

Are you aware of the opportunities that Chile offers in renewable energies?

Chile aims to achieve carbon neutrality by 2050. By the end of 2020, it was generating more than half of its electricity from renewable sources, well on track for its interim target of 70% by 2030, and far beyond its original 2020 target of 20%.

Key questions

- ▶ Have you identified the main potential investment opportunities in this rapid growing industry?
- ▶ Do you know how to accelerate your learning curve of the Chilean renewable energy investment ecosystem?
- ▶ What are the different sources of financing and incentives available for these types of projects?
- ▶ How to properly evaluate investment opportunities and their fit with your company?

Investment opportunities in renewable energies
