

An entrepreneurial community for all

EY

Building a better
working world

Entrepreneurs are those who gather the resources and assume the risk of organizing and growing a thriving business.

They are the unstoppable pioneers who define how we live, work and play. They develop the gadgets and systems that power ideas and economies, heal our bodies, transport us from place to place, and even take us off this planet. They not only build great companies, but they also generate prosperity and enrich the communities they reach.

The EY organization has been associated with great entrepreneurs worldwide for more than three decades. Our advocacy of the entrepreneurs among us spans public policy, a global network delivering business insight and guidance, and continued celebration of their contributions to world economies.

We stand for entrepreneurs – for their ambition, vision and can-do. We stand for an inclusive entrepreneurial community.
