 (88) 407-8370
remco.van.der.zwan@nl.ey.com

Daniël Kroesen

+31 (88) 407-8361
daniel.kroesen@nl.ey.com

A. At a glance

Name of the tax

Value-added tax (VAT)

Local names

Belasting over de toegevoegde waarde (BTW)

Wet op de omzetbelasting 1968

Date introduced

1 January 1969

Trading bloc membership

European Union (EU) Member State

Administered by

Ministry of Finance
(<http://www.minfin.nl>)

VAT rates

Standard

21%

Reduced

6%

Other

Zero-rated and exempt

VAT number format

NL1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 B 01

VAT return periods
Monthly	If requested by the taxable person or the tax authorities
Quarterly	In normal circumstances
Annually	If VAT payable per year does not exceed EUR1,883
Thresholds
Registration	None
Distance selling	EUR100,000
Intra-Community acquisitions	EUR10,000 (for exempt taxable persons and non-taxable legal persons)
Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses	Yes

B. Scope of the tax

VAT applies to the following transactions:

- The supply of goods or services made in the Netherlands by a taxable person
- The intra-Community acquisition of goods from another EU Member State by a taxable person (see the chapter on the EU)
- The intra-Community acquisition of goods from another EU Member State by a non-taxable legal person in excess of the annual threshold (see the chapter on the EU)
- Reverse-charge services received by a taxable person and non-taxable legal entities in the Netherlands (that is, services for which the recipient is liable to pay the VAT)
- The importation of goods from outside the EU, regardless of the status of the importer

C. Who is liable

A taxable person is any business entity or individual that makes taxable supplies of goods or services, or intra-Community acquisitions or distance sales, in the course of a business, in the Netherlands. Taxable activities also include “carrying on a profession” or the “exploitation of tangible or intangible property in order to obtain income on a continuing basis.”

No VAT registration threshold applies in the Netherlands. A taxable person that begins activity must notify the VAT authorities of its liability to register.

Special rules apply to foreign or “non-established” businesses.

Group registration. Taxable persons established in the Netherlands (including fixed establishments) may form a VAT group if the members are closely bound by “financial, economic and organizational links.” Since a ruling from the supreme court (Hoge Raad) in early 2005, the formation of a VAT group no longer requires a decree from the tax office, which is issued after a written request. However, the tax office may also issue a VAT group decree on its own accord. For legal certainty, it is recommended that persons meeting the conditions for group registration inform the tax office.

The effect of VAT grouping is to treat the members as a single taxable person. As a result, transactions between members of the VAT group are disregarded for VAT purposes. Members of a Dutch VAT group may file a single VAT return, or members may elect to file individually. Each member of a VAT group is jointly and severally liable for all VAT due.

Non-established businesses. A “non-established business” is a business that has no fixed establishment in the Netherlands. The “reverse charge” applies generally to supplies of goods and services made by non-established businesses to taxable persons and other non-taxable legal persons established in the Netherlands, provided that Dutch VAT is due on these supplies. Under the reverse-charge provision, the taxable person or legal person that receives the supply must account for the VAT due. If the reverse charge applies, the non-established supplier may not account for VAT in the Netherlands. The reverse charge does not apply to supplies made to private persons.

A non-established business that makes supplies of goods or services in the Netherlands must register for VAT if it is required to account for VAT on the supply.

Tax representatives. Nonresident businesses may register for VAT without appointing a tax representative. In limited circumstances, businesses that are established outside the EU must appoint a tax representative resident in the Netherlands to register for VAT (for example, for distance sales made from another EU country). Non-established businesses, regardless of whether they are established in or outside the EU, may choose to appoint a representative. In some cases, the appointment of a resident tax representative may be advantageous (for example, for dealing with imports using the “postponed accounting” system; see Section E).

Non-established businesses that do not appoint a representative must register at the Tax Office for Non-Resident Businesses in Heerlen, at the following address:

Belastingdienst/Limburg/kantoor Buitenland
Postbus 2865
6401 DJ Heerlen
Netherlands

Registration procedures. The easiest way to register is to register yourself at the Dutch Chamber of Commerce (<http://www.kvk.nl/>). However, it is also possible to register at the Dutch tax authorities. More information can be found at this website: http://www.belastingdienst.nl/rekenhulpen/registratie_buitenlandse_ondernemers/en/. Registration usually takes two to six weeks.

Late-registration penalties. No specific penalty is imposed for late registration. However, if the late registration results in the late payment of VAT or the late submission of VAT returns, penalties may be imposed.

Reverse charge. See Non-established businesses above.

Digital economy. Digital services which are rendered to non-taxable persons as of 1 January 2015 are taxable in the country where the non-taxable recipient of the electronic service is established. See more in the chapter on the EU.

Mini One-Stop Shop. There are two schemes for the Mini One-Stop Shop (hereafter: MOSS). Companies can register for the EU-scheme if they are established (either permanent or fixed) in the Netherlands. Companies can register for the non-EU-scheme if they are not established (both permanent and fixed) in the EU and do not have an EU VAT registration. More information is included on the website of the Dutch tax authorities:

http://www.belastingdienst.nl/wps/wcm/connect/bldcontenten/belastingdienst/business/vat/vat_on_electronic_services/suppliers_eu_countries/filing_an_eu_vat_notification_using_moss.

Deregistration. If a taxpayer is no longer considered to be a taxable person for VAT purposes he can deregister through a letter to the Dutch tax authorities stating that his VAT registration has to be ended.

D. VAT rates

The term “taxable supplies” refers to supplies of goods and services that are liable to a rate of VAT, including the zero rate (0%).

The VAT rates are:

- Standard rate: 21%
- Reduced rate: 6%
- Zero rate (0%)

The standard rate of VAT applies to all supplies of goods or services, unless a specific measure provides a reduced rate, the zero rate or an exemption.

Examples of goods and services taxable at 6%

- Foodstuffs
- Books
- Paintings and other “cultural goods”
- Goods and services used by the agricultural sector
- Passenger transport
- Hotel accommodation

Examples of goods and services taxable at 0%

- Exports of goods
- Intra-Community supplies of goods
- Supplies to ships and aircraft used for international transportation

The term “exempt supplies” refers to supplies of goods and services that are not liable to tax and that do not give rise to a right of input tax deduction (see Section F). Some supplies are classified as “exempt with credit,” which means that no VAT is chargeable, but the supplier may recover related input tax. Exempt with credit supplies include intangible services supplied to another taxable person established in the EU or to any recipient outside the EU (see the chapter on the EU).

Examples of exempt supplies of goods and services

- Supply of immovable property
- Medical services
- Finance
- Insurance
- Betting and gaming
- Education

Option to tax for exempt supplies. For the supply and letting of immovable property, the supplier and customer can opt for taxation. Several conditions have to be met. The most important condition is that the customer can deduct at least 70% to 90% of the VAT that is due on the immovable property.

E. Time of supply

The time when VAT becomes due is called the “time of supply” or “tax point.” The basic time of supply for goods is when the goods are delivered. The basic time of supply for services is when the service is completed.

In the Netherlands, an invoice must be issued before the 15th day of the month following the month in which the supply takes place. The actual tax point becomes the date on which the invoice is issued. However, if no invoice is issued, tax becomes due, at the latest, on the day on which the invoice should have been issued. If the purchaser is not a taxable person, the tax becomes due on the date of the supply.

If the consideration is paid in full, or in part, before the invoice is issued, the actual tax is due on the date on which payment is received (for the amount received).

However, some taxable persons are permitted to account for VAT on a cash basis (cash accounting). If cash accounting is used, the tax point is the date on which the payment is received.

Prepayments. If the customer pays the consideration in installments or makes a prepayment, the supplier must issue an invoice for each installment before the date when it falls due or when it receives the prepayment. The time of supply is the date of the invoice.

Intra-Community acquisitions. The time of supply for an intra-Community acquisition of goods is the 15th day of the month following the month in which the acquisition occurred. If the supplier issues an invoice before this date, the time of supply is when the invoice is invoiced.

Imported goods and postponed accounting. The basic time of supply for imported goods is the date of importation or the date on which the goods leave a duty suspension regime. However, taxable persons may delay payment of import VAT by applying for permission to use the “postponed accounting” facility. Under this facility, import VAT is reported on the taxable person’s VAT return (and recovered in the same tax period as input tax, depending on the taxable person’s partial exemption status; see Section F).

A non-established business must appoint a tax representative resident in the Netherlands to use the postponed accounting facility.

Cash accounting. The Netherlands operates a cash accounting scheme. Input VAT deduction is allowed even before the effective payment of the consideration.

Reverse-charge services. For B2B services that are reversed charge, the tax point is the time at which the services are rendered.

Continuous supplies of services. For continuous supplies of services, the main rule (time of invoice) is applicable. However, there is at least one tax point per year.

Intra-Community supplies of goods. For intra-Community supplies of goods, the tax point basically lies at the time the invoice is issued.

Leased assets. For operational lease, the section about continuous supplies of services is applicable. For financial lease, the tax point is basically the time the invoice is issued.

F. Recovery of VAT by taxable persons

A taxable person may recover input tax, which is VAT charged on goods and services supplied to it for business purposes. Input tax is generally recovered by being deducted from output tax, which is VAT charged on supplies made.

Input tax includes VAT charged on goods and services supplied in the Netherlands, VAT paid on imports of goods and VAT self-assessed on the intra-Community acquisition of goods and reverse-charge services (see the chapter on the EU).

A valid tax invoice or customs document must be kept in the accounts to support a claim for input tax.

Nondeductible input tax. Input tax may not be recovered on purchases of goods and services that are not used for business purposes (for example, goods acquired for private use by an entrepreneur). In addition, input tax may not be recovered for some items of business expenditure if the value of the private benefit to an employee exceeds an amount of EUR227, excluding VAT, per person per year. If the goods or services are used for private purposes, in specific situations, the legal entity is deemed to make a supply of goods or services and output VAT is due.

Examples of items for which input tax is nondeductible

- Private expenditure
- Business gifts (valued at more than EUR227 if the recipient could not have recovered the input VAT in its own right)
- Restaurant meals
- Home telephone costs
- Alcohol and tobacco

Examples of items for which input tax is deductible (if related to a taxable business use)

- Purchase, hire, lease, maintenance and fuel for vans and trucks
- Car hire, subject to special rules, as well as the purchase, hire, lease, maintenance and fuel for cars put at the disposal of employees, subject to special rules
- Conferences, seminars and training courses (restaurant meals are excluded)
- Advertising
- Taxis
- Business travel costs
- Business gifts (valued at less than EUR227 a year or if the recipient of the gift could have recovered the input VAT in its own right)
- Business entertainment (subject to the limit of EUR227 a year on employee expenses)

Employee expenses. A maximum limit of EUR227 annually applies to the value of expenses incurred per employee on which input VAT may be recovered, including drinks, meals from a discounted company cafeteria and company parties, mobile phones and computers made available to employees at home. The EUR227 limit relates to the net cost or value of the expenses incurred, rather than the amount of VAT recovered. VAT on employee expenses can only be recovered if a valid tax invoice has been issued to the employer.

The employer may recover input VAT on employee expenses in full throughout the year. At the end of the year the employer must calculate the average cost of expenses per employee. If the average cost of expenses per employee exceeds EUR227, all of the VAT recovered on these expenses throughout the year must be repaid (not just the VAT on expenses in excess of the EUR227 limit).

Partial exemption. Input tax directly related to making exempt supplies is not generally recoverable. If a taxable person makes both exempt and taxable supplies, it may not recover input tax in full. This situation is referred to as “partial exemption.” Exempt with credit supplies are treated as taxable supplies for these purposes.

In the Netherlands, the amount of input tax that a partially exempt business may recover is calculated in the following two stages:

- The first stage identifies the input VAT that may be directly allocated to taxable and to exempt supplies. Input tax directly allocated to taxable supplies is deductible, while input tax directly related to exempt supplies is not deductible.
- The second stage identifies the amount of the remaining input tax (for example, on general business overhead) that may be allocated to taxable supplies and recovered.

The calculation is normally based on the percentage of the values of taxable and exempt supplies made in the period. The recovery percentage is rounded up to the nearest whole number (for example, 5.2% becomes 6%). In specific situations other methods of apportionment may be used.

Capital goods. Capital goods are items of capital expenditure that are used in a business over several years. Input tax is deducted in the VAT year in which the goods are acquired. The amount of input tax recovered depends on the taxable person’s partial exemption recovery position in the VAT year of acquisition. However, the amount of input tax recovered for capital goods must be adjusted over time if the taxable person’s partial exemption recovery percentage changes during the adjustment period.

In the Netherlands, the capital goods adjustment applies to the following assets for the number of years indicated:

- Immovable property: adjusted for a period of 10 years
- Movable property subject to depreciation for income tax purposes: adjusted for a period of five years

The adjustment is applied each year following the year of acquisition, to a fraction of the total input tax (1/10 for immovable property and 1/5 for other movable capital goods). The adjustment may result in either an increase or a decrease of deductible input VAT, depending on whether the ratio of taxable supplies made by the business has increased or decreased compared with the year in which the capital goods were acquired.

The adjustment is not made if it is insignificant (that is, less than 10% of the deducted amount for that specific year).

Refunds. If the amount of input tax recoverable in a period exceeds the amount of output tax payable in that period, the taxable person has an input tax credit. A taxable person may claim a refund of the credit by submitting the VAT return for the period. The refund is paid in cash.

Preregistration costs. Input tax on preregistration costs is deductible as long as the (future) taxpayer can demonstrate that the goods or services were issued in preparation of a future economic activity. In practice this means the VAT on these costs can be deducted in the first VAT return of the company.

Write-off of bad debts. When the payment of a debtor is not expected to be received anymore, the VAT that was due on this payment will be refunded.

Noneconomic activities. The input tax on costs related to noneconomic activities is not deductible, unless and in so far the noneconomic activity is subservient to the taxpayers (taxable) economic activities.

G. Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses

The Netherlands refunds VAT incurred by businesses that are neither established in the Netherlands nor registered for VAT there. A non-established business may claim Netherlands VAT to the same extent as a VAT-registered business.

For businesses established in the EU, refund is made under the terms of EU Directive 2008/9/EG. For businesses established outside the EU, refund is made under the terms of the EU 13th Directive. The Netherlands does not exclude any non-EU country from the refund scheme.

For the general VAT refund rules contained in EU Directive 2008/9/EG and the EU 13th Directive, see the chapter on the EU.

Refund application. Under EU Directive 2008/9/EG, the formal deadline for refund claims by EU businesses is 30 September of the year following the year in which the input tax is incurred. Refund claims must be submitted electronically to the local tax authorities of the EU applicant. For further information, see the chapter on the EU.

The minimum claim period is three months, while the maximum period is one year. The minimum claim for a period of less than a year is EUR400. For an annual claim, the minimum amount is EUR50.

The formal deadline for refund claims under the EU 13th Directive is 30 June of the year following the year in which the input tax is incurred. However, a claim may be submitted within five years after the year in which the input tax is payable. In the case of late claims, no appeal is possible against negative decisions.

Claims may be submitted in Dutch, English, French or German. The application for refund must be accompanied by the appropriate documentation (see the chapter on the EU).

The minimum claim period is three months, while the maximum period is one year. The minimum claim for a period of less than a year is EUR200. For an annual claim, the minimum amount is EUR25.

Applications under the EU 13th Directive for refunds of Netherlands VAT must be sent to the following address:

Belastingdienst/Limburg/kantoor Buitenland
Postbus 2865
6401 DJ Heerlen
Netherlands

Repayment interest. Under EU Directive 2008/9/EG, the Dutch VAT authorities must make refunds of Dutch VAT within 4 months and 10 days after the date on which the refund claim is submitted. In the case of a late refund, the claimant is entitled to interest at the government interest rate in force at the time, in addition to the repayment.

For EU 13th Directive refunds, the Dutch VAT authorities have committed to make refunds within six months after the date on which the claim is submitted for the refund. If the refund is not made within this period and if the fault lies with the VAT authorities, the claimant is entitled to interest at the government interest rate in force at the time, in addition to the repayment.

H. Invoicing

VAT invoices and credit notes. A taxable person must generally provide a VAT invoice for all taxable supplies made, including exports and intra-Community supplies. Invoices are not automatically required for retail transactions, unless requested by the customer. However, the issuance of invoices for wholesalers is required.

Taxable persons must retain invoices for seven years. For real estate, a taxable person must retain the invoice for 10 years.

A VAT invoice is required to support a claim for input tax deduction or a refund under the EU Directive 2008/9/EG or EU 13th Directive refund schemes (see the chapter on the EU).

A VAT credit note may be used to reduce the VAT charged and reclaimed on a supply. It must be cross-referenced to the original VAT invoice.

Electronic invoicing. Electronic invoicing is permitted in line with EU Directive 2010/45/EU.

Proof of exports and intra-Community supplies. VAT is not chargeable on supplies of exported goods or on the intra-Community supply of goods (see the chapter on the EU). However, to qualify as VAT-free, exports and intra-Community supplies must be supported by evidence that proves the goods have left the Netherlands. Acceptable proof includes the following documentation:

- For an export, customs documentation, transport documentation, order forms and proof of payment issued by a foreign bank

- For an intra-Community supply, a copy of the invoice indicating the customer's valid VAT identification number (issued by another EU Member State), plus a range of commercial documentation (such as purchase orders, transport documentation, proof of payment and contracts)

Foreign-currency invoices. A VAT invoice must be issued in euros (EUR). If an invoice is issued in another currency, the VAT amount must be indicated in euros, using the daily conversion rate published by the European Central Bank.

B2C invoices. Effective 1 January 2015, new rules apply to the place of supply for supplies of telecommunications, broadcasting and electronic services to non-VAT taxable customers. For further details of the VAT rules on electronic services in the EU, please refer to the European Union chapter.

I. VAT returns and payment

VAT returns. VAT returns are submitted electronically in the Netherlands. They are submitted for monthly, quarterly or annual periods, depending on the amount of VAT payable.

Quarterly VAT returns must be filed in standard circumstances. Filing the VAT return on a monthly basis can be requested by the taxable person at the tax authorities. If the VAT liable is not paid on time, the tax authorities also may require the taxable person to file the VAT returns monthly.

Taxable persons that are liable to pay a VAT amount of less than EUR1,883 annually may file annual VAT returns if some other requirements are met.

The return must be filed by the last day of the month following the end of the reporting period, together with full payment.

Non-established businesses registered for VAT in Heerlen must file their VAT returns and pay VAT due before the last business day of the second month after the reporting period.

Return liabilities must be paid in euros.

Special schemes. Not applicable.

Electronic filing and archiving. Electronic filing and archiving is allowed under the Dutch legislation. When analog data is transformed into digital data, it needs to be guaranteed that the data is transferred one-on-one. In practice this means that even the "coffee stains" – if present, of course – will be visible after electronic filing. The data must be preserved in such a way that they can be made readable in reasonable time. A digital administration therefore needs to be easily accessible. If a change of computer system occurs, it needs to be secured that the data from the "old" computer system is still readable. Also, the data needs to be stored appropriately. This means in particular that a back-up will be made regularly.

Annual returns. See section above.

J. Penalties

Penalties are assessed for the late submission of a VAT return or for the late payment of VAT, in the following amounts:

- For the late submission of a VAT return, the maximum fine is EUR61.50.
- For errors in the payment of VAT, the maximum fine is 10% of the VAT due, up to a maximum amount of EUR4,920.
- For the late payment of VAT, the minimum fine is EUR50, and the maximum fine is 2% of the VAT due, up to a maximum amount of EUR4,920.
- If the late payment is caused by negligence or dishonest conduct, fines ranging from 25% to 100% of the VAT payable may be imposed.
- If a taxable person knows errors were made in the payment of VAT and did not notify the tax authorities accordingly, a penalty may be imposed up to 100% of the VAT that was not reported and paid as a result of the error.

In addition, taxpayers must file supplementary returns if it appears that the information provided was inaccurate and/or incomplete. Noncompliance with the duty to file supplementary returns is subject to an offense penalty of up to 100% of the amount of tax not levied (or allegedly not levied). This penalty may be imposed if the taxpayer knew that the tax levied was too low.

K. EU filings

Intrastat. A taxable person that trades with other EU countries must complete statistical reports, known as Intrastat, if the value of its sales or purchases of goods exceeds the applicable threshold. The threshold applies to intra-Community supplies (Dispatches) and intra-Community acquisitions (Arrivals) separately. Separate reports are required for Arrivals and Dispatches.

The threshold for Intrastat Arrivals for the 2014 calendar year is EUR1.2 million.

The threshold for Intrastat Dispatches for the 2014 calendar year is EUR1.2 million.

The Intrastat return period is monthly. The submission deadline is the 10th day following the return period. Intrastat declarations must be completed in euros.

A penalty up to a maximum amount of EUR5,000 may be imposed for failure to comply with Intrastat filing and reporting obligations.

EU Sales Lists. If a taxable person makes intra-Community supplies in any return period, it must submit an EU Sales List (ESL). An ESL is not required for any period in which the taxable person has not made any intra-Community supplies.

ESLs must be filed on a monthly basis if the total value of the supplied goods exceeds EUR100,000. If the total value of the supplied goods does not exceed EUR100,000, the ESLs may be submitted on a quarterly basis.

Taxable persons must submit ESLs for services if all of the following conditions are satisfied:

- The place of supply of business-to-business (B2B) services is located in another EU Member State.

- The VAT due in that EU Member State is reverse charged to the customer.
- The service is not exempt from VAT in the other EU Member State.

The ESLs for services must be submitted on a monthly basis, but a business can opt to submit the ESLs on a quarterly basis.

If a business does not file an ESL on time, it receives a reminder. If the return is still not filed, the VAT authorities may impose a fine. The amount of the penalty depends on the number of successive omissions. The following are the penalties:

- For the first omission, a fine of 2.5% of EUR4,920 is imposed.
- For the second and third omissions, a fine of 5% of EUR4,920 is imposed.
- For a fourth or subsequent omission, a fine of 25% of EUR4,920 is imposed.

Under certain conditions, the VAT authorities may impose a maximum fine of EUR4,920 for missing ESL reports or ESLs containing systematic errors or omissions.

New Zealand

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Auckland

GMT +12

EY

Mail address:
P.O. Box 2146
Auckland 1140
New Zealand

Street address:
2 Takutai Square Britomart
Auckland 1010
New Zealand

Indirect tax contact

Iain Blakeley

+64 (9) 377-4790
iain.blakeley@nz.ey.com

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Goods and services tax (GST)
Date introduced	1 October 1986
Trading bloc membership	No
Administered by	Inland Revenue (http://www.ird.govt.nz) and New Zealand Customs (www.customs.govt.nz)
GST rates
Standard	15%
Other	Zero-rated, exempt and non-taxable
GST return periods
One month	Taxable turnover exceeds NZD24 million (optional for other registered persons)
Two months	Taxable turnover between NZD500,000 and NZD24 million)
Six months	Taxable turnover below NZD500,000
GST registration number format	Taxable persons use tax registration numbers (IRD number) for GST purposes in the format xx-xxx-xxx; effective from 2008, nine-digit numbers are issued to new GST-registered persons
Thresholds
Registration	NZD60,000
Recovery of GST by non-established businesses	Yes, since 1 April 2014

B. Scope of the tax

GST applies to the following transactions:

- The supply of goods or services made in New Zealand by a registered person
- The importation of goods into New Zealand, regardless of the status of the importer

C. Who is liable

A “registered person” is any business entity or individual that makes taxable supplies of goods or services in the course of doing business in New Zealand.

The GST registration threshold is NZD60,000. The registration threshold applies in the following ways:

- Retrospectively to taxable turnover in the current month and the preceding 11 months
- Prospectively to taxable turnover in the current month and expected turnover in the following 11 months

GST may be recovered before the incorporation of a company if certain criteria are met.

Voluntary registration. A small business with taxable turnover of less than NZD60,000 a year may voluntarily apply to become a registered person.

Group registration. Group registration is allowed for corporations or other taxable persons that are “under common control.” For these purposes, a corporation is “controlled” if one or more persons own at least 66% of either the voting power in the corporation or the corporation’s common market value interests.

Other taxable persons may form a group if any of the following control conditions is satisfied:

- One group member controls each of the others.
- One person (outside the group) controls all the members of the group.
- Two or more persons carrying on a taxable activity as a partnership control the members of the group.

Under changes to the GST legislation that were introduced in 2007, retrospective GST grouping is allowed (between 1 October 2001 and 17 December 2006) if the GST group as a whole makes taxable supplies of 75% or more (that is, 75% or more of the total supplies made by the group is subject to GST at the standard rate or zero rate) and if the representative member (see below) of the group is a registered person.

Effective from December 2007, certain investment funds may join a GST group with other companies or other investment funds that meet the eligibility criteria. Effective from 1 April 2011, a listed portfolio investment entity can also become part of a group for GST purposes.

From 1 April 2014, nonresident companies registered under the new “enhanced” registration system for non-established entities cannot group with resident companies.

A group must appoint a representative member. Group members making supplies outside the group must issue tax invoices if requested to do so. The representative group member must account for GST with respect to all group members' taxable activities and file returns. Group members must adopt the same tax periods and accounting basis for GST purposes (see Section E). Group members are also jointly and severally liable for all GST liabilities.

Transactions between group members are not generally liable to GST. This measure applies on the condition that the supply is made to a group member that would have been entitled to input tax recovery if the supplier had not been a member of the group (see Section F).

Branch or divisional registration. If a taxable person's business is organized in branches or divisions, it may register the divisions or branches separately for GST purposes. To register separately, a branch or division must maintain its own accounting system and it must either be in a separate location or carry out different activities from the rest of the legal entity. A branch or division that is separately registered must obtain its own GST registration number and complete a separate GST return. GST is charged on supplies made between branches and divisions that are registered separately and the rest of the legal entity.

Non-established businesses. A "non-established business" is a business that has no fixed establishment in New Zealand. A foreign or non-established business must register for GST if it makes taxable supplies in New Zealand that exceed NZD60,000 in any 12-month period. A non-established business may also register for GST voluntarily if its supplies are below the annual registration threshold.

Since 1 April 2014, a non-established business that does not make taxable supplies in New Zealand may register for GST in order to recover GST incurred in New Zealand. GST imposed by customs cannot be recovered by a business registered under this regime.

Tax representatives. A foreign business is not required to appoint a New Zealand resident tax representative in order to register for GST.

Agents. When a registered person makes a supply to a customer using an agent, the customer and registered person (or principal) are considered to be dealing directly with each other for GST purposes.

From 17 July 2013, a principal and its agent may agree in writing to opt out of this rule so that a supply by the principal to the customer using an agent is treated as two supplies: one from the principal to the agent and the other from the agent to the customer.

Compulsory reverse charge. A compulsory reverse-charge regime applies if all of the following circumstances exist:

- A supply of services is made by a nonresident to a resident.
- The supply would be taxable if made in New Zealand.
- The recipient of the supply is registered (or required to be registered).
- The recipient makes taxable supplies that total less than 95% of the recipient's overall supplies.

The reverse charge is 15% of the consideration for the supply. An input tax credit may be claimed with respect to the reverse charge to the extent that the service was used or available for use in making taxable supplies.

Effective from 1 April 2011, the reverse-charge regime applies to imported services if the recipient of the supply meets one of the following conditions:

- At the time of acquisition, it estimates that the percentage of intended taxable use of the services is less than 95%.
- It determines that the percentage of actual taxable use is less than 95%.

Registration procedures. GST registration can be undertaken by submitting a hard copy form, or by registering online. Registration online is done instantly, whereas registration by way of a hard copy form can take several weeks. The registration can be submitted either by the taxpayer or by an agent of the taxpayer. Online registration can be completed at www.ird.govt.nz

Late-registration penalties. Penalties are assessed for a range of GST offenses, including the failure to make GST payments by the due date (see Section I).

Digital economy. Not applicable.

Deregistration. A taxable person that ceases to make taxable supplies must notify the New Zealand GST authorities within 21 days after ceasing operations. If the GST authorities are satisfied that the taxable person's operations are not expected to recommence within 12 months, they may cancel the taxable person's GST registration.

A taxable person may deregister voluntarily if it can satisfactorily prove to the GST authorities that its taxable turnover in the following 12 months is expected to be less than NZD60,000.

D. GST rates

The term "taxable supplies" refers to supplies of goods and services that are liable to GST. The GST rates are the standard rate of 15% (effective from 1 October 2010; the prior rate was 12.5%) and the zero rate (0%). Some specific supplies have an effective rate of 9% through the GST valuation rules.

Examples of goods and services with an effective rate of 9%

- Supplies of accommodation and other domestic goods and services in a rest home where nursing care and other services are provided
- Supplies of long-term accommodation in a hotel or motel

Examples of goods and services taxable at 0%

- Sale of a business as a going concern
- Exported goods and services
- Services performed outside New Zealand
- First sales of refined precious metals for investment purposes
- Supplies of financial services made to businesses that make taxable supplies in excess of 75% of total supplies
- Certain transactions involving emissions units
- Exported second-hand goods if the recipient gives the supplier an undertaking in writing that the goods will not be reimported into New Zealand

- Certain supplies of which land is a component by GST-registered vendors to registered persons (effective from 1 April 2011)

In addition, some activities are exempt from GST. This means that no GST is charged, but the supplier does not have the right to deduct any related input tax (see Section F).

Examples of exempt supplies of goods and services

- Financial services (although some qualify for the zero rate)
- Sales of donated goods by nonprofit organizations
- Certain real estate transactions
- Supply of precious metals

Option to tax for exempt supplies. Not applicable.

E. Time of supply

The time when GST becomes due is called the “time of supply” or “tax point.” Under the general rule, a supply takes place when an invoice is issued or when payment is received by the supplier, whichever is earlier.

Taxable persons may opt to account for GST using the invoice basis, the payments basis or the hybrid basis. These methods are described below:

- Under the invoice basis of accounting, a taxable person must account for GST when an invoice is issued or when payment is received, whichever is earlier. Input tax is recoverable on the basis of tax invoices received (see Section F).
- A taxable person may use the payments basis of accounting if the total value of its taxable supplies in the preceding 12 months did not exceed NZD2 million or if its turnover is not expected to exceed this figure in the following 12 months. Under the payments basis of accounting, a taxable person must account for GST on the basis of payments received (except for a supply for which the consideration is more than NZD225,000 and a supply that is not a short-term agreement for the sale and purchase of property or services). Input tax is recoverable on the basis of invoices paid (see Section F). Non-residents registered under the “enhanced” GST registration system must account for GST on a payments basis. Under the hybrid basis of accounting, a taxable person accounts for GST when an invoice is issued or when a payment is received, whichever is earlier. Input tax is recoverable on the basis of invoices paid (see Section F).
- Where the supplier and recipient are associated entities, the time of supply is the earliest of the issuing of an invoice, the receipt of payment by the supplier, or the making available of the goods, removal of movable goods, or performance of the services.

Imported goods. Not applicable, no separate time of supply treatment for imported goods.

F. Recovery of GST by taxable persons

A taxable person may recover input tax, which is GST charged on goods and services supplied to it for business purposes. A taxable person generally recovers input tax by deducting it from output tax, which is GST charged on supplies made. Input tax includes

GST charged on goods and services supplied in New Zealand and GST paid on imports.

From 1 April 2014, nonresidents may recover GST costs without making taxable supplies in New Zealand.

A valid tax invoice or customs document must generally accompany a claim for input tax for a supply greater than NZD50 (including GST).

A taxable person is effectively restricted from claiming input tax credits with respect to supplies that are greater than two years old except in certain circumstances.

Nondeductible input tax. Input tax may not be recovered on purchases of goods and services that are not used for business purposes (for example, goods acquired for private use by an entrepreneur).

Examples of items for which input tax is nondeductible

- Nonbusiness expenditure
- 50% of business entertainment expenses

Examples of items for which input tax is deductible
(if related to a taxable business use)

- Purchase, lease, hire, maintenance and fuel for cars, vans and trucks
- Conferences and seminars
- Advertising
- Accommodation
- Mobile phones
- Business gifts
- Travel expenses

Partial exemption (adjustments). Effective from 1 April 2011, a registered person may recover GST, to the extent that the acquired goods or services are used for making taxable supplies. This new input tax regime replaces the “principal purpose” test described below with an apportionment test. Under the new regime, a taxpayer apportions GST incurred on the acquisition of goods and services and claims an input tax deduction for goods or services that are used for making taxable supplies.

To determine the extent that goods or services are used for making taxable supplies, a taxpayer must estimate how it intends to use the goods or services, and choose a determination method that provides a fair and reasonable result. The taxpayer then uses the estimated intended taxable use of the goods and services to determine the proportion of the input tax that corresponds to the estimated intended taxable use.

A taxpayer is not required to apportion input tax if it makes both taxable and exempt supplies and has reasonable grounds to believe that the total value of its exempt supplies is no more than the lesser of NZD90,000 or 5% of the revenue from all taxable and exempt supplies for the period beginning at least 12 months from acquisition and ending on the person’s balance date.

Taxpayers may be required to make further adjustments if the actual taxable use of an asset is different from its intended taxable use.

A special rule has been introduced for situations in which land is used concurrently for a taxable purpose and a non-taxable purpose, such as when land is simultaneously advertised for sale (taxable use) and rented out as a dwelling (non-taxable use). The new rule requires a registered person to calculate the percentage that the land is used for making taxable supplies by using the following formula:

$$\frac{\text{Consideration for taxable supply}}{\text{Total consideration for supply}} \times 100$$

In the above formula, “consideration for taxable supply” is the amount paid on a disposal of land in the adjustment period or the market value of the land at the time of making the adjustment. “Total consideration for supply” is the consideration for taxable supply, as described in the preceding sentence, plus the total exempt rental income payable since the acquisition of the land.

From 17 July 2013 for land and 1 April 2014 for boats/planes, special apportionment rules apply where the asset is used for both income-earning and private activities. If an asset is not used for at least 62 days per income year, expenditure relating to such assets is to be apportioned according to the following formula:

$$\text{GST amount} * (\text{income days} / (\text{income days} + \text{private days}))$$

In the formula, days can be substituted for a comparable unit, such as flying hours for planes or nights for accommodation. Some expenditure is fully deductible, such as costs incurred to repair damage caused when the asset is used to earn income, expenditure solely relating to the use of the asset for deriving income which derives no personal benefit (such as advertising), and expenditure incurred to meet regulatory requirements. Before 1 April 2011, a registered person could recover GST if it acquired goods and services principally for business purposes. GST was not recoverable for goods and services that are acquired principally for nonbusiness purposes or principally for making exempt supplies.

If goods and services were acquired principally for making taxable supplies but were also used for making exempt supplies, an output tax adjustment was required to the extent that the goods and services were used for making exempt supplies.

If goods and services were acquired principally for making exempt supplies or for non businesses, an input tax adjustment was required to the extent that the goods and services were used for making taxable supplies. Some transitional rules relate to specific aspects of the changes discussed above.

Capital goods. Capital goods are items of capital expenditure that are used in a business over several years. Input GST is not recoverable to the extent that the capital goods are purchased by a business for private use. Similarly input GST is not recoverable to the extent that capital goods are used to make exempt supplies (assuming the value of the exempt supplies is more than NZD90,000 or 5% of the total supplies made by the registered person). The calculation is based on the straight-line depreciation of the asset (based on tables published by the Inland Revenue) applied to the lower of the cost or the current market value of the asset.

For capital goods acquired before 1 April 2011, no limit applies to the number of GST adjustments required to be made to reflect the taxable use of the capital assets. For capital goods acquired on or after 1 April 2011, the number of GST adjustments required is determined by reference to the value of the capital goods.

Refunds. If the amount of input GST recoverable in a period exceeds the amount of output GST payable, a refund may be claimed. GST refunds are generally made within 15 working days after the Inland Revenue receives a correct return unless the Inland Revenue investigates the return and determines that the registered person has not complied with its GST obligations.

However, a refund can be withheld for up to 90 days for nonresidents registered under the new “enhanced” GST registration system.

Preregistration costs. Costs incurred prior to registration can be claimed provided they were legally incurred by the company or person seeking to recover them, and they relate to the taxable activity of that company or person. This includes goods or services acquired prior to the incorporation of a company, where the costs were incurred by a person who became a member, officer or employee of the company and was fully reimbursed for the costs, and where the goods and services were acquired for the purpose of a taxable activity to be carried out by the company and have only been used for that purpose.

G. Recovery of GST by non-established businesses

From 1 April 2014, a non-established business that does not make taxable supplies in New Zealand may register for GST to recover GST incurred in New Zealand. The following rules will govern the scheme:

- The non-established business must be registered for GST or VAT in its own country.
- The GST refund resulting from the first GST return must be more than NZD500.
- The GST input tax credits only arise when the nonresident has paid for the expenditure.
- The nonresident cannot form a New Zealand GST group with New Zealand resident entities unless the nonresident is registering for GST under the ordinary rules.
- The nonresident must not be making supplies of services that are likely to be received by a person in New Zealand who is not registered for GST.
- The tax authority will not be legally obliged to refund the GST until 90 days after the GST return has been lodged.

H. Invoicing

Tax invoices and credit notes. A New Zealand-registered person must generally provide a tax invoice for all taxable supplies made to other taxable persons within 28 days after a request for the invoice. A tax invoice is generally required to support a claim for deduction of input tax for items that cost more than NZD50 (including GST).

A credit note may be used to reduce the GST charged and reclaimed on a supply if the value originally charged was incorrect. A credit note must indicate the reason why it was issued and must refer to both the GST originally charged and the corrected amount.

Foreign-currency invoices. Invoices must be issued in New Zealand dollars. If a tax invoice is issued in foreign currency, the values used for GST purposes may be converted to New Zealand dollars based on the exchange rate in effect at the time of supply.

I. GST returns and payment

GST returns are generally submitted monthly or bimonthly. Two cycles of bimonthly returns are provided to stagger submission dates. A taxable person may request a change in its GST return cycle to ease administration.

A registered person whose taxable turnover exceeds NZD24 million in a 12-month period must submit GST returns monthly. Other taxable persons may opt to submit GST returns monthly if they receive regular repayments of GST or if they find it easier to account for GST on a monthly basis.

A registered person whose annual taxable turnover does not exceed NZD500,000 may submit GST returns on a six-months' basis.

GST return periods generally end on the last day of the month. However, taxable persons may request different periods to align with their accounting records. GST return and payment due dates fall on the 28th day of the month following the end of the return period, except for the periods ending 30 November and 31 March. The due dates for these periods are 15 January and 7 May, respectively. The GST return form indicates the due date for each return.

For registered persons that are provisional taxpayers, provisional tax installment dates should coincide with the GST return due dates. A provisional taxpayer is a person that pays its anticipated yearly income tax liability in installments during the income year.

J. Penalties

A penalty is assessed for the late payment of GST. A penalty of 1% of the tax due is assessed on the day after the due date. If the tax remains outstanding, the following additional penalties apply:

- 4% of the tax that is due seven days after the due date
- 1% of the tax due each month that the tax remains unpaid

A late filing penalty may be imposed, effective from 1 April 2008. The amount of the late filing penalty is NZD250 if the registered person accounts for GST payable on an invoice basis or NZD50 if the registered person is using the payments basis.

Penalties are also assessed for underpayments of GST. This "shortfall penalty" is assessed as a fixed percentage of the tax due, depending on the nature of the error, in the following amounts:

- Lack of reasonable care: 20% of the tax due
- Gross carelessness: 40% of the tax due
- Tax evasion: 150% of the tax due
- Adopting an abusive tax position: 100% of the tax due

Penalties may be reduced in certain circumstances by up to 75%.

A reduction of the shortfall penalty to zero may apply if the penalty is imposed for not taking reasonable care and if the registered person makes a voluntary disclosure before notification of an Inland Revenue audit or investigation.

In addition, interest is calculated for underpayments and overpayments of GST. Effective from 8 May 2012, the rate of interest is 8.4% for underpayments and 1.75% for overpayments. Interest rates are subject to change.

A range of GST offenses are subject to fines and imprisonment, depending on the offense committed. The maximum fine is NZD50,000.

Nicaragua

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Please direct all inquiries regarding Nicaragua to the persons listed below in EY's San José, Costa Rica office.

Managua

GMT -6

EY

Centro Corporativo Invercasa
Tower 3, 5th Floor
Managua
Nicaragua

Indirect tax contacts

Rafael Sayagués (resident in San José, Costa Rica)	New York: +1 (212) 773-4761 rafael.sayagues@cr.ey.com	+506 2208-9880
Juan Carlos Chavarría (resident in San José, Costa Rica)		+506 2208-9844 juan-carlos.chavarría@cr.ey.com
Antonio Ruiz (resident in San José, Costa Rica)		+506 2208-9822 antonio.ruiz@cr.ey.com
Luis Eduardo Ocando B. (resident in Panama)		+507 208-0144 luis.ocando@pa.ey.com

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Value-added tax (VAT)
Local name	Impuesto al valor agregado (IVA)
Date introduced	21 December 1984 (revised 6 May 2003)
Trading bloc membership	None that would provide differentiated VAT treatment
Administered by	Ministry of Finance (Ministerio de Hacienda y Crédito Público) (http://www.dgi.gob.ni)
VAT rates
Standard	15%
Other	Zero-rated and exempt
VAT number format	Taxpayer identification number (RUC)
VAT return periods	Monthly (two weeks for large taxpayers)
Thresholds
Registration	None
Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses	No

B. Scope of the tax

VAT applies to the following transactions:

- Transfer and supply of goods
- Supply of services within Nicaragua
- Use or enjoyment of goods

- Importation of goods
- Exports of goods and services

Effective 1 January 2013, taxable events include the sale, importation and nationalization of goods, the export of goods and services, the rendering of services and the use and enjoyment of goods.

C. Who is liable

No separate VAT registry exists in Nicaragua. All businesses must register as taxpayers. The taxpayer identification number (RUC) is also used for VAT purposes. A taxpayer for VAT purposes is any entity or individual that engages in taxable operations in Nicaragua.

Group registration. Grouping of separate legal entities for VAT purposes is not allowed under the Nicaraguan VAT law. Legal entities that are closely connected must register for VAT individually.

Non-established businesses and tax representatives. A “non-established business” is a business that has no fixed establishment in Nicaragua. In principle, a non-established business must register for VAT if it supplies goods or services in Nicaragua. To register for VAT, a non-established business must provide the VAT authorities with a copy of its articles of incorporation, legalized by a Nicaraguan consulate, together with an official translation in Spanish.

Registration procedures. Taxpayers must register before the tax administration at the time they start selling goods or rendering services subject to VAT. For this purpose taxpayers should file a registration form, incorporation documents of the company, the registration of the company in the public register and copies of the identification number of the shareholders. The registration as a taxpayer takes approximately one week. The legal representative or person who holds a special power of attorney is entitled to do the registration.

Late-registration penalties. In case of late registration, a penalty of between 30 and 50 penalty units may be assessed. A penalty unit equals approximately 99 cents in US dollars.

Reverse charge. Effective 18 December 2014, the reverse charge applied by VAT taxpayers purchasing taxable goods or services from entities not established in Nicaragua was abolished. As a result, services rendered in Nicaragua by an entity located abroad are no longer subject to VAT.

Digital economy. There are no specific rules regarding the taxation of the digital economy for VAT purposes. However, the general taxable events indicated in Section B should always be observed regardless of whether or not they are transacted by digital means.

Deregistration. In order to deregister as VAT taxpayer, the following documents must be filed before the tax administration:

- Letter requesting VAT deregistration
- Accounting books

- Last invoice and the others invoices that taxpayer will no use
- VAT declaration of final inventory
- Annual declaration of income tax
- Tax identification (RUC)

D. VAT rates

The standard rate of VAT is 15%. It applies to the transfer and supply of all goods or services, unless a specific measure applies, such as zero rating for exportations or an exemption. Exempted activities do not give rise to a right of input tax (See Section F).

Examples of exempt supplies of goods and services

- Live animals and fresh fish
- Domestically produced fruits and vegetables that are unprocessed
- Basic foodstuffs, such as corn tortillas, rice, beans, certain dairy products, eggs and meat
- Used goods (unless imported)
- Crude oil
- Real estate transactions
- Life and health insurance
- Domestic transport
- Education
- Certain financial services
- Construction of social housing (as defined by law) and leasing of unfurnished accommodation
- Equipment used for agriculture
- Irrigation for agriculture and forestry
- Electricity used for irrigation
- Importation of goods, machinery and equipment for use by the media
- Books, newspapers and magazines
- Medicines and vaccines
- Local production of sanitary protection products and toilet paper
- Matches, kerosene, butane and electricity
- Veterinary products
- Insecticides, fungicides, fertilizers and seeds

Exports are zero-rated for VAT purposes.

Option to tax for exempt supplies. Not applicable.

E. Time of supply

The time when the taxable event is considered to have taken place and when VAT becomes due, is called the “tax point.” Under the tax law (Ley de Concertación Tributaria), for VAT purposes, the taxable event varies depending on the type of supplies. The applicable rules are summarized below.

Goods. The time of supply for the sale of goods is when the invoice or corresponding legal document is issued, when the goods are delivered to the new owner or when the new owner has the ability to dispose of the goods as the owner.

Services. The time of supply for the rendering of services is when the purchaser becomes legally liable for payment.

Imported goods. The time of supply for the importation of goods is when the goods are made available to the importer at the fiscal warehouse.

F. Recovery of VAT by taxable persons

A taxpayer may recover input tax, which is VAT paid on the purchase of goods and services used to generate other goods and services subject to VAT. Input tax is generally credited against output tax, which is VAT charged or collected on the sale of goods or the rendering of services. To deduct or credit input tax, all of the following conditions must be satisfied:

- The goods or services must be part of the economic process of transferring goods or providing services. This measure also applies to zero-rated operations.
- The payment must meet the deductibility requirements for income tax purposes even if the taxpayer is not subject to income tax.
- The payment must be adequately documented.

Nondeductible input tax. VAT is not creditable in the following cases:

- When VAT is paid on purchases related to the transfers of goods
- Services that are exempt from VAT
- Self-consumption

Examples of items for which input tax is nondeductible

- VAT paid to produce goods or services that are exempt from VAT
- Self-consumption

Examples of items for which input tax is deductible (if related to a taxable business use)

- VAT paid to produce goods or services subject to VAT

Refunds. If the amount of input VAT recoverable in a month exceeds the amount of output VAT payable, the taxpayer may carry forward VAT credits to offset output tax in subsequent VAT periods. Exporters and taxpayers that provide exempted activities may use their excess credits to offset other taxes (such as income tax) and then may request a refund.

Partial exemption. Not applicable.

Preregistration costs. Not applicable.

G. Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses

Nicaragua does not refund VAT incurred by foreign or non-established businesses unless they are registered as Nicaraguan VAT taxpayers.

Diplomats and international organizations. Diplomatic consular delegations and international organizations and agencies are exempt from VAT. Consequently, these organizations are also entitled to a reimbursement for VAT paid in Nicaragua if reciprocal treatment is granted to delegates from Nicaragua.

H. Invoicing

VAT invoices and credit and debit notes. A taxpayer must generally provide a VAT invoice for all taxable activities. An invoice is generally necessary to support a claim for an input tax credit.

A credit note may be used to reduce the VAT charged and reclaimed on a supply if the value is reduced for any reason (for example, a discount or bonus is granted, the price is changed, or the goods are returned). A credit note must generally include the same information as a tax invoice.

VAT is not chargeable on supplies of exported goods.

Foreign-currency invoices. Transactions must be registered in Nicaraguan córdobas (NIO).

Proof of exports. Invoice and declaration of exportation.

I. VAT returns and payment

VAT returns. VAT returns must be submitted on a monthly basis. Monthly returns must be submitted by the 15th day of the month following the end of the return period. However, large taxpayers must also make an advance payment of VAT within the first 15 days after the end of the VAT return period. They must make the full payment of VAT within five days after the advance payment.

Return liabilities must be paid in Nicaraguan córdobas.

J. Penalties

Interest is charged on the tax due at a rate of 5% per month for the late submission of a VAT return. In addition, a penalty fine applies, computed as a minimum of 70 units of fine, with a cap of 90 units of fine (each unit equals NIO25).

Other penalties may also apply, including a 25% penalty and surcharges ranging from 5% to 50%, both computed on the amount of unpaid VAT.

Tax evasion. Tax evasion that does not constitute fraud is deemed to occur if the taxpayer files an inaccurate return that results in the underpayment of VAT. The penalty for tax evasion is 100% of the VAT amount due.

Tax fraud. Tax fraud is deemed to exist when information has been altered in a manner that causes the tax authorities to incorrectly compute the amount of VAT due. Tax fraud is punishable by a term of imprisonment from six months to eight years.

Nigeria

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Lagos

GMT +1

EY

2A, Bayo Kuku Road
Ikoyi, Lagos
P.O. Box 2442
Marina
Lagos
Nigeria

Indirect tax contacts

Chinyere Ike	+234 (1) 463-0479 chinyere.ike@ng.ey.com
Abass Adeniji	+234 (1) 463-0479 abass.adeniji@ng.ey.com
James Adeagbo	+234 (1) 463-0479 james.adeagbo@ng.ey.com

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Value-added tax (VAT)
Date introduced	24 August 1993
Trading bloc membership	Economic Community of West African States Member
Administered by	Federal Inland Revenue Service (FIRS)
VAT rates
Standard	5%
Others	Zero-rated and exempt
VAT number format	01012345-0001
VAT return periods	Monthly
Registration thresholds	None
Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses	No

B. Scope of the tax

VAT applies to the following transactions:

- Supplies of goods and services other than those specifically exempt under the VAT Act
- Goods and services imported into Nigeria

C. Who is liable

Taxable persons. Taxable persons are persons that make supplies of goods and services. They are expected to register for VAT. The following are examples of taxable persons:

- Individuals or bodies of individuals, families, corporations with one shareholder, trustees or executors that carry out economic activities
- Persons exploiting tangible or intangible property for the purpose of obtaining income from the property in the course of a trade or business, including persons from or agencies of the government performing such actions

The following are required to deduct VAT on their suppliers' invoices and remit the VAT to the FIRS:

- Oil and gas companies including oil-service companies
- Governments and government agencies and departments
- Resident entities engaging in transactions with nonresidents

Non-established businesses. A nonresident company carrying on business in Nigeria is required to register for VAT using the address of the Nigerian customer with which it has a contract.

Group registration. The Nigerian law does not provide for group registration.

Late-registration penalties. The VAT Act provides for a late-registration penalty of NGN10,000 for the first month and NGN5,000 for every subsequent month in which the default continues.

Tax representatives. A taxpayer may register for VAT and file returns directly in person or appoint an accredited tax representative to act on its behalf.

Reverse charge. There are no specific reverse-charge provisions in the VAT Act. Under the act, however, the taxable person in Nigeria to whom the supply is made is required to account for the VAT due if:

- The supplier is a nonresident company.
- The consumer is a company operating in the oil and gas sector.
- The consumer is a government ministry or agent.

Deregistration. There is no provision for deregistration in the Nigerian VAT Act but there is a cessation requirement that the tax authorities should be notified in writing of the winding up or cessation of a business.

D. VAT rates

The standard rate of VAT is 5% of the invoiced amounts for taxable goods and services including imported goods. Certain goods and services are zero-rated or exempt from tax.

Examples of goods and services taxable at 0%

- Non-oil exports
- Goods and services purchased by diplomats
- Goods purchased for humanitarian donor-funded projects
- Imports of commercial aircraft, aircraft spare parts and machinery and equipment used in the solid minerals sector

Examples of exempt supplies of goods and services

- All exported goods and services
- Medical goods and services and pharmaceutical products
- Basic food items
- Books and educational materials
- Plant, machinery and goods imported for use in free-trade zones
- Plant, machinery and equipment purchased for the utilization of gas in downstream petroleum operations
- Tractors, plows and agricultural implements purchased for agricultural purposes

- Services rendered by community banks and mortgage institutions
- Plays and performances by educational institutions as part of learning
- Proceeds from the disposal of short-term federal government of Nigeria securities and bonds
- Proceeds from the disposal of short-term state, local government and corporate bonds. This exemption will only last ten years from a commencement date of 2 January 2012
- Fees or commissions earned on traded shares. This shall apply for five years effective 25 July 2014
- Fees or commissions due to Securities and Exchange Commission, the Nigerian Stock Exchange and the Central Securities Clearing System. This shall apply for five years effective from 25 July 2014

E. Time of supply

The time when VAT becomes due is called the “time of supply.” The VAT Act does not define “time of supply.” In practice, the “time of supply” is the date on which the related invoice is issued or payment is made, whichever is earlier.

F. Recovery of VAT by taxable persons

A taxable person may recover input tax that is charged on business purchases by offsetting it against output VAT which is charged on taxable supplies. If the input VAT exceeds the output VAT, the taxable person is allowed to claim a refund of the excess input VAT. An input VAT refund may be claimed in any of the following manners:

- Credit method
- Direct cash refund
- By both credit method and direct cash refund

The most common practice is the credit method under which the taxable person may offset the excess input VAT against the output VAT in the subsequent month.

Input VAT is recoverable from output VAT if it relates to goods purchased or imported directly for resale and goods which form the stock-in-trade used for the direct production of any new product on which the output tax is charged. Refund is also available for input VAT paid on zero-rated goods and services.

Nondeductible input tax. A taxable person cannot reclaim VAT paid on goods and services used for nonbusiness purposes. In addition, input VAT incurred on the purchase of fixed assets and expenses such as general administration and overhead costs, cannot be recovered from output VAT. Recovery of input VAT is not allowed with respect to the supply of services and exempt supplies.

VAT on fixed assets should be capitalized together with the cost of the assets, but VAT on general administration, overhead costs and services should be expensed in a company’s profit-and-loss account.

Refunds. The FIRS Establishment Act provides for a cash refund within 90 days, subject to appropriate audit by the FIRS.

G. Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses

Nonresident, unregistered businesses may not recover input VAT in Nigeria.

H. Invoicing

VAT invoices and credit notes. A taxable person that makes a taxable supply is required to furnish the purchaser with a tax invoice for that supply, which contains the following:

- Taxpayer's identification number
- Name and address
- VAT registration number
- Date of supply
- Name of purchaser or client
- Gross amount of transactions
- Tax charged and the rate applied
- Type of supply
- Quantity of goods and services supplied
- The rate of any cash discount offered

A tax invoice must be issued at the time of supply, regardless of whether payment is made at the time of supply.

VAT is payable in the currency of the transaction.

There are no specific provisions on credit notes in the VAT Act. However, as a principle in accounting, a VAT credit note should be used if the VAT payable on a supply is reduced or reversed because of a subsequent allowance or discount or an error. In practice, an annual reconciliation of total VAT per audited account with total VAT per monthly returns filed is carried out to ensure accurate VAT accounting and remittances. Accordingly, it will be helpful to have in place a credit note indicating a reversal of revenue and VAT initially recognized and accounted for.

The details of information to be contained in the credit note are essentially the same as that required in a tax invoice. However, the credit note should give a description of the initial invoice, the amount of which is reversed or reduced for ease of reference.

Foreign-currency invoices. There is a specific provision to remit the tax on a foreign currency denominated transaction in the currency of the transaction.

Electronic invoices. There are no specific provisions in the VAT Act on electronic invoices. In Nigeria, invoices are not submitted to the Nigerian tax authority when filing tax returns. However, a detailed review of physical invoices are carried out upon tax audit or investigation.

Proof of export. There are no specific provisions in the VAT Act on this. However, documentary evidence that goods physically left Nigeria and evidence within the accounting system to confirm that a transaction took place should suffice. This documentation should be kept accessible should the Nigerian tax authority request this. In the event that no document is provided on request by the tax authority, a company may be required to account for VAT on an export sale.

I. VAT returns and payments

VAT returns. VAT returns must be submitted monthly on VAT Form 002. A taxable person is required to submit a VAT return on or before the 21st day of the month following the month in which supplies are made. A taxable person must pay the tax due by the due date when filing the VAT returns. Payment must be made via a bank certified check or draft through designated banks to the local tax office which issues a receipt after confirmation of such payment.

The VAT return must be accompanied by a schedule containing details of the supplies made and received within the tax period.

J. Penalties

The following penalties may be issued with respect to VAT:

- Failure to issue tax invoice — fine of 50% of the cost of the goods or services for which a tax invoice was not issued
- Failure to maintain proper records — NGN2,000 for every month in which the failure continues
- Failure to submit returns — fine of NGN5,000 for every month in which the failure continues
- Failure to remit VAT — 5% per year of the amount of tax not remitted, plus interest at the bank lending rate
- Failure to collect tax — penalty of 150% of the amount not collected, plus 5% interest above the Central Bank of Nigeria's "rediscount" rate (monetary policy rate)

The VAT Act provides a penalty of 5% for late remittance of VAT. The FIRS Establishment Act provides a penalty of 10% for late payment of any tax (including VAT). Section 68 of the FIRS Establishment Act gives it supremacy over other tax laws. However, in practice, the FIRS applies a penalty of 5% for VAT.

Norway

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Oslo GMT +1

EY
Mail address:
Oslo Atrium
P.O. Box 20
N-0051 Oslo
Norway

Street address:
Dronning Eufemias gate 6
N-0151 Oslo
Norway

Indirect tax contacts

Per Oskar Tobiassen	+47 24-00-22-69 per.oskar.tobiassen@no.ey.com
Christin Bøsterud	+47 24-00-20-33 christin.bosterud@no.ey.com
Øystein Arff Gulseth	+47 24-00-23-87 oystein.arff.gulseth@no.ey.com
Agnete Haugerud	+47 24-00-25-18 agnete.haugerud@no.ey.com

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Value-added tax (VAT)
Local name	Merverdiavgift
Date introduced	1 January 1970
Trading bloc membership	European Free Trade Association (EFTA)
Administered by	Ministry of Finance (http://www.skatteetaten.no)
VAT rates
Standard	25%
Reduced	8% and 15%
Other	Zero-rated (or exempt with credit) and exempt without credit
VAT number format	123 456 789 MVA
VAT return periods	Bimonthly (with the possibility for shorter periods) Annual (for farmers and fishermen; optional for other businesses if taxable turnover does not exceed NOK1 million)
Thresholds
Registration	NOK50,000 (NOK140,000 for some charitable and nonprofit organizations)
Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses	Yes

B. Scope of the tax

VAT applies to the following transactions:

- The supply of goods or services made in Norway by a taxable person
- Withdrawals of goods from a registered enterprise or an enterprise with a registration obligation for a use outside the scope of the VAT Act and withdrawals of services from a registered enterprise or an enterprise with a registration obligation for a private use or for a purpose that falls outside the scope of the enterprise as a whole
- Purchase of intangible or remote supply services from abroad by a Norwegian taxable person or public body
- The importation of goods, regardless of the status of the importer

The application of delivery terms affects the deemed place of supply for goods. The supply of services in Norway related to goods or real property is deemed to be liable to VAT in Norway.

C. Who is liable

A taxable person is any business entity or individual that makes taxable supplies of goods or services in Norway, in the course of a business.

The VAT registration threshold is NOK50,000 during a 12-month period. However, for charitable bodies and some nonprofit organizations, the 12-month threshold is NOK140,000. Special rules also apply to certain partnerships, trading companies and corporations.

Voluntary registration. Norwegian VAT legislation provides an option for voluntary registration for VAT purposes for certain activities. For example, voluntary registration is available for leasing property for use by a taxable business.

Group registration. The Norwegian VAT Act provides that “collaborating companies” may form a VAT group. Group registration may apply if one or more companies own at least 85% of the capital in each company and if the companies are collaborating. Special issues arise for groups of companies with foreign presence.

The VAT authorities must be notified before a VAT group may be formed or dissolved.

Members of a VAT group are regarded as one taxable person liable to payment of VAT. All of the participating companies are jointly and severally liable for the correct payment of VAT. Transactions between companies within a VAT group are generally not subject to VAT. However, the withdrawal of taxable goods or services from a taxable part of the group’s business may be subject to VAT.

Non-established businesses. A “non-established business” is a business that has no fixed establishment in Norway. A non-established business must register for VAT if it makes taxable supplies of goods or services in Norway in excess of the registration threshold. Effective 1 January 2013, nonresident foreign transporters that supply only international, zero-rated transportation services may choose between registering for VAT and thereafter applying for refunds of input VAT on VAT returns or remaining not registered and applying for VAT refunds through the refund regime.

Digital economy. Effective from 1 July 2011, nonresidents who supply electronic services to final consumers in Norway (B2C supplies) are required to register for VAT and charge VAT on services supplied to Norwegian consumers. For these purposes, electronic services include the supply of, for example, e-books, films, music and software. To coincide with this change, a new form of foreign VAT registration, which is intended to be less burdensome in terms of administration, has been introduced for overseas companies affected by the changes. As an alternative to the use of a fiscal representative, simplified registration and reporting arrangements based on the EU system (one-stop-scheme) have been established.

Importation of goods. The one that is acting as the importer of records (recipient of goods) in the customs declaration is liable to pay import VAT.

VAT representatives. If a non-established business is required to register for VAT in Norway, it must appoint a resident tax representative, unless it maintains a place of business or a registered office in Norway.

Domestic reverse charge. Effective 1 January 2014, the reverse-charge mechanism applies to the sale of industrial and investment gold.

Registration procedures. The taxable person must complete the Coordinated Register Notification Part 1 and 2 which is a common form for registration in the Central Coordinating Register of Norway and the VAT register. Every enterprise registered in the Central Coordinating Register will be given a unique nine-digit organization number. This number is used as a means of identification for the entities by most official registers containing business related information, such as the Register of Employers, the VAT register, etc. The taxable person, his accountant, auditor or adviser are entitled to apply for registration.

The application form is available at:
<http://www.brreg.no/english/forms/>

Fee listings for registration are available at:
http://www.brreg.no/english/fees_reg/

It is possible and preferable to register the business online. More information is available at:

<http://www.brreg.no/english/registration.html>
<https://www.altinn.no/en/Start-and-Run-a-Business/>
<https://www.altinn.no/en/Start-and-Run-a-Business/Start-up-and-registration/Registration-with-the-VAT-Register/>

Late-registration penalties. No specific penalty applies to late VAT registration in Norway. However, penalties and interest are assessed if, as a result of the late registration, a taxable person submits a late VAT return or pays VAT late.

Deregistration. Different rules apply to deregistration and closures of different types of entities and enterprises, but all deregistrations and closures shall be notified using the Coordinated Register Notification form Part 1 and 2. If VAT liable turnover falls under NOK50,000, without the business being deleted, the taxable person remains registered in the Norwegian VAT register for two years.

D. VAT rates

The term “taxable supplies” refers to all supplies of goods and services that fall within the scope of the Norwegian VAT Act, including zero-rated supplies.

The VAT rates are:

- Standard rate: 25%
- Reduced rates: 8% and 15%
- Zero rate (0%)

The standard rate of VAT applies to all supplies and importation of goods or services, unless a specific measure allows a reduced rate, the zero rate or an exemption.

Examples of goods and services taxable at 0%

- Exports
- Supplies to foreign ships, and aircraft and ships involved in foreign trade
- Books and newspapers
- Transfer of a business as a going concern
- International transportation services (goods and passengers)

Examples of services taxable at 8%

- Domestic passenger transportation services (excluding the leasing of vehicles as such)
- Television licenses
- Hotel accommodation
- Museums
- Amusement parks
- Galleries
- Bigger sport events

Examples of goods and services taxable at 15%

- Food (excluding alcohol and tobacco, and supplies in restaurants)

In Norway, the term “exempt with credit” is also used for zero-rated supplies. This means that no VAT is chargeable, but the supplier may recover input VAT related to the supplies. The terms “exempt” and “outside the scope” are used for supplies of goods and services that are not liable to VAT and that do not give rise to a right of input tax deduction (see Section F).

Examples of exempt supplies of goods and services (also called outside the scope of the VAT Act)

- Financial services
- Insurance
- Lease of residential property
- Medical services
- Educational services
- Real estate transactions
- Specified cultural and sporting events

Examples of goods and services taxable at 0%

- Exports
- Supplies to foreign ships and aircraft, and ships involved in foreign trade
- Books and newspapers
- Transfer of a business as a going concern
- International transportation services (goods and passengers)

Option to tax for exempt supplies. Not applicable.

E. Time of supply

The time when VAT becomes due is called the “time of supply” or “tax point.” The basic time of supply for goods is when they are delivered. The basic time of supply for services is when they are performed. The time of payment does not generally affect the time of supply. If a customer makes an advance payment, the general rule is that the tax point remains the date of delivery of the goods or the date of performance of the services.

The supplier may defer the time of supply by issuing an invoice. In general, an invoice may be issued up to one month after the date of delivery of goods or performance of services. The invoice date then becomes the tax point.

Sales documents issued within the first 15 working days of the month, can state the last day of the preceding month as the document date, provided that the goods or services are delivered at this time.

Deliveries that are invoiced monthly may be invoiced within the first 15 working days of the month following the month of delivery.

Services that are supplied on a continuous basis must be invoiced within one month after the end of the ordinary VAT period in which the delivery takes place.

For services that are delivered on the basis of metered consumption (for example, electricity and telecommunications), sales documentation may be issued for longer periods, up to a maximum period of one year.

For services that are delivered on the basis of a tender or an equivalent pre-agreed price, the parties may agree on the sales documentation, unless the agreed invoicing deviates materially from the actual progress of the service delivery.

Sales documentation for certain services, such as passenger transportation or leases, may be issued in advance.

Reverse-charge services. VAT payable through the reverse-charge mechanism is due on the date of the invoice if the invoice is issued in accordance with the generally accepted accounting principles in the country of the service provider.

Imported goods. The time of supply for imported goods is the official date of importation.

F. Recovery of VAT by taxable persons

A taxable person may recover VAT, which is charged on goods and services supplied to it for business purposes. A taxable person generally recovers input VAT by deducting it from output VAT, which is VAT charged on supplies made.

Input VAT includes VAT charged on goods and services supplied in Norway, VAT paid on imports of goods and VAT self-assessed for reverse-charge services received from outside Norway.

The amount of the VAT reclaimed must be detailed on a valid VAT invoice. Consequently, VAT may not be deducted as input VAT before a VAT invoice is received. Input VAT that is not properly documented may not be deducted. The input VAT deduction must be reported in the VAT period in which the invoice is dated.

Effective 1 January 2011, a deduction of input VAT may be granted only if the payment is made through a bank or similar financial institution, unless the total payment is less than NOK10,000.

Nondeductible input VAT. Input VAT may not be recovered on purchases of goods and services that are not for use in a business that is subject to VAT (for example, goods acquired for private use). In addition, input VAT may not be recovered for some items of business expenditure.

Examples of items for which input VAT is nondeductible

- Tobacco and alcohol
- Personal expenses
- Business entertainment
- Restaurant meals
- Purchase and maintenance of passenger vehicles, with certain exemptions for taxi and car-lease companies
- Gifts and handouts for advertising purposes if the value is at least NOK100 inclusive of VAT

Examples of items for which input VAT is deductible (if related to a taxable business use)

- Advertising
- Purchase, lease and hire of vans and trucks not for private use
- Fuel for vans and trucks not for private use
- Conferences
- Business use of home telephones and mobile telephones
- Passenger transportation services that are not for private use

Partial exemption. Input VAT directly related to making exempt supplies is generally not recoverable. If a Norwegian taxable person makes both exempt supplies and taxable supplies, it may not deduct input VAT in full. This situation is referred to as “partial exemption.” Exempt with credit supplies are treated as taxable supplies for these purposes.

Input VAT incurred on purchases that are used for both taxable and exempt supplies must be apportioned to reflect the supplies that carry the right to deduction and those that do not carry such right. The apportionment may also be calculated based on the ratio of taxable supplies to exempt supplies in the preceding financial year if the preceding financial year is representative of the normal pattern of trading.

Refunds. If the amount of VAT recoverable in a bimonthly period exceeds the amount of output tax payable in that period, the taxable person has an input tax credit. A refund claim is triggered automatically if the VAT return shows a VAT credit. Refunds are generally processed within three weeks after the date on which the VAT authorities receive the VAT return. The VAT authorities pay interest on refunds that are paid late. The interest rate is revised on 1 January of each year, based on the key rate of the Norwegian State Bank. The annual interest rate is 1.5% as of 1 January 2013.

Preregistration costs. Not applicable.

G. Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses

The Norwegian VAT authorities refund VAT incurred by businesses that are neither established in Norway nor registered for VAT there. A non-established business may claim Norwegian VAT to the same extent that a Norwegian taxable person may deduct input VAT incurred in the course of a similar business in Norway.

Norway does not apply the reciprocity principle to refunds. Consequently, it does not exclude claimants based on the country where they are established.

For example, effective 1 January 2013, foreign entrepreneurs providing transport services directly to and from Norway are not obliged to register for VAT, but they are entitled to receive a refund of VAT paid on purchases of goods and services in Norway.

Refund application. A claimant must submit the following documentation to obtain a VAT refund:

- Application Form RF 1032
- Under the general rule, the original VAT invoices
- A power of attorney if the claimant uses the services of a third party to recover the VAT
- A certificate of taxable status obtained from the competent tax authorities in the country in which the claimant is established. The certificate, which is valid for 12 months from the date of issuance, must be completed, signed and stamped by the local tax authorities
- If the claim relates to goods that are located in Norway at the time of submission of the claim form, an explanation of the basis on which the refund is requested

The deadline for submitting applications is 30 June following the claim year. This deadline is strictly enforced. The forms must be completed in Norwegian, Danish, English or Swedish. The minimum claim period is a calendar quarter, and the maximum claim period is one calendar year. The minimum claim amounts are NOK2,000 for a quarter and NOK200 for an annual claim.

Applications for refunds of Norwegian VAT may be sent to the following address:

Skatt Øst – Moss
Postboks 103
N-1501 Moss
Norway

Repayment interest. Claims for VAT refunds are generally paid within six months. Interest is not paid on late refunds.

H. Invoicing

VAT invoices and credit notes. Under the general rule, invoices and credit notes must be issued by the supplier for all sales and exports. A Norwegian taxable person must generally provide an invoice including VAT for all taxable supplies made. Invoices must support claims for input tax made by Norwegian taxable persons and VAT refunds claimed by non-established businesses.

A credit note may be used to reduce the VAT charged and reclaimed on a supply. The document should be marked “credit note” and it must refer to the original invoice.

Proof of exports. Goods and services exported to countries outside Norway or supplied to the Norwegian areas of Jan Mayen and Svalbard are exempt from VAT with input tax credit. To qualify exported goods as VAT-free, the supplier must prove that the goods have been exported. The documentation requirement for goods is as follows:

- A printed copy of the Customs Single Administrative Document where an attestation from the transporter or the Customs has been inserted Foreign-currency invoices. If an invoice is issued in a foreign currency, the VAT must be stated in Norwegian kroner, using the official exchange rate for the date of the invoice. No other exchange rate may be used for VAT purposes. Other amounts shown on the invoice may be stated in other currencies.

I. VAT returns and payment

VAT returns. In general, Norwegian taxable persons file bimonthly VAT returns. However, farmers and fishermen must file returns annually. Businesses with taxable turnover of less than NOK1 million may opt to file annual returns.

VAT groups submit a single, joint VAT return.

To ease cash flow, businesses that receive regular VAT refunds may request shorter VAT return periods. Taxable persons must contact the appropriate VAT office to register for annual returns or for permission to use shorter VAT return periods.

For bimonthly VAT returns, the VAT due for each period must be reported and paid in full within 1 month and 10 days after the end of the VAT period. Return liabilities must be paid in Norwegian kroner.

J. Penalties

Penalty interest is assessed for late payment of VAT. The interest rate is announced twice a year in a decree issued by the Ministry of Finance. The annual interest rate as of 1 July 2014 was 9.50%. The minimum penalty is NOK100. The interest rate was last changed on 1 July 2013. An additional penalty of up to 100% of the tax due for a period may be imposed on taxable persons that willfully or negligently contravene the provisions of the VAT Act. Penalties may also be assessed for failing to submit VAT returns.

Pakistan

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Karachi

GMT +5

EY

Ford Rhodes Sidat Hyder & Co.
Mail address:
P.O. Box 15541
Karachi
Pakistan

Street address:
Ernst & Young
Progressive Plaza
Beaumont Road
Karachi
Pakistan

Indirect tax contacts

Majid Khandwala (Karachi)	+92 (21) 3565-0007 majid.khandwala@pk.ey.com
Khalil Waggan (Karachi)	+92 (21) 3565-0007 khalil.waggan@pk.ey.com
Muhammad Awais (Lahore)	+92 (42) 3721-1539 muhammad.awais@pk.ey.com
Tariq Jamil (Islamabad)	+92 (51) 2344160 tariq.jamil@pk.ey.com

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Sales tax
Date introduced	1 November 1990
Trading bloc membership	None
Administered by	Federal Board of Revenue (http://www.fbr.gov.pk) Sindh Revenue Board “ http://www.srb.gos.pk/ ” Punjab Revenue Authority (https://pra.punjab.gov.pk) Khyber Pakhtunkhwa Revenue Authority (https://kpra.kp.gov.pk/)
Sales tax rates
Standard	17% for goods, 16% and 15% for services
Reduced	1%, 2%, 4%, 5%, 8%, 10%
Other	27%, 19.5%, 18.5%, zero-rated and exempt
Sales tax number format	11-11-1111-111-11
Sales tax return periods	Monthly, quarterly and annual
Thresholds
Registration
Manufacturers	PKR5 million or utility bills exceed PKR700,000
Retailers	PKR5 million
Recovery of sales tax by non-established businesses	No

B. Scope of the tax

Sales tax applies to the following transactions:

- Taxable supply of goods made in Pakistan in the course of a taxable activity carried on by a taxable person
- Taxable import of goods into Pakistan
- Rendering services, as specified by law

Services liable to sales tax include the following activities performed in Pakistan:

- Services provided by clubs and caterers
- Services provided by hotels
- Services provided by customs agents, ship chandlers and stevedores
- Courier services
- Television and radio advertising, excluding public service messages and government health education announcements

Federal excise duty is levied and collected using the sales tax mechanism on the following excisable goods and services:

- Edible oil
- Vegetable ghee and cooking oil
- White crystalline sugar (reduced rate of 8%)
- Advertising on closed-circuit television
- Advertising on cable television networks
- Advertisements in newspapers and periodicals (excluding classified advertisements) and on hoarding boards, pole signs and sign boards (exclusions apply)
- Domestic travel by air
- Carriage of goods by air
- Services rendered by shipping agents
- Telecommunication services (exclusions apply)
- Services provided by banking and non-banking financial companies (exclusions apply)
- Services provided by insurance companies (exclusions apply)
- Services provided by stockbrokers
- Services provided by port and terminal operators with respect to imports excluding stevedoring services
- Franchise services

Under the Constitution of Pakistan the provinces have the right to impose sales tax on services. In the past the provinces granted the right to the federal government to collect on their behalf sales tax on services. Consequently, the Federal Board of Revenue (FBR) administered and collected sales tax on services.

However, pursuant to certain amendments in the Constitution of Pakistan, three provinces have set up their own Revenue Board/ Authority and promulgated its own legislation with regard to the administration and collection of sales tax on services. These are as follows:

- Sindh Revenue Board – Sales Tax on Services Act, 2011 – effective 1 July 2011
- Punjab Revenue Authority – Sales Tax on Services Act, 2012 – effective 1 July 2012
- Khyber Pakhtunkhwa Revenue Authority – Khyber Pakhtunkhwa Finance Act, 2013 – effective 1 July 2013

The provincial legislation includes the following services or service providers, as listed in the Second Schedule of the respective acts, that are taxable in one or more of the three provinces:

- Telecommunication
- Advertisements
- Banking companies and non-banking financial institutions
- Insurance companies
- Services provided or rendered by persons engaged in the contractual execution of work or furnishing supplies
- Construction services
- Shipping, customs and freight forwarding agents, stevedores and ship chandlers
- Services rendered by money exchangers
- Airport services
- Management services, including fund and asset management services
- Property developers
- Services provided by accountants and auditors and legal practitioners (at reduced rate of 5%)
- Technical, scientific and engineering consultants
- Rent a car and automobile rental services
- Surveyors
- Call centers
- Business support services
- Program producers and production houses
- Event management services
- Labor and manpower supply
- Public bonded warehouse
- Fumigation service
- Maintenance or cleaning service
- Janitorial service, etc.
- Hotels, restaurants, marriage halls, lawns, clubs and caterers
- Franchise services
- Services provided in the matter of manufacturing or processing for others on toll basis
- Services provided by architects or town planners
- Services provided by management consultants

Rules governing taxable services for Khyber Pakhtunkhwa are awaited, especially with regard to claimable or non-claimable sales tax, sales tax withholding, etc.

The province of Balochistan and Islamabad Capital Territory, however, continue to empower the Federal Board of Revenue to administer the tax on their behalf. In view of separate provincial legislation in the three provinces, many service providers are now required to file four separate sales tax returns and make four separate sales tax payments.

C. Who is liable

A taxable person is a business that is required to register for sales tax. Taxable persons include the following:

- Manufacturers whose taxable turnover in the preceding 12 months exceeded PKR5 million or whose utility bills (gas, electricity and telephone) exceeded PKR700,000
- Retailers
- Importers

- Wholesalers (including dealers) and distributors
- Commercial exporters
- Businesses that supply taxable services

Sales tax registration is required for every taxable person. Supplying taxable goods without a sales tax registration is tax fraud.

Registration procedures. Application for sales tax registration needs to be submitted online through the FBR web portal (<http://regsys.fbr.gov.pk/Registration/NewRegistration.aspx?type=1>). An online application is required to be filed providing data such as the registered office address, email address, cell phone number, bank accounts, utility bills details, etc. Within 10 working days after online submission, the hard copy of the application, signed and stamped, is dispatched to the PRAL office located in Islamabad, along with supportive documents, such as a copy of national tax number (NTN) of the entity and of directors/owners/proprietors, a copy of the computerized national identity cards of directors/owners/proprietors, last paid utility bills, if business premises rented then tenancy agreement, list of machinery, maintenance of bank account certificate, etc. Generally, the sales tax registration process with FBR is a long, cumbersome process and takes a minimum of eight weeks' time. It usually involves a physical inspection of the premises by the tax officers.

Taxpayers who are already registered with the FBR and are applying for sales tax registration with provinces will have to opt for e-enrollment, whereby once the process of e-enrollment is completed automatically, the entire data of the taxpayer as present in the FBR database would be transferred to the provincial tax authorities and the taxpayers will obtain sales tax registration with the respective provincial tax authority.

However, where taxpayers are not registered with FBR and are applying for sales tax registration with the provincial tax authorities, the taxpayers will have to fill out an online application on the web portal, and after submitting it, a designated user ID and password will be issued to the taxpayer via email.

The web address for sales tax registration with Sindh is <https://e.srb.gos.pk/Registration/NewRegistration.aspx?type=1&app=reg®type=3&ID=7617>

The web address for sales tax registration with Punjab is <https://pra.punjab.gov.pk/Registration/NewRegistration.aspx?type=1&app=reg®type=3&ID=793>

The web address for sales tax registration with Khyber Pakhtunkhwa is <https://kp.ra.gov.pk/Registration/NewRegistration.aspx?type=1&app=reg®type=3&ID=6464>

Late-registration penalties. A penalty of PKR10,000 or 5% of the tax due, whichever is greater, is assessed for failure to register for sales tax. Failure to register within 60 days after beginning a taxable activity may be punishable by a term of imprisonment of up to three years, if the person is convicted by a special judge, or by a fine of up to the amount of tax involved, or both.

Special provisions for importers. Importers must pay additional sales tax at a rate of 3% above the normal sales tax rate payable at the import stage. The 3% tax is considered as a minimum value addition tax and can be claimed as input tax. Any excess input tax can be carried forward. However, it is not refundable. The 3% tax does not apply to goods that are imported by a manufacturer for in-house consumption.

Special provisions for retailers. The following retailers are required to register for sales tax:

- Retailers operating as a unit of a national or international chain of stores
- Retailers who have a credit or debit card machine
- Retailers operating in air-conditioned shopping malls/plaza
- Retailers whose cumulative electricity bill in preceding 12 months exceeds PKR600,000
- A wholesaler-cum-retailer

The above retailers will be required to charge sales tax at standard rate, i.e., 17% on their taxable supplies and will be required to file the monthly sales tax return. Such retailers would be entitled to adjust any input tax paid or payable on their purchases.

Other than the above retailers, sales tax would be charged through their electricity bills issued by the electric companies at the rate of 5%, where the monthly bill does not exceed PKR20,000 and where the bill exceeds the aforesaid limit a rate of 7.5 % would be applicable. Such retailers would not be entitled to adjust any input tax nor would be required to file the monthly sales tax return.

Group registration. Not applicable.

Non-established businesses. Not applicable.

Tax representatives. These persons are authorized by a taxpayer to represent them before the tax authorities.

Only the following persons are authorized to represent a taxpayer:

- Tax practitioners registered under Income Tax rules, Sales Tax rules, Custom Act
- Advocates practicing under the Legal Practitioners and Bar Councils Act, 1973
- A person holding a bachelor or masters degree in commerce
- An accountant
- A person working in the employment of the taxpayer on a full-time basis and holding at least a bachelors degree

Reverse charge. The reverse-charge mechanism in the case of services operates through withholding of sales tax. Where a service rendered in Pakistan is taxable and sales tax has not been charged by the service provider or the service provider is an unregistered person, the whole amount of the applicable sales tax needs to be withheld and deposited by the registered service recipient.

In case there is an agreement between the service provider and service recipient that taxes in any form will be borne by the service recipient, then instead of withholding the applicable sales tax from the payment due to the service provider, it is deducted and an equivalent amount of sales tax is deposited by the service recipient.

Effectively it becomes the cost of the service recipient. This is quite common where services are rendered by foreign service providers who may be providing services in Pakistan on a one-off basis and who do not have a permanent base in Pakistan.

Input claim on sales tax either deducted or borne by the service recipient above is not available for adjustment against output tax. This is mainly because the pre-condition of having a valid sales tax invoice issued by a registered person is not fulfilled.

The reverse-charge mechanism on services is operative in the provinces of Sindh, Punjab and Khyber Pakhtunkhwa. In the province of Balochistan and Islamabad Capital Territory, however, only “Franchise Services” are subject to the reverse-charge mechanism.

Digital economy. There are special procedures for the issuance of electronic sales tax invoices between buyers and sellers, however, it is difficult to implement.

Deregistration. A business that ceases operations or whose supplies become exempt from sales tax must apply for cancellation of its sales tax registration.

D. Sales tax rates

The term “taxable supplies” refers to supplies of goods and services and to imports that are liable to sales tax. The following are the sales tax rates:

- Standard rate for goods: 17%
- Standard rates for services: 16% and 15%
- Other rates: 1%, 2%, 4%, 5%, 8%, 10%, 18.5%, 19.5% and 27%
- Zero rate (0%)

The standard tax rate of 17% is imposed on the value of the supply of goods. However, in certain cases, the value of the supply of certain goods is based on the manufacturer’s retail price (not the sales price). Exported goods are zero-rated (that is, taxed at 0%). For businesses operating in certain export-oriented sectors, the reduced rate applies to goods they import and to local supplies of goods provided to them. Certain activities are exempt from sales tax. This means that no sales tax is chargeable but also that the supplier has no right to claim input tax on related purchases (see Section F). A further tax at the rate of 1% (with certain exceptions) is chargeable on the supply of goods to persons who have not obtained sales tax registration.

A 16% rate applies to services (15% in Sindh and Khyber Pakhtunkhwa) except for telecommunication services, taxed at 19.5% (18.5% in Sindh), and franchise services, taxed at 10%. Franchise services in Punjab are taxable at the rate of 16%. The services of accountants and auditors and legal practitioners and consultants are taxable at the reduced rate of 5% in Sindh.

Effective 1 January 2015, the sales tax rate on certain petroleum products was increased from the standard rate of 17% to 22% to counter a revenue shortfall after the fall in crude oil prices. A further increase in sales tax to 27% on these products came into effect on 1 February 2015.

Examples of goods taxed based on the manufacturer's retail price

- Fruit juices and vegetable juices
- Ice cream
- Aerated water or beverages and drink syrups
- Cigarettes
- Toilet soap, detergents, shampoo, toothpaste and shaving cream
- Perfumery and cosmetics
- Powder drinks and milky drinks
- Tea
- Toilet paper and tissue paper
- Spices sold in retail packaging
- Shoe polish and shoe cream
- Fertilizers
- Cement sold in retail packaging

Examples of goods taxed at the lower rate of 2% or 5%

- Local imports and supply of goods by certain export-oriented sectors of leather, textiles, carpets, sports and surgical goods to retailers and unregistered persons

Goods taxed at the lower rate of 8%

- White crystalline sugar

Payment of extra tax on specified goods. Under special procedures, in addition to the general rate of sales tax, an extra amount of sales tax at the rate of 2% of the value of supply is chargeable on supplies by manufacturers and importers of the following goods:

- Household electrical goods, including air conditioners, refrigerators, deep freezers, television, recorders and players, electric bulbs, tube lights, fans, electric irons, washing machines and telephone sets
- Household gas appliances, including cooking range, ovens, geysers and gas heaters
- Foam or spring mattresses and other foam products for household use
- Auto parts and accessories
- Lubricating oils, brake fluids, transmission fluids and other vehicular fluids and maintenance products
- Tires and tubes
- Storage batteries
- Arms and ammunition
- Paints, distempers, enamels, pigments, colors, varnishes, gums, resins, dyes, glazes, thinners, blacks, cellulose lacquers and polishes sold in retail packing
- Tiles
- Biscuits, confections, chocolates, toffees and candies

These goods on which extra tax has been paid are exempt from payment of sales tax on subsequent supplies, including supplies made by retailers.

Examples of exempt supplies of goods

- Agricultural products, including milk, eggs, fish, meat and fresh vegetables
- Pharmaceuticals
- Newspapers and books
- Educational and scientific materials
- Equipment for fighting AIDS and cancer
- Supplies made under international tenders

Examples of zero-rated supplies of goods

- Exports
- Supplies to diplomats, diplomatic missions, privileged persons and privileged organizations
- Supplies of stores and provisions for consumption aboard a conveyance proceeding to a destination outside Pakistan

Option to tax for exempt supplies. Not applicable.

E. Time of supply

The time when sales tax becomes due is called the “time of supply” or “tax point.” In general, the time of supply is when goods are delivered or services are performed or the time any payment is received, whichever is earlier. However, in the case of services in the provinces of Sindh and Punjab, the time of supply is when the service is provided to the recipient or an invoice is raised or consideration is received, whichever is earlier.

Imported goods. The time of supply for imported goods is the date of importation or the date on which the goods leave a duty suspension regime.

F. Recovery of sales tax by taxable persons

A taxable person may recover input tax, which is sales tax charged on taxable goods and taxable services supplied to it for business purposes. A taxable person generally recovers input tax by deducting it from output tax, which is sales tax charged on supplies made. For manufacturers and service providers (with certain exceptions), the registered person may not claim input tax in excess of 90% of the output tax for that tax period. However, any excess may be carried forward.

Input tax includes sales tax paid on goods and services purchased in Pakistan and on goods imported into Pakistan, and federal excise duty levied and collected using the sales tax mechanism.

The sales tax laws of the provinces of Sindh and Punjab restrict the adjustment of extra tax, further tax and VAT that may be deductible as input tax under the federal sales tax law.

Input tax must generally be claimed in the month in which the invoice is issued. However, for electricity and gas supplies, the input tax must be claimed in the month in which the invoice is paid. A separate claim must be made for input tax that is not claimed in the correct tax period.

A valid tax invoice or customs document must generally accompany a claim for input tax.

Nondeductible input tax. Input tax may not be recovered on purchases of goods and services that are not used for business purposes (for example, goods acquired for private use by an entrepreneur). In addition, input tax may not be recovered for some items of business expenditure.

Examples of items for which input tax is nondeductible

- Purchases used for nonbusiness purposes
- Business gifts
- Business and staff entertainment
- Purchase of vehicles and parts of such vehicles

- Building and construction materials, paints, electrical and sanitary fittings; pipes, wires and cables used in or permanently attached to immovable property
- Electrical and gas appliances, furniture, furnishings, office equipment (excluding electronic cash registers) but excluding such goods acquired for sale or re-sale
- Goods or services on which sales tax has not been deposited by the respective supplier

Examples of items for which input tax is deductible
(if related to a taxable business use)

- Purchases of goods or services used or consumed for making taxable supplies
- Purchase of plant and machinery
- Hoteling
- Insurance
- Advertisements

Refunds. If the amount of input tax in a sales tax period exceeds the output tax in the same period, the excess credit is refundable. In practice, refunds are generally available to persons that are engaged in making zero-rated supplies.

Partial exemption. Goods or services utilized in supplying both taxable exempt goods/services have to be apportioned to the extent that only the input tax relating to taxable supplies can be claimed.

Preregistration costs. Sales tax paid on stocks acquired prior to registration are claimable. Local purchase of taxable goods acquired during a period of 30 days before making an application for registration are treated as input tax. In the case of imports, the tax paid during a period of 90 days before making an application for registration shall be treated as input tax.

G. Recovery of sales tax by non-established businesses

Pakistan does not refund sales tax incurred by foreign businesses that are neither established nor registered for sales tax in Pakistan.

H. Invoicing

Sales tax invoices and credit notes. A taxable person must generally provide a sales tax invoice or cash memo for all taxable supplies made. A simplified tax invoice or cash memo is required for retail sales.

A sales tax invoice is generally necessary to support a claim for input tax credit.

A credit note may be used to reduce the sales tax charged and reclaimed on a supply of goods or services if a valid adjustment is made. The document must be clearly marked “credit note,” and it must detail the reason for the adjustment, and must refer to the original sales tax invoice for the supply.

Proof of exports. Exports of goods are zero-rated for sales tax. However, to qualify as sales tax-free, export supplies must be supported by evidence that the goods have left Pakistan. The required evidence includes the following documents:

- A copy of the goods declaration for export authenticated by customs

- Copy of house and master bill of lading and airway bill or railway receipt
- The original invoices
- A stock or inventory statement
- Any other business records related to the exported goods

Foreign-currency invoices. If a sales tax invoice is issued in a foreign currency, the amounts must be converted to Pakistani rupees (PKR). The conversion must be calculated in accordance with the open market exchange rate.

I. Sales tax returns and payment

Sales tax return. All taxable persons other than retailers must file monthly returns. The return must be filed by the 18th day of the month following the end of the return period. However, the payment of tax must to be made by the 15th day of the month. Retailers must file returns on a quarterly basis by the 15th day of the month following the end of the quarter.

Sales tax withholding. Special rules have been prescribed with respect to sales tax withholding. These rules apply to taxable goods and services that are supplied to the following persons, which are referred to as withholding agents:

- Federal and provincial government departments
- Autonomous bodies
- Public sector organizations
- “Companies” as defined under the Income Tax Ordinance, 2001 and “Persons” registered as exporters
- Taxpayers who fall under the jurisdiction of the Large Taxpayers Unit (LTU)
- Persons registered for sales tax who are recipients of advertising services

The withholding agents listed in the first three bullets above withhold one-fifth (20%) of the sales tax with respect to acquired taxable goods or services as shown in the sales tax invoice and make payment of the balance to the registered person.

Sales tax-registered persons who are recipients of advertising services from persons based in Pakistan or abroad must withhold sales tax and pay the balance to the service provider. The sales tax withheld is the amount indicated in the sales tax invoice issued by the service provider. If the sales tax amount is not indicated, the withheld amount must be calculated by applying the tax rate.

Withholding agents referred to in the fourth bullet above (companies as defined under the Income Tax Ordinance, 2001 and persons registered as exporters) are required to withhold one fifth (20%) of the sales tax amount mentioned on the invoice for taxable goods acquired from anywhere in Pakistan and taxable services acquired from the Province of Sindh, Balochistan and Islamabad Capital Territory. Where the respective taxable goods are acquired from a wholesaler, distributor or dealer, then sales tax is required to be withheld at the rate of one tenth (10%) of the sales tax amount. However, where such taxable goods or taxable services have been acquired from an unregistered person (a person liable to be registered but not yet registered), then sales tax is required to be withheld at the rate of 1% of the gross value mentioned on the invoice.

The Punjab law requires persons registered in the LTU to withhold the entire amount of sales tax from the payments made for taxable services received from persons who are outside the jurisdiction of the LTU. However, Punjab law further implies that no sales tax withholding is required in cases where taxable services in the province of Punjab have been acquired from corporate, PRA-registered persons. Nonetheless, for both the provinces of Sindh and Punjab, where taxable services have been acquired from an unregistered person, then sales tax is required to be withheld at the applicable rate.

J. Penalties

A penalty of PKR5,000 is assessed for the late submission of a sales tax return. However, if the return is filed within 15 days after the due date, penalty is charged at a rate of PKR100 per day.

The following defaults are subject to penalties:

- Failure to issue a sales tax invoice: PKR5,000 or 3% of the tax due, whichever is greater
- Unauthorized issuance of a sales tax invoice: PKR10,000 or 5% of the tax due, whichever is the greater
- Failure to notify changes related to the taxable person's details or taxable activity: PKR5,000
- Late payment of sales tax: the greater of PKR10,000 or 5% of the tax due, but the penalty is restricted to PKR500 per day for each day of default if paid within 15 days after the due date. (Failure to pay the tax within 60 days after a notice for payment is issued by a sales tax officer may be punished by imprisonment for up to three years if the person is convicted by a special judge, or by a fine of up to the amount of tax involved, or both.)
- Repeated underdeclarations of sales tax: PKR5,000 or 3% of the tax due, whichever is greater
- Failure to maintain accounting records: PKR10,000 or 5% of the tax due, whichever is the greater

A penalty of PKR5,000 or 3% of the tax due, whichever is greater, is assessed for other sales tax offenses.

A penalty of PKR25,000 or 100% of the tax due, whichever is greater, is assessed for tax fraud, falsifying records, making false statements and declarations, denial or obstruction of access to records and similar offenses. In addition, a person may be punished by imprisonment for up to three years if convicted by a special judge, or may be liable for a fine of up to the amount of tax involved, or both.

Interest. In addition to any penalty, interest (the default surcharge) is chargeable for the following offenses:

- Late payment of sales tax
- Overclaimed input tax
- Incorrect claim for a sales tax refund
- Incorrect application of the zero rate

The rate of the default surcharge is the Karachi Interbank Offered Rate (KIBOR) plus 3% per annum.

However, for tax fraud, the default surcharge is payable at a rate of 2% per month.

Panama

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Please direct all inquiries regarding Panama to the persons listed below in EY's San José, Costa Rica office.

Panama GMT -5

EY Mail address: P.O. Box 0832-1575 World Trade Center Panama	Street address: Calle 50th and 58th Obarrio Office One Building, 16th Floor Panama
--	--

Indirect tax contacts

Rafael Sayagués (resident in San José, Costa Rica)	New York: +506 2208-9880 +1 (212) 773-4761 rafael.sayagues@cr.ey.com
Juan Carlos Chavarría (resident in San José, Costa Rica)	+506 2208-9844 juan-carlos.chavarría@cr.ey.com
Antonio Ruiz (resident in San José, Costa Rica)	+506 2208-9822 antonio.ruiz@cr.ey.com
Luis Eduardo Ocando B.	+507 208-010044 luis.ocando@pa.ey.com

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Value-added tax (VAT)
Local name	Impuesto a la transferencia de bienes corporales muebles y la prestación de servicios (ITBMS)
Date introduced	22 December 1976
Trading bloc membership	None that would provide differentiated VAT treatment
Administered by	Ministry of Finance (http://www.dgi.gob.pa/)
VAT rates
Standard	7%
Other	10%, 15%, exempt
VAT number format	National Tax Registry Number (RUC)
VAT return period	Monthly
Thresholds
Registration	Gross annual income of USD36,000 or month average above USD3,000
Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses	No

B. Scope of the tax

VAT applies to the following transactions:

- The supply of goods made in Panama by a taxable person

- The leasing of movable goods located in Panama
- Supplies of services
- The importation of goods from outside Panama, regardless of the status of the importer

C. Who is liable

A taxable person for VAT purposes is an entity or individual that performs commercial, industrial or financial activities or supplies services, provided its income is greater than USD36,000 per year or has a monthly average greater than USD3,000; non-domiciled persons and importers are liable regardless of their income. Taxable persons that are designated as withholding agents for VAT must appoint a legal representative. All persons must register as taxpayers, and no separate register of VAT taxpayers exists.

Group registration. Panama does not allow entities controlled by the same economic group to file a single VAT return.

Non-established businesses and tax representatives. A “non-established business” is a business that has no fixed establishment in Panama. A non-established business must register for VAT if it supplies goods in Panama. To register, a non-established business must file a registration form. A foreign corporation must also submit a copy of its articles of incorporation, legalized by the Panamanian Consul, together with an official translation in Spanish.

Non-established businesses rendering services in Panama are subject to withholding of VAT. The Panamanian recipient would deem that the VAT is included in the invoice and make the withholding. The amount withheld may be offset as an input VAT. The non-established business would not receive a refund.

Reverse charge. VAT on services performed within Panama by a foreign individual or foreign entity to a Panamanian entity or individual must be collected and paid by the Panamanian recipient entity or individual based on a reverse-charge mechanism. Panamanian recipients must deem that VAT is included in the invoices from their non-resident counterparty and make a VAT withholding to be paid within 10 days to the tax authorities. The amounts withheld may be considered input VAT and used to offset output VAT of the Panamanian party. The amount that the Panamanian party is required to withhold is calculated according to the following formula: the amount invoiced is multiplied by 0.065421.

Registration procedures. The Panamanian tax authorities issue a RUC which is the taxpayer ID number (applies for VAT and income tax, among other taxes). The RUC can be registered at the Panamanian tax authorities or via internet through the webpage: www.dgi.gob.pa. To register as taxpayers in Panama, a company or individual must complete and present the following documentation:

- For professional and independent individuals:
 - Copy of ID
 - Copy of last paid utility bill of a public service to prove the domicile of the taxpayer

- Legal entities:
 - Certificate of registration issued by the public registry.
 - Copy of legal representative's ID
 - Copy of business registration (Aviso de Operación) or business license issued by the Ministry of Trade and Industries
 - Copy of last paid utility bill from of a public service to prove the domicile of the taxpayer

If the taxpayer's information changes, the Panamanian tax authorities should be notified.

Late-registration penalties. There are no additional specific penalties for late registration of VAT taxpayers.

Digital economy. There are no special rules or regulations regarding VAT for the digital economy. The ordinary VAT rules should be applicable based on the characterization of the transactions being carried out digitally.

Deregistration. Entities that are no longer taxpayers for VAT purposes (because of the income threshold) need to fill out and file a form stating that they will no longer be considered as taxpayers for VAT purposes. This document may be downloaded from the webpage of the Ministry of Finance. A final VAT return must also be filed with the Ministry of Finance.

D. VAT rates

The term "taxable supplies" refers to the supplies of goods that are liable to VAT.

The VAT rates are:

- Standard rate: 7%
- Supplies of alcoholic beverages, such as liquors and beers, and hotels and other lodging services: 10%
- Cigarettes, cigars and other tobacco products: 15%

The standard rate applies to all supplies of goods and services, unless a specific measure provides for a higher rate or an exemption. The following list provides some examples of exempt supplies of goods.

The term "exempt supplies" refers to supplies of goods that are not liable to tax. Exempt supplies do not give rise to a right of input tax deduction (see Section F).

Examples of exempt supplies of goods

- Supplies made by agricultural producers
- Unprocessed fish, meat and game supplied by nonindustrial fishermen and hunters
- Exported goods
- Medical and pharmaceutical products
- Books
- Supplies of goods made in a free zone in Panama
- Supplies of movable goods within an authorized customs warehouse
- Oil and related products (motor oil is subject to VAT)
- Groceries
- Hand tools, fertilizers, insecticides, fungicides and similar products used in agriculture

Option to tax for exempt supplies. Not applicable.

E. Time of supply

The time when VAT becomes due is called the “time of supply” or “tax point.”

For a sale of goods, the tax point is when the invoice is issued or the goods are supplied, whichever is earlier. For services, the tax point is the date on which the invoice is issued, the date on which the services are rendered or the date on which total or partial payment is made, whichever is earlier. For recurring annual services, the tax point is when total or partial payment is made. For a lease of movable property, the tax point is when the parties to the lease enter into the contract.

For supplies of goods made by a company to a manager or legal representative of the company for his or her personal consumption, the tax point is the earlier of when the goods are delivered or when the supply is recorded.

Imported goods. The time of supply for imported goods is when the customs return is filed.

F. Recovery of VAT by taxable persons

A taxable person may recover input tax, which is VAT charged on goods supplied to it for business purposes. A taxable person generally recovers input tax by deducting it from output tax, which is VAT charged on services and supplies made. Input tax includes VAT charged on goods and services supplied in Panama and VAT paid on imports. A valid tax invoice or customs document must generally accompany a claim for input tax credit.

Nondeductible input tax. If a taxable person provides a service or good to a VAT exempt customer (for example, certain government institutions), the VAT paid on the purchases or imports of goods and services related to sales to such tax exempt customer may not be recognized as input VAT thus, the VAT would become a cost for the seller. Similarly, the VAT paid on supplies to produce VAT exempted sales should be considered a cost.

Examples of items for which input tax is nondeductible

- VAT paid on supplies required by public energy generating companies.

Examples of items for which input tax is deductible (if related to a taxable business use)

- VAT paid on import of inventory
- VAT paid for services received

Refunds. If the amount of input VAT recoverable in a period exceeds the amount of output VAT payable, the taxable person receives an input VAT credit. The credit may be carried forward to offset output tax in the subsequent VAT period. If it is not possible to offset the input tax credit in the following period, the taxable person may use the excess as a credit in the following fiscal year. VAT credits are not refunded.

VAT-free purchases by frequent exporters. A frequent exporter that regularly has VAT credits may request a document called a “cancellation certificate” from the VAT authorities to help ease cash flow. The exporter may sell the cancellation certificate to other taxpayers that can offset it against their own VAT liabilities.

Law 52 of 2012 deems a number of domestic taxpayers to be treated as exporters and grants them similar privileges for input tax deduction. This provision applies to manufacturers of foods or medicines and to businesses involved in the agriculture sector whose revenues exceed USD300,000. These taxpayers do not charge VAT, but they may not offset input tax against other tax liabilities.

Partial exemption. Not applicable.

Preregistration costs. Not applicable.

G. Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses

Panama does not refund VAT incurred by foreign or non-established businesses that are not registered for VAT there.

H. Invoicing

VAT invoices and credit and debit notes. A taxable person must provide a VAT invoice for all taxable services and supplies made, including exports. An invoice is necessary to support a claim for input tax credit. Special fiscal equipment authorized by the tax authorities must be used.

A VAT credit note may be used to reduce VAT charged and reclaimed on a supply if the value is reduced for any reason (for example, the price changes or goods are returned as a result of a discount or bonus). A credit note must generally contain the same information as a tax invoice.

Exports. VAT is not chargeable on qualified supplies of exported goods. To qualify, exports must be supported by documents that confirm that the goods have left Panama, such as customs documents, export invoices and copies of bills of lading.

Foreign-currency invoices. If a VAT invoice is issued in a foreign currency, the amounts must be converted into Panamanian balboas (PAB), or US dollars (USD).

I. VAT returns and payment

VAT returns. All taxpayers must submit VAT returns monthly. Monthly returns must be submitted by the 15th day of the month following the end of the return period. Payment in full is due on the same date.

Return liabilities must be paid in Panamanian balboas or US dollars.

Special schemes. None.

Electronic filing and archiving. It is possible to file the VAT returns electronically, however, in order to do that the individual or entity will need to request an NIT (numero de identificacion tributaria), a tax ID number from the tax authorities. This special number is required for all online tax processes on the website of the Panamanian tax authorities (e.g., tax declarations, statements), enabling corporations to be managed remotely. Archiving may also be done electronically, if the archive is compliant with the electronic document law.

Annual returns. If the monthly returns have been submitted, no other annual returns will need to be submitted to the tax authorities from a VAT perspective.

J. Penalties

If a taxpayer does not pay VAT on time, the penalty is 10% of the VAT due plus interest, per month or fraction of a month, from the date the tax should have been paid until the date of payment. The interest rate is 2% over the interest reference rate indicated by the Banking Commission. For the current fiscal year 2013, the applicable interest rate is 0.8%. This interest rate is updated annually.

A fine of USD10 may be imposed for late filing if no VAT is due as a result of credits in favor of the taxpayer. Fines of USD100 to USD500 may be imposed for filing inaccurate VAT tax returns that do not result in a reduction in the tax payment, issuing invoices without being registered with the tax authorities and failure to comply with regulations regarding the carryforward of tax credits. Recidivism is penalized with fines ranging from USD500 up to USD5,000 and temporary closure of the business.

VAT returns may be amended only once per period and within a maximum period of 12 months following the date on which the original VAT return was due. The filing of the amended return costs USD100 for individuals and USD500 for legal entities if the amended return is filed more than three months after the due date for the original VAT return. Tax fraud is punished with penalties varying from 5 to 10 times the amount of undeclared VAT or by imprisonment for a period of 2 to 5 years.

Papua New Guinea

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Port Moresby

GMT +10

EY

Level 4 ADF Haus
Musgrave Street
P.O. Box 1380
Port Moresby
Papua New Guinea

Indirect tax contact

Colin Milligan	+675 305-4125 colin.milligan@pg.ey.com
David Wilson (resident in Brisbane)	+61 (7) 3011-3346 david.wilson@au.ey.com
Brent Ducker (resident in Brisbane)	+61 (7) 3243-3723 brent.ducker@au.ey.com
Esther Kendino (resident in Brisbane)	+61 (7) 3011-3534 esther.kendino@au.ey.com

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Goods and services tax (GST)
Date introduced	1 January 2004
Trading bloc membership	Asia-Pacific Economic Cooperation (APEC)
Administered by	Internal Revenue Commission (IRC) (http://www.irc.gov.pg)
GST rates
Standard	10%
Other	0% and exempt
GST number format	VT999999; GS999999
GST return period	Generally monthly; periods of up to 6 months if annual taxable supplies less than PGK625,000 subject to approval by the IRC
Thresholds
Registration	PGK250,000
Recovery of GST by non-registered businesses	No

B. Scope of the tax

GST applies to the following transactions:

- Taxable supplies of goods and services, which are supplies connected to Papua New Guinea (PNG) or deemed to be supplied in PNG and made for consideration in the course of a taxable activity by an entity that is registered or that is required to be registered for GST
- Reverse charge on services received from abroad that are made to a registered entity in PNG
- Taxable importations of goods into PNG, regardless of the status of the importer

C. Who is liable

GST registration is mandatory if either of the following thresholds is met:

- The total value of supplies (excluding exempt supplies) made in PNG in a month and the 11 months immediately preceding that month in the course of carrying on all taxable activities that exceeds PGK250,000.
- The projected GST turnover, which is the value of taxable supplies made or likely to be made in the current month plus the next 11 months, is reasonably likely to exceed PGK250,000.

Voluntary registration. An entity that has turnover below the registration threshold may apply to register for GST voluntarily if the entity is carrying on a taxable activity.

An entity that is a not-for-profit body may apply in writing to the Commissioner General of Internal Revenue to register for GST voluntarily if the entity is carrying on a taxable activity.

Group registration. Subject to certain requirements, two or more companies that have an aggregate of common voting interests of 90% or greater constitute a wholly owned group for the purpose of the GST Act and may apply to the Commissioner General of Internal Revenue to form a GST group. Other entities (e.g., partnerships and trusts) that satisfy common control tests may also apply for grouping. The effect of GST grouping is to treat the group members as a single entity for certain purposes. In general, all GST liabilities and input tax credit entitlements for group members are attributed to a representative member of the group, and the group submits a single GST return.

Branch registration. A registered person carrying on its activities in branches or divisions may apply in writing to the Commissioner General of Internal Revenue for a branch or division to be registered as a separate registered person. Certain requirements must be met relating to the nature of the activities and accounting systems of proposed GST branches. In addition, a branch of a registered entity may not be registered as a GST branch if the entity is a member of a GST group (see Group registration).

Nonresident entities. GST applies to taxable supplies and to taxable importations made by nonresidents. Branches of foreign entities carrying on taxable or other activities in PNG are required to register and charge GST with respect to their supplies.

Reverse charge. If a service is deemed to be supplied in PNG under the provisions of the GST Act, reverse-charge provisions can apply if all of the following conditions are met:

- The supplier is a nonresident.
- The supplier does not make the supply through an enterprise that it carries on in PNG.
- The recipient is registered (or is required to be registered) for GST.
- The supplier and recipient agree that the GST is payable by the recipient.

If a resource company makes exempt supplies, the reverse-charge provisions apply.

Registration procedures. After a company is registered with the Investment Promotion Authority it will automatically receive notification from the IRC of a Taxation Identification Number (TIN) and a Form TIN1 will be forwarded for completion. It will also receive notification that salary and wage tax and GST accounts have been opened. The Form TIN1 requires various details of the enterprise and must attach proof of identity of the authorized signatory. There is no online filing facility, however, a scanned email copy should be acceptable.

Late-registration penalties. Penalties and interest may be imposed for late registration or failure to register (also, see Section I).

Tax representatives. When a GST-registered person dies, or an entity is placed into liquidation or receivership, or becomes bankrupt or incapacitated, the person appointed as personal representative, liquidator, receiver or agent is deemed to be the “specified agent” and carries on the taxable activity from the date of appointment. The specified agent is not personally liable for any liabilities incurred before the date of appointment. The agency period ends when another person is registered in respect of the taxable activity or when the appointment ceases, whichever is the earlier.

Digital economy. There are no specific rules relating to the taxation of the digital economy.

Deregistration. An entity that ceases to carry on business may request in writing that the Commissioner General of Internal Revenue cancel its GST registration. An entity must notify the PNG IRC that it is no longer entitled to be registered within 21 days after ceasing operations. An entity that is no longer required to be registered may apply to cancel its registration. However, the Commissioner General of Internal Revenue is not required to cancel the registration if a business has been registered for less than 12 months.

D. GST rates

The terms “taxable supplies” and “taxable importations” refer to supplies of goods and services and importations that are subject to GST. Taxable supplies are supplies subject to the standard rate of GST, which is 10%.

Zero-rated supplies are supplies not liable for GST that do give rise to a right to claim input tax credits for GST included in acquisitions related to the supplies.

Examples of zero-rated supplies of goods and services

- Sale of going concerns
- Supplies of goods and services to foreign aid providers
- Supplies of goods and services, other than cars, to resource companies for use only in carrying on resource operations
- Supplies of goods and services to nonprofit bodies, which are religious, charitable or community organizations carrying on charitable activities approved by the Commissioner General of Internal Revenue, provided that the supplies or goods are not used for profit-making taxable activities
- International travel
- Exported goods and services

Exempt supplies are supplies that are not liable for GST, but do not give rise to a right to claim input tax credits for GST included in acquisitions related to the supplies (see Section F).

Examples of exempt supplies of goods and services

- Financial services
- Certain fine metals
- Medical services
- Educational services
- Public transport and taxis
- Newspapers
- Supplies of housing or motor vehicles by employers to employees
- Specific exemptions as notified in the National Gazette

Option to tax for exempt supplies. Not applicable.

E. Time of supply

For the purpose of the GST Act, a supply of goods and services is generally deemed to take place at the earlier of the time of issuance of an invoice by the supplier or the recipient or the time of receipt of any payment by the supplier with respect to the supply.

Accrual basis of accounting. When an entity registers for GST, it automatically goes on an accruals (or invoice) basis of accounting for GST. For businesses that account for GST on an accrual basis, GST is payable with respect to a taxable supply for the tax period in which the invoice is issued or when any consideration is received for the supply, whichever is earlier.

Cash or payment basis of accounting. Entities with annual turnover that does not exceed PGK1.25 million may account for GST on a cash basis. Cash accounting is also available to certain entities regardless of turnover. These entities include local authorities, not-for-profit bodies and other entities subject to the discretion of the Commissioner General of Internal Revenue. Cash accounting is allowed when the Commissioner General of Internal Revenue grants approval in writing.

For entities using cash accounting, GST is payable with respect to a taxable supply in the tax period in which the consideration is received. If only part of the consideration is received in a particular tax period, GST is payable only on that part.

Continuous supplies. Where goods or services are supplied progressively or periodically, those goods or services are deemed to be supplied successively. Each successive supply is deemed to take place at the earliest of when payment for that supply becomes due, is received or any invoice relating only to that payment is issued.

Imported goods. GST is payable for imported goods at the time of importation.

Temporary import of goods. Goods imported temporarily into PNG under the provisions of the Customs Act are zero-rated for GST purposes and import duty is not applied to these goods. In general, the importer must provide a security bond of 10%. The bond paid for temporary imports is intended to be refunded when the goods are re-exported out of the country. Goods are classified as temporary imports if they are re-exported within 12 months.

If imported goods remain in the country for more than 12 months, the goods are deemed to be permanent imports and the bond is forfeited. The applicable GST can then be claimed as an input credit (subject to the normal rules).

F. Recovery of GST by registered entities

A registered entity may recover input tax credits with respect to creditable acquisitions. These credits correspond to the GST included in the consideration for goods and services that a registered entity acquires for creditable purposes. A registered entity generally recovers input tax by offsetting them against GST payable on taxable supplies.

Input tax credits correspond to GST included in the consideration for goods and services acquired in PNG, GST paid on importations of goods and GST paid under reverse-charge arrangements.

In general, valid tax invoices or customs documents must be retained to support claims for input tax credits.

Examples of items for which input tax is nondeductible

- Housing or motor vehicles provided to employees
- Entertainment or leisure club facilities
- Acquisitions made for purpose of making exempt supplies
- If no valid tax invoice is held

Examples of items for which input tax is deductible (if related to a taxable business use)

- Imports
- Trading stock
- Business occupancy costs
- Repairs and maintenance

Partial exemption (non-creditable acquisitions). GST on acquisitions of goods and services used to make exempt supplies or on acquisitions that are not used for business purposes (for example, goods acquired for private use) are not eligible to be claimed as an input credit. However, acquisitions related to making some exempt supplies (for example, educational supplies) are creditable. Where an acquisition is used for both taxable and exempt supplies only the proportion of GST that relates to taxable supplies may be claimed as an input credit.

Refunds. If the amount of input tax credits in a period exceeds the GST payable in the same period, the excess amount is technically refundable to the taxpayer. However, in practice, it is often necessary to first satisfy the IRC that the refund is valid.

Preregistration costs. GST paid on acquisitions made by a person within six months prior to incorporation of a company may be claimed as an input credit by the company after it is registered. The acquisition must have been made by a person who becomes a member, officer or employee of the company and that person must have been fully reimbursed for the consideration paid. The acquisition must also have been for the purpose of a taxable activity to be carried on the company. The input credit is claimable in the taxable period in which the reimbursement is made.

Other than in the above circumstances, GST in respect of pre-registration acquisitions may not be claimed as input credits.

G. Recovery of GST by non-registered businesses

Only entities that are registered for GST may claim refunds of GST incurred on acquisitions in PNG. In general, entities (including nonresidents) that make acquisitions in PNG for the purpose of carrying on taxable activities may register for GST if necessary.

H. Invoicing

Tax invoices and adjustment notes. In general, a registered person must provide a tax invoice for all taxable supplies made if requested to do so by the recipient of a supply. A tax invoice is not required for supplies with a GST-inclusive amount of PGK50 or less.

In general, a tax invoice is necessary to support claims for input tax credits.

An adjustment note (or credit or debit note) may be issued to reduce or increase the amount of GST payable on a supply if the amount of GST originally charged is incorrect (for example, as a result of an error or an agreed adjustment to the price). The adjustment note must be clearly marked either as an adjustment note or as a tax invoice (provided the amount of any credit is shown as a negative amount), and it must provide detailed particulars of the adjustment made.

Proof of exports. Exports of goods are zero-rated (GST-free). To qualify as GST-free, goods must be entered for export under the Customs Act and the Commissioner General of Internal Revenue must be satisfied that the goods have been exported to a place outside Papua New Guinea. Zero-rating applies if the goods are exported within 28 days, unless unforeseeable circumstances delay the shipment of the goods.

Currency on invoices. All invoices must be expressed in Papua New Guinea kina.

I. GST returns and payment

GST return. GST liabilities are reported in a GST return. A registered person must file the GST return in the required form on or before the 21st day of the following tax period (a calendar month).

GST liabilities must be paid in Papua New Guinea kina.

Effective 1 January 2015, company directors have personal liability if the company defaults on its GST obligations.

Special schemes. Not applicable.

Electronic filing and archiving. The IRC has introduced a basic electronic filing option. It is necessary to scan the signed paper form and attach it to an email with details of the electronic funds transfer. All relevant records must be kept for at least seven years after the end of the taxable period to which they relate and may be kept in electronic format. The seven-year period may be extended if the commissioner gives notice in writing of audit activity.

Annual returns. Not applicable.

J. Penalties

A penalty may be imposed for the late filing of a GST return. Penalties range from fines not exceeding PGK5,000 on the first occasion and can increase to as much as PGK50,000, depending on the circumstances of the case. Court proceedings may be instituted against a taxpayer in the National Court to recover taxes and penalties.

Paraguay

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Asunción

GMT -3

EY

Edificio Citicenter
Mcal. López esquina Cruz del Chaco
Asunción
Paraguay

Indirect tax contacts

Gustavo Colman	+595 (21) 664-308, Ext. 227 gustavo.colman@py.ey.com
Luis Carísimo	+595 (21) 664-308, Ext. 227 luis.carisimo@py.ey.com
Manuel Fernández	+595 (21) 664-308, Ext. 227 manuel.fernandez@py.ey.com

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Value-added tax (VAT)
Local name	Impuesto al valor agregado (IVA)
Date introduced	1 July 1992
Trading bloc membership	Mercosur Member
Administered by	Finance Administration (www.set.gov.py) (www.hacienda.gov.py)
VAT rates
Standard	10%
Reduced	5%
Other	Exempt
VAT number format	120 (Version 2)
Tax identification	Fiscal number (format is numeric)
VAT return periods	Monthly, quarterly (agribusiness)
Thresholds
Registration	None
Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses	No

B. Scope of the tax

VAT applies to the following transactions:

- The supply of goods or services made in Paraguay by a taxable individual or business
- The importation of goods from outside Paraguay, regardless of the status of the importer

C. Who is liable

A VAT taxpayer is any business entity or individual that makes taxable supplies of goods or services in the course of doing business in Paraguay.

The definition of a VAT taxpayer applies to a permanent establishment of a foreign business in Paraguay.

Group registration. VAT grouping is not allowed under the Paraguayan VAT law. Legal entities that are closely connected must register for VAT individually.

Non-established businesses. A “non-established business” is a business that has no fixed establishment in Paraguay. A non-established business is not required to become a taxpayer by obtaining a tax ID in Paraguay.

Withholding VAT. Companies designated as withholding VAT agents must withhold and pay VAT and issue vouchers for tax withheld. Also, they must submit monthly tax returns indicating information related to purchases, sales and withheld tax. Returns must be filed electronically.

Tax representatives. For tax purposes, companies must appoint the legal representative(s) on Tax Form 605 or Tax Form 615.

Reverse charge. Paraguayan tax legislation does not provide “reverse charges” for VAT purposes.

Digital economy. Not applicable.

Registration procedures. Registrations cannot be made online. The following documents are required to register for VAT:

- Public deed of incorporation of the company in Paraguay
- Tax Form 605
- Copy of legal representative’s ID card

Late-registration penalties. Penalties and interest are assessed for late registration for VAT if the taxable individual owes VAT.

Deregistration. The following documents are required for deregistration from any Paraguayan tax:

- Public deed of liquidation of the company (if the taxpayer is a business)
- Certificate of indebtedness with Paraguayan Tax Authority
- Cancellation of Tax Validity Number or “Timbrado” number (Tax Form 621)
- Cancellation of tax identification number or “RUC” (Tax Form 623)
- Copy of legal representative’s personal ID card (if the taxpayer is a business – if not, the personal ID card of the taxable individual). If the business or individual decides to deregister from VAT only, they must file Form 615 or 610, respectively.

D. VAT rates

The term “taxable supplies” refers to supplies of goods and services that are liable to VAT.

The standard rate of VAT is 10%. Law No. 2421/04 provides a reduced tax rate of 5% for certain products and services. The 5% rate applies to basic family products, pharmaceutical goods, real estate, leasing, agricultural products and cattle. In addition, a reduced tax base applies to certain supplies, thereby reducing the effective rate of VAT.

Effective 1 January 2015, fruits and vegetables are subject to a VAT reduced rate (5%). During 2014, the rate was 0%.

Examples of goods and services with a reduced tax base

- Certain imports of goods under specified tax treatment (Decree 6.406/05)
- Real estate

The term “exempt supplies” refers to supplies of goods and services that are not liable to tax (see Sections F and G).

Examples of exempt supplies

- Foreign currency
- Oil by-product fuels
- Interest on public securities
- Interest on bank deposits, bonds, certificates and shares
- Exportation freight services
- Transfer of credits is also VAT exempted

Option to tax for exempt supplies. Not applicable.

E. Time of supply

The time when VAT becomes due is called the “time of supply” or “tax point.” The basic time of supply for goods is when they are transferred. For importations, tax obligation begins at the moment that the goods are registered at the Paraguayan customs office.

For services, the basic time of supply is when they are performed and/or totally or partially collected. Specifically, the obligation to pay VAT begins after any of the following:

- The appropriate invoice is issued.
- Partial or total payment for the service is received.
- The deadline for payment passes.
- The service is totally executed.

Invoices must be issued during the tax period in which the tax point occurs and must indicate the due date for VAT.

Imported goods. The time of supply for imported goods is either the date of importation or the date on which the goods leave a duty suspension regime.

F. Recovery of VAT by taxable persons

In certain circumstances, a taxable person may recover input tax (credit VAT), which is VAT charged on goods and services supplied to it for business purposes. A taxable person generally recovers input tax by offsetting it against output tax (debit VAT), which is VAT charged on supplies made.

Input tax includes VAT charged on goods and services supplied in or from Paraguay and VAT paid on imports of goods.

A valid tax invoice or customs document must generally support an input tax credit.

Nondeductible input tax. Input tax may not be recovered on purchases of goods and services that are not used for making taxable supplies or that are used for nonbusiness purposes (for example, goods acquired for private use by an entrepreneur). In addition, input tax may not be recovered for some items of business expenditure.

The following lists provide some examples of items of expenditure for which input tax is not possible to offset and examples of items for which input tax can be offset if the expenditure is related to a taxable business use.

Examples of items for which input tax is nondeductible

- Business gifts
- Business use of home telephone
- Private use of business assets

Examples of items for which input tax can be offset
(if related to a taxable business use)

- Purchase, lease and hire of cars, vans and trucks, as well as maintenance charges
- Parking
- Taxis
- Travel expenses
- Conferences and seminars
- Mobile telephone advertising and sponsorship
- Overall acquisition of goods and services directly related to business use

Refunds. If the amount of input VAT (credit VAT) recoverable in a month exceeds the amount of output VAT (debit VAT) payable, the excess credit may be carried forward to offset output tax in the following tax period.

Overpayments of VAT. If a VAT taxpayer overpaid VAT or paid VAT in error, it may correct the VAT return and use the overpayment to offset output VAT in the following tax period.

Partial exemption. Not applicable.

Preregistration costs. Not applicable.

G. Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses

Paraguay does not refund VAT incurred by foreign businesses unless the foreign businesses have a permanent establishment and are registered to pay VAT in Paraguay.

H. Invoicing

VAT invoices and credit notes. A VAT taxpayer must generally provide a VAT invoice for all taxable supplies made, including exports. A VAT invoice is necessary to support an input tax credit.

A VAT credit note may be used to reduce the VAT charged and reclaimed on a supply of goods and services. A credit note must contain a brief explanation stating the reason for the adjustment, and it must be cross-referenced to the original VAT invoice number.

Proof of exports. VAT is not chargeable on supplies of exported goods. However, to qualify as VAT-free, exports must be supported by an exportation file and customs documents proving that the goods have left Paraguay.

Foreign-currency invoices. If a VAT invoice is issued in a foreign currency, all amounts must be converted to Paraguayan currency “guarani,” using the exchange rate published by the tax authority for recording purposes (local books).

I. VAT returns and payment

VAT returns. VAT returns are submitted monthly or on a quarterly basis only for agribusiness VAT. The due date for VAT returns and payment depends on the last number of the VAT taxpayer's tax identification number.

Return liabilities must be paid in Paraguayan currency.

Special schemes. Not applicable.

Electronic filing and archiving. It is possible to file VAT returns electronically. The website is: www.set.gov.py under "Sistema Marangatú."

Annual returns. VAT legislation does not provide and/or allow the filing of annual returns.

J. Penalties

A default penalty is charged on late payments of VAT. The penalty begins at 4% of the tax due and increases by 2% increments per month, up to a maximum of 14% (charged for a delay of more than five months). In addition to the default penalty, monthly interest is charged on unpaid tax at a rate of 1.5% per month, calculated on a daily basis.

A taxpayer who intends to achieve an unlawful gain is deemed to commit fraud. Fraud is punished with a fine equal to one to three times the amount of the tax amount related to the fraud or the intention to defraud.

Penalties for severe cases of nonpayment of VAT, infringement of VAT regulations and fraud include criminal sanctions, such as fines and imprisonment.

K. Modification of Paraguayan tax legislation regarding VAT and other taxes

On 4 October 2013, the Paraguayan Congress enacted Law No. 5.061/13, which introduced substantial changes to Paraguayan tax law. The following relate to VAT:

- The recovery of VAT fiscal credit will be limited to 50% for the exportation of unprocessed/raw agricultural products and derivatives of unprocessed/raw agricultural products subject to basic or primary industrialization processes.
- Individuals and companies defined as taxpayers for the purpose of the corporate income tax must apply a 5% VAT to their sales of agricultural products, effective 1 January 2014.

Peru

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Lima

GMT -5

EY

Víctor Andrés Belaúnde 171
Piso 6
San Isidro
Lima 27
Perú

Indirect tax contacts

David De la Torre	+51 (1) 411-4471 david.de-la-torre@pe.ey.com
Beatriz De la Vega	+51 (1) 411-4482 beatriz.de-la-vega@pe.ey.com
Verónica Febres	+51 (1) 411-4442 veronica.febres@pe.ey.com
Giancarlo Riva	+51 (1) 411-4448 giancarlo.riva@pe.ey.com

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Value-added tax (VAT)
Local name	Impuesto General a las Ventas
Date introduced	1 August 1991
Trading bloc membership	Andean Community
Administered by	General Tax Administration (http://www.sunat.gob.pe)
VAT rates
Standard	18%
Other	Zero-rated and exempt
VAT number format	11-digit taxpayer identification number (RUC) used in all communications with Tax and Customs Administration
VAT return periods	Monthly
Thresholds
Registration	None
Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses	No

B. Scope of the tax

VAT applies to the following transactions:

- The sale of personal property in Peru
- The provision or use of services in Peru
- Construction contracts
- The first sale of real property by the builder
- The importation of goods from outside Peru, regardless of the status of the importer

C. Who is liable

A VAT taxpayer is any business entity that makes taxable supplies of goods or services in the course of doing business in Peru. In addition, individuals are liable to VAT if they perform such activities on a habitual basis. The Peruvian VAT law does not define “habitual” for transactions performed by individuals; the nature, amount and frequency of the operations must be considered.

No registration threshold applies. The definition of a VAT taxpayer applies to a permanent establishment of a foreign business in Peru.

Group registration. VAT grouping is not allowed under the Peruvian VAT law. Legal entities that are closely connected must register for VAT individually.

Non-established businesses. A “non-established business” is a business that has no fixed establishment in Peru. A non-established business must register for VAT if it makes supplies of goods or services in Peru.

Registration procedures. In order to be considered a VAT taxpayer, a tax identification number (Registro Unico de Contribuyente, or RUC) must be obtained. To do so, the tax representative must complete the Form 2119 and provide an identification document, as well as the company’s electronic record, provided by the Peruvian Public Registry and any document to accredit its residence. The procedure can only be carried out in the tax administration’s offices, it has no cost, and the RUC is provided immediately.

Late-registration penalties. If taxpayers do not follow the registration procedures, there is a penalty of one Tax Reference Unit (UIT), which is approximately USD1,240.

Tax representatives. Any person may be appointed by the company’s legal representative to represent the taxpayer before the tax administration.

Reverse charge. Applicable for the import of goods and the use of services in Peru.

Digital economy. There are no specific rules related to the taxation of the digital economy.

Deregistration. Not applicable.

D. VAT rates

The term “taxable supplies” refers to supplies of goods and the provision or use of services that are subject to VAT. The term “exempt supplies” refers to supplies of goods and services that are not subject to VAT. Exempt supplies do not give rise to a right of input tax deduction (see Section F).

The standard VAT rate is 18% and applies to all taxable transactions unless a specific measure provides for an exemption.

Examples of exempt supplies of goods and services

- Fruits and vegetables

- Educational services
- Public transportation
- Exports of goods
- Technical assistance, marketing, information technology, insurance

Option to tax for exempt supplies. It is possible to waive exemption of VAT for the sale of goods, but not for the provision of services. In this regard, the taxpayer must communicate its decision to the tax administration and comply with all the requirements and conditions it points out. This request comprises all the exempt goods, not specific categories or goods. After the tax administration is notified, it has 45 days to approve or deny the request. Should the request be approved, the VAT will be applicable as of the first day of the month after the request is approved. The election to waive exemption is definitive.

E. Time of supply

The time when VAT becomes due is called the “time of supply” or “tax point.” The following are the rules for determining the basic time of supply for goods and services:

- Sale of personal property within the country: when the goods are delivered or when the invoice (or payment voucher) is issued or should be issued, whichever is earlier
- Provision of services in the country: when the invoice (or payment voucher) is issued or should be issued or when the payment is made, whichever is earlier
- Use of services in the country: when the invoice (or payment voucher) is registered in the domiciled entity’s accounting records or when the payment is made, whichever is earlier
- Construction contracts: when the invoice (or payment voucher) is issued or should be issued or when the payment is totally or partially made, whichever is earlier
- First sale of real property sold by the builder: when the payment is either totally or partially made

The invoice for the transaction must be issued at the time of supply. If the purchaser makes a prepayment before a supply of goods or services takes place, an invoice must be issued and tax must be accounted for on the prepaid amount.

Imported goods. The time of supply for the import of goods is either when goods clear customs or when the goods leave a duty suspension regime.

F. Recovery of VAT by taxable persons

For all of the transactions listed in Section B, VAT payable is determined on a monthly basis by deducting from the gross tax (output VAT) the corresponding VAT credit (input VAT). As a result of this calculation, an excess credit may arise instead of a financial cost for the tax period.

VAT paid on imports of goods or the use of services in the country must be paid directly to the tax authorities. For such supplies, VAT payable equals the gross tax and no deduction for VAT credit is allowed. After the VAT is paid, it may be used as VAT credit. As a result, a financial cost may be incurred for the time period beginning with the date of payment and ending on the date on which the VAT credit is used to offset the gross tax on the transactions listed in Section B.

The gross tax corresponding to each taxable operation is determined by applying the VAT rate of 18% to the tax base (for example, the price of goods and services or the value of construction contracts). The VAT credit consists of the VAT separately itemized in the payment voucher (or corresponding document) relating to any of the activities listed in Section B.

The following are requirements for the use of the VAT credit:

- The acquisition cost is allowed as an expense or cost for income tax purposes, and the acquisition is intended for operations in which the obligation to pay the VAT will arise or for services rendered abroad that will not be liable to tax.
- The tax must be stated separately in the payment voucher, and the payment voucher must be completed according to applicable law and registered in the purchase book appropriately.

For nonresident purchasers of goods or services, the VAT paid may not be used as a credit. However, under Peruvian VAT law, reimbursement of the VAT paid when acquiring goods is allowed if the purchaser is a nonresident tourist who remains within Peru between 5 and 60 calendar days, and the acquired goods are taken abroad by the nonresident tourist. The nonresident tourist must request the reimbursement when leaving the country and satisfy all requirements in the VAT law and its regulations.

Exporters are reimbursed for any VAT paid on the acquisition of goods and services. Exporters can apply such reimbursement as a credit to offset VAT or income tax liabilities. Any balance may be refunded by the tax administration.

Early recovery VAT system. The early recovery VAT system allows an early recovery of the VAT credit with respect to acquisitions of goods and services, construction contracts, importations and other transactions without having to wait to recover such amount from a client when the corresponding invoice for sales of goods, services or construction contracts, including VAT, is issued to the client.

This regime provides relief of the financial costs (cost of money) with respect to projects if the projects have a significant preoperative stage and if advance invoices transferring the VAT burden cannot be issued periodically to the client.

The law provides for a general and enhanced early recovery system for enterprises performing productive activities.

Under the general system, which applies to all productive companies in a preoperative stage, the VAT paid on the acquisition of capital goods is reimbursed through negotiable credit notes.

The enhanced system is restricted to companies that satisfy the following conditions:

- They enter into investment contracts with the Peruvian government.
- They make a minimum investment commitment of USD5 million to projects with a preoperative stage of at least two years.

Under the enhanced system, VAT paid on construction contracts and on the acquisition of new capital goods and intermediate goods and services can be recovered on a monthly basis through negotiable credit notes.

The use of one system does not preclude using the other for different items.

Nondeductible input tax. Input tax may not be recovered on purchases of goods and services that are not used for making taxable supplies or that are not used for business purposes (for example, goods acquired for private use by an entrepreneur). If expenditure relates to both business and nonbusiness activities, only the portion related to the business may be recovered. In addition, input tax may not be recovered for some items of business expenditure.

Examples of items for which input tax is nondeductible

- Employee meals (unless part of the employee's conditions of employment)

Examples of items for which input tax is deductible
(if related to a taxable business use)

- Advertising and sponsorship
- Business gifts, if the value does not exceed 0.5% of the taxpayer's annual gross revenues, with a maximum limit of 40 tax units (approximately USD51,400)
- Business entertainment expenses, if the value does not exceed 0.5% of the taxpayer's annual gross revenues, with a maximum limit of 40 tax units (approximately USD51,400)
- Mobile phones
- Parking
- Fuel
- Taxis
- Travel expenses

Capital goods. Capital goods are items of capital expenditure that are used in a business over several years. VAT paid on the acquisition of capital goods may be used as a tax credit (input tax). A tax credit arising from the acquisition of capital goods may be offset with debit VAT (output tax) in the month in which capital goods are acquired.

Refunds. If the amount of input VAT (credit VAT) recoverable in a month exceeds the amount of output VAT (debit VAT) payable, the excess credit may be carried forward to offset output tax in the following tax period.

Partial exemption. Not applicable.

Preregistration costs. Not applicable.

G. Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses

Peru does not generally refund VAT incurred by foreign businesses unless they have a permanent establishment or business established in Peru. Foreign businesses established in Peru recover VAT in the same manner as all other VAT-registered businesses.

H. Invoicing

VAT invoices and credit notes. A VAT taxpayer must generally provide a VAT invoice for all taxable supplies made, including exports. A VAT invoice is necessary to support a claim for input tax credit.

A VAT credit note may be used to reduce the VAT charged on a supply of goods and services in certain circumstances (for instance, for rebates, trade discounts, bonuses, returned goods or errant charges). A credit note must refer to the VAT invoice for the original transaction and contain the same basic information.

Exports. Exported goods and services are exempt from Peruvian VAT.

For a service to qualify as an export, it must be included in Article 33 or Appendix V of the Peruvian VAT Law. Appendix V can be modified by a Supreme Decree countersigned by the Ministry of Economy. For exports of goods, customs documents must provide evidence that the goods have left the country. Exporters may recover VAT paid on the acquisition of goods and services. Exporters may apply to be reimbursed for VAT paid through credit notes. Credit notes may be used to offset either output VAT or income tax liabilities.

Foreign-currency invoices. If a VAT invoice is issued in a foreign currency, the value must be converted to Peruvian nuevo sol, which is the Peruvian currency, using the sales exchange rate in force on the date of the transaction.

I. VAT returns and payment

VAT returns. VAT returns must be submitted monthly. Taxpayers must fulfill their tax obligations between the 7th business day and the 16th business day of the month following the date on which the tax obligation arises. The exact date for payment depends on the Tax Terms Schedule, which is approved annually by the Peruvian tax authorities. The Tax Terms Schedule indicates the due date for taxpayers based on their tax identification number (RUC).

Return liabilities must be paid in Peruvian nuevo sol.

Special schemes. Not applicable.

Electronic filing and archiving. VAT returns should be submitted monthly using the Virtual Program No. 00621 (<http://www2.sunat.gob.pe/pdt/pdt/down/independientes/independientes.htm>). Taxpayers use the electronic account known as "CLAVE SOL" (<http://www.sunat.gob.pe/>) to submit returns. Once the RUC is obtained, the tax administration provides each taxpayer the ID and password of CLAVE SOL.

Annual returns. Not applicable.

J. Penalties

The penalty for failure to include taxable transactions in the VAT return is 50% of the omitted tax if an amount of VAT is payable. Interest is charged at a monthly rate of 1.2% on late payments or underpayments of VAT. This fine can be reduced up to 90% under certain conditions.

Many other penalties apply to failure to fulfill obligations arising under the VAT law.

Philippines

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Manila

GMT +8

SyCip Gorres Velayo & Co.

SyCip Gorres Velayo & Co. Building
6760 Ayala Avenue
1226 Makati City
Philippines

Indirect tax contacts

Mark Anthony P. Tamayo

+63 (2) 894-8391

mark.anthony.p.tamayo@ph.ey.com

Lucil Q. Vicerra

+63 (2) 894-8254

lucil.q.vicerra@ph.ey.com

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Value-added tax (VAT)
Date introduced	1 January 1988 (under Executive Order No. 273)
Trading bloc membership	None
Administered by	Department of Finance's Bureau of Internal Revenue (http://www.dof.gov.ph or http://www.bir.gov.ph)
VAT rates
Standard	12%
Other	Zero-rated and exempt
VAT number format
VAT-registered person	Nine-digit tax identification number (TIN)
Branch office	Head office's nine-digit TIN, plus a three-digit branch code
VAT return periods	Monthly VAT declarations, quarterly VAT returns and quarterly summary list of sales and purchases
Thresholds
Registration
As a VAT taxpayer
General	Gross sales or receipts in excess of PHP1,919,500 in a 12-month period
Radio or television broadcasting franchisees	Gross annual receipts for the preceding year in excess of PHP10 million
As a non-VAT taxpayer
Individuals	Engaged in business with gross sales or receipts of PHP1,919,500 or less in a 12-month period

Nonstock and nonprofit organizations	Engaged in trade or business with gross sales or receipts in a 12-month period of PHP1,919,500 or less
Radio and television broadcasters	Gross receipts of PHP10 million or less
Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses	No

B. Scope of the tax

VAT applies to the following transactions:

- The taxable sale, barter, exchange, use or lease of goods or property by a taxable person
- The taxable sale or exchange of services by a taxable person (see below)
- The taxable importation of goods from outside the Philippines
- Deemed sale transactions (see below)

The taxable sale or exchange of services includes the following:

- Lease or use of a copyright, patent design or model, plan, secret formula or process, goodwill, trademark, trade brand or other similar property
- Lease or use of industrial, commercial or scientific equipment
- Supply of scientific, technical, industrial or commercial knowledge or information
- Supply of assistance that is ancillary and subsidiary to and is furnished as a means of enabling the application or enjoyment of industrial, commercial or scientific equipment or scientific, technical, industrial or commercial knowledge or information
- Supply of services by a nonresident person or his or her employee with respect to the use of property or rights belonging to the nonresident, or the installation or operation of a brand, machinery or other apparatus purchased from such nonresident
- Supply of technical advice, assistance or services rendered with respect to the technical management or administration of a scientific, industrial or commercial undertaking, venture, project or scheme
- Lease of motion picture, other films, tapes and discs
- Lease or use of or the right to use radio, television, satellite transmission and cable television time

VAT applies to deemed sale transactions such as the following:

- Transfer, use or consumption not in the course of business of goods or property originally intended for sale or use
- Distribution or transfer to shareholders or investors as a share in the profits of a VAT-registered person or to creditors in payment of debt
- Consignment of goods if an actual sale is not made within 60 days following the date such goods were consigned
- Retirement from or cessation of business, with respect to inventories of taxable goods existing as of such retirement or cessation

C. Who is liable

A taxable person is any individual, trust, estate, partnership, corporation, joint venture, cooperative or association that carries out any of the following activities in the course of a trade or business:

- Sells, barter, exchanges or leases goods or property
- Renders services
- Imports goods

In addition, if the importer is exempt from tax, the purchaser, transferee or recipient of imported goods is liable for VAT, regardless of whether such person is a registered VAT taxpayer.

Nonresident persons that perform services in the Philippines are deemed to be making sales in the course of a trade or business even if the services are not performed on a regular basis.

In general, a taxable person with gross sales or receipts that have exceeded or that are expected to exceed PHP1,919,500 over a 12-month period must register as a VAT taxpayer.

A radio or TV broadcasting franchisee must register if its gross annual receipts from the franchise exceeded PHP10 million in the preceding calendar year.

Effective 31 October 2012, a professional person is liable for 12% VAT if its gross receipts or fees for the previous 12 months exceed PHP1,919,500 or will exceed this amount in the next 12 months. A professional that is not registered for VAT is liable for the percentage tax at a rate of 3% if its gross receipts for the previous 12 months were equal to or less than this threshold.

Optional VAT registration. VAT registration is optional for the following persons:

- A VAT-exempt person with gross sales or receipts that do not exceed PHP1,919,500
- A radio or television broadcasting franchisee with gross annual receipts from the franchise that did not exceed PHP10 million in the preceding calendar year

A VAT-registered taxpayer with mixed transactions may opt for VAT to apply to its otherwise VAT-exempt transactions.

The following persons must register as non-VAT persons:

- A VAT-exempt person that is not registered as a VAT taxpayer
- An individual engaged in business with gross sales or receipts of PHP1,919,500 or less in a 12-month period
- Nonstock, nonprofit organizations or associations engaged in trade or business with gross sales or receipts of PHP1,919,500 or less in a 12-month period
- Cooperatives, except electric cooperatives
- Radio and television broadcasters with gross annual receipts of PHP10 million or less that do not opt to be registered for VAT
- Enterprises registered with the Philippine Economic Zone Authority (PEZA) and other economic zones that enjoy a preferential tax rate of 5% instead of paying all taxes
- Enterprises registered with the Subic Bay Metropolitan Authority (SBMA) or with other free port zones that enjoy a preferential tax rate of 5% instead of paying all taxes

Group registration. Group VAT registration is not available in the Philippines.

Non-established businesses. A foreign non-established business (or foreign nonresident not engaged in trade or business in the Philippines) is a foreign business that does not have a branch, headquarters or permanent establishment in the Philippines. A foreign non-established business is subject to VAT for services rendered in the Philippines, but it is not required to register.

Registration procedures. New VAT taxpayers must file an application for registration as a VAT taxpayer. Corporations and partnerships must fill out BIR Form No. 1903 (Application for Registration) or BIR Form No. 1905 (Application for Registration Information Update) and file it with the Revenue District Office (RDO) having jurisdiction over the place where the head office and branch is located together with the required attachments on or before the first sale transaction. New taxpayers are required to pay an annual registration fee PHP500 at the Authorized Agent Banks (AABs) of the concerned RDO and submit the requirements for authority to print principal and supplementary receipts/invoices and registration of books of accounts. As soon as all the requirements are submitted, the RDO will issue the Certificate of Registration (Form 2303).

Late-registration penalties. Penalties and interest are assessed for several VAT errors, including late registration for VAT.

Tax representatives. A foreign non-established business is not required to appoint a VAT representative in the Philippines. Any resident who deals with a non-established business and who has control over payment for the supply must act as the VAT withholding agent.

Reverse-charge services. Under the reverse-charge provision, a taxable person that receives a supply of goods or services must withhold the VAT due from the supplier and pay the VAT. The reverse charge applies in the circumstances described below.

Before paying for each taxable purchase of goods or services, the government must deduct and withhold a final VAT of 5% representing the net VAT payable by the seller. The remaining 7% is the standard input VAT (see Section F) for sales of goods or services to the government, instead of the actual input VAT directly attributable or apportioned to these sales. If the actual input VAT exceeds 7% of the gross payment, the excess may form part of the seller's expense or cost. If the actual input VAT is less than 7% of the gross payment, the difference must be treated as an expense or cost.

A resident must withhold 12% VAT before paying to a nonresident or foreign non-established business the consideration for a nonresident's lease of properties or for property rights or services rendered in the Philippines. A VAT-registered withholding agent may claim the VAT withheld by it as input tax on its own VAT return, subject to the rule on allocation of input tax among taxable, zero-rated and exempt sales (see Section F). If the withholding agent is a non-VAT taxpayer, the VAT paid forms part of the cost of the purchased services and may be treated either as an asset or as an expense, in accordance with general accounting principles.

Digital economy. Taxable persons conducting online business transactions for the sale, barter or exchange of goods and services with gross sales or receipts in excess of PHP1,919,500 in a 12-month period must register as a VAT taxpayer.

The online merchant or retailer is required among others to issue a registered invoice or receipt, either manually or electronically, for every sale, barter, exchange, or lease of goods and services. If the buyer pays through an online intermediary who controls the collections/payments of buyers or markets products/services for its own account and thus considered the retailer/merchant, they are required to issue the invoice/official receipt for the full amount of the sale to the buyer.

Payment gateways such as banks, credit card companies, financial institution and bill paying services are obliged to issue validated bank deposit slips or payment confirmations in the name of the merchant-seller. Freight forwarders and online website administrators are likewise obliged to issue, either electronically or manually, the BIR registered official receipt for the service fees paid by the merchant or advertisers.

Deregistration. A VAT-registered person may cancel its registration for VAT in any of the following circumstances:

- The taxable person's written application to the Commissioner of Internal Revenue satisfactorily shows that its gross sales or receipts for the following 12 months (other than those that are exempt) will not exceed PHP1,919,500.
- The person has ceased to carry on its trade or business and does not expect to recommence any trade or business in the next 12 months.
- A change of ownership in a single proprietorship occurs.
- A partnership or corporation is dissolved.
- A merger or consolidation of a dissolved corporation occurs.
- The person registers before a planned business commencement, but fails to start its business.

D. VAT rates

Taxable transactions are liable to VAT either at the standard VAT rate of 12% or at the zero rate (0%). A taxable person that makes zero-rated transactions may use the input VAT as credit against VAT liability (see Section F), or it may file a claim for a refund or apply for a tax credit certificate (TCC).

Supplies can be "effectively zero-rated," which refers to local sales of goods, properties and services by a VAT-registered person to a person or entity that was granted indirect tax exemption under special laws or international agreements.

Examples of transactions that are zero-rated

- Export sales, including the following:
 - Sales of goods exported from the Philippines to a foreign country
 - Sales of raw materials or packaging materials to a nonresident buyer for delivery to a resident exporter for manufacturing, processing, packing or repacking the buyer's goods in the Philippines
 - Sales of raw materials or packaging materials supplied to an exporter with export sales exceeding 70% of its annual production
 - Sales of gold to the Philippines Central Bank (Bangko Sentral ng Pilipinas, or BSP)

- Foreign-currency denominated sales
- Sales to tax-exempt persons or to entities under a special law or by international agreement
- Services rendered to persons engaged in international shipping or air transport operations
- Services of contractors or subcontractors in processing or manufacturing goods for exporters with export sales exceeding 70% of annual production

VAT-exempt transactions are not subject to output VAT (that is, VAT on sales) and the seller is not permitted to recover input tax (that is, VAT on creditable purchases; see Section F).

Examples of VAT-exempt transactions

- The sale or import of the following items:
 - Agricultural or marine food products in their original state
 - Livestock or poultry used as, or for producing, foods for human consumption
 - Breeding stock and related genetic materials
 - Fertilizers, seeds, fingerlings, fish, prawn, livestock or poultry feeds and ingredients used for manufacturing finished feeds (except specialty feeds for race horses, fighting cocks, zoo or pet animals)
- Import of the following items:
 - Personal or household effects of residents returning from abroad or nonresident citizens coming to resettle in the Philippines if the items qualify for exemption from customs duties
 - Professional instruments or implements, clothing, domestic animals, and personal household effects (except vehicles, vessels, aircraft, machinery, and other goods for use in the manufacturing and merchandising of any kind in commercial quantities), belonging to persons settling in the Philippines for their own use (that is, not for sale or barter or exchange), accompanying such persons or arriving within 90 days before or after their arrival
 - Lifesaving equipment, safety and rescue equipment and communication and navigational safety equipment, steel plates and other metal plates used for shipping transport operations
 - Capital equipment, machinery, spare parts, lifesaving and navigational equipment, steel plates and other metal plates used for construction and repair of any merchant marine vessel operated or to be operated in the domestic trade
- Services rendered by agricultural contract growers and milling for others of palay (unhusked rice), corn and sugar cane
- Domestic common carriers by land for passenger transport
- Garage keepers
- International air or shipping carriers
- Radio or television broadcast franchisees with annual gross receipts of PHP10 million or less
- Gas and water utilities' franchisees
- Persons, companies and corporations (not cooperatives or associations) engaged in providing life insurance in the Philippines
- Fire, marine or other insurance agents of foreign insurance companies
- Proprietors or lessees or operators of cockpits, clubs, boxing, professional basketball, jai-alai and race tracks
- Individual employees

- Providers for overseas dispatches, messages or conversations from the Philippines
- Sales or exchanges of shares listed and traded at the local exchange or by initial public offering
- Medical, dental, hospital and veterinary services, except those rendered by professionals
- Educational services of government or accredited private educational institutions
- Transactions exempted under international agreements signed by the Philippines or under special laws
- Sales by agricultural cooperatives to members, sales of their produce to nonmembers and the import of direct farm inputs, equipment or spare parts for producing or processing farm produce
- Lending by credit or multipurpose cooperatives
- Sales by nonagricultural or nonelectric or noncredit cooperatives if a member's capital contribution cap is PHP15,000
- Sales of the following real properties:
 - Real properties not primarily held for sale, lease or use in the ordinary course of trade or business
 - Low-cost housing, up to PHP750,000
 - Socialized housing, up to PHP450,000
 - Residential lots up to PHP1,919,500
 - Houses, lots and other residential dwellings, up to PHP3,199,200
- The lease of residential units for rent not exceeding: PHP12,800 a month
- The sale, import, printing or publication of books and newspapers or magazines appearing at regular intervals that have fixed sale prices and that are not devoted principally to publication of paid advertisements
- Services of banks, nonbank financial intermediaries performing quasi-banking functions, and other nonbank financial intermediaries, such as money changers and pawnshops
- Sale or lease of goods or properties or services up to PHP1,919,500 annually
- Sale of goods or services to "senior citizens," as defined under Republic Act (RA) No. 9994 or the Expanded Senior Citizens Act of 2010

Option to tax for exempt supplies. A VAT registered person may elect that exempt transactions be registered for VAT purposes. Once the election is made, it shall be irrevocable for a period of three (3) years counted from the quarter when the election was made except for franchise grantees of radio and TV broadcasting whose annual gross receipts for the preceding year do not exceed PHP10 million where the option becomes perpetually irrevocable.

E. Time of supply

General rules. The time of supply or tax point is the time when the VAT becomes due. The following are the general rules for the time of supply:

- For importations — before the release of the goods (whether or not for business) from customs custody
- For the sale or deemed sale, barter or exchange of taxable goods or properties — at the time of the transaction, regardless of when actual payment is made

- For installment sales of real property — when each actual payment is made or at the constructive receipt date for each installment payment
- For the use or lease of property — when each actual payment is made or at the constructive receipt date for each installment payment
- For supplies of services — when each actual payment is made or at the constructive receipt date for each installment payment

Deposits and prepayments. In general, receipt of a deposit or prepayment creates a tax point if the amount is paid as part of the total payment for a particular supply.

If a prepayment constitutes a prepaid lease rental, it is taxable for the lessor in the month in which the payment is received. However, a security deposit is not subject to VAT until it is applied to the rental.

Continuous supplies of services. A tax point is created each time a payment is made.

Goods sent on approval. Goods sent on approval are not subject to VAT until they are actually sold.

If an actual sale of consigned goods is not made within 60 days after the date on which the goods were consigned, a sale is deemed to take place, unless the consigned goods are returned by the consignee within the 60-day period.

Reverse-charge services. The tax point for reverse-charge services is when the consideration is paid.

Imported goods. VAT is imposed on goods brought into the Philippines, whether for use in business or not. It is based on the total value used by the Bureau of Customs (BOC) in determining tariff and customs duties, plus customs duties, excise tax, if any, and other charges imposed prior to the release of the goods from customs custody. If the valuation used by the BOC in computing customs duties is based on volume or quantity of the imported goods, the landed cost shall be the basis for computing VAT. Landed cost consists of the invoice amount, customs duties, freight, insurance, other charges and excise tax, if any. The VAT on importation shall be paid by the importer prior to the release of such goods from customs custody.

F. Recovery of VAT by taxable persons

A VAT-registered person may recover input tax, which is VAT charged on the person's import of goods or local purchases of goods or services (including property leases) from another VAT-registered person, in the course of the person's trade or business. A VAT-registered person generally recovers input tax by deducting it from output tax, which is the VAT charged on the sale or lease of taxable goods or properties or services. If at the end of the tax quarter, a VAT-registered person's output VAT exceeds input VAT, the person must pay the excess. If input VAT exceeds output VAT, the excess is carried over to the next quarter or quarters.

Special rules apply to input tax related to capital goods, mixed, partially exempt and zero-rated transactions (see below).

Deductible input tax (creditable expenditure). Input tax related to certain transactions may be creditable against output tax if the tax paid is evidenced by a VAT invoice or official receipt issued by a VAT-registered person. The following table lists such transactions.

Transactions for which input tax may be credited against output tax

- Goods purchased or imported for any of the following purposes:
 - Sale of the goods themselves
 - Conversion into a finished product for sale, or goods intended to form part of a finished product for sale, including packaging materials
 - Use of supplies in the course of business
 - Use of raw materials in a supply of services
 - Use in trade or business for which deduction for depreciation or amortization is allowed
- The purchase of real property on which VAT has been paid
- The purchase of services on which VAT has been paid
- Transactions deemed to be sales
- Transitional input tax of 2% of value of beginning inventory or of the actual VAT paid, whichever is higher
- Presumptive input tax of 4% of the gross value of purchases of primary agricultural products used as inputs in the production of sardines, mackerel, milk, refined sugar, cooking oil and packed noodle-based instant meals
- Transitional input tax credits allowed under the law and regulations

For purposes of the above table, transitional input tax is a form of input tax allowed on transition from non-VAT-registered status to VAT-registered status. It may be credited against output tax when the VAT registration takes effect. Presumptive input tax is a form of fixed input tax allowed to persons or firms engaged in the processing of sardines, mackerel, and milk, and in manufacturing refined sugar, cooking oil and packed noodle-based instant meals. In general, it may be credited against output tax on the consummation of purchases of primary agricultural products (used as inputs to production).

Nondeductible input tax. Input tax may not be recovered on the purchase or importation of goods and services that are not used for business purposes.

Examples of items for which input tax is nondeductible

- Purchases from VAT persons, which are personal in nature or not made in the course of trade or business.
- Purchases of non-operating movable property or equipment not connected with the business operation of the VAT taxpayer.

Examples of items for which input tax is deductible
(if related to a taxable business use)

- Purchases or importation of raw materials intended to form part of a finished product for sale.

Capital goods. A VAT-registered person's purchases or imports of capital or depreciable goods may be claimed as credit against output VAT, in accordance with the rules described below.

If the aggregate acquisition cost exceeds PHP1 million in a calendar month, regardless of the unit cost of the capital goods, and if the capital goods have an estimated useful life of five years or more, a claim for input VAT credit begins in the month in which the capital goods are acquired and is spread evenly over 60 months. The credit is spread evenly over the actual number of months of the useful life of the asset if its estimated useful life is less than five years.

If the aggregate acquisition cost does not exceed PHP1 million in a calendar month, the total input VAT is allowable as a credit against output VAT in the month of acquisition.

Partial exemption. Input VAT that is directly attributed to transactions subject to VAT may be recognized for tax credit. However, input tax that is directly attributable to VAT taxable sales of goods and services to the government is not available for credit against output tax related to supplies made to nongovernment entities.

Input tax that is not directly attributable to either VAT-taxable or VAT-exempt transactions must be prorated monthly between VAT taxable and VAT-exempt transactions. Input tax credit is permitted only for the portion of input tax that relates to transactions subject to VAT.

A VAT-registered person making supplies of goods, property and services that are zero-rated (or effectively zero-rated) may apply for a tax credit certificate (TCC) or a refund of input tax attributable to these sales (except for the portion of the excess input tax that has already been applied against output tax). The default claim shall be a cash refund unless the claimant applies for the issuance of a TCC.

Under Section 112 (A) of the Tax Code, as amended, the request may be made within two years after the close of the tax quarter in which the sales are made.

The Commissioner of Internal Revenue must grant the TCC or refund within 120 days after the date of submission of all documents required with respect to the claim.

Refunds. Any input tax attributable to zero-rated sales by a VAT-registered person may at his option be refunded or applied for a tax credit certificate (TCC).

The administrative claim for VAT refund or TCC must be filed within two years from the close of the taxable quarter when the zero-rated sales and/or effectively zero-rated sales were made.

The application for VAT refund must be accompanied by complete supporting documents as specifically enumerated in existing revenue regulations. The application shall be denied if the taxpayer fails to submit the complete supporting documents.

The Commissioner of Internal Revenue (CIR) shall have 120 days from the submission of the complete supporting documents within which to decide whether or not to grant the claim. If the claim is not acted upon by the commissioner within the 120 days, such inaction shall be deemed a denial of the claim.

In case of a denial, the taxpayer should file a judicial claim with the Court of Tax Appeals (CTA) (i) within 30 days from receipt of the commissioner's decision denying the claim (whether in full or in part) within the 120-day period, or (ii) from the expiration of the 120-day period if the commissioner does not act within the 120-day period. The taxpayer is required to observe the 120 + 30-day rule before lodging a petition for review with the CTA.

Preregistration costs. Not applicable.

G. Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses

The Philippines does not refund VAT incurred by businesses that are neither established in the Philippines nor registered for VAT purposes.

A VAT-registered person that acts as a withholding agent for a supply made by a nonresident may recover the VAT withheld as input tax, on filing its own VAT return, subject to the normal rules on allocation of input tax (see Section F). If the resident withholding agent is a non-VAT taxpayer, the VAT forms part of the cost of purchased services and the VAT may be treated either as an asset or expense (subject to normal accounting principles).

H. Invoicing

VAT invoices and credit notes. A VAT-registered person must issue a VAT invoice for every sale, barter or exchange of goods or property or a VAT official receipt for every lease of goods or property and for every sale, barter or exchange of services. An authority to print (ATP) receipts or sales invoices must be secured from the tax authorities. The official receipt or invoice shall be valid for five (5) years from the issuance of the ATP or the full usage of the inclusive serial numbers of the receipts/invoices reflected in the ATP, whichever comes first. These documents must contain the following information:

- A statement that the seller is a VAT-registered person, followed by the person's tax identification number (TIN)
- The total amount payable by the purchaser, inclusive of VAT
- The amount of tax shown as a separate line item
- If the sale is exempt from VAT, the word "Exempt" and the sentence, "This document is not valid for claim of input tax" prominently displayed
- If the sale is subject to 0% VAT, the term "zero-rated sale" prominently displayed
- If the sale includes goods, property or services, some of which are subject to VAT and some of which are VAT-zero-rated or VAT-exempt, a clear breakdown of the sales price between taxable, exempt and zero-rated components, with VAT calculated on each portion of the sale
- For sales or transfers to a VAT-registered person valued at PHP1,000 or more, the name, business style (if any), address and TIN of the purchaser or client
- The ATP number, date of issuance and validity of the ATP, including the name, address, TIN of the accredited printer, with his accreditation number and date of accreditation as an authorized printer
- The phrase "This invoice/receipt shall be valid for five (5) years from date of the ATP"

A VAT tax credit note may be used to reduce the VAT charged on supply of goods or services. Tax credit and debit notes must show the same information as a VAT invoice or receipt.

Export documentation. Export sales are subject to the zero rate of VAT if goods are shipped from the Philippines to a foreign country. The goods must be paid for in acceptable foreign currency (or its equivalent in goods or services), and it must be accounted for in accordance with the rules of the BSP. The sale and shipment of goods must be proven by the following documents:

- VAT invoices that contain the term “zero-rated sale” written or printed on the invoice
- Bills of lading
- Inward letters of credit
- Landing certificates
- Other relevant commercial documents

Foreign-currency invoices. If a VAT invoice or official receipt is issued in a foreign currency, all values that are required to be paid must be converted into Philippine pesos, using an acceptable exchange rate.

I. VAT returns and payment

VAT returns. VAT payers that use a manual filing system must file monthly VAT declarations and pay the VAT to an authorized agent bank, not later than the 20th day after the end of each month. Taxpayers must also file quarterly VAT returns showing their quarterly gross sales or receipts within 25 days after the close of the tax quarter.

VAT payers that use the electronic filing and payment system are classified according to their business industry and they are given deadlines based on their classification. The due dates for filing and payment range from 21 days to 25 days after the end of the month for each monthly VAT declaration. The return for reporting VAT withholding must be filed, and the tax must be paid, on or before the 10th day of the month following the transaction.

VAT payers are also required to submit a quarterly summary list of sales and purchases (SLSP) on disk, specifically the compact disc-recordable (CDR) medium. VAT payers that use a manual filing system must file the quarterly SLSP within 25 days after the close of the tax quarter. VAT payers that use the electronic filing and payment system must submit the quarterly SLPL within 30 days after the close of the quarter.

Advance payment of VAT is required for the sale of refined sugar and flour. The advance VAT must be paid by the owner or seller to the Bureau of Internal Revenue through an authorized agent bank or revenue collection officer before any refined sugar or flour can be withdrawn from any refinery or mill. In addition, the VAT on imported goods must be paid before the release of the goods from the Bureau of Customs’ custody.

J. Penalties

Civil penalties (25% or 50%) and 20% interest are assessed on the amount due for the following offenses:

- Failure to file a return and pay the tax due based on the return as required by law and rules
- Filing a return with an internal revenue officer other than the officer with whom the return is required to be filed
- Failure to pay the full or part of the tax due or the deficiency tax within the prescribed period

- Willful neglect to file a return within the prescribed period
- Failure to file certain information returns
- Failure of a withholding agent to collect and remit tax or refund excess withholding tax
- Erroneous issuance of a VAT invoice or receipt by a person not registered for VAT

In addition to other administrative and penal sanctions, the commissioner of the BIR may suspend or close a business establishment for at least five days for any of the following violations:

- Failure to issue receipts and invoices
- Failure to file a VAT return
- Understatement of taxable sales or receipts by 30% or more of the correct taxable sales or receipts for the tax quarter
- Failure of a person to register for VAT as required by law

The conviction of a refusal or failure to indicate separately the output tax on the sale of goods and services on a sales invoice or official receipt, each such act or omission is punished by a fine of not less than PHP1,000 but not more than PHP50,000 and imprisonment of not less than two years but not more than four years.

Poland

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Warsaw

GMT +1

EY

Rondo ONZ 1
00-124 Warsaw
Poland

Indirect tax contacts

Radoslaw Szczech	+48 (22) 557-7293 radoslaw.szczech@pl.ey.com
Dorota Pokrop	+48 (22) 557-7339 dorota.pokrop@pl.ey.com

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Value-added tax (VAT)
Local name	Podatek od towarow i uslug
Date introduced	5 July 1993
Trading bloc membership	European Union (EU) Member State
Administered by	Ministry of Finance (http://www.mf.gov.pl)
VAT rates
Standard	23%
Reduced	5% and 8%
Other	Zero-rated and exempt
VAT number format	123-45-67-890 PL 1234567890
VAT return periods	Monthly or quarterly
Thresholds
Registration	PLN150,000
Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses	Yes

B. Scope of the tax

VAT applies to the following transactions:

- The supply of goods and rendering of services in Poland for consideration
- Receipt of reverse-charge services by a taxable person in Poland
- Export and import of goods
- Intra-Community acquisition of goods for consideration in Poland
- Intra-Community supply of goods

The following activities are outside the scope of VAT:

- Transactions that cannot be subject to legal agreements (illegal transactions)
- Sales of businesses (transfers of going concerns)
- Employment contracts

C. Who is liable

A taxable person is a business entity or individual that carries on business activities, regardless of the purpose or result of the business activities. Business activities include all manufacturing, trading and service-providing activities. Business activities also include continuous use of goods and intangible rights with the purpose of obtaining income.

The VAT registration threshold is PLN150,000. The limit may apply in one of the following two ways:

- Retrospectively: the value of supplies of goods or services exceeded PLN150,000 in the preceding tax year.
- Prospectively: at the start of business, the value of supplies of goods or services is expected to exceed PLN150,000. If the business begins after the start of the calendar year, the registration limit applies proportionately to the remainder of the year.

If the value of supplies is not expected to exceed the registration threshold, a new business is exempt from VAT (with some exceptions – please see below).

However, it may waive the exemption. The waiver in writing must be submitted to the appropriate VAT office. If the value of sales exceeds the registration threshold, the exemption is automatically no longer valid and the amount of turnover in excess of the threshold is subject to VAT.

The registration threshold is not applied to the importation of goods and services, to intra-Community acquisition of goods and the supply of goods on which the purchaser is liable to account for VAT. In addition, businesses in the following categories must register for VAT at the commencement of activity, regardless of the amount of turnover:

- Businesses that supply products made from precious metals
- Businesses that supply certain excise products
- Businesses that supply new means of transport
- Businesses that supply buildings or building land
- Businesses that provide legal, consulting and professional services
- Businesses that supply services connected with jewelry

The PLN150,000 registration threshold does not apply to foreign businesses.

Group registration. VAT group registration is not permitted under Polish VAT law. Legal entities that are closely connected must register for VAT individually.

Foreign businesses and tax representatives. A foreign business (that is, an entity that is not established in Poland and that does not have a place of business there) must register for VAT in Poland if it makes taxable supplies of goods or services in Poland.

However, in general, a foreign business is not required to register for VAT in Poland if it supplies exclusively the following services:

- Services and goods for which the Polish purchaser is required to account for and pay tax under the reverse-charge mechanism (see Section E).
- Certain services that are subject to a zero rate (for example, services supplied at Polish seaports with respect to international transport, services of air traffic control rendered for foreign providers of air transportation and transport services related to the import of goods if the cost of transport is included in the tax base of goods; see Section D).

A non-EU business must appoint a Polish resident tax representative before registering for VAT in Poland. The tax representative is jointly and severally responsible for the tax arrears of the foreign business represented by it.

An EU business is not required to appoint a tax representative to register for VAT in Poland, but it may appoint a tax representative if it chooses to do so.

Registration procedures. Prior to performing the first taxable activity, a taxpayer should submit the VAT-R and NIP-2 registration forms (which may be submitted electronically under certain conditions). The deadline to issue a registration decision is two weeks, however, in most cases it takes less time. Additionally, prior to performing the first intra-Community acquisition or intra-Community supply taxpayers should obtain VAT-EU number (VAT-R registration is also used for this purpose). Moreover, in case of any changes in scope of the information provided within the VAT-R form, a taxpayer should update the tax office accordingly within seven days after the day the change has occurred.

Late-registration penalties. No specific penalty applies to late VAT registration in Poland. However, penalties are assessed if, as a result of late registration, a taxable person pays VAT late or submits VAT returns late. Penalties may include fines and criminal penalties.

Reverse charge. Reverse-charge mechanism is generally applicable to intra-Community acquisitions of goods or import of services. Reverse charge is also applicable to:

- (a) Supplies of services by foreign entities not having seat or fixed establishment in Poland to the Polish taxpayers
- (b) Local supplies of goods by foreign entities not having seat or fixed establishment in Poland to the Polish taxpayers
- (c) Local supplies of certain fraud sensitive goods, e.g., ferro-alloys, plastic waste, glass waste

Effective 1 January 2015, the taxpayers are obliged to submit the recapitulative statement concerning local supplies of certain goods and services for which reverse-charge mechanism applies (i.e., those goods, that are enlisted in the Appendix 11 to the Polish VAT Act, such as ferro-alloys, plastic waste or glass waste).

Digital economy. Effective 1 January 2015, Poland implements EU provisions regarding Mini One-Stop Shop for supply of electronic, telecommunication and broadcasting services to non-taxpayers.

In case of electronic, telecommunication and broadcasting services supplied to VAT registered businesses, the place of supply is determined according to the general rule, i.e., based on the seat of the acquirer. When dealing with services supplied for non-taxpayers – as of 1 January 2015 – the place of supply is determined by the customer's seat, permanent place of residence or ordinary place of residence.

If a taxpayer decides to benefit from Mini One-Stop Shop simplification he should register through the Polish Ministry of Finance portal (using VIU-R form – for entities from EU or VIN-R form – for entities from outside EU).

Taxpayers that decide to use Mini One-Stop Shop simplification should submit VAT returns concerning electronic, telecommunication and broadcasting services electronically not later than on 20th day of the month following the quarter (VAT payments should be arranged within this deadline as well). All the amounts enlisted in such return should be indicated in EUR.

Taxpayers should submit those VAT returns to II Urząd Skarbowy Warszawa-Srodmiescie (Jagiellońska 15, Warsaw, Poland).

Apart from the above, taxpayers that enjoy the Mini One-Stop Shop simplification should keep the register of all the transactions that fall within the scope of the Mini One-Stop Shop mechanism and – upon request – be presented to the tax authorities.

Deregistration. Deregistration may be conducted either based on the taxpayer's application (filed on VAT-Z form) or officially by the head of the tax office (most usually in case no VAT returns are filed for more than six months).

D. VAT rates

The term “taxable supplies” refers to supplies of goods and services that are liable to a rate of VAT, including the zero rate.

The VAT rates are:

- Standard rate: 23%
- Reduced rates: 5% and 8%
- Zero rate (0%)

The standard rate of VAT applies to all supplies of goods or services unless a specific measure provides for a reduced rate, the zero rate or an exemption.

Examples of goods and services taxed at 5%

- Certain unprocessed basic foodstuffs
- Certain agricultural and forestry products
- Books and certain magazines

Examples of goods and services taxed at 8%

- Musical instruments
- Certain foodstuffs
- Handicraft products
- Books, newspapers and magazines
- Maps
- Hotel services
- Certain entertainment services
- Passenger transport
- Travel services
- Medical products
- Supply of water
- Certain services related to agriculture

- Other services related to recreation - solely within the scope of admission
- Supply, construction, repairs and reconstructions of buildings classified as “social housing”

Examples of goods and services taxable at 0%

- Exports
- Intra-Community supplies of goods
- Supplies of certain sailing vessels
- International transport and related services
- Supplies of computer equipment to educational institutions

The term “exempt” refers to supplies of goods and services that are not liable to tax and that do not qualify for input tax deduction (see Section F).

Examples of exempt supplies of goods and services

- Financial services (with exceptions)
- Supply of real estate (with option to tax)
- Healthcare services
- Social welfare services
- Public postal services
- Education
- Lease of residential property
- Cultural and sporting events (with exceptions)
- Services connected with science
- Dental engineering
- Betting, gaming and lotteries

Option to tax for exempt supplies. Polish VAT act provides option to tax for supply of real estate, which generally benefit from VAT exemption under certain conditions.

E. Time of supply

The time when VAT becomes due is called the “time of supply” or “tax point.” The basic time of supply for goods is when the goods are delivered. The basic time of supply for services is when the services are performed.

Special time of supply rules apply to several situations.

Prepayments. The receipt of prepayments is considered the tax point. The tax point is created only to the extent of the payment.

The tax point for exports of goods is created according to the general rules.

Imported goods. The tax point for imported goods arises when a customs debt is incurred. However, for goods imported under certain customs regimes, the tax point arises when the goods enter the customs regime. The following are the relevant customs regime:

- Inward processing
- Temporary customs clearance
- Processing under customs supervision

Intra-Community acquisitions and supplies of goods. The tax point for the intra-Community acquisition of goods is the invoice date but not later than the 15th day of the month following the month in which the supply took place. If an invoice is issued before this date, the VAT is due at the time the invoice is issued.

The same tax point rules apply to intra-Community supplies of goods.

Reverse-charge services. Imported services are subject to a reverse charge, which is a form of self-assessment of VAT. If the reverse charge applies, the recipient of the service accounts for output tax (effectively on behalf of the supplier).

The reverse-charge VAT is deductible as input tax by the recipient of the service in accordance with the general rules (see Section F), in the same month (quarter) when the tax point arises or in one of the two following months (quarters).

Cash accounting. Poland operates a cash accounting scheme with a maximum threshold of EUR1.2 million.

Continuous supplies of services. The tax point concerning continuous supplies of services (i.e., those services, that are rendered for longer than a year) arises at the end of each year until these services are completed. If services are supplied for a period not exceeding a year – the tax point arises at the moment of services' completion. Additionally, if parties of the transaction set clearing or payment periods regarding the continuously supplied services, the tax point arises at the end of each period.

Leased assets. The tax point concerning leased assets arises at the moment of issuance of the invoice documenting leasing services.

F. Recovery of VAT by taxable persons

A taxable person may recover input tax, which is charged on goods and services supplied to it for business purposes, if it relates to the person's taxable supplies. A taxable person generally recovers input tax by deducting it from output tax, which is charged on supplies made.

Input tax includes VAT paid on the purchase of goods and services, VAT paid on imports of goods and on intra-Community acquisitions, VAT self-assessed for reverse-charge services received from outside Poland and VAT self-assessed for goods on which the purchaser is liable to account for VAT.

The amount of the VAT reclaimed must be detailed on a valid VAT invoice.

Nondeductible input tax. Input tax may not be recovered on purchases of goods and services that are not used for business purposes (for example, goods acquired for private use by the entrepreneur). In addition, input tax is not recoverable for some items of business expenditure.

Examples of items for which input tax is nondeductible

- Restaurant meals
- Personal expenses
- Fuel used for passenger cars with low loading capacity (exclusion applicable until 1 July 2015, then 50% of input VAT will be deductible)
- Hotel accommodation

Examples of items for which input tax is deductible
(if related to a taxable business use)

- Advertising
- Purchase, lease or hire of passenger cars as well as vans or trucks with high loading capacity
- Fuel (gasoline, diesel oil, propane and butane) for the vehicles listed above
- For passenger cars with low loading capacity (if passenger car is used for taxable activities only, under certain conditions 100% of input VAT is deductible, otherwise, i.e., if a passenger car is used for both taxable activities and private purposes – only 50%)
- Travel
- Conferences
- Business gifts
- Advisory services
- Business use of home telephone and mobile phones

Partial deduction. Input tax is not recoverable if it is directly related to making exempt supplies. If a Polish taxable person makes both exempt supplies and taxable supplies, it may not deduct input tax in full. This situation is referred to as “partial exemption.”

Input tax directly relating to taxable supplies is recoverable in full, while input tax directly related to exempt supplies is not recoverable. Input tax that is not directly attributable to taxable supplies or to VAT-exempt supplies must be apportioned to each category.

The general pro-rata method is based on the ratio of qualifying turnover compared with total turnover during the calendar year. The initial deduction (that is, the deduction made during a tax year) is done based on the pro rata percentage for the preceding year.

The recovery percentage is rounded up to the nearest whole number. The calculation is adjusted using the actual figures for the year in the first period of the next calendar year.

Capital goods. Capital goods are items of capital expenditure that are used in a business for longer than a year. Input tax is deducted in the tax period in which the goods are acquired. The amount of input tax recovered depends on the taxable person’s partial exemption status in the VAT year of acquisition. The amount of input tax recovered on the capital item must be adjusted over time depending on the use of the goods. In Poland, the capital goods adjustment applies to the following assets (for the number of years indicated):

- Real estate: adjusted for a period of 10 years
- Capital goods and intangible assets: adjusted for a period of five years

The adjustment does not apply to goods or services that are capital goods and intangible assets with a purchase value of less than PLN15,000.

The adjustment is applied each year following the year in which the capital goods or real estate is made available to a fraction of the total input tax (1/10 for real estate and 1/5 for other capital goods). The adjustment may result in either an increase or a decrease in deductible input VAT, depending on whether the ratio of taxable supplies made by the business has increased or decreased compared to the year in which the capital goods were acquired.

Refunds. In general, if a VAT return shows an excess of input VAT over output VAT, the surplus input tax is carried forward to offset output tax in the following month. Taxable persons may request a direct refund of the surplus within the following time limits:

- 60 days after the date on which the VAT return is submitted
- 180 days from the date on which the VAT return was submitted if the taxpayer did not perform any taxable activity in the relevant period

The refund periods may be shortened to 25 and 60 days, respectively, if the taxpayer submits an appropriate application and if the invoices and other documents regarding the input VAT shown in the VAT return are paid or if the collateral is submitted.

If necessary, the tax office may extend the refund period until tax proceedings are completed.

If a repayment is delayed, the tax office must add interest for the delay.

Preregistration costs. It is possible to deduct input VAT from expenses incurred prior to VAT registration under certain conditions. The Polish tax authorities allow such deductions, yet such procedure is not regulated within the Polish VAT Act.

Write-off of bad debts. Under certain conditions, a taxpayer may adjust a taxable amount and the tax due on goods or services supplied in case of receivables for which uncollectibility has been substantiated. The adjustment also concerns the taxable amount and tax amount attributable to a portion of receivables whose uncollectibility has been substantiated. Uncollectibility of receivables is deemed as substantiated if receivables were not settled or disposed of in any form within 150 days following the lapse of their payment deadline stipulated in an agreement or invoice.

Up to the end of 2014, provisions concerning writing off bad debts were not applicable provided that classified relationship (such as family or capital links) occurred between creditor and debtor. This provision is repealed as of 1 January 2015, hence such relationship becomes irrelevant when applying write-off provisions.

On the other hand, if the amount due on the invoice for goods or services supplied is not paid within 150 days from the lapse of payment deadline specified in an agreement or the invoice, a debtor shall adjust a deducted amount of the tax resulting from said invoice in settlement for the period in which the 150th day elapsed from the payment deadline specified in the agreement or the invoice (unless creditor is at that moment in the bankruptcy or liquidation proceedings – this provision will be in force as of 1 January 2015).

G. Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses

Poland refunds VAT incurred by businesses that are neither established nor registered for VAT in Poland. A non-established business may claim VAT to the same extent as a Polish taxable person.

For businesses established in the EU, refunds are made under the terms of the EU Directive 2008/09. For businesses established outside the EU, refunds are made under the terms of the EU 13th Directive. For the general VAT refund rules applicable to the EU 2008/09 and 13th Directive refund schemes, see the chapter on the EU.

To be eligible to claim a VAT refund in Poland, a non-established business must satisfy all the following conditions:

- It must be registered for VAT in the country where it is established.
- It must not make taxable supplies in Poland (with certain exceptions, including supplies of services taxed under the reverse-charge mechanism).
- It must be established in a country that refunds VAT to Polish businesses (the reciprocity principle).

Refund application. The deadline for submitting refund applications is 30 September following the claim year. This deadline is strictly enforced. The forms must be completed in Polish. The claim period is a minimum of a calendar quarter and a maximum of one calendar year. The minimum claim amounts are EUR400 for accounting periods shorter than a year and EUR50 for an annual claim.

Refunds are made in Polish zloty (PLN) into a bank account maintained by the claimant either in Poland or in the state where the claimant is resident or has a place of business. If a transfer is made abroad, the tax office does not cover the remittance costs.

Refund claims by non-EU businesses must be filed with the following tax office in Warsaw:

II Urząd Skarbowy Warszawa Śródmieście
Jagiellońska 15
Warsaw
Poland

EU businesses must file the application form through their local tax office in their country of establishment.

To claim refunds, the following documents are required:

- Official application form (this form is attached to the Ministry of Finance Decree)
- Original VAT invoices and customs documents
- Certificate of Registration as a Taxpayer issued by the VAT authorities in the country where the claimant is established, stating that the taxpayer is a taxable person for VAT purposes (this form is attached to the Ministry of Finance Decree)

Repayments and interest. Refunds are made within four to eight months after the claim filing date. The taxpayer is entitled to interest on the late refunds.

H. Invoicing

VAT invoices and credit notes. A Polish taxable person must generally provide a VAT invoice for the following:

- All taxable supplies made except for exempt transactions
- Exports of goods
- Intra-Community supplies

- Supplies of goods outside the scope of Polish VAT (that is, the reverse-charge mechanism applies)
- Supplies of services outside the scope of Polish VAT (that is, the reverse-charge mechanism applies)
- Triangular transactions (see the chapter on the EU)
- Distance sales (see the chapter on the EU)

VAT invoices are not required if a business exclusively supplies VAT-exempt goods or services. VAT invoices are not required for sales made to private individuals who do not carry on business activities, unless requested. Invoices must support claims for VAT refunds claimed by non-established businesses.

A credit note (called a “correcting invoice”) must be issued if any of the following circumstances arise after an invoice is issued:

- A rebate or discount is granted.
- The price is increased.
- An error is detected in the price, rate or amount of tax charged or in any other element of the invoice.

In general, a credit note must be issued to the person to whom the original VAT invoice was issued.

Electronic invoicing. Effective 1 January 2013, the VAT law has been amended to permit electronic invoicing in line with EU Directive 2010/45/EU.

Proof of export and intra-Community supplies. Goods exported from Poland and intra-Community supplies of goods are subject to Polish VAT at the zero rate (see the chapter on the EU). To qualify for zero rating, the supplier must prove that the goods have left Poland. Suitable proof for exported goods includes the Single Administrative Document (SAD) or an electronic document generated by the customs authorities, which confirms that the goods have been removed from the EU (or its authorized copy). For an intra-Community supply, a range of commercial documentation must be used (usually transport documents and the specification).

Foreign-currency invoices. The VAT amount on the invoice must be shown in Polish zloty, regardless of the currency in which the amount due is expressed in the invoice. If a VAT invoice is issued in a foreign currency, the output value must be converted into Polish zloty, using the official exchange rate published by the National Bank of Poland (NBP) or European Central Bank (ECB) for the day preceding the invoice issuance date (for invoices issued correctly within the seven-day deadline). However, if an invoice was not issued on time in accordance with the Polish rules (that is, generally, within seven days after the supply), the taxpayer must apply the average rate calculated and published by the NBP or ECB on the last business day preceding the date on which the tax point arises.

B2C invoices. Effective 1 January 2015, new rules apply to the place of supply for supplies of telecommunications, broadcasting and electronic services to non-VAT taxable customers. For further details of the VAT rules on electronic services in the EU, please refer to the European Union chapter.

Apart from the above, a taxpayer is required to issue the invoice for documenting supply of goods or services to natural person and non-entrepreneur upon their request (there is no legal requirement to do so without such request).

I. VAT returns and payment

VAT returns. VAT returns are made on a monthly or quarterly basis; although quarterly VAT returns are not an option for taxpayers that supply certain goods such as fuel, gold and some ferrous products. Taxpayers must submit VAT returns to the tax office by the 25th day of the month following the month (or quarter) in which the tax point arises. The deadline for making the relevant payment is the same as for submitting the VAT return. The taxpayers who opt to file VAT returns quarterly must make advance payments no later than the 25th day of the month following the first and second month of the quarter. The advance payment is equal to 1/3 of the tax liability for the preceding quarter. If the VAT liability for the preceding quarter equals 0 (for example, excess of input VAT over output VAT), the taxpayer does not have to make any advance payments.

VAT liabilities must be paid by bank transfer, and must be paid in Polish zloty.

Small taxpayers. “Small taxpayers” include VAT-taxable persons whose total value of supplies in the preceding VAT year did not exceed the Polish zloty equivalent of EUR1.2 million. The EUR1.2 million threshold also applies to commission sales. The threshold for brokerage houses is EUR45,000 of income from brokerage and other forms of remuneration. A business that meets the small taxpayer conditions may opt for a special VAT scheme, but this treatment is not compulsory.

Small taxpayers may choose to account for VAT using the “specific tax point.” The specific tax point for a supply is the receipt of payment. The appropriate VAT office must be notified of the decision to choose this tax point.

Small taxpayers that account for VAT on the basis of the specific tax point must submit VAT returns quarterly. Other small taxpayers may also opt for quarterly return periods. The due date for the quarterly VAT return is the 25th day of the month following the end of the quarter. Payment in full is required on the same date.

J. Penalties

Several penalties are assessed in Poland for errors in VAT accounting, for late submission of VAT returns or for late payment of VAT. The following are the penalties:

- Late submission of VAT returns: for a VAT return that is submitted late, the individual responsible for the delay may be fined if the tax court determines that he or she is at fault. The fine is imposed on the basis of the Fiscal Penal Code, which determines the penal liability of natural persons for fiscal crimes.
- Late payment of VAT: the interest rate applied to delayed payments of VAT is 200% of the National Bank of Poland “Lombard rate.” In October 2013, the interest rate for delayed payments was 10% per year.

K. EU filings

Intrastat. A Polish taxpayer that trades in goods with businesses elsewhere in the EU must submit Intrastat forms if its turnover exceeds the following amounts:

- Intra-Community acquisitions: PLN1.5 million
- Intra-Community supplies: PLN1.5 million

If the taxpayer's turnover does not exceed certain thresholds, it is not required to complete all items of the Intrastat report form (numbers 12, 15 and 20 may be excluded). The following are the thresholds:

- Intra-Community acquisitions: PLN42 million
- For intra-Community supplies: PLN76 million

Intrastat returns are filed with the Polish customs authorities on a monthly basis. They must be filed by the 10th of the month following the month in which the transactions occurred.

Intrastat returns must be submitted either in paper or in electronic form. All amounts must be provided in zlotys.

A penalty may be imposed for late submissions or for missing or inaccurate declarations.

EU Sales Lists. Persons who are registered as EU VAT payers must file EU Sales Lists (ESLs) if they make intra-Community supplies and acquisitions or if they make supplies of services and the place of supply is considered to be the place of establishment of the customers.

No turnover thresholds apply to ESLs under the Polish VAT law.

ESLs must be filed monthly (or in some cases quarterly) with the tax office. ESLs submitted electronically must be filed by the 25th day of the month following the end of the month or quarter. If submitted by paper, ESLs must be filed by the 15th day of the month following the end of the month or quarter.

ESLs may be filed only in paper form. All amounts must be provided in zlotys.

In Poland, ESLs must include the following information:

- The name of the entity submitting the lists and the entity's Polish VAT registration number
- The EU VAT registration numbers of suppliers and customers, together with the appropriate country codes
- The total of intra-Community acquisitions and intra-Community supplies made
- Information about triangular transactions subject to the simplification rule (see the chapter on the EU)
- The total of services supplied that have a place of supply outside Poland

An ESL is not required for any period in which the taxable person does not make any intra-community supplies.

Penalties may be imposed for late and missing ESLs.

Portugal

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Lisbon

GMT

EY

Mail address:
Apartado 50602
1700 Lisbon
Portugal

Street address:
Edifício República
Avenida da República, 90
3rd Floor
1649-024 Lisbon
Portugal

Indirect tax contacts

Paulo Mendonça	+351 217-912-045 paulo.mendonca@pt.ey.com
Filipa Guedes	+351 217-912-040 filipa.guedes@pt.ey.com
Catarina Matos	+351 217-912-250 catarina.matos@pt.ey.com
Amilcar Nunes	+351 217-912-218 amilcar.nunes@pt.ey.com
María José Torre	+351 217-912-145 maria.jose-torre@pt.ey.com
Ana Luisa Basto	+351 217-912-258 ana.luisa.basto@pt.ey.com
Raquel Pinto	+351 217-912-187 raquel.pinto@pt.ey.com

Porto

GMT

EY

Street address:
Avenida da Boa Vista, 36
3rd Floor
4050-112 Porto
Portugal

Indirect tax contact

Liliana Pinheiro	+351 226-079-629 liliana.pinheiro@pt.ey.com
------------------	--

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Value-added tax (VAT)
Local name	Imposto sobre o valor acrescentado (IVA)
Date introduced	1 January 1986
Trading bloc membership	European Union (EU) Member State
Administered by	Ministry of Finance (http://www.portaldasfinancas.gov.pt)
VAT rates
Mainland
Standard	23%
Intermediate	13%

Reduced	6%
Other	Exempt and exempt with credit
Autonomous region of Madeira
Standard	22%
Intermediate	12%
Reduced	5%
Autonomous region of Azores
Standard	18%
Intermediate	10%
Reduced	5%
VAT number format	PT 5 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8
VAT return periods
Monthly	If the turnover in the preceding VAT year was equal or exceeded EUR650,000
Quarterly	If the turnover in the preceding VAT year did not exceed EUR650,000
Annual	All taxable persons that performed any taxable operations
Thresholds
Registration	None
Distance selling	EUR35,000
Intra-Community acquisitions	None
Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses	Yes

B. Scope of the tax

VAT applies to the following transactions:

- The supply of goods or services made in Portugal by a taxable person
- The intra-Community acquisition of goods and services in Portugal from another EU member state made by a taxable person (see the chapter on the EU)
- Reverse-charge services received by a taxable person in Portugal
- The importation of goods from outside the EU, regardless of the status of the importer

For VAT purposes, the territory of Portugal includes the autonomous regions of Azores and Madeira. However, special VAT rates apply to supplies made in these islands.

C. Who is liable

A taxable person is any business entity or individual that makes taxable supplies of goods or services or intra-Community acquisitions or distance sales in the course of a business in Portugal.

No VAT registration threshold applies in Portugal. A taxable person that begins activity must notify the VAT authorities of its liability to register.

Special rules apply to foreign or “non-established” businesses.

Group registration. VAT grouping is not permitted under Portuguese VAT law. Legal entities that are closely connected must register for VAT individually.

Non-established businesses. A “non-established business” is a business that has no fixed establishment in the territory of Portugal. A non-established business that makes supplies of goods or services in Portugal must register for VAT if it is liable to account for Portuguese VAT on the supplies or if it makes intra-Community supplies or acquisitions of goods.

The reverse charge applies generally to supplies made by non-established businesses to Portuguese taxable persons. For these purposes, non-established businesses are entities that are neither established nor registered in Portugal. Under the reverse-charge provision, the taxable person that receives the supply must account for the Portuguese VAT due. If the reverse charge applies, the non-established business is not required to register for Portuguese VAT. The reverse charge does not apply to supplies to private persons or to non-taxable legal persons. Consequently, non-established businesses must register for Portuguese VAT if they make any of the following supplies:

- Intra-Community supplies or acquisitions (see the chapter on the EU)
- Distance sales in excess of the threshold (see the chapter on the EU)
- Supplies of goods and services that are not subject to the reverse charge

Tax representatives. Businesses that are established in the EU are not required to appoint a tax representative to register for VAT in Portugal. However, EU businesses may opt to appoint a tax representative if they wish to do so.

Businesses that are established outside the EU must appoint a resident tax representative to register for Portuguese VAT. The tax representative is the first entity deemed responsible for the payment of the VAT debts with the business represented by it.

EU businesses that opt not to appoint a fiscal representative must register for VAT at the following tax office:

3rd Tax Office
Rua dos Correeiros, 70 1º
1100-167 Lisbon
Portugal

However, a nonresident entity that is registered for VAT in Portugal and that intends to cease activity in Portugal must appoint a Portuguese fiscal representative that is established or resident in Portugal. This rule is aimed at ensuring payment of any outstanding tax that may be levied after the cancellation of the activity.

Registration procedures. The company must register in the National Register of Corporate Entities (Registo Nacional de Pessoas Colectivas – RNPC). A duly authorized certificate stating the legal existence of the company must be filed with the VAT registration application form, which should be signed by a Portuguese attorney. The company is provided with a Portuguese registration number within 10 working days. This number will also be the VAT registration number once the company has submitted a Declaration of Beginning of Activity in duplicate in paper form, together with other relevant documents to the competent tax office.

Moreover, companies established within the EU are not obliged to appoint a Portuguese VAT representative. However, companies established outside the EU should appoint a Portuguese VAT representative. The registration of a foreign company for VAT purposes in Portugal is a procedure that can take 10 working days. Please note that it is not possible to complete a VAT registration online or through the web.

Late-registration penalties. The following penalties are imposed for late VAT registration in Portugal:

- A penalty ranging from EUR600 to EUR7,500 if the taxpayer's actions were not intentional
- A penalty ranging from EUR600 to EUR15,000 for group entities if the taxpayer's actions were intentional

Reverse charge. In cross border B2B supplies of services, the acquirer of the service (VAT-able entity) should apply the reverse-charge mechanism and self-assess the VAT due on such operation.

The reverse-charge mechanism is also applicable in the following situations, in which the taxable person to whom the supplies of goods or services are rendered, becomes liable for the payment of the VAT:

- Supplies of ferrous waste and scrap, residues and other recyclable materials consisting of ferrous and non-ferrous metals to a Portuguese VAT taxpayer
- Supplies of civil construction services to a Portuguese VAT taxpayer
- Supplies of services involving emission rights, certified emission's reductions and emission reduction units of greenhouse gases to a Portuguese VAT taxpayer

If the reverse charge is not recorded, the penalties may be as high as 200% of the output tax not recorded in the case of fault, even if there is no cash flow disadvantage for the state. In case of negligence, penalties may vary between 30% and 100% of the VAT not self-assessed.

However, these penalties are subject to the following limits:

- In the case of negligence – EUR45,000
- In the case of fault – EUR165,000

Digital economy. Effective 1 January 2015, new EU VAT place of supply rules apply to business-to-consumer (B2C) supplies (i.e., supplies to non-VAT taxable customers) of digital services. From this date, supplies of digital services to EU consumers are subject to VAT in the member state where the customer is established. Thus, where the customer is established in Portugal, Portuguese VAT will be due.

Moreover, from 1 January 2015 onward a new “use and enjoyment rule” will be applicable in Portugal for digital services. In particular, (i) when these services are supplied to a person established or domiciled outside of the Community (ii) the provider has in Portugal its head office, a fixed establishment or, a domicile, from which these services are rendered (iii) and the effective use and enjoyment of these services takes place within Portugal, Portuguese VAT will be due.

Mini One-Stop Shop. Effective 1 January 2015, B2C supplies of telecommunication, broadcasting, television and electronic services will be located for VAT purposes in the country where the customer has its main business or fixed premises, its permanent address or usually lives.

A special VAT regime has been created for taxable persons established outside the Community or outside the state member of consumption that provide these services to non-taxable persons established in the Community.

This special VAT regime establishes the requirements for registration, VAT refund requests, VAT payments and reporting obligations of the respective taxable persons.

According to this new special VAT regime, effective 1 January 2015, a taxpayer can register for VAT MOSS scheme in Portugal in the following circumstances:

- The taxpayer is established in Portugal (union VAT MOSS scheme)
- The taxpayer is established outside the EU (non-union VAT MOSS scheme)

Taxpayers registered under this special regime should submit a single calendar quarterly return and VAT payment to the Portuguese tax authorities, who will send the appropriate information and payment to each relevant member state's tax authority.

Deregistration. The Closing Activity Declaration is one of the obligations of VAT taxpayers in Portugal. Individuals or companies engaged in an activity subject to VAT must, within 30 days from the closing activity date, submit the declaration at the competent tax office.

Effective 1 January 2015, the state budget law foresees that the tax authorities will also be able to declare, on its own authority, the cessation of activity of a company after a judicial decision during insolvency proceedings to liquidate the company.

D. VAT rates

The term “taxable supplies” refers to supplies of goods and services that are liable to a rate of VAT.

The VAT rates in mainland Portugal are:

- Standard rate: 23%
- Intermediate rate: 13%
- Reduced rate: 6%

The standard rate of VAT applies to all supplies of goods or services, unless a specific measure provides for the intermediate rate, the reduced rate or an exemption.

In the autonomous region of Madeira, the following VAT rates apply:

- Standard rate: 22%
- Intermediate rate: 12%
- Reduced rate: 5%

In the autonomous region of Azores, the following VAT rates apply:

- Standard rate: 18%
- Intermediate rate: 10%
- Reduced rate: 5%

Examples of goods and services taxable at 6%
(5% in Madeira and Azores)

- Basic foodstuffs
- Books and newspapers
- Pharmaceuticals
- Medical equipment
- Passenger transport
- Hotel accommodation

Examples of goods and services taxable at 13%
(12% in Madeira and 10% in Azores)

- Canned meat and fish
- Fuel and colored oil marked with government-approved additives
- Entries to singing performances, dance, music, theatre, cinema, bullfighting and circus

The term “exempt supplies” refers to supplies of goods and services that are not liable to tax and that do not give rise to a right of input tax deduction (see Section F). Some supplies are classified as “exempt with credit,” which means that no VAT is chargeable, but the supplier may recover related input tax. Exempt with credit supplies include, among others, exports of goods outside the EU and related services, and supplies of banking, financial and insurance services made to a recipient outside the EU (see the chapter on the EU).

Examples of exempt supplies of goods and services

- Real estate
- Medical services
- Finance
- Insurance
- Copyrights by authors
- Training provided by public sector institutions

Option to tax for exempt supplies. The Portuguese VAT law foresees the following options for taxation of exempt supplies:

- Supply of training services:
 - Supply of food and drinks made by employers to its employees
 - Supply of medical and sanitary services performed by hospitals, clinics, dispensaries and similar establishments
 - Supplies of services rendered by non-agricultural cooperatives, to its farmer members

In the above cases, if the taxpayer opts for the waiver of the VAT exemption, he must stay in this regime during five years.

- Leasing of immovable property or independent parts thereof to other taxable person
- Supply of immovable property or independent parts thereof to other taxable persons.

In the above two cases, the waiver for the exemption must be performed on a case basis and a certificate issued by the Portuguese tax authorities is needed.

E. Time of supply

The time when VAT becomes due is called the “time of supply” or “tax point.” The basic time of supply for goods is when the goods are delivered. The basic time of supply for services is when the service is completed.

In Portugal, an invoice must be issued before the fifth business day after the basic time of supply. The actual tax point becomes the date on which the invoice is issued. However, if no invoice is issued, tax becomes due on the fifth business day after the basic tax point.

If the consideration is paid in full or in part before the invoice is issued, the actual tax point becomes the date on which payment is received (with respect to the amount paid). The VAT invoice must be issued immediately in these circumstances.

Prepayments. For prepayments or advance payments, the tax point is the date on which the advance payment is received. The supplier must issue an invoice as soon as an advance payment is received.

Intra-Community acquisitions. The time of supply for an intra-Community acquisition of goods is the 15th day of the month following the month in which the basic time of supply for the goods occurs. If the supplier issues an invoice before this date, the time of supply is when the invoice is issued.

Intra-Community supplies. Although no VAT is chargeable for an intra-Community supply, an invoice must be issued by the 15th day of the month following the month in which the goods are delivered to the customer.

For continuous intra-Community supplies of goods over a period of more than one calendar month, the tax point shall be regarded as being completed on expiry of each calendar month until such time as the supply comes to an end.

Cash accounting. A new VAT “cash accounting regime” has been introduced in Portugal, effective 1 October 2013. In accordance with this new regime, taxpayers will only pay the VAT due once they receive payment of an invoice from a customer. This new regime is optional and will apply to companies from all sectors of the economy with a turnover of up to EUR500,000.

Imported goods. The time of supply for imported goods is either the date of importation or when the goods leave a duty suspension regime.

Reverse-charge services. The rules stated above also apply to reverse-charge services. However, the tax point rule is irrelevant for the supplier since no VAT is assessed by the supplier (who must still issue the invoice within five working days after the service is rendered).

The purchaser should self-assess the VAT when receiving the invoice. However, if there is a delay in the supplier issuing the invoice the VAT should be reverse-charged on the fifth day (after the taxable event), but the purchaser cannot recover the VAT until he has the original invoice. Therefore, in practice, the reverse charge is normally applied by the purchaser when the invoice is issued, even if more than five days have elapsed from the taxable event.

Continuous supplies of services. Regarding continuous supplies of services, sustained through contracts with successive payments, the time of supply occurs at the end of the period for each payment. However, where payment schedule is not fixed or this is greater than 12 months, the VAT is due and shall become chargeable at the end of each 12-month period, for the corresponding amount.

Leased assets. Regarding leased assets, as this type of contract is also considered a continuous supply of services, the time of supply occurs at the end of the period for each payment that is foreseen in the respective contract.

Moreover, when the client exercises the purchase option the VAT is due, as a supply of goods, for the remaining price of the asset.

F. Recovery of VAT by Portuguese taxable persons

A taxable person may recover input tax, which is VAT incurred with the acquisition of goods and services supplied to it for business purposes. A taxable person generally recovers input tax by deducting it from output tax, which is VAT charged on supplies made.

Input tax includes VAT charged on goods and services supplied in Portugal, VAT paid on imports of goods and VAT self-assessed on intra-Community acquisitions of goods and services and reverse-charge services (see the chapter on the EU).

A valid tax invoice or customs document is usually requested by the tax authorities during their analysis of a claim for input tax.

Nondeductible input tax. Input tax may not be recovered on purchases of goods and services that are not used for business purposes (for example, goods acquired for private use by an entrepreneur). In addition, input tax may not be recovered for some items of business expenditure.

Examples of items for which input tax is nondeductible

- Purchase, hire, lease, maintenance and fuel for private cars, vans and trucks
- Business gifts (unless valued at less than EUR50)
- Restaurant meals
- Entertainment and luxury goods and services
- Transport expenses and business travel, including toll costs, incurred outside the scope of the organization or participation in congresses, fairs or exhibitions

- Accommodation and meals incurred outside the scope of the organization or participation in congresses, fairs or exhibitions
- Drinks and tobacco

Examples of items for which input tax is deductible
(if related to a taxable business use)

- 50% of VAT related to diesel or liquefied petroleum gas (LPG) for vans and trucks
- 50% of VAT related to expenses incurred with respect to organization of conferences, seminars and training courses (for example, travel, food and beverage, accommodation and lease of immovable property)
- 25% of VAT related to expenses incurred with respect to participation in conferences, seminars and training courses (for example, travel, food and beverage, accommodation and lease of immovable property)

Partial exemption. Input tax directly related to making exempt supplies is not generally recoverable. If a Portuguese taxable person makes both exempt and taxable supplies, it may not recover input tax in full. This situation is referred to as “partial exemption.” Exempt with credit supplies are treated as taxable supplies for these purposes.

In Portugal, the amount of input tax that a partially exempt business may recover is calculated by using one of two methods.

The first method consists of the following two stages:

- The first stage identifies the input VAT that may be directly allocated to taxable and to exempt supplies. Input tax directly allocated to taxable supplies is deductible (this method is usually referred to as the “direct allocation method”). Input tax directly related to exempt supplies is not deductible.
- In the second stage, the remaining input tax that is not allocated directly to exempt and taxable supplies is apportioned. The apportionment may be calculated based on the value of taxable supplies made compared with total turnover, or by using another acceptable method agreed on with the VAT authorities. The recovery percentage is rounded up to the nearest whole number (for example, a recovery percentage of 72.1% is rounded up to 73%).

Under the second method, a taxable person may use a general pro-rata calculation based on the value of taxable supplies made compared with total turnover.

Taxable persons may use both methods at the same time for different operations or for different sectors of activity. The Portuguese VAT authorities may also impose the use of one of these two methods to prevent distortions of competition.

Capital goods. Capital goods are items of capital expenditure that are used in a business over several years. Input tax is deducted in the VAT year in which the goods are acquired. The amount of input tax recovered depends on the taxable person’s partial exemption recovery position in the VAT year of acquisition. However, the amount of input tax recovered for capital goods must be adjusted over time if the taxable person’s partial exemption recovery percentage changes by more than 5% in any year during the adjustment period or if goods are taken from a taxable sector or activity for use in an exempt sector or activity.

In Portugal, the capital goods adjustment applies to the following assets for the number of years indicated:

- Immovable property: adjusted for a period of 20 years
- Movable property: adjusted for a period of five years

The capital goods adjustment does not apply to the following items:

- Goods with a purchase value of less than EUR2,500
- Goods with a useful life of less than five years (for example, computers)

The adjustment is applied each year following the year of acquisition to a fraction of the total input tax (1/20 for immovable property and 1/5 for other movable capital goods). The adjustment may result in either an increase or a decrease of deductible input VAT, depending on whether the ratio of taxable supplies made by the business has increased or decreased compared with the year in which the capital goods were acquired.

Refunds. If the amount of input tax recoverable in a monthly period exceeds the amount of output tax payable in that period, the taxable person has an input tax credit. A refund of the credit may be claimed in certain circumstances. If a refund may not be claimed, the input tax credit may be carried forward to offset output tax in a subsequent period.

A refund may be requested if the credit balance is at least EUR250 and if the taxable person has been in a credit position for 12 or more consecutive months. However, if the VAT credit exceeds EUR3,000, a VAT refund may be claimed immediately.

A refund may also be requested before the end of the 12-month period for amounts greater than EUR25 if any of the following circumstances exist:

- The taxable person has ceased operations.
- The taxable person has ceased to make taxable supplies and now exclusively makes supplies that are exempt from VAT.
- The taxable person begins to use the special VAT accounting regime for retailers.

In general, a refund is claimed by submitting the VAT return form by electronic means, together with the following annexes:

- A list of clients
- A list of suppliers
- Adjustments in favor of the company

Preregistration costs. There are no guidelines issued by the Portuguese tax authorities with this regard.

Write-off of bad debts. Bad debts may be adjusted (and recoverable) on periodic VAT returns.

Effective 1 January 2013, a new regime for recovering the VAT paid in case of bad debts is in place.

As a general rule, the new regime is applicable to debts overdue effective 1 January 2013 onwards, while the older regime still applies with small adjustments for debts overdue before that date.

Therefore, both regimes may coexist during a certain period of time.

Moreover, in accordance with the changes introduced in the VAT code, a bad debt is considered to exist in case of debts which nonpayment risk is duly justified, namely:

- The credit is overdue for more than 24 months and there are objective proofs of its impairment and actions performed regarding its payment, including the asset being recognized in the accounts
- The credit is overdue for more than six months, its amount does not exceed EUR750 (VAT inclusive) and its debtor is a private individual or a VAT-able person performing operations exempt from VAT without the right to deduct

In the case of debts from special judicial or extra judicial presses, the VAT regularization can be performed before the above mentioned deadlines in case that the process is previously decided.

The following debts are not considered as bad debts:

- Credits warranted or covered by an insurance, or by any real warranty
- Credits had with related parties
- Credits had with entities declared insolvent or bankrupt before the realization of the transaction
- Credits had with the Portuguese administration

Additionally, please note that in case of credits overdue for more than 24 months, the VAT regularization requires a prior certified public accountant report and also a prior electronic authorization request to the Portuguese tax authorities.

Noneconomic activities. In principle, VAT may only be recovered if incurred in the course of an economic activity. If costs are incurred to acquire or maintain assets which are to be used for the purposes of an economic activity, the costs are potentially deductible. If assets are not used for such a purpose, the VAT will not be deductible.

Please see Nondeductible input tax above.

G. Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses

Portugal refunds VAT incurred by businesses that are neither established in Portugal nor registered for VAT there. Non-established businesses may claim Portuguese VAT to the same extent as VAT-registered businesses.

For businesses established in the EU, refund is made under the terms of the EU Directive 2008/8/CE. For businesses established outside the EU, refund is made under the terms of the EU 13th Directive on the condition of reciprocity. Consequently, Portuguese VAT is refunded only to non-EU claimants established in countries that refund VAT to Portuguese businesses.

For the general VAT refund rules of the EU Directive 2008/8/CE and EU 13th Directive refund schemes, see the chapter on the EU.

Refund application. The deadline for refund claims is the last business day in September in the year following the calendar year in which the tax was incurred.

VAT refund claims by non-established businesses must be submitted electronically to the tax authorities of the country where the claimant is established. Subsequently, such tax authorities send the VAT refund claim to the Portuguese tax authorities, which analyze the information.

The deadline for the approval or denial of the refund is four months, but it may be extended to six or eight months if the Portuguese tax authorities issue one or two requests for additional information or documents.

The invoices underlying the VAT incurred must be provided to the tax authorities electronically only if they are specifically requested.

The minimum amount claim period is three months, while the maximum period is one year. The minimum claim for a period of less than a year is EUR400. For an annual claim, the minimum amount is EUR50.

Repayment interest. Claimants may request payment of interest if an EU Directive 2008/8/CE or EU 13th Directive claim is repaid more than 10 working days after the 4-, 6- or 8-month period has elapsed.

H. Invoicing

VAT invoices and delivery notes. A Portuguese taxable person must generally provide a VAT invoice for all taxable supplies made, including exports and intra-Community supplies. To document retail transactions of less than EUR1,000 paid by a private person, or to document transactions performed to taxable persons of less than EUR100, the taxpayers can issue a simplified invoice, effective 1 January 2013.

A VAT invoice (or equivalent document) is necessary to support a claim for input tax deduction or a refund under the EU Directive 2008/8/CE or EU 13th Directive refund schemes (see the chapter on the EU).

As a general rule, goods in transit within the Portuguese territory must be accompanied by a special delivery note or invoice. Effective 1 January 2013, delivery notes must be electronically communicated to the Portuguese tax authorities before the beginning of the transport. These transport documents must contain the same information as an invoice, excluding the value of the transaction. These documents must also contain details indicating from where the goods were dispatched, the destination of the goods and the time of commencement of the dispatch.

Effective 1 January 2013, Portuguese taxable entities with head office, permanent establishment or domicile in Portuguese territory must communicate electronically to the Portuguese tax authorities the relevant data of the invoices issued during a particular month, at the latest on the 25th day of the subsequent month.

Electronic invoicing. Effective 1 January 2013, the VAT law has been amended to permit electronic invoicing in line with EU Directive 2010/45/EU.

Credit notes. A VAT credit note may be used to reduce the VAT charged and reclaimed on a supply. A credit note must be cross-referenced to the original invoice. The mention of VAT on a credit note is optional. If VAT is mentioned, the supplier may reduce the VAT payable with respect to the supply. However, the supplier can make this reduction only if it has written confirmation from the purchaser acknowledging the VAT adjustment.

Proof of exports and intra-Community supplies. VAT is not chargeable on supplies of exported goods or on the intra-Community supply of goods (see the chapter on the EU). However, to qualify as VAT-free, exports and intra-Community supplies must be supported by evidence that confirms the goods have left Portugal. Acceptable proof includes the following documentation:

- For an export, stamped customs documentation and an indication on the invoice of the Portuguese VAT law article that permits exemption with credit for the supply
- For an intra-Community supply, a copy of the invoice indicating the customer's valid VAT identification number (issued by another EU member state), plus a range of commercial documentation, such as bills of lading, transport documentation and proof of payment

Foreign-currency invoices. If a VAT invoice is issued in a foreign currency, the values and VAT amounts used must be converted to euros (EUR). The conversion must be done using the sales rate used by a bank established in Portugal or by the European Central Banking System on the date on which the tax is chargeable or on the first business day of that month. The invoice must indicate the exchange rate used.

The above rules apply only to invoices issued by Portuguese taxable persons. For invoices received from foreign suppliers (for example, invoices related to intra-Community acquisitions), the acquirer may indicate the exchange rate used to convert the amounts to euros on the face of the invoice.

B2C invoices. Effective 1 January 2015, new rules apply to the place of supply for supplies of telecommunications, broadcasting and electronic services to non-VAT taxable customers. For further details of the VAT rules on electronic services in the EU, please refer to the European Union chapter.

Suppliers of these services are required to issue invoices to non-taxable customers.

I. VAT returns and payment

VAT returns. Periodic VAT returns are submitted in Portugal for monthly or quarterly periods, depending on the taxable person's turnover in the preceding VAT year. All taxable persons must also complete an annual return.

Monthly VAT returns must be filed if the taxable person's turnover in the preceding year exceeded EUR650,000.

Quarterly VAT returns must be filed if the taxable person's turnover in the preceding year did not exceed EUR650,000.

Periodic VAT returns must be filed together with full payment of VAT. Monthly VAT returns must be submitted before the 10th day of the second month after the end of the return period. Quarterly VAT returns must be submitted before the 15th day of the second month after the end of the return period.

In general, annual returns must be submitted by 15 July following the end of the calendar year.

Return liabilities must be paid in euros.

Special schemes. A new VAT “cash accounting regime” was introduced in Portugal, effective 1 October 2013. In accordance with this new regime, taxpayers will only pay the VAT due once they receive payment of an invoice from a customer. This new regime is optional and will apply to companies from all sectors of the economy with a turnover of up to EUR500,000.

Special regime of VAT exemption. This special regime applies to entities that are not obliged to have organized accounting records; that do not import or export goods, or related activities; and whose turnover does not exceed EUR10,000 (retailers EUR12,500).

These taxpayers do not charge VAT on their supplies and input VAT cannot be deducted.

Special regime of small retailers. This special regime applies to entities that are obliged to have organized accounts; do not import or export goods or related activities; exercise a retail trade activity; having a volume of purchases not exceeding EUR50,000; the goods purchase volume must be not less than 90% of the total volume of purchases; do not carry out intra-Community transactions of goods; and have a volume of services, not exempt from VAT, not exceeding EUR250.

The VAT paid by these taxpayers amounts to the 25% of the tax paid on the purchase of goods and raw materials without processing. Moreover, they can only deduct the VAT paid on the purchase or lease of capital goods, and other goods for company’s own use.

Second-hand goods. For supplies of second-hand goods, works of art, collectors’ items or antiques, the taxable amount will be the difference, with documentation, between the sale price and the purchase price in accordance with the provisions of special legislation.

Electronic filing and archiving. In Portugal, VAT returns should be submitted by electronic means. For this purpose, the taxable person should register at the Portuguese tax authority’s website in order to receive an access code.

Intrastat returns, EC Sales List returns and annual VAT returns are submitted by electronic means as well.

In Portugal VAT records should be retained for a period of 10 years.

Purchase invoices cannot be stored electronically; otherwise the deduction of VAT may be disallowed. However, electronic storage is allowed in case of electronic invoicing, issued in accordance with the Portuguese VAT legislation.

Additionally, electronic storage of issued invoices and other relevant documents is allowed as long as the issuance of the documents at stake is made through computer means.

Other information/documentation may be kept in digital formats if a minimum of three years has elapsed.

Annual returns. The annual return is a summary of all the periodic VAT returns for statistical purposes as well as corporate income tax and personal income tax.

The annual return is a global return for all taxes (corporate tax, VAT, etc.). The annual return has a number of appendices attached to it including VAT — tax and accounting requirements which detail the VAT and net amounts in relation to supplies, made and received, and suppliers list and customers list which provide information on all local supplies and purchases made by a company in Portugal. These listings are used for comparative checks of purchases and sales against the periodic VAT returns.

Foreign companies, without a permanent establishment in Portugal and only registered in this country for VAT purposes which did not carry out any operation in a particular fiscal year (nil periodical returns were submitted), are not obliged to complete the annual VAT return.

J. Penalties

The following penalties apply to the late submission of periodic and annual VAT returns:

- A penalty ranging from EUR300 to EUR3,750 if the taxpayer's actions were not intentional
- A penalty ranging from EUR300 to EUR7,500 if the taxpayer's actions were intentional

The following penalties apply to the late payment of VAT:

- A penalty ranging from 30% to 100% of the VAT due, up to a maximum of EUR45,000, if the taxpayer's actions were not intentional
- A penalty ranging from 200% to 400% of the VAT due, up to a maximum of EUR165,000, if the taxpayer's actions were intentional

In addition, interest applies (currently at a 4% annual rate).

K. EU filings

Intrastat. A Portuguese taxable person that trades with other EU countries must complete statistical reports, known as Intrastat, if the value of its sales or purchases of goods exceeds certain thresholds. Separate reports are required for intra-Community acquisitions (Intrastat Arrivals) and for intra-Community supplies (Intrastat Dispatches).

The threshold for Intrastat Arrivals for 2014 is EUR250,000.

The threshold for Intrastat Dispatches for 2014 is EUR250,000.

The Intrastat return period is monthly. The submission deadline is the 15th business day following the end of the return period.

The maximum penalty for the non-submission, late submission or incorrect submission of an Intrastat return may range from EUR250 to EUR25,000 for individuals and from EUR500 to EUR50,000 for corporations.

EU Sales Returns. If a Portuguese taxable person makes intra-Community supplies of goods and/or services, it must submit an EU Sales Return (ESR) by the 20th day of the month following the month in which the operation takes place. An ESR is not required for a period in which the taxable person does not make any intra-Community supplies.

ESRs may be submitted quarterly if the VAT returns are submitted quarterly. They may be submitted monthly if the VAT returns are submitted monthly or if the VAT returns are submitted quarterly but in one of the previous four quarters the amount of the intra-Community supplies of goods exceeded EUR50,000.

Penalties may be imposed for late, missing or inaccurate ESRs.

Puerto Rico

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

San Juan

GMT -4

EY

Plaza 273, 10th Floor
273 Ponce de León Avenue
San Juan
Puerto Rico 00917-1989

Indirect tax contacts

Teresita Fuentes	+1 (787) 772-7066 teresita.fuentes@ey.com
Rosa M. Rodríguez	+1 (787) 772-7062 rosa.rodriguez@ey.com
German Ojeda	+1 (787) 772-7080 german.ojeda@ey.com

The Government of Puerto Rico has announced that with effect from 1 January 2016, a VAT system with a standard rate of 16% will replace the current sales and service tax regime.

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Sales and use tax (SUT)
Local name	Impuesto sobre ventas y uso (IVU)
Date introduced	November 2006
Trading bloc membership	None
Administered by	Departamento de Hacienda de Puerto Rico (www.hacienda.gobierno.pr)
IVU standard rate	7%
IVU number format	Merchant identification number
IVU return periods	Monthly
Threshold	None

B. Scope of the tax

Merchants engaged in businesses that sell taxable items are responsible for collecting the sales and use tax (SUT) as a withholding agent. In general, the tax applies to the following taxable items:

- Taxable personal property – property that can be seen, weighed, measured or touched, or is in any way perceptible to the senses. It excludes, among other items, money, cash equivalents, stocks, bonds, insurance, other obligations, automobiles, trucks, tractors, buses, intangibles, gasoline, aviation fuel, gas oil, diesel fuel, electric power and water supplies.
- Taxable services – Among other items, designated professional services, education services, interest and other financial charges and insurance commissions are excluded. In addition, various services rendered to a person engaged in trade or business or for the production of income (business-to-business) are excluded.

- Admission rights
- Combined transactions

In general, a person who buys, consumes, uses or warehouses for use or consumption a taxable item is the one responsible for the payment of the SUT. However, if the transaction is subject to SUT and if the merchant is required to collect the tax from the buyer as a withholding agent, the merchant is responsible for the payment of the SUT to the Puerto Rico Treasury Department (PRTD).

C. Use tax upon introduction

Act 80-2014 establishes that all merchandise introduced into Puerto Rico is subject to the payment of use tax upon introduction. The person responsible for the payment of use tax is the importer of record. To take possession of the merchandise, the importer of record will need to submit a declaration of imports for use and pay the corresponding use tax. A bond can be requested to postpone the payment of the use tax until the 10th of the month following the introduction of the merchandise.

D. Exemptions

SUT exemptions apply to the following:

- Eligible resellers: duly registered merchants that purchase taxable items principally for sale to persons that may acquire them exempt from the payment of SUT or for exportation
- Manufacturing plants: physical facilities wherein raw material, machinery and equipment are used in a manufacturing process. To claim the exemption, all manufacturing plants must have an active manufacturer's ID
- Business-to-business services: services rendered to a person engaged in a trade or business or carrying out activities for the production of income
- Export sales: taxable items sold for use and consumption outside Puerto Rico, even when the sale takes place in Puerto Rico, if exported from Puerto Rico within 60 days from the date of sale

Eligible resellers, eligible wholesalers and manufacturing plants must request a certificate of exemption from the secretary. In addition, a certificate of exempt purchase must be submitted to the seller in each transaction, subject to certain conditions.

The following items, among others, are also exempt from SUT:

- Certain food items
- Funeral services
- Prescription medicines
- Machinery and equipment used in exempt manufacturing operations
- Medical-surgical material
- Supplies, articles, equipment and technology used to render health services
- Articles and equipment used to compensate for physical or physiological deficiencies of disabled persons
- Tuition and monthly charges paid to licensed child care centers
- Real property leases

In addition, the transfer of assets pursuant to a corporate reorganization, including the sale of all or substantially all of the assets of an ongoing business, that takes place outside the normal course of business is generally exempt from SUT.

E. Merchant's registry

A person who wishes to do business in Puerto Rico as a merchant must file with the PRTD a Request for Certificate of Merchant's Registration for each commercial outlet. This application must be filed with the secretary before the person, business, partnership or corporation commences the operation of a business. After approval, the secretary grants the applicant a Certificate of Merchant's Registration, which must be displayed at all times in a place visible to the general public in each place of business for which it is issued.

To be considered a "merchant," the law provides that "nexus" has been created if a person satisfies any of the following conditions:

- It has an establishment or offices in Puerto Rico or it maintains or it uses in Puerto Rico, directly or through a subsidiary or affiliate, an office, distribution warehouse or other establishment.
- It has employees, agents or representatives in Puerto Rico who solicit business or carry out business transactions.
- It owns tangible personal property or real property in Puerto Rico.
- It has created a nexus with Puerto Rico in any way, including but not limited to the execution of purchase contracts in Puerto Rico; direct marketing or purchase by mail, radio, distribution of unsolicited catalogs, through computers, television or any other electronic means; or advertisements in magazines or newspapers.
- It has an arrangement with residents of Puerto Rico in which the residents refer possible buyers to an online website. Such arrangement will create nexus when the gross income generated from the sales exceeds USD10,000 in a period of 12 months.
- The person has sufficient connections, or a relationship with Puerto Rico or its residents, with the purpose or objective of creating a sufficient nexus with Puerto Rico. Notwithstanding that in 1992, the US Supreme Court in Quill v. North Dakota defined nexus as requiring a physical presence for SUT purposes.

F. Filing and payment system

All merchants must create an account in the integrated portal of merchants system (PICO) in order to be able to comply with all the monthly filings. All filings will be done electronically through the PICO system.

As previously mentioned, in order to take possession of the merchandise the importer of record will need to file a declaration of imports for use. A declaration must be filed every time merchandise is introduced into Puerto Rico. Furthermore, the declaration must be accompanied by the corresponding use tax payment for the merchandise. If the merchant becomes a bonded merchant, the payment will be postponed until the 10th day of the month following the introduction.

All importers must file a monthly use tax on imports return on or before the 10th day of the month following the introduction of the merchandise. This return will be a summary of all the declarations filed throughout the previous month and will generate a credit to be claimed on the monthly SUT return. The credit will be generated with regards to the use tax paid upon introduction of items imported for resale.

All merchants must file a monthly SUT return on or before the 20th day of the month following the month in which the tax was collected. Every merchant will claim a credit for the use tax paid for items bought for resale. The credit will be limited to 75% of the liability reflected in the monthly SUT return. The unused credit will be carried forward to future periods. A zero tax return is required if no SUT payment is made. The payment of SUT is divided in the following percentages:

- 6% to the PRTD
- 1% to the municipality using the form provided by each municipality

G. Penalties

Interest. If no payment is made on or before the corresponding due date of the transaction subject to the tax, interest will be imposed at an annual rate of 10% from the date the return was required to be filed until the date of payment.

Surcharges. For any case in which the payment of interest is required, a surcharge of 5% of the balance due applies if the delay exceeds 30 days but does not exceed 60 days. The percentage increases to 10% if the delay exceeds 60 days.

Penalties. A progressive penalty is imposed for a failure to file the monthly return, unless it is proved that the omission is due to reasonable cause and not willful neglect.

In addition, a person required to file the above mentioned returns who fails to file the returns will be subject to a penalty of USD100 or 10% of the tax liability established in such return, whichever is higher. Other penalties may also apply.

The Puerto Rican government is currently evaluating a tax reform, parts of which may be implemented in the first quarter of 2015. The tax reform will be focused on four key areas: consumption taxes, individual and corporate income taxes and property taxes. As part of this plan, the introduction of a VAT has been recommended by the secretary of treasury to replace the current sales and use tax.

The introduction of VAT will have significant implications on companies doing business or operating in Puerto Rico. VAT is imposed on goods and services at each stage of the production and distribution cycle, as well as on imports, and can have a material impact on financial and personnel resources.

Romania

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Bucharest

GMT +2

EY

Bucharest Tower Center
22nd Floor
15-17 Ion Mihalache Blvd.
011171 Bucharest
Romania

Indirect tax contacts

Jean-Marc Cambien	+40 (21) 402-4191 jean-marc.cambien@ro.ey.com
Ioana Iorgulescu	+40 (21) 402-8487 ioana.iorgulescu@ro.ey.com
Nina Sava	+40 (21) 402-4169 nina.sava@ro.ey.com
Mihaela Bucurenciu	+40 (21) 402-8409 mihaela.bucurenciu@ro.ey.com

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Value-added tax (VAT)
Local name	Taxa pe valoarea adaugata
Date introduced	1 July 1993
European Union (EU) Member State	Yes (since 1 January 2007)
Administered by	Ministry of Public Finance (http://www.mfinante.ro)
VAT rates
Standard	24%
Reduced	9% and 5%
Other	Exempt without credit and exempt with credit
VAT number format	RO XXXXXX (the prefix is RO, but the number of digits may vary)
VAT return periods	Monthly (quarterly, half-yearly or annually if granted special permission)
Thresholds
Registration	EUR65,000
Distance sales	EUR35,000
Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses	Yes (under certain conditions)

B. Scope of the tax

VAT applies to the following transactions:

- Supplies of goods made in Romania by a taxable person
- Supplies of services in Romania by a taxable person
- The intra-Community acquisition of goods from another EU member state (see section on the EU)

- Acquisition of general business-to-business (B2B) services taxable in Romania, from EU and non-EU suppliers
- The importation of goods into Romania

C. Who is liable

A “taxable person” is any person who independently makes taxable supplies of goods or services in the course of a business, regardless of the purpose or results of that activity. The VAT registration threshold is turnover of RON220,000 (EUR65,000) a year (this threshold applies only to taxable persons established in Romania). Established taxpayers who estimate or record a turnover of more than the Romanian currency equivalent of EUR65,000 must request the VAT registration within 10 days of the moment the threshold is exceeded. The date when the threshold was achieved or exceeded is deemed to be the first day of the month following the one in which the threshold was achieved or exceeded. The VAT registration becomes valid starting the first of the month following the fiscal period month of the request.

In principle, the buyer of goods or services is held jointly and severally liable with the seller for payment of Romanian VAT.

Group registration. VAT grouping is allowed under the Romanian VAT law exclusively for taxpayers registered with the same tax office.

Under the rules currently in effect, a minimum of two taxable persons may form a fiscal group for a period of at least two years if all of the members meet the following conditions:

- They are established in Romania
- They do not belong to another fiscal group
- They use the same tax period
- Their capital is held directly or indirectly in a proportion of more than 50% by the same shareholders

However, VAT grouping is allowed only for VAT reporting (for consolidation purposes).

Non-established businesses. A taxable person that has the seat of its economic activity in Romania is deemed to be established in Romania for VAT purposes.

A taxable person that has the seat of its economic activity outside Romania is considered to be established for VAT purposes in Romania if it has a fixed establishment in Romania, which means that it has sufficient technical and human resources to perform on a regular basis taxable supplies of goods and/or services.

A taxable person that has the seat of its economic activity outside Romania and a fixed establishment in Romania is not deemed to be established in Romania for the supplies of goods and services performed in Romania in which the Romanian fixed establishment is not involved.

The seat of its economic activity is deemed to be the place where the management decisions of a taxable person are taken and where the functions of its central administration are performed. To determine where a taxable person has the seat of its economic activity, certain factors should be taken into account, such as the place where the directors meet and where the company sets its general policy.

In general, a non-established business must register for VAT if it undertakes a range of activities, such as the following:

- Intra-Community acquisitions of goods in Romania
- Intra-Community supplies of goods in Romania
- Transfers of its own goods to Romania
- Sending goods to Romania from another EU country for processing with the finished products not returning to the EU country of dispatch
- Distance sales in excess of the annual threshold of EUR35,000

A taxable person that has the seat of its economic activity outside Romania but has a fixed establishment in Romania must register for VAT purposes in Romania before receiving a service for which it is liable to pay the VAT or before supplying a service from this fixed establishment to a taxable person that is liable to pay VAT in another EU member state.

A taxable person that has the seat of its economic activity in Romania but is not registered for VAT purposes in Romania must register for VAT purposes if it supplies services with a place of supply in another EU member state, for which the beneficiary is liable to pay the tax.

A taxable person that has the seat of its economic activity in Romania but is not registered for VAT purposes in Romania must register for VAT purposes if it acquires services from a supplier established in another EU member state and if such taxable person, as the beneficiary of the services, is liable to pay the tax.

VAT registration is not required if an entity that is neither established nor registered for VAT in Romania makes a local supply of goods or services and the recipient is an established taxable person, non-taxable legal person (for example, a public authority) or is a non-established taxable person that is registered for VAT in Romania.

Taxable persons not established and not registered for VAT purposes in Romania may apply for VAT registration if they carry out imports of goods into Romania, taxable supplies of immovable property or rental of immovable property in Romania.

All taxable persons and non-taxable legal persons that perform intra-Community operations (intra-Community acquisitions and supplies of goods and/or services falling under the general B2B rule for the supply of services) must register in the Registry of Intra-Community Operators (RIO) before performing such operations. Failure to comply with this registration requirement results in an invalid VAT number for intra-Community operations, even if the respective person is registered for VAT purposes in Romania.

The Romanian tax authorities may impose a fine of between RON1,000 and RON5,000 (approximately EUR250 to EUR1,150) if a person performs intra-Community operations before registering in the RIO.

Reverse charge. The reverse charge applies to the following transactions, among others:

- Intra-Community acquisitions of goods and services
- Local supplies of goods and services made by non-established and unregistered entities to customers that are registered for VAT in Romania

- Imports. The reverse charge may be applied to imports exclusively by persons who have obtained a specific VAT payment deferment certificate, taxable persons benefiting of authorized economic operator and/or local customs clearance procedure
- Local supplies of certain categories of goods, such as ferrous waste, grain crops, wood and transfer of green and CO₂ certificates performed between entities registered for VAT purposes in Romania
- Supplies of electrical energy performed by a taxable person registered for VAT in Romania to a Romanian VAT-registered taxable person acting as trader

Tax representatives. A non-established, non-EU entity that carries on taxable operations in Romania and that is required to register for VAT purposes must appoint a tax representative. A taxable person that is established in the EU may appoint a tax representative, but may also choose to register for VAT in its own right (direct VAT registration).

Registration procedures. Established or non-established taxable persons applying (as a requirement or by option) for a VAT registration in Romania must file specific registration forms depending on the type of VAT registration. The forms are available in electronic format but have to be submitted as hard copy and only in Romanian language directly by the taxable person or by proxy.

Late-registration penalties. Penalties of RON1,000 to RON5,000 (approximately EUR250 to EUR1,100) apply to late registration for VAT purposes. Separate penalties ranging from RON1,000 to RON5,000 are assessed for delays in submitting VAT returns. In addition, for the late payment of VAT, late payment interest (0.03% per day of delay, starting 1 March 2014) and late payment penalties (0.02% per day of delay, starting 1 July 2013) apply.

Digital economy. Starting with 1 January 2015, the optional use and enjoyment rules provided by Directive 2006/112/EC for 1) telecommunications, 2) radio and television broadcasting services and 3) electronically supplied services will be repealed. The place of supply in case of all these types of services will be considered to be the place where the beneficiary is established (i.e., an exception to the B2C rule).

The online VAT registration is possible only for the Mini One-Stop Shop starting 2015 at the following address: <https://www.anaf.ro/revocat.html?mot=no-client-cert>.

Foreign operators may register for VAT purposes in Romania as follows:

- Non-resident taxpayers who are not established within the community and who have the obligation to appoint a tax representative are administered by the tax administration with competence for the administration of the tax representative (which keeps the record of the tax representative chosen as taxpayer)
- Non-resident taxpayers established in the community who register directly in Romania are administered by the tax authority with competence for the administration of non-resident taxpayers, namely the specialized section of the Bucharest Directorate General for Public Finance at 13 Prof. Dr. Dimitrie Gerota

Street, Sector 2, Bucharest, Romania, telephone number 021.305.70.90

- Non-resident taxpayers who have their business established outside Romania and who are established in Romania through one or several fixed establishments are administered by the tax authority whose territorial competence covers the fixed establishment designated to submit VAT returns

The contact details concerning the departments, addresses, telephone, fax, email and other useful information may be obtained from the following webpage of the National Tax Administration Agency: <https://www.anaf.ro>.

As per the general rule, taxable persons are required to register for VAT purposes in Romania prior to performing the operations triggering the VAT registration obligation.

Depending on the type of VAT registration, the time frame in which the Romanian tax authorities should issue the VAT registration number is:

- 30 days from the date of submission of the complete documentation when the registration is through a tax representative
- 10 days from the date of submission of the documentation when registration is through other means

The date from which the taxable person is considered registered is the date when the VAT registration certificate is communicated by the Romanian tax authorities (i.e., the hand-over date, the post date, as the case may be). Other dates may apply, depending on the reason for the VAT registration (e.g., the VAT exemption threshold was exceeded).

Mini One-Stop Shop. Effective 1 January 2015, the VAT law has been amended to allow the VAT Mini One-Stop Shop. Romanian tax authorities have not yet issued domestic guidelines. The web-portal is available, nevertheless the access is conditioned by a digital certificate. Further instructions are expected.

Deregistration. Taxable persons with annual turnover of less than RON220,000 may request deregistration by the 10th day of the month following the fiscal period applied by the taxable person.

D. VAT rates

Supplies within the scope of VAT are classified as taxable and exempt.

In Romania, the standard rate of VAT is 24%. A reduced VAT rate of 9% applies to certain supplies (see below).

Effective from 15 December 2008, a 5% reduced VAT rate applies to the supply of social housing (including related land). For this purpose, social housing includes, but is not limited to, houses that are a maximum of 120 square meters and that do not exceed RON380,000 in value (net of VAT). The reduced 5% VAT rate applies only if both of the following conditions are satisfied:

- The house can be used as such after the sale.
- For individual houses, the surface of the land on which the house is built is less than 250 square meters.

Examples of goods and services taxed at 9%

- Books, newspapers, magazines and school manuals (except those intended exclusively for publicity)
- Prostheses of any type and accessories (except dental prostheses)
- Orthopedic products
- Medicines for human and veterinary use
- Hotel accommodation and similar accommodation, including the rental of land for camping
- Certain bread and bakery products

Exempt supplies and operations are classified in the following ways:

- Exempt supplies with credit (that is, with the right to deduct input VAT; see Section F)
- Exempt supplies without credit (that is, without the right to deduct input VAT; see Section F)
- Exempt imports and intra-Community acquisitions (under certain conditions)
- Exempt supplies without credit performed by taxable persons established in Romania who have an annual turnover of less than EUR65,000 and who have not opted for standard taxation

Examples of supplies of goods and services that are exempt without credit

- Specific banking and financial operations
- Insurance and reinsurance
- Medical services
- Education
- Specific hiring, concession, leasing or letting of immovable property (unless option to tax is exercised)
- Sale of “old” buildings (unless option to tax is exercised)

Examples of supplies of goods and services that are exempt with credit

- Exports of goods
- Transport services and other services directly linked to exports of goods
- International transport of passengers
- Intra-Community supplies of goods (specific provisions)

Examples of exempt imports and intra-Community acquisitions

- Re-imports of Romanian goods repaired abroad (equivalent to the exported goods)
- Imports of natural gas through specific distribution systems and electricity

Option to tax for exempt supplies. Any taxable person may opt to tax the hiring, concession, leasing or letting of immovable property and the sale of “old” buildings by means of a taxation notification submitted to the competent tax authorities.

E. Time of supply

The time when VAT becomes due is called the “chargeability to tax” or “tax point.” The basic time of supply for goods is when the goods are delivered. The basic time of supply for services is when the services are provided. Several exceptions apply to these rules.

For intra-Community acquisitions or exempt intra-Community supplies of goods, the tax point arises on the day when the invoice is issued, the day when a self invoice is issued or the 15th day of the month following the tax point, whichever is earlier.

Continuous supplies of services. The time of supply for continuous supplies of services, such as telephone services, water and electricity, is on the last day of the period specified in the contract for payment, or on the date of issuance of the invoice. The settlement period should not exceed one year.

Prepayments. The tax point for advance payments is when the payment is received. Special rules may apply in case of a change of tax regime, partial prepayments or partial advance invoices.

Payments by installment. The tax point for a supply of goods, including immovable goods, with installment payments occurs when the goods are handed over to the beneficiary (unless an invoice is issued or a payment is received before that date).

Cash accounting. A taxable person registered for VAT purposes in Romania and having the seat of its economic activity in Romania, whose turnover in the previous calendar year does not exceed RON2,250,000 (approx. EUR500,000) could opt to apply the VAT cash accounting system, as well as taxable persons established in Romania which apply for a VAT registration during the year and opt to apply the VAT cash accounting system starting with the VAT registration date. Since 1 January 2014, such system is optional.

The turnover for computing the RON2,250,000 threshold is the total value of the supplies of goods or services, VAT exempt with deduction right, as well as the operations for which the place of supply is deemed to be located abroad, realized during one calendar year.

VAT tax point. The VAT tax point occurs upon the date of collecting the total or partial value of the supplies of goods or services in the case of taxable persons applying the VAT cash-in system.

Specific rules have been set in the case of invoices issued by taxable persons prior to entering/exiting the VAT scheme upon collection, as well as in the case of adjustments of the taxable amount.

Persons and operations excluded from the application of the VAT cash-in system. The VAT cash-in system should not be applied by taxable persons who are part of a single tax group, taxable persons not established in Romania which are registered in Romania for VAT purposes directly or through a tax representative, and taxable persons which have the seat of their economic activity outside Romania but have a fixed establishment in Romania. However, the respective persons will apply the VAT cash-in system in respect of VAT deduction for invoices issued by suppliers, taxable persons applying the respective system.

Furthermore, certain operations such as supplies of goods or services that are exempt from VAT, supplies of goods or services between related parties or supplies of goods or services paid in cash are excluded from the application of the VAT scheme upon collection.

Deduction right. The deduction right of the input VAT related to acquisitions performed by taxable persons from other taxable persons applying the VAT cash-in system is postponed until the date of the VAT payment towards such suppliers.

Furthermore, the VAT deduction right in the case of acquisitions made by a taxable person applying the VAT cash-in system will be postponed up to the payment of VAT to its supplier in relation to the goods or services supplied, with certain exceptions.

Record of transactions. For transactions subject to the VAT cash accounting system, both the seller and the buyer must include in their VAT journals the invoices issued and received for which the VAT cash accounting system applied, even if the tax point or the right to VAT deduction does not arise in the period when the invoice was issued. Sales and purchase invoices bearing unsettled VAT, in full or in part, must be carried forward in the VAT journals until the VAT becomes chargeable.

Registration in the registry of persons applying the VAT cash-in system. The registry of taxable persons applying the VAT scheme upon collection has been introduced. Registration and deregistration is carried out by filing a relevant notice.

Reverse-charge services. Certain services received by a Romanian taxable person from a foreign supplier are taxed in Romania using the reverse-charge mechanism, which means that the Romanian customer must account for the VAT due in the VAT return for the month in which the tax point occurs. In such circumstances, the customer accounts for the VAT as both output tax and input tax in the VAT return. If the beneficiary has a full right to deduct input tax, the charge is neutral for tax purposes (see Section F).

If no invoice is received from the foreign supplier, the Romanian beneficiary must issue a “self-invoice,” which must be in a specified format, by the 15th day of the month following the month in which the services are supplied. The time limit for issuing an invoice is the 15th day of the following month.

If the beneficiary of the service is registered for VAT in Romania, the VAT due must be paid by the 25th day of the month following the month in which the tax point occurs. However, if the beneficiary is not registered for VAT in Romania under the normal regime, the reverse charge must be accounted for by using a special VAT return (with no right of deduction; consequently, the VAT due must be paid).

Imported goods. The VAT tax point for imported goods is the tax point for customs duties.

Intra-Community acquisitions. VAT shall become chargeable on the issue of an invoice or self-invoice, as the case may be, or on the expiry of the 15th day of the month following the month of the supply if no invoice/self-invoice has been issued by that time.

Intra-Community supplies of goods. VAT shall become chargeable on the issue of an invoice or self-invoice, as the case may be, or on the expiry of the 15th day of the month following the month of the supply if no invoice/self-invoice has been issued by that time.

Leased assets. The VAT tax point shall occur on each payment deadline specified in the contract for making the payment. By way of derogation, VAT shall become chargeable on the invoice date or on the date when an advance payment/prepayment is received, where such cases occur prior to the chargeable event.

F. Recovery of VAT by taxable persons

A taxable person may recover input tax, which is due on goods and services supplied to it for business purposes. A taxable person generally recovers input tax offsetting it against output VAT, which is VAT charged on supplies made.

In principle, input tax includes VAT charged on goods and services supplied within Romania, VAT paid on imports of goods, and VAT self-assessed for reverse-charge services received and for intra-Community acquisitions of goods, as well as for certain taxable transactions subject to reverse-charge simplified measures.

Except for certain specific cases, the amount of VAT reclaimed must be requested through the VAT return. The excess of input VAT over output VAT is generally refundable. Alternatively, it may be offset against future VAT liabilities.

For taxable persons that are registered for VAT purposes in Romania, the minimum amount of a VAT refund is RON5,000 (approximately EUR1,100). Any amount below this threshold may be recovered by offsetting it against other VAT liabilities.

Since 14 March 2013, input VAT on fiscal receipts is deductible only if the VAT code of the customer is on the receipt and the total value of the acquisition is lower than EUR100.

Nondeductible input tax. Input tax may not be recovered on purchases of goods and services that are not used in the performance of operations subject to VAT (for example, goods acquired for private use by an entrepreneur). In addition, input tax may not be recovered for some items of business expenditure.

Examples of items for which input tax is nondeductible

- Personal expenses
- Business gifts if the individual value of each item (tangible good) is higher than RON100 (approximately EUR22) and VAT was deducted on acquisition
- Alcohol and tobacco

Examples of items for which input tax is deductible (if related to a taxable business use)

- Advertising
- Hotel accommodation
- Conferences
- Purchase of vans and trucks, and leases of cars, vans and trucks
- Business travel expenses

Regarding the deductibility of input taxes on the acquisition of passenger road vehicles weighing no more than 3.5 tons and having a maximum of nine seats, including the driver's seat, two rules apply:

- Since 1 January 2012, the deductibility of the input VAT on the acquisition of such vehicles – whether by purchase, intra-Community acquisition or import – and on the fuel purchased for them is limited to 50% irrespective of whether the vehicle is used exclusively for business purposes.

- Since 1 July 2012, the deductibility of the input VAT on the acquisition of such vehicles – whether by purchase, intra-Community acquisition, import, rental or leasing – and on service expenses related to those vehicles is limited to 50% irrespective of whether the vehicle is used exclusively for business purposes.

However, a 100% deduction is available for vehicles used for certain specifically mentioned activities (for example, when used to render services against consideration, when used as merchandise for commercial purposes, or when used by sales and purchase agents) are not subject to such provision. In this context, input VAT recovery should be supported by back-up documentation and log books.

Partial exemption. Input tax directly related to taxable supplies is fully recoverable, while input tax directly related to exempt supplies is fully non-recoverable. Input tax that is attributable to both taxable and exempt supplies (such as VAT paid on overhead costs) is deductible on a pro-rata basis. The pro-rata method is generally based on the percentage of income generated by supplies with a right to input tax deduction, divided by total income. The calculation of recoverable VAT is based generally on the pro-rata percentage for the preceding year. However, a special pro-rata percentage may be used if approved by the tax authorities. Pro-rata percentages may also be established for each sector of the taxable person's activity that has a partial right to claim deductions.

Refunds. If input VAT exceeds output VAT, the balance (known as the “negative VAT balance”) may be treated in either of the following manners:

- Carried forward to the next period.
- Compensated or refunded by the tax authorities, based on an option exercised by the taxpayer in the taxpayer's VAT return. This option may be exercised only for negative VAT balances exceeding RON5,000.

The VAT refund application may cover eligible input VAT incurred in the period beginning with the fifth year before the year in which the claim is made (under certain conditions).

In principle, a VAT refund or compensation request must be processed within 45 days (in practice, this period may be longer). Depending on certain parameters, the VAT refund can be granted with or without a prior VAT audit. During the VAT refund process, the tax authorities may request additional information from the taxpayer. Consequently, the term for making the repayment may be extended by the number of days between the date of the request for additional information and the date on which the information is received by the tax authorities. If the refund or compensation request is not dealt with by the expiration of this term, in principle, the taxpayer is entitled to receive late payment interest.

Preregistration costs. Any taxable person is entitled to deduct VAT for the acquisitions made prior to VAT registration, as of when such person intends to perform an economic activity, within a period of five consecutive years. The intention of the person must be assessed based on objective elements, such as the fact that the person starts to incur costs and/or make preparatory investments required for the initiation of this economic activity.

Capital goods. Capital goods shall be all fixed tangible assets held to be used for the production or supply of goods or services, for rental to third parties or for administrative purposes, provided that the normal useful life of such asset exceeds one year and that this value exceeds the cap set by domestic legislation, as well as the construction, transformation or modernization of immovable goods, excluding repairs or works of maintenance on these assets, even where such operations are made by the beneficiary of a rental or leasing agreement or of any other agreement whereby fixed tangible assets are made available to another person. Depreciable fixed tangible assets with a normal useful life set for fiscal depreciation of less than five years, shall not be deemed as capital goods; fixed tangible assets in the form of depreciable fixed assets that are subject to lease shall be deemed capital goods at the lessor/subsidizer provided that the maximum limit of the normal useful life is equal to or greater than five years.

Input VAT is deducted in the year in which the goods are acquired. The amount of input VAT deducted depends on the destination or use of the good and/or on the partial exemption of the taxable person. However, the amount of input VAT deducted must be adjusted over time if the destination or use of the goods changes, the capital good ceases to exist the taxable person's partial exemption percentage changes.

In Romania, the capital goods adjustment scheme applies to the following assets for the number of years indicated:

- Twenty years for the acquisition, construction, transformation or modernization of an immovable property, if the transformation or modernization amounts to at least 20% of the aggregate amount of the construction thus transformed or modernized
- Five years for other movable capital goods

G. Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses

The adjustment period shall start on January 1 of the year when assets were acquired or manufactured or of the year when assets were first used after transformation or modernization. The VAT deduction shall be adjusted during the tax period when the event triggering the adjustment occurs, once for the entire tax related to the remaining adjustment period.

If during the adjustment period events resulting in the adjustment in favor of a taxable person or in favor of the state take place, the VAT adjustment shall be carried out for the same capital goods successively during the adjustment period whenever such events occur.

Input VAT related to capital goods shall not be adjusted where the amount from adjustment of each capital good is lower than RON1,000.

Taxable persons shall keep records of the capital goods subject to the adjustment of input VAT, so as to allow the verification of the tax deducted and of the adjustments made. This statement shall be kept for a period starting with the date when the tax related to the acquisition of the capital goods becomes chargeable and ending five years as of expiry of the period when adjustment of the deduction can be requested. Any other entries, documents and ledgers on capital goods shall be kept for a similar period.

Write-off of bad debts. Bad debt relief may be applied only in case the value of goods or services supplied cannot be received due to the bankruptcy of the beneficiary. The adjustment of the taxable base is allowed beginning with the date of the court decision for the closure of the domestic insolvency procedure, a decision which remains final and binding. No relief is granted for bad debts other than arising from bankruptcy.

Noneconomic activities. Not applicable.

Romania refunds VAT incurred by businesses that are neither established in Romania nor required to be registered for VAT there. Non-established businesses may claim Romanian VAT to the same extent as VAT-registered businesses.

For businesses established in the EU, refund is made under the terms of the new EU 9th Refund Directive. For businesses established outside the EU, refund is made under the terms of the EU 13th Directive (under the condition of reciprocity).

For the general VAT refund rules applicable to the new EU Refund Directive and EU 13th Directive refund schemes, see the section on the EU.

Refund application. The deadline for refund claims is 30 September of the year following the calendar year of the reimbursement period.

Claims under the EU VAT Refund Directive may be submitted in the member state where the applicant is established. The application for refund must be accompanied by the appropriate documentation (see the section on the EU).

In principle, the term established by the tax authorities for processing a refund application is four months from the date of submission of the application and supporting documents.

The minimum claim period is three months, while the maximum period is one year. The minimum claim for a period of less than a year, but greater than three months, is the equivalent in RON of EUR400. For an annual claim or a claim for a period of less than three months, the minimum amount is the equivalent in RON of EUR50.

Repayment interest. Since 1 March 2014, interest at a rate of 0.03% per day of delay may be claimed by a taxable person for late refunds.

H. Invoicing

VAT invoices and reversal invoices. A Romanian taxable person must generally provide a VAT invoice for all taxable supplies made. Invoices that contain errors may be cancelled and the taxpayer may issue a "reversal invoice." The amount credited must be printed on the reversal invoice and must be preceded by a minus sign. A reversal invoice must contain the same information as a VAT invoice and a cross-reference must be provided.

Electronic invoicing. Since 1 January 2013, the VAT law has been amended to permit electronic invoicing in line with EU Directive 2010/45/EU. For invoices issued by non-EU suppliers, the authenticity and integrity of the content of the invoice should be ensured either through an electronic signature or the electronic data exchange (EDI) procedure.

Proof of exports. Goods exported from Romania are not subject to Romanian VAT. To qualify as exempt with credit, the supplier must prove that the goods left Romania. Suitable proof includes the following documentation:

- Customs documentation
- Invoices
- Other relevant documentation depending on the nature of the export

Foreign-currency invoices. If a VAT invoice for a transaction that takes place in Romania is issued in a foreign currency, the VAT amount must be converted into Romanian lei (RON), using the rate published by the National Bank of Romania, the bank in charge of the payment transfers, or the European Central Bank. The conversion must be calculated for the date on which the tax point for the transaction occurred or would have occurred if the VAT cash-in system had not been applied. The parties to the transaction must mention the applicable method in the contract.

B2C invoices. Effective 1 January 2015, new rules apply to the place of supply for supplies of telecommunications, broadcasting and electronic services to non-VAT taxable customers. For further details of the VAT rules on electronic services in the EU, please see the European Union section.

Romanian suppliers of these services are required to issue invoices to non-taxable customers.

I. VAT returns and payment

VAT returns. Taxable persons with an annual turnover below the RON equivalent of EUR100,000 must submit VAT returns quarterly. However, since 1 May 2009, taxpayers who submit quarterly VAT returns must submit monthly VAT returns, effective from the date on which they perform a taxable intra-Community acquisition in Romania. All other taxable persons submit VAT returns monthly.

The due date is the 25th day of the month following the end of the return period. Payment in full is required by the same date. All VAT liabilities must be paid in Romanian currency.

Beginning with the tax returns due on 25 November 2010, large and medium-sized taxpayers must file their tax returns (including corporate income tax and VAT returns) electronically. The relevant tax returns must be signed by the taxpayer using a qualified certificate issued by a provider of certification services.

Informative statement. All taxable persons that are registered for VAT in Romania must also submit an informative statement to the Romanian tax authorities. This statement must include all local supplies and acquisitions performed between taxable persons registered for VAT purposes in Romania made in the reporting period.

The due date is the 25th day of the month following the end of the period. In case no local acquisitions or sales are performed during the period, no informative statement should be filed. A taxable person that fails to submit an informative statement by the due date is liable for a fine ranging from RON12,000 to RON14,000 (approximately EUR2,600 to EUR3,200).

Special schemes. Romania has implemented the following special schemes:

- Special scheme for small enterprises: if the turnover is less than EUR65,000 per year, the taxable person can apply the special exemption
- Special scheme for travel agents: where the taxable base of the services rendered is the profit margin obtained from the sale of the respective services, exclusive of VAT
- Special arrangements for second-hand goods, works of art, collectors' items and antiques: where the taxable base for the supplies of goods is the profit margin obtained from the sale of the respective goods, exclusive of VAT. By way of derogation, for supplies of works of art, collectors' items or antiques imported by the taxable dealer, the purchase price to be taken into account in calculating the profit margin shall be equal to the taxable base on importation plus the VAT due or paid on importation
- Special scheme for investment gold: where the supplies, intra-community acquisitions and importation of investment gold, including investment in securities; and intermediary services in respect of supplies of investment gold
- Special scheme for electronically supplied services: for non-established taxable persons supplying electronic services to non-taxable persons

Electronic filing and archiving. Electronic submission of VAT statements is mandatory for the large- and medium-sized taxpayers and optional for all other taxpayers. Such submission is performed through means of a digital certificate, which can be obtained only by Romanian individuals based on specific forms submitted with the competent tax administration.

The archiving of the financial-accounting documents based on which the VAT statements were prepared shall be ensured for a period of 10 years (or equal with the useful life in case of immovable capital goods).

The taxable person must ensure the storage of copies of invoices issued (or issued by the customer/a third party on behalf of the supplier), as well as of all invoices received. Invoices may be stored on paper or electronically, regardless of the original form in which they were sent or made available.

The taxable person may decide the place of storage for the invoices, provided such documents are made available to the competent tax authorities without any delays and whenever requested. Nonetheless, such storage place may not be located on the territory of a country with which there is no legal instrument concerning mutual assistance.

By way of exception, taxable persons having the seat of their economic activities in Romania or established in Romania through a fixed establishment must store the invoices issued and received – other than electronic invoices – on Romanian territory.

Annual returns. Not applicable.

J. Penalties

Since 1 March 2014, the late payment interest rate is 0.03%. Additional late payment penalties (0.02% per day of delay) apply.

Fraud committed with respect to the calculation of a VAT repayment may be considered a fiscal evasion.

K. EU filings

Intrastat. A Romanian taxable person that trades with other EU countries must complete statistical reports, known as Intrastat, if the value of either dispatches or arrivals of goods exceeds certain thresholds. Separate reports are required for intra-Community acquisitions (Intrastat Arrivals) and for intra-Community supplies (Intrastat Dispatches).

The threshold for Intrastat Arrivals is RON500,000.

The threshold for Intrastat Dispatches is RON900,000.

Romanian taxable persons must complete Intrastat declarations in Romanian lei, rounded up to the nearest whole number.

Intrastat returns must be submitted monthly. The submission deadline is the 15th day of the month following the return period.

A penalty may be imposed for late submissions or for missing or inaccurate declarations.

EU Sales and Acquisitions Lists. If a Romanian taxable person makes intra-Community supplies or intra-Community acquisitions of goods in any return period, it must submit an EU sales and acquisitions list to the Romanian VAT authorities. Since 1 January 2010, the listing of intra-Community supplies or acquisitions is also required for qualifying services that are rendered to or received from a taxable person established in the EU and that are taxed where the beneficiary is established. This list is not required for any period during which the taxable person does not make any intra-Community supplies or acquisitions.

The listing of intra-Community sales or acquisitions of goods and qualifying services must be submitted on a calendar monthly basis by the 25th day of the month following the relevant month. A failure to submit an EU sales and acquisitions list reporting sales or acquisitions of goods by the due date is subject to a fine ranging from RON1,000 to RON5,000 (approximately EUR230 to EUR1,100). The submission of such list with incorrect or incomplete amounts is subject to a fine ranging from RON500 to RON1,500 (approximately EUR115 to EUR350). The fine does not apply if the taxable person corrects voluntarily the EU sales and acquisitions list by the due date for the submission of the next EU sales and acquisitions list.

Russian Federation

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Moscow

GMT +3

EY

Sadovnicheskaya Nab., 77, bld. 1
Moscow 115035
Russian Federation

Indirect tax contact

Victor Borodin	+7 (495) 755-9760 victor.borodin@ru.ey.com
Vitaly Yanovskiy	+7 (495) 664-7860 vitaly.yanovskiy@ru.ey.com
Yuriy Volkov	+7 (495) 641-2927 yuriy.volkov@ru.ey.com
Olga Odintsova	+7 (495) 664-7859 olga.odintsova@ru.ey.com
Yulia Kolesnikova	+7 (495) 648-9666 yulia.kolesnikova@ru.ey.com
Toon Beljaars	+7 (495) 664-7866 toon.beljaars@ru.ey.com
Ilya Samouilov	+7 (495) 755-9700 ext. 6040 ilya.samouilov@ru.ey.com
Alexandra Kiseleva	+7 (495) 755-9700 ext. 4191 alexandra.kiseleva@ru.ey.com

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Value-added tax (VAT)
Local name	Nalog na dobavlenyuyu stoimost (NDS)
Date introduced	6 December 1991
European Union (EU) Member State	No
Administered by	Ministry of Finance of the Russian Federation (http://www.minfin.ru) Federal Tax Service (http://www.nalog.ru)
VAT rates
Standard	18%
Reduced	10%
Other	Zero-rated and exempt
VAT number format	Tax identification number (TIN) with 10 digits
VAT return periods	Quarterly
Thresholds
Registration	None
Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses	No

B. Scope of the tax

VAT applies to the following transactions:

- The supply of goods (works and services) performed in “the territory of the Russian Federation and other territories under its jurisdiction” by a taxpayer
- The transfer of property rights by a taxpayer
- The performance of construction and the installation and assembling of works for own consumption
- The importation of goods into “the territory of the Russian Federation and other territories under its jurisdiction,” regardless of the status of the importer

“The territory of the Russian Federation and other territories under its jurisdiction” means the territory of the Russian Federation and the territories of artificial islands, installations and structures over which the Russian Federation exercises jurisdiction in accordance with the legislation of the Russian Federation and provisions of international law.

In general, supplies of goods (works and services) in the Russian Federation are within the scope of Russian VAT. The following goods are deemed to be supplied in the Russian Federation:

- Goods located in the Russian Federation and other territories under its jurisdiction that are not shipped or transported
- Goods located in the Russian Federation and other territories under its jurisdiction at the moment that shipment or transportation begins

The place of supply of works and services is determined according to the substance of the executed transactions. Works and services connected with immovable or movable property (for example, construction, installation, repair and maintenance) are deemed to be supplied in the Russian Federation if the property is located in the Russian Federation. Services in the areas of culture, art, education, tourism and sport are subject to Russian VAT if physically performed in the Russian Federation.

Services specified on a list are deemed to be supplied in the Russian Federation if the buyer carries out its activity in the Russian Federation. This list includes, but is not limited to, the following:

- Consulting
- Auditing
- Data processing
- Legal and accounting services
- Advertising and marketing services
- Transfers of copyrights
- Licenses and similar rights
- Engineering services
- Certain agency services relating to procurement
- Provision of emission reduction units granted under the Kyoto Protocol

Works and services with respect to the performance of geological study, exploration and production of hydrocarbons in the territory of the continental shelf and the exclusive economic zone of the Russian Federation are deemed to be performed in the Russian Federation.

Inland Russian transportation carried out by foreign companies that are not registered with the Russian tax authorities is subject to Russian VAT. VAT withholding formalities must be performed by the Russian customer of the foreign transport service provider.

Works and services that are not specifically covered in the relevant section of VAT law are deemed to be performed at the place of the supplier's activity.

C. Who is liable

In general, a taxpayer is any individual entrepreneur or legal entity (including a foreign legal entity) that makes taxable supplies of goods (works and services) and/or property rights in the territory of the Russian Federation and other territories under its jurisdiction in the course of its business activities or that conveys goods into the territory of the Russian Federation and other territories under its jurisdiction. Foreign organizers of the Sochi 2014 Olympic Games and Paralympic Games are deemed not to be Russian VAT taxpayers. FIFA, its subsidiaries, football confederations, associations and FIFA suppliers related to the 2018 FIFA World Cup in Russia are not deemed to be Russian VAT taxpayers.

Tax registration. All taxpayers are subject to tax registration. A separate VAT registration is not permitted. A foreign legal entity may be required to register for tax purposes in the Russian Federation.

Exemption from VAT payment obligations. No VAT registration threshold applies in the Russian Federation. However, a legal entity or individual entrepreneur may be exempted from the fulfillment of obligations associated with the calculation and payment of VAT. Exemption may apply if, in the last three consecutive calendar months, the amount of receipts from the sale of goods (works and services) did not exceed a total of RUB2 million.

Such exemption from VAT payment obligations is granted on submission of special notification to the tax authorities together with supporting documentation proving entitlement. A legal entity or individual entrepreneur that is granted exemption is not required to charge VAT or submit VAT returns, but it is restricted in its ability to recover input VAT on purchases (see Section G).

Private entrepreneurs and legal entities that are applying the simplified taxation system (including private entrepreneurs who are eligible to apply a patent tax regime since 1 January 2013) or carrying out the activities subject to unified tax on imputed income (the exemption applies with respect to the income from such activities only) are also exempt from VAT payment obligations, except for payment of VAT at customs.

Group registration. VAT group registration is not allowed under the Russian VAT law. Legal entities that are closely connected must register for VAT purposes separately.

Foreign legal entities (non-established businesses). A "non-established business" is a business that does not have a fixed establishment in the Russian Federation. A foreign legal entity or non-established business may be required to register for tax purposes in the Russian Federation.

In the Russian Federation, no separate VAT registration exists. The obligation to register with the Russian tax authorities arises if a foreign legal entity performs activity in Russia through a branch, a representative office or any other separate subdivision.

If a foreign legal entity performs its activities in Russia through a branch or a representative office, it must file for accreditation of its branch or representative office. The obligation to register also arises if a foreign company owns immovable property or transport vehicles in the Russian Federation or opens a bank account with a Russian bank.

If a foreign legal entity is not registered for tax purposes, the recipient of the supply must act as a tax agent and withhold the VAT due. A foreign legal entity that is not registered in the Russian Federation is not entitled to recover any input tax (VAT on purchases).

On tax registration, a foreign legal entity must act as a common VAT taxpayer and is eligible to recover the input VAT incurred in the Russian Federation if the VAT recoverability conditions outlined in Section F are met.

Registration procedures. Starting from 1 January 2015, tax registration of an accredited branch or representative office of a foreign organization is carried by tax authorities based on respective data from the registry of accredited branches, representative office. Accreditation procedures take at least 25 working days to fulfill. A foreign organization receives the notification of tax registration in five working days.

A foreign organization must file an application to register its separate subdivision, which is neither branch nor representative office, not later than 30 calendar days from the beginning of its activities in the Russian Federation. The format of the application is set by the Federal Tax Service. The application should be submitted by an authorized representative of the organization acting under a power of attorney. Together with the above application, a foreign organization must file the following documents:

- Its constitutive document
- An extract from the register of foreign legal entities confirming the legal status of a founder of a foreign organization
- An application confirming registration of a foreign legal entity with its tax authorities
- A document confirming a decision of an authorized body of a foreign legal entity to register a subdivision and a subdivision-establishing document (or a contract under which a foreign legal entity performs its activity in the Russian Federation if no subdivision is created in the Russian Federation).

All documents are submitted in hard copies. It is not possible to submit for tax registration online.

Late-registration penalties. The Russian tax law provides for several types of fines in the following amounts for tax registration violations:

- A penalty of RUB10,000 is imposed for a violation by a taxpayer of the time limit established in the Tax Code for the submission of an application for registration with a tax authority on grounds provided for in the Tax Code.

- The carrying on of activities by an organization or a private entrepreneur without registering with a tax authority on grounds provided for in the tax law results in the imposition of a penalty equal to 10% of income received during that time as a result of such activities, but not less than RUB40,000.

Tax representatives. Not applicable.

Reverse charge. See Section E.

Digital economy. Tax regulation on e-commerce follows the same rules (e.g., place of supply rules) as a regular provider of goods (works, services). No specific rules concerning the taxation of the digital economy are introduced.

Deregistration. Deregistration is performed in cases of termination of activities or closing of a branch, representative office or other separate subdivision of a foreign organization.

Starting 1 January 2015, deregistration of a branch or representative office is carried out by tax authorities based on respective data from the registry of accredited branches, representative offices.

Deregistration of a separate subdivision of a foreign organization is performed by tax authorities based on an application submitted by the taxpayer. Tax authorities perform deregistration in 10 working days after receiving the application.

D. VAT rates

The term “taxable supplies” refers to supplies of goods (works and services) and property rights that are liable to a rate of VAT, including the zero rate. The term “exempt supplies” refers to supplies of goods (works and services) and property rights not liable to tax and that do not give rise to a right of input VAT deduction (see Section F).

In the Russian Federation, the following are the VAT rates:

- Standard rate: 18%
- Reduced rate: 10%
- Zero rate (0%)

The standard rate of VAT (18%) applies to all supplies of goods (works and services) and property rights unless a specific measure provides for a reduced rate, the zero rate or an exemption.

Examples of goods and services taxable at 10%

- Basic foodstuffs
- Certain children’s goods
- Medical goods
- Pedigree cattle

Examples of goods and services taxable at 0%

- Exports of goods and related services including logistic services
- Supplies to diplomats (if reciprocal arrangements apply)
- Foreign passenger transportation services
- Works (services) performed by Russian rail carriers involving the carriage or transportation of goods that are exported from the territory of the Russian Federation and the removal from the customs territory of the Russian Federation of products of processing in the customs territory of the Russian Federation

- Works (services) connected with carriage or transportation mentioned in the item above, the cost of which is specified in documents of carriage for the carriage of the goods that are exported (processed products that are removed)
- The sale of goods (works and services) related to the FIFA World Cup 2018 and FIFA Confederations Cup 2017 and Olympic Games and Paralympic Games in Sochi in 2014 in certain cases (from 1 October 2013)
- The sale of raw hydrocarbons extracted from the continental shelf, exclusive economic zone and the Russian sector of the Caspian Sea to a destination outside Russia and exportation of goods (stores) for further use in extraction of hydrocarbons from offshore hydrocarbon deposits and certain related transportation services (from 1 January 2014)

Examples of exempt supplies of goods and services

- Financial services on granting of loans
- Rendering of services involving insurance, coinsurance and reinsurance of export credits and investments against entrepreneurial and/or political risks
- Public transport
- Medical services
- Lease of office premises and housing to accredited representative offices of foreign entities (if reciprocal arrangements apply)
- Sale of houses, living accommodation and shares in them
- Provision of software and the right to use it under license agreement
- Services rendered by a developer under a shared-construction agreement for the construction of residential properties (except for services rendered by a developer with respect to the construction of objects for production needs)
- Various financial services provided by the licensed institution

Option to tax for exempt supplies. Taxpayers have an option to tax a certain group of exempt supplies. It is not permissible for such operations to be exempted or not depending on who is purchasing the goods, work and services. An exemption from taxation may not be rejected or suspended for a period of less than one year.

Examples of exempt supplies that can be rejected or suspended

- Banking operations (with the exception of collection)
- Services associated with the servicing of bank cards
- Insurance, co-insurance and re-insurance services
- Sale of ore, concentrates and other industrial products containing precious metals

E. Time of supply

The moment when VAT becomes due is called the “time of supply.” For taxpayers, the time of supply is the earliest of the following dates:

- The date on which goods (works and services) or property rights are dispatched (transferred)
- The date on which payment or partial payment is made with respect to the future supply of goods, performance of work, rendering of services or transfer of property rights

Reverse charge. Reverse-charge VAT is applied to payments for goods, works and services supplied by foreign legal entities to Russian legal entities or individual entrepreneurs. Under the reverse charge, the liability to withhold and pay VAT rests with the recipient of the supply that acts as a tax agent. The reverse charge applies in the following circumstances:

- The foreign legal entity is not registered as a taxpayer in the Russian Federation.
- The place of supply for the goods (works and services) is the Russian Federation.

In the Russian Federation, reverse-charge VAT is treated as a withholding tax. In practice, contracts entered into between a Russian legal entity and a foreign legal entity normally contain a “gross-up” provision to ensure that the net payment to the foreign legal entity is not reduced by VAT payable in the Russian Federation and that it equals the agreed contract price for the supplied goods (works and services).

Imported goods. As a general rule, the import of goods is subject to VAT. Import of certain groups of goods is exempted from VAT.

Examples of imported goods exempted from VAT

- Goods that cost less than EUR200
- Goods imported as gratuitous aid according to the government list
- Medical products according to the government list
- Cultural property imported as a gift for Russian cultural institutions
- Periodic materials imported as a gift for Russian libraries.

VAT rates are 10% and 18%. The 10% rate should be used both for import and further resale in the territory of the Russian Federation. The VAT base includes the customs value of goods, the amount of customs duties and the amount of excises.

Payment upon importation depends on chosen customs procedure. For example, if goods are placed under the free circulation customs procedure, the payment should be made in the whole amount.

Declarant is an import VAT payer.

As a general rule, VAT amount paid on import should be recoverable if all conditions for recovery at import VAT have been made. Otherwise VAT amount should be included in the value of goods.

F. Recovery of VAT by taxpayers

A taxpayer may recover input tax, which is VAT charged on goods (works and services) and property rights supplied for carrying out activities within the scope of VAT. A taxpayer generally recovers input tax by deducting it from output tax, which is VAT charged on supplies made.

Input tax includes VAT charged on goods (works and services) and property rights supplied in the Russian Federation, VAT paid on imports of goods and VAT paid to the Russian budget by a buyer acting as a tax agent with respect to the acquisition of goods (works and services) from a foreign legal entity.

In general, VAT is recoverable after the goods (works and services) or property rights have been received and a VAT invoice has been obtained from a supplier. The same procedure applies to VAT incurred on construction (including construction carried out by the taxpayer for its own use). For a prepayment to a supplier, the buyer may recover VAT on such prepayment (that is, before the relevant goods [works and services] are received by the buyer).

The amount of VAT reclaimed must be indicated separately on a VAT invoice (a special document established exclusively for VAT purposes) issued in conformity with the provisions of the Russian VAT law.

Nondeductible input tax. Input tax cannot be recovered on purchases of goods (works and services) and property rights that are not used for making supplies within the scope of VAT (for example, goods purchased for private use by an entrepreneur). In addition, input tax cannot be fully recovered with respect to some business expenses (that is, expenses that are limited for profits tax deduction).

Examples of items for which input tax is nondeductible

- Personal expenses
- Home telephone expenses
- Parking
- Restaurant meals

Examples of items for which input tax is deductible

- Purchase, lease or hire of a car, van and truck
- Fuel for cars, vans and trucks
- Car maintenance
- Business entertainment and travel (special calculations may apply)
- Conferences (special calculations may apply)
- Advertising (special calculations may apply)
- Hotel accommodation (special calculations may apply)
- Mobile phone expenses

Partial exemption. If a Russian taxpayer makes both exempt supplies and taxable supplies, it must account for them separately. Input VAT directly related to taxable supplies is recoverable in full, while input VAT directly related to exempt supplies is not recoverable and must be expensed for Russian profit tax purposes. Input VAT that may not be directly attributed to taxable or exempt supplies (such as VAT on business overhead costs) must be apportioned. The statutory method of apportionment is a pro-rata calculation, based on the value of taxable supplies made compared with the total turnover of the business.

Refunds. If the amount of input tax recoverable in a quarterly period exceeds the amount of output tax payable in that period, the taxpayer is entitled to an input tax credit. After a taxpayer has submitted a VAT return, the tax authorities check the validity of the amount claimed as refundable in the course of performing an in-house tax audit. If the tax authorities confirm the amounts claimed in the relevant VAT return, the decision on the reimbursement of VAT must be adopted within seven days. On the basis of a written application of the taxpayer, the confirmed amount of VAT can be refunded to the bank account of the taxpayer or can be credited towards the other outstanding federal tax liabilities.

Under certain conditions, the reimbursement (offset or refund) of VAT may be granted to taxpayers in advance, that is, before the completion of an in-house tax audit of the returns submitted. If no indebtedness arises from taxes, penalties and/or fines, against which reimbursable VAT may be offset, the amount of VAT may, at the taxpayer's request, be returned in cash to a bank account during the 16 days from the moment that the VAT return is submitted to the tax authorities. Alternatively, a taxpayer may claim the amount of reimbursable VAT for offset against future tax payments with respect to VAT or other federal taxes.

If the in-house tax audit subsequently results in the tax authorities' partial or full refusal to reimburse VAT, the relevant amounts of arrears, penalties and interest for using the monetary resources (VAT paid back to the taxpayer) must be paid to the budget.

The right to use the accelerated procedure of VAT reimbursement is granted to the following two categories of taxpayers:

- Taxpayers that are companies whose gross total amount of VAT, excise duties, profit tax and mineral extraction tax (except for the amount of taxes paid on transfer of goods over the border of the Russian Federation and taxes paid by the taxpayer as a tax agent), paid for the three preceding calendar years is no less than RUB10 billion, provided that at least three years have passed from the date of the relevant company's foundation to the date of submission of the VAT declaration
- Taxpayers that have submitted a suitable bank guarantee to the tax authorities with their VAT returns

Restoration of VAT previously offset. If assets, intangible assets and property rights are transferred as a contribution to the charter capital of a company or partnership or as share contributions to the share fund of a cooperative or if these assets are subsequently used in carrying out the VAT-exempt operations, the amount of input VAT must be repaid or "restored." The amount of restoration is the VAT previously claimed as a deduction or, with respect to fixed assets and intangible assets, an amount proportional to the net book (balance sheet) value without taking account of any revaluation.

Preregistration costs. Not applicable.

G. Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses

VAT recovery is made exclusively by registered persons that make taxable supplies in the Russian Federation. VAT incurred by a foreign legal entity is not recoverable, unless the foreign legal entity performs VAT-able supplies in the Russian Federation and is registered with the Russian tax authorities.

If a foreign legal entity is registered with the Russian tax authorities as a representative office, VAT incurred on the purchase of goods (including imported goods), works, services and property rights is generally recoverable if the following VAT recoverability criteria are met:

- The purchased goods (works and services) or property rights are to be used in the course of an activity subject to VAT.

- All proper supporting documents (including VAT invoices that contain all required details) are in place.
- The purchased goods (works and services) or property rights are properly reflected in the buyer's accounting ledgers.
- Customs VAT for imported goods is paid to the Russian customs authorities.

Refund application. The VAT refund application must be sent to the appropriate tax office. The application must be completed in Russian. The refund is made in rubles (RUB) to a bank account held in the Russian Federation. In general, refunds are made only after an in-house tax audit is carried out at the location of the tax authorities (see Section F: Refunds). The tax authorities may request any of the following documentation for the VAT audit:

- Original VAT invoices
- Documents confirming the tax has been paid or withheld
- Contracts
- Sales and purchase ledgers
- Primary documents supporting amounts reflected in the submitted VAT returns

Interest on refunds. The Russian VAT law requires the tax authorities to pay a refund no later than five days following the positive decision regarding the VAT refund claim of a taxpayer. In practice, however, refunds are often delayed.

If a refund is made with delay, the tax authorities must pay interest, accrued at the refinancing rate of the Russian Central Bank for each day of delay, beginning with the 12th day after the completion of the in-house audit of the relevant VAT return. Since 14 September 2012, the annual refinancing rate has been 8.25%.

H. Invoicing

VAT invoices and credit notes. In general, a Russian taxpayer must provide a VAT invoice for the supplies. Invoices must be issued in Russian, but bilingual invoices may be issued in Russian and another language.

A VAT invoice may be issued in electronic format by mutual agreement of the counterparties, provided that both parties have compatible information technology (IT) facilities for the receipt and processing of such an invoice.

The Russian Ministry of Finance establishes the procedure for the issuance and receipt of VAT invoices in electronic format. The Russian Federal Tax Service separately establishes the formats of VAT invoices, journals of VAT invoices received and issued, and sales and purchase ledgers in electronic format.

Since 1 October 2011, taxpayers are able to issue corrective VAT invoices. Corrective VAT invoices are allowed on the change in the value of a transaction, particularly price changes or changes of sales volume. The value may be either increased or decreased.

An increase of the value of a transaction results in the supplier charging additional VAT for the tax period in which the transaction takes place. The supplier issues a corrective VAT invoice indicating (among other details) the upward change as a positive amount. The receipt of the corrective VAT invoice provides the purchaser with grounds to offset the amount of VAT arising from the increase in the value of the transaction in the period in which the corrective VAT invoice is received.

On a decrease in the value of a transaction, the supplier issues a corrective VAT invoice indicating (among other details) the downward change as a negative amount. This invoice provides the supplier with grounds to offset the reduction in VAT caused by the decrease in the value of the transaction in the period in which the corrective VAT invoice is issued. The purchaser, in turn, must restore the excess amounts of input VAT resulting from a downward change in the value of a transaction.

Proof of exports. Goods exported from the Russian Federation as well as some types of works and services related to exports, are subject to a 0% VAT rate in the Russian Federation. To confirm the applicability of the 0% rate, the supplier must collect and provide to the tax authorities a package of supporting documents.

Foreign-currency invoices. In practice, the issuance of VAT invoices in rubles is preferable. If a VAT invoice is issued in a foreign currency, all values required for VAT purposes must be converted into rubles for tax purposes, using the rate published by the Russian Central Bank. A supplier determines the tax base using the rate of the Russian Central Bank as of the date of dispatch of goods (works and services) and/or property rights. On further receipt of payment, the tax base may not be adjusted by the supplier. A buyer recovers the amount of input VAT determined using the rate of the Russian Central Bank on the date when all VAT recoverability criteria are met. On making further payment to the supplier, the amount of recovered VAT may not be adjusted by the buyer.

I. VAT returns and payment

VAT returns. Taxpayers file VAT returns quarterly. The VAT amount per VAT return must be paid equally in three months after the relevant tax period. For example, the VAT amount payable under the VAT return for the first quarter must be paid according to the following schedule:

- One-third of the VAT must be paid by 25 April
- One-third of the VAT must be paid by 25 May
- One-third of the VAT must be paid by 25 June

VAT payable under the reverse-charge mechanism is accounted for separately and must be paid by the tax agent at the same time as payment is made to the supplier.

- Since 1 January 2014, VAT taxpayers should submit the VAT return in electronic format only
- Starting 1 January 2015, data from taxpayer's purchase and sales ledgers form part of VAT reporting.

J. Penalties

The Russian tax law provides for the following fines with respect to the filing of VAT returns:

- Late filing: penalty ranging from 5% to 30% of the underpaid tax, depending on the duration of the delay

-
- Severe violation of revenue and expenses accounting regulations in one tax period: penalty of RUB10,000
 - Severe violation of accounting regulations in more than one tax period: penalty of RUB30,000
 - Severe violation of accounting regulations leading to the understatement of the tax base: penalty of 20% of the underpaid tax, but not less than RUB40,000
 - Nonpayment or partial payment of the tax: penalty of 20% of the underpaid tax
 - Willful nonpayment or partial payment of the tax: penalty of 40% of the underpaid tax

In addition, criminal charges may be imposed for “willful or negligent conduct of business that results in the defrauding of the state.”

Rwanda

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Kigali

GMT +2

EY	Street address:
Mail address:	Banque de Kigali Building
BP 3638	Avenue de la Paix
Rwanda	Kigali
	Rwanda

Indirect tax contact

Herbert Gatsinzi	+250 788-303322
	herbert.gatsinzi@rw.ey.com

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Value-added tax (VAT)
Date introduced	1 January 2001
Trading bloc membership	Common Market for Eastern and Southern Africa (COMESA) and East African Community (EAC) Member
Administered by	Rwanda Revenue Authority (www.rra.gov.rw)
VAT rates
Standard	18%
Other	Zero-rated and exempt
VAT number format	000111111
VAT return periods	Monthly or quarterly
Thresholds
Registration	RWF20 million (in 12 months)
Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses	No

B. Scope of the tax

VAT applies to the following transactions:

- The supply of goods and services in Rwanda by a taxable person
- Imported services received by a taxable person in Rwanda
- The importation of goods from outside Rwanda, regardless of the status of the importer (unless the import qualifies for VAT waiver under the investment code or the importer has been granted a VAT exemption)

The exportation of goods and taxable services is zero-rated if, subject to the satisfaction of the tax administration, the export has taken place and evidence exists that the export proceeds will be repatriated into Rwanda.

C. Who is liable

The consumers of taxable goods and services pay VAT. Registered taxpayers (traders), which act as the agents of the government, collect VAT. The Customs Services Department collects VAT on imported goods, while the Domestic Taxes Department collects local VAT and VAT on imported services.

VAT registration is dependent on the attainment of a turnover threshold of RWF20 million. Businesses that do not attain this turnover threshold may voluntarily register.

Group registration. The Rwandan VAT Act allows group registration. However, in practice, group registration is allowed in special circumstances only.

Non-established businesses. A “non-established business” is a business that does not have a fixed establishment in Rwanda. A foreign business is not required to register for VAT unless it has a permanent establishment in Rwanda. A permanent establishment of a foreign business must register for VAT if it makes taxable supplies of goods or services. Other non-established businesses are not required to register for VAT. Instead, a person importing goods or services from a nonresident must pay the Rwandan VAT due.

Tax representatives. Any person allowed by law to represent a taxpayer shall file the tax declarations, pay taxes due and comply with all the obligations required under law.

Any person in one of the five following categories must, upon appointment as a tax representative, communicate his new capacity to the tax administration within a period of seven days:

- The guardian or any other person responsible for custody of a minor or an incapacitated person
- A legal or judicial administrator of an estate or of a will or the heirs of such an estate
- The president, accountant or director appointed or any other representative of a company or any other legal person
- The administrator or the representative of a company or any other legal person in liquidation
- Any other person given the mandate to represent the taxpayer

Also, the tax representative could be:

- The owner of an enterprise
- A partner in a partnership that has unlimited liability

Registration procedures. Any person who sets up a business or other activities that may be taxable is obliged to register with the tax administration within seven days from the beginning of the business or activity or the establishment of the company.

Any person who carries out taxable activities exceeding RWF20,000,000 in the previous fiscal year, or RWF5,000,000 in the preceding calendar quarter is required to register for VAT within seven days from the end of the year or quarter.

Any person may voluntarily register with the tax administration for VAT. Any changes, whether related to the taxpayer or his or her activities shall be reported in writing to the tax administration within seven days from the day of the notice of the change. Taxable persons must register by submitting the application in hard copy.

Individual entrepreneurs register in their own names using the Individual Enterprise Registration Form. Organizations or enterprises register using the Non-individual Registration Form in the name of the organization. Taxpayers conclude their registration by completing the appropriate registration form, signing and submitting it to the tax administration and by obtaining a Tax Identification Number (TIN).

Late-registration penalties. Stiff penalties may be imposed in the event of late registration by traders that meet the turnover threshold.

Penalties apply to a range of other VAT offenses (see Section J).

Reverse charge. Imported services are subject to VAT at the standard rate of 18%. The importer of the service into Rwanda must account for and pay VAT on imported services. However, if the service in question is not locally available in Rwanda, then the importer of the service is allowed to account for VAT using the reverse-charge method, that is, by including it in both output and input tax, thereby having a nil net cash flow.

Digital economy. There are no specific provisions in the Rwandan VAT Law for the taxation of the digital economy.

Deregistration. A taxpayer ceases to be liable to a particular type of tax at any time when the Commissioner General is satisfied that any one of the following circumstances is true:

- The taxpayer has ceased its business or economic activity completely.
- The taxpayer has reduced the volume of its activities to a level that it is not liable to that particular tax
- The taxpayer has paid all taxes due to the tax administration.

Any registered taxpayer ceasing to be liable for a tax notifies the tax administration using a modified registration form within a period of seven days from the date it is no longer required to be registered.

When the tax administration is satisfied that a person is no longer liable to be registered, it cancels the registration. Granting cancellation of registration does not stop the tax administration from carrying out audits.

D. VAT rates

The term “taxable supplies” refers to supplies of goods and services that are subject to a rate of VAT, including the zero rate.

The following are the VAT rates in Rwanda:

- Standard rate: 18%
- Zero rate (0%)

The standard rate of VAT generally applies to all supplies of goods or services. The zero rate applies to exports of goods and taxable services, as well as to other specified products.

Examples of goods and services taxable at 0%

- Exports of goods
- Exports of taxable services
- Goods and services supplied to diplomatic and consular missions

The term “exempt supplies” refers to supplies of goods and services that are not subject to tax. Persons that make exempt supplies are not entitled to input tax deduction (see Section F).

Examples of exempt supplies of goods and services

- Unprocessed agricultural products
- Educational services
- Medical services
- Agricultural, animal husbandry and horticultural services
- Transportation of passengers (excluding for hire)

Option to tax for exempt supplies. Not applicable.

E. Time of supply

The time when VAT becomes due is called the “time of supply” or “tax point.” In Rwanda, the tax point is the earliest of the following events:

- The goods or services are supplied.
- An invoice is issued.
- Payment is received for all or part of the supply.

Other tax points apply in a variety of specific situations.

Imports. The time of the supply for imported goods is either the date of importation or the date on which the goods are processed for customs clearance.

F. Recovery of VAT by taxable persons

A taxable person may recover input tax, which is VAT charged on goods and services supplied to it for business purposes. Input tax is claimed by deducting it from output tax, which is VAT charged on supplies made. Taxable persons must claim input tax within three years after incurring the expense.

Input tax includes VAT charged on goods and services purchased in Rwanda and VAT paid on imports of goods and services.

Nondeductible input tax. VAT may not be recovered on purchases of goods and services that are not used for business purposes (for example, goods acquired for private use by an entrepreneur). In addition, input tax may not be recovered on certain business expenses.

The following list provides some examples of items of expenditure for which input tax is not deductible.

Examples of items for which input tax is nondeductible

- Purchase of cars with a passenger carrying capacity of less than 18 persons
- Business gifts
- Business entertainment
- Fuel for vehicles (apportioned)
- Mobile telephone bills (apportioned)

Partial exemption. VAT directly related to making exempt supplies is not recoverable. A registered person who makes both exempt and taxable supplies cannot recover VAT tax in full.

Under Rwandan VAT law, if a taxable person supplies both taxable and exempt goods and services, only input tax attributable to taxable supplies may be recovered. The amount of the claimable input tax is determined using a standard method or an attribution method approved by the Commissioner General.

Refunds. A taxable person may claim a refund of input tax in excess of output tax.

The claim for a VAT refund must be made within three years after the date on which the tax became payable. Within six months after the date on which a person becomes registered, the person may file a claim for relief from VAT paid on stock held (goods held for trading) before registration.

Preregistration costs. A newly registered VAT taxpayer is allowed to claim input VAT credit in respect of goods that were in his store or stock at the close of the last day prior to registration.

G. Recovery of VAT by nonresidents

Rwanda does not refund VAT incurred by a foreign business, unless the foreign business has a permanent establishment in Rwanda and is registered for VAT in Rwanda.

H. Invoicing

VAT invoices and credit notes. A supplier of taxable goods and services must issue a tax invoice to the purchaser at the time of supply. Simplified tax invoices may be used if the sales to any one person in a day do not exceed a threshold determined by the Commissioner General.

A credit note may be used to reduce the VAT charged on a supply of goods or services. Credit notes must show the same information as a tax invoice.

Proof of exports. Goods exported from Rwanda are zero-rated. However, to qualify for zero rating, exports must be supported by evidence that proves the goods left Rwanda. Suitable evidence includes the following documents:

- A sales invoice
- A bill of lading, road manifest or airway bill
- A customs export entry (document issued by Customs as evidence that goods have been cleared to leave Rwanda's customs territory)

Foreign-currency invoices. Foreign-currency invoices are handled in the same manner as invoices in local currency.

I. VAT returns and payment

VAT returns. The VAT tax period is one month. Returns must be filed by the 15th day after the end of the tax period. Payment is due in full by the same date. A "nil" return must be filed if no VAT is payable. A refund claim return must be filed if input tax exceeds output tax in a given tax period.

If the normal filing date falls on a public holiday or on a weekend, the VAT return must be submitted on the next working day after such day.

Special schemes. Not applicable.

Electronic filing and archiving. All tax filings in Rwanda are conducted online. The statutory period for archiving of accounting and tax records is five years.

Annual returns. There is no statutory requirement to file annual VAT returns in Rwanda.

J. Penalties

The late submission of a return is subject to a penalty of up to RWF500,000, plus 10% of the tax due and late payment interest charged at a rate corresponding to the monthly central bank lending rate to commercial banks, not compounded. Other major penalties for VAT offenses include up to 200% of tax evaded and possible criminal prosecution for fraudulent evasion of VAT.

Saint Lucia

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Castries

GMT -4

EY

Mardini Building
Rodney Bay
Gros Islet
Saint Lucia

Indirect tax contacts

Terry-Ann Moe +1 (246) 430 3903
(resident in Barbados) terry-ann.moe@bb.ey.com

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Value-added tax (VAT)
Date introduced	1 October 2012
Trading bloc membership	CARICOM
Administered by	Inland Revenue Department, VAT Section
VAT rates
Standard	15%
Reduced	9.5% (hotel accommodation)
Other	Zero-rated and exempt
VAT number format	123456-7
VAT return periods	Monthly
Thresholds
Registration	XCD180,000
Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses	No

B. Scope of the tax

VAT applies to the supply of goods and services by a taxable person in Saint Lucia and to the importation of goods and services.

C. Who is liable

The Saint Lucia VAT Act imposes a registration requirement on any person in Saint Lucia whose total value of taxable supplies exceed XCD180,000.

A person that expects to make taxable supplies in excess of XCD180,000 at the beginning of any period of 365 calendar days shall also apply for VAT registration in Saint Lucia.

Registration procedures. Taxpayers are required to register with the Saint Lucia Inland Revenue Department and are required to provide the incorporation documents of the entity being registered. The location is as follows:

Inland Revenue Department
 VAT Section
 Manoel Street
 Castries
 Saint Lucia, W.I.

Group registration. VAT grouping is not allowed under the Saint Lucia VAT law. Legal entities that are closely connected must register for VAT individually.

Reverse charge. The import of a taxable service is subject to VAT in Saint Lucia, subject to certain criteria.

Tax representatives. Where a corporation fails to pay an amount of tax required, the persons who were directors at the time the corporation was required to pay such are jointly and severally liable, together with the corporation, to pay the amount and any interest or penalties attaching to such amount.

Late-registration penalties. A person who does not register within the time required by the Act is subject to a penalty of double the output tax payable by that person from the time at which they were required to register to the time of late registration.

Digital economy. Not applicable.

D. VAT rates

The term “taxable supply” refers to a supply of goods and services in Saint Lucia in the course or furtherance of a taxable activity. Taxable supplies include supplies at the zero rate.

In Saint Lucia, the following rates of VAT apply:

- Standard rate: 15%
- Reduced rate: 9.5% (on hotel accommodation)
- Zero rate: 0%
- Other: exempt

The 15% standard rate applies to most supplies of goods or services. The 9.5% rate applies to the supply of hotel accommodation. The First Schedule of the VAT Act lists the goods and services that are zero-rated.

Examples of zero-rated goods and services

- Exported goods and services
- Certain staple foodstuffs
- Fuel
- Goods supplied by licensed duty-free shop operators

The term “exempt supply” refers to a supply of goods and services that is not liable to VAT. Persons who make exempt supplies are not required to register for VAT, and they are not permitted to recover any input tax incurred in making those exempt supplies (see Section F). The Second Schedule of the VAT Act lists goods and services that are exempt from VAT. The Third Schedule lists imports that are exempt from VAT.

The following lists provide some examples of exempt and zero-rated supplies of goods and services.

Examples of exempt supplies of goods and services

- Financial services
- Medical services
- Education services
- Residential property sales
- Transportation services
- Betting and gaming

Examples of exempt imports

- Goods shipped or conveyed to Saint Lucia for transshipment to another country
- Goods imported by nationals returning home for permanent residence in specified categories
- Capital goods where specific conditions are met
- Goods and services imported during a disaster alert or emergency that are not for resale

Option to tax for exempt supplies. Not applicable.

E. Time of supply

The time when VAT becomes due is called the “time of supply.” In general, the time of supply for goods and services supplied by a taxable person is the earliest of the following events:

- The date of issuance of the invoice by the supplier
- The date on which any consideration is received for the supply
- The date on which the goods are made available to the recipient or the services are performed

A taxable person must account for VAT in the VAT period in which the time of supply occurs, regardless of whether payment is received.

Deposits and prepayments. Not applicable.

Imported goods. VAT is payable on the importation of taxable supplies.

F. Recovery of VAT by taxable persons

The VAT paid by a registrant is recoverable as input tax if it relates to goods and services acquired for the purposes of making taxable supplies. Input tax is recovered by offsetting it against output tax (that is, tax charged on supplies made) in the VAT return for each VAT period.

Goods or services are deemed to be for the purpose of making taxable supplies if the supplier acquired, imported or produced the goods or services for any of the following purposes:

- Their supply or re-supply as a taxable supply
- Their consumption or use (whether directly or indirectly, wholly or partly) in producing goods or services for supply as a taxable supply
- Their consumption or use (whether directly or indirectly, wholly or partly) with respect to a commercial enterprise

Where the total amount of input tax deductible by a registrant exceeds the output tax for that VAT period, the excess is carried forward to the next tax period and treated as input tax deductible in that period. If any of the excess remains after being carried forward for three consecutive VAT periods, the registrant may file with the tax authorities a claim for a refund of the amount remaining.

Nondeductible input tax. Input tax may not be recovered on purchases of goods and services that are not used for business purposes.

Examples of items for which input tax is nondeductible

- Personal vehicles
- Fees for memberships in recreational clubs

Examples of items for which input tax is deductible
(if related to a taxable business use)

- Business entertainment
- Travel expenses

Partial recovery. The Saint Lucia VAT law states that if all the supplies made by a taxable person during a tax period are taxable supplies, the input tax incurred in the period is deductible in full. However, if some, but not all, of the supplies made by the person during the tax period are taxable supplies, a partial recovery calculation is required.

The amount of recoverable input tax is calculated based on the ratio of the value of taxable supplies made during the period compared to the total value of supplies (taxable plus exempt) made during the period.

Preregistration costs. There is no provision for persons to claim VAT incurred on costs prior to registration.

G. Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses

Foreign businesses that make commercial supplies in Saint Lucia may register and recover tax with respect to their local operations in the same manner as resident businesses. Where the business is not registered for VAT in Saint Lucia, it will be unable to recover VAT.

H. Invoicing

VAT invoices and credit notes. A taxable person must provide a tax invoice for all taxable supplies made to registrants. A tax invoice is necessary to support a claim for input tax deduction.

A credit note or debit note must be issued when the quantity or consideration shown on a tax invoice is altered. Credit and debit notes must contain broadly the same information as a tax invoice.

Electronic invoicing. There are no separate requirements for electronic invoices.

Proof of exports. VAT is charged at a rate of 0% on supplies of exported goods. However, to qualify as zero-rated, exports must be supported by evidence that confirms the goods have left Saint Lucia.

Foreign-currency invoices. Where an invoice is expressed in a currency other than Eastern Caribbean dollars (XCD):

- In the case of imports, the amount is to be converted at the exchange rate as determined by the Customs (Control and Management) Act
- In all other cases, the amount is to be converted at the exchange rate applying between the currency and the Eastern Caribbean dollar at the time the amount is taken into account.

I. VAT returns and payment

VAT returns. The VAT period in Saint Lucia is the calendar month. The VAT return must be filed within 21 calendar days after the end of the tax period. Any tax due for the period must be remitted with the return.

J. Penalties

Any VAT payable outstanding by the due date is liable to a penalty equal to 10% of the amount payable. Interest is charged at the rate of 1.25% per month or part of a month for the period the tax remains unpaid.

A person who for two or more VAT periods fails to file returns within the specified time and manner is liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding XCD50,000 or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding three years or to both.

Serbia

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Belgrade

GMT +1

EY

Španskih boraca 3
5th Floor
Belgrade
Serbia

Indirect tax contacts

Ivan Rakić	+381 (011) 2095-804 ivan.rakic@rs.ey.com
Stefan Strovjanovski	+381 (011) 2095-804 stefan.strovjanovski@rs.ey.com
Gordana Ačanski	+381 (011) 2095-804 gordana.acanski@rs.ey.com

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Value-added tax (VAT)
Local name	Porez na dodatu vrednost (PDV)
Date introduced	1 January 2005
Trading bloc membership	Central European Free Trade Agreement (CEFTA) Member State
Administered by	Poreska Uprava Republike Srbije
VAT rates
Standard	20%
Reduced	10% (with effect from 1 January 2014)
Other	Zero-rated and exempt
VAT number format	123456789 (9 digits)
VAT return periods	Monthly or quarterly
Registration thresholds
Supply of domestic goods	Annual turnover of RSD8 million; voluntary registration for turnover below RSD8 million
Exporters and importers	Same as for domestic supply
Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses	Only if non-established businesses do not perform any supply of goods or services in Serbia, except for international transportation services

B. Scope of the tax

VAT applies to the following transactions:

- The supply of goods and services performed by taxpayers in Serbia against consideration while performing their regular business activity

- Importation of goods into Serbia, regardless of the status of the importer
- Services purchased by taxpayer in Serbia from service providers whose place of business is outside Serbia, with Serbia regarded as the place of supply (subject to the “reverse-charge” mechanism)

C. Who is liable

Any person (entity or individual) who produces supplies of goods and services, and on that account generate revenues in this regard, in the course of the person’s independent business activity is liable for VAT.

The obligation to register for VAT purposes and to calculate VAT is triggered when total turnover, except for the supply of VAT-exempt services, in the previous 12 months exceeds RSD8 million. A taxpayer whose VAT-able turnover exceeds RSD8 million in the previous 12 months is obliged to submit a registration form for VAT to the tax authorities no later than the end of the first period for submitting a VAT return.

An option is available for small taxpayers and farmers (annual turnover below RSD8 million) to register for VAT by submitting a registration VAT form to the tax authorities, thereby acquiring the rights and obligations to compute and deduct VAT. The obligation for computing and paying VAT is effective for at least two years.

Group registration. Not applicable.

Non-established businesses. A “non-established business” is a business that does not have a registered establishment in Serbia. A non-established business that makes supplies of goods or services in Serbia can appoint a VAT representative (legal entity or individual) to register for VAT if it is liable to account for Serbian VAT on the supplies. The VAT representative must be resident in Serbia. The VAT representative, however, is not able to recover any of the Serbian VAT incurred. Appointing a VAT representative is not a usual practice in Serbia.

A non-established business that does not make any supplies of goods or services in Serbia may claim a VAT refund, under prescribed conditions.

Tax representatives. According to Serbian tax regulations, a tax representative appointed in the Republic of Serbia by a foreign entity which does not have legal presence in the Republic of Serbia is considered to be a tax debtor for VAT purposes. In case the foreign entity fails to appoint a tax representative, recipient of the goods/services will be considered as a tax debtor for VAT purposes.

Reverse charge. According to Serbian tax legislation, reverse-charge mechanism is applied for services rendered by foreign service provider for which the place of supply is Serbia, if foreign service provider does not appoint a tax representative in Serbia.

Further, reverse charge applies on sale of secondary raw materials and services that are directly related to these goods provided by another VAT taxpayer.

Finally, reverse charge also applies in some specific situations of construction services and transfer of real estates.

Registration procedures. A registration form is filed by the taxpayer. After conducting the appropriate procedure, tax authorities will issue a certificate of VAT registration. The VAT registration form cannot be filed electronically.

Late-registration penalties. If a taxpayer's VAT-able turnover exceeds RSD8 million in the previous 12 months, the taxpayer is obliged to submit a VAT registration form no later than the end of the first period for submitting a VAT return.

If a taxpayer who is a legal entity fails to submit the registration form, a fine ranging from RSD100,000 to RSD2 million will apply. Also, a responsible person within the legal entity will be fined in the amount from RSD10,000 to RSD100,000 in case of relevant offense. If legal entity submits the registration form after the prescribed deadline, penalties of RSD100,000 may be imposed. Also, a responsible person within the legal entity will be fined in the amount of RSD10,000 in case of said offense.

Digital economy. Not applicable.

Deregistration. A VAT taxpayer whose VAT-able turnover is below RSD8 million in the previous 12 months may submit a request for VAT de-registration. This request must contain information about the date when the taxpayer ceased to perform VAT activities, and it should be submitted to tax authorities within the calendar month in which said cessation has occurred. Request for deregistration is submitted on a ZBPDV form. After conducting the appropriate procedure, and if the taxpayer's prior obligations arising from VAT are settled, tax authorities issue a certificate of VAT deregistration on PBPDV form.

D. VAT rates

The term "taxable supplies" refers to supplies of goods and services except for exempt supplies.

The use of goods or services purchased or produced in the course of a business activity for private purposes constitutes a taxable supply.

Serbia's VAT rates are as follows:

- Standard rate: 20%
- Reduced rate: 10% (increased from 8% on 1 January 2014)
- Zero rate (0%)

The standard rate (20%) applies to all supplies of goods and services unless a specific provision allows for a reduced rate, zero rate or exemption.

The reduced rate of 10% applies to the supply of medicines and medical care devices (e.g., prosthesis), and to the supply of a wide range of food products and other goods and services.

The zero rate applies to exported goods, international transportation services and related supplies, as well as to supplies of goods and services relating to aircrafts and ships used in international traffic and to other goods and services.

The term “exempt supplies” refers to supplies of goods and services that are not subject to VAT and that do not give rise to an input VAT deduction.

Examples of exempt goods and services

- Properties (except for first-time transfer of ownership)
- Rental of flats if used for housing
- Financial services
- Insurance services
- Postal services
- Education services
- Religious services
- Printing and sale of publications
- Public broadcasting services (except those with commercial character)

Option to tax for exempt supplies. The second and every other transfer of ownership of buildings and building units is not subject to VAT but to non-recoverable transfer tax. However, it is possible that the buyer and the seller (as registered VAT taxpayers) instead opt for application of VAT, provided that the buyer is entitled to fully recover VAT deriving from that supply.

E. Time of supply

A supply of goods is considered to be performed on the date when the dispatch or transport of goods starts or on the date when ownership of goods is transferred to the buyer, if transport is not included. Time of supply of imported goods is considered to be the date on which the goods arrive in Serbian customs territory.

Services are considered to be provided on the date when the provision of the individual service is finished or when the legal basis for the provision of time limited or time unlimited service is finished. Apart from this, if periodical invoices are issued for the service, supply of that service is considered finished on the last day of the tax period for which that invoice relates. If the payment is made before the delivery of goods or services, the moment of supply is the moment when the payment is made. Special rules apply to construction companies.

Cash accounting. Since 1 January 2013, small- and medium-sized enterprises with an annual turnover of less than RSD50 million may opt to pay VAT after they have received payment.

Imported goods. VAT upon importation is due once the goods are placed in Serbian customs territory, unless the goods are placed in some of the suspension customs regimes.

F. Recovery of VAT by taxable persons

A taxable person may recover input tax, which is VAT charged on goods and services supplied to the person for business purposes. A taxable person generally recovers input tax by deducting it from output tax, which is VAT charged on supplies made.

Input tax includes VAT charged on goods and services supplied in Serbia, VAT paid on imports of goods and VAT applied to reverse-charge services.

Nondeductible input tax. The following list provides examples of items of expenditure for which input tax is not deductible (this list is not exhaustive):

- In many cases, expenditures related to acquisition and import of cars, boats, yachts, motorcycles, aircraft, fuel and spare parts, as well as services related to their maintenance and storage
- Expenditure related to representation
- Expenditure related to the acquisition or import of carpets, radios, TVs, household electrical appliances, artwork and other decorative items that are used for office premises

Partial exemption. If acquired goods or services are used partly for purposes of taxable supplies and partly for VAT-exempt supplies, the taxable person may not deduct input VAT totally. This situation is known as “partial exemption.” The taxpayer should divide that part of the input VAT relating to taxable supplies and that which does not relate to taxable supplies, based on the economic background of supply. If this is not possible, then the calculation of the amount of input tax that may be recovered is made on a pro-rata basis by using the following formula:

$$\text{Amount of deductible input VAT} \times \frac{\text{taxable turnover} + \text{exports}}{\text{taxable turnover} + \text{exports} + \text{exempt supplies}}$$

Total turnover, which is the divisor in the above equation, is the turnover executed from 1 January of the current year until the end of the tax period for which the VAT return is submitted.

Capital goods. Capital goods are facilities and equipment that are used in a business over several years. Input tax is generally deducted in the VAT year in which the goods are acquired. The amount of input tax recovered depends on the taxpayer’s partial exemption recovery position in the VAT year of acquisition. However, the amount of input tax recovered for capital goods must be adjusted if the taxpayer’s partial exemption recovery percentage changes in the period of five years from the first usage of the equipment, ten years from the first usage of the facilities and ten years from finishing the investment in the facilities.

A capital goods adjustment applies for a period represented in the difference between the aforementioned periods (five/ten years) and the period in which the taxpayer had the right to deduct input VAT. Exceptionally, the taxpayer does not have an obligation to adjust input VAT on the capital goods in the case of disposal of the equipment and facilities that may be considered as a functional unit.

Refunds. If the input VAT is higher than the output VAT, the taxpayer has a right to obtain a refund or to use this amount as a tax credit.

The refund should be performed, at the latest, 45 days after the deadline for submission of the tax return for the current period (or 15 days after the deadline for the taxpayers who mostly perform supply of goods abroad). The tax administration is liable to pay interest on delayed tax reimbursements at the same rate of penalty interest that applies to taxpayers for late payments of VAT (see Section I. VAT returns and payments).

Preregistration costs. This occurs in the tax period in which the supply of goods with the right to deduct input VAT was performed.

The VAT payer may deduct input VAT for the goods purchased within 12 months before starting to performing VAT-able activities and which are in its possession on said day, under fulfilling prescribed conditions.

G. Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses

Non-established businesses may obtain refunds of VAT incurred in Serbia solely if they do not perform any supply of goods or services in Serbia, except for international transportation services, and under the terms of reciprocity. The refund request is submitted annually, and the deadline for submission is 30 June for the purchases made in previous year.

H. Invoicing

VAT invoices and credit notes. A taxpayer must provide a VAT invoice for all taxable supplies made, including exports. The invoice must comply with the requirements set out in the VAT law. A VAT credit note may be used to reduce the VAT charged on a supply of goods or services – if the buyer is a VAT taxpayer, confirmation on correction of input VAT is required; a debit note may be used to increase the amount of VAT. Tax credit and debit notes must be cross-referenced to the original VAT invoice.

Proof of exports. An export declaration with confirmation that the goods have left Serbian territory is required.

Foreign-currency invoices. A Serbian VAT invoice for domestic supplies must be issued in Serbian dinars (RSD). If an invoice is received in a foreign currency, the amounts must be converted into RSD. The exchange rate used for imports is determined by customs, while the exchange rate for domestic VAT supplies is the middle exchange rate published by the National Bank of Serbia or the agreed exchange rate applicable on the date when the tax obligation takes place.

I. VAT returns and payments

VAT returns. The tax period is a calendar month or a quarter depending on the total turnover of the particular taxpayer in the last 12 months (if turnover exceeds RSD50 million).

Monthly VAT payers must submit the tax return by the 15th day of the month following the tax period, while quarterly payers must submit the tax return within 20 days after the expiration of the tax period.

The deadline for VAT payment is the same as the deadline for the filing of VAT returns. The VAT payable by a taxpayer for a tax period equals the VAT on the total taxable value of supplies made during the tax period minus any input VAT allowed as a deduction.

Special schemes. The VAT payer whose total turnover in the previous 12 months is not more than RSD50 million may opt for reporting and paying the VAT once the receivables are collected (whereby input VAT is also reported once the payables are settled). VAT is also due if the payment is not received within six months after the supply was performed. Certain types of supplies, prescribed by the law are exempt of the application of this “collection system.”

Electronic filing and archiving. Since 1 January 2014, the submission of a VAT tax return, as well as the submission of an amended VAT return, is completed electronically. The return is submitted on the prescribed PPPDV form.

Annual returns. Not applicable.

J. Penalties

Tax offenses are regulated within the Law on Tax Procedure and Tax Administration. For VAT relevant offenses, the following penalties may be applied:

Penalties range from 10% to 100% of the unpaid VAT or at least in the RSD250,000 to RSD500,000 for legal entities and RSD50,000 to RSD100,000 for entrepreneurs.

Penalties in fixed nominal amounts range from RSD100,000 to RSD200,000 for legal entities and RSD100,000 to RSD500,000 for entrepreneurs.

Penalties range from RSD10,000 to RSD100,000 for the responsible person within a legal entity.

Seychelles

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Mahe

GMT +4

EY

Level 2, Pirates Arms Building,
 P.O Box 1289,
 Victoria, Mahe,
 Seychelles

Tax contacts

Oliver Bastienne

+248 422-4889

oliver.bastienne@sc.ey.com

Khothai Pillay

+248 422-4889

khothai.pillay@sc.ey.com

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Value-added tax (VAT)
Date introduced	1 January 2013
Trading bloc membership	Common Market for Eastern and Southern Africa Member, Southern African Development Community Member
Administered by	Seychelles Revenue Commission (SRC)
VAT rates
Standard	15%
Other	Zero-rated and exempt
VAT number format	Not applicable
VAT return periods
Monthly	Annual amount of taxable supplies exceeds SCR2 million (Compulsory Registration)
Quarterly	Annual amount of taxable supplies is SCR2 million or less (Voluntary Registration)
Thresholds
Registration	Compulsory registration for businesses exceeding SCR2 million of taxable supplies for any 12-month period.
Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses	No

B. Scope of the tax

VAT applies to the following transactions:

- The supply of goods or services made in Seychelles by taxable persons
- Reverse-charge services received by taxable persons in Seychelles
- The importation of goods from outside Seychelles

C. Who is liable

A taxable person is any entity or person that is required to be registered for VAT.

VAT registration is compulsory for any person or entity if the taxable supplies for any 12-month period exceed SCR2 million, the threshold effective 1 January 2015 (reduced from SCR3 million).

Taxable supply means a supply, other than an exempt supply, made in Seychelles by a person in the course of furtherance of an enterprise.

In determining whether a person exceeds the SCR2 million threshold for a 12-month period, the value of the following taxable supplies is ignored:

- A taxable supply by way of the sale of a capital asset of a person
- A taxable supply made solely as a consequence of the person selling the whole or a part of the person's enterprise or permanently ceasing to carry on the person's enterprise

An entity or person who intends to make taxable supplies below the SCR2 million annual threshold can opt for voluntary registration.

Exemption from registration. A taxable person whose turnover is exclusively exempt from VAT may not apply for registration.

Voluntary registration. A taxpayer may register for VAT voluntarily if its taxable turnover is below the VAT registration threshold. A person may also register for VAT voluntarily in advance of making taxable supplies.

Group registration. Not applicable.

Reverse charge. If a nonresident person supplies services to a VAT-registered person that are performed or used in Seychelles, the VAT-registered person must account for the VAT due under "reverse charge" accounting; that is, the registered person must charge itself VAT, but only to the extent the taxable person would not have been entitled to a credit for the full amount of input tax paid if the recipient had acquired the services in a creditable acquisition. This measure does not apply to supplies that are exempt from VAT under the Seychelles VAT law.

Registration procedures. Registration can be compulsory or voluntary. Taxable persons must register with the Seychelles Revenue Commission at the beginning of the 12-month period if there are reasonable grounds to believe that the person will exceed the compulsory registration threshold during that period. A registration form should be completed and signed by an authorized person of the business and submitted to the Seychelles Revenue Commission in hard copy. The registration process takes an average of one week, upon which the SRC will issue a VAT registration certificate.

A business that does not expect to exceed the threshold may register voluntarily. Once registered, it must make taxable supplies, have a fixed place of business in Seychelles where the enterprise is conducted, keep proper records of the enterprise and comply with all other regulations.

Late-registration penalties and interest. A penalty applies to late registration. An additional tax equal to double the amount of VAT payable for the period commencing on the day on which the person was first required to apply for registration and ending on the day the person lodges an application for registration.

Non-established businesses. Non-VAT registered businesses will not be able to charge VAT on its taxable supplies nor recover input VAT on its purchases and expenses.

Tax representatives. A nonresident person who is required to apply for VAT registration, but who does not carry out an enterprise through a fixed place in Seychelles, must appoint a VAT representative in Seychelles. The VAT representative is responsible for applying for registration, furnishing of VAT returns and payment of VAT.

Digital economy. Not applicable.

Deregistration. A registered person who ceases to make taxable supplies should apply for deregistration within seven days of the date on which the person ceased to make taxable supplies. The person must write to the Revenue commissioner, SRC, who determines the effective date of deregistration.

D. VAT rates

In Seychelles, the term “taxable supplies” refers to supplies of goods and services that are liable to a rate of VAT, including the zero rate.

The VAT rates are:

- Standard rate 15%
- Zero rate (0%)

The standard rate of VAT applies to all supplies of goods or services, unless a specific measure provides for a zero rate or an exemption.

Examples of goods and services taxable at 0%

- Rice
- Sugar, salt
- Meat, fish
- Vegetables and fruits
- Lentils
- Edible oils
- Newspapers, magazines, journals and periodicals
- Infant foods
- Export of goods and services

The term “exempt supplies” refers to supplies of goods and services that are not liable to tax and that do not give rise to a right of input tax deduction.

Examples of exempt supplies of goods and services

- Supply of financial services by a financial institution as defined as per the Financial Institutions Act
- Supply of education services
- Supply of life insurance premiums or reinsurance contract
- Supply of government hospital, medical and dental services

- Supply of internationally donated goods or services to a non-profit body

Option to tax for exempt supplies. Not applicable.

E. Time of supply

The time when VAT becomes due is called the “time of supply” or “tax point.” The tax point under the Seychelles law is the earlier of the receipt of payment or the issuance of an invoice or VAT invoice.

Deposits and prepayments. The receipt of a deposit or prepayment normally creates an actual tax point if the amount is paid in the expectation that it will form part of the total payment for a particular supply. A tax point is created only to the extent of the payment received.

Imported goods. The time of supply for imported goods is the time when the goods are removed from customs.

Goods sent on approval or for sale or return. The tax point for goods sent on approval or for sale or return is the earlier of the issuance of an invoice or VAT invoice or when payment is received.

Continuous supplies of services. If services are supplied continuously, a tax point is created each time a payment is made or an invoice or VAT invoice is issued, whichever occurs earlier.

Reverse-charge services. The tax point for reverse-charge services is when the consideration for the services is paid. If the consideration for the services is not in money, the tax point is the last day of the VAT period during which the services are performed.

F. Recovery of VAT by taxable persons

A taxable person may recover input tax, which is VAT charged on goods and services supplied to it for business purposes. A taxable person generally recovers input tax by deducting it from output tax, which is VAT charged on supplies made.

A valid VAT invoice or customs import declaration must generally support a claim for input tax.

Input tax on expenditure incurred before registration is not generally allowable.

Nondeductible input tax. Input tax may not be recovered on purchases of goods and services that are not used for business purposes (for example, goods acquired for private use by an entrepreneur). In addition, input tax may not be recovered for some items of business expenditure.

The following lists provide examples of items of expenditure for which input tax is not deductible and examples of items for which input tax is deductible if the expenditure is related to a taxable business use.

Examples of items for which input tax is nondeductible

- Purchase, repair or maintenance of passenger vehicle
- Accommodation

- Membership or entrance to sporting, social or recreational club
- Expenditure for the personal benefit of company directors

Examples of items for which input tax is deductible
(if related to a taxable business use)

- Telephone and internet expenses
- Goods imported for business purposes
- Services purchased locally for business purpose with a valid VAT invoice

Partial exemption. Input tax directly related to making exempt supplies is not recoverable. If a taxable person makes both exempt and taxable supplies, it may not recover input tax in full. This situation is referred to as “partial exemption.” The business needs to know what the relative share of its taxable supplies on its turnover is to be able to determine the proportion of input tax claimable as a credit. Only the VAT incurred on goods and services for making of taxable supplies is deductible. In such a case, the input tax credit needs to be apportioned using the below formula:

$$a \times b/c$$

where:

- ‘a’ is the total amount of input tax incurred from the purchase and expense used for both the taxable and exempted supply
- ‘b’ is the value of all taxable supplies made
- ‘c’ is the value of all supplies made by the taxable person during the VAT period in Seychelles

However, if:

- b/c is more than 0.90, the taxable person is allowed credit on the whole value of the input tax
- b/c is less than 0.10, the taxable person is not allowed any input tax credit on the whole value of input tax

The above rule mainly concerns:

- Traders that sell both taxable and exempted goods
- Construction companies that build commercial buildings (taxable) and individual dwellings (exempted)
- DMCs that supply their own services (taxable) and buy-in to resell accommodation of transportation tickets (commissions are exempted)
- Insurance companies that supply general insurance as well as car insurance (taxable) and life or health insurance (exempted)

Capital goods scheme. Not applicable.

VAT refunds. If the amount of input tax (VAT on purchases) recoverable in a period is greater than the amount of output tax due (VAT on sales) for the period, a refund may be claimed where:

- VAT credit has been carried forward for two consecutive VAT periods and exceeds SCR10,000 at the end of the third VAT period by a compulsorily registered taxable person
- A VAT credit exceeding SCR10,000 is reported on the quarterly return by a voluntarily registered taxable person
- A VAT credit exceeding SCR10,000 is reported on a monthly VAT return by an exporter, supplier of zero-rated goods or services

Effective 1 September 2014, the statutory period to process any VAT refund was reduced from 45 to 30 days.

G. Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses

Seychelles does not refund VAT to businesses that are not established in Seychelles.

H. Invoicing

VAT invoices and credit notes. Taxable persons must provide VAT invoices for all taxable supplies made to other registered persons in Seychelles.

A VAT invoice is necessary to support a claim for input tax deduction or a refund.

A VAT credit note may be used to reduce the VAT charged and reclaimed on a supply. The credit note must reflect a genuine mistake, an overcharge or an agreed reduction in the value of the original supply.

Foreign-currency invoices. If an invoice or a VAT invoice is issued in a foreign currency, the VAT due must be converted into Seychelles rupees using the mid exchange rate published by the Central Bank of Seychelles at the time of the issuance of the invoice.

Proof of exports. The proof of exports would normally be the invoice, packing list and bill of lading with respect to the export of goods.

I. VAT returns and payment

VAT returns. VAT returns are submitted either quarterly or monthly. The quarterly return periods end in March, June, September and December, which are applicable only to voluntarily registered persons. Monthly VAT return submissions are applicable to compulsorily registered persons. Returns must be submitted within 21 days after the tax period. VAT payments must also be made within 21 days after the tax period.

Special schemes. Not applicable.

Electronic filing and archiving. An electronic filing system is under development by the Seychelles Revenue Commission.

Annual returns. Not applicable.

J. Penalties

Penalties and interest for the late submission of a VAT return vary by the size of the business as follows:

- In case of small business (less than SCR1 million turnover), SCR500 plus SCR50 for each week or part of the week the return is not furnished
- In case of medium business (SCR1 to 50 million turnover), SCR1,000 plus SCR100 for each week or part of the week the return is not furnished
- In case of large business (above SCR50 million turnover), SCR5,000 and SCR500 for each week or part of the week the return is not furnished

For late payment of VAT, the rate of interest for penalty is the quarterly average prime lending rate on the first day the tax was due, increased by three percentage points.

An additional tax will be due if the taxpayer fails to pay the VAT due after the extended due date, at the rate of 10% of the amount of unpaid VAT.

Singapore

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Singapore

GMT +8

EY

One Raffles Quay
North Tower, Level 18
Singapore 048583
Singapore

Indirect tax contacts

Kai Eng Yeo	+65 6309-8208 kai.eng.yeo@sg.ey.com
Bing Keong Kor	+65 6309-8606 bing-keong.kor@sg.ey.com

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Goods and services tax (GST)
Date introduced	1 April 1994
Trading bloc membership	None
Administered by	Inland Revenue Authority of Singapore (IRAS) (http://www.iras.gov.sg)
GST rates
Standard	7%
Other	Zero-rated (0%) and exempt
GST number format
Local	M2-1234567-8, MR-1234567-8 and 19-9012345-X
Nonresident	F2-1234567-D
GST return periods	Quarterly Monthly (optional, subject to approval by GST Comptroller) Semiannual (voluntary, subject to approval by GST Comptroller)
Thresholds
Registration	SGD1 million
Recovery of GST by non-established businesses	No (unless the non-established business is registered for GST in Singapore)

B. Scope of the tax

GST applies to the following transactions:

- Taxable supplies of goods and services in Singapore, made in the course of a business by a taxable person
- Imports of goods into Singapore

C. Who is liable

A taxable person is a person who is registered or is required to be registered for GST.

Compulsory registration. The GST registration threshold is SGD1 million. For compulsory registration, the threshold applies in the following ways:

- Retrospectively: registration is required if, at the end of any quarter, the value of taxable supplies in that quarter and the preceding three quarters exceeds SGD1 million. However, registration is not required if the Comptroller of GST (the Comptroller) is satisfied that the value of taxable supplies in the following four quarters is not expected to exceed SGD1 million.
- Prospectively: registration is required if at any time reasonable grounds exist for believing that the value of taxable supplies in the next 12 months is expected to exceed SGD1 million.

Under the first test above, a business must notify the Comptroller within 30 days after the end of the relevant quarter. Under the second test, a business must notify the Comptroller within 30 days after the beginning of the relevant period.

Voluntary registration. If the value of taxable supplies made by a business is below the registration limit, the business may register for GST voluntarily. A business that registers for GST voluntarily must remain registered for at least two years unless otherwise allowed by the Comptroller.

Under the GST law, “taxable supply” is defined as a supply of goods or services made in Singapore other than an exempt supply. Based on this definition, businesses that make wholly exempt supplies would not be eligible for GST registration. However, the GST Act allows a person that is not liable to be registered to apply for voluntary registration if it makes exempt supplies of financial services (as specified in Paragraph 1 of the Fourth Schedule to the GST Act) if the services would have qualified as international services if they were made by a taxable person.

In addition, a person who is not liable for GST registration may also apply for voluntary registration if the person makes or intends to make the following supplies:

- Supplies outside Singapore that would be taxable supplies if made in Singapore
- Supplies that are disregarded for GST purposes under the warehousing regime or Approved Contract Manufacturer and Trader Scheme and that would otherwise be taxable supplies

However, a person in the above scenarios must satisfy both of the following conditions:

- He or she must have a business establishment in Singapore or have his or her usual place of residence in Singapore.
- He or she does not make or intend to make taxable supplies.

Group registration. Businesses that are under “common control” may apply to register as a GST group. Each member must be individually registered for GST. After group members are registered as a GST group, they are treated as a single taxable person and submit a single GST return. Supplies made between members within the same GST group are disregarded for GST purposes. Group members are jointly and severally liable for all GST liabilities.

A person that is not resident in Singapore or does not have an established place of business in Singapore may be part of the GST group if certain criteria are satisfied. If the GST group includes a person not resident in Singapore or not having an established place of business in Singapore, the representative member must satisfy additional criteria.

Divisional registration. If a taxable person carries on more than one business or operates several divisions, the person may apply to the Comptroller to register any of the businesses or divisions separately. Divisional registrations ease the GST administration for such businesses. On approval, each division is given a separate GST registration number and submits its own GST return. Supplies made between divisions within the divisional registration are disregarded for GST purposes.

Exemption from registration. A taxable person that makes substantially zero-rated supplies may request exemption from registration. Approval is subject to the Comptroller's discretion.

However, if any material change occurs with respect to the nature of supplies or proportion of zero-rated supplies, the taxable person is required to notify the Comptroller within 30 days after the date of the change or, if no particular date is identifiable as the date of the change, within 30 days after the end of the quarter in which the change occurred.

Deregistration. A business that ceases operations must cancel its GST registration. A business that must deregister must notify the GST authorities within 30 days after ceasing to make taxable supplies.

A taxable person whose value of taxable supplies is not expected to exceed SGD1 million in the next 12 months may request deregistration from GST.

Non-established businesses. A "non-established business" is a business that has no business or fixed establishment in Singapore. A business that is not established in Singapore must register for GST if it makes taxable supplies exceeding the registration threshold of SGD1million.

Tax representatives. A non-established business must appoint a local tax representative to register for GST.

Registration procedures. To register for GST in Singapore, businesses need to complete and submit the form GST F1, "Application for GST Registration," together with the required supporting documents to the Comptroller of GST.

For partnership businesses applying for GST registration in Singapore, an additional form, GST F3, "Notification of Liability to be Registered: Details of All Partnerships and Partners," together with form GST F1, must be completed and submitted to the Comptroller of GST.

For an overseas business with no establishment in Singapore and who makes taxable supplies in Singapore, the overseas business must appoint a local agent to be responsible for all its GST matters in Singapore such as collecting GST on local taxable supplies made and timely filing of GST returns.

An application for GST registration is typically processed in about two weeks. In addition, for businesses applying for voluntary GST registration, the sole proprietor, partner, director or trustee of the business is required to complete an e-learning course, “GST - Before I Register” and its quiz before applying for the voluntary GST registration.

Businesses can apply for GST registration online via myTax Portal if the relevant personnel has been authorized to use the IRAS website’s e-services.

Late-registration penalties. Penalties are imposed for failure to register for GST, late payment of GST, late submission of GST returns, and the submission of incorrect returns.

GST schemes. A variety of schemes are available to assist businesses to ease the administrative burden associated with GST compliance, as well as to improve cash flow. These schemes include the Major Exporter Scheme (MES), the Approved Contract Manufacturer and Trader Scheme (ACMT), the Approved Third Party Logistics (3PL) Company Scheme, the Import GST Deferment Scheme (IGDS), the Approved Marine Customer Scheme (AMCS) and the Specialised Warehouse Scheme (SWS). The AMCS and SWS are both effective from 1 October 2011.

Reverse charge. Not applicable.

Digital economy. Supplies of goods or services in Singapore via the Internet or any other electronic media does not alter the taxability of the transaction.

D. GST rates

The term “taxable supplies” refers to supplies of goods and services that are liable to GST, including supplies that qualify for zero rating relief (subject to GST at 0%). The term “exempt supplies” refers to supplies of goods and services that are exempt from GST. Exempt supplies may give rise to a restriction on the input tax (see Section F).

The standard rate of GST in Singapore is 7%. The standard rate of GST applies to all supplies of goods or services, unless the supplies qualify for zero rating relief or exemption.

Exports of goods and international services are zero-rated. International services that qualify for zero rating are specifically listed in the GST Act. Exempt supplies include the sale or lease of residential property, financial transactions listed in the Fourth Schedule to the GST Act and the importation or supply of investment precious metals.

Option to tax for exempt supplies. Not applicable.

E. Time of supply

The time when GST becomes due is called the “time of supply” or “tax point.”

Before 1 January 2011, in general, the time of supply for goods was the earliest of the following events:

- The date on which the goods were removed or, if not to be removed, were made available
- The date of issuance of a tax invoice
- The date of receipt of payment

Before 1 January 2011, in general, the time of supply for services was the earliest of the following events:

- The date on which the service was performed
- The date of issuance of a tax invoice
- The date of receipt of payment

However, if the supplier issued a tax invoice within 14 days after delivering goods or performing a service, the time of supply became the date on which the invoice was issued, provided no payment had been received before either the removal of the goods or the performance of the services (also known as the “14-day rule”).

Effective from 1 January 2011, the general time-of-supply rules are simplified. The new time of supply for both goods and services is generally the earliest of the following events:

- The date of issuance of an invoice
- The date of receipt of payment

As a result of the simplification of the general time-of-supply rules, the 14-day rule is also removed.

However, exceptions to the above time-of-supply rules exist.

Imported goods. The time of supply for imported goods is either the date of importation, or the date on which the goods leave a duty suspension regime or free-trade zone.

F. Recovery of GST by taxable persons

A taxable person may recover the GST incurred on its expenses as input tax if the input tax is incurred in the making of taxable supplies or certain prescribed supplies. Input tax refers to GST incurred on goods and services supplied to the taxable person or goods imported into Singapore by the taxable person that are used or to be used for the purpose of any business carried on or to be carried on by the taxable person. A taxable person generally recovers input tax through its GST returns, by deducting it from output tax, which is GST charged on supplies made.

A valid tax invoice or import permit must be held to support a claim for input tax.

A taxable person is required to repay to the IRAS any input tax claimed for which payment has not been made to the supplier for more than 12 months from the due date of the payment.

Non deductible input tax. Input tax may not be recovered on purchases of goods and services that are not used for business purposes (for example, goods acquired for private use by a taxable person). In addition, input tax may not be recovered for some items of business expenditure. The following lists provide some examples of items of expenditure for which input tax is not deductible and examples of items for which input tax is deductible if the expenditure is related to a taxable business use.

Examples of items for which input tax is nondeductible

- Purchases used for nonbusiness purposes
- Purchase, lease, hire, maintenance and running costs of private motor cars
- Recreational club subscriptions

Examples of items for which input tax is deductible
(if related to a taxable business use)

- Advertising
- Purchase of inventory
- Purchase, lease, hire and maintenance of trucks and vans
- Business entertainment
- Attendance at conferences

Partial exemption. Input tax directly related to making exempt supplies is generally not recoverable. If a taxable person makes both exempt and taxable supplies, the person may not recover input tax in full. This situation is referred to as “partial exemption.” Zero-rated supplies are treated as taxable supplies for these purposes.

Unless otherwise approved by the Comptroller, partial exemption recovery is calculated in the following two stages:

- The first stage identifies the input tax that may be directly attributable to taxable and to exempt supplies. Input tax directly attributable to taxable supplies is deductible (unless specifically not deductible under the GST Act), while input tax directly related to making exempt supplies is generally not deductible (subject to exceptions).
- The second stage identifies the amount of the remaining input tax (for example, input tax on general business overhead) that may be allocated to taxable supplies and recovered. The calculation may be performed using the ratio of the value of taxable supplies over the value of total supplies (that is, taxable and exempt supplies), or it may be based on a special calculation agreed to with the Comptroller.

Notwithstanding the above provisions, if the value of a taxable person’s exempt supplies for an accounting period does not exceed both the average of SGD40,000 per month and does not exceed 5% of the total value of taxable and exempt supplies made in that accounting period, the input tax relating to the exempt supplies is treated as entirely attributable to taxable supplies. The GST Act provides relief for certain businesses to be treated as fully taxable if they make only certain types of exempt supplies.

Refunds. If the amount of input tax recoverable in a GST period exceeds the output tax in the same period, the excess is refundable. Refunds are generally made within three months after the date on which the Comptroller receives the GST return. If a taxable person submits monthly returns, the refund is generally made within one month from the date of receipt.

Interest at the prime lending rate is payable on the amount of any GST refund that is outstanding. Interest is calculated from the date on which the refund is due from the GST authorities.

Preregistration costs. Subject to certain conditions prescribed under the GST (General) Regulations, businesses may claim the GST incurred on business expenses incurred prior to its effective date of GST registration in its first GST return. Businesses are required to self-review their eligibility for the claims. Generally, GST incurred on expenses such as rental and utilities prior to the date of GST registration are not claimable because they are considered to be goods already consumed.

G. Recovery of GST by non-established businesses

Singapore does not refund GST incurred by non-established businesses that are not registered for GST in Singapore. Non-established businesses that are registered for GST may obtain a refund of GST only through the filing of GST returns.

H. Invoicing

Tax invoices and credit notes. A taxable person must issue a tax invoice for standard-rated supplies made to another taxable person within 30 days from the time of supply. A simplified tax invoice may be issued if the amount payable (including GST) does not exceed SGD1,000. The information required to be shown on a tax invoice and a simplified tax invoice is prescribed by the GST law.

A tax invoice is necessary to support a claim for input tax credit.

A credit note may be used to reduce the GST charged and reclaimed on a supply of goods or services if a valid adjustment has been made. The document must contain generally the same information as a tax invoice, as well as the amount of tax credited, and it must refer to the date and number of the original tax invoice for the supply. If the date and number of the original tax invoice for the supply cannot be traced or identified, the taxable person must be able to satisfy the Comptroller by other means that the person has accounted for tax on the original supply.

Proof of exports. Exports of goods are zero-rated for GST purposes if they are supported by evidence confirming the departure of the goods from Singapore. The evidence required includes the following documents:

- Export permit
- Bill of lading or airway bill
- Original invoice

Foreign-currency invoices. If a tax invoice is issued in a foreign currency, the total amount payable before GST, the GST chargeable, and the total amount payable including GST must be converted to the Singapore dollar equivalent. The foreign currency must be converted to the Singapore dollar equivalent based on the selling rate of exchange prevailing at the time of supply. In practice, the Comptroller allows companies to apply the daily exchange rates (that is, the buying or selling rate, or the average of the two) of any banks operating in Singapore, or the exchange rates published by Singapore Customs. The Comptroller allows businesses to adopt their in-house exchange rates if the rates satisfy the following conditions:

- They are reflective of the Singapore money market at the relevant date. For example, exchange rates obtained from local banks, Singapore Customs, locally circulated newspapers, reputable news agencies and foreign central banks without exchange controls are acceptable to the IRAS.

- They are the daily buying rates, average of the buying and selling rates, or a good approximation of the daily exchange rates, corresponding to the time of supply.
- They are updated at least once every three months.
- They are consistently used for internal business reporting, accounting and GST purposes.
- They are used consistently for at least one year from the end of the accounting period in which the method was first used.

If the exchange rates used by businesses do not comply with these conditions, it is necessary for the companies involved to seek the Comptroller's approval of the use of an acceptable exchange rate.

I. GST returns and payment

GST returns. Taxable persons generally file GST returns quarterly. However, taxable persons that receive regular refunds of GST may seek approval to file their returns monthly, to ease cash flow. Effective from 1 January 2007, all newly registered businesses must file GST returns electronically.

The GST return, together with payment in full, are due one month following the end of the return period.

J. Penalties

A penalty of 5% of the tax due is assessed for late payment of GST. If the amount remains outstanding after 60 days, an additional penalty is assessed, equal to 2% of the tax due for each month, up to a maximum of 50% of the unpaid tax.

A penalty of SGD200 per completed month is assessed for the late submission of a GST return, up to a maximum penalty of SGD10,000.

Sint Maarten

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Please direct all inquiries regarding Sint Maarten to the following persons in the Curaçao office:

- ▶ Bryan D. Irausquin: +599 (9) 430-5075; bryan.irausquin@an.ey.com
- ▶ Cristina L. de Freitas Brás: +599 (9) 430-5070; cristina.de.freitas@an.ey.com
- ▶ Zahayra S. E. de Lain: +599 (9) 430-5080; zahayra.de-lain@an.ey.com
- ▶ Clarion C. Taylor: +599 (9) 430-5077; clarion.taylor@an.ey.com
- ▶ Ron L. van der Born: +599 (9) 430-5076; ron.van-der-born@an.ey.com
- ▶ Suhena Z. Neuman: +599 (9) 430-5059; suhena.neuman@an.ey.com
- ▶ Kimberly N. Schreuders: +599 (9) 430-5073; kimberly.schreuders@an.ey.com

Effective 10 October 2010, the Netherlands Antilles was dissolved. Sint Maarten became an autonomous country within the Kingdom of the Netherlands and now has its own laws and regulations.

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Revenue tax (RT)
Local name	Belasting op bedrijfsomzetten
Date introduced	1 January 1997
Trading bloc membership	None
Administered by	Inspectie der Belastingen
RT rates
Standard	5%
Other	Exempt
RT number format	4XX.XXX.XXX (9 digits)
RT return periods	Monthly (annually on request)
Thresholds	None
Recovery of RT by non-established business	No

B. Scope of the tax

The Revenue Tax (RT) applies to the following transactions:

- Delivery of goods or services by a local entrepreneur in the course of its business in Sint Maarten
- Delivery of goods or services in Sint Maarten by a foreign entrepreneur in the course of its business

C. Who is liable

An entrepreneur is a business entity or an individual who delivers goods or performs services (engages in taxable activities) in Sint Maarten. In principle, the entrepreneur performing the services or delivering the goods is liable for RT.

Effective from 11 February 2011, the definition of an entrepreneur was broadened. A person who manages an asset to obtain revenue from the asset on a permanent basis also qualifies as an entrepreneur. For example, leasing of real estate located in Sint Maarten became subject to RT, unless an exemption applies. The entrepreneur realizing the revenue is liable to RT.

Before amendments in 2011, the place of services provided by a nonresident entrepreneur was the place where the services were performed. The nonresident entrepreneur providing the services was required to remit the RT. Effective from 11 February 2011, for RT purposes, the place of services provided by a nonresident entrepreneur is now where the services are enjoyed instead of where the services are performed. In principle, the nonresident entrepreneur who provides the services must pay the RT on these services.

Non-established businesses. A “non-established business” is a business that does not have a fixed establishment in Sint Maarten. A non-established business may become liable for RT and accordingly become subject to registration if a permanent establishment is deemed to be present in Sint Maarten. Sint Maarten law does not provide a definition of a permanent establishment.

If goods are delivered by a non-established business and if these goods must be transported for delivery, the place where the transportation originates is considered to be the place of delivery. In other cases, the place of delivery of goods is considered to be the place where the goods are physically located at the moment of delivery.

Special rules apply to E-zone companies, offshore companies and offshore banks.

E-zones. E-zone companies are not liable for RT on their supplies of services or goods to nonresidents.

Offshore companies and offshore banks. Companies and banks that are taxed under the so-called offshore tax regime and hold a foreign-exchange license are generally not liable for RT, because they are excluded from the definition of entrepreneur to the extent that these companies conduct offshore activities. The offshore regime is grandfathered up to and including the year 2019.

Group registration. RT grouping is not allowed under the RT law. Legal business entities that are closely connected must register for RT individually.

Tax representatives. A taxpayer may be represented by a third party based on a power of attorney.

Registration procedures. In general, a taxable entity that begins taxable activities must register with the Inspectorate of Taxes by completing a hard copy questionnaire and providing some additional required documentation. Completion of the registration process may take from one to a few weeks.

Late-registration penalties. In general, an entrepreneur that begins to perform taxable activities must register with the Inspectorate of Taxes. No specific deadline for registration is imposed. In addition, no specific penalty for late registration is imposed. However, if the late registration results in the late payment of RT or the late submission of RT returns, penalties may be imposed.

Reverse-charge mechanism. The nonresident entrepreneur who provides services must in principle pay the RT on these services. For this purpose, a non-established business is deemed to have chosen domicile at the office of the Inspectorate of Taxes.

However, an entrepreneur resident in Sint Maarten for whom the services are performed must pay the RT if the nonresident entrepreneur does not report and remit RT on such services. The entrepreneur resident in Sint Maarten could be held liable for RT not remitted by the nonresident entrepreneur. To avoid noncompliance, the nonresident entrepreneur and the entrepreneur resident in Sint Maarten can file a joint request to apply the reverse-charge mechanism, and the entrepreneur resident in Sint Maarten declares and pays RT.

Digital economy. RT legislation does not specifically mention any regulations in connection with the digital economy.

Deregistration. To deregister with the Inspectorate of Taxes, a taxpayer should provide proof of deregistration as issued by the Sint Maarten Chamber of Commerce and some additional documentation. The deregistration with the Inspectorate of Taxes should be completed once all tax filing and payment obligations have been met by the taxpayer.

D. RT rates

The term “taxable supply” refers to a supply of goods and services that are liable to RT. The term “revenue” refers to all the payments that the entrepreneur receives for the delivery of goods or services in the course of its business, excluding interest.

The standard RT rate of 5% applies to revenue realized from the delivery of taxable supplies, unless a specific measure provides for an exemption.

The term “exempt supply” refers to a supply of goods and services that are not liable to RT.

Examples of exempt supplies of goods and services

- Medical services
- Basic necessities such as bread, milk and sugar
- Water and electricity services
- Transportation services
- Betting and gaming (casino)
- Services to an E-zone entity
- Postal services
- Lease of real estate that is equipped and designated for permanent residence
- Lease income from residences that are primarily and permanently used by individual residents of Sint Maarten

Exports. Revenue realized from supplies of exported goods by an “export entrepreneur” is exempt from RT. However, to qualify for an RT exemption, exports must be supported by evidence that confirms that the goods have left Sint Maarten.

An “export entrepreneur” is an entrepreneur that realizes 50% or more of its total revenue by exporting goods outside Sint Maarten.

Option to tax for exempt supplies. RT legislation does not specifically mention any regulations in connection with the option to tax exempt supplies.

E. Time of supply

The time when RT becomes due is called the “time of supply.” The basic time of supply is when the payment for a taxable supply is received.

Alternatively, on request, the time of supply occurs on the date on which the invoice is issued. In Sint Maarten, an invoice must be issued within 15 days following the end of the month in which the supply or service is performed.

Imported goods. RT legislation does not specifically mention any regulations in connection with imported goods.

F. Recovery of RT by taxable persons

RT may not be recovered in Sint Maarten.

G. Recovery of RT by non-established businesses

RT may not be recovered in Sint Maarten.

H. Invoicing

RT invoices and credit notes. An entrepreneur must provide an invoice for all taxable supplies made, including exports.

Taxable entrepreneurs must retain copies of invoices for 10 years.

An RT credit note must be issued if the quantity or consideration shown on an invoice is altered. In general, credit notes must contain the same information as the original invoices.

Foreign-currency invoices. RT legislation does not specifically mention any regulations in connection with the digital economy.

Electronic invoices. The issuance of electronic invoices is allowed.

Proof of export. To qualify for the RT exemption applicable to the export of goods, the entrepreneur must possess documents that prove the goods have left Sint Maarten. This documentary proof consists of all of the following:

- A copy of the issued invoice with certain specifications
- A proof of payment
- Transport documentation evidencing that the goods have left the levy territory
- A copy of documentation from authorities in the country of destination evidencing that the goods have reached their destination

I. RT returns and payment

RT returns. RT returns are generally submitted for monthly periods. However, if certain circumstances exist, the tax authorities may allow annual periods upon request of an entrepreneur, such as a person who manages an asset to obtain revenue from the asset on a permanent basis. Returns must be filed and RT due must be paid by the 15th day of the month following the end of the reporting period. The RT due over the period must be remitted with the return.

J. Penalties

RT penalties are assessed for the late submission of an RT return or for the late payment of RT, in the following amounts:

- For the late submission of an RT return, the maximum fine is ANG2,500.
- For the late payment of RT, fines ranging from 5% to 15% of the amount of the additional assessment may be imposed, with a maximum fine of ANG10,000.
- For a late payment caused by negligence or dishonest conduct, fines ranging from 25% to 100% of the RT payable may be imposed.

Criminal penalties may also apply in certain circumstances, such as in cases of fraudulent conduct.

Slovak Republic

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Bratislava

GMT +1

EY

Hodzovo namestie 1A
811 06 Bratislava 1
Slovak Republic

Indirect tax contacts

Marian Biž

+421 (2) 3333-9130
marian.biz@sk.ey.com

Juraj Ontko

+421 (2) 3333-9110
juraj.ontko@sk.ey.com

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Value-added tax (VAT)
Local name	Daň z pridanej hodnoty (DPH)
Date introduced	1 January 1993
Trading bloc membership	European Union (EU) Member State
Administered by	Ministry of Finance (www.finance.gov.sk) Financial Directorate (www.financnasprava.sk)
VAT rates
Standard	20%
Reduced	10%
Other	Zero-rated and exempt
VAT number format	SK0123456789
VAT return periods	Monthly (Quarterly period may be requested by some taxpayers with turnover below EUR100,000)
Thresholds
Registration	For non-established persons, registration required before taxable activity commences. For established persons, turnover of EUR49,790 in a maximum period of 12 consecutive calendar months.
Intra-Community acquisitions	EUR14,000 in a calendar year
Distance sales	EUR35,000 in a calendar year
Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses	Yes, if VAT is paid on local sales, or if export supplies or intra-Community supplies are performed; otherwise follow Council Directive 2008/9/EC for VAT refund procedure

B. Scope of the tax

VAT applies to the following transactions:

- The supply of goods effected for consideration in the Slovak Republic by a taxable person acting as such
- The supply of services effected for consideration in the Slovak Republic by a taxable person acting as such
- The acquisition of goods from another EU member state for consideration (see the chapter on the EU)
- The importation of goods

VAT also applies to the following transactions:

- The supply of goods by the VAT payer for the payer's private use or for the private use of the payer's staff, and of goods supplied free of charge or supplied for any purpose other than that of the VAT payer's business, if the input VAT is wholly or partly deductible
- The supply of services carried out by the VAT payer free of charge for the payer's private use, for the private use of the payer's employees or for any purpose other than that of the payer's business
- The relocation of goods owned by a taxable person from the Slovak Republic to another EU member state (or vice versa) effected by the taxable person or on the taxable person's account, for the purposes of the taxable person's business (exceptions apply; see the chapter on the EU)
- The use of tangible assets in the possession of the VAT payer for the payer's private use, for the private use of the payer's staff or for any purpose other than that of the payer's business, if the VAT on such assets is wholly or partly deductible

C. Who is liable

A taxable person is any business entity or individual that independently performs any economic activity regardless of the purpose and results of such activity.

The VAT registration threshold for taxable persons that have their seat, place of business or a fixed establishment in the Slovak Republic (Slovak taxable persons) is a turnover of EUR49,790 measured in a maximum period of 12 consecutive calendar months. A Slovak taxable person whose turnover equals or exceeds the registration threshold must file a VAT registration application by the 20th day of the month following the month in which the threshold is reached.

For the above purposes, turnover includes revenues (income), excluding tax, from all supplies of goods and services (both taxable and zero-rated) made in the Slovak Republic. Revenue (income) generated from supplies that are exempt from VAT without input deduction (see Section D) is generally excluded from turnover for the above purposes. However, revenue (income) from insurance and financial services is included if these services are not provided as ancillary to the main taxable supply. Revenue (income) from the occasional sale of tangible property (except inventory) and intangible property is excluded from the definition of taxable turnover.

Voluntary registration. Taxable persons with any value of turnover or acquisitions may register voluntarily but may be required to deposit a tax guarantee of up to EUR500,000 at the discretion of the authorities if only preparatory activities are performed at the time of registration.

Intra-Community acquisitions. The VAT registration threshold for Slovak taxable persons and for Slovak non-taxable legal persons that acquire goods in the Slovak Republic from other EU member states is a value of EUR14,000 of goods acquired in a calendar year. This type of VAT registration does not confer on the person the status of a VAT payer (that is, no input VAT deduction is possible). It only serves the purpose of allowing the person to pay the VAT due on the goods acquired. Registration is required before achieving the threshold.

Group registration. VAT grouping allows financially, economically and organizationally linked domestic taxable persons (including fixed establishments of foreign entities) to form a single taxable person. The VAT group is assigned a single VAT identification number. Supplies between the members of the VAT group are outside the scope of VAT. However, records of such supplies must be maintained for VAT purposes.

The Slovak VAT group registration becomes effective on 1 January if the group VAT registration application is filed by 31 October of the preceding calendar year.

Non-established businesses. A “non-established business” is a foreign business that has no seat, place of business, fixed establishment, residence or habitual abode in the Slovak Republic.

A fixed establishment of a foreign entity in the Slovak Republic is a permanent place of business that has both human and technical resources necessary for performing the business activities of the foreign entity. The registration of a branch in the Slovak Commercial Register does not automatically make the branch meet the fixed establishment criteria.

A non-established business must register for VAT in the Slovak Republic before it begins to perform activities that are within the scope of Slovak VAT, except for importation of goods. Performance of only the following supplies of goods or services in the country does not trigger the registration obligation:

- Certain zero-rated transport services and zero-rated services ancillary to transport services
- Goods with installation or assembly and services subject to the reverse charge by the recipient
- Goods transported to other EU member states if the goods have previously been imported from a non-EU country and the foreign person has appointed an import VAT representative in the Slovak Republic
- Goods supplied within a triangular transaction if the non-established business acts as middle party to the transaction (see the chapter on the EU)
- Gas and electricity supplies, if the recipient of the goods is required to pay VAT

The Slovak tax authorities are obligated to register the non-established person as a taxpayer, to issue a certificate on tax registration to that person, and to allocate the tax identification number immediately, no later than within seven days of the date of delivery of the application for tax registration. The non-established person shall become VAT payer from the date shown in the certificate on tax registration.

There are no procedural fees related to submission of VAT registration application in Slovakia.

VAT registration is carried out at the following designated office:

Tax Authority Bratislava
(Daňový úrad Bratislava)
Ševčenkova 32
P.O. Box 154
850 00 Bratislava
Slovak Republic

Tax guarantee on application for VAT registration. An established taxable person applying for VAT registration may be obligated to pay a tax guarantee in an amount ranging from EUR1,000 to EUR500,000, which is kept by the tax authorities for a maximum period of 12 months if the following conditions listed in the VAT Act are met:

- The taxable person applying for the VAT registration, or its related persons/shareholders, had or still has tax underpayments exceeding EUR1,000.
- The taxable person applying for the registration has had its VAT registration canceled in the past due to non-compliance with specifically defined tax administration obligations (such as repeated non-payment of tax or non-filing of returns or VAT Ledgers).
- The person is an established taxable person performing preparatory activities for commencing genuine taxable activities in the future.

The guarantee is to be used against potential tax underpayments in the 12-month period following the registration, and should be returned within 30 days after the 12-month period lapses. The taxable person is obliged to pay the tax guarantee not later than 20 days from the receipt of the decision determining the amount of guarantee from the tax authorities. There is no interest accruing on the guarantee.

Import VAT representative. A foreign entity may appoint a VAT representative for the purposes of making importations of goods that are to be treated as exempt from VAT on the basis of their subsequent intra-Community supply (that is, a zero-rated resale to another EU member state) by the foreign entity. The foreign entity must appoint the representative using a power of attorney. The VAT representative must submit tax returns on a calendar quarterly basis as well as monthly or quarterly EU Sales Lists on behalf of the importers. The importer of goods is not required to register for VAT purposes in the Slovak Republic.

Reverse-charge services. A Slovak taxable person must apply VAT with respect to services provided from another EU member state or a non-EU country if the following conditions are satisfied:

- The services are taxable and the place of supply of the services is in the Slovak Republic.
- The supplier is not the person liable to pay the VAT.

VAT is accounted for using the reverse-charge mechanism; the recipient of the service must account for VAT on the service, but is also entitled to recover the self-assessed VAT if certain conditions are met (see Sections D and F).

A Slovak taxable person is generally not required to apply the reverse charge if the service provider is established for VAT purposes in the Slovak Republic (in that case the service provider must account for the Slovak VAT due). However, the reverse charge applies if a taxable person or an entity that is not a taxable person and that is identified for VAT as a result of intra-Community acquisitions receives services supplied by a foreign (non-established) person from another EU member state or a non-EU country and if the place of supply is in the Slovak Republic as a result of the recipient's seat, place of business or fixed establishment (if the service is attributable to the fixed establishment). In such circumstances, the reverse charge applies regardless of whether the non-established service provider is registered for VAT in the Slovak Republic. If these services are provided to persons in their nonbusiness capacity or to private individuals, the country where the supplier is established is considered to be the place of supply for the services.

The person liable to VAT with respect to goods and services with installation and assembly supplied by foreign persons (from EU and non-EU countries) to taxable persons established in the Slovak Republic is the recipient of the goods and services, regardless of whether the supplier (foreign person) is registered for VAT in the Slovak Republic.

Domestic reverse charge. A Slovak VAT payer that purchases the following goods must apply the reverse charge regardless of whether the supplier is registered for VAT in the Slovak Republic:

- Gold in the form of raw material semifinished product or investment gold
- Metal waste and scrap metal
- Greenhouse gas emission allowances
- Immovable property where the option to tax was elected by the supplier
- Supply of goods following the cession of a reservation of ownership to an assignee and the exercising of this right by the assignee
- Supply of immovable property within enforcement or bankruptcy proceedings
- Supply of goods falling within chapters 10 (cereals) and 12 (oil seeds and oleaginous fruits, miscellaneous grains, seeds and fruit, industrial or medicinal plants, straw and fodder) of the Common Customs Tariff, which are not commonly intended for final consumption in an unchanged state, if the tax base in the invoice is EUR5,000 or more
- Supply of goods falling within chapter 72 (iron and steel) and items 7301 (sheet piling of iron or steel, whether or not drilled, punched or made from assembled elements, welded angles, shapes and sections of iron or steel), 7308 (structures and parts of structures of iron or steel, plates, rods, angles, shapes, sections tubes and the like, prepared for use in structures of iron or steel) and 7314 (cloth, grill, netting and fencing, of iron or steel wire, expanded metal of iron or steel) of the Common Customs Tariff, if the tax base in the invoice is EUR5,000 or more

- Supply of mobile phones that are made or adapted for use in conjunction with a licensed network and work on specified frequencies, if the tax base in the invoice is EUR5,000 or more
- Supply of integrated circuits such as microprocessors and central processing units in a state prior to integration into end-user products, if the tax base in the invoice is EUR5,000 or more

As a result, the reverse-charge mechanism also applies to local supplies of the above goods.

Beginning on 1 January 2017, the reverse charge will also apply to the importation of goods into the Slovak Republic if certain conditions stipulated by the law are met.

Joint and several liability. Since 1 October 2012, joint and several liability of the customer for output VAT is stated on invoices from the supplier. This relates to the value of VAT that the supplier did not pay to the tax authorities when the customer knew, could have known or should have known that the supplier would not remit the VAT. The Slovak VAT Act lists the situations when the customer is deemed to have this knowledge: (i) the consideration for the supplied goods or services differs from the fair market value without any business reason, (ii) the customer continued doing business with a supplier that was listed in the register of non-compliant companies published by the Financial Directorate or (iii) the supplier and the customer meet the specific related parties definition. In these cases, upon a notice issued by the Slovak tax authorities, the customer is assessed the amount of the supplier's unpaid or underpaid VAT. The customer's excess VAT can be used to cover the underpayment.

Tax authorities monitor VAT payers who do not fulfill their VAT obligations and have been publishing a list of such persons on the web portal of the Financial Directorate since February 2013. More than 4,000 VAT payers were on the list in November 2014 out of a total of approximately 200,000 VAT payers.

Tax representatives. The concept of a fiscal representative has not been introduced into the Slovak VAT Act. Nevertheless, foreign or Slovak entities can appoint a representative to act on their behalf in front of the Slovak Tax Authorities in all tax matters, including VAT registration or compliance process, based on a Power of Attorney.

In addition, as already mentioned above there is a concept of a representative for import of goods, which relieves potential importers (non-established persons) from administrative burden of VAT registration only due to performance of VAT exempt intra-Community supply of goods following their import to Slovakia.

Registration procedures. The following documents should be submitted to Tax Authority Bratislava by the non-established person for the purposes of VAT registration:

- A completed application for VAT registration
- An original extract from the Commercial Register or a notarized copy thereof
- An official translation of the extract from the Commercial Register into the Slovak language (not required for the Czech language)

- If the person has appointed a representative, a power of attorney which does not need to be notarized but which if executed in any language other than the Slovak or Czech languages, must be accompanied by official translation thereof.

The documents may be delivered by the applicant for registration in the form of attachments to the application for registration or they may be submitted for review directly at the Tax Authority Bratislava. The documents may be delivered in hardcopy. Nevertheless, in a case where the foreign entity appoints a tax advisor or advocate for this purpose, the documents must be submitted electronically (tax advisors and tax advocates are obliged to communicate with Slovak Tax Authorities only by electronic means).

Late-registration penalties. The penalty for non-fulfillment of the registration obligation can amount from EUR60 to EUR20,000. In principle, the Slovak VAT legislation does not allow a retroactive registration of a taxable person. However, with effect from 1 April 2009, a mechanism for reconciling VAT in the event of a late VAT registration has been introduced into the Slovak VAT legislation. A domestic or non-established person who failed to register for Slovak VAT is able to reconcile their VAT obligations retrospectively in a single VAT return filed for the period before the late VAT registration covering all transactions in the period during which it should have been registered.

Digital economy. Effective 1 January 2015, the place of supply of telecommunications, broadcasting and electronically provided services to non-taxable persons (B2C) is where the customer is established.

Mini One-Stop Shop. Effective 1 January 2015, the place of supply of broadcasting, telecommunications and electronic services rendered to non-taxable customers by providers established in the EU will change from the place where the supplier of the services is established to the place where the customer is established, has his permanent address or usually resides.

In this regard, the “One-Stop Shop” (which allows non-EU taxable persons supplying electronic services to consumers in the EU to register for VAT in one EU country, regardless of the number of other EU countries to which they are supplying the services) will be extended also to the EU suppliers, except when they are established in the Member State of the place of supply.

If VAT payer applies for the “Mini One-Stop Shop,” the VAT return filing and VAT payment in respect of the local countries will be made in one Member State, but VAT payer will still need to comply with the VAT rules and relating tax rules applicable in the member state of the place of supply.

Deregistration. VAT payers that terminate their taxable activities in the Slovak Republic are obliged to file an application to deregister. The Slovak tax authorities may deregister a VAT-registered person in response to an application or at their own discretion if the VAT-registered person repeatedly fails to comply with administrative duties (e.g., filing of VAT returns, VAT ledgers, payment of VAT or tax audit-related duties).

D. VAT rates

The 20% standard VAT rate applies.

Since 1 January 2007, the Slovak Republic introduced a reduced rate of 10% on selected pharmaceutical products and medical aids. Since 1 January 2008, the reduced rate also applies to specific books, brochures and leaflets and books for children. The standard VAT rate applies to all other supplies of goods or services, unless a specific measure in the VAT law provides for the zero rate or an exemption.

In the event of a change of VAT rates, taxpayers must use the VAT rates valid on the date on which the tax point arises.

If supplies are classified as zero-rated, no VAT is chargeable, but the supplier may deduct related input tax.

Examples of zero-rated supplies of goods and services

- Exported goods
- Intra-Community supplies of goods
- Services related to the export of goods
- International transport of persons
- Financial and insurance services provided to a customer that is not established in the EU

The term “exempt supplies” refers to supplies of goods and services that are not liable to tax. Exempt supplies do not give rise to a right of input tax deduction (see Section F).

Examples of exempt supplies of goods and services

- Postal services
- Healthcare (except for supplies of pharmaceuticals and health aids)
- Public radio and television broadcasting (except for broadcasting of commercials and sponsored programs)
- Education
- Financial services
- Services related to sports and physical education
- Cultural services
- Social welfare
- Lotteries and similar games
- Transfer and lease of real estate (options to tax available for both)
- Insurance and reinsurance services (including public social and health insurance)
- Services provided by a legal person to its members (if certain conditions are met)

Option to tax for exempt supplies. Transfer of a real estate or its part carried out five years after the date of the first official approval with put in use, or five years after the first day of the usage is VAT exempt; however, the VAT payer may opt to tax the transfer.

Similarly, the lease of real estate or its part is VAT exempt; however, the VAT payer who leases real estate to a taxable person may opt to tax the lease.

E. Time of supply

The time when VAT becomes due is called the “chargeability of tax” or “tax point.” In the Slovak Republic, VAT generally becomes chargeable on the date on which goods are supplied or services are performed.

Under the general rule, the tax point for goods or services is the date of the supply of the goods or services, or the date of the receipt of the payment, whichever is earlier. The date of supply of goods is the date of acquisition of the right to dispose of the goods as owner.

Continuous supplies of goods and services. If goods or services are supplied in parts or repeatedly, the goods or services are considered to be supplied at the latest on the last day of the period to which the payment for the goods or services relates.

If a payment for partial or repeated supplies of goods or services is agreed to for a period exceeding 12 calendar months, the tax point arises on the last day of the 12th month, until the supply of goods or services is finished.

A special rule applies if the following circumstances exist:

- A service is supplied partially or repeatedly during a period exceeding 12 calendar months and the agreed payment is for a period exceeding 12 calendar months.
- The service is supplied to a taxable person acting as such.
- The place of supply is in the Slovak Republic.
- The person required to pay VAT is the recipient of the service.

In the circumstances mentioned above, the tax point arises on 31 December of each calendar year, until the supply of such service is finished.

Specific rules also apply to partial or repeated intra-Community supplies of goods, partial or repeated supplies of gas, water, heat and electricity that are supplied along with leases of immovable property, and of electronic communication networks and electronic communication services.

Intra-Community supplies and acquisitions of goods. The tax point for goods that are supplied to another EU member state and that meet the conditions for exemption from VAT in the Slovak Republic is either the date of the issuance of the invoice or the 15th day of the calendar month following the month in which the goods are supplied, whichever is earlier.

For intra-Community acquisitions, the tax point is either the date of the issuance of the invoice or the 15th day of the calendar month following the month in which the goods are acquired, whichever is earlier.

Reverse-charge services received. For reverse-charge services received by a Slovak taxable person, VAT becomes chargeable on the date of supply of the service. Different rules apply to reverse-charge services supplied in parts or repeatedly (see Continuous supplies of goods and services).

Immovable property. The tax point for a transfer of real estate is the date on which the transfer of the property is registered in the Real Estate Cadastre or the date on which the property is made available for use to the purchaser, whichever is earlier. The tax point for the supply of a newly constructed building is the date of the handing over of the building.

Imported goods. The tax point for imported goods is when the customs authority accepts the customs declaration for the release of the goods into a customs regime triggering the payment of VAT. If this is not applicable, the tax point is when the liability to customs duties (including import VAT) arises in a different manner.

Cash accounting. Currently the cash accounting scheme is not available in the Slovak Republic, but there are plans to implement the scheme with effect from 1 January 2016.

Prepayments. No prepayments related to VAT are paid in the Slovak Republic.

Leased assets. The delivery of goods based on a lease agreement under which ownership to the subject-matter of the lease agreement is acquired, at the latest, upon the payment of the last installment is considered supply of goods.

A lease transaction with purchase option agreed is regarded as a supply of services.

The lease of real estate or its part is VAT exempt, except for:

- The provision of accommodation in hotels, motels, guest houses, camps or private properties
- Lease of land for the purpose of parking of vehicles
- Lease of permanently installed equipment and machinery
- Lease of safes

A VAT payer who leases real estate to other taxable person may opt to tax the lease.

F. Recovery of VAT by taxable persons

A VAT payer is entitled to recover input tax, which is the VAT charged on goods and services received if it is directly attributable to the taxable person's own supplies for which a deduction entitlement exists (mostly taxable and zero-rated supplies).

Input VAT may generally be recovered by deducting it from output VAT, which is VAT charged on the supplies made. A VAT payer is entitled to deduct input VAT if the tax point for the supply in question has arisen with respect to the output and the VAT payer holds a valid VAT invoice or import document. The VAT payer may deduct input VAT in any VAT period after the VAT period in which the right to deduct arose up to the end of the calendar year (the financial year, if applicable). The VAT payer must possess the required documents (invoice, import declaration and other documents) by the time of the deadline for submission of the VAT return for that period. If the documents are not available until the end of the calendar (financial) year, the deduction must be made for the period in which the documents are received.

As of 1 January 2014, VAT payers submitting the supplementary VAT return due to belated receipts of invoices for intra-Community acquisitions of goods are entitled to deduct the respective VAT in this supplementary return if they have the related invoice at their disposal as of the filing date.

Furthermore, as of 1 January 2014, VAT payers are required to correct the amount of deducted VAT within 30 days from the date the VAT base was to be corrected by the supplier, even if the corrective invoice is absent.

For supplies of reverse-charge services and for goods supplied with assembly and installation by a foreign taxable person, it is not necessary for the Slovak recipient to hold an invoice, but inclusion of VAT in the recipient's VAT records is a pre-condition for deducting.

For imported goods, VAT must have been paid to the customs authority or, effective from 1 January 2017, included in the VAT records to be eligible for deduction.

Effective from 1 October 2012, non-established taxable persons registered for VAT in the Slovak Republic cannot claim input VAT deduction on a VAT return if they only perform reverse-charge supplies in the Slovak Republic (even local reverse-charge supplies). Instead, a VAT refund procedure needs to be followed. This does not apply if supplies such as exports and intra-Community supplies of goods are performed, in which case the deduction of Slovak input VAT incurred can be made through the regular VAT return filed.

Nondeductible input tax. A VAT payer may not recover the following input VAT:

- VAT that relates to activities that are not business activities
- VAT that relates to transactions regarded as VAT-exempt supplies
- VAT incurred on items of expenditure for which recovery is specifically excluded (for example, input tax related to meals and entertainment)

The following lists provide some examples of items of expenditure for which input tax is not deductible and examples of items for which input tax is deductible if the expenditure is related to a taxable business use.

Examples of items for which input tax is nondeductible

- Business entertainment
- The part of input VAT on acquisition of goods and services that represents its nonbusiness use, if VAT payer elects not to apply output VAT on this nonbusiness use

Examples of items for which input tax is deductible
(if related to a taxable business use)

- Purchase, lease or hire of vans and trucks
- Taxis
- Hotel accommodation
- Fuel used for business purposes
- Business use of mobile telephones
- Business gifts that are worth less than EUR17 each (not taxed on output)
- Commercial samples of goods for advertising purposes (not taxed on output)
- Parking

Partial recovery (partial exemption). Input tax on goods that are used for both business and for nonbusiness purposes is generally deductible. However, output VAT must be paid on the nonbusiness use.

For fixed tangible assets intended to be used for both business and nonbusiness purposes, the VAT payer may opt not to deduct a portion of the input VAT that reflects the nonbusiness use of these assets. As a result, the use of these assets for nonbusiness purposes is not subject to VAT.

Effective from 1 January 2011, the above-mentioned option applies only to movable tangible assets with an acquisition price exceeding EUR3,319.39 (without VAT) and a useful life over one year. For immovable assets, the taxpayer needs to determine the proportion of use of the immovable asset for its business and nonbusiness purposes and deduct the input VAT only to the extent of the business use (for further details, see Capital goods).

For services received by a taxable person that are intended to be used for both business and nonbusiness purposes, the VAT payer may not deduct VAT relating to nonbusiness use. However, if the VAT payer does not expect to use the services for nonbusiness purposes, it may deduct input VAT relating to the entire consideration for the services. If the services are subsequently used for nonbusiness purposes, the VAT payer must account for output VAT (VAT on sales) on the portion of the consideration that is attributable to the nonbusiness use of the services.

For goods and services that are partially used for the provision of exempt supplies, only the portion of VAT related to taxable supplies may be deducted. For these purposes, taxable supplies include zero-rated supplies, and supplies that are specifically excluded from the application of VAT and that have entitlement to input VAT deduction.

The deductible proportion is calculated based on the total revenue (or income) generated from taxable supplies made (those for which the input tax is deductible), divided by the total revenue (or income) from all supplies made. All values are exclusive of VAT. Because the terms “revenue” and “income” are not defined for VAT purposes, they should probably be understood in terms of their definitions for accounting purposes. “Revenue” is the term used for double-entry bookkeeping, while “income” is the term used for single-entry bookkeeping.

The following taxable supplies are excluded from the calculation of the deductible proportion:

- Incidental financial services exempt from VAT
- The sale of an enterprise or part of an enterprise (transfer of going concern)
- The sale of business assets (capital goods) excluding inventory
- Incidental real estate transactions (transfer or leasing of immovable property)

The deductible proportion is calculated for the entire calendar (financial) year and is rounded up to the nearest whole percentage. During the current calendar (financial) year, the deductible proportion calculated for the preceding year is used. If no percentage exists for the preceding year, the VAT payer may use a percentage agreed to with the tax authorities.

Capital goods. Effective 1 January 2011, with respect to the purchase of immovable property to be used for both business and nonbusiness purposes, the input VAT is deductible only to the extent that the property is used for business purposes. If the nonbusiness use of the immovable property changes over a period of 20 years, a special Capital Goods Adjustment Scheme applies. This rule applies to immovable property acquired on or after 1 January 2011.

In addition, effective 1 January 2011, the previously valid 10-year period for the adjustment of deducted input VAT relating to immovable property is extended to 20 years. Under transitional provisions, the 10-year period applies to immovable property that was subject to the adjustment of input VAT deduction in the period from 2004 to 2010, regardless of when the property was acquired. Consequently, the extended 20-year period also applies to immovable property acquired before 1 January 2011 that was not subject to adjustment of the VAT deduction in the period from 2004 to 2010. Taxpayers must retain documentation relating to affected immovable property for a period of 20 years.

As of 1 January 2014, adjustments of deducted input VAT relating to capital goods must also be preserved by the legal successor of the entity dissolved without liquidation, such as in cases of reorganizations such as mergers or de-mergers.

Refunds. If the amount of deductible VAT in a VAT period exceeds the amount of output VAT in that tax period, the VAT payer may offset the difference against a VAT liability in the following tax period. The remaining difference between the amount of deductible VAT and output VAT that cannot be offset is refunded to a VAT payer by the tax authorities within 30 days after the date of the submission of a VAT return for the following tax period.

VAT payers may request the refund of excess VAT in a shorter period, which is 30 days after the deadline for submission of the VAT return for the VAT period in which excess VAT was reported, if the following conditions are met:

- The VAT payer is a monthly VAT payer.
- The VAT payer was registered for VAT purposes for at least 12 months before the month in which the excess VAT was reported.
- The VAT payer is not liable for underpayments of other taxes, customs duties and mandatory social and health insurance over the 12-month period preceding the month in which the excess VAT was reported.

Effective from 1 January 2012, if in the period for refund of excess VAT, the tax authorities deliver an appeal (letter) prompting the removal of defects in the submitted VAT return, the period for refund of excess VAT is interrupted from the day of delivery until the day on which the defects are removed. If the taxpayer generates or increases an amount of excess VAT through the filing of a supplementary VAT return, the tax authorities must refund the respective amount within 30 days after the submission of the supplementary VAT return.

If the tax authorities carry out a tax audit to verify the VAT payer's entitlement to a refund, the refund must be repaid within 10 days after the tax authorities complete the tax audit.

In addition, effective from 1 January 2012, if the excess VAT is refunded in a shorter period (mentioned above) based on a VAT return containing incorrect data, the tax authorities impose a penalty amounting up to 1.3% per month of the excess VAT refunded.

Preregistration costs. The VAT payer may deduct tax related to property acquired before the day when the person became the VAT payer if such property was not included in tax expenses in calendar years preceding the calendar year in which the person became the VAT payer, except for stock. The VAT payer will decrease VAT for property which is depreciated by a proportional part of the VAT corresponding to the depreciation. The VAT payer shall not be entitled to deduct the VAT if the property is not used for the supplies of goods and services as the VAT payer. Slovak tax authorities refuse to allow deducting VAT on pre-registration costs concerning services.

Write-off of bad debts. Slovakia did not implement bad debt relief provision.

Noneconomic activities. A taxable person shall be any person who independently carries out any economic activity, whatever the purpose or results of that activity.

According to the Slovak VAT Act an economic activity shall mean any activity, from which an income is accrued and which includes the activities of producers, traders and persons supplying services including mining, construction and agricultural activities, activities carried on as a free-lance occupation, intellectual creative activity and sporting activity. In addition, the economic activity is also considered to be the use of tangible property and intangible property with a view to obtaining income from the property; if the property is the common property of spouses, its use with a view to obtaining income is considered to be economic activity in equal proportion of each spouse, unless the spouses decide otherwise.

The execution of activities based on an employment relation, or other similar relation, when an individual is obliged to adhere to instructions or orders creating a subordination and super ordination from the point of view of conditions of the executed activities and conditions of remuneration, is not considered an independent execution of activities.

G. Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses

The Slovak Republic refunds VAT incurred by businesses that are neither established nor registered for VAT there.

The rules for VAT refunds in the Slovak Republic are in compliance with the general VAT refund rules adopted by Council Directive 2008/9/EC, which is part of the 2008 VAT package adopted by the European Commission (see the chapter on the EU).

In the Slovak Republic, the conditions for refunds are similar for EU businesses and non-EU applicants, except for the electronic request for refund and electronic communication applicable to EU business applicants. Non-EU business applicants must file the refund request using the form issued by the Slovak tax authorities.

To claim a refund, a foreign business must meet all of the following requirements:

- It is a registered VAT payer abroad or a registered payer of a similar general consumption tax.
- The foreign entity does not have a registered office, fixed establishment or place of business in the Slovak Republic (for non-EU applicants, the territory of the EU is applicable), during the period for which the VAT refund is requested.
- The input VAT is recoverable under Slovak law.
- During the period for which the VAT refund is requested, the foreign entity neither sold goods nor provided services in the Slovak Republic, other than the following:
 - Transportation and auxiliary services related to export and import of goods.
 - Services and goods with their assembly and installation, if the Slovak customer was the person liable to pay tax (reverse charge).
 - Electricity and gas if the Slovak customer was the person liable to pay tax.
 - Goods supplied to other EU member states if such goods were imported in the Slovak Republic as VAT-exempt and if the foreign entity was represented by an import VAT representative (see Section C).
 - Goods supplied within a triangular transaction if the foreign business acts as the middle party in the transaction (see the chapter on the EU).

The Slovak tax authorities reject the application for a refund if the country in which the applicant's foreign business is registered does not provide refunds to Slovak payers of VAT or similar consumption tax (non-EU countries only).

Refund application. The refund application for EU applicants must comply with the rules contained in Council Directive 2008/9/EC. Under the directive, applicants must file the electronic request in the EU member state in which they have their seat, place of business, fixed establishment, residence or habitual abode.

The non-EU business application must be submitted using the form issued by the Slovak tax authorities, completed in the Slovak or English language.

Requests of non-EU applicants must be filed with Tax Authorities Bratislava by 30 June of the year following the year in which the VAT was incurred or the import VAT was paid. The request must be filed together with the following documents:

- The original invoices or import documents (for imports, documents evidencing payment of the tax must also be included)
- A certificate of status issued by the applicant's local tax authorities confirming that the applicant is registered for VAT in the country where it is established or has its permanent address

An annual claim may be filed if total VAT incurred exceeds EUR50 for the calendar year. The tax authorities must decide on the application for the refund within six months after the date of the filing of the request.

H. Invoicing

VAT invoices. A registered VAT payer must issue a VAT invoice for:

- Supply of goods or services having a place of supply in the Slovak Republic rendered to a taxable person or to a non-taxable legal person
- Supply of goods or services with a place of supply in another EU Member State (if a person liable to VAT is the recipient), even if the supply is exempt from VAT
- Supply of goods or services to a taxable person with a place of supply in a non-EU country
- Supply of goods in the form of distance selling with a place of supply in the Slovak Republic
- Intra-Community supply of goods
- Advance payments for goods and services

Taxable persons (non-VAT payers) providing services with a place of supply outside of the Slovak Republic are obliged to issue VAT invoices at the moment of the service being completed or a down payment for that service being received.

The obligation to issue a VAT invoice does not apply to supplies of goods and services with a place of supply in the Slovak Republic that are exempt from VAT with no right of VAT deduction, and to supplies of insurance and financial services with a place of supply in EU countries other than the Slovak Republic or in non-EU countries.

The invoice must be drawn no later than 15 days after the date the tax was chargeable, usually the date of supply of goods or services or the date on which the advance payment is received. For intra-Community supplies and services supplied with a place of supply outside the Slovak Republic, the invoice must be drawn no later than 15 days from the end of the month in which the supply of goods or services took place. In cases of corrective invoices, the deadline of 15 days counts from the end of the calendar month when the facts giving rise to the correction occurred.

A document produced by an electronic cash register for goods and services can serve as a simplified invoice only if the price of the goods or services including VAT does not exceed EUR1,000 for cash payments and EUR1,600 for noncash payments. Documentation does not need to be produced by the electronic cash register for supplies of goods or services worth EUR100 and less. A simplified invoice does not need to include the unit price and information on the recipient.

An invoice issued by a member of a VAT group must contain identification details of the group member and the VAT number of the group.

It is necessary to hold a VAT invoice to support a claim for input tax deduction (with the exception of reverse-charge services received from abroad and purchases from abroad of reverse-charge goods supplied with installation or assembly).

The law also allows the sending or accessing of invoices electronically after the agreement of the supplier with the customer.

Corrective invoices. If the tax base is corrected as a result of a decrease or increase in the price, the cancellation of all or part of a supply or the return of the goods, the VAT payer must issue a corrective invoice, credit note or debit note. Each document or notification correcting the original invoice should contain a reference to the serial number of the original invoice and the data subject to change. Such a document or notification is considered to be a simplified VAT invoice.

Proof of exports and intra-Community supplies. Goods exported outside the EU or supplied to a taxable person in another EU member state are zero-rated for a VAT payer that sells upon meeting the conditions specified in the VAT legislation. A VAT payer that exports goods or supplies goods to other EU member states is generally entitled to recover the related input VAT.

To qualify as zero-rated, exports must be supported by evidence confirming that goods were exported abroad. A VAT payer must substantiate the export of the goods with the following:

- Certified electronic customs declaration for the release of the goods into the customs regime of export, with the VAT payer required to hold the electronic customs declaration before the sixth month lapses after the month in which the exemption is claimed
- A transport document

To qualify for zero-rating, an intra-Community supply of goods must be supported by the following documents:

- Copy of the invoice
- Proof of dispatch if the transport is arranged by the supplier or the customer through one of the authorized postal service companies, or by a copy of a transportation document in which the receipt of goods in another EU member state is confirmed by the customer, or by a person empowered by the customer where the transport is arranged through a third party or, if such documentation unavailable, receipt of goods proven by alternative evidence
- If transport is arranged by the supplier or customer using their own means of transport, the supplier's documentation confirming receipt of the goods by the customer or by a person empowered by the customer, which has to include:
 - Identification of the customer, description of the supplied goods and their amount, place and date when the goods were taken over by the customer (if transport performed by the supplier); place and date when transport was finished (if transport performed by the customer)
 - Name and surname of the driver providing the transport and the driver's signature and the registration number of the vehicle used in the transport
- Other documentation, particularly the contract on delivery of the goods, delivery note, payment confirmation on the purchase of goods, confirmation of payment for transportation service

If the transport is arranged by the customer, the VAT payer must have the documents under bullet two above (proof of dispatch, etc.) and bullet three (transport arranged by customer or supplier, etc.) available within six months after the end of the calendar month in which the supply of goods occurred. If this is not met, the VAT payer shall apply output VAT in the tax period in which the six-month period elapsed.

Foreign-currency invoices. If the payment for a supply is requested in foreign currency, the total VAT must be converted into euros (EUR), using the exchange rate published by the European Central Bank on the date preceding the date of the tax point. Alternatively, the VAT payer can opt for a customs foreign exchange rate valid on the date of the tax point to be used over a calendar month. This option may not be revoked during the entire calendar year. For imports, the customs foreign-exchange rate rules apply.

I. VAT returns and payment

Slovak VAT returns must be submitted by the 25th day after the end of the tax period. Since 1 January 2014, VAT returns and all documents for the tax authorities must be submitted electronically, using either advanced electronic signature or other means of electronic filing agreed with the tax authorities. Payment of VAT liability in full is due by the same date.

VAT ledger. As of 1 January 2014, VAT payers are obliged to submit a detailed VAT ledger report as a separate filing along with the VAT return. The obligation arises for each VAT period, except when zero returns are filed or for re-exports of imported goods. The report should include the information for every invoice received or issued by the VAT payer, including corrective invoices and down-payment invoices, but excluding invoices for exports, zero-rated and exempt supplies. Simplified invoices are to be reported in aggregate values for the tax period. Information will need to be compiled by the VAT payer electronically and filed by means of electronic filing portal provided by the Slovak Financial Directorate.

Effective 1 January 2015, the deadline for submission of the VAT ledger is 25 days after the end of the relevant tax period. The deadline is no longer tied to the date of the VAT return filing.

Special schemes. The Slovak VAT legislation stipulates the following special schemes:

- Special scheme for travel agents
- Special scheme for call-off stock
- Special arrangements applicable to second-hand goods, works of art, collectors' items and antiques
- Special scheme for investment gold
- Special arrangements applicable to persons not established in the territory of the European Community supplying the services electronically

As of 1 January 2015, special schemes for EU and Non-EU established businesses providing telecommunications, broadcasting or electronic services to non-taxable persons (final consumers) located in the EU will be applicable.

Electronic filing and archiving. The VAT payer has to complete the VAT return in the standard electronic form issued by the Ministry of Finance. All VAT payers are obliged to communicate only electronically with the Slovak tax authorities. In order to do so, the VAT payer should either use the advanced electronic signature or the VAT payer concludes an agreement on electronic filing with the Slovak Tax Authority in writing.

Following the EU Invoicing Directive, the Slovak VAT Act provides that tax documents in paper form and in electronic form have equal status. The Slovak VAT Act also stipulates the requirements for the invoice, whether in paper or in electronic form, which have to be secured from the time of issue until the end of the period for retention of the invoice. These requirements are the authenticity of origin (assurance of the identity of the supplier or the issuer of the tax document), the integrity of content (content of the tax document was not altered) and the legibility of a tax document (it is possible to read the tax document directly or by using a technical device). The tax document may be converted from paper form into electronic form and vice versa for retention purposes.

Generally, an invoice should be archived for 10 years for VAT purposes. However, if the invoice pertains to certain capital goods, it should be archived until the end of the period for the adjustment of VAT deductions.

Annual returns. Not applicable (only monthly or quarterly filings).

J. Penalties

As the result of extensive revisions to the law providing rules for tax administration, the system of penalties in the Slovak Republic was changed effective 1 April 2012.

The penalties for noncompliance with the VAT registration range from EUR60 to EUR20,000. The penalties for noncompliance with the reporting requirements range from EUR30 to EUR3,000. The penalty for the late submission of a tax return (after the statutory deadline) ranges from EUR30 to EUR16,000. If the taxpayer does not submit the tax return by the deadline stipulated by the tax authorities in an appeal, the penalty for late filing ranges from EUR60 to EUR32,000.

Interest on late payment applies in the following circumstances:

- The VAT liability is not paid by the deadline.
- The proper amount of the VAT liability or the amount stipulated in a decision of the tax authorities is not paid.

The rate of interest on late payment is calculated as the higher of the annual interest rate of 15% or four times the interest rate for main refinancing operations (the basic interest rate) of the European Central Bank.

A flat penalty is imposed if the VAT liability or excess VAT refund declared by the VAT payer in the tax return is different from the amount assessed by the tax authorities. This penalty is calculated by applying to the assessment base the higher of the annual interest rate of 10% or three times the basic interest rate of the European Central Bank. The penalty is calculated on the difference between the value declared in the tax return and VAT assessed by the tax authorities. It is not based on the time period involved.

If the difference is declared by the VAT payer in a supplementary VAT return, the flat penalty is calculated based on halved percentages, which is the higher of the annual interest rate of 5% or 1.5 times the basic interest rate of the European Central Bank.

Penalties also apply to late submission of EU reports (see Section K).

Intentional tax evasion may be regarded as a criminal offense, resulting in fines or imprisonment for a term of up to 12 years, depending on the amount of tax evaded. Similarly, hindering the tax administration (e.g., submission to the tax authorities of documents that give false or misleading information, failure to comply with a statutory obligation or obligations imposed by the tax authority during a tax audit) may be regarded as a criminal offense, resulting in imprisonment for a term of up to eight years.

For non-compliance (failure to submit, late submission of the VAT ledger, or declaring of incomplete or incorrect information), the tax authority is obliged to impose a penalty. The penalty can be up to EUR10,000 for initial omissions. In cases of repetitive omission, the penalty range extends to up to EUR100,000. Penalties apply to any adjustments reported, regardless of the character of the change.

Effective 1 January 2015, the Ministry of Finance publishes a list of taxpayers' names on its website detailing amounts of unpaid tax. The list contains taxpayers' tax identification numbers and the amount of tax due in descending order.

K. EU filings

Intrastat. A Slovak taxable person that trades with other EU Member States must complete statistical reports, known as Intrastat, if the value of goods dispatched or received exceeds the exemption thresholds.

Separate reports are required for intra-Community acquisitions (Intrastat Arrivals) and for intra-Community supplies (Intrastat Dispatches).

Intrastat information is reported each calendar month (the reference period). Each report must be submitted to the local customs authority by the 15th day of the month following the reference period.

Exemption threshold. For 2013, the exemption threshold is EUR200,000 for Arrivals and EUR400,000 for Dispatches. If a VAT payer's turnover for the preceding calendar year did not exceed these thresholds, it was not required to submit an Intrastat report.

If the exemption threshold is exceeded, the VAT payer is required to submit Intrastat declarations (so-called complete declarations).

If the VAT payer does not exceed the exemption threshold or if the entity is not a Slovak VAT payer, it is not required to report the intra-Community movement of goods using Intrastat. Eligible VAT payers are required to complete and submit Intrastat declarations, including those months in which zero movements of goods occur.

A penalty may be imposed for late submission or for missing or inaccurate declarations, up to EUR3,320.

EU Sales Lists. A Slovak VAT payer must submit an EU Sales List (ESL) reporting the following transactions:

- Intra-Community supplies of goods
- VAT-exempt relocations of goods to the EU member states (see the chapter on the EU)
- Supplies of goods within a triangular transaction if the VAT payer acts as first customer
- Supplies of services with the place of supply in another EU member state to a taxable person or an entity that is not a taxable person but is identified for VAT, for which the recipient is liable to pay the VAT

Services exempt from VAT under the law of the place of supply of the services are not reported in ESLs. ESLs must be submitted on a monthly basis by the 25th day following the end of the respective calendar month. If the value of goods supplied during the calendar quarter does not exceed EUR50,000 and if the value of goods supplied during the preceding four calendar quarters did not exceed EUR50,000, the VAT payer can file quarterly ESLs instead of monthly ESLs by the 25th day following the end of the calendar quarter.

The Slovak law requires submission of the ESLs via electronic means.

Since 1 January 2012, if a VAT payer fails to submit an ESL within the statutory deadline, a penalty for non-compliance with non-monetary obligations ranging from EUR60 to EUR3,000 applies. In the event of a failure to submit an ESL after receiving a request from the tax authorities, the penalty may be imposed repeatedly. Because the amount of the penalty for non-compliance with non-monetary obligations depends on the severity, duration and consequences of the breach of obligations, the penalty for failing to submit the ESL should generally fall in the lower third of the range.

Slovenia

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Ljubljana

GMT +1

EY

Dunajska cesta 111
1000 Ljubljana
Slovenia

Indirect tax contact

Miha Svetek

+386 (1) 583-1716
miha.svetek@si.ey.com

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Value-added tax (VAT)
Local name	Davek na dodano vrednost (DDV)
Date introduced	1 July 1999
Trading bloc membership	European Union (EU) Member State
Administered by	Ministry of Finance (Tax Administration) (http://www.durs.gov.si)
VAT rates
Standard	22%
Reduced	9.5%
Other	Zero-rated and exempt
VAT number format	SI12345678
VAT return periods	Monthly or quarterly
Thresholds
Registration
Businesses established in Slovenia	EUR50,000 in the preceding 12 months
Businesses not established in Slovenia	None
Cadastral income from agricultural and forestry land for agricultural and forestry activities	EUR7,500
Distance selling	EUR35,000
Intra-Community acquisitions	None
Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses	Yes

B. Scope of the tax

VAT applies to the following transactions:

- The supply of goods or services made in Slovenia by a taxable person

- The intra-Community acquisition of goods from another EU Member State by a taxable person
- Reverse-charge services received by a taxable person in Slovenia
- The importation of goods from outside the EU, regardless of the status of the importer

Special rules apply to intra-Community transactions involving new means of transport and distance sales (see the chapter on the EU).

C. Who is liable

A taxable person is any person who independently carries out in any place any economic activity, regardless of the purpose or results of that activity.

VAT registration is required before the beginning of taxable activities in Slovenia. Under the VAT law, retrospective VAT registration is not possible.

Group registration. VAT group registration is not allowed under the VAT law. Legal entities that are closely connected must register for VAT individually.

Non-established businesses. A “non-established business” is a business that does not have an establishment in Slovenia. A non-established business that makes supplies of goods or services in Slovenia is liable to account for VAT on these supplies.

Consequently, non-established businesses must register for VAT if they make any of the following supplies:

- Intra-Community supplies
- Intra-Community acquisitions
- Distance sales in excess of the threshold
- Supplies of goods and services that are not subject to the reverse charge (for example, goods or services supplied to private persons)

Tax representatives. A foreign entity (taxable person) that has its seat outside the EU must appoint a tax representative.

A foreign entity (taxable person) from another EU Member State that does not have a registered business or fixed establishment in Slovenia may appoint a tax representative. Individuals and legal entities that are taxable persons in Slovenia can be appointed as tax representatives if they have an establishment or permanent address in Slovenia and are not a branch of a company.

Reverse charge. The reverse charge applies to supplies of most services made by non-established businesses to taxable persons registered for VAT in Slovenia. The recipient of the services accounts for VAT using the appropriate Slovenian VAT rate. If the reverse charge applies, the non-established supplier is not required to register for VAT in Slovenia.

The reverse charge does not apply to the following services:

- Real estate
- Restaurant and catering services
- Cultural, artistic, scientific, educational, sporting, entertainment or similar services
- Valuations of movable tangible property or work on such property
- Short-term rentals of vehicles

Slovenia applies a domestic reverse-charge mechanism for certain supplies and services. However, this domestic reverse-charge mechanism does not prevent a foreign supplier from registering locally for VAT purposes. The following activities fall within the scope of the domestic reverse charge:

- Certain supplies and services falling in Category F of the Slovenian Standard Classification of Activities and the erection of montage houses
- Hiring out of staff used for activities falling in Category F of the Slovenian Standard Classification of Activities
- Supplies of real estate for which the parties opt for VAT taxation
- Supplies of used material waste and scrap (special listed goods)
- Trade of greenhouse gas emissions

Registration procedures. VAT registration consists of three phases. In the first phase the taxable person and its legal representative are entered in the Slovenian tax register and assigned tax numbers (paper forms available in English). In the second phase the taxable person is registered in the electronic filing system of the Slovenian Tax Authorities (paper forms available in English). For registration in the electronic filing system a special electronic certificate should be obtained. In the last phase the applicable form for VAT registration is submitted via this electronic system.

Depending on the responsiveness of the tax authorities, the timing of each step varies. A VAT registration (all three phases) usually takes 6 to 8 weeks to complete.

Late-registration penalties. A penalty may be imposed for late registration or failure to register for VAT in Slovenia and for late filing or failure to file VAT returns. Penalties vary from EUR2,000 to EUR125,000. For late payment or non-payment of VAT, a penalty ranging between EUR2,000 and EUR125,000 may be imposed. In addition, interest for late payment is charged at a daily rate of 0.0247%. Penalties ranging from EUR200 to EUR4,100 may be imposed on the responsible person of the legal entity who commits an offense, in addition to the company itself.

Digital economy. Effective 1 January 2015, new rules apply to the place of supply for supplies of telecommunications, broadcasting and electronic services to non-VAT taxable customers. For further details of the VAT rules on electronic services in the EU, please refer to the European Union chapter.

Mini One-Stop Shop. Only VAT taxable persons that are established, have a permanent establishment or are VAT registered in Slovenia can register for MOSS in Slovenia. A VAT taxable person should be able to file application for registration of MOSS as of 1 October 2014 via electronic filing system of the Slovenian Tax Authorities. If a VAT taxable person registered for MOSS in Slovenia also provides electronically supplied services in Slovenia it should report services provided in Slovenia via regular VAT return and not through special MOSS return. VAT refund claims in the member states of consumption of services should be filed through VAT refund claim and not through MOSS VAT return.

Deregistration. A taxable person can deregister for VAT by submitting a deregistration request to the tax authorities in electronic form through their online portal. The tax authorities should decide within 30 days. The taxable person is deregistered as of the date stated in the tax authorities' decision.

D. VAT rates

The term "taxable supplies" refers to supplies of goods and services that are subject to any rate of VAT, including supplies that are exempt with the right to deduct input VAT. The term "exempt supplies" refers to supplies of goods and services that are not subject to tax. Exempt supplies do not create the right to input tax deduction (see Section K). Some supplies are classified as "exempt with the right to deduct input VAT," which means that no VAT is chargeable, but the supplier may recover related input tax. "Exempt with the right to deduct input VAT" supplies include exports of goods outside the EU and related services and intra-Community supplies of goods and intangible services supplied to another taxable person established in the EU or to a recipient outside the EU (see the chapter on the EU).

The VAT rates are:

- Standard rate: 22%
- Reduced rate: 9.5%

The standard rate of VAT applies to all supplies of goods or services, unless a specific measure provides for the reduced rate or exemption.

Examples of goods and services taxable at 9.5%

- Foodstuffs (except alcoholic drinks and catering services)
- Water supplies
- Passenger transport
- Books, newspapers and periodicals
- Services of authors and composers
- Agricultural products and services
- Pharmaceutical products and medical equipment
- Cultural events
- Hotel accommodation
- Use of sports facilities
- Services of undertakers and cemeterial services

Examples of exempt supplies of goods and services

- Real estate transactions (except "new buildings")
- Financial services
- Insurance transactions
- Betting, gambling and lotteries
- Public radio and television broadcasts
- Education
- Healthcare and medical services
- Cultural services

Option to tax for exempt supplies. A taxable person may opt to tax real estate transactions (except "new buildings"), provided that the recipient has the full right to deduct VAT. The tax authorities have to be notified of the option to tax prior to the transaction taking place.

E. Time of supply

The time when VAT becomes due is called the “chargeable event” or “tax point.” The following are the general rules in Slovenia for determining the chargeable event:

- VAT is due when goods are delivered or when services are performed.
- If no invoice is issued for supplied goods or services, VAT is due on the last day of the tax period (month) in which the goods are delivered or the services are performed.

Prepayments. If payment is made before the supply is made (prepayment), VAT is due on the day on which the prepayment is received. For intra-Community acquisitions or supplies of goods, prepayments do not create a tax point.

Intra-Community acquisitions. For intra-Community acquisitions of goods, VAT is due on the day when the invoice is issued. If an invoice for the supply is not issued or is issued before the supply is made, VAT is due on the 15th day of the month following the month in which the goods are delivered.

Imported goods. VAT for imported goods becomes due when the import is made or when the goods leave the duty suspension regime and are released for free circulation.

Cash accounting for small businesses. A domestic taxable person whose taxable turnover (excluding VAT and sales of assets) did not exceed EUR400,000 in the previous 12 months and whose turnover is not expected to exceed this limit in the next 12 months, may, under certain conditions, charge and pay VAT on a cash basis; that is, on the basis of payments received for its supplies of goods and services. A taxpayer that uses the cash accounting scheme may deduct input tax on its purchases only when the VAT is fully paid. For related companies, the turnover threshold applies to the whole group.

Reverse-charge services. For reverse-charge services, VAT becomes due when services are performed.

Continuous supplies of services. In case of continuous supplies of services where periodical invoices are raised or payments are made, VAT becomes due upon expiry of the period to which the payments or invoices relate. Where services are continuously supplied over a period of more than one year and no invoices are issued or payments are made during that period, VAT becomes due at the end of each calendar year, until such supplies of services come to an end.

Intra-Community supplies of goods. For intra-Community supplies of goods, VAT becomes due on the day when the invoice is issued. If an invoice for the supply is not issued, VAT becomes due on the 15th day of the month following the month in which the goods are supplied.

Leased assets. In case of a financial lease (where the ownership of goods is transferred to lessee upon payment of the last installment) this is considered a supply of goods and VAT becomes due when the assets are physically handed over. In case of operational lease this is considered a service and VAT becomes due when the service is performed.

F. Recovery of VAT by taxable persons

A taxable person may recover input tax, which is VAT charged on goods and services supplied to it for business purposes. A taxable person generally recovers input tax by deducting it from output tax, which is VAT charged on supplies made.

Input tax includes VAT charged on goods and services supplied in Slovenia, VAT paid on imports of goods and self-assessed VAT on intra-Community acquisitions of goods and reverse-charge services (see the chapter on the EU).

A valid tax invoice or customs document must generally accompany a claim for input tax recovery.

Nondeductible input tax. Input tax may not be recovered on purchases of goods and services that are not used for business purposes (for example, goods acquired for private use by an entrepreneur). In addition, input tax may not be recovered for some items of business expenditure.

Examples of items for which input tax is nondeductible

- Hospitality costs (accommodation, food and drinks, and entertainment)
- Purchase, lease, fuel and maintenance of cars and boats (except if used by driving schools or for public transportation)

Examples of items for which input tax is deductible (if related to a taxable business use)

- Advertising
- Purchase, lease, fuel and maintenance of buses and trucks
- Telephones
- Books and newspapers
- Attendance at seminars (except food and drinks)
- Raw materials

Partial exemption. Input tax directly related to the making of exempt supplies is generally not recoverable. If a taxable person makes both exempt and taxable supplies it may not recover input tax in full. This situation is referred to as “partial exemption.”

Input tax directly relating to taxable supplies is fully recoverable, while input tax directly relating to exempt supplies is not recoverable.

To determine the amount of input VAT that may be recovered one of the following methods may be used:

- Deduction of input VAT using actual data, provided that the taxable person maintains (in its books of account or other records) information regarding the total amount of input VAT including the amount of input VAT that is deductible.
- Determination of the amount of deductible input VAT using a pro-rata method for the whole business, if the taxable person is unable to determine the amount of input VAT as described above.
- Determination of the amount of deductible input VAT using several deductible amounts for each of its various fields of business activity separately. A “field of business activity” is any level of activity of the taxable person according to a standard classification of activities or organizational units of the taxable person (such as a separate plant or business unit).

Under the pro-rata method, the total annual supplies on which input VAT is deductible exclusive of VAT is divided by total annual supplies on which VAT is not deductible including state subsidies and grants.

Capital goods. Capital goods are items of capital expenditure that are used in a business over several years. Input tax is deducted in the VAT year in which the goods are acquired. The amount of input tax recovered depends on the taxable person's partial exemption recovery position in the VAT year of acquisition. However, the amount of input tax recovered for capital goods must be adjusted over time if the taxable person's partial exemption recovery percentage changes during the adjustment period.

In Slovenia, the capital goods adjustment applies to the following assets for the number of years indicated:

- Real estate: adjusted for a period of 20 years
- Other tangible fixed assets: adjusted for a period of five years

Refunds. If the amount of input tax recoverable in a tax period exceeds the amount of output tax payable in that same period, the taxable person has an input tax credit. An input tax credit is carried forward to the following VAT tax period. However, a VAT-registered person is entitled to a refund of the input tax credit within 21 days after submitting a VAT return form for the tax period.

The tax authorities pay interest on delayed repayments of VAT. The daily statutory rate of interest is 0.0247%.

Preregistration costs. According to the official guidance issued by the Slovenian tax authorities, a VAT taxable person has the right to deduct input VAT incurred prior to the VAT registration in Slovenia (under the assumption that all other conditions for VAT deduction are met).

Write-off of bad debts. If payment for a supply is not received a taxpayer may adjust (reduce) the VAT amount if according to the final court resolution of a completed bankruptcy procedure or successfully completed compulsory settlement the taxpayer's receivables were either not settled or not settled in full. The same applies to a taxpayer who obtains a final court resolution or another document clearly showing that in the closing execution procedure, the taxpayer's receivables were not settled or not settled in full. A taxpayer may also adjust the VAT amount if their receivables were not settled due to the fact that the debtor was deleted from the court register or any other relevant register or prescribed records.

Regardless of the above presented provisions of Slovenian VAT legislation, the amount of non-tax-paid VAT for outstanding receivables can be adjusted after submission of a claim for the respective receivable in the bankruptcy proceeding or compulsory settlement. However, this claim should be first recognized by the applicable officials in the bankruptcy proceeding or compulsory settlement.

Noneconomic activities. VAT taxable person cannot deduct input VAT from goods and services which were used for its noneconomic activities.

G. Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses

Slovenia refunds VAT incurred by businesses that are neither established nor registered for VAT in Slovenia. Non-established businesses may claim Slovenian VAT to the same extent as VAT-registered businesses.

Businesses established in the EU can submit a claim for refund with the tax authorities of their country of establishment. Businesses established outside the EU can claim a refund under the terms of the EU 13th Directive. Slovenia applies the condition of reciprocity with respect to refund claims. This may exclude applicants from some non-EU countries.

Refund application. For non-EU businesses, the deadline for refund claims is 30 June following the calendar year in which the tax was incurred. This deadline is strictly enforced.

EU businesses can make refund claims for Slovenian VAT in accordance with the procedure in their country of establishment.

Claims filed in Slovenia must be submitted in the Slovenian language. Applications for refund must be accompanied by the relevant documentation (see the chapter on the EU).

The minimum claim period is six months. The minimum claim for a period of less than a year is EUR400. The maximum period is one year. For an annual claim, the minimum amount is EUR50. The claim period can be shorter than six months if this period represents the rest of the calendar year.

The tax authorities must stamp each submitted invoice and import document and return them to the claimant within 30 days of receipt. The tax authorities must also rule on the claim within six months after the submission of the claim. If the claim is approved, the refund is processed within six months after the submission of the claim by either remitting payment into a Slovenian bank account or making a transfer abroad (the claimant is responsible for all expenses related to this repayment).

Since 1 July 2012, applications for refunds of Slovenian VAT by non-EU businesses must be filed with the Slovenian tax authorities in electronic form through their online portal.

H. Invoicing

VAT invoices and credit notes. A taxable person must generally provide a VAT invoice for all taxable supplies made, including exports and intra-Community supplies. Invoices are not required for a limited range of supplies, including the following:

- Supplies by taxpayers that perform agricultural or forestry activities and sell these products and services to final consumers
- The sale of tickets, season tickets and tokens for passenger transport (trains, buses and cable cars), stamps, court stamps, postal forms, payments for participating in games of chance, periodicals, vending machine sales, sale of mobile phone cards by ATM, GMS network and the internet, sale of tokens from change machines and supplies of services at “teleservice points”
- Exempt financial services performed in Slovenia or outside the EU for which the taxable person issues a large number of documents to recipients.

However, the taxable person should issue a consolidated document, such as a separate bank statement, which includes the value of services charged and the clause that VAT is not charged according to the applicable article of the VAT law.

A VAT invoice is necessary to support a claim for input tax deduction or refund under the applicable EU Directive refund scheme (see the chapter on the EU).

If the taxable amount subsequently changes as a result of the return of goods or the granting of a discount, the tax base is lowered accordingly. The taxable person may adjust (reduce) the amount of VAT payable if it informs the recipient in writing (for example, by issuing a credit note) about the nondeductible amount. A credit note must contain all the information prescribed for an invoice including a reference to the invoice.

Electronic invoicing. Effective 1 January 2013, the VAT law was amended to permit electronic invoicing in line with the EU Directive 2010/45/EU.

Proof of exports and intra-Community supplies. Slovenian VAT is not chargeable on supplies of exported goods or on intra-Community supplies of goods (see the chapter on the EU). However, to qualify as VAT-free, exports and intra-Community supplies must be supported by evidence that the goods have left Slovenia. Acceptable proof includes the following documentation:

- For an export, a copy of the export document, officially certified by customs. In certain cases, an invoice stamped by customs, a mail freight declaration, or a transport document is acceptable.
- For an intra-Community supply, an invoice with the purchaser's VAT identification number and corresponding transport document (or other suitable document that clearly refers to the freight of goods related to the invoice).

Foreign-currency invoices. Invoices may be issued in a foreign currency. The VAT amount must always be in euros (EUR or €). The exchange rate that must be used is the foreign exchange rate of the European Central Bank that is valid on the date on which the tax liability arises and that is published by the Bank of Slovenia.

B2C invoices. Effective 1 January 2015, new rules apply to the place of supply for supplies of telecommunications, broadcasting and electronic services to non-VAT taxable customers. For further details of the VAT rules on electronic services in the EU, please refer to the European Union chapter.

Slovenian suppliers of these services are required to issue invoices to non-taxable customers.

I. VAT returns and payment

VAT returns. Slovenian VAT returns are submitted for monthly or quarterly tax periods. Quarterly tax periods coincide with the months of March, June, September and December. A tax period for each taxable person is determined on the basis of its turnover in the preceding calendar year in accordance with the following rules:

- Taxable persons with turnover up to EUR210,000 submit quarterly tax returns, unless the taxable person engages in intra-Community transactions and is liable to submit a recapitulative statement (see Section K).

- Taxable persons with turnover greater than EUR210,000 submit monthly tax returns.

The tax period for newly established taxable persons is a calendar month for the first 12 months of business activity. The tax period for foreign taxable persons (non-established businesses) is always a calendar month.

VAT returns must be submitted and any VAT due must be paid in full by the last working day of the month following the end of each tax period. If the taxable person performs intra-Community supplies and must file a recapitulative statement (see Section K), the VAT return must be submitted by the 20th day of the month (or earlier if the 20th day is not a working day) following the reporting period (calendar month).

Special schemes. The special scheme for domestic reverse charges requires the supplier and recipient of these supplies to record the transaction and applicable VAT (charged amount and deduction) in specific boxes in the VAT return. Furthermore, the supplier has to report the reverse-charged supplies (domestic) in a special separate form to Slovenian tax authorities.

Electronic filing and archiving. VAT returns have to be filed through the electronic filing system of the Slovenian tax authorities ("e-davki"). For registration in the electronic filing system a special electronic certificate should be obtained (please see Section C: Registration procedures).

All received and issued invoices should be archived for 10 years after the end of the year to which they relate (20 years if the invoices relate to immovable property). A taxable person may archive invoices outside Slovenia after informing the tax authorities. The basic rule is that invoices must be archived in their original form. The condition for electronic archiving is that a taxpayer ensures the file content cannot be modified or erased while at the same time it can be reproduced if needed.

Annual returns. Not applicable.

J. Penalties

Penalties are imposed for a range of VAT offenses. The following are the penalties:

- Late filing or non-filing of a VAT return: a penalty ranging from EUR2,000 to EUR125,000
- Late payment or non-payment of VAT: a penalty ranging from EUR2,000 to EUR125,000
- An offense committed by a responsible person of a taxable entity: a fine ranging from EUR200 to EUR4,100

Interest. Default interest is imposed for the late payment of VAT due. The daily statutory rate of default interest is 0.0247%.

Criminal offenses. The criminal offense of tax evasion is punishable by a term of imprisonment ranging from one to eight years.

K. EU filings

Intrastat. A Slovenian taxable person that trades with other EU countries must complete statistical reports, known as Intrastat, if the value of either its sales or purchases of goods exceeds certain thresholds. Separate reports are required for intra-Community acquisitions (Intrastat Arrivals) and for intra-Community supplies (Intrastat Dispatches).

For 2011, the threshold for Intrastat Arrivals is EUR120,000 and the threshold for Intrastat Dispatches is EUR200,000.

Intrastat returns must be submitted by the 15th day of the month following the reporting period (calendar month). If the 15th day is a non-working day, the Intrastat return must be submitted by the last working day before the 15th day of the month.

Intrastat returns may be submitted in paper form, electronic format or via the internet (<http://intrastat-surs.gov.si/>).

For a legal entity, a penalty of up to EUR1,250 may be imposed for late submission, failure to submit, or for inaccurate Intrastat declarations. In addition, a penalty of up to EUR125 may be imposed on a person responsible for the return.

Recapitulative Statements (EU Sales List). If a Slovenian taxable person performs intra-Community supplies or reverse-charge services that are taxable for VAT purposes in the other EU state in a tax period, it must submit a Recapitulative Statement to the Slovenian tax authorities. The Recapitulative Statement is not required for any periods in which the taxable person does not make any intra-Community supplies.

The Recapitulative Statement must be submitted monthly by the 20th day of the month (or earlier if the 20th day is not a working day) following the reporting period (calendar month).

Penalties ranging from EUR2,000 to EUR125,000 may be imposed for late submissions, failures to submit, or inaccurate Recapitulative Statements.

South Africa

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Johannesburg

GMT +2

EY

Mail address:
P.O. Box 2322
Johannesburg 2000
South Africa

Street address:
102 Rivonia Road
Sandton, 2196
South Africa

Indirect tax contacts

Folkert Gaarlandt	+27 (11) 772-5220 folkert.gaarlandt@za.ey.com
Leon Oosthuizen	+27 (11) 772-3612 charl.niemand@za.ey.com
Redge de Swardt	+27 (11) 772-3544 redge.deswardt@za.ey.com

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Value-added tax (VAT)
Date introduced	30 September 1991
European Union (EU) Member State	No
Member of the Southern African Customs Union	Yes
Administered by	Commissioner for the South African Revenue Service (SARS) (http://www.sars.gov.za)
VAT rates
Standard	14%
Other	Zero-rated and exempt
VAT number format	4220122222
VAT return periods
Monthly	Annual taxable supplies in excess of ZAR30 million
Bimonthly	Annual taxable supplies of less than ZAR30 million, determined by the commissioner
Four-monthly	Until this return period expires 1 July 2015, annual taxable supplies of less than ZAR1.5 million, determined by the commissioner (special cases)
Six-monthly or annually	Annual taxable supplies of less than ZAR1.5 million by farmers, farming enterprises, nonprofit associations (special cases)
Thresholds
Registration	Annual taxable supplies of more than ZAR1 million

Foreign suppliers of electronic services to South African residents exceeding ZAR50,000

Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses Yes (in limited circumstances)

B. Scope of the tax

VAT applies to the following transactions:

- The supply of goods or services made in South Africa by a registered person
- Reverse-charge services received by a person in South Africa that is not entitled to claim full input tax credits (referred to as imported services)
- The importation of goods from outside South Africa, regardless of the status of the importer

Goods that are imported from countries in the Southern African Customs Union (that is, Botswana, Lesotho, Namibia, South Africa and Swaziland) are not subject to customs duty, but they are subject to VAT.

C. Who is liable

Goods and services supplied in South Africa. A vendor is required to account for output tax on all goods and services supplied, unless the supply is specifically exempted by the Value-Added Tax Act.

A “vendor” (taxable person) is a person (business entity or individual) carrying on an activity in or partly in South Africa on a continuous or regular basis if, in the course of the activity, goods or services are supplied to another person for consideration exceeding the registration threshold. This includes persons who are registered for VAT in South Africa as well as persons who are required to register as vendors.

A person is required to register as a vendor if the value of taxable supplies exceeds (or is expected to exceed) ZAR1 million in any consecutive 12-month period or a signed contract is in place proving that the ZAR1 million threshold will be exceeded in the following 12-month period.

Importers are liable to pay VAT on imported goods. (There are certain exemptions where VAT is not chargeable, like when goods are donated by a non-resident to an association not for gain, personal use goods imported by tourists and goods temporarily admitted for processing or repairs.)

Recipients of services are liable to pay VAT on imported services to the extent that the services will be utilized or consumed in the making of non-taxable supplies. Imported services are exempt from VAT if the value of the supply does not exceed ZAR100 per invoice.

Voluntary registration. A person whose turnover is below the compulsory registration threshold may register for VAT on a voluntary basis if the value of its taxable supplies exceeds ZAR50,000 in any 12-month period (excluding the provision of commercial accommodation, for which the threshold is ZAR60,000). Certain industries such as welfare organizations, projects funded by foreign donors, and municipalities can register even if they don't meet the voluntary registration threshold.

Group registration. VAT grouping is not allowed under the South African VAT law. All legal entities must register for VAT individually. VAT is charged on transactions between separately registered entities within a commercial group in accordance with the general VAT rules and subject to the rules relating to supplies between related persons.

Non-established businesses. A "non-established business" is a business that has no fixed establishment in South Africa. A non-established business that makes taxable supplies of goods or services continuously or regularly in South Africa must appoint a tax representative and open a South African bank account to register for VAT. The VAT authorities may appoint any person as an agent for any other person to recover amounts due to the SARS.

E-commerce suppliers. Effective 1 June 2014, the supply of electronic services by a foreign supplier to recipients in South Africa is subject to VAT. The liability to register for VAT will arise where the electronic services are supplied from a place outside South Africa to a recipient that is a resident of South Africa or where payment to the non-established business originates from a South African bank. Effective 1 April 2015 this specific inclusion applies where at least two of the following circumstances are present, namely:

- The electronic services are supplied to a South African resident
- Any payment for such services is made from a South African bank
- The electronic services are supplied to a person with a business address, residential address or postal address in South Africa where a tax invoice will be delivered

"Electronic services" is defined in a regulation that provides that the following services are electronic services where provided by means of an electronic agent, electronic communication or the internet for consideration:

- Educational services (distance teaching programs, educational webcasts, internet-based courses, internet-based educational programs or webinars, if the person supplying the educational service is not regulated by an educational authority in the foreign country)
- Games and games of chance (electronic games, interactive games and electronic betting or wagering)
- Internet-based auction services
- Miscellaneous services (e-books, audio visual content, still images and music)
- Subscription services (to any blog, journal, magazine, newspaper, games, internet-based auction service, periodical, publication, social networking service, webcast, webinar, website, web application or web series).

A special compulsory registration threshold of ZAR50,000 applies to the suppliers of electronic services, and VAT is accounted for on a payments basis to the tax authorities.

Deemed supplies. In addition to actual goods and services supplied by a vendor, the VAT Act also deems certain supplies to be supplies of goods or services. The person making the deemed supply is liable to pay VAT. Deemed supplies include the following:

- Ceasing to be a vendor
- Short-term indemnity payments
- Change in use
- Excess payments not refunded within four months
- Fringe benefits
- Receipts of payments from government by designated entities for purposes of taxable supplies
- Trading stock used for private purposes
- Betting and gambling transactions

Tax representatives. A registered VAT vendor needs to appoint a natural person residing in RSA as a tax representative to assist in tax matters and to represent the entity in South Africa.

Reverse charge. In South Africa, a reverse charge only applies if the services are intended to be used in the making of non-taxable supplies by the recipient of the services. The recipient of the services is liable to account for the VAT thereon.

Registration procedures. A VAT 101 form needs to be completed and the following supporting documentation would need to be presented:

- Company registered in South Africa as a CIPC company:
 - Copy of certificate of incorporation
 - Copy of identity document or passport of two members / directors / shareholders / trustees of the company
 - Bank details
 - Original letter from bank
 - Three months' bank statements with original bank stamp
 - Copy of financial information listed as source under financial particulars (to determine value of taxable supplies (no cash flow projections or business plans will be accepted)
 - If a practitioner is submitting the application on behalf of a vendor, a power of attorney authorizing the practitioner to act on behalf of the vendor
 - Copy of identity document, driving license or passport of representative vendor
 - For holding/subsidiary company or non-resident company
 - VAT 119i form indemnity for banking details where third party's bank details are used
 - VAT 121 form if tax period is category E
 - Confirmation of business address
 - Recent copy of the business municipal account, or utility bill or CRA01 form
 - Confirmation of residential address
 - Recent copy of the residential municipal account, or utility bill or CRA01 form of individual, partner or representative vendor
- Non-establishment company:
 - Copy of certificate of incorporation – if in a foreign language it must be translated in writing into English
 - If the foreign company has a physical presence in South Africa, copy of the municipal account of the business must be submitted
 - Where the foreign company has no physical/business address in South Africa; proof of the physical address of the representative vendor is required

- Certified copy of passport documents of the members directors/shareholders/trustees of the company
- Copies of financial information listed as source in the financial particulars section of the application form to determine value of taxable supplies. If the value is not in South African currency, the South African rand equivalent must be provided (no cash flow projections or business plans will be accepted)
- Bank details
- Original letter from bank
- Three months' bank statements with original bank stamp
- VAT 119i form indemnity for banking details where third party's bank details are used
- Relevant material required for representative vendor/ authorised practitioner
- In case of a practitioner, a Letter of Authority or Power of Attorney to authorize the practitioner to act on behalf of the applicant
- Certified copy of identity document of representative vendor
- “Electronic service” company:
 - Copy of certificate of incorporation
 - Proof of registration with foreign authority; i.e., issued Tax Registration Certificate issued in the country of residence confirming registration of any tax administered by that foreign country
 - Copy of identity document or passport of the appointed foreign representative or specified contact person with regards to the registration application
 - Copy of a recent bank statement from the South African registered bank in South Africa (if a bank account was opened in South Africa – it is, however, not a requirement to have a South African bank account in the case of registering a foreign electronic service provider)

Late-registration penalties. A person has to register for VAT within 21 days after becoming liable for registration. A 10% late payment penalty, interest at the prescribed rate (currently 8.5% per annum) and an understatement penalty of between 5% and 200% of the VAT payable may be levied in a case where a person registers late. Where such late registration is made under a voluntary disclosure application, the understatement penalty will not be levied and the person can apply for a remission of the 10% late payment penalty.

Digital economy. See “E-commerce suppliers” above.

Deregistration. A vendor can apply to SARS to be deregistered if its taxable supplies during a 12-month period is below the ZAR1 million threshold. If a vendor's taxable supplies during a 12-month period is below the voluntary registration threshold of ZAR50,000 the commissioner will automatically deregister the person.

If a vendor ceases to carry on all enterprises, the commissioner must be notified within 21 days.

D. VAT rates

The term “taxable supplies” refers to supplies of goods and services that are subject to tax at either the standard rate (14%) or zero rate (0%). A vendor must account for VAT at the standard rate on all supplies of goods and services, unless the supply is specifically exempted or zero-rated under the VAT Act.

Examples of goods and services taxable at 0%

- Exports of goods and related services
- International transport of passengers and goods, and related services
- Certain supplies of goods that are used exclusively in an export country
- Services supplied outside South Africa and to foreign branches and head offices
- Certain basic foodstuffs
- Goods used for agricultural purposes
- Illuminating kerosene and leaded and unleaded gasoline
- Supply of gold coins issued by the reserve bank
- Supply of an enterprise capable of separate operation as a going concern (provided that all of the requirements are met)
- Supply of fuel levy goods and certain fuels obtained from crude to be refined to produce fuel levy products
- Receipt of certain grants
- Supply of intellectual property for use outside of South Africa
- Supply of services to nonresidents subject to certain provisions
- Triangular supplies (the vendor supplies goods to a nonresident but delivers them in South Africa; special requirements apply)

The term “exempt supplies” refers to supplies of goods and services that are not subject to tax. A vendor is not entitled to claim a deduction on expenses incurred to make exempt supplies (see Section F).

Examples of exempt supplies of goods and services

- Financial services, including Shari’a finance premiums
- Fare-paying passenger transport by road or rail
- Educational services
- Child care
- Donated goods supplied by certain nonprofit (charitable) bodies
- Rental of residential accommodation
- Immovable property located outside South Africa
- The supply of goods by a non-established business before the goods are entered for home consumption, unless the non-established business applies in writing to the SARS to have the supplies zero-rated

Option to tax for exempt supplies. Not applicable.

E. Time of supply

The time when VAT becomes due is called the “time of supply” or “tax point.”

In South Africa, the basic time of supply is the earlier of the issuance of an invoice or the receipt of payment.

Other tax points are used for a variety of situations, including betting transactions, construction supplies made from vending machines and “lay-by” sale agreements.

The tax point for supplies of goods between related persons is when the goods are removed by or made available to the purchaser or recipient of the goods. The time of supply for the supply of services between related persons is when the services are performed.

The tax point for goods consigned or delivered to a branch or main business outside South Africa is when the goods are actually consigned or delivered. The tax point for services supplied to a branch or main business outside South Africa is when the services are performed.

Continuous supplies. The tax point for periodic supplies is the earlier of the date on which payment is due or the date on which payment is received.

Installment credit agreements. For installment credit agreements, the supply is deemed to take place at the earlier of when the goods are delivered or any payment of consideration is made.

Immovable property. The supply of immovable property is deemed to take place at the earlier of the following dates:

- The date on which the registration of the transfer is made in a deeds registry
- The date on which payment is received

Imported goods. The tax point for imported goods varies depending on the source of the goods being imported. The following are the applicable rules:

- For goods that are imported from a Southern African Customs Union country: when the goods are brought into South Africa at the border post
- For goods imported from other countries: when the goods are cleared for home consumption
- For goods imported and entered into a licensed Customs and Excise storage warehouse: when the goods are cleared from the warehouse for home consumption

Where an importer is registered for VAT purposes and will utilize or consume the imported goods in the making of taxable supplies, the importer may claim the VAT paid on importation as an input tax deduction. This deduction may only be claimed in the tax period that the VAT due on importation was paid to SARS. Where a customs deferment account is used by the importer (or its clearing agent) the importer needs to ensure that the VAT is paid to SARS before it claims an input tax deduction. Effective 1 April 2015, the importer will be entitled to claim the VAT paid on importation as an input tax deduction in the tax period in which the goods are released in terms of the customs and excise act.

F. Recovery of VAT by taxable persons

A registered vendor may recover input tax (that is, VAT charged on goods and services supplied to it for business purposes) by deducting it from output tax, which is VAT charged on supplies made in a particular tax period provided they have valid tax invoices.

Input tax includes VAT charged on goods and services supplied in South Africa and VAT paid on the importation of goods.

Nondeductible input tax. Input tax may not be recovered on purchases of goods and services that are not used for taxable purposes (for example, goods acquired for private use or services used for making exempt supplies). In addition, input tax may not be recovered for specifically excluded business expenditure, such as entertainment.

Examples of items for which input tax is nondeductible

- Purchase or hire of a motor car (subject to certain exceptions)
- Business and staff entertainment (subject to certain exceptions)
- Business gifts (to the extent that the gift constitutes “entertainment,” as defined)
- Club subscriptions

Examples of items for which input tax is deductible
(if related to a taxable business use)

- Purchase, hire and maintenance of vans and trucks
- Attendance at conferences and seminars
- Vehicle maintenance costs (including motor cars)
- Mobile phones
- Air transport within South Africa
- Aviation fuel
- Trading stock
- Raw materials
- Marketing expenditure

Partially deductible input tax (partial exemption). Input tax directly related to the making of exempt supplies is not recoverable. If a taxable person makes both exempt and taxable supplies, it may recover only a portion of the input tax incurred. In South Africa, the deductible portion is determined using the following two-stage calculation:

- The first stage identifies the input tax directly attributable to taxable and exempt supplies. Input tax directly attributable to taxable supplies is deductible, while input tax directly related to exempt supplies is not deductible.
- The second stage identifies the amount of the remaining input tax (for example, input tax on general business overhead) that cannot be directly attributed to the making of taxable or exempt supplies. Such input tax may be deducted only to the extent that it relates to the making of taxable supplies. In general, the deductible portion is determined by comparing the value of taxable supplies to total supplies. However, a vendor may apply to the SARS for another equitable apportionment method (for example, apportionment based on floor space or activity), particularly if significant investment income, foreign-exchange gains or other non-taxable passive income is realized.

Refunds. If the amount of input tax recoverable in a period exceeds the amount of output tax payable in that period, a refund of the excess may be claimed.

The SARS pays interest at the prescribed rate if it does not pay the refund claimed within 21 business days after the date on which the VAT return is received by the SARS. The SARS is not liable for interest if the vendor did not provide bank account details, if the returns furnished were incomplete or defective in any material respect or if the return is being investigated.

Preregistration costs. Where goods or services are acquired for or on behalf of a company or in connection with incorporation of that company, the goods or services will be deemed to be received by that company if the person who paid the cost was reimbursed and the goods were acquired in the carrying out of that company's enterprise. The goods or services will be deemed to have been paid by that company in the same tax period during which the reimbursement took place. This shall not apply in any of the following circumstances:

- Expenses occurred more than six months prior to incorporation.
- The company does not have sufficient records to substantiate that the goods or services received were taxable supplies.
- The expenses relate to second-hand goods.

G. Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses

VAT incurred by businesses that are neither established nor registered in South Africa may be recovered only with respect to goods that are exported from South Africa. The goods must be exported from a designated port within 90 days after the invoice date. A refund may be claimed from the VAT Refund Administrator. No claim may be made with respect to services (such as hotel accommodation and restaurant meals) consumed in South Africa.

A business that regularly or continuously supplies goods or services in South Africa may be liable to register as a VAT vendor, even though the business is neither established nor registered in South Africa, if it carries on an enterprise and meets the registration requirements. In this instance, the non-established business registered as a vendor may recover input tax through the normal VAT return process.

H. Invoicing

VAT invoices and credit notes. Vendors are required to issue a full tax invoice for all supplies made if the consideration (that is, the total amount received inclusive of VAT) amounts to ZAR5,000 or more. If the total amount in money for the supply is less than ZAR5,000, the supplier may issue an abridged tax invoice. Tax invoices may be issued electronically if the encryption meets SARS requirements and if the invoice recipients agree in writing to accept electronic invoices.

The following information is required for a full tax invoice:

- The words "tax invoice" in a prominent place
- The name, address and VAT registration number of the supplier
- The name, address, and where the recipient is a registered vendor and the VAT registration number of the recipient
- An individual serialized number and the date on which the tax invoice was issued
- Full description of the goods or services supplied
- Quantity or volume of goods or services supplied
- The value of the supply, VAT amount and the VAT-inclusive amount of the supply

The following information is required for an abridged tax invoice:

- The words "tax invoice" in a prominent place
- The name, address and VAT registration number of the supplier
- An individual serialized number and the date on which the tax invoice was issued

- Full description of the goods or services supplied
- Quantity or volume of goods or services supplied
- The value of the supply, VAT amount and the VAT-inclusive amount of the supply

Registered foreign suppliers of electronic services are required to issue abridged tax invoices.

In some cases, tax invoices need not be issued (for example, for certain periodic supplies) if the underlying documentation, such as a rental agreement, includes the information contained in a tax invoice.

A VAT credit note or debit note may be used to reduce VAT charged and reclaimed on a supply of goods or services. A credit note or a debit note may be issued only if the tax charged is incorrect or if the supplier has paid incorrect output tax as a result of one or more of the following circumstances:

- The supply has been cancelled
- The nature of the supply has been fundamentally varied or altered
- The previously agreed consideration has been altered by agreement with the recipient of the supply
- All or part of the goods or services has been returned to the supplier
- An error has occurred in stipulating the amount of consideration agreed upon for that supply

If a credit note adjusts the amount of VAT charged, it must be clearly marked “credit note” and must refer to the original tax invoice. It must briefly indicate the reason that it is being issued and provide sufficient information to identify the transaction to which it refers.

Proof of exports. Exports can be classified as either direct exports or indirect exports. Direct exports (that is, the selling vendor is responsible to deliver the goods at an address outside South Africa) can be zero-rated if certain documentary requirements are met. In the case of indirect exports (that is where the recipient is responsible for exporting the goods from South Africa), the supplying vendor may only zero-rate the supply if the goods are supplied to a non-established recipient and the supplier ensures that the goods are delivered at a designated harbor or airport from where the recipient exports the goods, or the goods are delivered to the recipients appointed agent that exports the goods via road or rail.

Documentation that must be retained in the case of a direct export, are:

- A copy of the zero-rated tax invoice
- The customer’s order or the contract between the customer and supplier
- The customs documentation
- Proof that the movable goods have been received by the customer in the export country
- The transport documentation as required for the relevant mode of transport (i.e., road manifest, a copy of the combined consignment note and wagon label issued by the rail operator, or a copy of the container terminal order or freight transit order)

- issued by the container operator or the rail operator, the sea freight transport document or the airfreight transport document)
- Proof of payment for the movable goods supplied to the customer

Where the supplier contracts with a cartage contractor to deliver the goods to a customer outside South Africa the following additional documentary proof:

- Proof that the supplier paid the transport costs
- In the case of transport by road, a copy of the proof of delivery issued by the cartage contractor that the movable goods have been received by the customer in the export country

Documentation that must be retained in the case of an indirect export where the supplier elects to apply a zero-rate, are:

- A copy of the zero-rated tax invoice
- A copy of the customer's trading license (i.e., a document indicating that the customer is carrying on a business outside South Africa)
- The customer's order or the contract between the customer and supplier
- Proof of payment for the movable goods supplied to the customer
- A letter from the customer authorizing a person to represent the customer and a copy of such person's passport
- Proof of delivery of the goods to the harbor or airport
- Export documentation

Documentation that must be retained in the case of an indirect export where the supplier elects to apply a zero-rate in a case where the customer's agent exports the goods from South Africa via road or rail, are:

- A copy of the zero-rated tax invoice
- A copy of the customer's trading license (i.e., a document indicating that the customer is carrying on a business outside South Africa)
- A letter from the customer authorizing a person to represent the customer and a copy of such person's passport
- The customer's order or the contract between the customer and the supplier
- Proof of payment for the movable goods supplied to the customer (the proof of payment must be in compliance with South African Reserve Bank (SARB) requirements where applicable)
- Proof of delivery of the goods to the customer's agent's premises
- A statement from the customer's agent containing an inventory reconciliation of all the movable goods received from the supplier and exported by the agent or a cartage contractor engaged by either the customer or its agent to the customer
- Confirmation of the proof of export from the customer's agent

Foreign-currency invoices. In general, a tax invoice must be issued in South African rand (ZAR). However, if the invoice relates to a zero-rated supply, the tax invoice may be issued in any currency. If an invoice is issued in a foreign currency, the rand equivalent must be determined using the appropriate exchange rate on the time of supply date (the daily exchange rate quoted on the South African Reserve Bank's website may be used for this purpose: <http://www.resbank.co.za/Research/Rates/Pages/SelectedHistoricalExchangeAndInterestRates.aspx>.)

I. VAT returns and payment

VAT returns. The tax return period is monthly for persons with annual taxable turnover in excess of ZAR30 million. The tax return period is bimonthly for persons with annual taxable turnover below ZAR30 million. Other tax periods are available (six-month and annually) for special categories of persons with annual taxable supplies lower than ZAR1.5 million, such as farmers, farming enterprises and nonprofit associations, but only with the prior agreement of the SARS.

VAT returns must be filed by the 25th day after the end of the tax period or, if returns are filed and paid electronically through the SARS eFiling system, by the end of the month following the tax period. Payment is due in full by the same date. If the due date falls on a Saturday, Sunday or a public holiday, the due date is the last business day before the 25th, or the last business day before the end of the month in the case of electronic filing.

J. Penalties

A penalty equal to 10% of the net VAT due is imposed if the VAT return is submitted late or if the VAT payment is made after the due date. The SARS may remit the penalty if satisfied that:

- The penalty has been imposed for a first incidence of noncompliance or involved an amount of less than ZAR2,000
- Reasonable grounds for the noncompliance exist
- The noncompliance at issue has been remedied
- If exceptional circumstances are present

Interest. Interest is charged at the prescribed rate on late payments of VAT, calculated for each month or part of a month. A vendor may request the SARS to remit interest if the late payment was due to circumstances beyond the vendor's control (like natural or human disaster, civil disturbance or disruption and serious illness or accident).

Understatement penalty. In the case of an understatement, the taxpayer has to pay, in addition to the VAT payable, an understatement penalty determined according to an understatement penalty percentage table, which ranges between 5% and 200%. An understatement means prejudice to the SARS or the fiscus in respect of a tax period as a result of:

- A default in rendering a return
- An omission from a return
- An incorrect statement in a return

Where a default is disclosed to SARS under a voluntary disclosure application before SARS commences with an audit or investigation, the understatement penalties are reduced to 0%.

A range of other offenses related to VAT can result in additional tax and penalties, including fines and, for severe offenses, imprisonment for a period not exceeding 24 months.

Spain

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Madrid GMT +1

EY
Plaza Pablo Ruíz Picasso, 1
Torre Picasso
28020 Madrid
Spain

Indirect tax contacts

Javier Martin	+34 915-727-554 javier.martinmartin@es.ey.com
Eduardo Verdún	+34 915-727-421 eduardo.verdunfraile@es.ey.com
Silvia Bermudo	+34 915-727-749 silvia.bermudoconde@es.ey.com
Juan Ortin	+34 915-727-718 juan.ortinramon@es.ey.com

Barcelona GMT +1

EY
Avda. de Sarriá, 102-106
Edificio Sarriá Fórum
08017 Barcelona
Spain

Indirect tax contacts

María Lorente	+34 933-663-763 maria.lorentelranzo@es.ey.com
Beatriz Nobell	+34 933-663-778 beatriz.nobellalmirall@es.ey.com

Sevilla GMT +1

EY
Avenida de la Palmera, 33
41013 Sevilla
Spain

Indirect tax contact

Pedro Gonzalez-Gaggero	+34 915-727-599 pedro.gonzalez-gaggero@es.ey.com
------------------------	---

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Value-added tax (VAT)
Local name	Impuesto sobre el Valor Añadido (IVA)
Date introduced	1 January 1986
Trading bloc membership	European Union (EU) Member State
Administered by	Ministry of Finance (http://www.aeat.es and http://www.mindhap.es)

VAT rates
Standard	21%
Reduced	4%, 10%
Other	Exempt and exempt with credit
VAT number format	A – 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 or N – 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 C (ES prefix must be added if the taxable person is included in the VAT Information Exchange System [VIES] census)
VAT return periods	Monthly (if turnover exceeded EUR6,010,121 in the preceding year or if the taxable person is included in the monthly VAT refund procedure) Quarterly Annual statement (required for all taxable persons)
Thresholds
Registration	None
Distance selling	EUR35,000
Intra-Community acquisitions	None
Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses	Yes (under certain conditions)

B. Scope of the tax

VAT applies to the following transactions:

- The supply of goods or services made in Spain by a taxable person
- The intra-Community acquisition of goods from another EU Member State by a taxable person
- The importation of goods from outside the EU, regardless of the status of the importer
- Reverse charge on goods and services received by a taxable person in Spain

For VAT purposes, the territory of Spain excludes the Canary Islands, Ceuta and Melilla.

C. Who is liable

A “taxable person” is any business entity or individual that makes taxable supplies of goods or services, intra-Community acquisitions, imports or distance sales, in the course of a business in Spain.

The reverse-charge mechanism applies to, among others, certain supplies in connection with immovable property.

No VAT registration threshold applies in Spain. A taxable person that begins activity must notify the VAT authorities of its liability to register.

Special rules apply to foreign or “non-established businesses.”

Group registration. VAT grouping is allowed under the Spanish VAT law. Notwithstanding this rule, companies that belong to the same group must register for VAT individually.

Non-established businesses. A non-established business that makes supplies of goods or services in Spain must register for VAT if it is liable to account for Spanish VAT on the supply.

The reverse-charge mechanism generally applies to supplies made by non-established businesses to taxpayers. Under this mechanism, the taxpayer is the recipient of the goods or services supplied.

If a foreign taxable person supplies goods to a company established in Spain, the recipient of the supply becomes liable for VAT purposes. However, the reverse-charge mechanism does not apply to certain items, including the following:

- Goods acquired through distance or mail-order sales
- Exempt exports
- Exempt intra-Community supplies

The reverse-charge mechanism also applies if a foreign taxable person supplies goods to another foreign taxable person.

If a foreign taxable person supplies services to a company established in Spain, the company established in Spain is treated as the taxpayer.

If a foreign taxable person supplies services subject to Spanish VAT to another foreign taxable person, in general, the supplier is liable for the VAT due.

Tax representatives. A non-established business must register in Spain for VAT purposes if it makes any of the following supplies:

- Intra-Community supplies or acquisitions
- Distance sales in excess of the threshold
- Supplies of goods and services that are not subject to the reverse-charge mechanism
- Exports

In general, non-established taxpayers must appoint a tax representative in Spain.

Taxable persons established in the EU, foreign companies established in the Canary Islands, Ceuta or Melilla, and foreign companies established in a country that has a mutual assistance agreement with Spain, are exempt from the above general rule. However, in practice, the tax authorities require the appointment of a VAT representative even for companies established in the EU, because it is mandatory to have a Spanish address where communications issued by the tax authorities can be easily received.

Registration procedures. To obtain a Spanish tax identification number, the applicant files a census return (036 form) with the Spanish tax authorities. This form must be filed physically (no electronic means) together with relevant documentation such as a deed of incorporation and a power of attorney, among others.

In principle, the registration should be performed before the commencement of the economic activity in Spain; however, it is a common practice to request the registration on the same date that the economic activity would start.

Once all the necessary information is gathered, the registration would be obtained the same date that the registration return (036 form) is filed.

Late-registration penalties. A penalty of EUR400 may be assessed for late registration. This penalty may be reduced to EUR200 if the taxpayer registers voluntarily (albeit late) without receiving a prior request from the Spanish tax authorities.

Digital economy. As of January 2015, the place of supply for services rendered through electronic means to private individuals is the place where the recipient is established.

Mini One-Stop Shop. In connection with the special scheme applicable to services rendered through electronic means:

- The regime is applicable, not only to business-to-consumer (B2C) services rendered through electronic means, but to B2C telecommunications services, radio and television broadcasting services.
- A simplification is included in order to avoid VAT registration in each Member State for e-suppliers, businesses providing B2C services rendered through electronic means are allowed to file a single, periodical VAT return and payment in connection with its supplies in each Member State.

Deregistration. To deregister for VAT purposes, the taxpayer submits, either physically or online, a census return (036 form) to the Spanish Tax Authorities.

Deregistering from the census as professional entrepreneurs is more involved, as it cancels the tax identification number. It is the same census return (036 form) submitted in the same way, but must be accompanied by additional documentation.

D. VAT rates

The following are the VAT rates in Spain:

- Standard rate: 21%
- Reduced rates: 4% and 10%

The standard rate of VAT applies to all supplies of goods or services, unless a specific measure provides for a reduced rate or exemption.

Examples of goods and services taxable at 4%

- Basic foodstuffs
- Books, journals and magazines
- Pharmaceutical products for humans
- Certain goods and services for handicapped persons
- Provision of housing from 20 August 2011 until 31 December 2012

Examples of goods and services taxable at 10%

- Food and drink for human or animal consumption
- Pharmaceutical products for animals
- Prescription glasses and contact lenses
- Medical equipment (from January 2015, certain medical equipment taxed at standard 21% rate)
- Residential dwellings
- Passenger transport
- Hotel and restaurant services
- Garbage collection
- Trade fairs and exhibitions

Exempt supplies generally do not give rise to a right to deduct input VAT paid.

Examples of exempt supplies of goods and services

- Immovable property, in certain cases
- Medical services
- Finance
- Insurance
- Universal postal services

Option to tax for exempt supplies. The option to tax supplies of real estate goods (land or building) is modified as of January 2015. Taxpayers may opt to pay tax on such supplies when:

- The recipient has the right, total or partial, to deduct input VAT.
- The recipient has no right to deduct input VAT, but the goods acquired would be destined, totally or partially, to carry out operations giving the right to deduct input VAT.

E. Time of supply

The time when VAT becomes due is called the “time of supply” or “tax point.” The basic time of supply for goods is when the goods are placed at the disposal of the purchaser. The basic time of supply for services is when the service is performed. If the service is ancillary to a supply of goods, the time of supply is when the goods are placed at the disposal of the purchaser. A VAT invoice must generally be issued at the time of supply.

Prepayments. The tax point for prepayments or advance payments is the date when the advance payment is received.

Intra-Community supplies and acquisitions of goods. The time of supply for intra-Community supplies of goods is the earlier of the 15th day of the month following the month in which the goods are removed from the supplier or the date when the invoice is issued. Regarding intra-Community acquisitions of goods, the tax point is the time when the goods are placed at the consumer’s disposal. The general rule for prepayments does not apply to intra-Community supplies and acquisitions of goods; that is, a prepayment does not modify the tax point.

Imported goods. The time of supply for imported goods is the date of importation (according to the customs documents), or the date on which the goods leave a duty suspension regime.

Cash accounting. A cash accounting scheme came into effect in Spain with effect from 1 January 2014. Under this scheme, taxpayers report the VAT charged on sales of goods or supply of services on the date when the payment is received, and the right to deduct input VAT arises when payment is made. The scheme is optional and is subject to certain requirements.

Reverse-charge services. Not applicable.

Continuous supplies of services. Not applicable.

Leased assets. Not applicable.

F. Recovery of VAT by taxable persons

A taxpayer may recover input tax, which is VAT charged on goods and services supplied for business purposes. A taxpayer generally recovers input tax by deducting it from output tax, which is VAT charged on supplies made. Input tax may be deducted in the accounting period in which the output VAT was charged or in any successive period, up to a period of four years from the time of supply.

Input tax includes VAT charged on goods and services supplied in Spain, VAT paid on imports of goods and VAT self-assessed on intra-Community acquisitions of goods and reverse-charge transactions.

A valid tax invoice or customs document is required to apply for input tax deduction.

Nondeductible input tax. Input tax may not be recovered on purchases of goods and services that are not used directly and exclusively for business purposes. In addition, input tax may not be recovered for some items of business expenditure.

In general, input VAT may be claimed with respect to travel, hotel and restaurant expenses if the Spanish corporate income tax law allows for a deduction, which is often the case.

The following lists provide some examples of items of expenditure for which input tax is not deductible and examples of items for which input tax is deductible if the expenditure is related to a taxable business use.

Examples of items for which input tax is nondeductible

- Business entertainment
- Business gifts (unless of very low value)
- Alcohol and tobacco
- Private expenditure

Examples of items for which input tax is deductible (if related to a taxable business use)

- 50% of purchase, hiring, leasing, maintenance and fuel for cars, vans and trucks (a higher percentage of deduction is allowed if the taxable person provides to the authorities evidence proving that the percentage of time used for business purposes exceeds 50%)
- Attending conferences, seminars and training courses
- Advertising
- Business use of home telephone or mobile phone
- 50% of parking
- Taxis, restaurant meals, hotel accommodation and travel expenses if the expense is allowable under the Spanish income tax or corporate tax law or if the taxable person has the appropriate documentation (generally, an invoice)

Partial exemption. Input VAT directly related to the making of exempt supplies is not generally recoverable. If a Spanish taxable person makes both exempt and taxable supplies it may not recover input VAT in full. The amount of input VAT that a partially exempt business may recover is calculated using the general pro-rata method or the direct allocation method. The general pro-rata method is generally used unless the taxable person chooses the direct allocation method. However, the direct allocation method must be used if the general pro-rata method provides a VAT recovery amount that exceeds by 20%, 10% starting in 2015, or more the amount of input tax recoverable using the direct allocation method.

General pro-rata method. The general pro-rata method is based on the ratio of taxable turnover and total turnover during the calendar year. Because the taxpayer cannot know its annual ratio for the current calendar year when filing its periodic VAT returns, the pro rata percentage for the preceding year or an agreed provisional percentage is used. The calculation is regularized in the last period of the VAT year (that is, the actual figures for the year are calculated and applied and any further adjustment is made).

Direct allocation method. The direct allocation method consists of the following two-stage calculation:

- In the first stage, the taxpayer must distinguish between input VAT that corresponds to taxable and to exempt supplies. Input VAT directly allocated to taxable supplies is deductible, while input VAT directly related to exempt supplies is not deductible.
- The remaining input VAT that is not allocated directly to exempt and taxable supplies is apportioned using the general pro-rata method. The recovery percentage is rounded up to the nearest whole number (for example, a percentage of 16.3% is rounded up to 17%).
- Effective 1 December 2013, taxable persons can opt for the direct allocation method in December of the current year. That method is then applied to the deductions for that whole year and in the following two years. Prior to 1 December 2013, direct allocation option did not include the current year and covered the following three years.

Deductions in different sectors. If a taxable person undertakes activities in different economic sectors, it must apply different methods to calculate the partial exemption deduction for each sector, as if each economic activity were carried out by an independent business. This rule applies if the business undertakes activities that are subject to different pro rata recovery percentages. A business is deemed to undertake such activities in the following circumstances:

- The activities fall under different groups according to the national classification of economic activities.
- The pro rata percentage for VAT recovery for one economic sector of the business differs by more than 50 percentage points (either higher or lower) from another sector of the business.

If goods or services are used in one of the distinct economic sectors, the VAT paid is recovered according to the pro rata recovery percentage for that sector. However, if goods or services are used by more than one economic sector, the amount of VAT recovered must be based on the general pro-rata method.

Capital goods. Capital goods are items of capital expenditure that are used in a business over one year and that have an acquisition price exceeding EUR3,000. Input VAT is deducted in the VAT year in which the goods are acquired. The amount of input VAT recovered depends on the taxpayer's pro rata recovery percentage in the VAT year of acquisition. However, the amount of input VAT recovered for capital goods must be adjusted over time if the taxable person's pro rata recovery percentage differs by 10 percentage points during the adjustment period or if the goods are transferred or sold during the adjustment period.

In Spain, the capital goods adjustment applies to the following assets for the number of years indicated:

- Immovable property: adjusted for a period of 10 years (the year of the acquisition and the following nine calendar years)
- Movable property: adjusted for a period of five years (the year of the acquisition and the following four calendar years)

The adjustment is applied each year following the year of acquisition, to a fraction of the total input tax (1/10 for immovable property and 1/5 for other movable capital goods). The adjustment may result in either an increase or a decrease of deductible input VAT, depending on whether the ratio of taxable supplies made by the business increases or decreases, compared with the year in which the capital goods were acquired.

Refunds. If the amount of input VAT recoverable exceeds the amount of output VAT payable, a refund may be claimed. A business may choose to request a refund of the excess VAT or to carry it forward to offset output VAT in the following four years.

Two different procedures are available with respect to applications for refund of the excess input VAT. These procedures are summarized below.

General procedure. Under the general procedure, the taxable person may only apply for the refund in the last VAT return of the year (monthly or quarterly). The tax authorities have a six-month period beginning on the date of the application to analyze whether the taxable person has the right to obtain the refund. After such term is exceeded, delay interest on the refund due is payable to the taxable person.

Special procedure. Under the special procedure, the taxable person may apply for inclusion in the monthly VAT refund census. Taxable persons included in such a census may apply for the VAT refund in each monthly VAT return. The tax authorities have a six-month period beginning on the date of the application to analyze whether the taxable person has the right to obtain the refund. After such term is exceeded, delay interest on the refund due is payable to the taxable person.

Preregistration costs. Not applicable.

Write-off of bad debts. As of 2015, entities with a turnover of EUR6,010,121.04 or lower could consider that a credit qualifies as bad debt, and thus, the taxable amount could be modified once six months or one year has elapsed as of the date of the accrual.

The term to amend the taxable base is extended from 1 to 3 months, as of the date of bankruptcy declaration.

Noneconomic activities. Not applicable.

G. Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses

Spain refunds VAT incurred by businesses that are not established in Spain. Non-established businesses may claim Spanish VAT to the same extent as VAT-registered businesses.

For businesses established in the EU, refund is made under the terms of the EU 2006/112/EC Directive (one-stop shop system from 1 January 2010). For businesses established outside the EU, refund is made under the terms of the EU 13th Directive on the condition of reciprocity. Spanish VAT is refunded only to non-EU claimants established in Canada, Israel, Japan, Monaco, Norway and Switzerland. A non-EU claimant must appoint a VAT representative in Spain.

The condition of reciprocity is not required in connection with input VAT borne on accommodation, travel and restaurant services related to attendance at fairs or exhibitions in Spain.

For the general VAT refund rules under the EU 2006/112/EC Directive and the EU 13th Directive, see the chapter on the EU.

Refund application. As a result of the entry into force of the EU VAT Package, effective from 1 July 2010, VAT refund applications corresponding to VAT borne in Spain by non-established businesses from the EU are filed in the EU country where the business is established instead of with the Spanish tax authorities.

Applications from businesses not established in Spain or in another EU country must continue to be filed with the Spanish tax authorities.

Repayment interest. The Spanish VAT authorities have made the commitment to pay refunds within six months after the date on which the claim for a refund is submitted. Interest is paid on late refunds.

H. Invoicing

VAT invoices and credit notes. A Spanish taxpayer must generally provide a VAT invoice for all taxable supplies made, including exports and intra-Community supplies. VAT invoices are not automatically required for certain transactions if the taxable amount does not exceed EUR400 (EUR3,000 for certain retail transactions). Simplified invoices are issued instead, unless requested by the customer.

A VAT invoice is necessary to support a claim for input VAT deduction or a refund under the EU 2006/112/EC Directive or the EU 13th Directive refund schemes (see the chapter on the EU).

A credit note (factura rectificativa) must be cross-referenced to the original invoice and must contain the same information together with the reason for the amendment and the final corrected position.

Electronic invoicing. Effective 1 January 2013, the VAT law has been amended to permit electronic invoicing in line with EU Directive 2010/45/. As of 15 January 2015, it is mandatory to issue electronic invoices in connection with the supplies performed with Spanish public entities.

Proof of exports and intra-Community supplies. VAT is not chargeable on supplies of exported goods or on intra-Community supplies of goods (see the chapter on the EU). However, to qualify as zero-rated, exports and intra-Community supplies must be supported by evidence that the goods have left Spain. Acceptable proof includes the following documentation:

- For an export, the documentation consists of the customs declaration (export SAD) with evidence that it was filed and admitted by the customs authorities, transport documents and an indication on the invoice of the article of the Spanish VAT law that allows exemption with credit for the supply.
- For an intra-Community supply, the supplier must retain a copy of the invoice indicating the customer's valid VAT identification number (issued by another EU Member State), together with a range of commercial documentation, such as bills of lading, transport documentation and proof of payment.

Foreign-currency invoices. If a VAT invoice is issued in a foreign currency, the values for VAT purposes and the VAT amounts must be converted to euros. The exchange rate that is used must be the official selling rate published by the Bank of Spain for the date on which the VAT is due. The VAT amount must be expressly stated in euros.

B2C invoices. Effective 1 January 2015, new rules apply to the place of supply for supplies of telecommunications, broadcasting and electronic services to non-VAT taxable customers. For further details of the VAT rules on electronic services in the EU, please refer to the European Union chapter.

Spanish suppliers of these services are required to issue invoices to non-taxable customers.

I. VAT returns and payment

VAT returns. Periodic VAT returns are submitted in Spain on a monthly or quarterly basis, depending on the taxable person's turnover and activities. All taxable persons must also complete an annual summary VAT return.

Taxable persons whose turnover in the previous year exceeded EUR6,010,121 must file their VAT returns on a monthly basis. Taxable persons included in the monthly VAT refund census must also file monthly VAT returns (and the VAT books [Form 340]), because they are entitled to apply for a VAT refund on a monthly basis.

Periodic VAT returns must be filed and the tax paid by the due date. Quarterly VAT returns must be submitted and the tax paid by the 20th day of the month following the end of the quarter for the first three calendar quarters, and by 30 January of the following year for the last calendar quarter. Monthly VAT returns must be filed and the tax paid by the 20th day of the month following the month of the assessment.

The annual summary VAT return must be filed by 30 January.

Special schemes. The special scheme for travel agencies is modified following the ECJ's judgment in case 189/11, dated 26 September 2013, including among others the opt-out possibility in connection with B2B supplies where the normal VAT regime could be applied.

The special scheme for services rendered through electronic means is modified following the ECJ's judgment in case 360/11, dated 17 January 2013, as follows:

- The regime is applicable, not only to business-to-consumer (B2C) services rendered through electronic means, to B2C telecommunications services, radio and television broadcasting services.

- A simplification is included in order to avoid VAT registration in each Member State for e-suppliers: businesses providing B2C services rendered through electronic means would be allowed to file a single, periodical VAT return and payment in connection with its supplies in each Member State.

The special group entities scheme has new requirements:

- All entities within the group must be bound by financial, economic and organizational links.
- Holding companies can be the dominant entity of a VAT group.

Electronic filing and archiving. VAT returns (303 forms) and the Informative Annual Summary VAT return (390 form) must be filed through electronic means by using an electronic signature owned by the taxpayer or a third party duly empowered. When the VAT returns (303 forms) result in amounts to be paid or refunded, a Spanish bank account number is required.

Annual returns. The Informative Annual Summary VAT return (390 form) contains the information declared in the periodical VAT returns of the corresponding calendar years and additional information. It must be filed electronically between 1 January and 30 January of the following year.

J. Penalties

The following surcharges apply to the late submission of VAT returns or late payment of VAT before any request by the tax authorities:

- Delay up to three months: 5% of the tax due
- Delay between three months and six months: 10% of the tax due
- Delay between 6 months and 12 months: 15% of the tax due
- Delay longer than 12 months: 20% of the tax due plus interest

K. EU filings

Intrastat. A Spanish taxable person that trades with other EU countries must complete statistical reports, known as Intrastat, if the value of its EU sales or purchases of goods exceeds certain thresholds. Separate reports are required for intra-Community acquisitions (Intrastat Arrivals) and for intra-Community supplies (Intrastat Dispatches).

The current threshold for Intrastat Arrivals is EUR250,000. The current threshold for Intrastat Dispatches is also EUR250,000.

The Intrastat return submission period is monthly. The submission deadline is the 12th day following each month. A taxable person required to file Intrastat returns must file them each month even if they are nil returns.

The penalty for late or incorrect filing depends on the level of infringement. Penalties range from EUR60 to EUR30,050.61.

EU Sales and Acquisitions List. If a Spanish taxable person makes intra-Community supplies or intra-Community acquisitions of goods and/or services in any return period, it must submit an EU Sales and Acquisitions List (ESAL). An ESAL return is not required for any period in which the taxable person does not make any intra-Community supplies or acquisitions of goods and/or services.

In principle, ESAL returns are submitted on a monthly basis. However, ESAL returns must be filed on a quarterly basis if the intra-EU supplies of goods and/or services performed in the current quarter or during the four preceding calendar quarters do not exceed the threshold of EUR50,000.

Taxable persons whose turnover does not exceed EUR35,000 may file annually under certain conditions.

ESALs must be submitted by the 20th day of the month following the end of the monthly or quarterly filing period. The last monthly or quarterly ESAL for a year must be filed by 30 January of the following year.

Penalties may be imposed for late, missing or inaccurate ESALs.

Suriname

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Please direct all requests regarding Suriname to the persons listed below in EY's Curaçao office:

- ▶ Bryan D. Irausquin: +599 (9) 430-5075; bryan.irausquin@an.ey.com
- ▶ Kimberly N. Schreuders: +599 (9) 430-5073; kimberly.schreuders@an.ey.com

A VAT is expected to replace the current turnover tax and is due to be introduced from 1 January 2016.

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Turnover tax (TOT)
Local name	Omzetbelasting
Date introduced	30 December 1997
Trading bloc membership	CARICOM
Administered by	Inspectie der Belastingen
Rates
Standard rate for services provided	8%
Standard rate for delivery of goods	10%
Standard rate for import of goods	10%
Other	25%, 0%
TOT number format	XXXXX (5 digits)
TOT return periods	Monthly
Thresholds	None
Recovery of TOT by non-established businesses	No

B. Scope

TOT applies to the following transactions:

- The supply of services in Suriname by an entrepreneur as part of its business
- The delivery of goods that are produced in Suriname by an entrepreneur
- The import of goods in Suriname

C. Who is liable

In principle, a taxable entrepreneur is a business entity or individual who delivers goods or performs services (tax activities) in Suriname.

Small entrepreneurs. A small entrepreneur is a resident individual who has a turnover of SRD6,000 or less per calendar year. Small entrepreneurs will not be liable and will not be required to submit TOT returns for monthly periods if a request is filed with and granted by the tax authorities. Small entrepreneurs, who are not liable for TOT and are not required to submit TOT returns, will also not be able to deduct the TOT incurred.

Group registration. TOT grouping is not allowed under the TOT legislation. Legal business entities must register for TOT individually.

Registration procedures. To register, an applicant submits a registration form in hard copy along with certain requested documentation to the tax authorities. Completion of the registration process should take approximately one week.

Tax representatives. A taxpayer may be represented by a third party based on a power of attorney or a license from the Tax Inspector.

Late-registration penalties. No specific penalty is imposed for late registration. However, if late registration results in a late payment of TOT or late submission of TOT returns, penalties may be imposed (see Section J).

Non-established businesses. A “non-established business” is a business of a nonresident of Suriname.

Reverse-charge mechanism. For services provided in Suriname by a non-established business to a resident entrepreneur, the reverse-charge mechanism applies. In this case, the resident entrepreneur that receives these services is liable for TOT and has to report and pay TOT on these services.

Digital economy. There are no specific rules relating to the digital economy.

Deregistration. To deregister with the tax authorities, a taxpayer should provide proof of deregistration as issued by the Suriname Chamber of Commerce. The deregistration with the tax authorities should be completed once all tax filing and payment obligations have been met by the taxpayer.

D. TOT rates

In Suriname, a standard rate of 10% applies for both the delivery and import of goods. A standard rate of 8% applies for the supply of services. For imported luxury goods, a TOT rate of 25% applies.

Exports. For the exports of goods, a special TOT rate of 0% applies. However, to qualify for the 0% TOT rate, export documentation issued by customs should be in place.

Suriname has an exemption for goods related to the so-called primary necessities of life, such as fresh potatoes, vegetables and fruits. The government publishes an exhaustive list.

Option to tax for exempt supplies. There are no specific rules providing for the option to tax for exempt supplies.

E. Time of supply

The time when TOT becomes due is called the “time of supply.” The basic time of supply of goods is when the goods are delivered. The basic time of supply for services is when the services are performed.

In Suriname, the cash accounting scheme applies. On this basis, the actual time of supply is when payments are received for the supply of services and delivery of goods.

Imported goods. For imported goods the “time of supply” is considered to be the moment of importation.

F. Recovery of TOT by taxable persons

The TOT paid on machinery, raw materials, auxiliary or intermediate product or on services used directly for the production of goods in Suriname can be deducted from TOT due, provided that the invoices on which the TOT is charged by the supplier of the goods or the person who performed the services meet specific requirements. Similarly, TOT paid in a TOT period on imported goods that are used directly for the production of goods in Suriname is also deductible provided that the TOT paid is stated on the document on which the goods are imported.

If the TOT paid exceeds TOT due in a period, the excess will be refunded by decree of the Tax Inspector.

Examples of items for which input tax is nondeductible

- Input TOT due on services to a manufacturer which services are not directly related to the production of taxable goods by this manufacturer in Suriname.

Examples of items for which input tax is deductible

- Input TOT due on the delivery of raw materials to a manufacturer which raw materials are used by this manufacturer in Suriname for the production of taxable goods.

Partial exemption. There are partial exemptions included in the Suriname TOT legislation.

Refunds. Under certain conditions, refunds of TOT paid with regard to the delivery goods can be granted to a resident entrepreneur in the event that such entrepreneur is in a disadvantageous competitive position.

Preregistration costs. Not applicable.

G. Recovery of TOT by non-established businesses

Recovery of TOT by non-established businesses is not possible.

H. Invoicing

Invoices and credit notes. A taxable entrepreneur must issue invoices that are dated and numbered for all taxable delivery of goods and services. Taxable entrepreneurs must retain a copy of their invoices for 10 years.

The invoices, which contain the TOT due, must be issued within 15 days after the end of the month in which the goods are delivered or in which the services are provided.

No special regulation is included in the Suriname TOT legislation with regard to the issuance of a TOT credit note.

Foreign-currency invoices. Upon request of the entrepreneur, invoices can be issued in foreign currency.

Electronic invoices. No special regulation is included in the Suriname TOT legislation with regard to the issuance of electronic invoices.

Proof of export. There is no special regime included in the Suriname TOT legislation with regard to export.

I. TOT returns and payment

TOT returns. TOT returns are generally submitted for monthly periods. Returns must be filed and TOT due must be remitted before the 16th day of the month following the end of the reporting period. The TOT due for the period must be remitted together with the return.

Special schemes. Special TOT regulations may apply for companies in the oil and gas sector.

Electronic filing and archiving. Electronic filing of TOT returns is not possible. No special regulation is included in the Suriname TOT legislation with regard to electronic archiving.

Annual returns. The possibility of an annual TOT return is not included in the Suriname TOT legislation.

J. Penalties

TOT penalties are assessed for the late submission of a TOT return or for the late payment of TOT due in the following amounts:

- For the late submission of a TOT return, the fine can vary between SRD10 and SRD1,000.
- For the late payment of TOT due, the penalty can vary between SRD10 and SRD1,000.
- If the late payment is caused by negligence or dishonest conduct, penalties ranging from 5% to 100% of the outstanding TOT due may be imposed.

Criminal penalties may also apply in certain circumstances.

Sweden

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Stockholm

GMT +1

EY

Jakobsbergsgatan 24
P.O. Box 7850
103 99 Stockholm
Sweden

Indirect tax contacts

Tomas Karlsson	+46 (8) 520-592-47 tomas.karlsson@se.ey.com
Royne Schiess	+46 (8) 520-592-39 royne.schiess@se.ey.com

Göteborg

GMT +1

EY

Odinsgatan 13
401 82 Göteborg
Sweden

Indirect tax contact

Monika Edvall	+46 (31) 63-77-02 monika.edvall@se.ey.com
---------------	--

Malmö

GMT +1

EY

Torggatan 2
211 40 Malmö
Sweden

Indirect tax contact

Olof Lundquist	+46 (40) 693-15-88 olof.lundquist@se.ey.com
Hejena Wiklund-Persson	+46 (431) 417-841 helena.wiklund-persson@se.ey.com

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Value-added tax (VAT)
Local name	Mervärdesskatt (Moms)
Date introduced	1 January 1969
Trading bloc membership	European Union (EU) member state
Administered by	Ministry of Finance (http://www.sweden.gov.se/sb/d/2062)
VAT rates
Standard	25%
Reduced	6% and 12%
Other	Exempt and exempt with credit
VAT number format	SE 5 5 6 1 2 3 1 2 3 4 0 1

VAT return periods	Monthly (if turnover exceeds Swedish kronor [SEK] 40 million) Quarterly (with the possibility to opt for monthly) Annually (if turnover is below SEK1 million)
Thresholds
Registration	None
Distance selling	SEK320,000
Intra-Community acquisitions (for exempt taxable persons)	SEK90,000
Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses	Yes

B. Scope of the tax

VAT applies to the following transactions:

- The supply of goods or services made in Sweden by a taxable person
- The intra-Community acquisition of goods from another EU member state by a taxable person
- Reverse-charge services received by a taxable person in Sweden
- The importation of goods from outside the EU, regardless of the status of the importer

C. Who is liable

A taxable person is an individual or business entity that makes taxable supplies of goods or services, intra-Community acquisitions or distance sales in the course of a business in Sweden.

A domestic reverse charge applies to construction services that a company provides to a construction company, to emission allowances that a company sells to a VAT-registered purchaser, and to certain waste and scrap metals when supplied to a VAT-registered purchaser. This rule also applies to foreign traders that sell or purchase such services.

No VAT registration threshold applies in Sweden. A taxable person that begins activity must notify the VAT agency of its liability to register.

Special rules apply to foreign or “non-established businesses.”

Group registration. Companies in the financial sector as well as companies in “an agency relationship” for income tax purposes may form a VAT group. If a VAT group is formed, the group is liable for tax if it engages in business that implies tax liability.

Only entities with a fixed establishment in Sweden may be part of a Swedish VAT group. A VAT group consists of taxable persons that are closely connected to each other “financially, economically and organizationally.” All three of these requirements must be satisfied. The following are the applicable rules:

- A “financial link” exists between two companies if one company holds more than 50% of the votes in the other.

- An “economic link” exists if the companies continually exchange goods or services.
- An “organizational link” exists if the group members have some joint administrative functions, such as joint management or joint marketing.

Non-established businesses. A non-established business that makes supplies of goods or services in Sweden must register for VAT if it is liable to account for Swedish VAT on the supply or if it makes intra-Community supplies or acquisitions of goods.

A domestic reverse charge generally applies to supplies made by non-established businesses to VAT-registered persons in Sweden. Under this measure, the taxable person that receives the supply must account for the Swedish VAT due. If the reverse charge applies, the non-established business is not required to register for Swedish VAT. The reverse charge does not apply to the transport of persons, cultural services or supplies made to private persons or non-taxable legal persons.

Consequently, non-established businesses must register for Swedish VAT if they make any of the following supplies:

- Intra-Community supplies or acquisitions (see the chapter on the EU)
- Distance sales in excess of the threshold (see the chapter on the EU)
- Supplies of goods and services that are not subject to the domestic reverse charge

Businesses that are established in the EU are not required to appoint a tax representative to register for VAT in Sweden. However, EU businesses may opt to appoint a tax representative. This measure also applies to businesses established in any non-EU country that has mutual assistance provisions with the EU or with Sweden.

Businesses that are established outside the EU must generally appoint a resident tax representative to register for Swedish VAT. A tax representative is not jointly liable for VAT debts with the business that it represents.

Registration procedures. The most effective way to register is online at <https://www.verksamst.se/en/web/international/home>. A Swedish electronic identification is required to use the online service. Otherwise, fill out the hard copy SKV 4620. Non-established taxable persons use form SKV 4632, application for foreign entrepreneurs.

The Swedish Tax Agency’s website provides a how-to guide, application forms to fill out and other necessary information. The site is also available in English. See www.skatteverket.se. The how-to guide is under the “Employers, Businesses and Corporations” heading and more information is available under the “Tax Information” and “VAT Information” headings.

Normally, it takes between three and six weeks to register for VAT.

Late-registration penalties. No specific penalty is assessed for late registration. However, interest is charged on any VAT paid late as a result of late registration.

Tax representatives. For information about representatives for non-established businesses, see above.

Reverse charge. The reverse charge applies for supply of construction and building services to other taxable persons selling construction and building services more than occasionally, foreign companies without a permanent establishment in Sweden supplying goods stored in Sweden to taxable persons, trading with emission licenses, gold and other specific metals and scrap metal.

Digital economy. Effective 1 January 2015, new rules apply to the place of supply for supplies of telecommunications, broadcasting and electronic services to non-VAT taxable customers. For further details of the VAT rules on electronic services in the EU, please refer to the European Union chapter.

Mini One-Stop Shop. Taxable persons who provide electronic services, telecom applications, telecom services and broadcasting services to consumers or other non-taxable persons in another member state are reporting VAT to the state where the buyer is domiciled.

To make it easier for taxable persons to report VAT to different member states one can use the e-application MOSS (Mini One-Stop Shop). Suppliers report the VAT to this e-service, which automatically registers the information with the Swedish Tax Agency and transfers the right amount of VAT to the different Member States. With MOSS suppliers report VAT through one declaration and not to each country where they have customers.

To use this service suppliers must be registered for Swedish VAT and have a Swedish electronic identification. That enables them to sign in to MOSS through e-services at www.skatteverket.se and then receive a request for application to the MOSS service.

Deregistration. To deregister from VAT, the most effective way is to do it online at www.verksamt.se. You will need a Swedish electronic identification to gain access. If you do not have an electronic identification, use form SKV 4639 and send it to the address printed on the form. Foreign entrepreneurs must often use hard copies, since they do not have Swedish electronic identification.

D. VAT rates

The term “taxable supplies” refers to supplies of goods and services that are liable to a rate of VAT.

The VAT rates are:

- Standard rate: 25%
- Reduced rates: 6% and 12%

The standard rate of VAT applies to all supplies of goods or services, unless a specific measure provides for a reduced rate or an exemption.

Examples of goods and services taxable at 6%

- Books and newspapers
- Copyrights and artistic rights
- Cultural services
- Passenger transport

Examples of goods and services taxable at 12%

- Foodstuffs
- Hotel accommodation
- Restaurant and catering services

The term “exempt supplies” refers to supplies of goods and services that are not liable to tax and that do not give rise to a right of input tax deduction (see Section F). Some supplies are classified as “exempt with credit,” which means that no VAT is chargeable, but the supplier may recover related input tax. Exempt with credit supplies include exports of goods and related services, as well as supplies of intangible services made either to another taxable person established in the EU or to any recipient outside the EU (see the chapter on the EU).

Examples of exempt supplies of goods and services

- Immovable property
- Medical services
- Finance
- Insurance
- Pharmaceutical supplies (exempt with credit)

Option to tax for exempt supplies. Renting property or premises is an exempt service, but the supplier has the option to treat it as taxable when renting to taxable persons. Since January 1, 2014, the supplier can choose the option to tax by issuing an invoice with VAT.

E. Time of supply

The time when VAT becomes due is called the “time of supply” or “tax point.” The basic time of supply for goods is when the goods are delivered. The basic time of supply for services is when the service is completed. If the consideration is paid in full or in part before the goods are delivered or the services provided, the actual tax point becomes the date on which payment is received (but the tax point only applies for the amount paid).

Prepayments. For prepayments or advance payments, the tax point is the date on which the advance payment is received.

Intra-Community acquisitions. The time of supply for intra-Community acquisitions of goods is the same as the time of supply for domestic supplies.

Intra-Community supplies. An invoice must be issued for a intra-Community supply at the latest on the 15th day of the month following the supply.

Imported goods. The time of supply for imported goods is when the import takes place.

Reverse charge. The time of supply for goods or services subject to the reverse charge is the earlier of the date of delivery or the date on which payment is received.

Cash accounting. Sweden operates a cash accounting scheme with a threshold of EUR350,000.

Continuous supplies of services. Not applicable.

Leased assets. Depends if it is a prepayment or not, see above.

F. Recovery of VAT by taxable persons

A taxable person may recover input tax, which is VAT charged on goods and services supplied to it for business purposes. A taxable person generally recovers input tax by deducting it from output tax, which is VAT charged on supplies made.

Input tax includes VAT charged on goods and services supplied in Sweden, VAT paid on imports of goods and VAT self-assessed on intra-Community acquisitions of goods and reverse-charge services (see the chapter on the EU).

A valid tax invoice or customs document must generally support a claim for input tax.

Nondeductible input tax. Input tax may not be recovered on purchases of goods and services that are not used for business purposes (for example, goods acquired for private use by an entrepreneur). In addition, input tax may not be recovered for some items of business expenditure.

Examples of items for which input tax is nondeductible

- Purchases of cars
- Business entertainment (in excess of the allowable expense limits)
- Private expenditure

Examples of items for which input tax is deductible (if related to a taxable business use)

- Purchase, lease, maintenance and fuel for vans with a weight exceeding 3,500 kg and trucks
- Maintenance and fuel for cars and 50% lease of a car used for business (1,000 km a year)
- Conferences, seminars and training courses
- Advertising
- Business use of a mobile phone
- Hotel accommodation (excluding restaurant expenses)
- Restaurant expenses (SEK90 exclusive of VAT)
- Business entertainment (SEK180 exclusive of VAT)
- Business gifts (with a value of SEK180 or less exclusive of VAT and valued less than SEK225 inclusive of VAT)

Partial exemption. Input tax directly related to exempt supplies is not generally recoverable. If a Swedish taxable person makes both exempt and taxable supplies, it may not recover input tax in full. This situation is referred to as “partial exemption.” Exempt with credit supplies are treated as taxable supplies for these purposes.

The amount of input tax that a partially exempt business may recover is generally calculated in the following two stages:

- The first stage identifies the input VAT that may be directly allocated to taxable and to exempt supplies. Input tax directly allocated to taxable supplies is deductible, while input tax directly related to exempt supplies is not deductible.
- The remaining input tax that is not allocated directly to exempt and taxable supplies is then apportioned based on the value of taxable supplies compared with total turnover, or it is apportioned by another reasonable method. If turnover is used to calculate the recoverable amount, the recovery percentage can be rounded up to the nearest whole number.

Capital goods. Capital goods are items of capital expenditure that are used in a business over several years. Input tax is deducted in the VAT year in which the goods are acquired. The amount of input tax recovered depends on the taxable person's partial exemption recovery position in the VAT year of acquisition. However, the amount of input tax recovered for capital goods must be adjusted over time if the taxable person's partial exemption recovery percentage changes in any year during the adjustment period or if goods are taken from a taxable sector or activity for use in an exempt sector or activity, or vice versa.

The capital goods adjustment applies to the following assets for the number of years indicated:

- Investments made on immovable property after 1 January 2001 that cost more than SEK400,000 exclusive of VAT: adjusted for a period of 10 years
- Machinery and equipment that cost more than SEK200,000 exclusive of VAT: adjusted for a period of five years

The adjustment is applied each year following the year of acquisition to a fraction of the total input tax (1/10 for immovable property and 1/5 for machinery and equipment). The adjustment may result in either an increase or a decrease of deductible input VAT, depending on whether the ratio of taxable supplies made by the business has increased or decreased compared with the year in which the capital goods were acquired.

Refunds. If the amount of input VAT recoverable in a month exceeds the amount of output VAT payable, the taxable person has an input tax credit. A refund of the credit is triggered automatically by the submission of the VAT return.

Preregistration costs. Input VAT on preregistration costs give a right to deduction if connected to a business taxable for VAT. However, the taxable person has the burden of proof showing that the costs are related to the taxable business.

Write-off of bad debts. You are entitled to adjust your output VAT when a bad debt occurs. The reduction should be adjusted in the same period as the bad debt loss is determined. The bad debt loss is determined when the customer is bankrupt or when a debt collector has been used engaged and established that the customer does not have any assets. From a VAT perspective, it is not enough to just send reminders to the customer.

Noneconomic activities. The input VAT needs to be connected and have a direct link to taxable business activities, to be deductible. The right to deduction is dependent on, and connected to, the meaning of "supplies." Supplies mean providing services or goods in exchange for some sort of compensation. The compensation needs to have a direct connection to the supplied goods or services and be determined at the latest time for deliverance.

There are some court cases stating that you are not considered to perform taxable activities if you supply services or goods without issuing any invoices.

G. Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses

Sweden refunds VAT incurred by businesses that are neither established nor registered for VAT in Sweden. Non-established businesses may claim a refund of Swedish VAT to the same extent as VAT-registered businesses.

Effective 1 January 2010, a refund is made to businesses established in the EU under the terms of EU Directive 2008/9. For businesses established outside the EU, a refund is made under the terms of the EU 13th Directive. Sweden does not exclude claimants from any non-EU country.

For the general VAT refund rules under EU Directive 2008/9 and the EU 13th Directive, see the chapter on the EU.

For businesses established outside the EU, the deadline for refund claims is 30 June of the year following the calendar year in which the tax is incurred. For businesses established in the EU, the deadline is 30 September.

Claims may be submitted in Swedish, English, French or German. Applications for refund from businesses established outside the EU must be accompanied by the appropriate documentation (see the chapter on the EU).

Businesses established in the EU may not make an application for a refund on paper to the Swedish tax authority. Instead, they must submit the application electronically to the tax authority where they are established.

The minimum claim period is three months, while the maximum period is one year. The minimum period of three months does not apply to a period ending at the end of a calendar year. The minimum claim for a period of less than a year but of at least three months is SEK4,000, and the minimum amount for an annual claim or for the remainder of a calendar year is SEK500.

The following is the address for applicants from Albania, Bosnia-Herzegovina, the Faroe Islands, Greenland, Iceland, Macedonia, Montenegro, Serbia and Turkey:

Skatteverket
Utlandsskattekontoret
SE-205 31 Malmö
Sweden

The following is the address for applicants from other countries:

Skatteverket
Utlandsskattekontoret
SE-106 61 Stockholm
Sweden

Applicants from EU Member States apply for refunds through their respective domestic tax authority.

Repayment interest. The average handling period in Sweden for refund claims under the EU 13th Directive is two to three months, and the time limit is six months. However, interest is not paid on late repayments. The time limit for the tax authority to deal with refund applications from businesses established within the EU is four months. If a claim for refund is granted, but repaid after this time limit, interest is paid. This rule applies if the applicant has complied with any requests for extra information from the tax authority within the time limit.

H. Invoicing

VAT invoices and credit notes. A Swedish business must generally issue VAT invoices for all supplies made to other businesses or legal persons. Invoices are not required for retail transactions with private persons.

A VAT invoice containing the information required by the VAT Act is necessary to support a claim for input tax deduction or a refund for foreign businesses (see the chapter on the EU).

Credit notes may be issued in the following circumstances:

- They may be used to correct genuine errors or overcharges.
- They may be issued following the cancellation of a supply.
- They may give effect to a bonus or discount.
- They may be issued as a result of the renegotiation of consideration for a supply.

A credit note must show an unambiguous reference to the original invoice and the reduction in value and VAT on the supply.

Electronic invoicing. Effective 1 January 2013, the VAT law has been amended to permit electronic invoicing in line with EU Directive 2010/45/EU.

Proof of exports and intra-Community supplies. VAT is not chargeable on exported goods or on intra-Community supplies of goods (see the chapter on the EU). However, to qualify as exports and intra-Community supplies, the export or supply must be supported by evidence confirming that the goods have left Sweden. Acceptable proof includes the following documentation:

- For an export, the stamped customs documentation and commercial documentation (such as bill of lading, copy of the invoice, delivery note and proof of payment)
- For an intra-Community supply, a copy of the invoice indicating the customer's valid VAT identification number (issued by another EU member state), plus a range of commercial documentation (such as bill of lading, transport documentation, proof of payment and proof of receipt)

The Swedish courts have ruled that the supplier of goods has the burden to prove that the goods have actually left Sweden.

Foreign-currency invoices. Swedish taxable persons may maintain their accounts in either EUR or SEK. If a VAT invoice is issued in a different currency, the values for VAT purposes and the VAT amounts must be converted to EUR or SEK.

B2C invoices. Suppliers are not required to issue invoices to private consumers according to Swedish regulation regarding supply of electronic services.

I. VAT returns and payment

VAT returns. Periodic VAT returns are submitted in Sweden for monthly, quarterly or yearly periods, depending on the taxable person's turnover.

VAT liabilities are normally reported on the same tax return form as payroll taxes and employee income tax amounts withheld by employers. Monthly VAT returns must be filed if the taxable person's turnover exceeds SEK40 million. Otherwise quarterly reporting may apply. However, a taxable person may opt to file monthly. A yearly reporting period applies for taxable persons whose turnover is less than SEK1 million per year.

VAT returns must be filed with full payment of VAT. Monthly VAT returns generally must be submitted by the 26th day of the month after the end of the reporting period. Quarterly VAT returns must be submitted by the 12th day of the second month after the end of the reporting period. The same rules apply to taxable persons that have yearly turnover of less than SEK40 million and that apply for monthly VAT returns. Taxable persons whose turnover exceeds SEK40 million must file monthly returns by the 26th day of the month following the return period.

Returns must be completed and return liabilities must be paid in SEK.

Special schemes. Not applicable.

Electronic filing and archiving. Taxpayers are obliged to file invoices and other bookkeeping for seven years after the financial year. This includes both invoices for input and output VAT. The invoices should be stored in the same format as they have been received or issued.

If the invoices are being filed electronically other tax authorities from other member states can demand access to them for control purposes. They are allowed access if the Swedish Tax Agency would have been allowed access.

Annual returns. If your turnover is less than SEK1 million, you can choose to submit VAT returns annually.

J. Penalties

A penalty of SEK500 is imposed for late filing of a VAT return. Late payment of VAT results in the imposition of an interest penalty. The interest consists of base interest plus 15%. The base interest is 1.25% as of 1 January 2013.

K. EU filings

Intrastat. A Swedish taxable person that trades with other EU countries must complete statistical reports, known as Intrastat, if the value of its annual sales or purchases of goods exceeds certain thresholds. Separate reports are required for intra-Community acquisitions (Intrastat Arrivals) and for intra-Community supplies (Intrastat Dispatches).

The threshold for Intrastat Arrivals and Dispatches is SEK4.5 million.

The Intrastat reporting period is monthly. The submission deadline is normally between the 10th and 15th day following the reporting period for paper returns and between the 13th and 18th day for electronic returns.

Intrastat reports must be filed in SEK.

In principle, penalties may be imposed for late filing of Intrastat reports or for errors or omissions. However, penalties are rarely imposed. If a penalty is assessed, the courts take several factors into consideration (such as the size of the business and its turnover) in determining the amount owed.

EU Sales Lists. If a Swedish taxable person makes intra-Community supplies in any return period, it must submit an EU Sales List (ESL). An ESL is not required for any period in which the taxable person has not made any intra-Community supplies.

ESLs must be submitted monthly with respect to goods. An ESL regarding supplies of services must be submitted quarterly. However, if a business supplies both goods and services, the reporting must be in accordance with the rules regarding goods. Taxable persons may apply to make quarterly submissions if the total amount of supplies and transfers of goods does not exceed SEK1 million for the current quarter as well as for the preceding four quarters. The due date is the 20th day of the month following the end of the ESL return period for paper ESLs and the 25th day for electronic ESLs.

ESL reports must be filed using amounts expressed in SEK.

A penalty of SEK1,000 is imposed for late, missing or inaccurate ESLs.

Switzerland

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Zurich

GMT +1

EY

Maagplatz 1
CH-8005 Zurich
Switzerland

Indirect tax contacts

Barbara Henzen	+41 (58) 286-62-14 barbara.henzen@ch.ey.com
Claudio Fischer	+41 (58) 286-34-33 claudio.fischer@ch.ey.com

Berne

GMT +1

EY

Belpstrasse 23
P.O. Box 5032
CH-3001 Berne
Switzerland

Indirect tax contact

Lars Henschel	+41 (58) 286-63-12 lars.henschel@ch.ey.com
---------------	---

Geneva

GMT +1

EY

Route de Chancy 59
P.O. Box 48
CH-1213 Petit-Lancy 1 (Geneva)
Switzerland

Indirect tax contacts

Susanne Gantenbein Affrunti	+41 (58) 286-63-44 susanne.gantenbein@ch.ey.com
Laurence Berruto	+41 (58) 286-55-90 laurence.berruto@ch.ey.com

Lausanne

GMT +1

EY

Place Chauderon 18
P.O. Box 36
CH-1002 Lausanne
Switzerland

Indirect tax contact

Susanne Gantenbein Affrunti (resident in Geneva)	+41 (58) 286-63-44 susanne.gantenbein@ch.ey.com
---	--

A. At a glance

Name of the tax

Value-added tax (VAT)

Local names

Mehrwertsteuer (MWST)
Taxe sur la valeur ajoutée (TVA)
Imposta sul valore aggiunto (IVA)

Date introduced	1 January 1995
Trading bloc membership	European Free Trade Association (EFTA)
Administered by	Federal Tax Administration (http://www.estv.admin.ch/mwst/aktuell)
VAT rates
Standard	8%
Reduced and special	2.5% and 3.8%
Other	Zero-rated and exempt
VAT number format	CHE-123.456.789 MWST
VAT return periods	Quarterly Half-yearly (if the taxable person has applied to be taxed under the balance tax rate method) Monthly (optional if excess of input over output VAT occurs regularly)
Thresholds
Registration	Nil (however, for enterprises with turnover below CHF100,000, a voluntary exemption may apply)
Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses	Yes (with the observance of the reciprocity rule)

B. Scope of the tax

VAT applies to the following transactions:

- The supply of goods or services made in Switzerland for consideration by a taxable person.
- The receipt of reverse-charge services or, in some cases, goods by any person in Switzerland who purchases the items from an entity that is established outside Switzerland and that is not registered for VAT in Switzerland (services and goods for which the recipient is liable for the VAT due). Services and goods purchased by non-taxable persons are not subject to the reverse charge if the amount due to the foreign supplier does not exceed CHF10,000 per calendar year.
- The importation of goods from outside Switzerland and Liechtenstein, regardless of the status of the importer.

Liechtenstein is considered to be the domestic territory for Swiss VAT purposes. Likewise, Switzerland is considered to be part of the territory of Liechtenstein for the purposes of VAT in Liechtenstein.

C. Who is liable

A taxable person is any person who, regardless of the legal form, purpose or result, carries out a business in Switzerland. Carrying out the business involves the independent exercising of professional or commercial activities together with the intention to execute regular transactions and acting externally in one's name.

Group registration. Legal persons with their seat in Switzerland or commercial units in Switzerland can form a VAT group if they are related as a result of "joint supervision." The group may include Swiss branches of foreign entities, to the extent that the foreign entities are under the same “joint supervision” as the other VAT group members. Although Liechtenstein is considered to be domestic territory for Swiss VAT purposes (and vice versa), it is not possible to form a VAT group that includes both Swiss and Liechtenstein entities.

Effective 1 January 2015, a pension fund may once again become a member of a VAT group.

The tax group must appoint a tax representative who will deal with the VAT-related proceedings of the group. The minimum period for which the tax group can exist is one year.

VAT group members are treated as a single taxable person with a single VAT number.

The following are the significant aspects of grouping:

- The VAT group submits a single, consolidated VAT return for all of its members.
- VAT is not chargeable on transactions between group members.
- All VAT group members are jointly and severally liable for the group’s VAT liabilities.

Non-established businesses. A “non-established business” is a business that does not have a legal seat or fixed establishment in the territory of Switzerland. A non-established business that makes supplies of goods or services in Switzerland must register for VAT if it is liable to account for Swiss VAT on the supplies.

Effective 1 January 2015, foreign companies are liable for VAT in Switzerland if they provide domestic supplies subject to the reverse charge, and the revenue generated from the supplies exceeds CHF100,000 per year.

Tax representatives. A non-established business (see Non-established businesses) must appoint a tax representative if it supplies goods or services subject to Swiss VAT.

Reverse charge. The “reverse charge” is a form of self-assessment for VAT through which the recipient accounts for the tax. The reverse-charge mechanism applies to the following situations:

- A Swiss recipient receives services from a supplier domiciled abroad who is not registered for Swiss VAT, and the place of supply is in Switzerland.
- Data carriers without market value are imported into Switzerland, and certain services and rights are associated with these data carriers.
- A supply of goods is made in Switzerland by a business that is established abroad and that is not registered for Swiss VAT, and the supply is not subject to import VAT.

Please note: Effective 1 January 2015, suppliers domiciled abroad that are not registered for Swiss VAT purposes are obliged to register for Swiss VAT purposes if they perform supplies of goods in Switzerland in excess of CHF100,000 annually. In this context, it should be noted that Swiss VAT regulations follow a rather broad definition of “supplies of goods” (including e.g., sale of energy (gas, oil, electricity), lease agreements, work performed on goods, even if the good is not altered by the work but only tested, calibrated, regulated, checked for its function, etc.).

Such suppliers domiciled abroad which are (obliged to be) VAT registered in Switzerland must account for the Swiss VAT related to taxable supplies performed in Switzerland.

A Swiss recipient is liable for the settlement of VAT under the reverse-charge mechanism if the recipient is a taxable person or if the value of the supplies received exceeds CHF10,000 per calendar year.

The place of supply for most supplies of services is the customer's country (fall-back rule). In the circumstances described above, the customer must account for VAT under the reverse-charge procedure. However, some exceptions exist. These exceptions, for which additional consideration regarding the place-of-supply rules needs to be made, include the following:

- Services that require the physical presence of the customer, who is a natural person, at the place where these services are provided (for example, beauty or curative therapies and treatments, family advisory and child care), even if exceptionally supplied from a distance
- Services of travel agents and event organizers
- Services in the fields of culture, art, sport, science, education or entertainment, and similar services including the activities of organizers and related activities
- Restaurant services
- Passenger transport services
- Services related to immovable property (for example, intermediation, administration, valuation, services in connection with the preparation and coordination of construction works such as architectural, engineering and supervising services and land and building monitoring, and accommodation services)
- Services in the field of international development and humanitarian aid

The rule providing that the place of supply is the domicile of the recipient applies to supplies of electricity power or natural gasoline in pipes, even though those supplies are treated as supplies of goods and not services.

The reverse-charge mechanism applies to electronic services, supplies of electricity power or natural gasoline in pipes and telecommunication services only if the Swiss service recipient is a VAT-registered business. Consequently, foreign businesses that provide electronic supplies of services to persons who are not registered for VAT must register for VAT in Switzerland and charge Swiss VAT if their turnover in Switzerland exceeds the annual threshold of CHF100,000. For all other services, the reverse-charge mechanism applies regardless of whether the recipient of the services is registered for VAT.

Registration procedures. Businesses that intend to register for Swiss VAT need to file an application with the Swiss Federal Tax Authorities. The application must be filed electronically via the Swiss Federal Tax Authorities' webpage, available in German, French and Italian at <http://www.estv.admin.ch/mwst/dienstleistungen/00229/00591/>. On average, the application procedure takes about two weeks.

Late-registration penalties. Taxable persons should be registered with the Federal Tax Administration in writing within 30 days after the commencement of their tax liability or 60 days for persons who become taxable solely because of the acquisition tax. A penalty may be levied for late VAT registration. In the case of tax evasion, fines of up to CHF800,000 may be charged. The amount of the fine varies depending on the circumstances.

Digital economy. Foreign businesses that provide electronic supplies of services to persons who are not registered for VAT must register for VAT in Switzerland and charge Swiss VAT if their turnover in Switzerland exceeds the annual threshold of CHF100,000. For electronically supplied services to recipients registered for Swiss VAT, the reverse charge mechanism applies provided that the supplier is established outside of Switzerland and not registered for Swiss VAT.

Deregistration. Taxable persons are required to notify the Swiss Federal Tax Authorities in writing within 30 days after ceasing their entrepreneurial activities in Switzerland or with concluding the liquidation procedure at the latest.

D. VAT rates

The term “taxable supplies” refers to supplies of goods and services that are liable to VAT at any rate.

The VAT rates are:

- Standard rate: 8%
- Reduced rate: 2.5%
- Special rate of 3.8% (for hotel accommodation)

The standard VAT rate applies to all supplies of goods or services, unless a specific measure provides for a reduced rate or an exemption.

Examples of goods and services taxable at 2.5%

- Books, newspapers and magazines
- Food and drinks (except provided by hotels and restaurants)
- Drugs
- Water in pipes

Examples of goods and services taxable at 3.8%

- Hotel accommodation, including breakfast

The term “tax-exempt without credit” refers to supplies of goods and services that are not liable to tax and that do not give rise to a right of input tax deduction (see Section F). Some supplies are classified as tax exempt with credit (zero-rated), which means that no VAT is chargeable, but the supplier may recover the related input tax.

Examples of tax-exempt without credit supplies

- Healthcare (in some cases; unless opted for taxation)
- Financial transactions
- Insurance
- Education (unless opted for taxation)
- Real estate (unless opted for taxation)

Examples of tax-exempt with credit supplies

- Exports of goods and services
- Supplies of certain goods and services to airlines
- Services with the place of supply abroad

- Supplies of investment gold (effective 1 January 2014, the scope of the term “investment gold” has been broadened and is not limited to specific forms of investment gold)

Option to tax for exempt supplies. Certain supplies of goods and services may be voluntarily subjected to tax by openly charging VAT (option), e.g., certain healthcare, educational and cultural services as well as renting or leasing of immovable property. However, restrictions may apply and the right to opt should be reviewed on a by-case basis.

E. Time of supply

The time when VAT becomes due is called the “time of supply” or the “tax point.” In Switzerland, taxable turnover must be declared for the VAT quarter (or VAT month, if monthly declarations are filed) in which the sales invoice for a supply is issued or in which payment is received (if no invoice is issued). If the declaration is made on a cash basis, the turnover must be declared for the quarter in which payment is collected.

Prepayments. The tax point for a prepayment is when the supplier receives the consideration or when the invoice is issued, whichever is earlier.

Reverse charge. The tax point for reverse-charge services for a taxable person is when the invoice is received or when the service fee is paid. In all other situations, including declarations made on a cash basis, the effective payment date is decisive.

Imported goods. The time of supply for imported goods is the official date of importation.

F. Recovery of VAT by taxable persons

A taxable person may recover input tax, which is VAT on purchases, to the extent that the purchases of goods and services are related to taxable supplies, including tax-exempt supplies with credit and supplies rendered outside Switzerland or Liechtenstein that would be taxable if rendered domestically. A taxable person generally recovers input tax by deducting it from output tax, which is VAT charged on supplies made.

Input tax includes VAT charged on goods and services supplied in Switzerland and Liechtenstein, VAT paid on imports of goods and VAT self-assessed on reverse-charge supplies.

According to a recommendation of the Swiss VAT authorities, a valid tax invoice or customs document and proof that the input VAT was paid should support a claim for input tax.

Effective from 1 January 2010, new rules allow the tax authorities to accept all means of proof.

Nondeductible input tax. Input tax may not be recovered on purchases of goods and services that are not used for taxable business purposes (for example, goods acquired for private use by an entrepreneur).

Examples of items for which input tax is nondeductible

- Private expenditure

Examples of items for which input tax is deductible
(if related to a taxable business use)

- Purchase, hire, lease, maintenance and fuel for cars, vans and trucks (output tax is due on the private use of company cars)
- Parking
- Conferences, seminars and training courses
- Books
- Business use of home telephone (output tax is due on the private element)
- Advertising
- Transport
- Hotel accommodation
- Business gifts (subject to restrictions; output tax may be due)

Partial exemption. Input tax directly related to making tax-exempt supplies without credit is generally not recoverable. If a Swiss taxable person makes both tax-exempt supplies without credit and taxable supplies, it may not recover input tax in full. This situation is referred to as “partial exemption.”

The amount of input tax that a partially exempt business can recover may be calculated using the following two-stage calculation:

- The first stage identifies the input VAT that can be directly allocated to taxable or to tax-exempt supplies without credit. Input tax directly allocated to taxable supplies is deductible, while input tax directly related to tax-exempt supplies without credit is not deductible. Tax-exempt supplies with credit are treated as taxable supplies for these purposes.
- The next stage identifies the amount of the remaining input tax (for example, input tax on general business overhead) that may be partly allocated to taxable supplies and accordingly only partly recovered. The calculation may be performed using a general pro-rata method based on the values of taxable supplies made versus tax-exempt supplies without credit, or it may be performed using another appropriate method.

Refunds. If the amount of input VAT recoverable in a period exceeds the amount of output VAT payable in the same period, the taxable person is entitled to a refund of the excess amount. A VAT repayment is paid automatically within 60 days after the return is received by the Swiss VAT authorities.

Preregistration costs. Not applicable.

G. Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses

Switzerland refunds VAT incurred by businesses that are neither established nor registered for VAT in Switzerland or Liechtenstein. Non-established businesses may generally claim Swiss VAT to the same extent as Swiss VAT-registered businesses. However, restrictions apply to certain types of expenditure for claimants established in certain countries.

Refunds are made on the condition of reciprocity. Repayments are currently made to claimants from the following countries.

Australia	Germany	Norway
Austria	Greece	Poland
Bahrain	Hong Kong	Portugal

Belgium	Hungary	Romania
Bermuda	Ireland	Saudi Arabia
Bulgaria	Israel	Slovak Republic
Canada	Italy	Slovenia
Croatia	Japan	Spain
Cyprus	Latvia	Sweden
Czech Republic	Lithuania	Taiwan
Denmark	Luxembourg	Turkey
Estonia	Macedonia	United Kingdom
Finland	Monaco	United States
France	Netherlands

Refund application. The deadline for refund claims is 30 June following the calendar year in which the supply received was invoiced. This deadline is strictly enforced.

Claims may be submitted in French, German or Italian. The claimant must appoint a representative who is a natural person or a legal entity whose domicile or registered office is in Switzerland.

The claim period is one year. The minimum claim amount is CHF500.

The following documentation must accompany the claim (the forms indicated below are available for download at the website of the Swiss VAT authorities):

- Completed VAT refund claim (Forms 1222 and 1223). Form 1222 identifies the Swiss tax representative that needs to be appointed to apply for the refund.
- Original VAT invoices.
- Proof of payment (if requested by the Swiss tax authorities).
- A Certificate of Taxable Status for the claimant, which is issued by the competent tax authorities in the country where the claimant is established, to prove the business status of the claimant.

Applications for refunds of Swiss VAT may be sent to the following address:

Eidgenoessische Steuerverwaltung
Hauptabteilung Mehrwertsteuer
Schwarztorstrasse 50
CH-3003 Berne
Switzerland

Repayment interest. Refunds are generally made within six months after the date of application. However, the Swiss VAT authorities pay interest on refunds made after this period if reciprocity rules are observed.

H. Invoicing

VAT invoices and corrections. A Swiss taxable person must generally provide a VAT invoice for all taxable supplies made, including exports. A VAT invoice is necessary to support a refund under the VAT refund scheme for non-established businesses.

A VAT credit or debit note may be used to correct the VAT charged and reclaimed on a supply of goods or services. These documents must be cross-referenced to the original VAT invoice.

Proof of exports. Swiss VAT is not chargeable on supplies of exported goods. However, to qualify as VAT-free, export supplies must be supported by evidence that the goods have left Switzerland. Acceptable proof includes the officially validated customs documentation.

Foreign-currency invoices. If a Swiss VAT invoice is issued in a currency other than Swiss francs (CHF), the amounts must be converted to Swiss francs, using the appropriate exchange rates published by the Federal Tax Administration, which are available on its website (monthly or daily rates are available). If no clear tax advantage is gained, the use of a group exchange rate may be allowed.

I. VAT returns and payment

VAT returns. Swiss VAT returns are usually submitted for quarterly periods. If the taxable person has applied to be taxed under the balance tax rate method (that is, the tax due is calculated by multiplying the gross total taxable turnover by the balance tax rate authorized by the Swiss tax authorities), VAT returns must be submitted on a half-yearly basis. Taxable persons with a regular excess of input over output VAT may apply to submit monthly returns. The VAT return is due, together with full payment, 60 days after the end of the VAT settlement period.

VAT liabilities must be paid in Swiss francs.

Special schemes. Two special schemes involve calculating VAT due in a different manner.

Net tax rate scheme. If a taxable person does not generate more than CHF5.020 million turnover from taxable supplies annually and in the same period does not have to pay more than CHF109,000 in VAT, calculated at the net tax rate that applies to him, he may report VAT under the net tax rate method. When using the net tax rate method, the VAT due is determined by multiplying the total of the taxable considerations, including tax, generated in the reporting period in Switzerland by the net tax rate approved by the Swiss Federal Tax Authorities. The net tax rates take into account the input tax amounts usual in the relevant branch of the industry. They are fixed by the Swiss Federal Tax Authorities after consultation with the industry association concerned. Authorization to report under the net tax rate method must be requested from the Swiss Federal Tax Authorities and the method must be used for at least one tax period.

Flat tax rate scheme. In principle, the flat tax rate method is similar to the net tax rate method, but may be applied only by public authorities and related institutions, in particular private hospitals and schools or licensed transport undertakings and associations and foundations.

Electronic filing and archiving. Data and information transmitted and stored electronically or in a similar manner that are relevant for claiming input tax, or levying or collecting tax, have the same evidential value as data and information that are readable without auxiliary means, provided the following requirements are met:

- Proof of origin
- Proof of integrity
- Dispatch cannot be contested

Special legal provisions that require the transmission or storage of the data and information mentioned in a particular form are in place.

Annual returns. There is no requirement to file an additional annual return in Switzerland. However, if the taxable person discovers errors in his tax returns in the course of drawing up his annual accounts, he must correct them at the latest in the return for the reporting period in which the 180th day after the end of the relevant business year falls.

J. Penalties

Interest at a rate of 4.5% a year may be assessed for the late payment of VAT. Penalties may be also assessed for the late submission of a VAT return.

Taiwan

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Taipei

GMT +8

EY

9/F, 333 Keelung Road, Sec. 1
Taipei 11012
Taiwan

Indirect tax contacts

ChienHua Yang

+886 (2) 2757 8888, Ext. 1616
chienhua.yang@tw.ey.com

Michael Lin

+886 (2) 2757 8888, Ext. 1608
michael.lin@tw.ey.com

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Business tax (including value-added tax [VAT] and gross business receipts tax [GBRT])
Introduced	13 June 1931 (revised November 2011)
Trading bloc membership	WTO, APEC, ECFA
Administered by	Ministry of Finance (MOF)
Rates
VAT	5%, 0% and exempt
GBRT	0.1% to 25%
VAT number format	10001111
Return periods	Bimonthly
Thresholds
Registration	None (a business entity that conducts business activities in Taiwan must register)
Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses	No, with exceptions

B. Scope of the tax

Taiwan imposes business tax, which consists of VAT and GBRT.

Business tax applies to the following:

- Sale of goods in Taiwan. A transaction involving goods is a transfer of ownership of goods to others for consideration. This is not limited to goods exchanged for money. The exchange of goods for other goods is also included.
- Sale of services in Taiwan. A transaction involving services is the rendering of services to others or supplying goods for the use of others for consideration.
- Import of goods into Taiwan by individuals or companies.

Taxable persons may be subject to both VAT and GBRT. For example, a bank may be subject to VAT on its rental sales and GBRT on its interest income.

Input tax is deductible only with respect to VAT.

Exempt supplies apply to both VAT and GBRT. Zero-rated supplies apply only to VAT.

In general, both VAT and GBRT liabilities are based on the sales amount, which includes all of the consideration received from sales of goods and services, and expense reimbursements.

C. Who is liable

Taxable persons. The following persons are considered taxable persons for business tax purposes:

- Business entities that supply goods or services.
- Consignees or holders of imported goods.
- Purchasers of services supplied by foreign entities that have no fixed place of business in Taiwan. However, if a business entity purchasing services is solely engaged in the operation of goods or services that are subject to VAT in Taiwan, the business entity is not subject to business tax on its purchases of services supplied by a foreign entity.

Non-established businesses. Business tax also applies to the following taxable supplies made by nonresidents:

- Taxable sales of goods in which non-established businesses consign goods to Taiwanese entities that sell the consigned goods on behalf of the foreign non-established businesses
- Taxable sales of services by foreign entities that have no fixed place of business in Taiwan to Taiwanese entities described in the last bullet in Taxable persons

The business tax rate is 3% for the purchase of core business-related services from foreign financial institutions that do not have a fixed place of business in Taiwan. For purchases of other services, the business tax rate is the standard rate of 5%.

However, public and private schools at any level or educational or research institutions that purchased services provided by foreign enterprises, institutions, groups or organizations that have no fixed place of business within the territory of Taiwan for educational, research or experimental purposes are not required to pay business tax.

Representative offices. A representative office of a foreign enterprise is prohibited from engaging in revenue generation activities but may engage in certain limited activities, such as liaison and procurement services for its head office. Reimbursements from the head office to the representative office are not taxable.

Registration procedures. Applying for business registration shall be filed after the completion of company registration but before commencement of operation in Taiwan. In principle, the business registration process is done automatically by a local tax administration office of the national tax authority as soon as it receives the approved and filed basic information related to the company's registration from the competent authority in charge of company registration. The company may need to submit additional documents if formally requested by a local tax administration office of the national tax authority.

Late-registration penalties. Late business tax registrations are subject to the greater of the following penalties:

- Penalty of not less than TWD3,000 and not more than TWD30,000, which may be imposed repeatedly if the registration is not filed within the period prescribed by the tax authority
- Penalty of up to five times the amount of tax evaded

Group registration. Not applicable. Each company shall have its own VAT registration number. Two or more companies or other corporate bodies cannot register as one entity with one VAT registration number.

Reverse charge. Nonresident entity is not allowed to register VAT number and collect VAT in Taiwan. In this regard, for the importation of goods, the VAT will be borne by the importer, generally the domestic purchaser. For the importation of services where the purchaser is a purely value-added business tax entity and the purchased services are used solely in conducting business in taxable goods or services, such services are exempted from the business tax.

Digital economy. In principle, the imposition of business tax on digital economy is similar to the rules applied to traditional economy where the sales of goods or services in Taiwan shall apply business tax. A tax ruling was issued by the MOF dated on 5 May 1995 to elaborate the guidelines for business tax applied to internet transactions. Detailed information may be provided upon further request.

Deregistration. In the case that there is any change in matters registered, or there is a merger, consolidation, ownership transfer, dissolution or cessation of business of a business entity, an application for amendment to registration or cancellation of registration shall be filed with the competent tax authority within 15 days after the occurrence of such an event. An application by a business entity, for amendment to registration or cancellation of registration, may only take effect upon the payment in full of taxes, or upon the provision of security, provided, however, that this requirement shall not apply in the case of application for amendment due to merger, consolidation, increase of capital or a change in business address or scope of business.

D. VAT and GBRT rates

The VAT rates are 5% (the standard rate) and 0%.

The following are the GBRT rates:

- 0.1% for traders in the agricultural wholesale market and small businesses supplying agricultural products
- 1% for small businesses and other business entities that are excluded by the MOF from reporting their transactions
- 1% for reinsurance premiums of insurance enterprises (5% for operations other than authorized core businesses)
- 2% or 5% on the sale of services by local financial institutions (for banking and insurance companies: generally 5%, except for certain transaction types; for the other financial institutions: 2% on their core business revenue and 5% on their non-core business revenue)
- 2% or 5% on the purchase of services from foreign financial institutions
- 15% for nightclubs or restaurants providing entertainment

- 25% for saloons or tearooms, coffee shops, and bars offering female companionship (in nightclubs, customers can ask waitresses to sit aside, serve drinks, chat and sing karaoke)

Examples of zero-rated supplies

- Export of goods
- Services related to exports
- Services rendered in Taiwan but used outside Taiwan
- Sales of goods or services to taxable persons in bonded areas for the buyers' operations

Examples of exempt supplies of goods and services

- Certain essential and unprocessed foods
- Sale of lands
- Certain bonds and securities
- Sales of fixed assets that are not regularly traded by certain businesspersons subject to GBRT

Option to tax for exempt supplies. Suppliers may opt to treat the above examples of exempt supplies of goods and services as taxable.

E. Time of supply

The following are the rules for the timing of VAT liabilities:

- Goods: at the earlier of the delivery of goods or payment of the proceeds
- Services: in general, on payment of the remuneration
- Continuous supplies of services: in general, on payment of the remuneration
- For imported goods: on customs declaration

In general, liability for GBRT arises on receipt of payments.

Imported goods. The holder of imported goods is liable to pay the 5% VAT at customs.

F. Recovery of VAT by taxable persons

Deductibility of input VAT. Input VAT is deductible in the current and next filing periods. If a taxpayer reports the input VAT after the next filing period, the taxpayer must provide the reasons in an attachment to the tax return.

Nondeductible input tax. Input VAT is not deductible if supporting documents with respect to purchased goods or services are not obtained or maintained. In addition, input VAT is not deductible if it is incurred on purchases of the following:

- Goods or services that are not used in the principal or ancillary business operations of the purchaser. However, input tax on purchases made for national defense construction, troop morale and contributions to the government is deductible.
- Goods or services for social relations purposes.
- Goods or services provided to individual employees.
- Passenger cars for personal use.

Examples of items for which input tax is deductible (if related to a taxable business use)

- Any input tax derived from the goods or services that are used in the principal or ancillary business operations of the purchaser shall be deductible, except for the above mentioned nondeductible input tax.

Capital goods. Input VAT on the acquisition of fixed assets is refundable to business entities.

Refunds. Overpaid VAT is refundable after verification by the relevant tax office if any of the following conditions are satisfied:

- The overpaid amount of VAT results from zero-rated sales.
- The overpaid amount of VAT results from the acquisition of fixed assets.
- The overpaid amount of VAT results from the cancellation of registration through a merger or consolidation, transfer of ownership, dissolution or cessation of business.
- Other special circumstances approved by the MOF exist.

Partial exemption. When a business entity applying VAT engages on a concurrent basis in the business of tax-exempt goods or services or in the business applying GBRT, the business entity is prohibited from deducting a certain part of the input tax from the output tax. The nondeductible ratio is subject to be computed according to the prescribed formula.

Preregistration costs. Input VAT borne by the business entity prior to its completion of setting up, the input VAT may be deductible.

G. Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses

Effective from 1 July 2010, a foreign non-established entity may qualify for a refund of VAT incurred on the purchases of goods and services with respect to its participation in an exhibition or its engagement in “temporary commercial events” in Taiwan if the following conditions are met:

- The input VAT reaches a minimum of TWD5,000 in a year.
- Reciprocal treatment is given by the other foreign jurisdiction under the same circumstances.

For purposes of the above rule, “temporary commercial events” refer to activities including traveling, training, inspection, market research, procurement, organizing or attending international conferences, tender invitations, information exchanges, marketing seminars and other business activities approved by the MOF that are relevant to the core or ancillary business operations of the companies.

H. Invoicing

VAT invoices and credit notes. Business entities selling goods or services must issue Government Uniform Invoices (GUIs) to purchasers.

GUIs are generally printed and sold by the government. However, qualified business entities can apply to print their own invoices. The MOF prescribes the forms, items to be recorded and the uses for the invoices.

Proof of exports. The following are examples of documentation that may be used to substantiate exports:

- Goods exported: a copy of the international parcel receipt issued by the postal service, except for goods exported through customs that are exempt from such documentation requirement
- For services rendered with respect to exports or services rendered in Taiwan but used outside of Taiwan: a copy of the foreign-currency receipt

- For goods sold to entities located in bonded areas: document issued by customs proving that such sale is an export or a copy of the GUI certified by the bonded purchaser

Foreign-currency invoices. GUIs must be issued in New Taiwan (NT) dollars. The foreign currency can be noted as a remark on the GUIs.

I. Business tax returns and payments

Business tax returns. Business tax returns must be filed for two-month periods by the 15th day following the end of the period. It is possible to apply for monthly VAT filings if a business entity is eligible for zero-rated VAT. Business tax returns must be accompanied with all relevant documentation, and excess output VAT must be paid to the tax authorities before the returns are filed. Receipts of payments made must be filed with the returns.

Special schemes. Not applicable.

Electronic filing and archiving. Electronic filing is optional for the taxpayer. It has been widely adopted by most business entities.

Annual returns. Additional filing of annual return is not required. However, business entities would be required to re-calculate the nondeductible ratio on a yearly basis to adjust the reported nondeductible input VAT, if certain criteria are met.

J. Penalties

Penalties are imposed for failure to file or make correct payment and for filing after the prescribed deadline.

Returns and payment. A business entity that fails to file the sales amount or the detailed list of GUIs used within the prescribed time limit may be liable to the following penalties:

- If the filing is past due for less than 30 days, a surcharge for late filing equal to 1% of the tax payable may be imposed for every two days overdue. The surcharge may not be less than TWD1,200 and not more than TWD12,000.
- If the filing is past due in excess of 30 days, a surcharge for non-filing equal to 30% of the assessed tax payable may be imposed. The amount of this surcharge may not be less than TWD3,000 and not more than TWD30,000.
- If there is no tax payable, the surcharge for late filing or non-filing shall be TWD1,200 and TWD3,000, respectively.

Tax evasion. A taxpayer may be subject to a fine for tax evasion ranging up to five times of the amount of tax evaded if any of the following circumstances exist:

- A business is conducted without an application for business registration being filed.
- The sales amount or detailed list of GUIs used is not submitted and the amount of business tax due is not paid within 30 days after the prescribed deadline.
- The sales amount is not reported or is underreported.
- The business is conducted after applying for deregistration or after suspension of business by the relevant collection authority.
- The amount of input tax is falsely reported.
- Business tax is not paid for purchase of services provided by foreign entities within 30 days after the prescribed deadline.
- Tax is evaded in another manner.

Tanzania

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Dar es Salaam

GMT +3

EY

Mail address:
P.O. Box 2475
Dar es Salaam
Tanzania

Street address:
36 Laibon Road
Oysterbay
Dar es Salaam
Tanzania

Indirect tax contacts

Silke Mattern

+255 (22) 266-6853
silke.mattern@tz.ey.com

Beatrice Melkiory

+255 (22) 266-6853
beatrice.melkiory@tz.ey.com

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Value-added tax (VAT)
Date introduced	1 July 1998
Trading bloc membership	none
Member of the Southern African Customs Union	No
Administered by	Tanzania Revenue Authority (www.tra.go.tz)
VAT rates
Standard	18%
Special Relief	10% or 0%
Other	Zero-rated and exempt
VAT number format	00-111111-A
VAT return periods	Monthly
Thresholds
Registration	TZS40 million in a year
Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses	No

B. Scope of the tax

VAT applies to the following transactions:

- The supply of goods and services in Tanzania by a taxable person
- Reverse-charge services received by a taxable person in Tanzania
- The importation of goods from outside Tanzania

C. Who is liable

A registered person that makes supplies of taxable goods and services in Tanzania in the course of furtherance of business is liable for VAT.

VAT registration is required on the attainment of annual turnover of TZS40 million. A taxable person must notify the Tanzania Revenue Authority of its liability to register for VAT within 30 days of becoming liable.

Cancellation of registration. A taxable person who ceases to be liable for registration must notify the commissioner in writing within 30 days after ceasing to become liable. A failure to make such notification is an offense punishable by a fine not exceeding TZS50,000.

If the commissioner is satisfied with the notice and if the payment of all VAT due is made, the commissioner cancels the registration, effective from the date of the notification.

Divisions and branches. If a business is carried on in divisions or branches, a taxable person may request the commissioner to register the divisions or branches separately.

Changes in business activities. If the business activities of a taxable person change, the taxable person must notify the commissioner within 30 days after the date of the change.

Non-established businesses. A “non-established business” is a business that does not have a fixed establishment in Tanzania. In practice, a foreign business cannot register for VAT unless it is registered in Tanzania. However, the law empowers the commissioner to request a non-established business to appoint a resident person in Tanzania to act on its behalf in matters relating to tax. A permanent establishment or branch of a foreign business must register for VAT if it makes taxable supplies of goods or services. A person importing goods or services from a nonresident must pay the Tanzanian VAT due.

Registration procedures. If a taxable turnover exceeds TZS40 million, a taxable person is obliged to apply for the VAT registration within 30 days of becoming liable to make such an application. A taxable person or anyone that the company appoints can submit the application. The application should be accompanied by the following documents: Copies of Memorandum and Article of Association, Certificate of Incorporation, Business license, Tax Identification Number (TIN) Certificate, Lease Agreement and two passport-size photographs for one of the directors. Complete VAT Application Form No. 101, and submit either the hard copy or electronically within 30 days. Online registration is available at www.tra.go.tz. Registration can be completed within 14 working days, if all the required documents are available.

Late-registration penalties. Traders that meet the registration threshold but do not register are liable for a fine of up to TZS200,000 or to imprisonment for a term not less than 2 months but not exceeding 12 months or to both fine and imprisonment.

Notwithstanding any penalties imposed for late registration, a person is liable to pay interest on the VAT due.

Group registration. Not applicable.

Tax representatives. According to the provisions of section 60 of the VAT Act 1997 where a taxable person does not have a business establishment in Mainland Tanzania, the commissioner may request the taxable person to appoint another person resident in Mainland Tanzania to act on his behalf in matters relating to tax. Upon acceptance of the representative appointed by the commissioner, the representative may perform the following on behalf of the taxable person:

- Keep and preserve or to produce any records or accounts
- Furnish a tax return
- Pay tax or interest as per the provisions of the VAT Act
- Comply with any business requirement from the commissioner

On the basis of the above provision, a nonresident may apply to the commissioner to appoint a resident representative and hence be registered for VAT. Please note that this is not a common practice.

Reverse charge. Applicable for imported services whereby the receiver of the service will be assumed to be the service supplier, and so the input tax will be the same as the output tax for the service imported.

Digital economy. Not applicable.

Deregistration. A taxable person who ceases to be liable for registration must notify the commissioner in writing within 30 days after ceasing to become liable. A failure to make such notification is an offense punishable by a fine not exceeding TZS50,000.

If the commissioner is satisfied with the notice and if the payment of all VAT due is made, the commissioner cancels the registration, effective from the date of the notification.

D. VAT rates

The term “taxable supplies” refers to supplies of goods and services that are liable to a rate of VAT, including the zero rate.

In Tanzania, the following rates of VAT currently apply:

- Standard rate: 18%
- Reduced rates (“Special relief” rates): 10% or 0%
- Zero rate (0%)

The standard rate of VAT applies to most supplies of goods or services in Tanzania. A zero rate applies to exports and certain other supplies (see below).

Examples of goods and services taxable at 0%

- Exports of goods
- Exports of taxable services
- Supplies by local manufacturers of sacks, fishing nets, veterinary medicines, human medicines, mosquito coils and fertilizer distributors

Examples of special relief supplies taxable at 0%

- Food supplies to children
- Orphanage care
- Schools provided by non-governmental organizations

Example of special relief supplies taxable at 10%

- Importation by or supply to the Bank of Tanzania of goods or services that are to be solely used in the performance of its statutory functions

The term “exempt supplies” refers to supplies of goods and services that are not liable to tax. Persons that make exempt supplies are not entitled to an input tax deduction.

Examples of exempt supplies of goods and services

- Unprocessed agricultural products

- Medical services
- Finance and insurance services
- Aircraft and aircraft engines
- Agricultural services and spare parts for certain equipment such as power tillers and planters
- Horticultural services
- Chicken feed used in poultry farming
- Raw materials used for making fishing nets (nylon fishing twine)
- Transportation of persons by any means of conveyance other than air charter, taxi, cab, rental car or boat
- Petroleum products

Option to tax for exempt supplies. Not applicable.

E. Time of supply

The time when VAT becomes due is called the “time of supply” or “tax point.” The tax point is the earliest of the following events:

- The goods are physically removed from the supplier’s control by the person receiving the supply.
- The services are rendered and performed.
- A tax invoice is issued with respect to the supply.
- Payment is received for all or part of the supply.

The commissioner can determine other tax points in specific situations.

Imports. VAT on imported goods is charged and payable when the custom duty, tax or levy is payable in accordance with the customs law.

F. Recovery of VAT by taxable persons

A taxable person may recover input tax, which is VAT charged on goods and services supplied for business purposes. A taxable person claims input tax by deducting it from output tax, which is VAT charged on supplies made. Taxable persons must claim input tax within six months (effective from 1 July 2011) after incurring the expense.

Input tax includes VAT charged on goods and services purchased in Tanzania and VAT paid on imports of goods and services for which input tax is deductible.

Nondeductible input tax. VAT may not be recovered on purchases of goods and services that are not used for business purposes (for example, goods acquired for private use by an entrepreneur). In addition, input tax may not be recovered with respect to certain business expenses.

The following lists provide some examples of items of expenditure for which input tax is not deductible and examples of items of expenditure for which input tax is deductible if the expenditure is related to a taxable business use.

Examples of items for which input tax is nondeductible

- Purchases of non-commercial motor vehicles
- Business entertainment
- Tobacco
- Amusement

Examples of items for which input tax is deductible
(if related to a taxable business use)

- Purchases of goods for furtherance of business
- Payments for services, such as audit fees
- Advertising
- Consultancy fees
- Accommodation

Partial exemption. VAT directly related to making exempt supplies is not recoverable. A registered person that makes both exempt and taxable supplies cannot recover VAT tax in full. This situation is referred to as “partial exemption.”

Under the Tanzanian VAT law, if a taxable person supplies both taxable and exempt goods and services, one of the partial exemption methods may be used to determine the proper attribution without prior approval of the commissioner.

The first method is the simple pro-rata method based on the value of taxable supplies compared with total supplies made. The second method is based on direct attribution of VAT incurred. The following are the principal aspects of this method:

- Input tax directly attributable to taxable goods purchased and sold in the same state is deductible in full.
- Input tax directly attributable to exempt outputs may not be deducted.
- Input tax that is not directly attributable to taxable goods purchased and sold in the same state or to exempt outputs is recoverable in part. The recoverable percentage is calculated using a simple pro-rata method based on the value of taxable supplies compared with total supplies made.

Refunds. A taxable person may claim a refund of the excess of input tax over output tax on supplies within a tax period. The commissioner-General of the Tanzania Revenue Authority may grant a taxable person a refund within 30 days after the filing of a VAT refund claim. If excess credits arise in successive periods, the taxable person may apply to the commissioner for refunds to be made monthly.

On application to the commissioner, the refund claim may be offset against other tax liabilities.

Each VAT refund claim filed with the commissioner must be approved and supported by a certificate of genuineness issued by an auditor registered with the National Board of Accountants and Auditors (NBAA).

Repayments are made if the taxable person qualifies for a refund. The filing of VAT refund claims can be made within a period of three years after the VAT return is submitted.

Preregistration costs. Not applicable.

G. Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses

Tanzania does not refund VAT incurred by a foreign business unless it has a permanent establishment in Tanzania or it is registered for VAT in Tanzania. However, passengers disembarking outside Tanzania through designated airports can claim VAT refunds for goods with a minimum cost of TZS400,000.

H. Invoicing

VAT invoices and credit notes. A supplier of taxable goods and services must issue a fiscal receipt to the purchaser at the time of supply.

Credit notes may be used to reduce the VAT charged on supplies of goods or services. Credit notes must show the same information as fiscal receipts.

Proof of exports. Goods exported from Tanzania are zero-rated. However, to qualify for zero rating, exports must be supported by evidence that proves the goods left Tanzania. Suitable evidence includes the following documents:

- A sales invoice
- A bill of lading, road manifest or airway bill
- Export permit
- In addition to the above, any other evidence requested by the commissioner

Foreign-currency invoices. Foreign-currency invoices are treated in the same manner as invoices in local currency. The tax authorities do not require the use of a standard exchange rate to convert the value of foreign invoices into Tanzanian shillings. In practice, the tax authorities accept the rate used by the taxable person if the rate is within the range of prevailing market exchange rates.

I. VAT returns and payment

VAT returns. The VAT tax period is one month. Returns must be filed by the last working day of the month after the end of the tax period. Payment of VAT is due in full on the same date. A nil return must be filed if no VAT is payable (either because the taxable person has made no supplies or because input tax exceeds output tax in the period).

If the normal submission date falls on a public holiday or a weekend, the VAT return must be submitted on the last working day before that day.

An electronic document is considered filed by a person and received by the commissioner when a document registration number is created using the person's authentication code.

Special schemes. Not applicable.

Electronic filing and archiving. VAT-registered persons are required to file monthly VAT returns by using the TRA web-based system. Daily reports (Z-reports) are filed electronically to record all transactions.

Annual returns. Tanzania only has monthly VAT returns.

J. Penalties

The late submission of a return is subject to a penalty of TZS50,000 or 1% of the tax payable for the tax period covered by the return, whichever is greater, and a further penalty of TZS100,000 or 2% of the tax payable for the tax period covered by the return, whichever is greater.

If any amount of tax, including penalties, remains unpaid after the due date, interest is imposed at the prevailing annual commercial bank lending rate of the Bank of Tanzania plus five percentage points.

Other penalties for VAT offenses include the following:

- Fraudulent evasion or recovery of tax: a penalty of twice the amount of tax involved or TZS2 million, whichever is greater, imprisonment for a term of two years or both the fine and imprisonment
- Making false statements, producing false documents or providing false information: a penalty not exceeding TZS500,000 or a term of imprisonment not less than three months but not exceeding two years or both the fine and imprisonment
- Late application for registration: a penalty of up to TZS200,000, a term of imprisonment of at least two months but not exceeding 12 months or both the fine and imprisonment
- Failure to issue a tax invoice: a penalty not exceeding TZS500,000, a term of imprisonment not exceeding 12 months or both the fine and imprisonment

Thailand

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Bangkok

GMT +7

EY

33rd Floor
Lake Rajada Office Complex
193/136-137 New Rajadapisek Road
(Opposite Queen Sirikit National Convention Centre)
Klongtoey, Bangkok 10110
Thailand

Indirect tax contacts

Yupa Wichitkraisorn	+66 (2) 264-0777, Ext. 55003 yupa.wichitkraisorn@th.ey.com
William Chea	+66 (2) 264-0777, Ext. 77056 william.chea@th.ey.com
Thitima Tangprasert	+66 (2) 264-0777, Ext. 21011 thitima.tangprasert@th.ey.com

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Value-added tax (VAT)
Date introduced	1 January 1992
Trading bloc membership	Association of Southeast Asian Nations (ASEAN)
Administered by	Thai Revenue Department (http://www.rd.go.th)
VAT rates
Standard	7% (increase expected after 30 September 2015)
Other	Zero-rated and exempt
VAT number format	Same as tax identification number
VAT return periods	Monthly
Thresholds
Registration	Annual revenue of THB1,800,000
Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses (foreign legal entities)	No (unless the non-established business is registered for VAT in Thailand as a result of carrying on a business either in its own right or through an agent)

B. Scope of the tax

VAT applies to the following transactions:

- The supply of goods or services consumed in Thailand by a taxable person
- The importation of goods or services into Thailand
- The export of goods or services out of Thailand

C. Who is liable

A taxable person is any entity or person that falls into any of the following categories:

- A seller of goods in the course of a business or profession in Thailand
- A provider of services in the course of a business or profession in Thailand
- An importer of goods and services
- Any person deemed by the law to be a trader, such as a local agent of an overseas corporation that sells goods or provides services in Thailand

VAT registration. VAT registration must be made within 30 days after revenue exceeds THB1.8 million, or before the commencement of business. An overseas trader is eligible to register for VAT only if it will do business in Thailand for at least one year, or at least three months if engaged in a government project funded by a foreign loan or foreign aid.

Voluntary registration. A business may register for VAT voluntarily if its taxable turnover is below the VAT registration threshold (annual revenue of THB1.8 million). A business may also register for VAT voluntarily in advance of making taxable supplies.

Reverse charge. If an overseas service provider or supplier of goods temporarily carries on a business in Thailand but is not registered as a Thai VAT operator or if such person provides services overseas for use in Thailand to a payer of service fees in Thailand, the customer for the goods or services in Thailand must self-assess the VAT due and remit it to the Thai tax authorities. Payment must be made by the seventh day of the month following the month of the payment of the income. If the customer for the goods or services is registered as a VAT operator in Thailand, it may recover the VAT paid by crediting it against the output VAT.

Exemption from registration. No exemption from VAT registration applies to businesses that carry on taxable activities. However, certain activities are exempt from VAT (see Section D).

Registration procedures. The application for VAT registration can be submitted in hard copy to the respective area revenue office or online via the revenue department's website.

For a hard copy submission, the registration application and required supporting documents must be submitted to the area revenue office where the business is located. In the case where the taxpayer has several branches, the registration application must be submitted to the revenue office where the head office is located. If all required documents are fully submitted, the VAT registration should be approved on the same day.

For an online VAT registration, the applicant, who already has a tax identification number, can submit its application via the website of the revenue department (www.rd.go.th) 24-hours a day. The supporting documents are not required to be uploaded via the website at the time of registration, but the tax official will visit the applicant's registered office to inspect all supporting documents prior to approving the VAT registration. The result of the registration application will be sent by email to the applicant within 15 days of the submission date.

Late-registration penalties. Penalties are imposed for failure to register for VAT. The penalty is 200% of the VAT payable each month during the period of the failure to register for VAT.

Group registration. Not applicable.

Non-established businesses. To register as a VAT operator in Thailand, the non-established business must be engaged in activities that allow it to generate tax invoices in Thailand. As a result, input tax can be matched to the output tax and the non-established business can prove that the input tax is relevant to its business operations in Thailand. A non-established business cannot register for VAT simply to claim input tax if it does not have any activities that generate income in Thailand.

Tax representatives. Not applicable.

Digital economy. Sale of goods and provision of services of digital or e-commerce businesses are subject to general Thai VAT regulations.

Deregistration. A business that ceases operations must cancel its VAT registration by deregistering with the tax authorities within 15 days after the date of ceasing operations.

D. VAT rates

VAT in Thailand is currently levied at a rate of 7% on the value of goods sold or services consumed in Thailand. The VAT rate of 7% will apply until 30 September 2015. This rate may likely be increased by one or two percentage points, subject to the interim government announcement in due course.

VAT applies to all stages of production, distribution and sale, including the importation of tangible and intangible goods and services.

For the importation of goods from a seller located outside of Thailand or customs-free zone area, the importer must pay the VAT due to the customs authority, which collects the VAT on behalf of the Thai tax authority, at the time of importation.

The export of goods and services is eligible for a zero rate of VAT. To qualify as an export of services, services performed in Thailand must be used in a foreign country. If the services are partially used in Thailand, the part of the services used in Thailand is subject to VAT at a rate of 7%.

The following activities are exempt from VAT:

- Sale of agriculture products and animal products (except canned foods)
- Sales of fertilizers, drugs or chemicals for caring for plants or animals, and insecticides or pesticides for plants or animals
- Sales of ground fishmeal and animal feeds
- Sales of newspapers, periodicals and textbooks
- Rendering of services in the fields of medicine, auditing or litigation
- Hospital services

- Domestic transportation and international transportation by land
- Leasing of immovable property
- Business subject to Specific Business Tax (SBT)

Option to tax for exempt supplies. Operators of the following VAT exempted businesses are entitled to register for VAT:

- Sale of goods not for export or provision of services as follows:
 - Sale of agricultural products
 - Sale of animals
 - Sale fertilizers
 - Sale of fish meals, animal feeds
 - Sale of drugs and chemical products for plants and animals
 - Sale of newspapers, magazines or textbooks
- Provision of domestic transport by aircraft
- Export of goods as the trader in the export processing zone under the laws governing industrial estate of Thailand
- Provision of the service of transporting fuel oils through pipes in Thailand
- Business with the value of tax base not exceeding the value of the tax base for a small business fixed by Royal Decree

E. Time of supply

The time when VAT becomes due is called the “time of supply” or “tax point.”

The tax point for the supply of goods is the time of delivery unless one of the following events occurs before delivery:

- Ownership transfer
- Receipt of the payment
- Issuance of the tax invoice

The tax point for the supply of services is the receipt of the payment unless one of the following events occurs before delivery:

- Issuance of the tax invoice
- In the case of services provided without charge, the use of the services by the service provider or the other recipient persons

The tax point for the import of goods is the time of importation, which is the time of customs clearance.

The tax point for the export of goods is the time of payment of export duty or, if the goods are exempt from customs, the date on which the goods clear customs.

F. Recovery of VAT by taxable persons

A taxable person may recover input tax, which is VAT charged on goods and services supplied to it for business purposes. A taxable person generally recovers input tax by deducting it from output tax, which is VAT charged on supplies made.

Input tax includes VAT charged on goods and services supplied in Thailand, VAT paid on imports of goods into Thailand and VAT self-assessed on reverse-charge services.

Nondeductible input tax. Input tax may not be recovered on purchases of goods and services that are not used for business purposes (for example, goods acquired for private use by an entrepreneur). In addition, input tax may not be recovered for some items of business expenditure.

Examples of items for which input tax is nondeductible

- Entertainment expenses or similar expenses
- Passenger cars (except for car sales or rental business)
- Goods or services relating to passenger cars such as gasoline and repairs (except for car sales or rental business)
- Construction of buildings sold or used for a non-VAT business within three years after completion

In addition, the following input tax is not recoverable:

- Input tax arising from certain types of business activities that are not subject to VAT
- Input tax shown on an abbreviated tax invoice or a tax invoice that bears signs of correction or alteration of the particulars required by law
- Input tax not substantiated by a tax invoice
- Input tax recorded in an incomplete tax invoice
- Input tax shown on a tax invoice issued by a person not authorized to do so

Examples of items for which input tax is deductible
(if related to a taxable business use)

Generally, input tax that is attributable on expenses related to the VAT-able business is deductible for VAT computation:

- Input tax on purchase of raw materials
- Input tax on purchase of capital assets
- Input tax on purchase of goods for resale
- Input tax on royalty payment
- Input tax on sale and marketing expenses
- Import VAT paid to customs department for import of goods into Thailand
- Self-assessed VAT paid to revenue department on reverse-charge mechanism

Partial exemption. Not applicable.

Refunds. The VAT refund can be made within three years from the last day of filing date.

Preregistration costs. Any input tax attributable on the pre-registration costs prior to the VAT registration date is not recoverable.

G. Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses

VAT incurred by a non-established business (that is, an overseas legal entity) may be recovered only if the non-established business is registered as a VAT operator in Thailand.

H. Invoicing

Tax invoices and credit notes. A Thai VAT operator is required to issue a tax invoice for all taxable supplies made, including exports. A tax invoice is necessary to support a claim for input tax deduction or a refund.

A tax credit note may be used to reduce the VAT charged and reclaimed on a supply. The credit note must reflect the reasons for its issuance as allowed by the VAT law. The credit note must be cross-referenced to the original tax invoice.

Proof of exports. An export of goods may be eligible for the zero rate of VAT if the goods are physically exported and if the export is supported by evidence confirming the departure of the goods from Thailand. The evidence required includes the following documents:

- Customs documentation
- Original invoice

Foreign-currency invoices. Tax invoices can be issued in a foreign currency if approval has been obtained from the tax authorities.

I. VAT returns and payment

VAT returns. VAT returns are submitted monthly. A supplier of goods and services must collect VAT from the purchaser of the goods or the recipient of a service and remit it to the Thai tax authority by the 15th day of the month following the month in which the tax point is triggered (for example, the time of delivery, receipt of payment or issuance of an invoice; see Section E). For reverse-charge services, the Thai service recipient is required to self-assess the VAT and remit it to the Thai tax authority by the seventh day of the month following the month in which the payment is made.

Special schemes. Not applicable.

Electronic filing and archiving. The VAT operator can file its monthly VAT returns provided that it obtains the approval from the revenue department.

Annual returns. Not applicable.

J. Penalties

A penalty of 100% of the tax shortfall is assessed for the late payment of VAT, plus a monthly surcharge of 1.5% of the tax shortfall (capped at 100% of the tax shortfall). However, if a taxable person does not receive a notice of call for examination, the penalty may be reduced to the following:

- 2% if the payment is made within 15 days after the due date
- 5% if the payment is made after 15 days but not later than 30 days after the due date
- 10% if the payment is made after 30 days but not later than 60 days after the due date
- 20% if the payment is made more than 60 days from the due date

Trinidad and Tobago

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Port-of-Spain

GMT -4

EY
Mail address:
P.O. Box 158
Port-of-Spain
Trinidad

Street address:
5-7 Sweet Briar Road
Port-of-Spain
Trinidad

Indirect tax contact

Gregory Hannays	+1 (868) 622-1364 gregory.hannays@tt.ey.com
Nassim Mohammed	+1 (868) 822-5022 nassim.mohammed@tt.ey.com

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Value-added tax (VAT)
Date introduced	1 January 1990
Trading bloc membership	Caribbean Community (CARICOM)
Administered by	Board of Inland Revenue Value Added Tax Administration Centre 20, St. Vincent Street Port-of-Spain Trinidad
VAT rates
Standard	15%
Other	Zero-rated and exempt
VAT number format	999999 (6 digits)
VAT return periods	Two-monthly
Thresholds
Registration	TTD360,000
Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses	No

B. Scope of the tax

VAT applies to commercial transactions undertaken by taxable persons in Trinidad and Tobago and to imports of goods.

C. Who is liable

The Trinidad and Tobago VAT law imposes a registration requirement on any person that makes commercial supplies in Trinidad and Tobago and that has annual turnover exceeding TTD360,000 a year.

A person that intends to make commercial supplies may apply for registration. However, the application must be supported by additional information indicating that the value of the person's commercial supplies will exceed TTD360,000 a year. Suitable evidence includes incorporation documents, cash-flow projections for 12 months (the month and year to be included) that are signed and dated by a director or the company's accountant, and contracts showing evidence of commencement of business.

Group registration. VAT grouping is not allowed under the Trinidad and Tobago VAT law. Legal entities that are closely connected must register for VAT individually.

Non-established businesses and tax representatives. A "non-established business" is a business that does not have a fixed establishment in Trinidad and Tobago. A non-established business that makes commercial supplies in Trinidad and Tobago must register for VAT if it meets the registration requirements. A branch of a foreign corporation is registered in the same manner as a resident taxable person.

A foreign individual or company that must register for VAT may need to appoint an agent as the foreigner's representative in matters relating to compliance under the VAT Act.

Reverse charge. No reverse-charge mechanism applies in Trinidad and Tobago.

Registration procedures. A written application for registration must be submitted on the prescribed form. The application must be supported by evidence to show that the value of the person's commercial supplies will exceed TTD360,000 per year. Such evidence may include incorporation documents, cash-flow projections and contracts entered into. An applicant will be registered within one working day after the receipt of the application provided that all the relevant documentation has been provided. There is no provision for online registration.

Late-registration penalties. Summary conviction and penalties and interest are imposed for late registration for VAT and for other offenses (see Section J).

Digital economy. Not applicable.

Deregistration. A registered person may apply, in writing, to have his registration cancelled. The tax authority may also cancel the registration of a person where it appears that the person should not continue to be registered.

D. VAT rates

The term "taxable supplies" refers to supplies of goods and prescribed services that are made in the course or furtherance of any business that is liable to VAT. Taxable supplies are referred to as "commercial supplies." Taxable supplies include supplies at the zero rate. Schedule 3 of the VAT law determines what constitutes a supply of goods or services. The term "prescribed services" means any services not listed as exempt services in Schedule 1 of the VAT law.

In Trinidad and Tobago, the VAT rates are the standard rate of 15% and the zero rate (0%). The standard rate of 15% applies to all supplies of goods or services, unless a specific measure provides for the zero rate or an exemption.

Examples of goods and services taxable at 0%

- Exported goods
- Medicines
- Water and sewerage services supplied by a public authority
- With certain exceptions, most items of food and non-alcoholic beverages

The term “exempt supplies” refers to supplies of goods and services that are not liable to tax. Exempt supplies do not give rise to a right of input tax deduction (see Section F).

Examples of exempt supplies of goods and services

- Financial services
- Medical services
- Residential property rentals
- Real estate brokerage
- Public postal services
- Prescribed bus and taxi services
- Betting and gaming

Option to tax for exempt supplies. Not applicable.

E. Time of supply

The time when VAT becomes due is called the “time of supply” or “tax point.” In general, the tax point for goods and services supplied by a taxable person is the earliest of the following events:

- The date of issuance of the invoice by the supplier
- The date of receipt of payment for the supply
- The date on which the goods are made available to the recipient or the services are performed

A taxable person must account for VAT in the VAT period in which the tax point occurs, regardless of whether payment is received. After a purchaser is registered for VAT, it may recover the VAT indicated on the tax invoice.

Imported goods. VAT on the entry of imported goods becomes due and payable at the time when the goods have entered, and the tax is the liability of the importer to account for and pay.

F. Recovery of VAT by taxable persons

The tax paid on goods and services that are acquired for the purpose of making taxable supplies is deductible as input tax. Input tax is offset against output tax, which is tax on supplies made. Input tax is deductible when the goods and services are acquired.

Goods or services are deemed to be for the purpose of making commercial supplies if the supplier acquired, imported or produced the goods or services for any of the following purposes:

- Their supply or resupply as a taxable supply
- Their consumption or use (whether directly or indirectly, or wholly or partly) in producing goods or services for supply as a taxable supply
- Their consumption or use (whether directly or indirectly, or wholly or partly) with respect to a commercial enterprise

Nondeductible input tax. Input tax may not be recovered on purchases of goods and services that are not used for business.

Partial recovery. The Trinidad and Tobago VAT law provides that if all the supplies made by a taxable person during a tax period are commercial supplies, the input tax incurred in the period is deductible in full. However, if some, but not all, of the supplies made by the person during the tax period are commercial supplies, a partial recovery calculation is required. The following are the rules for the calculation of allowable input tax:

- All of the input tax for the period that is directly related to the making of commercial supplies (regardless of whether the supplies are made during that tax period) is recoverable.
- None of the input tax for the period that is directly related to supplies that are not commercial supplies (regardless of whether the supplies are made during that tax period) is recoverable.
- A proportion of the input tax for the period that relates both to commercial and non-commercial supplies is recoverable. The recoverable portion is calculated based on the value of commercial supplies made during the period compared with the value of total supplies made during the period.

If a taxable person makes no commercial supplies during the tax period, the recoverable input tax is the portion, if any, of the input tax for the period that the tax authorities consider to be “fair and reasonable.”

Refunds. If the amount of input VAT recoverable in a month exceeds the amount of output VAT payable, the excess may be refunded. The refund claim must be submitted within 25 days after the end of the tax period. If this deadline is met and if the refund is unpaid after six months, the tax authorities must pay interest on the outstanding balance, at the rate of 1% per month or part of a month, chargeable from the day after the expiration of the period until the date on which the outstanding amount is satisfied.

Preregistration costs. Input tax may be claimed in respect of any stock in trade that is on hand at the time of registration where an inventory audited by a chartered accountant is produced showing that the stock in trade was on hand at the time of registration.

G. Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses

Foreign businesses that make commercial supplies in Trinidad and Tobago may register and recover tax with respect to their local operations in the same manner as resident businesses. However, Trinidad and Tobago does not refund VAT paid by foreign businesses that are not registered for VAT in the country.

H. Invoicing

Sales invoices and credit notes. A taxable person must generally provide a VAT invoice for all taxable supplies made, including exports. A VAT invoice is necessary to support a claim for input tax deduction.

A credit note may be used to reduce the VAT charged and reclaimed on a supply of goods and services. A credit note generally contains the same information as a VAT invoice.

Exports. VAT is not chargeable on supplies of exported goods. However, to qualify as VAT-free, exports must be supported by evidence that the goods have left Trinidad and Tobago.

Foreign-currency invoices. If a supply is made to a person outside of Trinidad and Tobago, the invoice may be issued in a foreign currency. However, in accounting for the tax payable, the taxable person must account for the tax in Trinidad and Tobago dollars. In converting the invoice, the exchange rate used must be the rate at which the Central Bank of Trinidad and Tobago would have purchased that currency in the form of notes at the time of the supply.

I. VAT returns and payment

VAT returns. VAT reporting periods are generally two months. However, the tax authorities may assign longer or shorter tax periods if they consider them appropriate. Returns must be completed and filed by the 25th day of the month following the tax period.

Special schemes. Not applicable.

Electronic filing and archiving. Not applicable.

Annual returns. Not applicable.

J. Penalties

Penalties are assessed for errors and omissions with respect to VAT accounting. A fine of TTD1,000 is imposed for the late submission of a VAT return. In addition, a penalty of 8% and interest at the rate of 2% per month or part of a month is charged on late payments of VAT.

In addition to the above, the VAT Act provides for other penalties including a penalty of TTD6,000, which is imposed for a failure to notify the tax authorities of changes relating to the registration.

Certain offenses may give rise to criminal penalties.

Tunisia

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Tunis

GMT +1

AMC Ernst & Young

Boulevard de la Terre
Centre Urbain Nord
1003 Tunis
Tunisia

Indirect tax contact

Ridha Ben Zaied

+216 (70) 749-111
ridha-ben.zaied@tn.ey.com

Faez Choyakh

+216 (70) 749-111
Faez.Choyakh@tn.ey.com

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Value-added tax (VAT)
Local name	Taxe sur la valeur ajoutée
Date introduced	2 June 1988
Trading bloc membership	None
Administered by	Ministry of Finance (http://www.portail.finances.gov.tn)
VAT rates
Standard	18%
Reduced	6%, 12%
Other	Exempt
VAT number format	Tax ID Number/VAT Code A, B, P, D or N/number of establishments
VAT return period	Monthly
Thresholds
Registration for retail traders only	TND100,000
Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses	Yes

B. Scope of the tax

VAT is applicable to the following transactions:

- Supplies of goods and services made in Tunisia
- Imports of goods and services

Industrial activities are generally subject to VAT except for the production of agricultural and fish products. Other activities subject to VAT include professional services, wholesale trade (excluding foodstuffs), and retail trade (for traders that make annual turnover of TND100,000 or more), excluding foods, medicine, pharmaceuticals and products subject to administrative approval tariffs.

C. Who is liable

A taxable person is an individual or legal entity that is registered for VAT in Tunisia and any other entity that engages in independently taxable transactions other than import sales.

In addition, a person (individual or legal entity) that supplies goods or services for consideration as part of the person's business activities but is not required to register for VAT may opt for VAT registration if any of the following conditions are satisfied:

- It carries out operations that are not within the scope of VAT.
- It carries out export activities that are exempt from VAT.
- It supplies products or services that are exempt from VAT to persons subject to VAT.

Group registration. The Tunisian VAT law does not allow VAT grouping. Legal entities that are closely connected must register for VAT individually.

Non-established businesses. Nonresident companies that do not have a permanent establishment in Tunisia but carry out taxable transactions are subject to VAT. Accordingly, Tunisian customers must withhold the entire VAT charge on payments for services supplied by nonresident entities. The nonresident must add Tunisian VAT to its invoice. The customer withholds the VAT amount, remits it to the Tunisian tax administration and pays the amount due for the services, exclusive of VAT, to the foreign provider.

The customer should also obtain a "discharge certificate" in support of the VAT remittance and provide it to the bank transferring the amount due. Failing to be provided with such discharge, the bank performing the transfer could incur penalties of up to 20% of the amount of taxable revenues. However, Tunisian customers that are nonresident from an exchange regulation standpoint are exempted from the requirement to obtain such a discharge certificate.

Non-established companies may register for VAT with the Tunisian tax administration. In such case, the VAT withholding procedure is not required.

Registration procedures. Each individual who would practice an industrial, commercial or non-commercial profession, and every legal entity must, before the initiation of the activity, file at the territorially competent tax control office a declaration of existence according to the preset model required by the tax authorities. The declaration of existence must be accompanied by:

- A copy of the Articles of Association for the legal entities
- A copy of the agreement or the administrative authorization, if the activity or the place where the activity is performed are subject to a prior authorization

By filing the declaration of existence, the taxpayer obtains a tax identification card which includes the Tax Identification Number.

The application for registration must be submitted by the taxpayer itself or its legal representative or by any other person with a power of attorney to register.

There is no online registration for VAT purposes.

Tax representatives. A tax representative is a person or legal entity that is resident in Tunisia and empowered to act by power of attorney on behalf of a business in VAT administration and compliance.

In the case described above, where non-established businesses that are not VAT registered in Tunisia provide supplies to Tunisian customers and a withholding tax is levied to collect VAT due, a tax representative can act for that business to recover input VAT paid in the course of providing those taxable supplies.

Alternatively, those businesses may opt to report the VAT which has been withheld directly and deduct the VAT paid on the purchases of goods and services necessary to perform the transactions subject to VAT. To do so, they must:

- Submit a declaration of tax existence by filing a prescribed form with the relevant tax office, which if they have designated a tax representative, is that office assigned to the location of the tax representative
- File a VAT return, which can also be administered by the tax representative

Late-registration penalties. In addition to the consequences of filing VAT returns late (see Section J), a fine that varies between TND100 and TND10,000. However, this fine is not applicable if the taxpayer regularizes the situation prior to a tax audit.

If the late registration or the non-registration is considered as tax fraud, the taxpayer or its legal representative may face imprisonment from 16 days to 3 years and pay a fine that varies from TND1,000 to TND50,000.

Reverse charge. Tunisian customers are obliged to withhold VAT on payments for services supplied by nonresident entities.

Digital economy. There are no rules specifically applicable to the digital economy.

Deregistration. In case of termination of activity, the taxpayer submits a termination application to the territorially competent tax control office. The tax identification card must be handed in there in exchange for a receipt.

In case of a deregistration following an optional VAT registration by a person or legal entity not subject to VAT (because its economic activities, the deregistration, or the renunciation of the status of a taxable person, would be made after 31 December of the fourth year which follows the year of the optional registration). The deregistration in this case leads to the regularization of the VAT which has been deducted on the purchased inventories and assets during the period of the optional registration.

D. VAT rates

The VAT rates in Tunisia are as follows:

- Standard rate: 18%
- Reduced rates: 12% and 6%
- Other: Exemption

The standard rate applies unless laws and regulations provide for the application of a different rate, a suspension or an exemption.

Examples of supplies taxed at the 12% rate

- Transport of goods (excluding agricultural and fish products)
- Services rendered to hotels
- Services rendered by lawyers, tax advisors and other experts

Examples of supplies taxed at the 6% rate

- Activities carried out by doctors and analytical laboratories
- Materials and supplies for pharmaceutical products

VAT may also be suspended. A special authorization from the tax administration is required to obtain a suspension from VAT for purchases. VAT suspension is available to entities engaged in exporting, to financial institutions working mainly with nonresidents, to entities governed by the Hydrocarbons Code and, in certain circumstances, to entities engaged in activities described in the Investment Incentives Code.

Entities subject to VAT may be entitled to VAT suspension on their local purchases of raw materials and equipment to be used in their projects realized abroad exceeding TND3 million. VAT suspension may be obtained by requesting a VAT suspension certificate from the tax administration. This certificate may be issued annually or for certain transactions. A copy of the certificate and a copy of the original purchase order certified by the tax authorities are presented to the seller to ensure that the seller does not add VAT to the invoice. The tax administration approval is based on whether the company has the right to have such exemption and on whether the company's tax return filings for the different tax heads are up to date.

Other regimes suspend VAT, such as the regime for air transport companies in respect of domestic and international transport, the regime for companies responsible for the implementation of social housing, the regime for Tunisian citizens resident abroad who realize projects in Tunisia, the regime for donations as part of an international cooperation, etc.

Supplies of certain goods and services are exempt from VAT.

Examples of exempt supplies

- Supplies of philanthropic associations
- Donation of goods and services delivered, within the framework of international cooperation, to all kinds of associations
- Education
- Aircraft transport services
- Maritime transport

The full roster of VAT exemptions is found in Appendix A of the VAT code.

Option to tax for exempt supplies. Not applicable.

E. Time of supply

The time when the taxable event is considered to have taken place and VAT becomes due is called the "time of supply" or "tax point."

Goods. The time of supply for the sale of goods is when the goods are delivered to the customer.

Services. The time of supply for services is when the service is rendered or when the payment is made (fully or partially) if the settlement is made before the completion of the service.

Imported goods. The time of supply for imported goods is when the goods are released from customs.

F. Recovery of VAT by taxable persons

A taxpayer may recover VAT with respect to purchases of goods and services that are used for business activities and contribute effectively to the realization of taxable transactions. The VAT deduction is made on the basis of a valid invoice, customs document or withholding VAT certificate.

Companies partially subject to VAT deduct VAT based on the following rules:

- Full deduction is allowed for VAT on purchases used exclusively in a business activity that is subject to VAT.
- No deduction of VAT is allowed for purchases used exclusively in a business activity that is not subject to VAT.
- Deduction on a proportionate basis is allowed for purchases used in both a business activity subject to VAT and a business activity not subject to VAT.

Nondeductible input tax. Input tax may not be recovered on purchases of goods and services that are not used for business purposes and that are considered to be nondeductible expenses for corporate tax purposes (for example, goods acquired for private use by an entrepreneur).

Examples of items for which input tax is nondeductible

- Passenger vehicles used for the transport of persons (other than those representing the purpose of the business such as taxi and car rental companies), cars used by hotels for tourist trips, and also the rental of passenger vehicles and any other expenses incurred in order to ensure their operation and their maintenance
- Purchases made from individuals or legal entities which are out of the scope of the VAT but which have wrongly invoiced the VAT
- Goods, properties and services fully paid in cash in amounts equal to or exceeding TND10,000 (TND5,000 starting from 1 January 2016), excluding VAT

Refunds. VAT liability (output VAT) is computed by multiplying all taxable sales by the applicable VAT rate. The enterprise subtracts the total VAT paid on purchases of goods (input VAT) from output VAT and pays the net amount to the tax administration. If the input VAT exceeds the output VAT, the resulting amount is refunded with a restitution claim made to the tax administration and, in the majority of the cases, after a tax audit has been completed by the tax administration.

The regime of VAT credit refunds varies according to the source of the credit and the local tax authority.

The common regime, under which the VAT credit is fully refundable, applies in these circumstances:

- The VAT credit will be refundable without a tax audit if the credit is due to:
 - Exports (refund in 7 days)
 - Withholding tax on VAT
 - Sales with the suspension of the VAT
 - Investments made according to the Investment Incentive Code (refund in 30 days)

If the VAT credit is due to:

- The normal course of business (for example, the VAT on purchases exceeds the VAT on sales), then the VAT credit is refundable, if it persists on six consecutive tax returns, as part of one of two processes:
 - For businesses that have the legal obligation to designate a legal auditor, if the financial statements are certified with an audit report that requires no modification that has an impact on the tax basis, an advance of 50% of the VAT credit is provided before a tax audit, and the remaining amount is refundable after a tax audit (refund in 60 days).
 - For other cases, an advance of 15% of the VAT credit is provided before a tax audit, and the remaining amount is refundable after a tax audit (refund in 120 days).
- For companies under the control of the Directorate of Large Business (DGE), the VAT credit is fully refundable before a tax credit, in seven days, under the following conditions:
 - The report of the legal auditor does not contain a modification impacting the tax basis.
 - The legal auditor certifies in a separate audit report that the VAT credit to be refunded is accurate.

If, after a tax audit, the tax authorities confirm the validity of a VAT credit, it is fully refundable notwithstanding the appeals procedures that may follow.

Partial exemption. See above in Section F.

G. Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses

Nonresident traders that do not have a permanent establishment in Tunisia but are registered with the VAT authority are allowed to recover VAT incurred. To register with the VAT authority, the nonresident taxpayer must be performing a contract in Tunisia.

Nonresident traders that are not registered with the VAT authority may not recover VAT incurred. In addition, such traders are subject to the VAT withholding system described in Section C.

H. Invoicing

VAT invoices and credit notes. Tunisian taxable persons must provide VAT invoices for all taxable supplies and services, including exports, made to other taxable persons. Recipients of supplies must retain copies of invoices.

A VAT credit note may not be used to reduce VAT charged and reclaimed on a supply of goods or services. Instead, the initial transaction must be voided and a new VAT invoice must be issued for the correction of genuine mistakes.

Proof of exports. Tunisian VAT is not chargeable on supplies of exported goods. However, to qualify as VAT-free, the exported supplies must be documented by a customs declaration proving that the goods have left Tunisia. In addition, persons subject to VAT that are primarily or exclusively engaged in activities relating to exports benefit from suspended VAT on their purchases of goods and services required for the production of exported goods.

Foreign-currency invoices. A VAT invoice for transactions performed between two resident entities according to the exchange legislation must be issued in Tunisian dinars. If one or both of the parties are nonresident, the VAT invoice may be issued in a foreign currency.

I. VAT returns and payment

VAT returns. Tunisian VAT returns must be filed on a monthly basis. Returns must be filed by the 28th day of the following month for legal entities and by the 15th day of the following month for individuals.

Special schemes. For sales and purchases under the VAT suspension regime, the purchaser and the supplier must each make a declaration:

- The purchaser must declare, according to a form prescribed by the tax authorities, that the purchase orders are certified as compliant with the VAT suspension regime. This declaration must be filed before the 28th of the month that follows the quarter of the calendar year during which the purchases were made.
- The supplier must declare, according to a form preset by the tax authorities, that the sales made under the VAT suspension regime comply with the rules of that regime.

Electronic filing and archiving. The electronic filing of VAT returns is mandatory for entities whose annual revenue exceeds TND1,000,000. Below this threshold, electronic filing is optional.

Annual returns. Not applicable.

J. Penalties

For late filing of VAT returns or underpayments of VAT, penalties are imposed at a rate of 0.5% per month or fraction of a month for which the return or payment is late.

The following are other penalties related to VAT:

- 1.25% per month or fraction of a month for underpayments of VAT resulting from a tax audit
- 0.5% per month or fraction of a month in certain other cases
- 0.625% per month or fraction of a month when the taxpayer agrees to pay the tax due, as determined by the audit, and makes payment to the tax administration within 30 days of that acknowledgment (i.e., the penalties will be reduced by 50%)

For the sales and purchases under the VAT suspension regime, fines and penalties which would be incurred by the purchaser and the supplier in case they do not comply with some formalities are as follows:

- The purchaser: In case of undeclared purchase orders, the taxpayer must pay a fine that amounts to TND2,000 per undeclared purchase order for the first five purchase orders and TND5,000 each starting from the sixth purchase order.
- The seller: If the seller makes sales without obtaining an original of a certified purchase order, he would be subject to a fine that amounts to 50% of the VAT that would have been invoiced if the sales had been made out of the exceptional VAT suspension regime.

Turkey

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Istanbul

GMT +2

EY

Maslak Mahallesi Eski
Büyükdere Caddesi
Orjin Maslak Plaza No:27
Kat:1-5 Sarıyer
Istanbul
Turkey

Indirect tax contacts

Sedat Tasdemir	+90 (212) 315-3000 sedat.tasdemir@tr.ey.com
Zeki Avci	+90 (212) 315-3000 zeki.avci@tr.ey.com

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Value-added tax (VAT)
Local name	Katma deger vergisi (KDV)
Date introduced	2 November 1984
Trading bloc membership	European Customs Union The system of Pan-Euro-Mediterranean Cumulation
Administered by	Revenue Administration (http://www.gib.gov.tr)
VAT rates
Standard	18%
Reduced	1% and 8%
Other	Full exemption and partial exemption
VAT number format	1234567890
VAT return periods	Monthly
Thresholds
Registration	None
Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses	Limited

B. Scope of the tax

VAT applies to the following transactions:

- The supply of goods or services made in Turkey by a taxable person in the course of performing commercial, industrial, agricultural or independent professional activities
- Services received in Turkey or benefited from in Turkey by a taxable person or any other person responsible for payment of the tax
- Goods and services imported into Turkey

C. Who is liable

A taxable person is any person or legal entity that is registered for VAT in Turkey. Any entity that has a fixed place of business or regularly carries out commercial or professional operations in Turkey must register in Turkey.

No VAT registration threshold applies. VAT registration is granted automatically by the tax office when a business registers for corporate and income tax purposes. It is necessary to have a fixed place of business to register for tax registration. A fixed place of business includes a residence, place of business and registered head office or business center in Turkey. Only entities that are registered for tax may import goods into Turkey.

Group registration. VAT grouping is not permitted under Turkish VAT law. Legal entities that are closely connected must register for VAT separately. Related parties are regarded as separate for tax purposes.

Non-established businesses. A “non-established business” is a business that has no fixed establishment in Turkey. A non-established business may not register for VAT only. If a Turkish taxable person receives services from an entity that does not have a fixed establishment in Turkey, VAT is accounted for using the reverse-charge mechanism (that is, the Turkish recipient of the service must self-assess VAT).

Reverse charge. The reverse charge is a form of self-assessment for VAT through which the recipient of services accounts for the tax. The reverse charge applies if certain services subject to Turkish VAT are made by a person that is not resident in Turkey or that does not have a permanent establishment or headquarters in Turkey. The Ministry of Finance is authorized to determine the parties responsible for the payment of VAT. The recipient does not need to be a taxable person under Turkish VAT law. The recipient may be an individual or an institution.

The reverse charge applies to the following services performed or used in Turkey:

- Transfers of copyrights, patents, licenses, trademarks, know-how and similar rights
- Import commissions
- Services of independent professionals, such as engineering, consulting, data processing and provision of information
- Interest payments made to foreign entities other than banks and financial institutions
- Rental services
- Transfer or assignment of the right to use capacity for the transmission, emission, or reception of signals, writings, images, sounds, or information of any nature by wire, radio, optical or other electromagnetic systems
- Other services not specified in this list

Penalties for reverse-charge supplies. Penalties apply to several VAT offenses, including failure to account for VAT under the reverse-charge mechanism. The penalty equals 100% of the tax that has not been accounted for. The interest applies from the due date of the tax payment to the date on which the penalty notice is issued.

Tax representatives. A foreign business with no establishment in Turkey but which sells goods located in Turkey must appoint a tax representative (agent) in order to register for VAT. It is not possible to register without the appointment of such a representative, i.e., direct registration is not possible.

A foreign business with no establishment in Turkey but which performs services in the country may shift the liability for the VAT to its customer in Turkey (reverse-charge mechanism). There is no registration threshold in Turkey.

Registration procedures. An application is submitted to the tax office with the documents listed below. There is no online application system:

- Article of association of the company
- Registration certificate or original trade registry gazette
- Signature circular document indicating the authorized signatories and their signature samples
- Trade registry document of the legal entity founder or authorized signatory (if any)
- Notarized passport copies of the authorized signatories and founders of the company
- Potential tax numbers of the founders and signatories which are obtained from the tax office
- Notarized lease agreement in the name of the company
- Originally signed Form of Commence Business (standard form to be received from the tax authority)
- Power of attorney (only if the application will be conducted by a representative)

Approximately one week after submitting an application with the abovementioned documents, the tax officer will conduct an inspection at the registered office of the company. This is to determine whether or not there actually is an office space with adequate equipment. The authorized signatory of the company shall be present for this inspection to sign the necessary documents, or such documents shall be signed by the representative via a power of attorney. Upon completion, the tax number will be issued within a few days.

Late-registration penalties. In case of late registration, the following penalties could be applicable:

- Tax loss penalty
- Late payment charge (interest)
- Irregularity penalty

Digital economy. From the tax point of view, transactions of companies operating in the digital market are no different from companies operating in other markets.

Deregistration. In the case of closing down a legal entity, the person authorized to represent the company must submit written notice to the tax office within one month of the date of closure. After submitting the application of the liability cancellation, a visit to the relevant workplace is performed by the authority to confirm its closure.

D. VAT rates

The term “taxable supplies” refers to supplies of goods and services subject to VAT.

In Turkey, the following are the VAT rates:

- Standard rate: 18%
- Reduced rates: 1% and 8%

The standard VAT rate applies to all supplies of goods or services, unless a specific measure provides for a reduced rate or exemption.

Examples of goods and services taxable at 1%

- Newspapers and magazines
- Basic foodstuffs
- Used passenger cars

Examples of goods and services taxable at 8%

- Foodstuffs
- Books
- Pharmaceuticals
- Medical products
- Some construction equipment
- Admission charges for cinemas, theaters, and operas

The term “exempt supplies” refers to supplies of goods and services not subject to VAT. “Partially exempt” supplies (as specified in Articles 16 and 17 of the VAT law) do not give rise to a right of input tax deduction (see Section F). Some supplies are classified as “fully exempt,” which means that no VAT is chargeable, but the supplier may recover related input tax. These supplies include exports of goods and related services.

Examples of partially exempt supplies of goods and services

- Leasing immovable property by an individual
- Financial transactions
- Supplies to certain cultural bodies
- Supplies by and to certain governmental bodies
- Water for agriculture
- The supply of unprocessed gold, foreign-exchange money, stocks and bonds, duty stamps, scrap metal, plastic and certain other items
- Storage services performed at bonded warehouses or temporary storage places
- Delivery of goods or performance of services in free-trade zones

Examples of fully exempt with credit supplies of goods and services

- Exports of goods and services
- Services rendered at marinas and airports for marine and air conveyances
- International transport
- Supplies to persons engaged in petroleum exploration
- Supplies of goods to investment certificate holders
- Sales to the Directorate of the Defense Industry

Option to tax for exempt supplies. Not applicable.

Excise tax. An excise tax is imposed on the import, manufacture and first acquisition of a range of goods. The following are the groups of products subject to excise tax:

- Petroleum, gas and derivatives
- Automobiles and other vehicles
- Tobacco and specific beverages
- Luxury products

E. Time of supply

The time when VAT becomes due is called the “time of supply” or “tax point.” The basic time of supply for goods is when they are delivered. The basic time of supply for services is when they are performed. However, if the supplier issues an invoice before the time of supply, VAT applies to the extent that the supply is covered by the invoice.

Prepayments. A prepayment or deposit does not result in a taxable transaction.

Continuous supplies of services. If services are received continuously but payment is made periodically, the tax is declared every month. If the invoice is issued before the declaration period, the tax point is the date of the invoice.

Goods sent on approval. The tax point for goods sent on approval is when the customer accepts the goods and a supply is made.

Imported goods. The time of supply for imported goods is either the date of importation or the date on which the goods leave a duty suspension regime.

F. Recovery of VAT by taxable persons

A taxable person may recover input tax, which is VAT charged on goods and services supplied to it for business purposes. A taxable person generally recovers input tax by deducting it from output tax, which is VAT charged on supplies made.

Input tax includes VAT charged on goods and services supplied in Turkey, VAT paid on imports of goods and VAT self-assessed on reverse-charge services.

If the input VAT exceeds the output VAT, the excess amount is generally not refunded but can be carried forward to subsequent VAT periods (see Refunds).

A valid invoice or customs document must generally accompany a claim for input tax. The right of deduction may be exercised in the tax period in which the purchase documents are entered into the recipient’s books of account, but only during the calendar year in which the taxable event takes place.

Nondeductible input tax. Input tax is not recoverable if it is charged on purchases of goods and services that are not used for business purposes and are considered to be nondeductible expenses for corporate tax purposes. In addition, input tax may not be recovered for partially exempt transactions.

Examples of items for which input tax is nondeductible

- Input tax of nondeductible expenses in corporate tax law
- Expenses related to the previous fiscal years

Examples of items for which input tax is deductible (if related to a taxable business use)

- All kinds of commercial expenses for operating activities of the entity
- All direct and indirect expenses for commercial purposes of the entity

Partial exemption. An input tax deduction is granted for taxable supplies and for supplies that are exempt with credit. An input tax deduction is not granted for partially exempt supplies. If a taxable person makes both taxable and partially exempt supplies, it may recover only input tax related to supplies that are taxable or fully exempt.

Refunds. If the amount of input VAT recoverable in a period exceeds the amount of output VAT payable in the same period, a refund is not generally granted. In most cases, the taxable person must carry forward the excess amount to a future VAT period. Refunds of the excess are available only for the following:

- VAT related to supplies of goods subject to a reduced rate
- VAT related to supplies of goods and services that are exempt with credit

The amount of the VAT refund may be credited against other tax liabilities.

Preregistration costs. The amount of incurred VAT for the prior costs and expenditures related to the registration process could be deductible after the registration process is complete.

G. Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses

Turkey does not refund VAT incurred by non-established businesses, except for the following:

- Expenses by nonresident international transporters on repairs, fuel and spare parts
- Expenses by non-established businesses on fairs and exhibitions (if the business' country of residence is on mutual terms with Turkey)

H. Invoicing

VAT invoices and credit notes. Turkish taxable persons must provide invoices for all taxable supplies and services. Taxpayer recipients of the supplies and services must retain copies of the invoices.

Credit notes may not be used to reduce VAT charged and reclaimed on supplies of goods or services.

Proof of export. Turkish VAT is not charged on exports. However, to qualify as VAT-free, export supplies must be supported by evidence that confirms the goods have left Turkey. The evidence required consists of the customs declaration, which clearly identifies the exporter, the customer, the goods and the export destination, and invoice information.

Foreign-currency invoices. An invoice issued for a domestic sale must be issued in Turkish lira. The invoice may also show the invoiced amount in a foreign currency if the TRL equivalents are stated.

An invoice issued for an export sale may be issued in a foreign currency. The amount of the invoice must be recorded in the supplier's books together with the exchange rate on the date of the transaction.

I. VAT returns and payment

VAT returns. The VAT return period is monthly. Returns must be submitted electronically through the Internet by the 24th day of the month following the end of the return period. Payment in full must be made by the 26th day of the same month.

Return liabilities must be paid in Turkish lira.

Special schemes. Returns must be declared in the form which was designated according to the provisions of Tax Procedural Law.

Electronic filing and archiving. Taxpayers are obliged to submit their tax returns by using the Ministry of Finance's system called "e-beyanname." All tax returns must be submitted through this system and are electronically archived. Tax returns from previous periods are easily retrievable from this system.

Annual returns. Not applicable.

J. Penalties

No specific penalties relate to VAT offenses. Penalties are prescribed by the Tax Procedures Code, which defines various acts of non-compliance with the tax laws.

Uganda

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Kampala

GMT +3

EY

Mail address:
P.O. Box 7215
Kampala
Uganda

Street address:
Ernst & Young House
18 Clement Hill Road
Shimoni Office Village
Kampala
Uganda

Indirect tax contacts

Muhammed Ssempijja	+256 (41) 434-3520/4 muhammed.ssempijja@ug.ey.com
Sarah M. Chelangat	+256 (41) 434-3520/4 sarah.chelangat@ug.ey.com
Bernard Sanya	+256 (41) 434-3520/4 bernard.sanya@ug.ey.com

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Value-added tax (VAT)
Date introduced	1 July 1996
Trading bloc membership	Common Market for Eastern and Southern Africa (COMESA); East African Community
Administered by	Uganda Revenue Authority (www.ura.go.ug)
VAT rates
Standard rate	18%
Others	Zero-rated (0%) and exempt
VAT number format	10-digit numeric tax identification number in the form of 1234567890
VAT return periods	Monthly, with return due by the 15th day of the month following the month covered by the return
Thresholds
Registration	Annual amount of UGX50 million (approximately USD20,000)
Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses	Not unless through a local, VAT-registered representative who is appointed upon request of the tax authority

B. Scope of the tax

VAT applies to the following transactions:

- Taxable supplies of goods and services made in Uganda by taxable persons

- Imports of goods other than exempt imports
- Supplies of imported services other than exempt services

C. Who is liable

The persons liable for VAT in Uganda vary according to the type of supply. The following persons are liable for VAT in Uganda:

- Taxable supply in Uganda: the taxable person making the supply
- Import of taxable goods: the importer
- Import of taxable services: the recipient of the services

The annual registration threshold is UGX50 million.

A person that is not already a registered person must apply to be registered in accordance with the VAT Act by the following dates:

- Within 20 days after the end of any period of 3 calendar months if during that period the person made taxable supplies, the value of which exclusive of any tax exceeded UGX12,500,000 (approximately USD5,000)
- At the beginning of any period of three calendar months if reasonable grounds exist to expect that the total value of taxable supplies, exclusive of any tax, to be made by the person during the period will exceed UGX12,500,000 (approximately USD5,000)

Group registration. The Uganda VAT Act does not allow group registration.

Non-established businesses. A “non-established business” is a business that does not have a fixed place of abode or business in Uganda.

VAT representatives for nonresidents. The Commissioner General may require a nonresident person to apply for VAT registration. A nonresident person that is required to apply for registration but does not have a fixed place of business in Uganda must take the following actions:

- Appoint a VAT representative in Uganda
- Lodge a security with the Commissioner General if required by the Commissioner General

If a nonresident person does not appoint a VAT representative within 30 days after being required to apply for registration, the Commissioner General may appoint a VAT representative for the nonresident person.

The VAT representative of a nonresident person must be a person ordinarily residing in Uganda. The representative has the responsibility of doing everything required of the nonresident under the VAT Act and is jointly and severally liable for the payment of all taxes, fines, penalties, and interest imposed on the nonresident under the VAT Act.

The registration of a VAT representative is in the name of the nonresident person.

A person may be a VAT representative for more than one nonresident person. In such case, the person must have a separate registration for each nonresident person.

The Commissioner General may prescribe the procedure and requirements for the appointment of a VAT representative and the responsibilities of the representative.

Registration procedures. Applications for VAT registration are done online (<http://ura.go.ug>) using a form/template prescribed by the Commissioner General. A person who applies for registration is registered and issued a certificate of registration if the Commissioner General is satisfied that the person is eligible for registration under the VAT Act and has a fixed place of abode or business. The Commissioner General must also be satisfied that that person:

- Will keep proper accounting records relating to any business activity
- Will submit regular and reliable tax returns as required by Section 31
- Is a fit and proper person to be registered

Registration for VAT takes an average of two days from the date a complete application is submitted.

Late-registration penalties. A person who fails to apply for registration as required by the VAT law is liable to pay a penalty equal to double the amount of the tax payable during the period commencing on the last day of the period when the obligation to register arises until either the person files an application for registration or the tax authority registers the person forcefully.

Reverse charge. Not applicable.

Digital economy. There are no special rules for the taxation of the digital economy. The general VAT Act applies.

Deregistration. In the following circumstances, the VAT-registered person should submit an application for VAT deregistration online by amending the taxable person's TIN:

- If the taxable person has ceased to make supplies of goods or services for consideration as part of their business activities
- If, with respect to the most recent period of three calendar months, the value of taxable supplies exclusive of tax does not exceed one-quarter of the annual registration threshold and if the value of taxable supplies exclusive of tax for the previous 12 calendar months does not exceed 75 percent of the annual registration threshold

However, the Commissioner General may also initiate the cancellation of a person's VAT registration if the Commissioner General is satisfied that any one of the following circumstances exist:

- The taxable person is neither required nor entitled to apply for VAT registration
- The taxable person has no fixed place of abode or business
- The taxable person has not kept proper accounting records relating to its business activity
- The taxable person has not submitted regular and reliable tax returns as required by Section 31
- The taxable person is not, in the opinion of the Commissioner General, a fit and proper person to be registered

The Commissioner General is required to serve notice in writing on a taxable person of a decision to cancel or refuse to cancel registration within fourteen days of making the decision. The cancellation of registration takes effect from the end of the tax period in which the registration is cancelled.

Deregistration does not affect the person's obligations and liabilities while the person was still a taxable person under the VAT Act, including the lodging of VAT returns and payments of any taxes due.

D. VAT rates

The term "taxable supply" refers to a supply of goods or services, other than an exempt supply, made by a taxable person for consideration in the course of his or her business activities.

The following are the VAT rates in Uganda:

- Standard rate: 18%
- Zero rate (0%)
- Exempt (not in the VAT regime)

The standard rate of VAT generally applies to taxable supplies of goods or services. The zero rate applies to exports plus other supplies, examples of which are listed below.

Examples of supplies of goods and services taxable at 0%

- Exports of goods or services from Uganda
- International transport of goods or passengers and tickets for their transport
- Drugs and medicines
- Educational materials
- Seeds, fertilizers, pesticides, and hoes
- Sanitary towels and tampons and inputs for their manufacture
- Leased aircraft, aircraft engines, spare engines, spare parts for aircraft and aircraft maintenance equipment

Exempt supplies generally do not give rise to a right to deduct input tax.

Examples of exempt supplies of goods and services

- Livestock, unprocessed foodstuffs and unprocessed agricultural products except wheat grain
- Postage stamps
- Financial services
- Services related to health insurance, life insurance, micro insurance and reinsurance services
- Unimproved land
- Sale, letting or leasing immovable property, other than:
 - Sale, lease or letting of commercial premises
 - Sale, lease or letting for parking or storing cars or other vehicles
 - Sale, lease or letting of hotel or holiday accommodation
 - Sale, lease or letting for periods not exceeding three months
 - Sale, lease or letting of service apartments
- Education services
- Veterinary, medical, dental, and nursing services
- Social welfare services
- Betting, lotteries and games of chance
- Goods as part of a transfer of a business as a going concern by one taxable person to another taxable person
- Burial and cremation services

- Precious metals and other valuables to the Bank of Uganda for the State Treasury
- Passenger transportation services (other than tour and travel operators)
- Petroleum fuels subject to excise duty (motor spirit, kerosene and gas oil), spirit-type jet fuel, kerosene-type jet fuel and residual oils for use in thermal power generation to the national grid
- Dental, medical and veterinary goods, including:
 - Dental, medical and veterinary equipment
 - Ambulances
 - Contraceptives of all forms
 - Maternity kits (mama kits)
 - Medical examination gloves
 - Medicated cotton wool
 - Mosquito nets, acaricides, insecticides and mosquito repellent devices
 - Diapers
- Machinery, tools and implements suitable for use only in agriculture
- Photosensitive semiconductor devices, including photovoltaic devices, regardless of whether they are assembled in modules or made into panels, light-emitting diodes, solar water heaters, solar refrigerators and solar cookers
- Solar power
- Life jackets, life-saving gear, headgear and speed governors

E. Time of supply

The time when VAT becomes due is called the “time of supply.” The following are the rules for the time of supply:

- If goods are applied for a person’s own use, the time of supply is the date on which the goods or services are first applied to the person’s own use.
- If the goods or services are supplied as a gift, the time of supply is the date on which ownership in the goods passes or the performance of the service is completed.
- In all other cases, the time of supply is the earliest of the following dates:
 - The goods are delivered or made available, or the performance of the service is completed.
 - The payment for the goods or services is made.
 - A tax invoice is issued.

If goods are supplied under a rental agreement or if goods or services are supplied under an agreement or law that provides for periodic payments, the goods or services are treated as successively supplied for successive parts of the period of the agreement or supplied as determined by that law, and each successive supply occurs on the earlier of the date on which payment is due or received.

Imported goods. VAT on imported goods is due at the time of import.

F. Recovery of VAT by taxable persons

A credit is allowed to the taxable person for the tax payable with respect to taxable supplies made to that person during the tax period and all imports of goods made by that person during the tax period, if the supply or import is for use in the business of the taxable person.

On registration, a credit is allowed to a taxable person for input tax paid or payable with respect to taxable supplies of goods, including capital assets, made to the person, and imports of goods, including capital assets, made by the person before registration, if all of the following conditions are satisfied:

- The supply or import was for use in the business of the taxable person.
- The goods are on hand at the date of registration.
- The supply or import occurred not more than six months for capital goods and four months for other supplies before the registration date.

Nondeductible input tax. VAT may not be recovered on purchases of goods and services that are not used for business purposes (for example, goods acquired for private use by an entrepreneur). In addition, input tax may not be recovered for certain business expenses.

The following lists provide some examples of items of expenditure for which input tax is not deductible and examples of items for which input tax is deductible if the expenditure is for purposes of making a taxable supply.

Examples of items for which input tax is nondeductible

- Taxable supply or import of a passenger automobile and the repair and maintenance of the automobile, including spare parts
- Entertainment (provision of food, beverages, tobacco, accommodation, amusement, recreation or hospitality of any kind) unless the person is in the business of providing entertainment or supplies meals or refreshments to his or her employees in premises operated by him or her, or on his or her behalf solely for the benefit of his or her employees

Examples of items for which input tax is deductible
(only if related to a taxable business use)

- A supply or import of a passenger automobile and the repair and maintenance of the automobile, including spare parts, if the automobile is acquired by the taxable person exclusively for the purpose of making a taxable supply of that automobile in the ordinary course of a continuous and regular business of selling, dealing in or hiring of passenger automobiles
- Entertainment if the taxable person is in the business of providing entertainment
- Supplies of meals or refreshments by employers to their employees in premises operated by the employers or on the employers' behalf, solely for the benefit of the employees

Partial exemption. If a taxable supply to, or an import of goods by, a taxable person is partly for a business use and partly for another use, the amount of the input tax allowed as a credit is the part of the input tax that relates to the business use.

If the percentage of the total amount of taxable supplies to the total amount of all supplies made by the taxable person during the period (other than the supply of goods as part of the transfer of a business as a going concern) is less than 5%, the taxable person may not credit any input tax for the period.

If the percentage of the total amount of taxable supplies to the total amount of all supplies made by the taxable person during the period (other than the supply of goods as part of the transfer of a business as a going concern) is more than 95%, the taxable person may credit all input tax for the period.

The Commissioner General may approve a proposal by a taxable person for the apportionment of input tax credit when the taxable person makes both taxable and exempt supplies.

Refunds. If, for a tax period, a taxable person's input tax credit exceeds the person's liability for tax for that period, the Commissioner General must refund the excess to the person within one month after the due date for the return for the tax period to which the excess relates, or within one month of the date when the return was filed if the return was not filed by the due date.

Notwithstanding the above, if the taxable person's input credit exceeds his or her liability for tax for that period by less than UGX5 million, the Commissioner General may offset the excess amount against the future liability of the taxable person, except in the case of an investment trader or person providing mainly zero-rated supplies. In addition, with the consent of the taxable person, if the taxable person's input credit exceeds his or her liability for tax for that period by UGX5 million or more, the Commissioner General may offset the excess amount against the future liability of the taxable person, or apply the excess in reduction of any other tax not in dispute that is due from the taxpayer.

A claim for a refund of input tax must be made in a return within three years after the end of the tax period in which tax was overpaid.

Preregistration costs. A credit is allowed to a taxable person on becoming registered for input tax paid or payable in respect of:

- All taxable supplies of goods, including capital assets, made to the person prior to the person becoming registered
- All imports of goods, including capital assets, made by the person prior to becoming registered

Where the supply or import was for use in the business of the taxable person, the input tax paid for those supplies is creditable provided that the goods are on hand at the date of registration and that the supply or import occurred not more than six months prior to the date of registration.

G. Recovery of VAT by nonresidents

Uganda does not refund VAT incurred by a foreign business, unless the foreign business has a permanent establishment in Uganda and is registered for VAT in Uganda. However, effective from 1 July 2011 the Commissioner General may appoint a VAT representative for a nonresident who should file and account for VAT on the nonresident's behalf.

H. Invoicing

VAT invoices and credit notes. A tax invoice must contain the following particulars:

- The words "tax invoice" written in a prominent place

- The commercial name, address, place of business, and the tax identification number of the taxable person making the supply
- The commercial name, address, place of business, and the tax identification number of the recipient of the taxable supply
- The individualized serial number and the date on which the tax invoice is issued
- A description of the goods or services supplied and the date on which the supply is made
- The quantity or volume of the goods or services supplied
- The tax rate for each category of goods and services described in the invoice
- The total amount of tax charged, the consideration for the supply exclusive of tax and the consideration inclusive of tax

A credit note must contain the following particulars:

- The words “credit note” in a prominent place
- The commercial name, address, place of business, and the tax identification and VAT registration numbers of the taxable person making the supply
- The commercial name, address, place of business, and the tax identification and VAT registration numbers of the recipient of the taxable supply
- The date on which the credit note was issued
- Tax rate
- Taxable value of the supply shown on the tax invoice, the correct amount of the taxable value of the supply, the difference between those two amounts, and the tax charged that relates to that difference
- A brief explanation of the circumstances resulting in the issuance of the credit note
- Sufficient information to identify the taxable supply to which the credit note relates

Proof of exports. Goods that are supplied by a registered taxpayer to a person in another country that are delivered by a registered taxpayer to a port of exit for export may be invoiced at the zero rate if the registered taxpayer obtains documentary proof and if the goods are removed from Uganda within 30 days of delivery to a port of exit.

The Commissioner General may require that goods for export specified in a notice in the Uganda Gazette be distinctively labeled by the registered taxpayer. The Commissioner General will issue guidelines to specify the color, size, and type of labels.

For an export transaction to qualify for the zero rate, a registered taxpayer must show as proof of export the following:

- A copy of the bill of entry or export certified by the customs authorities
- A copy of the invoice issued to the foreign purchaser with tax shown at the zero rate
- Evidence sufficient to satisfy the Commissioner General that the goods have been exported, in the form of an order from, or signed contract with, a foreign purchaser, or transport documentation that identifies the goods such as transit order or consignment note, copy of bill of lading, copy of airway bill or copy of transit document

If services are supplied by a registered taxpayer to a person outside Uganda, the services qualify for a zero rate only if the taxpayer can provide evidence that the services are used or consumed outside Uganda. This evidence can be in the form of a contract with a foreign purchaser and must clearly indicate that the place of use or consumption of the service is outside Uganda or that the service is provided for a building or premises outside Uganda.

Foreign-currency invoices. Foreign-currency invoices are treated in the same manner as local-currency invoices. However, the tax authorities require that for purposes of accounting for output VAT and input VAT, the exchange rate prescribed by the tax authorities for that tax period is used.

I. VAT returns and payment

VAT returns. The VAT tax period is one month. Returns must be filed by the 15th day after the end of the tax period. Payment is due in full by the same date. A “nil” return must be filed if no VAT is payable (either because the taxable person does not make any supplies or input tax exceeds output tax in the period).

If the normal filing date falls on a public holiday or on a weekend, the VAT return must be submitted on the last working day before that day.

Special schemes. Not applicable.

Electronic filing and archiving. All VAT returns are now being submitted online following the introduction of the e-tax system. The returns are populated and uploaded using return templates designed by the tax authorities. Similarly, amendments to VAT returns are also done online.

Annual returns. Where a taxable person who deals in both exempt and taxable supplies apportions its input tax using the fraction of taxable supplies to total supplies made in any tax period, the taxable person is required to make a calculation of input tax based on the annual value of taxable and exempt supplies within the period following the end of the year.

J. Penalties

The late submission of a return is subject to a penalty of UGX200,000 or an interest charge at 2% compounded for the period the return is outstanding, whichever is higher.

A person who fails to pay tax imposed before the due date is liable for a penal tax on the unpaid tax at 2% compounded.

A person is liable to pay penal tax equal to double the amount of tax due, refund or an offset claim if the person knowingly or recklessly makes a statement or declaration to an official that is false or misleading regarding a material item or omits from a statement made to an officer any matter or item without which the statement is materially misleading and if the tax properly payable by the person exceeds the tax that was assessed based on the false or misleading information, the amount of the refund claimed is false or the person submitted a return with an incorrect offset claim.

Ukraine

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Kyiv

GMT +2

EY

Khreschatyk Street, 19A
Kyiv 01001
Ukraine

Indirect tax contact

Vladimir Kotenko	+380 (44) 490-3006 vladimir.kotenko@ua.ey.com
Igor Dankov	+380 (44) 490-3039 igor.dankov@ua.ey.com

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Value-added tax (VAT)
Local name	Podatok na dodanu vartist (PDV)
Date introduced	1 January 1992
Trading bloc membership	None
Administered by	State Fiscal Service of Ukraine (http://www.sfs.gov.ua)
VAT rates
Standard	20%
Reduced	7%
Other	Zero rate and exempt
VAT number format	Tax identification number (TIN): 12, 10 or 9 digits, depending on type of entity
VAT return periods	Monthly (quarterly for certain groups of taxpayers)
Thresholds
Registration	Taxable supplies in excess of UAH1,000,000 during preceding 12 calendar months
Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses	No

B. Scope of the tax

VAT applies to the following transactions:

- Supply of goods if the place of supply is within the customs territory of Ukraine including the transfer of title to pledged property to the creditor, transfer of title to goods under a commodity loan and transfer of a financial lease object to a lessee
- Supply of services if the place of supply is within the customs territory of Ukraine
- Import of goods into Ukraine
- Export of goods from Ukraine

- Supply of services with respect to the international transportation of passengers, luggage and shipment of cargo by railway, automobile, sea and air transport
- Deemed supplies in cases specified by law

The following transactions are exempt from VAT (the list is not exhaustive and conditions may apply):

- Supplies of certain types of software (temporarily, until 1 January 2023)
- Most banking services
- Insurance and reinsurance services and services of securities traders
- Transfer of property with respect to pledges or operational leases
- Mergers and acquisitions
- Certain transactions under the product-sharing agreements when the taxable person maintains special tax accounting

In general, supplies of goods and services, where the place of supply is within the customs territory of Ukraine, are considered taxable by Ukrainian VAT.

Place of supply of goods. The following goods are deemed to be supplied in Ukraine:

- Goods located in Ukraine at the moment of their supply, if they are not shipped, transported, assembled or installed
- Goods located in Ukraine at the moment when shipment or transportation begins
- Goods assembled or installed in Ukraine, if such assembly or installation is performed by the seller or on its behalf

Place of supply of services. The following are the rules for determining the place of supply of services:

- Services related to movable property (for example, repairs and services auxiliary to transportation), services in the areas of culture, art, education, science, sport and entertainment, organization of training courses and seminars and certain other services: the place of their actual supply
- Services related to immovable property: actual location of the immovable property
- Consulting, engineering, legal, accounting, audit, secondment, advertising, forwarding, information technology, data processing, telecommunication, broadcasting and certain other services: the place where the service recipient is incorporated
- Other services: the place where the supplier is registered

C. Who is liable

A VAT taxpayer is any legal entity, individual (entrepreneur) or representative office of a nonresident that meets any of the following conditions:

- The person that is registered as a VAT taxpayer or is subject to a registration as a VAT taxpayer
- The person imports goods into Ukraine in amounts subject to taxation (provided such person is liable for payment of taxes on the import of goods)
- The person maintains accounting under joint activity (JA) arrangements

- The person performs asset management
- The person disposes of seized, abandoned or unclaimed property as well as property inherited or transferred to the state (regardless of threshold and tax status of such person)
- The person is liable to administer tax with respect to services supplied by railway transportation companies

If an importer is not registered as a VAT taxpayer and imports goods in amounts subject to tax, it pays VAT during customs clearance without registration.

If a nonresident entity (including a permanent establishment of a nonresident that has not registered for VAT) supplies services with a place of supply in the customs territory of Ukraine, the service recipient must accrue and pay VAT to the treasury.

A legal entity, individual entrepreneur (except for an entrepreneur using the simplified taxation system) or representative office of a nonresident must register as a VAT taxpayer if its taxable supplies exceeded UAH1 million (net of VAT) during the preceding 12 calendar months.

A person that does not reach the threshold may still opt for voluntary VAT registration if it provides VAT-able supplies.

A registrant is assigned a tax identification number (TIN), which is 12 digits for legal entities and permanent establishments of nonresidents (except those for which a 9-digit number applies – see below) and 10 digits for private entrepreneurs. A 9-digit TIN is assigned to the following entities:

- Entities paying tax from a joint activity without establishing a legal entity
- Property managers under property-management agreements
- Investors under product-sharing agreements
- Permanent establishments of nonresidents that do not have an identification number in the Unified State Register of Enterprises and Organizations of Ukraine
- Permanent establishments of nonresidents created through:
 - A building site, construction, assembly or installation project if it lasts more than six months
 - Employees/other personnel hired by a nonresident for the provision of services (excluding provision of personnel) if these activities last more than six months within any 12-month period
 - Residents authorized to act exclusively on behalf of a given nonresident

Group registration. Not applicable.

Non-established businesses (foreign legal entities). In general, VAT registration of the non-established business is not possible. If a nonresident falls under mandatory VAT registration requirements or wishes to opt for voluntary VAT registration, it must first establish business presence in Ukraine.

No VAT recovery mechanism is available for non-established businesses.

Registration procedures. Newly registered entities may register voluntarily through applying in writing to the state registrar who then passes this application to the tax authorities.

Existing entities which are subject to a mandatory registration file registration request by the 10th day of the calendar month following the month in which the threshold (UAH1 million) was achieved.

Existing entities willing to register voluntarily file a registration request not later than 20 calendar days prior to tax period from which these entities would qualify as VAT taxpayers. Such entities may indicate the date from which they would qualify as VAT taxpayers in their application.

It is possible to file the registration application electronically provided the requestor registered a valid electronic signature in accordance with acting legislation. The request must be submitted personally by the individual (entrepreneur) or the company's director/representative.

The tax authority includes the entity in the register of VAT taxpayers within five working days after receipt of the registration request or from the date indicated by the requestor (in case of voluntary registration). The tax authority issues the VAT registration certificate.

Information about registered VAT taxpayers and entities de-registered as VAT taxpayers is available online at the following link: <http://sfs.gov.ua/reestr>.

Late-registration penalties. Late registration or violation of other tax registration requirements may trigger a fine of UAH170 for self-employed persons and UAH510 for the legal entities or JA tax agents. For a repeated violation, the amount of the fine increases to UAH340 and UAH1,020, respectively.

If the tax authorities determine that late registration caused tax understatement and reassesses the taxpayer's tax liability, general fines for tax understatement apply. The fines are imposed at the following percentages of the understated tax liability:

- 25% for the first violation
- 50% for a repeated violation

An interest penalty may also apply.

In addition, the taxpayer is not eligible for a VAT credit or refund with respect to input VAT incurred before VAT registration.

Tax representatives. Not applicable.

Reverse charge. Not applicable.

Digital economy. There are no specific rules relating to the taxation of the digital economy.

Deregistration. An entity registered as a VAT payer for the past 12 months may apply for deregistration if the value of its taxable supplies for the past 12 calendar months was below UAH1 million. Deregistration is also available at the request of the VAT payer or the tax authorities in cases such as the following:

- The entity took a decision to liquidate.
- The VAT payer has been registered as a single taxpayer, which does not envisage payment of VAT.

- The VAT payer has not been filing VAT return for 12 consecutive months and/or has filed VAT returns evidencing absence of taxable supplies/purchases.
- A court judged the entity's statutory documents to be invalid.
- A court ruled to liquidate the legal entity due to bankruptcy.
- The taxpayer is liquidated under a court decision, or the entity is relieved from VAT under a court decision.
- The individual entrepreneur has died.
- The State Register of Business Entities evidences that the business entity is not actually available at its location.
- A joint activity or asset management or production sharing agreement expires.

Once deregistered, the entity is not allowed to credit input VAT and invoices.

D. VAT rates

The following VAT rates apply:

- Standard rate: 20%
- Reduced rate: 7%
- Zero rate (0%)

The standard rate of VAT applies to all supplies of goods and services falling within the scope of VAT, unless the law provides a zero rate, 7% rate or VAT exemption for a specific transaction.

Examples of goods and services taxable at 7%

- Supplies within Ukraine and import into Ukraine of registered medicines and medical devices according to list approved by the government
- Supplies within Ukraine and import into Ukraine of medicines, medical devices and/or medical equipment for use in clinical trials permitted by the Ministry of Health of Ukraine

Examples of goods and services taxable at 0%

- Exports of goods (under customs regime of export, re-export (return of goods), duty-free shop and free customs area)
- International transportation of passengers, luggage and shipments of cargo
- Processing and repairs of imported movable property that is subsequently exported from Ukraine

Examples of exempt supplies of goods and services (conditions apply)

- Supplies of certain types of software (temporarily, until 1 January 2023)
- Healthcare and rehabilitation services
- Supplies of baby nutrition
- Educational services
- Charity
- Supply of land plots (except for those located under real estate objects and included in their value under legislation)
- Supplies of housing (except for the first supply)
- Supplies of periodical printed mass media (newspapers and journals), books, etc. of domestic production
- Religious and funeral services
- Supplies to embassies, consulates and representations of international organizations (for their own needs) on a reciprocal basis

- Imports of cultural items produced 50 or more years ago
- Disposals by banks and financial institutions of property pledged by non-VAT taxpayers
- Sales or purchases by banks of liabilities on deposits
- Imports of energy-saving equipment and materials, etc. under the list approved by the government

Option to tax for exempt supplies. Under Ukraine's tax code a taxpayer may elect to reject or postpone tax exemption for up to several months. However, in practice this is difficult to implement.

E. Time of supply

The Ukrainian VAT laws do not contain the concept of "time of supply." Instead, the tax code contains detailed rules with respect to the time for recording VAT liabilities and recognizing VAT credits.

VAT liability. Under the general "first event" rule, VAT liability arises on the occurrence of the first of the following events:

- The date on which goods or services are dispatched or rendered
- The date on which payment is received with respect to a supply of goods or rendering of services

Special rules apply to certain transactions, including the following:

- For the import of goods, VAT liability arises on the filing of the customs declaration for customs clearance.
- For the import of services (where the place of supply is within Ukraine), VAT liability arises on payment or execution of the act of acceptance, whichever occurs first.
- For long-term agreements, VAT liability arises on the delivery of the work results.
- For financial leasing, VAT liability arises on the transfer of the lease object to the lessee.

VAT credit. Under the "first event" rule for VAT credit, the right to VAT credit arises on occurrence of the first of the following events (provided other conditions are met):

- The date on which the taxpayer makes the payment for goods or services
- The date on which the taxpayer receives the goods or services

Special rules include the following:

- For the import of goods, the right to VAT credit arises on the payment (accrual) of VAT on the filing of the customs declaration for the customs clearance.
- For the import of services, the right to VAT credit arises on the payment or accrual of VAT liability in the VAT return for the preceding reporting period.
- For long-term agreements, the right to VAT credit arises on the receipt of the work results (execution of the acts of work acceptance).
- For financial leasing, the right to VAT credit arises on the receipt of the lease object by the lessee.

Reverse-charge mechanism. A reverse-charge mechanism applies if a nonresident entity (including a permanent establishment of the nonresident that has not registered for VAT) supplies services in the customs territory of Ukraine.

In these cases, the service recipient must accrue and pay VAT to the treasury. The service recipient accrues VAT liability on the payment for the services or the execution of the act of acceptance, whichever occurs first. The service recipient registered as a VAT taxpayer may record a VAT credit after registration of the VAT invoice in the Unified Tax Invoice Register.

Imported goods. Import of goods is subject to VAT at 20% rate or 7% rate (applies to a limited range of the goods) unless exemption is available under current legislation. Tax base includes contractual value or customs value of the goods, whichever is higher, including excise tax and customs duty paid. VAT liabilities arise and VAT is paid during filing import customs declaration for customs clearance of the goods. It is not possible to delay payment of import VAT. The importer may credit import VAT in the tax return for a tax period in which import VAT was paid. VAT credit should be supported by import customs declaration.

F. Recovery of VAT by taxable persons

VAT credit. In general, VAT credit is available only for registered VAT taxpayers with respect to input VAT paid in connection with the acquisition or production of goods or services intended for use in taxable transactions in the course of the taxpayer's business activities.

A VAT taxpayer may claim VAT credit with respect to the following transactions:

- Purchases or production of goods and services (including imports)
- Purchases (building and construction) of fixed assets (including imports)
- Receipts of services supplied by nonresidents in the customs territory of Ukraine
- Imports of non-current assets into the customs territory of Ukraine under lease agreements

A taxpayer must be able to confirm a VAT credit with a VAT invoice or a customs declaration.

If a VAT taxpayer failed to claim a VAT credit in the reporting period, it may claim a VAT credit during the 365 calendar days beginning with the date of the issuance of the VAT invoice.

A VAT credit is recognized regardless of whether goods or services or fixed assets were used in taxable transactions in the reporting period. However, if a taxpayer claims a VAT credit and in the future begins using fixed assets, goods or services in non-taxable or nonbusiness transactions or converts the fixed assets into nonproductive assets, the fixed assets are deemed to be sold at their balance sheet value, the goods or services are deemed to be sold at their acquisition price, and the taxpayer must accrue VAT liabilities.

Non-recoverable VAT (full and partial). A VAT credit is not available if goods (services) are intended to be used in transactions that are not VAT-able or VAT exempt. However, taxpayers may deduct such input VAT for corporate profit tax purposes if certain conditions are met. The entity would not be able to credit input VAT which is not supported by suppliers' VAT invoices registered in the Unified Tax Invoice Register, or import customs declarations or on purchases not related to business.

Examples of items for which input tax is nondeductible

- Business entertainment and hospitality (not related to advertising)
- Purchases for supporting holding companies

Examples of items for which input tax is deductible
(if related to a taxable business use)

- Business travel
- Conferences, exhibitions, training and seminars
- Taxi services
- Motoring expenses and fuel for business purposes

Refunds. VAT due to the budget is calculated as a positive difference between VAT liability (output VAT collected from the customers with respect to sales of goods and services) and VAT credit.

If a taxpayer has a negative difference, the difference may be used to decrease the tax debt or may be carried forward as a tax credit to the next reporting period or claimed as a tax refund in the amount not exceeding the threshold of VAT invoices' registration calculated when the VAT return is filed.

A taxpayer, other than a taxpayer that accrues VAT credit on construction or acquisition of fixed assets, is not eligible for a VAT refund if it meets either of the following conditions:

- It has been registered as a VAT taxpayer for less than 12 calendar months before filing the claim for a refund.
- Its volume of taxable supplies in the preceding 12 months was less than the amount claimed for a refund.

Within 30 days after a taxpayer submits a VAT return and application for refund, the tax authorities perform a desk audit to check the data in the return. If grounds exist, the tax authorities may perform a nonscheduled tax audit of the taxpayer within the following 30 calendar days. Within five days after completion of the tax audit, the tax authorities must file to the State Treasury of Ukraine an opinion indicating the amount due for refund. The State Treasury of Ukraine must transfer funds to the taxpayer's bank account within five days after receipt of the opinion.

The Ukrainian Tax Code provides for the possibility of an automatic VAT refund. Under this procedure, the tax authorities must complete the desk audit within 20 calendar days and subsequently submit their opinion to the State Treasury within three business days. The State Treasury must transfer funds within three banking days on receipt of the opinion.

Automatic VAT refund is available to the taxpayers that satisfy all the following criteria:

- The taxpayer is not undergoing bankruptcy proceedings.
- The taxpayer is included in the Unified State Registry, and there are no records on unconfirmed information, absence at the registered location, etc.
- Net book value of the non-current assets as of the reporting date exceeds three-times the amount of VAT claimed as a refund and one of the following two conditions:
 - Export supplies comprise at least 40% of the taxpayer's total supplies for the past consecutive 12 months.
 - Within the last 12 months the taxpayer has invested at least UAH3 million in non-current assets.

- The taxpayer has no tax debt.
- Large taxpayer has no tax losses.

Penalty for late refund. Under the tax code, an amount of VAT that is not refunded on time is considered to be a debt of the state revenue. An interest penalty at a rate of 120% of the National Bank of Ukraine (NBU) rate applies to this debt amount until it is settled.

Partial exemption. If the taxpayer carries on both VAT-able and non-VAT-able transactions, the available VAT credit must be determined on a pro-rata basis. The pro-rata coefficient is generally based on the percentage of taxable supplies to total supplies in the preceding calendar year. Based on the current year results, the taxpayer must recalculate the pro-rata coefficient according to actual volume of taxable and exempt supplies and adjust VAT credit in the tax return for the last tax period of current year.

Preregistration costs. VAT on purchases made prior to a buyer's registration as a VAT taxpayer, is not creditable.

G. Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses

The Ukrainian tax law does not allow nonresident entities that do not have business presence in Ukraine to recover VAT.

H. Invoicing

VAT invoices. A Ukrainian VAT taxpayer (seller) must provide an electronic VAT invoice registered in the Unified Tax Invoice Register to the buyer. The VAT invoice must be issued on a date when the tax liability arise for the seller. The VAT invoice must contain all of the necessary elements and must bear a duly registered electronic signature. The seller must issue separate VAT invoices for VAT-exempt and VAT-able supplies.

If a VAT invoice is improperly completed or is not registered in the Unified Register, the buyer does not have the right to a VAT credit, but the seller must report VAT liability.

In some cases, the buyer has the right to a VAT credit without the VAT invoice on the basis of the following documents:

- Transport ticket or an invoice for hotel or communication services
- Checks for goods or services for an amount not exceeding UAH200 per day
- Customs cargo declaration for the import of goods

Foreign-currency invoices. VAT invoices are issued in Ukrainian currency, which is the hryvnia (UAH).

Proof of exports. Export of goods should be supported by duly executed export customs declaration certified by customs to evidence that the goods actually left customs territory of Ukraine.

I. VAT returns and payment

VAT return. Entities that use the month as a tax period file tax return within 20 calendar days of the following month. Entities that use the quarter as a tax period file the tax return within 40 calendar days of the following quarter. Tax is payable within 10 days after the filing deadline.

Special schemes. For tourist operators who sell tourist products for use in or outside of Ukraine, 20% VAT is applied on a margin calculated as a difference between the value of the tourist product and expenses incurred in relation to creating such a tourist product. For tourist operators acting as intermediaries for foreign tourist service providers and for Ukrainian tourist agents, 20% VAT is levied on a remuneration payable to such entities. Input VAT on services included in the tourist product is not creditable whereas input VAT on any tourist services not included in the value of the tourist product is creditable.

A special VAT regime is applied to agricultural producers which qualify as enterprises whose main activities include the supply of agricultural goods/services produced by them using their own or leased fixed assets (also based on tolling arrangements) where the share of agricultural goods/services comprises at least 75% of entire goods/services supplied during the past consecutive 12 reporting periods. According to the special VAT regime, the qualifying entities do not pay the entire amount of VAT charged on the supplied agricultural goods/services and may use it primarily as a refund of input VAT on purchases used for the manufacture of agricultural goods specified by law. If purchases are to be used in the manufacture of agricultural goods/services and other goods/services, input VAT should be pro-rated under the ratio between the value of agricultural goods/services and the total value of all goods/services supplied during the 12 past consecutive tax periods. If there is an excessive amount of VAT, the qualifying entities can use it for other manufacturing purposes. If input VAT is greater than output VAT, the difference is not refunded and must be carried forward. During the export of agricultural goods, the entities may obtain regular VAT refund.

A special VAT regime is not applicable to manufacturers of excisable goods (tobacco, alcohol, beer), excluding suppliers of wine-making materials. The qualifying entities must register as VAT taxpayers subject to a special VAT regime. If the entity did not elect a special VAT regime, it is allowed not to pay VAT due to the state (i.e., output VAT less input VAT) in respect of sales of milk, milk materials, meat produced at their own facilities and use it for the development of their own manufacturing facilities. If purchases are to be used in the manufacture of these goods/services and other goods/services, input VAT should be pro-rated according to the extent of using these purchases in the manufacture of these agricultural goods.

The supply of works of art (HS headings 9701-9706) by dealers is subject to marginal profit tax scheme where they were purchased from:

- Entities not registered as VAT taxpayers
- VAT taxpayers where the supply is exempt or not subject to VAT
- VAT taxpayers using marginal profit tax scheme
- Authors of works of arts or their legal successors

The taxable base includes the seller's marginal profit (excluding VAT). The VAT rate is 20%. The dealer (seller) is not required to issue a VAT invoice. The dealer who buys works of art from the above entities is not entitled to credit input VAT. Export of works of art is not subject to zero VAT during export (i.e., input VAT, if any, is not recoverable). The dealer is required to maintain separate accounting of transactions involving purchase and sale of works of art.

Electronic filing and archiving. All registered VAT taxpayers must file tax declarations electronically.

Beginning in 2015, a system of electronic VAT administration is based on the interaction of the Unified Tax Invoice Register (UTIR) with the special VAT accounts.

VAT accounts are free for all VAT taxpayers in the State Treasury of Ukraine. Under the new system the supplier should be able to register a VAT invoice in UTIR for an amount that exceeds its VAT credit only when the taxpayer pays the corresponding amount of money into its VAT account. The threshold is calculated cumulatively from the date the new rules take effect, i.e., 1 January 2015.

Taxpayers will be able to replenish their VAT accounts. Taxpayers will not be able to withdraw or transfer money from the VAT accounts at their discretion. Neither funds from customers nor VAT refunds are transferred to the VAT account.

If a VAT taxpayer's registration is cancelled, its VAT account will be closed and the net balance of the account will be transferred to the state revenue.

The treasury will communicate data about the net balance of the VAT account to the Unified Register online. If the total of input VAT and VAT account balance is insufficient, the taxpayer will not be able to register the issued VAT invoice with the Unified Register. Consequently, the customer of the VAT taxpayer in question will not be entitled to recognize VAT credit.

It is supposed that at the end of the reporting period the tax on the added value generated by such supplier should be accumulated in its VAT account. VAT payable to the state revenue at the end of the reporting period will be settled by means of funds in the VAT account.

Annual returns. Not applicable.

J. Penalties

The Ukrainian tax law provides for the financial sanctions described below for violations of the VAT law.

The following are the penalties for failure to file or late filing:

- UAH170 for each violation
- UAH1,020 for repeated violations within a year

If a failure to properly file the tax return results in the understatement of tax liabilities, additional fines apply.

Penalties are imposed for the overstatement of a VAT refund or the understatement of VAT liabilities if the tax authorities increase the amount of VAT liabilities or decrease the VAT refund. The penalties are imposed at the following percentages of the reassessed tax liability or overstated VAT refund:

- 25% if the violation was made the first time within a 1,095-day period
- 50% if the violation was repeated within a 1,095-day period

It is not clear whether an overstatement of negative VAT result (that does not lead to tax understatement or the overstatement of VAT refund) is subject to a fine.

The following are the penalties for the understatement of tax liabilities if the taxpayer corrects the mistake made in the VAT return:

- 3% of the understatement of tax liabilities if it submits an adjustment calculation
- 5% of the understatement of tax liabilities if it corrects the mistake in the tax return for the next reporting period
- 5% of the understatement for the failure to submit an adjustment calculation

The following penalties are imposed for late payments:

- 10% of unpaid liabilities if the period of delay is up to 30 days
- 20% of unpaid liabilities if the period of delay exceeds 30 days

In addition to the above, the interest penalty may apply for tax understatement and late payment.

The interest penalty for late payment applies from the first business day on which the tax liability becomes overdue (that is, after expiration of the deadline for settling the tax liability indicated in the tax return or in the tax-notification decision issued by the tax authorities). The interest penalty for tax understatement applies to the whole period of understatement of the tax liability, even though the taxpayer may have recourse to the administrative or court appeal procedure.

The rate of the interest penalty equals 120% of the yearly NBU discount rate. The decision on the choice of the effective NBU discount rate is made based on the grounds for applying the penalty.

In addition to financial sanctions, administrative or criminal liability may apply.

United Kingdom

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

London

GMT

EY

1 More London Place
London SE1 2AF
England

Indirect tax contacts

Andrew Bailey	+44 (20) 7951-8565 abailey1@uk.ey.com
David Bearman	+44 (20) 7951-2249 dbearman@uk.ey.com
Charles Brayne	+44 (20) 7951-6337 cbrayne@uk.ey.com
Audrey Fearing	+44 (20) 7951-6531 afearing@uk.ey.com
Kevin MacAuley	+44 (20) 7951-5728 kmacauley@uk.ey.com
Kal Siddique	+44 (20) 7951-5318 ksiddique@uk.ey.com

Aberdeen

GMT

EY

Blenheim House
Fountainhall Road
Aberdeen AB15 4DT
Scotland

Indirect tax contact

Niall Blacklaw	+44 (1224) 653-293 nblacklaw@uk.ey.com
----------------	---

Birmingham

GMT

EY

1 Colmore Square
Birmingham B4 6HQ
England

Indirect tax contact

Tony Bullock	+44 (20) 7951-3408 tbullock@uk.ey.com
--------------	--

Manchester

GMT

EY

100 Barbirolli Square
Manchester M2 3EY
England

Indirect tax contact

Robert Crooks	+44 (161) 333-2815 rcrooks@uk.ey.com
---------------	---

NewcastleGMT*EY

City Gate
St James' Boulevard
Newcastle upon Tyne NE1 4JD
England

Indirect tax contact

Stewart Mathieson

+44 (191) 247-2761
smathieson@uk.ey.com

ReadingGMT*EY

Apex Plaza
Forbury Road
Reading RG1 1YE
England

Indirect tax contact

Sarah Johnson

+44 (1189) 281-363
sjohnson3@uk.ey.com

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Value-added tax (VAT)
Date introduced	1 April 1973
European Union (EU) Member State	Yes
Administered by	HM Revenue & Customs (http://www.hmrc.gov.uk)
VAT rates
Standard	20%
Reduced	5%
Other	Zero-rated, exempt and exempt with credit
VAT number format	GB 999.9999.99
VAT return periods
Quarterly	General rule
Monthly	If requested by a business that receives regular repayments
Annual	If requested by a small business
Thresholds
Registration	GBP81,000
Deregistration	GBP79,000
Distance selling	GBP70,000
Intra-Community acquisitions	GBP81,000
Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses	Yes

B. Scope of the tax

VAT applies to the following transactions:

- The supply of goods or services made in the United Kingdom by a taxable person

- The intra-Community acquisition of goods from another EU Member State by a taxable person (see the chapter on the EU)
- Reverse-charge services received by a taxable person in the United Kingdom
- The importation of goods from outside the EU, regardless of the status of the importer

For VAT purposes, the United Kingdom consists of Great Britain, the Isle of Man and Northern Ireland. It does not include the Channel Islands or Gibraltar.

C. Who is liable

A “taxable person” is any entity or person that is required to be registered for VAT. The term includes any entity or individual that makes taxable supplies of goods or services, intra-Community acquisitions or distance sales in the United Kingdom in the course of a business in excess of the relevant turnover thresholds.

Effective from 1 April 2014, the VAT registration threshold is GBP81,000; this threshold generally increases annually. The VAT registration threshold only applies to businesses established in the United Kingdom. A nil registration threshold applies to businesses not established in the United Kingdom. As a result, any non-established business that makes a taxable supply (not covered by an existing VAT simplification) in the United Kingdom is required to register for VAT, regardless of the value of the supply. Non-established businesses involved only in distance sales of goods to UK residents who are not taxable persons (see the chapter on the EU) are subject to the distance selling threshold (GBP70,000); this threshold is set by EU law and does not generally increase from year to year.

The UK VAT authorities have introduced an enhanced online service for UK VAT registration (and deregistration) applications and for notifying changes to registration details (such as a change of address). This provides an incentive for businesses to use online services by offering quicker and more accurate processing.

Exemption from registration. A taxable person whose turnover is wholly or primarily zero-rated (see Section D) may request exemption from registration.

Voluntary registration. A business may register for VAT voluntarily if its taxable turnover is below the VAT registration threshold. A business may also register for VAT voluntarily in advance of making taxable supplies. In this case, the business needs to demonstrate to the UK VAT authorities it has the firm intention to make taxable supplies.

Group registration. Corporate bodies that are under “common control” and are established or have a fixed establishment in the United Kingdom may apply to register as a VAT group. A VAT group is treated as a single taxable person. The group members share a single VAT number and submit a single VAT return. No VAT is charged on supplies made between group members. Group members are jointly and severally liable for all VAT liabilities.

Non-established businesses. A “non-established business” is a business that does not have a fixed establishment in the United Kingdom. A non-established business must register for VAT if it makes any of the following taxable supplies in the United Kingdom, regardless of the value of the supply:

- Goods located in the United Kingdom at the time of supply
- Services to which the reverse charge (see Reverse charge) does not apply
- Effective 1 January 2015, supplies of telecommunications, broadcasting and electronic services (digital services) to non-VAT taxable customers in the United Kingdom (see Digital economy)

A non-established business must also register for VAT if it makes distance sales in the United Kingdom in excess of the distance selling annual threshold.

A non-established business that registers for VAT may normally do so from its place of business outside the United Kingdom. The application form (VAT 1) must be sent to the following address:

Non-Established Taxable Persons Unit
 Registration Team
 HM Revenue & Customs
 Crown House
 Birch Street
 Wolverhampton WV1 4JX
 England
 Telephone: +44 3000 521 261
 Email: vrs.netpu@hmrc.gsi.gov.uk

Reverse charge. If a non-established business supplies services to a UK taxable person but does not register for VAT, the taxable person may be required to account for the VAT due under reverse-charge accounting. This means that the taxable person charges itself VAT. The self-assessed VAT may be deducted as input tax (that is, VAT on allowable purchases) depending on the taxable person's partial exemption status (see Section F). This measure does not apply in all circumstances. For example, it applies only if the place of supply of the services is in the United Kingdom.

Tax representatives. A non-established business may choose to appoint a tax representative or agent to act on its behalf in relation to UK VAT matters.

The UK VAT authorities may require that a non-established person appoint a tax representative. However, this condition may be imposed only if the business is established in a country outside the EU that has not agreed on mutual assistance provisions with the United Kingdom.

Late-registration penalties. A penalty is assessed for late VAT registration. This penalty is calculated as a percentage of the VAT due (output tax less input tax) for the "relevant period." The "relevant period" begins on the date on which the business is required to be registered and ends on the date on which the UK VAT authorities became fully aware of this liability.

If the liability to register for VAT arises before 1 April 2010, the penalty rate that applies depends on the length of the relevant period. If this period is less than nine months, the penalty rate is 5% of the VAT due. If the period is between 9 and 18 months, the penalty rate increases to 10% of the VAT due. For businesses that register more than 18 months late, the penalty rate is 15% of the VAT due. The minimum penalty is GBP50.

If the liability to register arises after 1 April 2010, the penalty rate that applies may range from 30% (in most cases) to 100% (with respect to deliberate and concealed acts) of the VAT due. However, measures exist for the reduction of such penalties if the business discloses the failure to register to the UK VAT authorities. The degree of mitigation of the penalties depends on the “quality” of the disclosure.

Digital economy. Effective 1 January 2015, new EU VAT place of supply rules apply to business-to-consumer (B2C) supplies, i.e., supplies to non-VAT taxable customers of digital services. From this date, supplies of digital services to EU consumers are subject to VAT in the Member State where the customer belongs. Thus, where the customer belongs in the United Kingdom, UK VAT will be due.

Digital economy registration procedures. Effective 1 January 2015, any taxpayers making B2C supplies of digital services are required to register for VAT in each EU Member State where they have customers (see Non-established businesses above) or register for the Mini One-Stop Shop (see Mini One-Stop Shop).

Mini One-Stop Shop. Effective 1 January 2015, the Mini One-Stop Shop (MOSS) gives taxpayers making B2C supplies of digital services the simplified option of registering in one EU Member State from which they can submit VAT returns and pay the VAT due in all Member States. Otherwise, they will have to register for VAT separately in each EU Member State where they have customers. The MOSS is available to taxable persons which are established in the EU (the Union scheme), as well as taxable persons which are not established within the EU (the non-Union scheme). Businesses established in the UK making B2C supplies of digital services to EU consumers can register in the UK for the Union MOSS scheme. Similarly, businesses established outside the EU making B2C supplies of digital services to EU consumers can choose to register in the UK for the non-Union MOSS scheme.

Taxpayers can register online for the MOSS in the UK via the UK VAT authorities’ website (<http://www.hmrc.gov.uk>) at <http://www.online.hmrc.gov.uk/registration/organisation/moss/introduction>. The UK VAT authorities normally send an email within five working days of receipt of a completed electronic registration request. This will direct taxpayers to a secure communications portal where they can view their VAT identification number and Registration Certificate. VAT identification numbers for the non-Union MOSS scheme have their own unique format beginning with the prefix 'EU', followed by a nine-digit number. These are different from UK VAT registration numbers issued under the normal rules. However, if a taxpayer is registered for VAT in the UK, it will use its existing VAT number.

Electronic declarations are due for each calendar quarter (31 March, 30 June, 30 September and 31 December) and should be submitted with full electronic payment of the tax due within 20 days of the end of each quarter. The UK VAT authorities will then send the appropriate information and payment to the VAT authorities of each relevant EU Member State. Late declarations or payments may render taxpayers liable to penalties. For each EU Member State in which a taxpayer has made B2C supplies of digital services, the declaration must state the total value of all supplies in the period (excluding VAT) and the standard or reduced VAT rate which applies in the customer's Member State. The amount of VAT payable in each Member State and the total amount of the declaration will be calculated automatically.

Taxpayers registered for the MOSS in the UK are required to submit declarations and payments in GBP. Conversions from other currencies into GBP must be made using the exchange rates published by the European Central Bank for the last day of the tax period to which the declaration relates or, if no such rate is published for that day, for the next day for which such a rate is published. Taxpayers will receive an online acknowledgment confirming that the UK VAT authorities have received their declaration.

Any adjustments that need to be made to a MOSS declaration must be made by making a correction to the original declaration and not by an amendment to any later declarations.

Taxpayers registered for the MOSS should maintain records of their transactions in sufficient detail to enable the VAT authorities in the customer's EU Member State to determine that the VAT declarations and payments made are correct. Such records must be retained for 10 years.

Taxpayers cannot recover VAT on purchases using the MOSS. However, taxpayers may reclaim any VAT paid on goods and services used for the purpose of their taxable activities falling under the MOSS from the EU Member State where that VAT was paid, under the terms of the EU Refund Directives (see Section G).

Deregistration. A taxable person that ceases to be eligible for VAT registration must deregister. A taxable person may also request deregistration if its taxable turnover drops below the deregistration threshold (GBP79,000, effective from 1 April 2014) or if its taxable turnover is wholly or primarily zero-rated (see Section D). However, deregistration is not compulsory in these circumstances.

D. VAT rates

In the United Kingdom, the term "taxable supplies" refers to supplies of goods and services that are liable to a rate of VAT, including the zero rate.

In the United Kingdom, the following are the VAT rates:

- Standard rate: 20%
- Reduced rate: 5%
- Zero rate (0%)

The standard rate of VAT applies to all supplies of goods or services, unless a specific measure provides for the zero or reduced rate or an exemption.

Examples of goods and services taxable at 0%

- Books, newspapers and periodicals
- Certain foodstuffs
- Children's clothing and footwear
- Drugs and medicines supplied by prescription
- New housing
- Transport services
- Exports of goods and related services

Examples of goods and services taxable at 5%

- Fuel and power supplied to domestic users and charities
- Installation of energy-saving materials in certain buildings
- Building materials for certain residential conversions
- Sanitary protection products
- Children's car seats
- Smoking cessation products
- Grant-funded installation of heating appliances and qualifying security goods
- Certain larger holiday caravans
- Small cable-based passenger transport systems

The term "exempt supplies" refers to supplies of goods and services that are not liable to tax and that do not give rise to a right of input tax deduction (see Section F). In addition, some supplies are classified as "exempt with credit." Exempt with credit supplies are effectively treated as if they were zero-rated, even though they are not within the scope of VAT. This means that no VAT is chargeable, but the supplier may recover related input tax. Exempt with credit supplies include services supplied to taxable persons in the EU and to customers outside the EU.

Examples of exempt supplies of goods and services

- Betting and gaming
- Education
- Finance
- Insurance
- Land and buildings (in most cases)
- Postal services (in most cases)
- Human blood products
- Medical services
- Shared service arrangements in circumstances in which two or more organizations (whether businesses or otherwise) with exempt and/or nonbusiness activities join together on a cooperative basis to form a separate, independent entity (a cost-sharing group), to supply themselves with certain services at cost (the VAT cost-sharing exemption applies only in very specific circumstances and does not cover all shared-service arrangements)

Option to tax for exempt supplies. The United Kingdom operates an option to tax in respect of land and buildings. However, certain supplies of land and buildings are not affected by an option to tax (generally buildings intended for residential use or a qualifying charitable use).

E. Time of supply

The time when VAT becomes due is called the "time of supply" or "tax point." The "basic" tax point under UK law is the point when the goods are either removed from the supplier's premises or made available to the customer, or when the services are performed.

The basic tax point may be overridden by the creation of what is termed an "actual" tax point. An "actual" tax point occurs in the following circumstances:

- Before the basic tax point: if the supplier issues a VAT invoice or receives payment with respect to a supply, a tax point is created to the extent covered by the invoice or payment (whichever is earlier).
- After the basic tax point: if an invoice is issued within 14 days after the basic tax point, the date of the invoice becomes the tax point. Taxable persons may request permission to extend this 14-day invoicing tax point up to a maximum of 30 days after the basic tax point.

Deposits and prepayments. The receipt of a deposit or prepayment normally creates an actual tax point if the amount is paid in the expectation that it will form part of the total payment for a particular supply. A tax point is created only to the extent of the payment received.

Intra-Community acquisitions. The time of supply for an intra-Community acquisition of goods is the 15th day of the month following the month in which the goods are removed (that is, sent to, or taken away by, the customer). However, if the supplier issues an invoice before this date, the tax point is when the invoice is issued.

Intra-Community supplies of goods. For intra-Community supplies of goods, the time of supply is the earlier of the 15th day of the month following the month in which the goods are removed or the date of issuance of a VAT invoice.

Imported goods. The time of supply for imported goods is the date of importation, or the date on which the goods leave a duty suspension regime.

Goods sent on approval or for sale or return. The tax point for goods sent on approval or sale or return is the earlier of the date on which the goods are accepted by the customer or 12 months after the removal of the goods from the supplier. However, if a VAT invoice is issued before these dates, the invoice creates an actual tax point, up to the amount invoiced.

Continuous supplies of services. If services are supplied continuously and payment is made periodically, a tax point is created each time a payment is made or a VAT invoice is issued, whichever occurs earlier.

Reverse-charge services. The tax point for reverse-charge services is governed primarily by when the service is performed, and a distinction is made between single and continuous supplies. For single supplies, the tax point is the earlier of the date of completion of the service or the date of payment for the service. For continuous supplies, the tax point is the end of each billing or payment period (or the date of payment, if earlier). For continuous supplies that are not subject to billing or payment periods, the tax point is 31 December each year unless a payment has been made before that date, in which case the payment creates a tax point.

Leased assets. Under current UK VAT law, operational and finance asset leases are treated as continuous supplies of services (see above), provided that legal title to the goods does not pass to the recipient and there is no express contemplation that title will transfer at some point in the future. Goods supplied on terms which expressly contemplate that title will transfer at some point in the future (e.g., under hire-purchase or conditional sale agreements) are treated in the same way as a normal sale of goods where title passes at the outset. Unless a VAT invoice is issued, the time of supply will be linked to the basic tax point (see above). This means that the full amount of VAT will become payable up front, instead of being due as and when installment payments are made.

F. Recovery of VAT by taxable persons

A taxable person may recover input tax, which is VAT charged on goods and services supplied to it for business purposes. A taxable person generally recovers input tax by deducting it from output tax, which is VAT charged on supplies made.

Input tax includes VAT charged on goods and services supplied in the United Kingdom, VAT paid on imports of goods into the United Kingdom and VAT self-assessed on the intra-Community acquisition of goods and reverse-charge services (see the chapter on the EU).

A valid tax invoice or customs document must generally accompany a claim for input tax.

Special rules apply to the recovery of input tax on expenditure incurred before registration and after deregistration.

Nondeductible input tax. Input tax may be recovered only on purchases of goods and services that are used for business purposes (this excludes, for example, goods acquired for private use by an entrepreneur). However, input tax may not be recovered on some items of business expenditure.

The following lists provide some examples of items of expenditure for which input tax is not deductible and examples of items for which input tax is deductible if the expenditure is related to a taxable business use.

Examples of items for which input tax is nondeductible

- Purchase of a car (unless the car is available exclusively for business use)
- 50% of VAT incurred on the rental or lease of a car used for mixed business and private purposes
- Private expenditure
- Business entertainment and hospitality (except if provided to overseas customers)

Examples of items for which input tax is deductible (if related to a taxable business use)

- Conferences, exhibitions, training and seminars
- Taxi services
- Restaurant expenses for employees
- Accommodation

- Motoring expenses and fuel for business purposes
- Business use of a home telephone

Partial exemption. Input tax directly related to making exempt supplies is generally not recoverable. If a taxable person makes both exempt and taxable supplies, it may not recover its input tax in full. This situation is referred to as “partial exemption.”

A UK taxable person that makes both taxable and exempt supplies may calculate the amount of input tax it may recover in several ways. The standard partial exemption calculation method consists of the following two-stage calculation:

- The first stage identifies the input tax that may be directly allocated to taxable and to exempt supplies. Input tax directly allocated to taxable supplies is deductible, while input tax directly related to exempt supplies is not deductible. Supplies that are exempt with credit are treated as taxable supplies for these purposes.
- The second stage identifies the amount of the remaining input tax (for example, input tax on general business overhead) that may be allocated to taxable supplies and recovered. The amount of recoverable VAT is determined by making a pro-rata calculation based on the respective values of taxable and exempt supplies made.

If the standard calculation method gives an unfair or distortive result, a special calculation method may be agreed with the UK VAT authorities. In some cases, the UK VAT authorities may impose the use of a special calculation method.

Capital goods. Capital goods are items of capital expenditure that are used in a business over several years. Input tax is deducted in the VAT year in which the goods are acquired. The amount of input tax deductible depends on the taxable person’s partial exemption recovery position in the VAT year of acquisition. However, the amount of input tax recovered for capital goods must then be adjusted over time if the taxable person’s partial exemption recovery percentage changes during the adjustment period.

In the United Kingdom, the capital goods adjustment scheme applies to the following assets for the number of years indicated:

- Land and buildings and related property expenditure valued at GBP250,000 or more: adjusted over a period of 10 years
- Computer hardware valued at GBP50,000 or more: adjusted over a period of five years
- Ships and aircraft valued at GBP50,000 or more: adjusted over a period of five years

The adjustment is applied each year following the year of acquisition to a fraction of the total input tax incurred ($\frac{1}{10}$ for land and buildings and $\frac{1}{5}$ for computer hardware, ships and aircraft). The adjustment may result in either an increase or a decrease of deductible input tax, depending on whether the ratio of taxable supplies to total supplies made by the business has increased or decreased compared with the year in which the capital goods were originally acquired.

Refunds. If the amount of VAT recoverable exceeds the amount of VAT payable in a period, a refund may be claimed. This is done automatically by submitting the periodic VAT return. A taxable person that receives regular repayments of VAT may request permission to submit monthly returns to improve cash flow.

Preregistration costs. Where a business buys goods or services before registering for VAT to support its taxable business activities, it can recover the VAT provided that certain conditions are met. In the case of goods, they must remain on hand at the date of registration and must be used in the newly registered business. These goods must also have been bought no more than four years before the date of registering for VAT. Different rules apply to capital goods within the capital goods adjustment scheme (see above). In the case of services, they must have been bought no more than six months before the date of registration.

Write-off of bad debts. Where a business has made supplies to its customers and has not been paid, it can claim relief for the VAT on bad debts provided a number of conditions are met. The main conditions for claiming VAT bad debt relief are that the business must already have accounted for the VAT on the supplies and paid it to the UK VAT authorities, the business must have written off the debt in its VAT accounts, and the debt must have remained unpaid for a period of six months after the date of the supply and the date payment was due, whichever is later.

Noneconomic activities. VAT incurred in the course of non-business activities is generally not recoverable.

G. Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses

The United Kingdom refunds VAT incurred by businesses that are neither established nor registered for VAT in the United Kingdom. Non-established businesses may reclaim VAT to the same extent as UK VAT-registered businesses. VAT incurred in the Isle of Man may also be refunded through this procedure. For the general VAT refund rules, see the chapter on the EU.

EU businesses. An electronic VAT refund procedure applies across the EU. EU businesses must submit their claims for UK VAT through an electronic interface to their local VAT authorities, rather than directly to the UK VAT authorities.

Refund claims are based on calendar years. Claims must be submitted within nine months after the end of the calendar year in which the VAT is incurred (that is, by 30 September). Claims must be accompanied by the appropriate information (see the chapter on the EU).

Non-EU businesses. For businesses established outside the EU, VAT refunds are made under the terms of the EU 13th Directive. The United Kingdom does not generally exclude businesses from any country from eligibility.

For businesses established outside the EU, VAT refunds are based on a “prescribed year” running from 1 July to 30 June. Applications for a VAT refund based on the EU 13th Directive must be submitted within six months after the end of the prescribed year in which the VAT was incurred (that is, before 1 January).

Claims must be submitted in English and must be accompanied by the appropriate documentation (see the chapter on the EU). The minimum claim period is three months, while the maximum claim period is one prescribed year. The minimum claim for a period of less than a year is GBP130. Where a claim covers the full 12 months of the prescribed year, the minimum VAT claim is GBP16.

Applications for refunds of UK VAT must be sent to the following address:

HM Revenue & Customs
VAT Overseas Repayments Unit
Foyle House
P.O. Box 34
Duncreggan Road
Londonderry BT48 7AE
Northern Ireland

H. Invoicing

VAT invoices and credit notes. A UK taxable person must generally provide a VAT invoice for all taxable supplies made to other taxable persons, including exports and intra-Community supplies (see the chapter on the EU). Invoices are not automatically required for retail transactions, unless requested by the customer.

A VAT invoice is required to support a claim for input tax deduction.

A VAT credit note may be used to reduce the amount of VAT charged on a supply. The credit note must reflect a genuine mistake, an overcharge or an agreed reduction in the value of the original supply. A credit note must be issued within one month after the mistake or overcharge is discovered. The credit note should also refer to the number and date of the original VAT invoice.

B2C invoices. In the UK, a taxable person is not required to provide a VAT invoice for B2C (e.g., retail) supplies of goods and services. In practice, this will normally mean issuing a VAT invoice to any customers who ask for one.

Effective 1 January 2015, new EU VAT place of supply rules apply to B2C supplies of digital services. From this date, supplies of digital services to EU consumers are subject to VAT in the Member State where the customer belongs. Although the vast majority of EU Member States, including the United Kingdom, do not require VAT invoices to be issued for cross-border B2C supplies, UK taxable persons making B2C supplies of digital services to customers in other EU Member States should check the invoicing requirements in the customer's Member State. For further details of the VAT rules on digital services in the EU, please refer to the European Union chapter.

Electronic invoicing. UK VAT law permits electronic invoicing in line with EU Directive 2010/45/EU.

Proof of exports and intra-Community supplies. UK VAT is generally not chargeable on supplies of exported goods or on intra-Community supplies of goods, except distance sales (see the chapter on the EU). However, to qualify for VAT zero-rating, exports and intra-Community supplies must be supported by evidence proving that the goods have left the United Kingdom.

Acceptable proof includes the following documentation:

- For exports, official customs documentation and commercial documentation, such as consignment notes and airway bills
- For intra-Community supplies, a range of commercial documentation, such as customer orders, sales invoices, transport documentation and packing lists

In all cases, the evidence must clearly identify the supplier, the customer, the goods and the destination. The evidence must be obtained within three months after the time of supply and be retained for at least six years.

Foreign-currency invoices. If a VAT invoice is issued in a foreign currency, the pounds sterling equivalent of the VAT amount must also be stated on the invoice. Suppliers may use any of the following acceptable exchange rates:

- The UK market selling rate at the time of the supply (rates published in UK national newspapers are acceptable as evidence of the rates in force at the relevant time)
- The UK VAT authorities' published period rates of exchange
- Any other acceptable rate that is used for commercial purposes (and not covered by the two alternatives above), subject to agreement in writing with the UK VAT authorities

I. VAT returns and payment

VAT returns. VAT returns are generally submitted quarterly. VAT return quarters are staggered into three cycles to ease the UK VAT authorities' administration. The following are the cycles:

- March, June, September and December
- February, May, August and November
- January, April, July and October

Each taxable person is notified at the time of registration of the return cycle it must use. However, the UK VAT authorities will consider a request to use VAT return periods that correspond with a taxable person's financial year. In addition, a taxable person whose accounting dates are not based on calendar months may request permission to adopt nonstandard tax periods.

Taxable persons that receive regular repayments of VAT may request permission to submit monthly returns to improve cash flow.

VAT returns must generally be submitted by the last day of the month following the end of the return period. Payment is also generally due by this date. However, in most cases, taxable persons that submit their VAT returns electronically have an additional seven calendar days after the normal due date in which to file their returns and make payment (businesses that use the annual accounting scheme or are required to make payments on account do not qualify for this seven-day extension).

VAT returns must be completed in pounds sterling, but return liabilities may be paid in pounds sterling or euros.

Electronic filing and archiving. The vast majority of UK VAT-registered businesses (with some limited exceptions) are required to submit their VAT returns online (using the UK VAT authorities' electronic VAT service) and pay any VAT due electronically.

VAT records may be archived electronically in any location, provided that the authenticity, integrity and legibility of the content of source documents (invoice data) is protected and any records can be produced in a readable form (within a reasonable period of time) upon request by the UK VAT authorities.

Payments on account. Taxable persons that have annual VAT liability of greater than GBP2,300,000 must make payments on account, which are interim payments made at the end of the second and third months of each VAT quarter. The VAT return is due at the normal time together with a balancing payment for the period. The level of the payments on account is generally calculated as $\frac{1}{24}$ of the taxable person's VAT liability for the preceding 12 months. Electronic transfers must be used for all payments on account.

Cash accounting. Businesses with an annual taxable turnover (excluding VAT) of less than GBP1,350,000 are eligible to use the cash accounting scheme which allows VAT to be accounted for on the basis of cash or other consideration paid and received. However, if their annual taxable turnover (excluding VAT) subsequently exceeds GBP1.6 million, they must stop using the scheme.

Annual accounting. Businesses with annual taxable turnover (excluding VAT) of less than GBP1,350,000 may apply to complete an annual VAT return. Businesses that use annual accounting must make either three quarterly or nine monthly interim VAT payments. Any balancing payment must be made with the annual return. The annual return is due on the last day of the second month following the end of the taxable person's annual VAT accounting period.

Special accounting. A special accounting scheme (known as the Flat Rate Scheme) exists for small businesses with VAT-exclusive annual taxable turnover of up to GBP150,000. Under the scheme, eligible businesses calculate the amount of VAT due based on a fixed percentage of their total (VAT-inclusive) turnover. The percentages range from 4% to 14.5%, depending on the trade sector of the business.

Other special accounting schemes exist for retailers, businesses trading in second-hand goods, tour operators, gold traders and farmers.

Reverse-charge accounting for domestic supplies of mobile phones and computer chips. The UK government has suffered heavy losses of VAT arising from "missing trader" VAT fraud. This fraud arises when small, high-value goods are moved around the EU VAT system and a fraudulent party absconds without paying the VAT due. An anti-avoidance measure requires purchasers of certain designated goods (broadly, mobile phones and computer chips) to account for the VAT due under a domestic reverse-charge accounting procedure, rather than paying the VAT to the supplier. Additional notification and reporting requirements also apply to these transactions.

Reverse-charge accounting for domestic supplies of emissions allowances. Purchasers of specified emissions allowances must account for VAT under a domestic reverse-charge accounting procedure, rather than paying VAT to the supplier. No additional notification or reporting requirements apply to these transactions.

Reverse-charge accounting for domestic wholesale supplies of gas and electricity. From 1 July 2014, purchasers of wholesale supplies of gas and electricity are required to account for VAT under a domestic reverse-charge accounting procedure, rather than paying VAT to the supplier. VAT-registered businesses that do not resell or trade the gas or electricity are not affected. No additional notification or reporting requirements apply to these transactions.

Special schemes. See Cash accounting, Annual accounting and Special accounting schemes above.

Annual returns. UK VAT-registered businesses are not required to submit an annual VAT return in addition to their normal periodic (monthly or quarterly) VAT returns.

J. Penalties

Penalties for late payment of VAT. If a VAT return or payment is late, the taxable person is in default and is issued a Surcharge Liability Notice. The notice specifies a period of 12 months from the last day of the VAT period under default, which is known as the “surcharge period.” Any further default within this period may trigger a penalty and extend the surcharge period. The penalty is calculated as a percentage of the “outstanding VAT.” A business has “outstanding VAT” for a period if some or all of the VAT due for that period remains unpaid as of the normal due date.

The following percentage penalty rates apply:

- For the first default in the surcharge period: a penalty of 2% of the outstanding VAT
- For the second default in the surcharge period: a penalty of 5% of the outstanding VAT
- For the third default in the surcharge period: a penalty of 10% of the outstanding VAT
- For the fourth and any subsequent defaults in the surcharge period: a penalty of 15% of the outstanding VAT (for each further default)

The UK VAT authorities do not impose a penalty at the 2% or 5% rates for an amount of less than GBP400. For the 10% and 15% rates, the minimum penalty is GBP30.

If a nil or repayment VAT return is submitted late or payment is made on time but the return is submitted late, no penalty is imposed. However, a default is recorded and the surcharge period is extended.

There will be no default or liability to a penalty where a business has a “reasonable excuse” for failing to submit a VAT return or make payment of VAT on time.

Penalties for errors made on VAT returns. If a business makes an error on a VAT return despite taking “reasonable care,” it should not be liable to a penalty. Otherwise, the penalty rate depends on the behavior giving rise to the error (rather than the size of the error) and may range from 30% (for “careless” errors) to 100% (for “deliberate and concealed” acts) of the VAT due. However, provisions exist for the reduction of such penalties if the business makes an unprompted disclosure to the UK VAT authorities. The degree of mitigation also depends on the “quality” of the disclosure.

K. EU filings

Intrastat. A UK taxable person that trades in goods with other EU countries must complete statistical reports, known as Intrastat declarations, if the value of its sales or purchases exceeds certain thresholds. Separate reports exist for intra-Community acquisitions (Intrastat Arrivals) and intra-Community supplies (Intrastat Dispatches).

For the 2015 calendar year, the threshold for Intrastat Arrivals is GBP1,500,000 and the threshold for Intrastat Dispatches is GBP250,000.

A taxable person whose intra-Community trade in goods exceeds GBP24 million (for either Arrivals or Dispatches) must also provide additional information concerning the terms of delivery.

Intrastat declarations must be submitted electronically on a monthly basis and completed in pounds sterling. The deadline for the submission of Intrastat declarations is the 21st day of the month following the end of the reference period (normally a calendar month) to which they relate.

Penalties may be imposed if a taxable person’s Intrastat declarations are persistently late, missing or inaccurate.

EU Sales Lists. All businesses registered for VAT must complete EU Sales Lists (ESLs) if they make either or both of the following types of supplies:

- Intra-Community supplies of goods to business customers in other EU Member States
- Intra-Community supplies of services to business customers in other EU Member States, if the place of supply of the services is the customer’s Member State and if the customer is required to account for the VAT due on the supply under the reverse-charge procedure

The information required to be provided on ESLs includes the country code and VAT registration number of the businesses to which the supplies were made, the total value of those supplies in pounds sterling and an indicator to identify a supply as a supply of services.

The ESL reporting period for intra-Community supplies of goods is a calendar month for supplies over GBP35,000 per quarter. The ESL reporting period for intra-Community supplies of services is a calendar quarter, but businesses may instead choose a reporting period of a calendar month (for example, to align with the ESL reporting period for intra-Community supplies of goods).

The following are the deadlines for submitting ESLs to the UK VAT authorities, for all frequencies of submission with respect to both goods and services:

- For paper ESLs: 14 days from the end of the reporting period
- For electronic ESL submissions: 21 days from the end of the reporting period

Penalties may be assessed for the late submission of ESLs and for material inaccuracies in ESLs.

United States

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Washington, DC

GMT -5

EY

National Office
1101 New York Avenue, N.W.
Washington, DC 20005
United States

Indirect tax contacts

Jeffrey Saviano (resident in Boston)	+1 (617) 375-3702 jeffrey.saviano@ey.com
Billy Michalewicz (resident in Atlanta)	+1 (404) 817-5893 william.michalewicz@ey.com
Faranak Naghavi (resident in Washington, DC)	+1 (202) 327-8033 faranak.naghavi@ey.com
Brad Withrow (resident in Nashville)	+1 (615) 252-2050 brad.withrow@ey.com

A. General

The United States does not impose a national-level sales or value-added tax. Instead, sales taxes and complementary use taxes are imposed and administered at the state (subnational) and local (substate) levels. Currently, 45 of the 50 US states, the District of Columbia and Puerto Rico impose some form of sales and use tax. (See chapter on Puerto Rico.) Only Alaska, Delaware, Montana, New Hampshire and Oregon do not impose such taxes. Taking into account both the state-level and local-level aspects of sales and use taxes, more than 7,500 taxing jurisdictions exist in the United States.

The laws, rules and procedures with respect to sales and use taxes are not uniform among these jurisdictions, and issues such as tax-base calculation, taxability of specific items and tax rates vary considerably among the jurisdictions. Sales and use taxes are generally imposed on transactions involving the sale of tangible personal property. However, several states also tax certain specified services and digital property (for example, electronically delivered software).

B. Tax rates

Sales and use tax rates vary among the states. For each state that imposes a sales and use tax, one uniform rate is imposed at the state level. However, several states impose a lower rate on certain items, such as food, clothing, selected services and medicine, instead of exempting such items outright. Excluding additional local sales and use taxes, state-level sales and use tax rates range from 2.9% (Colorado) to 7% (five states).

Local rates, if authorized within a state, may vary significantly. In addition, a single situs within a state may lie within several different local taxing jurisdictions. For example, sales made in one store may be subject to city, county and district taxes, in addition to the state-level tax, while sales made from a different store may be subject only to a county tax, in addition to the state-level tax. As a result, it is possible that two identical transactions within the same state may be taxed at substantially different rates based solely on the local sourcing of the transaction. In certain states, local rates can exceed 4% and constitute a greater portion of the total sales tax due than the state-level rate.

Not all states authorize the imposition of local sales and use taxes. Others require rate uniformity across the state or minimum local rates, e.g., California.

C. Imposition of tax

Sales taxes are transaction-based taxes imposed on intrastate retail transactions (sales made between a buyer and seller located within the same state) and are calculated as a percentage of the receipts derived from the transaction. The legal incidence of state sales tax laws may be on the buyer (“consumer” taxes) or on the seller (“vendor” or “privilege” taxes). However, regardless of the form of the tax, the consumer generally will bear the actual cost of the tax, while the vendor will bear the compliance cost.

Use taxes, which complement sales taxes, are imposed on the use, storage or consumption in a state of property or taxable services that have not been subjected to a sales tax. Essentially, use taxes are designed to prevent the avoidance of sales taxes on interstate retail transactions (sales made between a buyer and seller located in different states) by taxing goods and service procured in one state but intended for use or enjoyment in another state. To the extent that sales tax is paid in one state on such interstate transactions, a credit is allowed against any use tax that is ultimately owed.

D. Jurisdiction to tax

The key issue with respect to sales and use taxation is jurisdiction to tax, or “nexus.” This concept deals with the power of one state to compel a seller to collect and remit the sales or use tax due on a transaction. Under current US law, nexus exists only if the seller has some physical presence within the taxing state (either by itself or through an agent or affiliate that is “establishing and maintaining” an in-state market for the seller) and if such presence is more than de minimis.

Direct physical presence, even if unrelated to a seller’s sales activity, creates a collection obligation. Physical presence may be deemed to exist based on the ownership of real or tangible personal property, the in-state presence of employees, the temporary storage of inventory or any other entry into the state by the seller or its employees (for example, delivery of goods sold in the seller’s own vehicles). Physical presence may also be attributed to a seller based on activities conducted by third-parties in the state on the seller’s behalf. Essentially, if an agent or affiliate of a seller that does not have nexus with a state enters the state and conducts activities on the seller’s behalf that serve to “establish and maintain a market” for the seller’s goods (for example, soliciting sales, providing repair or installation services or providing training services), the seller may be deemed to be physically present in the state and be subject to the state's sales and use tax jurisdiction.

If a seller has nexus with a state for sales and use tax purposes, the seller is generally required to register in that state for sales and use tax purposes, and the seller is required to collect and remit sales and use taxes due on its taxable transactions with customers in the state. The seller is also required to file monthly sales and use tax returns and remit all taxes collected. Failure to comply with the specific state requirement may result in the seller becoming liable for any tax due on a transaction, plus penalties and interest.

The US Congress routinely has bills pending that would eliminate the physical presence nexus standard for remote sellers (sellers that sell and ship goods to customers from points outside of the customer's state and that lack physical presence in the customer's state). In May 2013, the US Senate passed legislation, the Marketplace Fairness Act of 2013, that would have allowed eligible states to require all vendors except those qualifying as "small sellers" to collect and remit sales and use taxes on remote sales into the state without regard to the location of the vendor. Such an act would empower a state to require such collection by remote vendors either by: (1) being a member of Streamlined Sales Tax Pact, a multi-state compact designed to make state sales and use tax laws more uniform; or (2) adopting and implementing specified simplification measures.

Although the Marketplace Fairness Act progressed further than any previous federal legislative efforts, it stalled in the US House of Representatives and, effectively, died on 5 January 2015 when the 113th Congress ended. It is expected that new legislation will be introduced in the 114th Congress, but the likelihood of passage is considered to be remote. As such, taxpayers should expect the individual states to continue to pass laws expanding their sales and use tax jurisdiction (both from an affiliate nexus and direct activity standpoint), subject to federal constitutional limitations. Since 2008, more than 20 states have enacted or considered laws that would expand the scope of "establishing and maintaining a market" to include activities such as the following:

- Referring customers to a remote seller through a link on an internet website
- Having a similar trade name, selling similar goods or services and being part of a controlled group together with a remote seller
- Being part of a commonly controlled group that includes an in-state warehouse or distribution center that serves a remote seller

E. Retail sales

State sales and use taxes apply to receipts from taxable property and services sold and purchased at retail. A "retail sale" generally is defined as the transfer of title and possession of property from the seller to the ultimate consumer in exchange for consideration. Wholesale sales (discussed below), also referred to as "sales for resale," are exempt from sales and use tax in all states that impose a sales and use tax scheme. However, Hawaii imposes a 0.5% wholesale sales tax rate on resale transactions.

Taxation of services that are ancillary to the sale of taxable tangible personal property, such as delivery and installation, varies among the states. Most states have explicit statutory or regulatory provisions dealing with the treatment of such services. In many cases, such treatment is determined based on the state's specific definition of "receipts" for sales and use tax purposes.

Retail sales involving three parties (retailer, buyer and supplier), in which title to the property sold passes from the retailer directly to the buyer, but possession is transferred from a third-party supplier directly to the buyer, are classified as "drop ship" transactions. In a drop ship transaction, the retailer is generally responsible for sales and use tax collection. However, if the retailer does not have nexus with the buyer's state, a supplier with nexus in the state may be held liable for sales and use tax collection on the transaction. Alternatively, states may attempt to assert nexus over the out-of-state retailer under a "flash title" theory (that is, by asserting that the retailer takes title to the property for an instant while the property is within the state and, accordingly, has physical presence) or assess use tax liability directly against the buyer.

Leases are treated as taxable retail sales in most states. The tax generally applies separately to each lease payment. However, certain states, such as Illinois and New Jersey, require lessors of tangible personal property to pay the sales tax in full on acquisition and before any subsequent lease or rental. In these states, tax is not charged on the subsequent lease.

Lease transactions that are deemed to constitute "financed sales" (arrangements under which total lease payments approximate the sales price, with the lessor having the option to purchase the leased item for a nominal price at the end of the lease term) are generally treated as straight sales in most states. If a lease is reclassified as a financed sale, tax is due in full at the time of inception.

Sales and use taxes are imposed on receipts derived from taxable retail sales transactions. In most states, taxable receipts may be reduced by the value of any goods traded in by the purchaser as part of the transaction and by any coupons, rebates, or discounts issued by the vendor.

F. What is taxable

State sales and use taxes generally apply to sales of tangible personal property, which is defined in most states as personal property that can be seen, touched, measured and weighed, or is otherwise perceptible to the senses. In general, services are not broadly subject to sales and use taxes. However, several states tax specifically enumerated services. Such taxation is not uniform across the states.

Real property (land, buildings and fixtures) is not considered to be tangible personal property, and the sale or lease of real property is not subject to sales and use taxation, except in certain limited circumstances in Arizona, Florida, and New York City.

Intangible personal property, such as securities and intellectual property, are not subject to sales and use taxation. However, certain intangible "digital equivalents" of tangible personal property may be subject to tax, depending on the specific state's laws. For example, canned (non-custom) computer software that is delivered electronically is considered to be tangible personal property in several states and is subject to tax. Similarly, music downloaded from the internet is viewed as taxable property in certain jurisdictions.

Many states classify utilities, such as natural gas and electricity, as taxable tangible personal property. In such states, sales of these utilities may be subject to sales and use tax in addition to any applicable utility transmission fees or excise taxes.

G. Situs of sales

Where a sale is deemed to take place is crucial in determining which jurisdiction's tax laws and rates apply. For intrastate sales (that is, sales that occur entirely within a single state), the situs of the sale determines which local sales and use taxes are imposed in addition to the state-level tax and which locality receives the revenue. For interstate transactions, the situs of the sale determines which state's laws control and which state is entitled to the tax revenue.

In general, sales are sourced based on the nature of the transaction. For example, if a sale occurs at a fixed location, such as an over-the-counter sale at a store, the sale is sourced to that location. For intrastate remote sales that involve a buyer and seller (and possibly the goods sold) at separate locations, the transaction may be sourced to where the goods are received by the buyer, where the order is accepted by the seller or from where the goods are shipped.

For interstate remote sales, tax generally is imposed at the destination (that is, where the goods are received by the buyer), regardless of where title passes to the ultimate customer. In such cases, use tax, rather than sales tax, is due, and it must be collected and remitted by the seller if the seller has nexus with the destination state. To the extent that the seller lacks nexus with the destination state, the purchaser must self-assess and pay use tax to the state.

Sourcing for intrastate sales, which is important for determining application of local sales and use tax, varies among the states. Most states apply local taxes on a destination basis, which means that local sales and use taxes at the customer location will apply. Others apply local taxes on an origin basis, which means that local sales and use taxes at the vendor or shipper location will apply.

H. Tax exemptions

Exemptions from state sales and use taxes are largely driven by policy and may be based on federal or state law. Exemptions based on federal law include taxes imposed on Indian tribes and reservation lands, and sales made to the federal government. State and local level exemptions vary by jurisdiction, but may be grouped into the following four distinct categories:

- Entity-based
- Property-based
- Use-based
- Transaction-based

Like other aspects of state and local taxation, the availability and operation of sales and use tax exemptions and the procedures for claiming the exemptions vary among the states.

Entity-based exemptions. Sales made to entities that qualify for exemption in a state (for example, religious or charitable organizations and state and federal governmental agencies) are not subject to tax. Issues may arise with respect to contractors performing work for or on behalf of such exempt entities. In general, contractors must pay tax on items purchased in fulfilling a contract with an exempt entity. However, tax is generally not due if the contractor is acting as an agent for the entity in procuring items for the entity's own use.

Property-based exemptions. Many states deem certain specific items to be exempt from tax as a matter of policy. For example, several states do not tax food, clothing or medicine, or they provide for a reduced rate on such items. Certain states set thresholds for such items. For example, Massachusetts exempts clothing purchases up to USD175 per item.

Use-based exemptions. Items that otherwise are subject to the tax may be exempt based on their actual use by the purchaser. Most notably, items used in manufacturing, research and development and pollution control typically are eligible for exemption. In addition, many states provide specific exemptions for enumerated items purchased and used in designated enterprise and economic development zones in the state.

Transaction-based exemptions. The most common sales and use tax exemptions are based on the type of transaction involved. In the retail context, the "sale for resale" or "wholesale sale" exemption is most often claimed. The "occasional sale" exemption, also referred to as the "casual sale" or "isolated sale" exemption, typically applies in the context of business restructurings.

Sales for resale. To avoid multiple taxation, most states that impose a sales and use tax regime provide an exemption for wholesale sales. To claim this exemption, the purchaser must purchase the taxable items with the intention of reselling or leasing the items at retail. Any subsequent use by the purchaser of the items purchased under a resale exemption results in use tax becoming due. However, the seller is not required to collect such tax unless it knew at the time of sale that the purchaser intended to use the items.

Occasional sales. Sales that are rare or nonrecurring, such as the sale of the operating assets of a business division, qualify for exemption in most states. The theory underlying this exemption is that the sales tax is meant to apply to retail transactions only, and one-time sales are not sufficiently systematic to indicate that the seller is in the business of engaging in such transactions. In states that do not provide specific exemptions for business reorganizations (for example, incorporations, mergers and spin-offs), the occasional sale exemption may apply to limit the application of sales and use taxes to transfers of assets.

Temporary storage. Several states allow an exemption for property that is not used in the state, but is stored temporarily in the state and is intended for ultimate shipment outside of the state.

This exemption typically applies to items fabricated or produced in a state and to items purchased and warehoused in a state but intended for ultimate transport outside of the United States.

Claiming exemptions. The process for claiming any of the exemptions described above varies depending on the type of exemption claimed and the state or states involved. In most instances, to claim an exemption, purchasers must satisfy the following conditions:

- They must be registered in the state where they are claiming the exemption.
- They must provide the seller with a valid exemption certificate.

If the seller takes an exemption certificate in good faith (that is, the seller does not know of any reason why the exemption does not apply), the seller is relieved of any tax-collection requirement with respect to the transaction. “Good faith” standards are not uniform among the states. If a seller does not accept such certificate and if the seller is otherwise required to collect tax but does not do so, the seller may be personally liable for any tax due on the transaction. In several states, a seller must be registered for purposes of that state’s sales and use tax to be able to accept an exemption certificate in good faith. This requirement may present a challenge for non-US-based sellers because registration often requires that the seller first obtain a federal employer identification number. In recent years, several states have dramatically increased their scrutiny of the exemption certification process.

I. Local (substate)-level sales and use taxes

Local sales and use taxes are authorized in 37 states and in Puerto Rico. In most instances, the local sales and use tax base mirrors the state-level sales and use tax base. However, rates may differ significantly among the localities within a particular state. As indicated in Section B, a single address within a state may fall within multiple local taxing jurisdictions.

In most states, local sales and use taxes are administered at the state level. However, in a limited number of states, such as Louisiana, such taxes are administered by the locality imposing the tax, and separate registrations and filings may be required. Sellers that have nexus with a state are generally considered to have nexus with every locality within that state, regardless of whether they maintain any physical presence within a locality.

J. Registration, filing and compliance issues

Sellers that have nexus with a state (see Section D) must register with the state taxing agency for sales and use tax purposes. Registered sellers must collect and remit sales and use tax on all taxable transactions and maintain exemption certificates received from their customers. Sales and use tax returns are due on a monthly or quarterly basis, depending on the specific state’s laws. Sellers that do not make any taxable sales for a given period may be relieved from filing regular returns, or they may be required to file “zero” returns indicating that no taxable sales occurred.

K. Penalties

All states impose penalties for failure to file returns and pay taxes as required by law. Penalty rates vary among the states. With respect to cases not involving fraud, the penalties range from 5% to 25% of the tax due. In cases involving the failure to file or pay as a result of fraud, penalties can exceed USD50,000 and result in imprisonment for any officers deemed responsible for the willful failure.

Similarly, all states impose interest on tax determined to be due that was not paid. In general, interest is assessed from the due date for any tax determined to be payable until the date of payment. The interest rate charged varies among the states. In general, interest rates vary from 1% to more than 14%. Some states determine their interest rates based on the prime rate, plus some additional percentage. Other states set rates legislatively. Rates set legislatively change less frequently, while those tied to the prime rate generally change quarterly, semiannually or annually, depending on market conditions.

Uruguay

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Montevideo

GMT -3

EY

Avda. 18 de Julio 984
4th and 5th Floors
Palacio Brasil
P.O. Box 1303
11100 Montevideo
Uruguay

Indirect tax contact

Martha Roca

+598 (2) 902-3147, Ext. 108
martha.roca@uy.ey.com

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Value-added tax (VAT)
Local name	Impuesto al valor agregado (IVA)
Date introduced	29 December 1972
Trading bloc membership	Mercosur Member
Administered by	Directorate General of Taxes (http://www.dgi.gub.uy)
VAT rates
Standard	22%
Reduced	10%
Other	Zero-rated and exempt
VAT number format	Tax identification number (RUT), which contains 12 digits
VAT payments	Monthly
VAT return periods	Monthly (small VAT taxpayers, as determined by the VAT authorities, must file annually)
Thresholds
Registration	None
Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses	No

B. Scope of the tax

VAT applies to the following transactions:

- The supply of goods or services made in Uruguay by a taxable person
- The importation of goods from outside Uruguay, regardless of the status of the importer

C. Who is liable

A VAT taxpayer is any taxpayer for income tax purposes that makes taxable supplies of goods or services in the course of doing business in Uruguay. No registration threshold applies. The definition of a VAT taxpayer applies to a permanent establishment of a foreign business in Uruguay.

Group registration. VAT grouping is not allowed under the Uruguayan VAT law. Legal entities that are closely connected must register for VAT individually.

Non-established businesses and tax representatives. A “non-established business” is a business that does not have a fixed establishment in Uruguay. To register as a taxpayer, a non-established business must have an address in Uruguay and must appoint a tax representative to undertake its VAT obligations (such as filing returns).

Registration procedures. Two printed copies of Form 0351 should be submitted to the tax office. Additionally, Form 0352 (individuals) or 0353 (legal entities) may have to be submitted in order to register representatives. The registration should be done when operations would take place. If all documents are duly provided, the registration is finished on the same day the form is submitted. The corresponding representatives of the company submit the registration. The form should be signed by a person authorized by the company, but the submission to the tax office can be done by a third party. It is not possible to register online.

Late-registration penalties. Penalties and interest are assessed for late registration for VAT.

Reverse charge. In Uruguay the importer entity should pay VAT on the taxed goods, no matter if it is a local or foreign entity.

Digital economy. There are no specific rules on taxing the digital economy.

Deregistration. Deregistration is accomplished by submitting Form 0351, establishing that the entity is no longer a VAT payer.

D. VAT rates

The term “taxable supplies” refers to supplies of goods and services that are liable to VAT, including the zero rate.

The following VAT rates apply:

- Standard rate: 22%
- Reduced rate: 10%
- Zero rate: 0%

The standard rate applies to all supplies of goods or services, unless a specific measure provides for the zero rate, the reduced rate or an exemption.

Examples of goods and services taxable at 10%

- Basic foodstuffs
- Soap
- Medicines
- Services supplied by hotels in “high season”
- Tourist services
- Health services

Examples of goods and services taxable at 0%

- Exports of goods

The term “exempt supplies” refers to supplies of goods and services that are not liable to tax. Exempt supplies do not give rise to a right of input tax deduction (see Section F).

Examples of exempt supplies of goods and services

- Foreign currencies, securities, bonds, stocks and other financial transactions
- Milk
- Books, newspapers, magazines and educational material
- Water
- Services supplied by hotels in “low season”

Option to tax for exempt supplies. Not applicable.

E. Time of supply

The time when VAT becomes due is called the “time of supply” or “tax point.” The basic time of supply is either when the goods are transferred or when the services are performed. The invoice for the transaction must be issued at the time of supply.

Imported goods. The time of supply for imported goods is either the date of importation or the date on which the goods leave a duty suspension regime.

F. Recovery of VAT by taxable persons

A taxable person may recover input tax (or credit VAT), which is VAT charged on goods and services supplied to it for business purposes. A taxable person generally recovers input tax by deducting it from output tax (or debit VAT), which is VAT charged on supplies made.

Input tax includes VAT charged on goods and services supplied in Uruguay and VAT paid on imports of goods.

A valid tax invoice or customs document must generally accompany a claim for input tax credit.

Nondeductible input tax. Input tax may not be recovered on purchases of goods and services that are not used for making taxable supplies or for other business purposes (for example, goods acquired for private use by an entrepreneur). In addition, input tax may not be recovered for some items of business expenditure.

The following lists provide some examples of items of expenditure for which input tax is not deductible and examples of items for which input tax is deductible if the expenditure is related to a taxable business use.

Examples of items for which input tax is nondeductible

- Purchase of a car, van or truck by a professional
- Restaurant meals (unless within the limit established by law)

Examples of items for which input tax is deductible (if related to a taxable business use)

- Business gifts
- Purchase, lease or hire of cars, vans and trucks, except by professionals
- Advertising and sponsorship
- Parking
- Travel expenses
- Attendance at conferences and seminars
- Business use of home telephones and mobile telephones

Refunds. If the amount of input VAT (credit VAT) recoverable in a month exceeds the amount of output VAT (debit VAT) payable, the excess credit may be carried forward to offset output tax in the following tax period.

Partial exemption. There are no partial exemptions.

Preregistration costs. Before registration, some documents may have to be translated or notarized. Therefore, costs may vary depending on the company's situation. Submitting a form has an approximate cost of UYU123.

G. Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses

Uruguay does not refund VAT incurred by foreign businesses unless the foreign businesses have a permanent establishment in Uruguay.

H. Invoicing

VAT invoices and credit notes. A VAT taxpayer must generally provide a VAT invoice for all taxable supplies made, including exports. A separate invoice may not be issued for an amount of less than UYU80, but all sales made in amounts lower than UYU80 must be recorded together in a general invoice prepared at the end of each business day. A VAT invoice is necessary to support a claim for an input tax credit.

A VAT credit note may be used to reduce the VAT charged and reclaimed on a supply of goods and services. A credit note must contain the same information as a VAT invoice.

Exports. Uruguayan VAT is not chargeable on supplies of exported goods. However, to qualify as VAT-free, exports must be supported by customs documents confirming that the goods have left Uruguay.

Foreign-currency invoices. If an invoice is issued in a foreign currency, the amounts may be converted to Uruguayan pesos using the buyer exchange rate used between banks on the day before the transaction.

I. VAT returns and payment

VAT returns. VAT returns are generally submitted monthly. "Small VAT taxpayers" must submit returns annually. The tax authorities decide which businesses qualify as "small VAT taxpayers." However, all VAT taxpayers must make VAT payments monthly.

Monthly VAT returns and payments are due in the month following the month in which the transactions are reported. The exact date for payment depends on the taxpayer's registration number (RUT).

Small VAT taxpayers must file annual tax returns in the second month following the end of the taxpayer's fiscal year. For example, if a small VAT taxpayer closes its fiscal year in December, its annual VAT return is due in February. The exact date for payment depends on the taxpayer's registration number.

VAT return liabilities must be paid in Uruguayan pesos.

J. Penalties

A penalty of 5%, 10% or 20% is imposed for late submission of the VAT return or late payment of VAT. The penalty rate depends on the date of payment. In addition, interest is charged on late payments of tax at a rate that varies.

Penalties for severe cases of non-payment of VAT, infringement of VAT regulations and fraud include criminal sanctions, such as fines and imprisonment.

Venezuela

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Caracas

GMT -4½

Mendoza, Delgado, Labrador & Asociados

Avenida Francisco de Miranda
Centro Lido, Torre A, Piso 13
Caracas 1060
Venezuela

Indirect tax contacts

José Antonio Velazquez	+58 (212) 905-6621 jose.a.velazquez@ve.ey.com
Ivette Jimenez	+58 (212) 905-6753 ivette.jimenez@ve.ey.com
Alaska Moscato	+58 (212) 905-6708 alaska.moscato@ve.ey.com

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Value-added tax (VAT)
Local name	Impuesto al valor agregado (IVA)
Date introduced	1 October 1993
Trading bloc membership	Mercosur Member
Administered by	Ministry of Finance http://www.mefbp.gob.ve/ Tax Administration (SENIAT) (http://www.seniata.gob.ve/)
VAT rates
Standard	12%
Other	Maximum 16.5%, minimum 8%, additional 10%, zero-rated and exempt
VAT number format	Not applicable
VAT return periods	Monthly
Thresholds
Registration	None
Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses	No

B. Scope of the tax

VAT applies to the following transactions:

- The sale of tangible movable goods
- The final importation of goods
- The export of goods and services
- The provision of independent services performed or used in the country, including those coming from abroad

The definition of “services” includes the following activities:

- Any independent activity in which an obligation “to do something” is a principal element
- The provision of water, electricity, telephone and garbage collection services

- Civil works contracts, including personal and real property
- The lease of personal and real property intended to be used for purposes other than residential use
- The assignment of use of rights included in and regulated by the laws on industrial property (patents and marks) and intellectual property (copyrights), for valuable consideration

C. Who is liable

Taxable persons are ordinary taxpayers such as habitual importers of goods, manufacturers, traders, service providers, and, in general, individuals or legal entities that as part of their business activities carry out activities classified as taxable for VAT purposes.

Financial leasing companies and banks are ordinary VAT taxpayers with respect to the portion of the tax payable on the amortization of the price of tangible movable property, excluding interest.

Recipients of imported goods and services purchased from nondomiciled persons or entities are responsible for the tax due. As the “party responsible for the tax,” the service recipient must declare and pay the VAT due on the imported goods or services. The tax paid by the recipient is treated as input tax for the responsible party and must be included in the tax return corresponding to the tax period in which the taxable event occurs.

Occasional taxpayers are non-habitual importers of tangible movable property.

Formal taxpayers are persons that exclusively carry out activities or operations that are exempt or exonerated from VAT.

Withholding of VAT. The SENIAT has designated taxpayers qualified as “special taxpayers” as the persons responsible for the payment of VAT in their capacity as withholding agents. Special taxpayers must serve as withholding agents of the VAT generated by the purchase of personal property or the provision of services provided by suppliers who are ordinary taxpayers.

The amount to be withheld is calculated by multiplying the price invoiced for the goods or services provided by 75% of the proportional tax rate (currently 12%). As a result, the effective withholding rate is 9%.

The VAT withheld is treated as an advance payment for the supplier and may be deducted from the tax liability in the period in which the withholding is made or in the period in which the withholding receipt was received, whichever is later.

If the tax withheld is higher than the VAT proportional rate in the relevant monthly period, the excess tax paid may be carried forward to the following monthly periods until it has been deducted in full. If three monthly periods expire and the excess has not yet been deducted, the taxpayer may choose to request a refund of the amount from the tax authorities.

If the withholding is made in the period from the 1st to the 15th day of the month, the tax withheld must be submitted by the withholding agent to the national treasury within the following five working days. If the withholding is made from the 16th to the last day of the month, the tax withheld must be paid to the national treasury within the first five working days of the following month. For taxpayers who have been qualified by the SENIAT as “special taxpayers,” a different due date applies in accordance with the calendar issued by the SENIAT.

Group registration. Not available.

Non-established businesses. Late-registration penalties. A fine of 25 tax units will be increased in increments of 25 tax units for each new infraction, up to a maximum of 100 tax units.

Tax representatives. Part of the required process for becoming a VAT-registered entity is to appoint a tax representative.

Reverse charge. As a result of the “reverse-charge mechanism,” the obligation to self-assess the VAT is switched to the recipient of the service. The law states the tax is self-assessed by the recipient “responsible” and “on behalf of the provider,” but the VAT input belongs to the recipient (the Venezuelan entity).

Registration procedures. Individuals, corporations and entities, domiciled or not domiciled in the country, that conduct business in Venezuela are required to obtain a taxpayer identification number (RIF). Registration can be submitted online. Having a taxpayer identification number (RIF) is not a per se condition for being considered a taxpayer.

Late-registration penalties. A fine of 25 tax units will be increased in increments of 25 tax units for each new infraction, up to a maximum of 100 tax units.

Digital economy. There are no specific rules for the digital economy.

Deregistration. This occurs upon notification to the tax administration.

D. VAT rates

The VAT law provides that the proportional rate is fixed in Venezuela’s annual budget law. The VAT law indicates that the minimum rate is 8% and the maximum rate is 16.5%. Currently, the VAT rate is 12%. This rate applies to all supplies of goods and services, unless a specific measure provides for a different rate.

An additional 10% rate applies to the sale, import and export of certain goods specified in the VAT law. The additional 10% rate applies to, among others, the following supplies:

- Helicopters and airplanes for recreational use
- Jewelry worth USD500 or more
- Gaming machines that use coins or cards
- Caviar

The VAT law also provides a zero rate (0%) for the export of tangible personal property and tangible movable property, and the export of services.

Exempt goods and services are not liable to tax. The Venezuelan VAT law provides for the exemption and exoneration from VAT. Exemption is the entire or partial exemption of the payment of the tax obligation, granted by the special tax law. Exoneration is the entire or partial exemption of the payment of the VAT obligation, granted by the Executive Power.

Examples of exempt supplies of goods and services

- Food and goods for personal consumption such as bread, rice, salt, sugar, coffee, milk, pasta, and margarine
- Books, newspapers and magazines
- Education provided by institutions registered in the Ministry of Education, Culture and Sports and the Ministry of Superior Education
- Public transportation of passengers by land or sea
- Tickets to national parks, museums and cultural centers
- Banking and insurance services
- Imports made by diplomatic agents, in accordance with international treaties subscribed to by Venezuela
- Medical assistance services
- Residential electricity
- Fertilizers

Option to tax for exempt supplies. Not available.

E. Time of supply

VAT generally becomes due when the taxable event occurs.

Tangible property. For sales of tangible personal or tangible movable property the following is the time of supply:

- For sales to public entities: when the payment order is authorized
- For all other sales: when the invoice or the necessary documents are issued, or when the payment is due or made, whichever is earlier

Services. For supplies of services, the following is the time of supply:

- For supplies of electricity, telecommunications, and broadcasting and television services: when the invoice is issued
- For services rendered to public entities: when the payment order is authorized
- For other services: when the invoice or equivalent document is issued, when the payment occurs or when the service is provided, whichever is earlier
- For services received from abroad that are not subject to customs procedures: when the invoice or equivalent documents are issued, when the payment occurs or when the service is provided, whichever is earlier

Imports. The time of supply for imports is when the registration of the customs return is due.

Other supplies. For all other supplies not listed above, the time of supply is when the invoice or equivalent document is issued, when payment is made or when the property is received, whichever is earlier.

F. Recovery of VAT by taxable persons

Input tax (tax credit) is tax paid on supplies of goods and services acquired in the course of a taxable business activity. Input tax is deducted from the amount of output tax, which is the tax charged on the taxpayer's operations during the tax period. Input tax credit arises from the tax paid on the purchase and import of personal property or the receipt of services that are related to costs or expenses properly incurred in the habitual economic activity of the taxpayer. Under the VAT law, input tax is considered to be effectively paid by the recipient of the goods or services when the taxable event occurs.

If the input VAT is higher than the output VAT in the relevant monthly period, the difference may be carried forward to the following monthly periods until it has been fully deducted.

Tax credits. If the amount of the deductible input tax is greater than the total tax payable in a monthly period, the resulting difference is treated as a tax credit in favor of the taxpayer, which may be carried forward to the next or subsequent monthly tax periods.

The right to offset tax paid (tax credit) against the tax payable on sales (tax debit) is a personal right of each ordinary taxpayer. This right may not be transferred to third parties, except in the following cases:

- Drawback of tax credits related to the purchase and acquisition of goods and services in the normal course of export activities (see Drawback of tax credits for exporters).
- Merger or absorption of companies. In a merger, the resulting company enjoys the remaining balance of the tax credit that corresponded to the merged companies.

Drawback of tax credits for exporters. Ordinary taxpayers that export domestic goods or services are entitled to a drawback of the tax credits paid for the acquisition and receipt of goods and services with respect to their export activities.

Application for drawback. To obtain the drawback of credits, the exporter must file an application with the SENIAT, stating the amount of the tax credit claimed. The SENIAT must give its opinion on the admissibility of the application within 30 business days. If the SENIAT does not express its opinion with respect to the application in the period of 30 business days, the taxpayer may choose to wait for the decision or consider the expiration of the period to be equivalent to the rejection of the application. In the latter case, the taxpayer may take the appropriate judicial action.

The drawback becomes effective on the issuance of special tax drawback certificates (Certificados Especiales de Reintegro Tributario, or CERT), with a face value equal to the amount approved by the SENIAT with respect to the claim. The exporter may use this amount to offset its own tax payments due to the National Treasury or it may transfer the credit to third parties.

Suspension of tax credits. A taxpayer that is involved with the development of an industrial project that takes more than six tax periods to be developed may suspend the use of the tax credits generated during the preoperational stage of the project. The taxpayer may use domestic and imported capital goods and purchase services that add value to the goods or that are necessary for the goods to perform the function for which they are designed, until the tax period in which they begin to generate taxable income. The tax credits are adjusted taking into account the consumer price index for the Caracas metropolitan area published by the Central Bank of Venezuela, from the period when the tax credits arose until the tax period in which the first tax payment is generated.

With the approval of the SENIAT, taxpayers that are involved in industrial projects aimed essentially towards exporting or generating foreign currency may choose to be refunded the tax paid during the preoperational stage.

Recovery of tax credits for special taxpayer: In the case where the withheld tax is higher than the tax quota of the respective tax period, the surplus that has not been discounted can be carried forward to the next tax period or the following ones, until its total discount. If after three tax periods there is a surplus that has not been discounted, the taxpayer can request the full or partial recovery of the accrued amount.

Recovery of tax credits for exporters: Taxpayers that carry out export activities related to goods or services of national production are entitled to recover the tax credits supported by the acquisition and reception of goods and services for their export activities.

Recovery of tax credits for oil industry: Mixed companies (empresas mixtas) that carry out activities related to oil and gas. For the sale of natural hydrocarbons sold in the country to Petroleos de Venezuela, S.A. or its subsidiaries.

Nondeductible input tax. Input tax may not be recovered on purchases of goods and services that are not used for making taxable supplies or for other business purposes (for example, goods acquired for private use by an entrepreneur). In addition, input tax may not be recovered if no documentation supports the transaction or if one or more formal invoice requirements are not fulfilled.

Partial exemption. There are no partial exemptions. Exonerations are temporary and can last up to five years.

Refunds. Not applicable.

Preregistration costs. Not applicable.

G. Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses

There is no procedure for the recovery of the VAT for non-established businesses.

H. Invoicing

VAT invoices. Taxpayers must provide VAT invoices for all sales of goods and supplies of services. Invoices may be replaced by other documents authorized by the SENIAT after such authorization is granted.

Foreign-currency invoices. Under Venezuelan law, if a VAT invoice is issued in foreign currency, it must also indicate the value of the supply in bolivars (VEF), using the exchange rate published by the Venezuelan Central Bank in the Official Gazette for the date of the transaction.

Administrative Order 00071, which contains general guidelines for issuing invoices and similar documents for VAT, was issued by the SENIAT and published in Official Gazette No. 39,795, dated 8 November 2011.

I. VAT returns and payment

VAT return. The tax is assessed for monthly tax periods. The tax return and payment of any tax due must be submitted within the first 15 days following the tax period. It should be filed online.

Special schemes. The taxpayers qualified as “special” as withholding agents of VAT will act as withholding agents for the VAT invoiced by their suppliers of goods or services.

Electronic filing and archiving. Electronic filing applies in all cases.

Annual returns. No annual returns are required.

J. Penalties

Penalties apply to a range of VAT offenses. The master tax code provides that the following offenses, among others, are formal breaches of the VAT law:

- Failure to file the VAT declaration
- Incomplete filing of the VAT declaration
- Filing of the declaration in a form not authorized by the SENIAT
- Failure to exhibit accounting books when ordered to by the SENIAT
- Providing the SENIAT with false information
- Breaching the SENIAT’s requirements for purchases and sales books
- Failure to issue invoices or required documents
- Issuing invoices that do not comply with tax requirements

The master tax code provides that the following offenses, among others, are “material breaches” of the VAT law:

- Late payment or nonpayment of VAT due
- Failure to withhold VAT

These breaches are penalized through fines.

The penalty for tax fraud is a term of imprisonment, ranging from six months to seven years.

Vietnam

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Hanoi

GMT +7

EY

Corner Stone Building
8th Floor
16 Phan Chu Trinh Street
Hoan Kiem District
Hanoi
Vietnam

Indirect tax contacts

Trang Pham	+84 (4) 3831-5100 trang.pham@vn.ey.com
The Gia Tran	+84 (4) 3831-5100 the.gia.tran@vn.ey.com

Ho Chi Minh City

GMT +7

EY

Bitexco Financial Tower
28th Floor
2 Hai Trieu Street
District 1
Ho Chi Minh City
Vietnam

Indirect tax contacts

Christopher Butler	+84 (8) 3824-5252 christopher.butler@vn.ey.com
Nhung Tran	+84 (8) 3824-5252 nhung.tran@vn.ey.com
Tho Van Tran	+84 (8) 3824-5252 tho.van.tran@vn.ey.com

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Value-added tax (VAT)
Date introduced	1 January 1999
Trading bloc membership	None
Administered by	Ministry of Finance (http://www.mof.gov.vn)
VAT rates
Standard	10%
Reduced	5%
Other	Zero-rated and exempt
VAT number format	9999999 (7 digits)
VAT return periods	Monthly or quarterly
Thresholds
Registration	None (see Section C)
Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses	No (except under certain circumstances)

B. Scope of the tax

VAT applies to goods and services used for production, business and consumption in Vietnam, including goods and services purchased from foreign suppliers, except for those specifically identified as not subject to VAT.

C. Who is liable

Organizations and individuals that produce and trade in taxable goods and services in Vietnam or who import taxable goods and services from overseas (referred to in this chapter as “businesses”) are liable to pay VAT. Businesses for these purposes include the following:

- Business organizations with a business registration issued under Vietnamese laws
- Economic organizations of political, social, and professional organizations and units of the people’s armed forces
- Enterprises with foreign-owned capital incorporated under Vietnamese laws and foreign corporations and individuals conducting business in Vietnam that have not established a legal entity in Vietnam
- Individuals, family households, partnerships and other forms of businesses conducting production, trading or import activities in Vietnam
- Organizations and individuals conducting production and business in Vietnam and purchasing services (including services attached to goods) from foreign organizations without a permanent establishment in Vietnam or foreign individuals who are nonresidents of Vietnam

Registration. Newly established businesses must register for tax purposes within 10 working days from the date on which their investment certificates are issued. Other businesses must register for tax purposes within 10 working days from the date on which they become eligible for tax refunds. Each office, factory, branch or outlet must also be registered with and pay VAT to the local tax office where it is located, except for certain cases in which the head office can declare and pay VAT.

No VAT registration threshold applies, and no exemption from registration is provided.

Foreign contractors that have a permanent establishment in Vietnam, that conduct business in Vietnam for more than 183 days and that adopt the Vietnamese Accounting Standards/Hybrid Method (VAS/Hybrid Method) pay VAT in accordance with the tax credit method and pay their tax liabilities directly to the tax office. Otherwise, they must pay VAT on a withholding basis.

VAT applies to imported goods through a reverse-charge mechanism. VAT is payable by the importer within the same time limit for declaring and paying import duty.

If services are supplied by nonresidents, VAT is payable only through the withholding mechanism.

Group registration. Not applicable.

Non-established businesses (foreign contractors). The tax authority will issue the tax code for each foreign contractor (FC) if they registered directly with the tax authority. Otherwise, the Vietnamese party will be responsible for registering and declaring the tax liability of each FC on their behalf.

Tax representatives. Not applicable.

Reverse charge. Not applicable.

Digital economy. Not applicable.

Registration procedures. Within 10 days from the issuance date of an investment certificate, the taxpayer needs to apply for a tax code. This registration requires the regulated form (i.e., Form 01-DK-TCT) and a copy of the investment certificate. Within three days of receiving the sufficient dossier, the tax authority will issue the tax code for the taxpayer. Currently, there is no process for registering for a tax code online.

Late-registration penalties. Failure to comply with registration requirements may result in a fine. The penalty for late registration ranges from VND400,000 to VND2 million, depending on the length of the delay.

Deregistration. When the organization/individuals end their business in Vietnam, they need to proceed with the closure of the tax code after clearance of current tax liabilities (Article 14, Item 3, Section II, Circular 80).

D. VAT rates

The following are the VAT rates in Vietnam:

- Standard rate: 10%
- Reduced rate: 5%
- Zero rate (0%)

The standard rate of 10% applies to goods and services that are not specifically included in the list of goods and services subject to the 0% or 5% rates or the list of exempt goods.

The 5% rate applies to the supply of essential goods and services.

Examples of items taxable at 5% rate

- Water
- Medicine and medical equipment
- Teaching tools
- Agricultural products
- Residential housing for sale or lease

The zero rate applies to exported goods and services, including outbound telecommunications and postal services, transfer of technologies abroad, transfer of intellectual property rights abroad, reinsurance abroad, credit services, capital transfer, derivative financial services, minerals and other unprocessed natural resources.

In certain cases, tax declaration and payment are not required.

Examples of cases where tax declaration and payment are not required

- Goods and services supplied outside Vietnam by Vietnamese taxpayers
- Compensation and bonuses
- Services provided by foreign organizations that do not have a permanent establishment in Vietnam

- Assets sold by nonbusiness individuals or organizations
- Assets used for capital contributions

Some goods and services are exempt from VAT, which generally means the supplier has no right to deduct input tax.

Examples of exempt supplies of goods and services

- Raw agricultural products
- Livestock
- Aircraft, oil rigs and ships that are not yet locally produced and that are leased from overseas
- Land-use rights
- Credit activities, credit guarantees, financial leases and financial derivative services
- Capital transfers
- Securities transfers
- Life insurance services
- Medical services
- Education and vocational training
- Publication of newspapers, magazines and certain kinds of books
- Public transportation by bus and electric car
- Reinsurance services
- Technology transfers
- Public sewage services
- Foreign-currency trading
- Debt transfers
- Credit card issuance
- Factoring
- Fertilizers

Option to tax for exempt supplies. Not applicable.

Foreign contractors. Foreign contractors that supply goods and services to Vietnam are subject to the following deemed VAT rates:

- Trading goods (separate value from service in the contract): exempt
- Services (except for petroleum drilling services), leasing machinery and equipment, and insurance: 5%
- Petroleum drilling services: 7%
- Construction and installation with supply of materials and equipment: 3%
- Construction and installation without supply of materials and equipment, or if supply of materials and equipment is subcontracted: 5%
- Supply of machinery and equipment with installation, training, operation and trial operation services, if the value of each activity is not calculated separately in the contract: 3%
- Transport, production and other business: 3%

VAT is withheld at source by the Vietnamese party to the contract, unless the foreign contractor has registered for tax.

E. Time of supply

For goods, the time of supply for VAT purposes (the tax point) is when the ownership or use rights of the goods are transferred. For services, the tax point is when the service is completely performed or when the invoice for the service is issued, regardless in both cases of whether the purchaser makes payment.

Installment sales. For installment sales, VAT becomes due when the purchaser possesses the right to use the goods.

Imported goods. For imported goods, VAT becomes due at the time of registration of the customs declarations.

F. Recovery of VAT by registered persons

Businesses may claim input VAT paid on goods or services used for the production or trading of goods or services that are subject to VAT. Businesses recover input tax by offsetting it against output tax (VAT on sales).

To be entitled to VAT credit, a document evidencing payment made through a bank is required except for the case where the purchase value is less than VND20 million.

In general, a valid tax invoice must be retained to support claims for input tax credits. The tax invoice must state the pretax price, the VAT and the total amount payable.

The basis for determining the amount of deductible input VAT is the amount of VAT stated on the following:

- Valid tax invoice for the goods or services
- Documentation evidencing VAT payment at the stage of importation
- Documentation evidencing VAT payment on behalf of a foreign party

If a business establishment discovers that it has not deducted an amount of VAT in its declaration because the tax invoice or receipt of the tax payment was omitted, it may make an additional declaration requesting the credit. However, any additional VAT credit declaration must be made before the tax authority issues a decision about any tax inspections carried out at the premises.

Nondeductible input tax. Businesses may not claim input VAT paid on goods or services used for producing or trading non-taxable goods or services. They also cannot claim the input VAT of the unrelated expenses or incorrect payment method as regulations.

Examples of items for which input tax is nondeductible

- Food and beverage expenses for employees (i.e., snack, soft drink, moon cake, etc.)
- House rental fee for employees (signed labor contracts with the company)
- Personal expenses of employees (company has paid for employees' benefits)
- Expenses paid in cash with the value of more than VND20 million

Examples of items for which input tax is deductible (if related to a taxable business use)

- Expenses paid for raw materials, offices supplies, transportation, etc.

Partial exemption. Businesses that produce or trade taxable and non-taxable goods or services must maintain separate accounts for input tax paid on goods or services used for taxable and non-taxable goods or services. If no separate accounts are maintained, the deductible input VAT is calculated using a ratio based on the proportion of taxable turnover compared with total turnover.

Refunds. Businesses that pay VAT using the tax credit method are eligible for a refund of VAT in the following circumstances:

- For at least 12 consecutive months or four consecutive quarters, a business has accumulated input VAT that has not been credited against output tax. The refund is granted for each claim.
- The business exports goods and services during a month or quarter and has a credit balance of input VAT of at least VND200 million at the end of that month. The refund is granted monthly or quarterly.
- An incorporated establishment is entitled to a refund if it is in the investment stage of a new project and if it has accumulated input VAT of at least VND300 million that has not been credited against output VAT of its operating businesses.
- The business establishment that uses the deduction method shall receive a refund of the surplus VAT or the VAT that is not completely deducted when there is a change of ownership, or when the enterprise is converted, merged, amalgamated, divided, dissolved, bankrupt or shut down.
- Foreigners and Vietnamese people residing abroad who have passports or entry papers issued by foreign competent authorities shall receive refunds of VAT paid on goods purchased in Vietnam and taken abroad.
- VAT will be refunded when paid by programs/projects using nonrefundable ODA, nonrefundable aid or humanitarian aid.
- A taxpayer eligible for diplomatic immunity who purchases goods and services in Vietnam shall receive a refund of the VAT stated on the VAT invoice or the receipt that indicates the VAT-inclusive price.
- Refunds will be paid when a business establishment receives a decision on VAT refunds from the competent authorities and when VAT refunds are due according to international agreements to which the Socialist Republic of Vietnam is a signatory.

An application for a refund must be submitted to the tax authority (that is, to the tax department or to the general tax department in some special cases).

The notice detailing the outcome of the tax refund application shall be sent to the applicant within 6 working days (in the case of refund before examination) or within 40 working days (in the case of examination before refund).

Preregistration costs. Not applicable.

G. Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses

A VAT refund is allowed only for businesses using the tax credit method. A foreign contractor that has no legal presence in Vietnam but conducts business or derives income from activities in Vietnam may recover VAT if it adopts the VAS/Hybrid Method and it satisfies certain bookkeeping and tax registration requirements. To be eligible for VAT recovery, a foreign contractor must meet all of the following conditions:

- It has a permanent establishment in Vietnam or is a resident of Vietnam
- It conducts business in Vietnam under the contractor's or subcontractor's contract for 183 days or more beginning on the date on which the contract takes effect
- It adopts the VAS/Hybrid Method

Foreign contractors that do not apply the VAS/Hybrid Method may not recover input VAT unless a specific international agreement entered into by Vietnam provides otherwise.

H. Invoicing

Invoices and credit notes. A taxable person must provide an invoice for all taxable supplies made, including exports. There are the four categories of invoices:

- Invoices of exports for exporting transactions (i.e., the commercial invoice is required instead of VAT invoice)
- VAT invoices for domestic transactions of taxpayers applying the tax credit method
- Sales invoices for domestic transactions of taxpayers applying the direct method
- Others, including receipts, tickets and other vouchers

The invoices can be presented in the following three forms:

- Self-printed invoice: wholly printed by the taxpayer's printers
- Invoice printed by order: produced by printing house by order of taxpayer or tax authorities for provision or sale to taxpayer
- Electronic invoice: must be created, issued and processed on computers of issuer under the law on e-transactions

Business entities can use different forms of invoices. However, the use of electronic invoices is encouraged.

The tax authorities may sell only blank invoices to a few specified persons such as nonbusiness organizations, individuals and households that generate sale revenue.

A valid invoice is necessary to support a claim for input tax deduction.

Export documentation. Exports of goods and services are zero-rated. Proof of export is required. The required documents to claim a refund of input VAT include contracts for the sale of goods, legitimate invoices, customs declarations and proof of payment through a bank by foreign parties.

Foreign-currency invoices. If an invoice is issued in a foreign currency, all values that are required on the invoice must be converted into Vietnamese dong, using an acceptable exchange rate.

Electronic invoices. An e-invoice is legally valid when it satisfies the following conditions:

- The criteria for evaluating the information integrity of an e-invoice are its completeness and intactness, with exceptions made for changes in appearance arising from the exchange, storage or display of an e-invoice.
- The information contained in an e-invoice can be accessed and used in complete form when necessary.

I. VAT returns and payment

Returns and payment. Businesses are generally required to file a monthly tax return and remit the monthly VAT payable to the tax office by the 20th day of the following month. Exceptions are taxpayers that make quarterly declarations (permitted for businesses whose revenue in the previous year is VND20 billion or lower), ad hoc declarations or presumptive declarations.

Any excess input VAT paid may be credited in the following period or refunded if the business is eligible for a refund (see Section F).

A business that imports goods subject to VAT must file a customs declaration and remit VAT payable on each occasion when goods are imported. The time limit for notices and payments of VAT with respect to imported goods is the same as the time limit applicable to notices and payments of import duties.

VAT liabilities must be paid in Vietnamese dong.

Special schemes. Not applicable.

Electronic filing and archiving. A taxpayer doing business in a locality with online access shall make declaration, pay tax and make transactions with the tax authority as prescribed by the laws on electronic transactions. Different online systems (i.e., both online and offline software such as Tax Online, iHTKK) have been deployed across Vietnam to facilitate electronic filing.

Annual returns. Not applicable.

J. Penalties

Interest is imposed for late payment of VAT at the progressive rate of 0.05% per day, if paid within 90 days and 0.07%, if paid after 90 days.

Penalties may also apply to a range of other offenses, including late tax registration and filing, making false statements and obstructing a VAT officer. In some cases, penalties may include imprisonment for offenses committed knowingly or recklessly.

Zambia

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Lusaka GMT +2

EY
Mail address:
P.O. Box 37237
Lusaka
Zambia

Street address:
Trinity Office Park
Stand No. 16806/
Alick Nkhata Road
Lusaka
Zambia

Indirect tax contacts

Henry C. Nondo	+260 (211) 378307 henry.c.nondo@zm.ey.com
Nelson Mwila	+260 (211) 378311 nelson.h.mwila@zm.ey.com
Samuel Kabanga	+260 (211) 378312 sam.kabanga@zm.ey.com

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Value-added tax (VAT)
Date introduced	July 1995
Trading bloc membership	Common Market for Eastern and Southern Africa Member, Southern African Development Community Member
Member of the Southern African Customs Union	No
Administered by	Zambia Revenue Authority (www.zra.org.zm)
VAT rates
Standard	16%
Other	Zero-rated and exempt
VAT number format	Tax payer identification number (TPIN)
VAT return periods	Monthly
Thresholds
Registration	ZMW800,000 in any 12 consecutive months ZMW200,000 in any three consecutive months
Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses	Yes (limited to exports)

B. Scope of the tax

VAT applies to the following transactions:

- Supply of goods and services in Zambia by a taxable person
- Reverse-charge services received by a taxable person in Zambia
- Importation of goods from outside Zambia, regardless of the status of the importer

C. Who is liable

Any person who makes supplies of taxable goods and services in Zambia in the course of a business is liable to register for VAT if the person's turnover exceeds either of the following thresholds:

- Turnover of ZMW800,000 in any 12 consecutive months
- Turnover of ZMW200,000 in any three consecutive months

Group registration. Group VAT registration is available for corporate bodies. The businesses must be broadly similar in nature and must be administered by the same management team.

Non-established businesses. A "non-established business" is a business that does not have a fixed establishment in Zambia. A foreign company may not register for Zambian VAT unless it has a place of business in the country. It must also make taxable supplies of goods or services.

A foreign business that makes supplies in Zambia must appoint a representative who is responsible for registration for and payment of VAT. If an agent is not appointed, the non-established business may not deduct input tax (see Section F).

Reverse-charge services. A reverse charge may apply for services received by a taxable person in Zambia from a non-established service provider. The Zambian VAT law requires that a taxable person must act on behalf of a non-established supplier of services with respect to matters relating to tax, in the following circumstances:

- The supplier is a company that does not have a business establishment in Zambia.
- The supplier is an individual or partner in a partnership that does not have a usual place of residence in Zambia from which to appoint a person resident in Zambia as a tax agent.

If a tax agent is appointed, the agent invoices the recipient of the services for the VAT payable, collects the tax and accounts for it to the tax authorities. The recipient of the services may claim input tax relief on the basis of the invoice issued by the tax agent (see Section F).

If no tax agent is appointed, the recipient of the service must self-assess for the VAT due and declare the output tax as if it were the supplier. However, in this case, no input tax relief may be claimed.

Tax representatives. The client is responsible to provide invoices for a particular tax period for the return. The representative calculates the tax due for the tax period and submits to the client for approval before filing electronically.

Registration procedures. Businesses are required to apply for VAT registration if they deal in taxable goods and services, and their turnover exceeds registration threshold of ZMW800,000 per annum.

Businesses apply by filing a prescribed ZRA application form. The following documents must be attached:

- Sketch of map of location
- Bank statements covering a period of three months
- Business plan
- Certificate of registration or incorporation

- Evidence records like cash book, purchase daybook, sales daybook, invoice books, a set of accounts and confirmed orders/signed contracts for existing business.

Businesses whose turnover does not meet the statutory threshold may register for VAT voluntarily.

Late-registration penalties. Late registration by traders who are subject to the turnover threshold is liable to a penalty.

Digital economy. Not applicable.

Deregistration. Suppliers whose turnover falls below the registration threshold for VAT are allowed to deregister after the end of the relevant accounting year. The client is required to notify the Commissioner-General in writing through Form VAT 99. To complete any deregistration, the client is required to ensure that there are no tax obligations on that particular account.

D. VAT rates

The term “taxable supplies” refers to supplies of goods and services that are liable to a rate of VAT, including the zero rate.

In Zambia, the VAT rates are the standard rate at 16% and the zero rate (0%). The standard rate of VAT applies to all supplies of goods or services, unless a specific measure provides for the zero rate or an exemption.

Examples of goods and services taxable at 0%

- Exports of goods
- Books and newspapers
- Foreign aid donations
- Medical supplies and drugs
- Bread and wheat

The term “exempt supplies” refers to supplies of goods and services that are not liable to tax. Persons that make exempt supplies are not entitled to input tax deduction (see Section F).

Examples of exempt supplies of goods and services

- Health and educational services
- Supply of water and sewerage services
- Most public transport services
- Real estate transactions
- Financial services (effective from 1 January 2011, fee-based banking services are subject to VAT at the standard rate)
- Insurance services (effective from 1 January 2011, property insurance and casualty insurance are subject to VAT at the standard rate)
- Basic foods
- Agricultural supplies

Option to tax for exempt supplies. Not applicable.

E. Time of supply

The time when VAT becomes due is called the “time of supply” or “tax point.” In Zambia, the tax point is when the earliest of the following events occurs:

- Goods are removed from the supplier’s premises.
- Goods are made available to the purchaser.

- Payment for the supply is received.
- A tax invoice is issued.

Imports. The time of the supply for imported goods is either the date of importation or the date on which the goods leave a duty suspension regime.

F. Recovery of VAT by taxable persons

A taxable person may recover input tax, which is VAT charged on goods and services supplied to it for business purposes. Input tax is claimed by deducting it from output tax, which is VAT charged on supplies made.

Input tax includes VAT charged on goods and services purchased in Zambia and VAT paid on imports of goods and services.

Nondeductible input tax. VAT may not be recovered on purchases of goods and services that are not used for business purposes (for example, goods acquired for private use by an entrepreneur). In addition, input tax may not be recovered on certain business expenses.

The following lists provide some examples of items of expenditure for which input tax is not deductible and examples of items for which input tax is deductible if the expenditure is for purposes of making a taxable supply.

Examples of items for which input tax is nondeductible

- Purchase and hire of passenger cars
- Business gifts valued at more than ZMW100
- Office, home and mobile telephone service
- Business entertainment
- Fuel for passenger vehicles
- Petrol (recovery restricted to 20%)

Examples of items for which input tax is deductible (if related to a taxable business use)

- Purchase, hire and maintenance of commercial motor vehicles
- Business gifts valued at less than ZMW100
- Mobile telephone handsets
- Hotel accommodations
- Utilities
- Educational material

Partial exemption. VAT directly related to making exempt supplies is not recoverable. A registered person who makes both exempt and taxable supplies may not recover VAT tax in full. This situation is referred to as “partial exemption.” In Zambia, if a taxable person supplies both taxable and exempt goods and services, the amount of input tax recoverable is calculated using a simple pro-rata method based on the value of taxable and exempt supplies made.

Refunds. If the amount of input tax in a period exceeds the amount of output tax due, a taxable person may request a VAT refund. VAT refunds are generally paid within three months. However, no interest is payable if the refund is paid late.

Preregistration costs. Businesses registered within one month after becoming liable to register are eligible to claim input tax incurred three months prior to registration.

G. Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses

Zambia does not generally refund VAT incurred by a foreign business unless it is registered for VAT there. However, a refund scheme allows a VAT refund to be paid to a non-established business that purchases goods from a Zambian VAT-registered supplier for onward export.

The refund scheme applies to foreign passport holders that are on a business visit to Zambia. The scheme applies only to commercial export consignments that do not otherwise qualify for VAT zero rating. The refund is restricted to VAT paid on goods supplied by a participating supplier. VAT incurred on other expenditure in Zambia is not recoverable using this scheme.

Refund application. The foreign exporter pays the full VAT amount on the export consignment to a participating supplier at the time of purchase. The first time that the scheme is used, the participating supplier must issue a commercial export tax invoice (Form VAT 283) and a commercial export authorization (Form VAT 284). For subsequent exports, the supplier need only issue Form VAT 283. The exporter must declare the goods to Customs at the port of exit from Zambia, and, at the same time, submit Forms VAT 283 and VAT 284 for verification and certification.

Customs officials at the port of exit retain copies of Forms VAT 283 and VAT 284 for first exports and subsequently dispatch them to the Zambia Revenue Authority for processing. The exporter may retain a certified copy of the forms for its records.

After the refund has been processed, the amount is sent to the exporter's destination address or an authorized representative may collect the refund in Lusaka. The exporter must indicate an authorized representative on Form VAT 284.

To qualify for this scheme, the export should be sent through the following designated exit points from Zambia:

- Lusaka International Airport
- Mpulungu Border Post
- Kasumbalesa Border Post
- Mwami Border Post
- Nakonde Border Post
- Chirundu Border Post
- Kazungula Border Post
- Victoria Falls Border Post

To participate in the scheme, a foreign business must apply in writing to the Commissioner of Value Added Tax. An application form (Form VAT 282) may be obtained by writing to the following address:

The Assistant Commissioner—VAT Credibility
Zambia Revenue Authority
1st Floor, Eastern Wing
Revenue House
Private Bag W136
Lusaka
Zambia

H. Invoicing

VAT invoices and credit notes. A supplier of taxable goods and services must issue a tax invoice to the purchaser. A valid tax invoice is required to accompany all claims for input tax deduction. Effective 1 January 2013, the period for which tax invoices can be used to support input tax recovery has been reduced to six months. A credit note may be used to reduce the VAT charged on a supply of goods or services. Credit notes should show the same information as tax invoices.

Proof of exports. Goods exported from Zambia are zero-rated. However, to qualify for a zero rating, exports must be supported by customs evidence that proves the goods have left the country.

Foreign-currency invoices. Invoices issued using a foreign currency must indicate the equivalent in Zambian kwacha using the exchange rate for the date of the transaction.

I. VAT returns and payment

VAT returns. The tax period for VAT is one month. Returns must be filed by the 21st day after the end of the tax period. Electronic filing of VAT returns is mandatory if there are 10 or more transactions. Payment is due in full by the same date.

J. Penalties

Late submission of a VAT return is subject to a penalty.

Zimbabwe

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides
ey.com/TaxGuidesApp

Harare GMT +2

EY	Street address:
Mail address:	Corner of Julius Nyerere Way/ Kwame Nkrumah Avenue
P.O. Box 702 or 62	Harare
Harare	Zimbabwe
Zimbabwe
Indirect tax contacts
Maxwell S. Mangoro	+263 (4) 750-905-14, +263 (4) 750-979 maxwell.mangoro@zw.ey.com
Rameck Masaire	+263 (4) 750-905-14, +263 (4) 750-979 rameck.masaire@zw.ey.com

A. At a glance

Name of the tax	Value-added tax (VAT)
Date introduced	1 January 2004
Trading bloc membership	Market for Eastern and Southern Africa, Southern African Development Community
Administered by	Commissioner General, Zimbabwe Revenue Authority (Zimra) (http://www.zimra.co.zw)
VAT rates
Standard	15%
Other	Zero-rated and exempt
VAT number format	10001111
VAT return periods	Monthly: Annual taxable supplies of USD240,000 or more Bimonthly: Annual taxable supplies of less than USD240,000
Thresholds	Compulsory registration: USD60,000 Voluntary registration: At Zimra's discretion
Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses	Yes, if VAT registered

B. Scope of the tax

VAT applies to the following transactions:

- The supply of goods and services in Zimbabwe by a “registered operator” (see Section C)
- The importation of goods into Zimbabwe by a person
- The supply of imported services by a person
- The supply of goods and services through an auctioneer by a person who is not a registered operator

C. Who is liable

A “registered operator” is required to account for output tax on all goods and services supplied unless the supply is specifically exempt or zero-rated.

A “registered operator” is a person who is or is required to be registered under the VAT Act. It includes a person who makes supplies of taxable goods and/or services in Zimbabwe in the course of a business in excess of the registration threshold. A person includes a public authority, local authority, company or body of persons, whether corporate or unincorporated, the estate of a deceased or insolvent person and a trust fund.

The VAT registration threshold since 2012 is taxable supplies in excess of USD60,000. A taxable person must notify Zimra of its obligation to register for VAT within 30 days of becoming obligated to register.

An importer of goods is required to pay VAT.

The recipient of “imported services” is required to pay VAT on these services. “Imported services” refer to a supply of services that is made by a supplier who is resident or carries on business outside Zimbabwe to a recipient who is a resident of Zimbabwe to the extent that such services are used or consumed in Zimbabwe for a purpose other than making taxable supplies.

The auctioneer through whom a non-registrant supplies goods and services is responsible for the VAT on the supply of such goods and services.

Non-established businesses. A “non-established business” is a business that does not have a fixed establishment in Zimbabwe. A non-established business that makes supplies of goods or services in Zimbabwe must appoint a representative to register for VAT. The representative must be resident in Zimbabwe.

Group registration. Each entity in a group has to be registered separately if it transacts in taxable supplies and meets the threshold for Value Added Tax registration of USD60,000 per annum.

Tax representatives. Foreign companies or persons who do business in Zimbabwe but do not reside in Zimbabwe can appoint resident Zimbabweans to act as their representatives. The representatives can be held responsible for tax purposes on behalf of their principals in his representative capacity only.

Reverse charge. Not applicable. Zimbabwe taxes “imported services” as defined.

Late-registration penalties. A person becomes liable to pay tax from the time that person first becomes liable to be registered. A penalty in the amount of 100% and 10% interest thereon is assessed for the interval when the person first became liable to be registered and the late-registration date.

Digital economy. Not applicable.

Deregistration. A registered operator may apply to be deregistered if the taxable turnover of goods or services in a period of 12 months does not exceed USD60,000 and is not expected to exceed USD60,000 in the period of 12 months commencing at the beginning of any tax period.

D. VAT rates

“Taxable supplies” refers to supplies of goods and services that are liable to tax at the standard rate (15%), or zero rate (0%). The supplier must account for VAT on all supplies of goods and services at the standard rate, unless the supply is specifically exempt or zero-rated under the VAT act.

Examples of goods and services taxable at 0%

- Exports of goods (other than unbeneficiated hides, unbeneficiated chrome and rough diamonds, which are taxable), and services
- Certain supplies of goods that are used exclusively in an export country
- International transport of goods and services
- Sales of businesses as going concerns to registered persons
- Gold sales to the central bank and commercial banks
- Services supplied outside Zimbabwe to foreign head offices by Zimbabwean branches or to nonresident persons that are outside Zimbabwe when they are rendered
- Tourism-related services (other than accommodation) rendered by designated tourist facilities, such as hotels, tour operators and car-hire companies
- Intellectual property rights for use outside Zimbabwe
- Certain foodstuffs
- Certain goods used for agricultural purposes, such as animal feed, fertilizers, seed, animal remedies, pesticides, plants, tractors and protective farming clothing, including gumboots, raincoats and gloves, and, when exported, other specified agricultural implements
- Prescription medicines
- Building bricks
- Goods used by disabled persons
- Fixed charges on commercial and domestic electricity
- Supply of pipeline transportation services
- Livestock

“Exempt supplies” refers to supplies of goods and services that are not liable to tax. Suppliers of exempt supplies are not entitled to input tax deduction with respect to VAT paid on expenses incurred to make the supplies (see Section F).

Examples of exempt supplies of goods and services

- Local supplies of financial services (as defined) including services supplied by banks, building societies and insurance companies
- Medical services
- Educational services by institutions registered under the ministry of education or higher education
- Transport of fare-paying passengers by railway or road
- Supplies of donated goods or services by nonprofit (charitable) bodies
- Supplies of immovable property located outside Zimbabwe
- Rental of residential accommodation
- Staff accommodation
- Water supplied through a pipe for domestic use

- Supply of domestic electricity
- Owners' rates charged by a local authority (a levy charged by a local authority based on the value of property)
- Commission charges on tobacco sales on auction floors
- Tobacco supplied on auction floors
- Sale and import of leaf tobacco
- Most fuel and fuel products
- Revenue arising from the operation of a temporary casino license in accordance with the terms of the lotteries and gaming act

Option to tax for exempt supplies. Not applicable.

E. Time of supply

The time when VAT becomes due is called the "time of supply." In Zimbabwe, the basic time of supply is the earlier of the following:

- The issuance of an invoice by the supplier or the recipient with respect to the supply
- The receipt of a payment of the consideration by the supplier with respect to the supply

Other time-of-supply rules apply to various situations, such as change of use, repossessions, betting transactions and lay-by sale agreements (the purchaser makes partial payments over time, and when a predetermined amount has been reached, the goods are released to the purchaser).

Supplies between related persons. The following are the times of supply for supplies of goods and services between related persons:

- Supply of goods: when they are removed or made available to the purchaser or recipient of the goods
- Supply of services: when the services are performed

Rental agreements. The time of supply for rental agreements is the earlier of the date on which the payment is due or the date on which payment is received.

Periodic supplies. The time of supply for periodic supplies is the earlier of the date on which the payment is due, the date on which payment is received or the date on which an invoice relating only to that payment is received.

Installment credit agreements. For installment credit agreements, the supply is deemed to take place at the earlier of when the goods are delivered or when a payment of the consideration is received.

Immovable property. The time of supply for the supply of immovable property is the earlier of the date on which the change of ownership is registered in the deeds office or the date of receipt of a payment of the consideration. Otherwise, it is deemed to be the date of signing of the sale agreement.

Imports. The following are the time-of-supply rules for imports:

- Imported goods that require direct clearance for home consumption under the customs and excise act: when the goods are cleared
- Goods that are imported and entered into a licensed customs and excise bonded warehouse: when the goods are cleared from the warehouse for home consumption

- Imported services: the earlier of the date on which an invoice is issued and the date on which a payment is made by the recipient with respect to the supply

VAT deferment. Deferment of VAT payment for a period of up to 90 days from the date of importation is available with respect to plant, equipment and machinery (other than road motor vehicles in most cases) that is imported and used exclusively for mining, manufacturing, industrial, agricultural, aviation or health purposes.

To qualify for this deferment, the value of such imported plant, equipment and machinery must be USD4,800 or more.

F. Recovery of VAT by Zimbabwe-registered operators

A registered operator may claim input tax (that is, VAT charged on goods and services supplied to it for business purposes) by deducting it from output tax, which is VAT charged on supplies made. Input tax may be deducted if all of the following conditions are satisfied:

- The expenses are incurred in the making of taxable supplies
- The claimant has a valid tax invoice or bill of entry (imports)
- The claiming of input tax deduction is not specifically prohibited by the VAT act

Input tax includes VAT charged on goods and services purchased in Zimbabwe and VAT paid on imports of goods and services.

Nondeductible input tax. Input tax may not be deducted with respect to purchases of goods and services that are not used for taxable purposes (for example, goods or services acquired for private use by an entrepreneur or for the purposes of making exempt supplies). In addition, input tax recovery may be prohibited for certain specified business expenses.

Examples of items for which input tax is nondeductible

- Initial purchase of passenger motor vehicles as defined in the income tax act
- Fees or subscriptions paid by registered operators with respect to memberships in clubs, associations or societies of a sporting, social or recreational nature
- Amounts with respect to goods or services acquired for the purposes of business or staff entertainment (subject to certain exceptions)
- VAT payable on exports of unbeneficiated chrome

Examples of items for which input tax is deductible (if related to a taxable business use)

- Maintenance costs of passenger motor vehicles
- Purchase, hire and maintenance costs of non-passenger motor vehicles, such as vans and trucks
- Expenses incurred by registered operators in the making or importation of taxable supplies, such as trading stock, raw materials, administration expenses and marketing costs

Partial exemption (mixed supplies). VAT directly related to purchases with respect to the making of exempt supplies is not recoverable as input tax. A registered operator that makes both exempt and taxable supplies (mixed supplies) cannot recover input tax in full.

In Zimbabwe, if VAT relates to the making of both exempt and taxable supplies, deductible input tax is determined using a two-stage calculation, which is described below.

Direct attribution. For direct expenses, the first stage is to identify expenses incurred in making taxable supplies and those incurred in making exempt supplies. VAT paid on expenses incurred in making taxable supplies is deductible as input tax while VAT paid on expenses incurred in making exempt supplies is not deductible.

Apportionment. For overhead, the turnover method or another apportionment method acceptable to the Zimra must be used to allocate the VAT between taxable supplies and exempt supplies. Input tax related to taxable supplies is deducted, while input tax related to exempt supplies is not deducted. If taxable supplies exceed 90% of the total supplies made by a registered operator, all of the VAT incurred by the registered operator is deductible as input tax.

Refunds. If the amount of input tax recoverable in a tax period exceeds the amount of output tax payable in that period, a refund of the excess may be claimed. Zimra must pay interest at the prescribed rate if it does not process and pay the refunds within 40 days after the date on which the relevant return is submitted.

Before a refund is paid, the refund amount is applied against any tax, levy, interest, or penalty payable by the registered person under the VAT act, the customs and excise act, the income tax act and the capital gains tax act.

Preregistration costs. VAT incurred on goods and services prior to VAT registration is claimed as input tax deduction in the month of VAT registration if such goods and services are still on hand and used for making taxable supplies. In the case of stocks and consumables, input tax deductions can be made only if they were purchased not more than six months prior to date of registration of the operator. Furthermore, costs incurred six months prior to incorporation of a company or in connection with the incorporation of a company qualify for input deduction provided the goods and services were acquired solely for the purpose of a trade to be carried on by the company, and the purchaser is reimbursed by the company for the whole amount of the consideration for the goods and services.

G. Recovery of VAT by non-established businesses

Non-established businesses can recover VAT through their agents in Zimbabwe.

H. Invoicing

Tax invoices and credit notes. A registered operator must provide a tax invoice to the recipient for all taxable supplies made within 30 days after the date of supply. In certain circumstances, subject to Zimra approval, the recipient of goods and services issues the tax invoice to the supplier.

A tax invoice must contain the following particulars:

- The words “tax invoice” in a prominent place
- The name, address and registration number of the supplier

- The name and address of the recipient and, if the recipient is a registered operator, the registration number of the recipient
- An individual serialized number and the date on which the tax invoice is issued
- A description of the goods or services supplied
- The quantity or volume of the goods or services supplied
- The value of the supply, the amount of tax charged and the consideration for the supply, or if the amount of tax charged is calculated by applying the tax fraction (15/115) to the consideration, the consideration for the supply and either the amount of the tax charged or a statement that the consideration includes a charge with respect to the tax, and the rate at which the tax is charged

A credit note may be used if the output tax accounted for exceeds the output tax properly chargeable with respect to a particular supply. A debit note may be used if the output tax properly chargeable with respect to a supply exceeds the output tax accounted for.

A credit note and debit note must satisfy all of following requirements:

- It must be clearly marked “credit note” or “debit note”
- It must refer to the original tax invoice
- It must indicate the reason why it has been issued
- It must contain sufficient information to identify the transaction to which it relates

Proof of exports. Exports can be classified as direct or indirect exports.

Direct exports arise if the registered operator is responsible for consigning or delivering the goods to an address in an export country. These exports can be zero-rated if the documentary requirements are met.

Indirect exports arise if the registered operator does not consign the goods to an address in an export country but instead delivers them to the purchaser that is responsible for taking them out of the country. The registered operator must satisfy Zimra that it will comply with all exchange-control regulations relating to the export of goods. If Zimra is satisfied that the goods were not taken out of Zimbabwe, the seller of such goods is liable to VAT at a rate of 15%.

If requested by Zimra, to prove that the supplies are entitled to the zero rate, the registered operator must furnish Zimra with certain documents including the following:

- Tax invoice
- Debit and credit notes
- Sales agreement
- Lease agreement
- Contract document
- Export documents bearing a Zimra stamp at the point of exit
- Other receipts if applicable
- Other documents acceptable to Zimra

Foreign-currency invoices. Zimbabwe’s functional currency is the United States dollar.

Electronic invoices. Not applicable.

I. VAT returns and payment

VAT returns. All registered operators with annual taxable supplies in excess of USD240,000 have a monthly tax period.

In addition, these taxpayers are required to start using, before a specified date, electronic registers or electronic signature devices with prescribed specifications to record taxable transactions. Fifty percent of the cost of acquiring these prescribed, “fiscalized” electronic registers is deductible from VAT payable.

VAT returns must be filed by the 25th day of the month following the tax period. Payment is due in full by the same date. If the due date falls on a Saturday, Sunday or public holiday, the due date is the last business day before the 25th.

Special schemes. Not applicable.

Electronic filing and archiving. Not applicable.

Annual returns. Not applicable.

J. Penalties

A penalty is imposed for late payment of VAT at a rate of up to 100% of the outstanding tax for each month. Additional tax equal to 100% of the relevant tax may be levied in cases of fraud.

Interest is charged on outstanding tax at a rate of 10% per year.

A civil penalty of up to USD25 per point of sale per day is charged for failure to use prescribed “fiscalized” electronic registers. A similar penalty is imposed on approved suppliers of electronic signature devices and fiscalized or non-fiscalized electronic registers who fail to supply them within six weeks of an order with payment in full.

Fines, imprisonment or both may also apply to various other offenses, including making false statements and obstructing a revenue officer.

For late submission of VAT returns, a civil penalty of USD30 per day per tax return is imposed. Those daily penalties continue during the first 181 days that each return is in default. If the person continues to be in default after the 181 days, he or she shall be guilty of an offense and liable, on conviction, to a fine not exceeding level 14 (USD5,000) or imprisonment for a period not exceeding five years or to both the fine and imprisonment.

Table of VAT, GST and sales tax rates

Jurisdiction	Standard rate*	Other rates
Albania	20%	0%
Argentina	21%	10.5%, 0%
Armenia	20%	0%
Aruba	1.5%	NA
Australia	10%	0%
Austria	20%	12%, 10%
Azerbaijan	18%	0%
Bahamas	7.5%	0%
Barbados	17.5%	7.5%, 0%
Belarus	20%	10%, 0%
Belgium	21%	12%, 6%, 0%
Bolivia	Nominal: 13% Effective: 14.94%	0%
Bonaire, Sint Eustatius and Saba	Goods: 8% Services: 6%	30%, 25%, 22%, 18%, 10%, 7%, 5%, 0%
Botswana	12%	0%
Brazil	IPI: 0%–365% ICMS: 0%–35% ISS: 0%–5% PIS-PASEP: 0.65%, 1.65% COFINS: 3%, 7.65%	NA
Bulgaria	20%	9%, 0%
Canada	GST: 5% HST: 9.975%–15%	0%
Chile	19%	15%–50%
China	17%	13%, 11%, 6%, 3%
Colombia	16%	5%, 0%
Costa Rica	13%	10%, 5%, 0%
Croatia	25%	13%, 5%
Curacao	6%	9%, 7%
Cyprus	19%	9%, 5%, 0%
Czech Republic	21%	15%, 10%, 0%
Denmark	25%	0%
Dominican Republic	18%	13%, 0%
Ecuador	12%	0%
Egypt	10%	1.2%–45%
El Salvador	13%	0%
Estonia	20%	9%, 0%
European Union	NA	NA
Finland	24%	14%, 10%, 0%

Jurisdiction	Standard rate*	Other rates
France	20%	10%, 5.5%, 2.1%
Georgia	18%	0.54%
Germany	19%	7%
Ghana	15%	17.5%, 0%
Greece	23%	13%, 6.5%
Guatemala	12%	0%
Honduras	15%	18%
Hungary	27%	18%, 5%
Iceland	24%	11%, 0%
India	12.5%–15%	20%, 5%–5.5%, 1%, 0%
Indonesia	10%	0%
Ireland	23%	13.5%, 9%
Isle of Man	20%	5%, 0%
Israel	18%	0%
Italy	22%	10%, 4%
Japan	8%	NA
Jersey	5%	0%
Jordan	16%	4%, 0%
Kazakhstan	12%	0%
Kenya	16%	0%
Korea	10%	0%
Kosovo	16%	NA
Latvia	21%	12%, 0%
Lebanon	10%	0%
Lithuania	21%	9%, 5%, 0%
Luxembourg	17%	14%, 8%, 3%
Macedonia	18%	5%, 0%
Madagascar	20%	0%
Malaysia	6%	0%
Malta	18%	7%, 5%
Mauritius	15%	0%
Mexico	16%	0%
Moldova	20%	8%, 0%
Mongolia	10%	0%
Morocco	20%	14%, 10%, 7%
Myanmar	Goods: 5% Services: 5%–100%	NA
Namibia	15%	0%
Netherlands	21%	6%, 0%
New Zealand	15%	0%
Nicaragua	15%	0%
Nigeria	5%	0%
Norway	25%	15%, 8%, 0%

Jurisdiction	Standard rate*	Other rates
Pakistan	Goods: 17% Services: 16%	27%, 19.5%, 18.5%, 10%, 8%, 5%, 4%, 2%, 1%, 0%
Panama	7%	15%, 10%
Papua New Guinea	10%	0%
Paraguay	10%	5%
Peru	18%	0%
Philippines	12%	0%
Poland	23%	8%, 5%, 0%
Portugal	23%	13%, 6%
Puerto Rico	7%	0%
Romania	24%	9%, 5%
Russian Federation	18%	10%, 0%
Rwanda	18%	0%
Saint Lucia	15%	9.5%, 0%
Serbia	20%	10%, 0%
Seychelles	15%	0%
Singapore	7%	0%
Sint Maarten	5%	NA
Slovak Republic	20%	10%, 0%
Slovenia	22%	9.5%, 0%
South Africa	14%	0%
Spain	21%	10%, 4%
Suriname	Goods: 10% Services: 8%	25%, 0%
Sweden	25%	12%, 6%
Switzerland	8%	3.5%, 2.8%, 0%
Taiwan	VAT: 5% GBRT: 0.1%–25%	NA
Tanzania	18%	10%, 0%
Thailand	7%	0%
Trinidad and Tobago	15%	0%
Tunisia	18%	12%, 6%
Turkey	18%	8%, 1%
Uganda	18%	0%
Ukraine	20%	7%, 0%
United Kingdom	20%	5%, 0%
United States	0%–7%	NA
Uruguay	22%	10%, 0%
Venezuela	12%	8%–16.5%
Vietnam	10%	5%, 0%
Zambia	16%	0%
Zimbabwe	15%	0%

* Rate shown here is most common standard rate; for regional variations, see each chapter.

 Rates for small businesses and special schemes explained in each chapter.

Table of currencies

The following list sets forth the names and symbols for the currencies of jurisdictions included in this book.

Jurisdiction	Currency	Symbol
Albania	Lek	ALL
Argentina	Peso	ARS
Armenia	Dram	AMD
Aruba	Florin	AWG
Australia	Dollar	AUD
Austria	Euro	EUR
Azerbaijan	Manat	AZN
Bahamas	Bahamian Dollar	BSD
Barbados	Dollar	BBD
Belarus	Ruble	BYR
Belgium	Euro	EUR
Bolivia	Boliviano	BOB
Bonaire, Sint Eustatius and Saba	US Dollar	USD
Botswana	Pula	BWP
Brazil	Real	BRL
Bulgaria	Lev	BGN
Canada	Dollar	CAD
Chile	Peso	CLP
China	Yuan	CNY
Colombia	Peso	COP
Costa Rica	Colon	CRC
Croatia	Croatian Kuna	HRK
Curaçao	Antillean Guilder	ANG
Cyprus	Euro	EUR
Czech Republic	Koruna	CZK
Denmark	Krone	DKK
Dominican Republic	Peso	DOP
Ecuador	US Dollar	USD
Egypt	Pound	EGP
El Salvador	Colon	SVC
Estonia	Euro	EUR
European Monetary Union	Euro	EUR
Finland	Euro	EUR

Jurisdiction	Currency	Symbol
France	Euro	EUR
Georgia	Lari	GEL
Germany	Euro	EUR
Ghana	Cedi	GHS
Greece	Euro	EUR
Guatemala	Quetzal	GTQ
Honduras	Lempira	HNL
Hungary	Forint	HUF
Iceland	Krona	ISK
India	Rupee	INR
Indonesia	Rupiah	IDR
Ireland	Euro	EUR
Isle of Man	Pound	GBP
Israel	New Shekel	ILS
Italy	Euro	EUR
Japan	Yen	JPY
Jersey	Pound	JEP
Jordan	Dinar	JOD
Kazakhstan	Tenge	KZT
Kenya	Shilling	KES
Korea (South)	Won	KRW
Latvia	Euro	EUR
Lebanon	Pound	LBP
Lithuania	Litas	LTL
Luxembourg	Euro	EUR
Macedonia	Denar	MKD
Madagascar	Ariary	MGA
Malaysia	Ringgit	MYR
Malta	Euro	EUR
Mauritius	Rupee	MUR
Mexico	Peso	MXN
Moldova	Leu	MDL
Mongolia	Tughrik	MNT
Morocco	Dirham	MAD
Namibia	Dollar	NAD
Netherlands	Euro	EUR
New Zealand	Dollar	NZD
Nicaragua	Córdoba	NIO
Nigeria	Naira	NGN
Norway	Krone	NOK

Jurisdiction	Currency	Symbol
Pakistan	Rupee	PKR
Panama	Balboa	PAB
Papua New Guinea	Kina	PGK
Paraguay	Guaraní	PYG
Peru	Nuevo Sol	PEN
Philippines	Peso	PHP
Poland	Zloty	PLN
Portugal	Euro	EUR
Puerto Rico	US Dollar	USD
Romania	New Leu	RON
Russian Federation	Ruble	RUB
Rwanda	Franc	RWF
Saint Lucia	East Caribbean Dollar	XCD
Serbia	Dinar	RSD
Singapore	Dollar	SGD
Sint Maarten	Antillean Guilder	ANG
Slovak Republic	Euro	EUR
Slovenia	Euro	EUR
South Africa	Rand	ZAR
Spain	Euro	EUR
Sweden	Krona	SEK
Switzerland	Franc	CHF
Taiwan	Dollar	TWD
Tanzania	Shilling	TZS
Thailand	Baht	THB
Trinidad and Tobago	Dollar	TTD
Tunisia	Dinar	TND
Turkey	Lira	TRY
Uganda	Shilling	UGX
Ukraine	Hryvnia	UAH
United Kingdom	Pound	GBP
United States	Dollar	USD
Uruguay	Peso	UYU
Venezuela	Bolívar	VEF
Vietnam	Dong	VND
Zambia	Kwacha	ZMW
Zimbabwe	US Dollar	USD

About EY

EY is a global leader in assurance, tax, transaction and advisory services. The insights and quality services we deliver help build trust and confidence in the capital markets and in economies the world over. We develop outstanding leaders who team to deliver on our promises to all of our stakeholders. In so doing, we play a critical role in building a better working world for our people, for our clients and for our communities.

EY refers to the global organization, and may refer to one or more, of the member firms of Ernst & Young Global Limited, each of which is a separate legal entity. Ernst & Young Global Limited, a UK company limited by guarantee, does not provide services to clients. For more information about our organization, please visit ey.com.

About EY's Tax Services

Your business will only succeed if you build it on a strong foundation and grow it in a sustainable way. At EY, we believe that managing your tax obligations responsibly and proactively can make a critical difference. Our 38,000 talented tax professionals, in more than 140 countries, give you technical knowledge, business experience, consistency and an unwavering commitment to quality service – wherever you are and whatever tax services you need.

© 2015 EYGM Limited.
All Rights Reserved.

EYG no. DL1165

ED None

This material has been prepared for general informational purposes only and is not intended to be relied upon as accounting, tax or other professional advice. Please refer to your advisors for specific advice.

ey.com

Access Global Tax Guides

Electronic versions of Worldwide Personal Tax Guide; Worldwide Corporate Tax Guide; and Worldwide VAT, GST and Sales Tax Guide, as well as other tax guides and publications, are available on ey.com and can be downloaded from the app store to your tablet.

Global Tax Guides at your fingertips

ey.com/GlobalTaxGuides

ey.com/TaxGuidesApp